ss 58 & 83—Merchant Shipping Act (57 and 58 Vic C 69) s 111 cl 3 and 275, cl (b) and (c)—Wilful disobedience of lawful commands—Order given to transfer from one ship to another—Seaman disobeying the order—Clow about transfer in articles of agreement not ultra vires The accused signed articles of agreement in London with the Master of the SS Arcadia (a steamer belonging to the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company) under which he agreed inter alia to obey the lawful commands of the Master or the superior Officers and to transfer to any other vessel of the Company, when required during the period of service. These articles were initialed by an Officer of the Board of Trade. When the SS Arcadia arrived in the Bombay Harbour it was sold by the Company to an Indian Merchant. The accused was then ordered by the Marine Superintendent of the Company in the presence of the Chief Officer of the SS Arcadia to transfer himself to the SS Salsette, another boat belonging to the Company. For a wilful disobedience of this order, the accused was convicted under s 83, cl 4 of the Merchant Seamen Act (I of 1859). The accused applied to the High Court against the conviction contending, first that the article respecting transfer was ultra vires and secondly, that the order as to transfer given by the Marine Superintendent of the Company was not a lawful command:—Held, that having regard to s 114, cl 3 of the Merchant Shipping Act (57 and 58 Vic. C. 60) and to the fact that the articles of agreement had been initialed by an Officer of the Board of Trade, the article as to transfer was not ultra vires. Held, further, the order to transfer having been given by the Marine Superintendent of the Company in the presence of the Chief Officer of the SS Arcadia was a lawful command of the latter failure to obey which was punishable under s 83 cl 4 of the Merchant Seamen Act (I of 1859). Ex parte A. G. Good NEW (1915) I L R 39 Bom 558

MERCHANT SHIPPING ACT (57 & 58 VICT. C 69)

See HIGH SEAS I L R 42 Bom 234

MERCHANT SHIPPING ACT (57 & 58 VICT. C. 69)—cond ss 114, cl (3), and 225, cl (B) and (C)—

See MERCHANT SEAMEN ACT (I OF 1859), s 83, cl. (d) I L R 39 Bom 558

ss 631, 636—

See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF I L R 33 Calc. 487

MERGER

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s 2 I L R 39 All 393

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O IX, s 13 I L R. 39 All. 13

See DECREE FOR POSSESSION I L R 33 All 509

See LANDLORD AND TENANT I L R 43 Calc. 164

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I ARTS 120, 132 I L R 39 All. 74

Mokurari tenure specially registered under Act VI of 1859 granted by the zemindar—Subsequent grant of putni by the zemindar—Purchase of putni and mokurari by the same person—Merger—Transfer of Property Act, s 2 (c), 111 (d) 117 Where a mokurari tenure has all along been treated as a distinct subtenure, there was no merger by the acquisition of a putni tenure and the mokurari tenure by the same person, apart from the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act. Woomesh Chander Goopta v. Ray Narain Roy, 10 W R 15 Thomas Saru v. Panchanan Roy, 25 W R 593, Prasanna Nath Roy v. Jagat Chander Pandit, 3 C L R 159, referred to Jibanta Nath Khan v. Gokul Chander Chowdhury, 1 I R 19 Calc. 769, followed Surpa Narain Mandal v. Nanda Lal Sinha, 1 I L R 33 Calc 1212, Ujjat Hosana v. Gayani Das, 1 I L R 36 Calc. 502, distinguished Where a person acquires the superior and the subordinate interests piecemeal at different times, but ultimately the entire interests of the lessor and the lessee are vested in the same person at any point of time, there is a merger of the two interests in any case to which the provisions of s 111 (d) of the Transfer of Property Act are applicable. A mokurari was created before the passing of the Transfer of Property Act and a putni was granted of the zemindary within which the mokurari was created. Afterwards in 1884 the entire putni and the entire mokurari were acquired by the same person. Held that the provisions of s 111 (d) of the Transfer of Property Act do not apply and there was no merger of the mokurari interest in the putni interest. Prasanna Nath Roy v. Kala Prasanna Chowdhury, 1 I L R 28 Cal 477 followed Gopal Anand v. Gayani Das, 1 I L R 36 Calc 802, explained. HIRSHDAS NATH DUTT v. HARI MOHAN GHOSH (1914)

18 C W N 860

Union of superior and subordinate rights, in land in mokurari, taking place before the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1852) and Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1855) In cases unaffected by the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act and the Bengal Tenancy Act the union of a superior and a subordinate interest did not, by operation of law, necessarily merge the subordinate in the superior interest. Bal

MERGER—contd.

although in such cases, the union of the superior and subordinate interests may not automatically cause a merger of the latter in the former the conduct of the party concerned may show that he did not intend to keep the two interests alive as mutually distinct rights RAM BISSEY DUTT v HARIPADA MUKHERJI (1919) 23 C 17 N 830

Merger, doctrine of if applied in mofussil before Transfer of Property Act—Merger, a question of intention—Acquisition of superior and inferior interests by joint Hindu family in the names of different individuals to indicate intention to prevent merger Qureshi—Whether prior to the Transfer of Property Act there was a law of merger applicable in the mofussil Harendra Nath Dutt v Hari Mohan Ghosh 18 C W N 859 referred to—Merger is not a thing which occurs ipso jure upon the acquisition of what for the sake of a just generalisation, may be called the superior with the inferior right. The question to be settled in the application of the doctrine is was such a coalescence of right meant to be accomplished as to extinguish that separation of title which the records contain? The fact that acquisitions of the superior and inferior interests on behalf of a joint Hindu family have been made in the names of different members thereof may point to an intention to keep the two interests from merging DULHAT LACHMANPATI KUMAR v BODHNATH TIWARI (P.C.) 26 C W N 565

MESNE PROFITS

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1832), s 553
I L R 33 All 163

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1832)—
s 553 I L R 32 All 79
s 11, EXPL. V, O XX, n 12
I L R 40 All 292

s 110 3 Pat L J 377
O II, RR 2 AND 4
I L R 33 Mad 829

O XX, n 12 20 C W N 369

See COURT FEES 3 Pat L J 101

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF
ACT (XVII OF 1879), s 13
I L R 39 Bom 597

See EXECUTION OF DECREE
I L R 41 All 517

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION
I L R 39 All 81

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I L R 39 Mad 285

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION
I L R 44 Bom 179, 621

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW
15 C W N 383, 839

See JURISDICTION I L R 43 Calc 650

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT
I L R 42 Mad 315

See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION
14 C W N 1001

See RESTITUTION 3 Pat L J 367

See REVENUE SALE
I L R 37 Calc 539

MESNE PROFITS—contd.

See SMALL CAUSE COURT
14 C W N 1001

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1832,
s 6

— application to ascertain whether is an application in execution—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, SCH I, ART
182 I L R 45 Bom 819

— claim for, by plaintiff from date of d post—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1832), s 83 I L R 39 Mad 579

— decree for—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE
I L R 40 All 211

— Estimation of on proprietor's private land—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, s 2
6 Pat L J 166

— Pendente Lite—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O XX,
n 12 6 Pat L J 54

— right to past, transfer of—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1832) s 6, CL (e)
I L R 39 Mad 208

— suit for of a grove—

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
ACT (IX OF 1837) SCH II ART 31
I L R 40 All 142

— whether a decree for mesne profits and costs in a redemption is a money decree—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O
XXI n 63 4 Pat L J 336

1 — Civil Courts Act (XII of 1837) as 18 19, 21—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1837), as 211, 212 211—Jurisdiction—Mesne profits antecedent to the suit, decree for, if can be executed to an amount which taken with the value of the land would exceed jurisdiction of Court passing decree—Mesne profits pendente lite, exceeding the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court making the decree—Forms of application for recovery Where a plaintiff instituted his suit for possession of property and mesne profits in the Court of a Munsif and valued it so as to bring it within the jurisdiction of the Munsif and the suit was decreed—Held, that he could not recover mesne profits accruing before the institution of the suit to the extent of more than the difference between the maximum pecuniary jurisdiction of the Munsif and the value of the land as stated in the plaint. Gopal Singh v Indra Kumar, 3 C L J 367 & 3 C W N 493, followed. *Sudarsham
v Ramprasad, 7 Ind Cas 785* not followed In this respect mesne profits antecedent to the institution of the suit and mesne profits pendente lite in respect of which the cause of action had not arisen at the date of the suit and which could not at that date be approximately valued stand on a different footing. Held, further, that the value of the mesne profits pendente lite claimed in the application for execution of the decree being in excess of the pecuniary jurisdiction of a Munsif,

MESNE PROFITS—contd

the Munsif had no jurisdiction to entertain the application Rameswar v Dulu, 1 L P 21 Cal 530, distinguished and doubted Gulab v Abdul, 8 C R 4 233 s c 1 L R 31 Cal 365 Iyaulla v Chandra Mohan, 1 L R 31 Cal 554 11 C R 2 1133 s c 6 C L J 255 Golip Singh v Indra Kumar, 9 C I J 367 s c 13 C W N 493, Munnaul v Samad 49 P R 1906 94 P L R 1906, referred to. In so far as the application for mesne profits pendente lite was concerned, the Court therefore directed its return for presentation to the proper Court. No objection as to the jurisdiction of the Court to try the original suit having been raised before the decree and the decree as to recovery of land having become final, the Court refused to give effect to the contention that in view of the amount of mesne profits now claimed the Court had no jurisdiction to make the decree BRUTENDRA KUMAR CHAKRABARTI v PURNA CHANDRA BOSE (1910)

I L R 43 Cal 650
15 C W N 506

2

Execution of decree
—Immovable property suit for—Purchaser pendente lite, whether legal representative of the original owner—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), OO XX, r 12(2), XVI, r 102 and XXII r 10 and s 2(11) Proceedings for the assessment of mesne profits, after a decree had been obtained in a suit for recovery of possession of immovable property are proceedings in continuation of the original suit. A suit for recovery of possession of immovable property was brought against A. During the pendency of the suit B and C purchased the property from A, but they did not apply to have their names added as defendants in the pending suit. The suit having been decreed the decree-holder applied for execution of the decree against A B and C and asked for possession of land and for the assessment of mesne profits. On an objection taken by B and C that they were not the legal representatives of A and that they could not be made liable in execution proceedings for the mesne profits decreed against A. Held that although B and C were not the legal representatives of A, the execution proceedings being proceedings in continuation of the original suit, and they being purchasers pendente lite, they were liable for the mesne profits decreed against A. MIDNAPUR TANNERY COMPANY, LD v NARESH NARAYN ROY (1911)

I L R 39 Cal 220

3

Although a plaintiff may perhaps recover mesne profits though out of possession still in order to recover damages in a case where he was out of possession, the plaintiff must show that he has a right to immediate possession ELANT BERN MANDAL v RAM NARAYAN GHOSH (1911)

18 C W N 288

3(a) Where a father as manager alienates joint Hindu family property with ul legal necessity and the sons repudiate the sale a purchaser who has no notice that the father was incompetent to sell is in equity only liable to pay mesne profits for the date of repudiation BRIGID BATH CHALBE v NARSINGH TIWARI

I L R 29 All 61

4

Jurisdiction—Suit for recovery of possession in a mesne profits—Mesne profits assessed in the execution proceedings—Amount assessed more than the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court. A suit for recovery of possession of certain lands with mesne profits from the date of dis-possession up to the date of restoration of possession, was brought in the Munsifs Court. It was decreed together with the mesne profits claimed, and the Court decreed that the amount of mesne profits would be determined in the execution proceedings. The decree having been affirmed on appeal, the decree holder applied to the executing Court for ascertainment of mesne profits. The total amount of mesne profits ascertained by the Munsif was Rs 1630 8 0, including interest. On an objection taken by the judgment debtor that the executing Court being a Munsif, was not entitled to award mesne profits of a higher amount than Rs 1000. Held, that the executing Court had jurisdiction to award the mesne profits ascertained in the present case. PANDEYARAJAN v Dulu Malton, 1 L R 21 Cal 550, followed in principle Bhupendra Kumar Chakrabarti v Purna Chandra Bose, 15 C L J 132 distinguished. PANCHURAM TENADAR v KINGO HALDAR (1912)

MESNE PROFITS—contd

I L R 40 Cal 50

5

Suit for recovery of mesne profits or damages with out a declaratory suit, whether maintainable—Symbolical possession—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1855), s 157, principle laid down in If a person who has been dispossessed from an immovable property brings a suit for recovery of mesne profits the suit is not maintainable. The proper remedy is to institute a suit for declaration of title and recovery of possession with mesne profits. Isp Singh v Awar 1 L R 21 Cal 244 referred to. When the title of the plaintiff is denied by the defendant, he (plaintiff) ought not to obtain a decree for mesne profits till his title has been established in a Court of competent jurisdiction. Where the title of the plaintiff is established in a Court of competent jurisdiction that decision is conclusive between the parties for all time to come. The symbolical possession by the plaintiff is effective as against the judgment-debtor, though it may not be operative as against strangers to the suit. Where the title of the plaintiff to immovable property has been restored, and he has obtained symbolical possession and allowed the defendant to continue in actual occupation of the land, and successfully asserted his right to be paid a fair and reasonable amount of damages for use and occupation of the land, it is not open to the defendant to question the title of the plaintiff, and there is no intelligible reason why the latter should not be allowed to maintain an action for recovery of damages for use and occupation of the land. This principle is recognised by the Legislature in s. 157 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. GIRI NARAYN CHATTERJI v MODHU SUDAN MUKERJI (1911)

17 C W N 324

6

Application to assets Limitation—Decree for mesne profits application for execution of by assignee—Right of assignee to apply for substitution in pending suit, nature of—application for ascertainment of mesne profits in pending suit, limitation applicable to—Lesamidar if may apply—Assignee from assignee of party to suit, application for substitution by—Claim for mesne profits if can be transferred—Stranger if may question assignment—Civil Procedure Code O XX, r 12, O XXII, r 10—Limitation Act (I of 1908), Art 131 A darpans held by three brothers, D, P and R, was sold for rent and purchased by the palandar. One of the three brothers D, brought a suit and obtained a decree for the recovery of possession of the darpatna and mesne profits. After D's death his widow got herself substituted in his place and in execution of the decree took possession of the property and subsequently a deed was executed between herself and the two other brothers P and R in terms that the property belonged to the three brothers and she as the widow of the eldest was entitled to two annas and the remaining 14 annas were divided between her and the two brothers in equal shares as also the mesne profits. The darpatna was thereafter sold in execution of a money decree and ultimately passed into the hands of one A. On 21st May 1907 the two brothers P and R by a conveyance assigned their share of the costs and mesne profits under the decree obtained by D to M, a benamidar of A and on the 10th June 1907 D's widow by another conveyance assigned her share of the mesne profits and costs to A. On 22nd February 1909 A applied for execution of the decree and the application was admitted by the Subordinate Judge, but under orders of the District Judge in appeal the application was returned for amendment on 4th March 1911 and amended on the same day. On appeal the High Court directed that this application presented by A should be treated as an application under O XX r 12 and remanded the case whereupon the amended application was placed on the record to be dealt with under O XX r 12 and A was substituted on the record in place of the original plaintiff. Held that the application should be treated as having been made on the date on which it was originally presented and that date being within 3 years of the dates of the conveyances assigning mesne profits and costs to A, the application was not barred even if Art 181 of the Limitation Act was applicable. That even if the application was considered as having been made on the date on which it was amended, the right of the assignee to apply for substitution in a pending suit is a right which accrues from day to day and is therefore not barred by limitation. That an application in a pending suit for ascertainment of mesne profits is not barred by the three years rule of limitation contained in Art 181 corresponding to Art. 178 of the old Limitation Act. The law has not been changed by the new Limitation Act or the new Code of Civil Procedure. Purna Chand v Puri Radha Kishan, I L R 19 Cal. 132, followed. Held (as to the contention that A could not be substituted when his two assignees P and R were not parties to the suit), that the property being the joint property of the three brothers and the suit having been brought by D as the eldest member of the family, he might be taken to have represented the other two brothers also. That even if P and R were considered as assignees from D's widow, the position was that A was an assignee from D's widow who was a party to the suit with respect to one-third of the property, and an assignee from P and R who in their turn were assignees from D's widow with respect to two-thirds, and O XX, r 10, was applicable to an application made by a person who has not obtained an assignment directly from a party to the suit but who has obtained an assignment derivatively from a party to the suit. That a right to sue for damages cannot be transferred, but in the present case the claim for mesne profits had already merged in a judgment before the assignment and the right under the judgment was assignable although the original cause of action was not. There is nothing in law to prevent a benamidar from applying to the Court for ascertainment of mesne profit. A stranger cannot take exception to an assignment on the ground of inadequacy of consideration, that being a matter between the assignor and assignee. Bhagwat Dayal v Debi Dayal, I L R 35 Cal. 420 s c 12 C W N 393, relied on. PRASANTO KUMAR PANJA v ASHUTOSH RAY (1913) 18 C W N 450

MESNE PROFITS—contd

MESNE PROFITS—contd

7 ————— Application for ascertainment of—estimated claim higher than court's pecuniary jurisdiction—order refusing application, appeal from. Where the question of a court's jurisdiction is concerned it is the plaintiff alone which should be considered. Where the holder of a decree for possession of certain property with costs and mesne-profits (which had not been claimed in the plaint) applied for ascertainment of the mesne profits and estimated the amount due therefore at Rs 1149-12, held, that the court had jurisdiction to entertain the application although its pecuniary jurisdiction was limited to Rs. 1000. An application for the ascertainment of mesne profits is an application for an order in the suit and is not an application for the execution of a decree and, therefore, no appeal lies from an order returning such an application for presentation to the proper Court. O VII, r 10 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, applies only to the paper on which a suit is instituted and not to an application made in the course of a suit. Therefore an application for ascertainment of mesne profits does not fall within the provisions of that rule. SURESH MOHAMMAD ABDUL GHAFOR v MAHTAB CHOUDHURY 2 Pat. L. J 894

8 ————— Date of decree—Appeal—Court fees, application for refund of—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908) O XX, r 12 and O XXI, r 23—Court fees Act VII of 1870 s 13. Where the Privy Council on the 7th March, 1913, dismissed an appeal from a decree of the High Court affirming a decree of the court of first instance, dated the 28th November, 1905, under which the plaintiffs were awarded mesne profits 'from the date of the decree to the date of recovery of possession' and some of the plaintiffs obtained delivery of possession on the 29th May, 1914 and others on the 15th January, 1916 held that the decree to be executed was the decree of the Privy Council which affirmed the decree of the first court and that, in effect, the Privy Council decree awarded the plaintiffs mesne profits from the 28th November, 1915, up to the date of delivery of possession and that effect would be given to the decree without contravening the provisions of O XX, r 12 O XXI, r 23 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1918, applies only where the original court has disposed of a suit on a preliminary point. A certificate for refund of court fees paid on an appeal against a preliminary decree cannot be granted under s. 13 of the Court-fees Act, 1870. NEEDHAM SINGH v BHAN RAM MEHWARI 3 Pat. L. J 116

9 ————— Costs as against and between parties—costs of suit, set-off and counterclaim. Where mesne profits are claimed from a trespasser the costs of cultivation and reaping should be allowed.

MESNE PROFITS—contd.

BALDEO RAI v. RAM EKHAL SINGH

4 Pat. L. J. 391

10. ————— Partition suit—Relief for future mesne profits claimed in suits—Decree not referring to future profits—Relief must be deemed to have been refused—Separate suit for future profits—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11, Expt. V In a suit for partition, a claim was made for possession, past mesne profits and future profits. The decree which granted partition made no reference to future profits although past profits were awarded. The plaintiff having filed a separate suit to recover future profits for three years. Held, that the plaintiff having claimed future mesne profits and the Court having in its decree said nothing with regard to the future profits, the claim in respect of the same must be taken to have been refused and a separate suit for that relief was not maintainable under Expt. V to s. 11, Civil Procedure Code, 1908. Doraiswami Ayyar v. Subramania Ayyar (1917) 41 Mad. 188 and Muhammad Isaq Khan v. Muhammad Rustom Ali Khan (1918), 40 All. 272, not followed. ATMAHAR BHASKAR v. PARAFURHAM BAILLAL (1920)

I L. R. 44 Bom. 954

MHARKI VATAN.

See HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM. ACT III of 1874 AS AMENDED BY BOM. ACT III of 1910), ss. 25, 36, 63 AND 64.

I L. R. 41 Bom. 23

MIADI SARBARAKARI TENURE.

See OMRGA TENANCY ACT, 1913, s. 3.

4 Pat. L. J. 387

MIGRATION.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I L. R. 40 Calc. 407

See SUCCESSION

L. R. 43 I A 35

MILITARY OFFICER

In the Indian Staff Corps—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s. 60, CL. 2 (b).

I L. R. 38 Bom. 667

MINES AND MINERALS.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—MINERAL RIGHTS.

I L. R. 37 Calc. 721

I L. R. 39 Calc. 696

See LEASE

1 Pat. L. J. 441

I L. R. 43 Calc. 67

See MINING LEASE.

Income from rent and Royalties of See INCOME TAX ACT, 1918, s. 5.

6 Pat. L. J. 62

rights of grantee to—

See GRANT

I L. R. 41 Calc. 565

1. ————— Coal mine, working of, by lessee—Suit for perpetual injunction to restrain lessee from connecting leased mine with

MINES AND MINERALS—contd.

other mines, from instroke working and from cutting or changing the thickness of supporting pillars—Suit, if to fail of premature in respect of one of several reliefs—Injunction, circumstances justifying the grant of—Breach of contract between lessor and lessee—Lessee if bound to leave barrier of coal to prevent communication with adjoining mine—Instroke, right of—Lessee, if can be deprived of right of instroke working without express provision in lease—Presumption of right in favour of lessee—Subordinate, owner's right of support against—Circumstances under which Court should protect such right by injunction After the death of the lessee of a coal mine his sons transferred their interest in the mine to a person who had mines in the immediate vicinity. The plaintiff lessor sued for a perpetual injunction to restrain the purchaser, (i) from connecting the disputed mine with the adjacent mines, (ii) from raising the coal from the disputed mine through the pits of his mines, (iii) from ever cutting off or changing or diminishing the thickness of the pillars of coal in the disputed mine. The Subordinate Judge granted an injunction on the first two grounds and refused an injunction on the third ground. It appeared that under the lease the lessee was entitled to remove all the coal of the demised mine, but he undertook to manage the work according to the prevailing practice with special care and expertness. It was not suggested that the defendant had acted in breach of this covenant. The plaintiff alleged that the transfer had been made with a view to enable the purchaser to injure the plaintiff by an improper working of the mine, he further asserted that there was a conspiracy amongst the defendants who had threatened to cause him loss. The defendant denied the truth of these allegations. Held, that it is well settled that a man who seeks the aid of the Court by an injunction must show that the act complained of is in fact a violation of his right or is at least an act which if carried into effect will necessarily result in a violation of the right. The mere prospect or apprehension of injury or the mere belief that the act complained of may or will be done is not sufficient. That as the defendant claimed a right to take away the entire coal, the Court was competent to grant an injunction if it was established that what the defendant asserted he had a right to do would constitute a breach of contract between the lessor and lessee. That as regards the mode of removal of the coal, the plaintiff failed to prove that he had any ground for an injunction in this respect, but the suit could not consequently be deemed premature in respect of all the reliefs claimed, though the objection might hold good with regard to one of them. That the principle that a lessee who removes a barrier between the demised and an adjoining mine is guilty of waste had no application to the circumstances of the present case. That it was not obligatory upon the lessee to have a barrier of coal merely to prevent communication with adjoining mines and the injunction granted by the Court below restraining the defendant from breaking through the existing barrier of coal could not be supported. That the right of instroke is the right of conveying minerals leased to the surface through a pit or shaft in the adjoining mine; it is the converse right to that of outstroke which is the right of conveying minerals from an adjoining mine to the surface through a pit or shaft in the mine leased and a lessee is prima facie entitled to work by instroke but not by outstroke, and if the lessor desires to deprive the lessee of his right of instroke working he must do so by clear and unambiguous provision. That in the present case the original lessee had no other land in the neighbourhood and could work the mine only through pits sunk therein and the original parties to the lease did not contemplate the contingency which happened and did not provide for it in the contract. There would consequently be a presumption of right in the lessee to work in the most advantageous way subject to his not committing a fraud on the lessor and no fraud on the part of the lessee having been proved, the injunction to restrain the defendant from working the mine by instroke could not be sustained. That prima facie the owner of the surface has a right of support and the lessee is not entitled to work the mine so as to cause a subsidence. This right to support will be protected by an injunction if the Court is satisfied that injury is imminent and certain to result from the defendant's acts. The Court will also interfere by injunction when the defendant claims the right to do acts which must inevitably cause a subsidence. But in the present case there were no materials to show that the plaintiff had the right to the surface and till such right was established, he could have no right to claim protection against subsidence of the surface. Even assuming that the plaintiff had right in the surface, there was no evidence to show that the pillars need be maintained in the present size and number to prevent subsidence and in view of the statutory rules for the working of mines it was extremely improbable that the defendant could alter the pillars in such a way as to endanger the surface, and the injunction in this respect was rightly refused. RAMJAS AGARWALLA v. BRAJAMOHAN SINGH (1914). 19 C W N 887

MINES AND MINERALS—could

Leases for years or for life—Leases in perpetuity—Intention of parties—Landlord's rights. It is well settled in England that a tenant for life or for years has no right to work unopened mines. Clegg v. Rowland, 2 Eq 160, and Campbell v. Wardlaw 8 Ap Cas 611, referred to. Gordon Stuart & Co v. Tikannee Debbarh Awarree (1864) 15 P 370, not followed. Prince Mahomed Bakhtyar Shah v. Raja Dhyamrai, 2 C L J 20 and Titaram Mukerji v. Cohen, 1 L R 33 Cal 203 referred to. There is no difference in principle between a lease for years and a lease in perpetuity, when nothing is known or can be inferred about the intentions of the parties at the time of the inception of the lease. The landlord continues to have a reversion in mines discovered after the inception of the lease. Kally Dass Ahir v. Manmohan Dass, 1 L R 24 Cal 460 referred to. Abduram Goveami v. Shyama Charan Nandi, 1 L P 30 Cal 1003, followed. Soni Koor v. Himmat Bahadur, 1 L R 1 Cal 331, 1 L P 31 A 92, referred to. Jahoor Shyam Chand Jiv v. Pore Laxmi Ghose, 1 L R 33 Cal 528 not followed. Shama Charan Nandi v. Abduram Goveami, 1 L R 33 Cal 511, and Mogh Lal Pandey v. Poykumar Thacker 1 L R 31 Cal 358 distinguished. Brignath Bose v. Durga Prasad Bhopal, 1 L R 31 Cal 743 not followed and held to be practically overruled by Hari Narayan Singh Deo v.

MINES AND MINERALS—could

Sriram Chakravarti, 1 L R 37 Cal 723, 1 R 37 I A 136. Jyoti Prasad Singh v. Lachipur Coal Company (1911) 1 L R 38 Cal 845

Moghal Brah mottar—Grant. Moghal Brah mottar grant of a mauza does not pass the minerals under it to the grantee. Hari Narayan Singh Deo v. Sriram Chakravarti, 1 L R 37 Cal 723, and Jyoti Prasad Singh v. Lachipur Coal Co 1 L R 38 Cal 845, followed. Soni Koor v. Himmat Bahadur, 1 L R 1 Cal 331, distinguished. KUNJA BEHARI SEAL v. DURGA PRASAD SINGH (1914) 1 L R 42 Cal 346

Mining Rights—Brahmottar grant of mauza of entire mauza before Permanent Settlement, effect of, in relation to mining rights. The effect of a grant of a rent free brahmottar of the whole of a mauza made before or after the Permanent Settlement is not to transfer any mining rights. Jyoti Prasad Singh v. Lachipur Coal Co 18 C W N 211 s.c. 1 L R 38 Cal 845, and Kunja Behari Seal v. Raja Durga Prasad Singh, 19 C W N 203 relied on. Hari Narayan Singh Deo v. Sriram Chakravarti 1 L R 37 I A 136 s.c. 1 L R 37 Cal 723, 14 C W N 746, followed. NOWAHUR COAL CO. LD. v. SASHI BHUSAN RAY (1914) 19 C W N 375

Zamindar, grant of rent free debottar by—Grantee if entitled to under ground rights. Where a zamindar grants a tenure in lands within his zamindari and it does not clearly appear by the terms of the grant that a right to the minerals is included, the minerals do not pass to the grantee. The principle applies to a rent-free tenure. RAGHUNATH POY MAHWANT v. RAJA DURGA PRASAD SINGH (1919) 23 C W N 914

Grant by zamindar of part of zamindari land—Lease in perpetuity. In absence of evidence that zamindar expressly granted right to dig coal no such right passes by grant. Where a zamindar grants a tenure of lands within his zamindari and it does not clearly appear by the terms of the grant that a right to the minerals beneath the soil is included, the minerals do not pass to the grantee. Hari Narayan Singh v. Sriram Chakravarti, 1 L R 37 Cal 723, 1 L R 37 I A 136, Durga Prasad Singh v. Brajanath Bose, 1 L R 39 Cal 696, 1 L R 33 I A 133, and Sashi Bhushan Ray v. Jyoti Prasad Singh Deo, 1 L R 44 Cal 585, 1 L R 41 I A 46, followed. This principle applies as well as to rent free grants as to grants of tenure at fixed rents. A grant by the Rajah of Jharna of rent free brahmottar land part of the Paj property of which the terms were "You should enjoy it comfortably by cultivating and getting the same cultivated by others. Hence this jaldi is granted to you" was held not to pass the underground minerals to the grantee. RAGHUNATH POY MAHWANT v. DURGA PRASAD SINGH (1919) 1 L R 47 Cal 83

Minerals right to—Surface rights and subsoil mineral rights—Distinction between copholders and tenants of freehold land in England—Construction of the terms "Restrictions and covenants as to the exercise of the power" in mining lease—Limitation—Adverse possession. Where the mineral rights were never in contemplation of the parties when the lease was granted in 1830 and the lessees never exercised any mineral rights whatsoever barring taking small quantities of coal from the outcrop for domestic purposes and burning lime and the zemindar by the lease granted a village containing 380 bighas at the abnormally low rent of Rs. 17 per annum the presumption made in the absence of the original document was that only the surface rights were conveyed to the grantees. In such a case the mines and minerals and the property in the subsoil remained the property and in the possession of the zemindar. The surface rights with their incidents became vested in the grantees as tenure holders. Hari Narain Singh Deo Bahadur v. Siram Chakraborty L. R. 37 I. A. 136, s. c. I. L. R. 37 Cal. 723 24 C. W. N. 748 and Durga Prasad Singh v. Broja Nath Bose I. L. R. 39 Cal. 696 s. c. 16 C. W. N. 452, relied on Kunja Behari Sen v. Durga Prasad Singh I. L. R. 42 Cal. 316, s. c. 19 C. W. N. 293 referred to. If the mines are presumed to be vested in, and to be the property of the zemindar, his rights must be just the same as those of a free simple free holder owner of land according to English Law who makes a grant with an express reservation of the mines to himself together with the incidents that follow therefrom. By reason of that presumption and by reason of the severance of the tenement and the reservation that must be deemed to rise in favour of the Raja, the latter has an incident to his right of property and ownership in the mines the right by implication of law to enter upon the surface of the tenure holder's mouzah for all reasonable and necessary purposes to enable him to work the mines and exercise his mineral rights. The case of Prince Mohamed Bakhtyar Shah v. Ram Dajamoni, 2 C. L. J. 29 in so far as it decided that the owner of a limited estate in possession, can prevent the grantor or his lessee to work and appropriate the mineral during the existence of such limited estate unless the grantor had expressly reserved the mineral right in his own favour, was wrongly decided by the misapplication of the English Law of copyholds to the case of owners and tenants of freehold land. The distinction between freehold and copyhold law is that under the latter there is no division into strata and the tenant obtains possession of the entire surface and subsoil to the centre of the earth, so that the lord of the manor cannot work the mines unless he proves a right or custom to that effect. It is under only the copyhold law and where there is no reservation of custom proved that a deadlock occurs and neither landlord or tenant can work the mines. Under the law applicable to freehold land there can be no deadlock, or if the mines be excepted, the grantor has an implied right to work them incidentally to such exception, if there be no exception then that right is with the grantee as owner of the surface and subsoil. Where a reservation is reserved the person in whose favour the reservation is made is the absolute owner of the subsoil and the rights of such a person are that he has by implication of law the power to go upon the surface and do all things reasonably necessary in order to exercise the enjoyment of his property. Batten Pool v. Kennedy, (1907) 1 CA 256, and Ramsay v. Blair, J. R. I. A. C. 701, referred to. Held, on the construction of a mining lease, that under cl. (3) of Part II of the lease, the lessees had merely power and liberty to enter upon lands in direct possession of the Raja himself in order to exercise the mineral rights vested in them. The implied liberty to enter and work the mines subject to reasonable restrictions is not to be curtailed by the express conditions of the lease unless the intention is apparent. Part III of the lease headed "Restrictions and conditions as to the exercise of the above liberties, powers and privileges" must be construed as only restricting the liberties and privileges expressly conferred by Part II and not as any restriction upon the general right of access which is implied by law. Lari of Cardigan v. Armistage, 2 B. & C. 137, 107 Eng. Rep. 351, referred to. Held, also, that the defendant acquired no title by adverse possession to the mines and minerals of the land in question. NAWABAHU COAL CO., Ltd. v. BEHARILAL TRIGUNAT (1916) 20 C. W. N. 1135

MINES AND MINERALS—contd

MINES AND MINERALS—contd.

Land Law in Bengal—Mokarari Lease—"With all rights" A mokarari lease of lands "with all rights" ("matlak hakuk") does not carry a right to the subjacent minerals. Sanki Bhawan Misra v. Jyoti Singh, L. R. 41 I. A. 46, followed and applied. GIRDHARI SINGH v. NIRON LAL PANDEY (1917) L. R. 44 I. A. 245

Coal mines—Royalty received by proprietor of estate from lessees of coal mines—Liability to Cess under Bengal Cess Act (Bengal Act IX of 1880), ss. 6 and 72—Return of "annual net profits" of coal mines—Income-tax. Held (upholding the decision of the High Court), that a royalty received by the appellant from person to whom he had leased a portion of his estate in Bengal for the purpose of working the coal mines situated therein was, within ss. 6 and 72 of the Bengal Cess Act (Beng. Act IX of 1880), part of the "annual net profits" of the mines, and that he had been properly assessed with cess on such royalty. The return required by s. 27 was not with regard to the mine-owner's profit, but had reference to the general net profits of the property. The fact that the obligation to make the return was laid on the person most cognizant of the circumstances under which the mine was worked and of the profits derived from it, did not alter the character of the royalty received by the proprietor for his share of the property of the mine. MANENDRA CHANDRA NANDY v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1910)

I. L. R. 38 Cal. 372

Minerals under the soil, right to grant of surface to permanent tenure holder—reservation as to minerals presumption from—grantor's right to enter the surface-holder's land to work minerals, transferee of grantor's rights, rights of. The plaintiffs obtained from the Rajah of Katras a lease of the underground mines and minerals rights in Mouza Kumarguri, dated the 2nd October, 1839. They were prevented from working the mines by the defendants, who claimed both the surface and sub-soil rights in the Mouza under a deed from the Rajah of Katras' ancestor, dated the 21st March 1830. The deed was not produced, but it was said to have conferred upon the defendants a Moghul Brahmin tenure in respect of 830 bighas of land at a rent of Rs. 17 per annum. In appeal the defendants asked the Court to presume a grant in their favour on the basis of a lost grant. The Court presumed a grant to the defendants, as permanent tenure holders of the surface rights of the Mouzah and held, that at the time of the grant there must be presumed to have been a severance of the surface rights from the property in the sub soil. The surface rights, with their incidents, became vested in the defendants as tenure holders, and the mines and minerals in the Rajah, as the owner of the property, as if there had been a reservation in his favour. Held, further, that by reason of this presumption and by reason of the severance of the tenement and the reservation deemed to have arisen in favour of the Rajah the latter had, as incidental to his right of property and ownership in the mines, the right by implication of law to enter upon the tenure-holder's land for all reasonable and necessary purposes to enable him to work the mines and exercise his mineral rights. A transferee of the Rajah's right to the mines and minerals would have the same right to enter the tenure holder's land as the Rajah himself had. NAWAAR COAL CO., LTD v BEHARI LALL TRIGUNAIT

MINES AND MINERALS—contd.

1 Pat. L J 275

Minerals—Patni Lease, whether convey underground rights—"Adha Urdha Hak Hakuk," meaning of, in a lease—low rent—ignorance of parties to conveyance as to value of sub-soil rights, effect of. In the absence of express words conveying the underground rights, a patni lease does not entitle the patnidar to work the minerals. The words "adha urdha" followed by the words "hak hakuk" in a lease convey the underground rights. When sub soil rights are expressly transferred by the terms of a deed the fact that the rent is low, or that the parties were not aware, at the time of the execution of the deed, that there were valuable minerals under the soil, does not render the lease invalid. RAM LAL KAVIRAJ v RAJA MAHARAJA KUMAR SATYA NIBRANJAN CHAKRAVARTY

5 Pat. L J. 563

MINES AND MINERALS—concl.

quently, no matter how long mines remain unworked by the owner his right is not barred so long as they are not worked by some one else. There are cases in which a title by adverse possession can be made out in respect to minerals but it does not follow that by working a part of the minerals or opening up particular quarries possession over a continuous field of minerals or quarries of which the portion worked forms a part can be acquired. A fresh course of action for a declaration that the mineral rights in certain land are vested in the plaintiff arises whenever any particular portion of the minerals is removed. The mere fact that no rent is reserved in a patni does not necessarily imply that by it a revenue free estate was granted. Direct payment of cess on account of rent free lands is not conclusive that those rent free lands constitute a separate estate. KUMAR PRAMATHA NATH MALIA v A J MITT

5 Pat. L J. 273

MINING LEASE.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 493

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 552

L. R. 45 I. A. 275

See MINES AND MINERALS

See TENANTS IN COMMON

I. L. R. 39 Mad 1049

Parcels—Area stated within specified boundaries—Alleged Deficiency—Abatement of Rent The appellant was lessor, and the respondents lessees under a mining lease, the terms of which were contained in a kabulyat granting the rights of cutting, raising and selling coal beneath '400 bighas of land, described in the schedule below, in Mauza Dobari," the schedule specified boundaries and added "right in the coal underneath the 400 bighas of land within these boundaries." In a suit to recover arrears of rent the respondents alleged that they were in possession of less than 400 bighas and claimed to be entitled to an abatement of rent. Held, (i) that the construction of the kabulyat as to the land included in the lease could not be varied by evidence of the negotiations which led to the contract or by evidence that there were not 400 bighas within the specified boundaries; (ii) further, that the respondents had failed to prove what was the area in fact contained within the boundaries or that of which they had been given possession. DURGIA PRASAD SINGH v RAJENDRA NARAYAN BAGCHI (1913)

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 493

L. R. 40 I. A. 223

Construction—Rule of construction—Issue raised in the pleadings but neither at the hearing nor in appeal, not allowed to be raised before the Privy Council In construing the terms of a deed, the question is not what the parties may have intended but what is the meaning of the words which they used. Where a grantee of underground and coal mining rights in a village which at the date of the grant had railway communication only by the East India Company, stipulated to pay royalty at a certain rate on all coals despatched by the said railway line, but in view of the contemplated construction of another line by the Bengal Nagpur Railway Company, agreed that if by reason of such construction the freight of coal were reduced by two annas or more grant of surface, effect of—Adverse possession, acquisition of title to minerals by—constructive possession—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Art 120—Bengal Regulation I of 1793, Art 8 (3)—Bengal Regulation XIX of 1793, cl 2 (1) A grant, by a zamindar, of a tenure in lands within his zamindari does not pass the minerals unless it appears clearly from the terms of the grant that the minerals were included in the grant. The mere fact that such a grantee has given leases which purport to give a right to the soil and the sub soil of his tenure, and that minerals have been worked by the lessees, will not convey a title by adverse possession on the grantee as against the zamindar from whom he acquired his grant. Although possession of a part of a certain property is constructive possession of the whole if the whole is otherwise vacant this constructive possession is an incident of ownership and results from title. The doctrine of constructive possession is not applicable to a case where the occupant defends himself on the ground of his possession only without proving any title. A wrong doer's rights by adverse possession must be confined to land of which he is in actual possession and this principle applies equally to mines. Where an owner of land sells it reserving to himself the mineral he retains possession of the minerals in the same way as if he had not sold the surface. Mere non user is not an abandonment of possession, and, conse-per ton then on all coals despatched in the aforesaid manner royalties at a certain higher rate were to be paid. Held that the words referred to all coals despatched by rail at the reduced rates either by the East India Company or the Bengal Nagpur Railway Company. An injunction in the proceedings but not at the hearing in the original Court or on appeal in the High Court was not allowed to be raised in the Privy Council. MANINDRA CHANDRA NANDI v. DUTTA PRASAD SINGH (1917) 21 C W N 707

MINING LEASE—contd.

Construction.— I over to lessee to surrender on six months notice and payment of all dues to date—Notice given—Lessor's request that formal surrender be executed and delivered and payment made thereunto—Surrender executed and delivered subsequent to expiry of notice—Lessor if may demand royalty and rent subsequent to expiry of notice—Principle and agent—Agent's authority Where a lease by its terms permitted surrender by the lessee on giving six months notice provided that all rents and royalties due up to the date of the expiry of the notice were paid on that date and that unless this was done the notice would become ineffectual and the surrender ineffective. Held that a letter written by the agent of the lessor upon receipt of such notice requesting that the surrender should take place by execution of a deed in terms approved by the lessor had the effect of transferring the payment of the amount to the date when the surrender would be executed and delivered even though this date should be subsequent to the date of the expiration of the notice the surrender taking effect from the date when the notice expired when ever it was executed. Held also that the lessor's agent although he had no power finally to fix or vary the terms upon which the lessor's land was to be dealt with had authority when once the notice was handed over to him to give the lessee express direction to make the payment at the time of the delivery of the executed deed of surrender. SHYAM PRASAD SINGH v. THE TATA IRON AND STEEL CO. LD (1918) 23 C W N 466

MINING RIGHTS

See JURISDICTION 4 Pat. L. J 154

MINISTER LICENSED TO SOLEMNIZE MARRIAGES

— date of—

See DIVORCE ACT 1869 s 20
25 C W N 710

MINOR

See ACCOUNT, SUIT FOR
I L R 44 Cal 1

See ARBITRATION
I L R 35 Bom 153

See ARMS ACT (XI of 1875) s 19 (f)
I L R 40 All 420

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882—
ss 13, 462 I L R 38 Bom 53
s 443 I L R 44 Bom 202
s 462 I L R 35 Bom 322

MINOR—contd.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882—

s 48 I L R 36 Bom 468
I L R 37 All 638

s 151 O IX, s 13 I L R 39 All 8

O IX s 13 O XXXII s 3
I L R 37 All 179

O XII s 2 I L R 44 Bom 757

O XXXII s 7
I L R 41 All 653

I L R 43 Bom 268

See COMPANY I L R 39 Bom 331

See COMPROMISE I L R 44 Cal 329
I L R 48 Cal 469

See CONSENT DECREE
I L R 38 Cal 639

See CONTRACT I L R 37 Mad 320

See CONTRACT ACT (IX of 1872)—
s 11 I L R 35 All 370

ss 11 64 65 70 I L R 32 All 25
I L R 40 All 558

s 68 I L R 32 All 325

2 Pat L J 627

s 247 I L R 42 All 515

See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872) s 115,
I L R 41 Bom 460

See EXECUTION OF DECREE
I L R 34 All 321

See GUARDIAN

See GUARDIAN AD LITEM

See GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT (VIII of 1890).

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I L R 43 Bom 481

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I L R 37 Bom 340

I L R 33 All 158

2 Pat L J 308 513

I L R 47 Cal 274

See HINDU LAW—MINOR.

I L R 38 Bom 622

2 Pat L J 212, 190

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION
I L R 37 Cal 703

See INSOLVENCY I L R 43 Cal 1157

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION
3 Pat L J 415

See LIMITATION ACT 1877 s 8 Sch. II—

ARTS 91 AND 141 I L R 52 All 322

ART 19 Expl. I

I L R 34 Bom 672

See LIMITATION ACT 1908—
ss 6 7 AND ART 144

I L R 43 Bom 437

MINOR—contd

s 7 SCH I ART 44

I L R 38 Bom 94

SCH I ART 44 I L R 42 Bom 626

I L R 44 Bom 742

SCH I ART 91 I L R 42 Bom 638

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ALIENATION

I L P 35 Bom 217

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MAINTENANCE

I L R 37 Bom 71

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE

I L R 42 Calc 251

I L R 45 Calc 278

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MINOR.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

I L R 39 All 283

See MORTGAGE BY MINOR

I L R 38 Mad 1071

See PARTNERSHIP I L R 40 All 446

See PRACTICE I L R 35 Bom 339

See PROMISSORY NOTE BY GUARDIAN OF

MINOR I L R 39 Mad 915

See RAILWAYS ACT (IX OF 1890) ss

126 (a) 130 I L R 43 Bom 883

See SOLICITOR'S LIEN FOR COSTS

I L R 43 Calc 676

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

I L R 39 Calc 232

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT s 9

I L R 36 Mad 214

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882—

ss 5 6 7 AND 107

I L P 38 All 62

s 80 I L R 34 Bom 354

See U P LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF

1901) ss 111 112 AND 233 (1)

I L R 35 All 126

a decree for land and mesne profits in favour of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT VII

OF 1882) s 230

I L R 37 Mad 186

application by—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF

1908) s 144 I L R 41 Bom 625

application for guardianship of property—

See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII

OF 1890) s 7 I L R 40 Bom 323 authority of—

See MORTGAGE I L R 40 Calc 342

capacity of, to be transferee—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872) ss 10

AND 11 I L R 32 All 657

compromise on behalf of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT XIV

OF 1882) s 46

I L R 39 Mad 409

contract by to purchase immovable property—

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

I L R 39 Calc 232

MINOR—*contd*Executing after majority in payment of ones made during minority—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I L R 3 Lah 293

fund payable to if payable to guardian—

See TRUSTEE I L R 38 Mad 71

interest of—

See EXECUTOR I L R 45 Calc 538

non representation of—

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL

I L R 40 Calc 635

See MORTGAGE I L R 47 Calc 924

parties to arbitration—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF

1908) O XXXII s 7

I L R 39 Mad 853

representative of—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s

3 AND 7 SCH I ART 142

I L R 40 Bom 564

represented as major—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT 18 s 41

I L R 44 Bom 175

right of to impugn sale—

See MORTGAGE I L R 37 Calc 89

right to quest on—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s 7,

SCH I ART 105

I L R 39 Mad 570

sue by—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT VII

OF 1882) s 46

I L R 36 Mad 293

sue for partition on behalf of—

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION

I L R 41 Mad 442

Void contract—

See CONTRACT I L R 45 Bom 225

Sue by to set aside compromise—

See COMPROMISE DECREE.

I L R 1 Lah 344

Bound by decree against him if duly represented by guardian—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882 s 46

I L R 1 Lah 27

Obtaining possession of a minor girl for purposes of prostitution—

See PENAL CODE s 33

I L R 45 Bom 529

Decree in favour of minor—Compromise of the decree with minor's mother—

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF

ACT 1879 s 71

I L R 45 Bom 1123

Sue by members of joint family including minor—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s 7

I L R 45 Bom 446

MINOR—contd.

1 ———— Mortgage executed by—Money borrowed to discharge debts of father—Contract executed by minor effect of In this appeal, which was one from the decision of the High Court in Maharaj Singh v Baharant Singh 1 L R 28 All 208, their Lordships of the Judicial Committee, on the evidence, upheld that decision on the question whether the defendant Maharaj was a minor at the time he signed the mortgage, and said "Having found as a fact that Maharaj Singh was a minor, at that time, it is not necessary for their Lordships to consider any other issues. This suit has been brought on the mortgage-deed of the 28th of October 1892 by the assignee of that mortgage, and as their Lordships have held that the mortgage was not made by Sheoraj Singh as the manager of the family or in any respect as representing Maharaj Singh, and as Maharaj Singh was then a minor, the mortgage-deed as against him and his interest in the estate was not merely voidable it was void and of no effect and must be regarded as a mortgage deed to which he was not even an assenting party, and as a mortgage deed which did not affect him or his interest in the estate. BAL WANT SINGH v R CLANCY (1912)

I L R 34 All 299

2 ———— Sale—Sale in favour of minor void A sale in favour of a minor is void. Mohor Bibee v Dharmadas Ghose 1 L R 30 Cal 539 followed. NAVAKOTHI NARAYANA CHETTI v LOGALINGA CHETTI (1909) 1 L R 33 Mad 312

3 ———— Custody of—Determination of custody of minor—Contract of apprenticeship by minor, how far enforceable—Injunction against minor for breach of such contract—When Court will take minors from custody of parents or persons selected by them A minor may bind himself by a contract of apprenticeship if it be for his benefit but such a contract cannot be specifically enforced against him either directly or by restraining him from taking service under others or by restraining others from employing him. De Francesco v Barnum, 43 Ch D 165, referred to. If the contract is for the benefit of the minor apprentice an action will lie for enticing away such apprentice and to recover his earnings. Parents and guardians cannot divest themselves of their right of guardianship by any contract. A delegation of such right is revocable at any time and the parent or guardian is bound to revoke it if it is used to the detriment of the children, and it is open to the Court within whose jurisdiction the children are found to exercise the same power, if cause is shown for such interference. The jurisdiction of the Courts to take away children from parents or from persons selected by them is a parental one and the Courts must do what a wise parent under the circumstances would or ought to do. The Queen v Symonds, (1893) 2 Q B 232, 248, referred to. The main consideration to be acted upon is the benefit or welfare of the child, the welfare of the child means not only its physical but also its moral and religious welfare. A male child above the age of 14 and a female child above the age of 16 years will not ordinarily be compelled to remain in custody to which he or she objects; and in the case of younger children who are still old enough to form an intelligent preference their wishes will form one of the elements for consideration. The Court will remove children from the custody of one from whom cruelty or corruption is apprehended. POLLARD v POUSS (1910) 1 L R 33 Mad 288

MINOR—contd.

4. ———— Fraud—Misrepresentation—Minor—Estoppel—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 115—Co sharer landlord, notice to quit by, if valid When a person between 18 and 21 years of age executes a conveyance with the knowledge that his minority has been extended by reason of an order under s 7 of the Guardians and Wards Act in favour of vendees who are not aware of that fact, there is misrepresentation and legal fraud on his part, and he is estopped from taking advantage of his minority to show that the conveyance by him is inoperative. Mohun Bibi v Sarat Chand 2 C W N 18. Dhannul v Ram Chander 1 L R 24 Cal 265, relied on. Mohor Bibee v Dharmadas Ghose 1 L R 30 Cal 539 s c 7 C W N 411, referred to. SREENDRA NATH ROY v KRISHNA SAKSHI DAS (1910)

15 C W N 239

5 ———— Representation of minor—Appointment of guardian ad litem—Absence of affidavit as required by s 456 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1882—Suit by minors to set aside proceedings—Civil Procedure Code, 1882, s 413 Where an order was made by Court appointing a person guardian ad litem on behalf of certain minors in a suit in which a decree was duly made against them. Held in a suit by the minors on attaining majority to set aside the decree and also in execution thereunder that the absence of an affidavit such as is required by the provisions of s 456 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) at the time the application for the appointment of a guardian was made was not sufficient to render the proceedings illegal and void as against the minors on the ground that they were not properly represented therein. Wahan v Danke Behari Pershad Singh 1 L P 30 Cal 1021 1 L R 30 I A 182, followed. The order being on the record, the presumption was, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that every thing was regularly and properly done. MAYN LAL v GHULAM ABBAS (1910)

I L R 32 All 287

6 ———— Suit to set aside compromise of and decrees in suits to which minors were parties—Civil Procedure Code 1882, ss 413 456, and 462—Minors unrepresented owing to fraud and misrepresentation of de facto guardian whose interest conflicted with theirs—Form of decree—Civil Procedure Code, 1908 s 98—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) s 42—Question of law In this case the appellants sued for a declaration that a compromise of certain pre-emption suits and decrees based thereon, made on their behalf in 1899 when they were minors, were not binding on them, having been obtained by the fraud and misrepresentation of the respondent (who was then their de facto guardian and manager of their property) and in proceedings in which they were practically unrepresented; and they prayed that they might be restored to the position held by them prior to the date on which the compromise and decrees were made. It appeared that although the appellants were described in the proceedings as "under the guardianship" of one H P, he had never been properly appointed their guardian ad litem by the Court as required by s 413 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1882 that no bona fide application had ever been made under s 450 to have a guardian ad litem appointed by the Court and that the leave of the Court had not been obtained to enter into the compromise on the appellants' behalf as was necessary under s 402. Held that the appellants were entitled to the declaration they sought. H P had their Lordships found, being introduced into the suits of 1899 by the respondent as the guardian or next friend of the appellants to advance the interests of the respondent and to defeat the interests of the appellants, which conflicted with those of the respondent he had throughout acted under the directions and on behalf of the respondent and in his interest and contrary to the interests of the appellants and the respondent had taken advantage of his position to the detriment of the appellants. There was therefore no one to protect them, and they were unrepresented in the proceedings, which were therefore not binding on them. Manohar Lal v Jadunath Singh, 1 L R 23 All 585 I P 33 I A 128, followed S 42 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) which had been applied to the case by the majority of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner, was held not to be applicable. Semle. The question whether on certain stated facts the relief which the appellants prayed for should be granted or refused, was a question of law within the meaning of s 93 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), and where, on a difference of opinion on that question between two Judges of the Court the case was referred under that section to a third Judge, that was the only question he had jurisdiction to consider and decide. PARTAB SINGH v BHADUTI SINGH (1913)

MINOR—contd

I L R 35 All 487

7 ———— *Guardian ad litem refusing to act—Mitakshara father of proper guardian in suit on mortgage of family property by him—Hindu law, Mitakshara family—Debts son's liability for—Mortgage decree of minor infant son who is not represented—Equity of redemption if barred by such decree—Decree form of—Practice—Redemption decree for passed in a suit on a mortgage executed by a Mitakshara father the father was proposed as guardian ad litem of his infant son by the plaintiffs but he refused to accept service of notice on him as such and entered appearance only on his own behalf and not as guardian of his son. No further step was taken by the plaintiffs to have a guardian ad litem appointed for the infant and the suit was decreed. Held that the infant was not represented in the suit and the decree was therefore not binding on him. Wahan v Bank Behari, L R 30 I A 182 I L P 30 Calc 1021 distinguished Kharajmal v Diam, I L R 32 Calc 236 9 C W N 201, referred to. In a suit by the infant for a declaration that the decree was fraudulent and not binding on him, it was found that the mortgage was executed for legal necessity and that the infant son was not born at the time of the mortgage. Held, that it would be unfair to drive the mortgagor to a fresh suit to enforce the mortgage against the infant when the case had been decided on the merits and the mortgage found binding on the infant. But although the mortgage was binding on the plaintiff if he had, since his birth, a share in the equity of redemption and his right to redeem could not* be shut out by a mortgage decree in a suit to which he was not a party. Although, therefore, there was no prayer to be allowed to redeem in this suit, decree for redemption was passed. BAL KISHOR LAL v CHOWDHURY TAFSEER SIKH (1911)

MINOR—contd

17 C W N 219

8 ———— Decree against—Effect of, if void—Minor sued as major and unrepresented by guardian ad litem if party to a suit. A decree against a person who is neither a party nor is properly represented on the record is a nullity and might be disregarded without any proceeding to set it aside. Kharajmal v Diam, 9 C W N 201 I L R 32 Calc 236, referred to. Where a suit for rent was brought and an ex parte decree passed against a person who, though sued as a major, was found to have been a minor at that time and remained unrepresented by a guardian ad litem. Held, that the minor was not a party to the suit and the decree passed against him was nullity. Roshidunnessa v Ismail Khan, 13 C W N 1182 Narsing v Jal, 15 C L J 3, followed. Wahan v Bank Behari 7 C W N 774 I L R 30 Calc 1021, distinguished. Held also that the ignorance of the plaintiff as to the minority of the defendant did not affect the rights of the minor. PURNA CHANDRA KUNWAR v BEJOY CHAND MAHATAR (1913)

17 C W N 549

9 ———— *Guardian—Custody—Plaint in District Court—Transfer to High Court—Jurisdiction—Letters Patent, 1865, cl. 13 and 20—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890) ss 9 10 and 52. The first respondent instituted a suit against the appellant in a District Court by a plaintiff claiming a declaration that he was entitled to the guardianship and custody of his two minor sons (the added respondents) and for an order that they should be handed over to him. The suit having been transferred to the High Court under the Letters Patent, 1865 s 13 that Court declared that the minors should be wards of the Court that the first respondent was guardian of their persons and ordered the appellant to hand them over to him. The minors were in England both when the suit was instituted and when the order was made. They were not made parties to the proceedings nor were they represented before the Court. Held (i) that the District Court had no jurisdiction since the minors were not ordinarily resident in the district as required by s 9 of the Guardians and Wards Act 1890 and since the suit was not instituted by petition as required by s 10 of that Act, (ii) that, even if the High Court had any jurisdiction with regard to minors beyond that which might have been exercised by the District Court (which was not determined), the mandatory order ought not to have been made, since an attempt to enforce it would expose the appellant to habeas corpus proceedings in England, and since the minors were not represented before the Court, nor adequate steps taken to ascertain their wishes and interests. BESANT v KARATIANIA (1914)*

L R 41 I A 314

10 ———— *Guardian ad litem—appointment of, procured by suppression of the existence of near relation—Whether decree liable to be set aside—Fraud. In a suit for the recovery of money against a father and his minor son, the father refused to act as guardian ad litem of his minor*

MINOR—contd.

1 ———— Mortgage executed by—Money borrowed to discharge debts of father—Contract executed by minor effect of In this appeal, which was one from the decision of the High Court in Maharaj Singh v. Balwant Singh 1 I L R 28 All 373, their Lordships of the Judicial Committee, on the evidence, upheld that decision on the question whether the defendant Maharaj was a minor at the time he signed the mortgage and said: Having found as a fact that Maharaj Singh was a minor, at that time it is not necessary for their Lordships to consider any other issues. This suit has been brought on the mortgage deed of the 28th of October 1890 by the assignees of that mortgage and as their Lordships have held that the mortgage was not made by Sheoraj Singh as the manager of the family or in any respect as representing Maharaj Singh, and as Maharaj Singh was then a minor the mortgage-deed as against him and his interest in the estate was not merely voidable, it was void and of no effect and must be regarded as a mortgage-deed to which he was not even an assenting party, and as a mortgage-deed which did not affect him or his interest in the estate. BALWANT SINGH v. R. CLAWLY (1912) I L R 24 All 293

2 ———— Sale—Sale in favour of minor void A sale in favour of a minor is void. Mohor Bibee v. Dharmodas Ghose 1 L R 30 Cal 539 followed. NAKAKOTI NARAYANA CHETTI v. LOGALINGA CHETTI (1909) I L R 33 Mad 312

3 ———— Custody of—Determination of custody of minor—Contract of apprenticeship by minor, how far enforceable—Injunction against minor for breach of such contract—When Court will take minors from custody of parents or persons selected by them. A minor may bind himself by a contract of apprenticeship if it be for his benefit; but such a contract cannot be specifically enforced against him either directly or by restraining him from taking service under others or by restraining others from employing him. De Francesco v. Barnum, 43 Ch D 165 referred to. If the contract is for the benefit of the minor apprentice, an action will lie for entire recovery of such apprentice and to recover his earnings. Parents and guardians cannot divest themselves of their right of guardianship by any contract. A delegation of such right is revocable at any time and the parent or guardian is bound to revoke it if it is used to the detriment of the children; and it is open to the Court with whose jurisdiction the children are found to exercise the same power. If cause is shown for such interference. The jurisdiction of the Courts to take away children from parents or from persons selected by them is a parental one and the Courts must do what a wise parent under the circumstances would or ought to do. The Queen v. Gough, (1895) 2 F & R 232 243 referred to. The main consideration to be acted upon is the benefit or welfare of the child, the welfare of the child means not only its physical but also its moral and religious welfare. A male child above the age of 14 and a female child above the age of 16 years will not ordinarily be compelled to remain in custody to which he or she is objecting and in the case of younger children who are still old enough to form an intelligent preference their wishes will form one of the elements for consideration. The Court will remove children from the custody of one from whom cruelty or corruption is apprehended. LOLLARD v. PORCE (1910) I L R 33 Mad 288

MINOR—contd.

4. ———— Fraud—Misrepresentation—Minor—Fetoppel—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 115—Co-sharer landlord notice to quit by, if valid. When a person between 18 and 21 years of age executes a conveyance with the knowledge that his minority has been extended by reason of an order under s 7 of the Guardians and Wards Act in favour of vendees who are not aware of that fact, there is misrepresentation and legal fraud on his part and he is estopped from taking advantage of his minority to show that the conveyance by him is inoperative. Mohun Bhai v. Narai Chand 2 C W N 18 Dhanmull v. Poon Chander 1 L R 24 Cal 265 relied on. Mohori Bilee v. Dharmodas Ghose 1 L R 30 Cal 539 s c. C W N 441 referred to. SURENDRA NATH ROY v. KRISHNA SAKSHI DAS (1910) 15 C W N 239

5 ———— Representation of minor—Appointment of guardian ad litem—Absence of affidavit as required by s 456 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1882—Suit by minors to set aside proceedings—Civil Procedure Code 1882 s 413 Where an order was made by Court appointing a person guardian ad litem on behalf of certain minors in a suit in which a decree was duly made against them: Held in a suit by the minors on attaining majority to set aside the decree and sale in execution thereunder that the absence of an affidavit such as is required by the provisions of s. 456 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) at the time the application for the appointment of a guardian was made was not sufficient to render the proceedings illegal and void as against the minors on the ground that they were not properly represented therein. Mahon v. Danke Bickari Lal and Singh, 1 L R 30 Cal 1021 L R 30 I A 182, followed. The order being on the record the presumption was in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that every thing was regularly and properly done. MAHON LAL v. GHULAM ABBAS (1910)

I L R 32 All 292

6 ———— Suit to set aside compromise of and decrees in suits to which minors were parties—Civil Procedure Code 1882 ss 413 456 and 462—Minors misrepresented owing to fraud and misrepresentation of de facto guardian whose interest conflicted with theirs—Form of decree—Civil Procedure Code 1882 s 54—Specific Relief Act (I of 1872) s 4—Question of law In this case the appellants sued for a declaration that a compromise of certain pre-emption suits and decrees based thereon made on their behalf in 1899 when they were minors, were not binding on them, having been obtained by the defendant and misrepresentation of the respondent (who was then their de facto guardian and manager of their property) and in proceedings in which they were practically misrepresented, and they prayed that they might be restored to the position held by them prior to the date on which the compromise and decrees were made. It appeared that although the appellants were described in the proceedings as "under the guardianship" of one H P, he had never been properly appointed their guardian ad litem by the Court as required by s. 413 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1882 that no bona fide application had ever been made under s 456 to have a guardian ad litem appointed by the Court, and that the leave of the Court had not been obtained to enter into the compromise on the appellants' behalf as was necessary under s 402 Held, that the appellants were entitled to the declaration they sought H P had, their Lordships found, been introduced into the suits of 1899 by the respondent as the guardian or next friend of the appellants to advance the interests of the respondent and to defeat the interests of the appellants, which conflicted with those of the respondent he had throughout acted under the directions and on behalf of the respondent and in his interest and contrary to the interests of the appellants, and the respondent had taken advantage of his position to the detriment of the appellants There was therefore no one to protect them, and they were unrepresented in the proceedings, which were therefore not binding on them Manohar Lal v Jadunath Singh, 1 L R 23 All. 535 L R 33 I A 123, followed. S 42 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) which had been applied to the case by the majority of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner, was held not to be applicable. Semble The question whether on certain stated facts the relief which the appellants prayed for should be granted or refused, was a question of law within the meaning of s 93 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), and where, on a difference of opinion on that question between two Judges of the Court, the case was referred under that section to a third Judge, that was the only question he had jurisdiction to consider and decide PARTAB SINGH v BHARUTI SINGH (1913)

MINOR—contd

I L R 35 All 457

7. ———— Guardian ad litem refusing to act—Mitakshara father of proper guardian in suit on mortgage of family property by him—Hindu law, Mitakshara family—Debt, son's liability for—Mortgage decree of Hindu infant son who is not represented—Equity of redemption if barred by such decree—Decree, form of—Practice—Redemption, decree for passed In a suit on a mortgage executed by a Mitakshara father, the father was proposed as guardian ad litem of his infant son by the plaintiffs, but he refused to accept service of notes on him as such and entered appearance only on his own behalf and not as guardian of his son. No further step was taken by the plaintiffs to have a guardian ad litem appointed for the infant and the suit was decreed Held that the infant was not represented in the suit and the decree was therefore not binding on him Wahan v Danie Behary, L R 30 I A 182 I L R 30 Cal 1021 distinguished. Khirajmal v Dham, I L R 32 Cal 296 9 C W N 201, referred to In a suit by the infant for a declaration that the decree was fraudulent and not binding on him, it was found that the mortgage was executed for legal necessity and that the infant son was not born at the time of the mortgage Held, that it would be unfair to drive the mortgagor to a fresh suit to enforce the mortgage against the infant when the case had been decided on the merits and the mortgage found binding on the infant But although the mortgage was binding on the plaintiff he had, since his birth, a share in the equity of redemption and his right to redeem could not be shut out by a mortgage decree in a suit to which he was not a party Although, therefore, there was no prayer to be allowed to redeem in this suit, decree for redemption was passed. DAL KISSEY LAL v CHOWDHURY TAFSEER SINGH (1911)

MINOR—contd

17 C W N 219

8. ———— Decree against—Effect of, if void—Minor sued as major and unrepresented by guardian ad litem if party to a suit A decree against a person who is neither a party nor is properly represented on the record, is a nullity, and might be disregarded without any proceeding to set it aside Khairajmal v Dham, 9 C W N 201 I L R 32 Cal 296, referred to Where a suit for rent was brought and an ex parte decree passed against a person who, though sued as a major, was found to have been a minor at that time and remained unrepresented by a guardian ad litem Held, that the minor was not a party to the suit and the decree passed against him was nullity Rashidunnessa v Ismail Khan 13 C W N 1182, Narasing v Jaki 15 C L J 3, followed. Wahan v Banke Behary 7 C W N 774 I L R 30 Cal 1021, distinguished Held, also, that the ignorance of the plaintiff as to the minority of the defendant did not affect the rights of the minor POORNA CHANDRA KURWAR v BEJOY CHAND MAHATAR (1913)

17 C W N 549

9. ———— Guardian—Custody—Plaint in District Court—Transfer to High Court—Jurisdiction—Letters Patent, 1865, cls 13 and 20—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890) ss 9, 10 and 52 The first respondent instituted a suit against the appellant in a District Court by a plaint claiming a declaration that he was entitled to the guardianship and custody of his two minor sons (the added respondents) and for an order that they should be handed over to him The suit having been transferred to the High Court under the Letters Patent, 1865, s 13, that Court declared that the minors should be wards of the Court, that the first respondent was guardian of their persons, and ordered the appellant to hand them over to him The minors were in England both when the suit was instituted and when the order was made they were not made parties to the proceedings, nor were they represented before the Court Held, (i) that the District Court had no jurisdiction, since the minors were not ordinarily resident in the district, as required by s 9 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890 and since the suit was not instituted by petition, as required by s 10 of that Act, (ii) that, even if the High Court had any jurisdiction with regard to minors beyond that which might have been exercised by the District Court (which was not determined), the mandatory order ought not to have been made, since an attempt to enforce it would expose the appellant to habes corpus proceedings in England, and since the minors were not represented before the Court, nor adequate steps taken to ascertain their wishes and interests BESANT v NARAYANIAN (1914)

L R 41 I A 314

10. ———— Guardian ad litem—appointment of, procured by suppression of the existence of near relation—Whether decree liable to be set aside—Fraud In a suit for the recovery of money against a father and his minor son, the father refused to act as guardian ad litem of his minor whereupon the Court appointed its Head Clerk as guardian on the affidavit of the plaintiff that there was no fit and proper person alive to act as the guardian of the minor, while as a matter of fact the plaintiff knew that the minor was living under the protection of his maternal grandfather. The decree passed in this suit was sought to be set aside by the minor on the ground of fraud. Held, that the statement in the affidavit could not be held to be deliberately false so as to constitute fraud, in the absence of any allegation of collusion between the plaintiff and the Head Clerk, and the decree could not be set aside unless there was no appointment of a guardian at all or the appointment was induced by fraud or what the Court would regard as tantamount to fraud. Hanuman Prasad v. Muhammad Isahq, I L R 28 All 137, Ramchandras Das v. Joti Prasad, I L R 29 All 675, and Babaji bin Kumbhar v. Maruti, 11 Bom. H C 152, distinguished. MARUTHAMALAI v. PALANI (1912)

MINOR—contd

I L R 37 Mad. 535

11 ———— Insolvency—Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907), et seq. (1) (g) 16—Contract Act (IX of 1872) et seq. 217, 253 254—Infant, adjudication of as an insolvent—Pecunia—Insolvency, powers of—Hindu joint family—Bankruptcy Act, 1883 (16 & 17 Vict. c. 53) et seq. 33, 102—Insolvency of partner—Dissolution of partnership In India as in England, an infant partner of a firm cannot as such be adjudicated an insolvent. Lovell & Christmas v. Gilbert Walter Beauchamp (1894) A C 607, followed. The creditors of the firm are not entitled to proceed against him personally, being restricted only to his interest in the property of the firm (vide s. 247 of the Indian Contract Act). There is no difference in principle between the nature of the liability of an infant admitted by agreement in a partnership business and that of another (e.g., a Hindu) on whose behalf an ancestral trade is carried on by his guardian. Jaykumar v. Nathuram I L R 30 Cal. 733, Pam Parth v. Adhikari I L R 20 Bom. 767, referred to. It is not open to the Court to direct the receiver in insolvency to deal with assets other than those belonging to the persons who have been adjudicated insolvents. Lovell & Christmas v. Gilbert Walter Beauchamp, (1894) A C 607, explained. Whereas in England the bankruptcy of a partner works dissolution of the partnership without an order of the Court it is not so in India. Vide ss. 253, 254 of the Indian Contract Act. A receiver appointed under s. 16 of the Provincial Insolvency Act merely replaces the insolvent partner in respect of the business of the firm. The position of a receiver is the same both with regard to a Hindu joint family partnership assets and acquisitions therefrom. SANYASI CHAMAN MANDAL v. ASHTOSH GUPTA (1914)

I L R 42 Cal. 225

12 ———— Settlement accepted by—Transfer of property by husband acting as attorney—Insolvency to restore status quo, bar to re-opening settlement—Ratification. Where by a division of property by independent arbitrators, a share was allotted to an infant who after coming of age sold a valuable property so allotted at a profit, and it appeared that she was throughout acting with her husband who held a power of attorney from her and of whose acts as attorney she had not known, and who if the infancy had been known planned, and who if the infancy had been known would have been appointed her guardian and as guardian would have acted exactly as he had acted as attorney, and it was only after the greater part of what she had received had been dissipated that she sought to set aside the transaction on the ground of her infancy. Held, that though there could be no ratification by an infant after coming of age, of the invalid power of attorney, as it was impossible for her to restore the property she had received and a general redistribution of the property divided could not possibly be ordered, she could not be allowed to reopen the settlement. Held also that she was bound by a transaction which was not concealed from her in any way, and formed part of the settlement. CHAMAN HOOR GUON NEON v. KRAW SIM BEK (1915)

MINOR—contd

19 C W N 737

13 ———— Representation of—Suit to set aside a decree against a minor—Minor properly represented in such suit—Fraud or collusion of guardian A decree obtained against an infant properly made a party and properly represented in the case cannot be set aside by means of a separate suit except upon proof of fraud or collusion on the part of the guardian. Best Prasad v. Lajja Pahi (1916) I L R 33 All. 452

14 ———— Purchase of Immoveable property by or—Suit by purchaser for possession of property purchased—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), et seq. 54 and 55 A minor is capable of purchasing immoveable property and where such a purchase has been completed by execution and registration of a sale deed, he can sue to recover possession of the property purchased upon tender of the balance of the purchase money. Such a suit is not a suit for specific performance of a contract and no question of mutuality arises. Mir Sarwarjan v. Fakhrudin Mahomed Choudhury, I L R 39 Cal. 232, and Mohori Bibee v. Dharmodar Ghose I L R 30 Oud. 539, distinguished. Shib Lal v. Bhagwan Das, I L R 11 All 244, Bajrath Singh v. Palu, I L R 30 All 125, Velayutha Chetty v. Govindaswami Nair, I L R 30 Mad 524 Ujjai Rai v. Gauri Shankar, I L R 33 All 657, Munni Kunwar v. Madon Gopal, I L R 33 All 62 Bakawuddin v. Rafiqat Hussain, 18 Indian Cases 451, Raghunath Baksh v. Hays Shrikh Mahomed, 18 Oudh Cases, 115 and Munna Koman v. Perumal Koman, 24 Mad L J 342, referred to. Namilathi Narayana Chetty v. Logalinga Chetty I L R 33 Mad 312, distinguished from NARAIN DAS v. MUHAMMAD DRAVIA (1915)

I L R 39 All. 154

15 ———— Mortgage in favour of minor who has advanced the whole of the mortgage money—Enforceability of, by him or by any other person on his behalf—Contract Act (IX of 1872) s. 11—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 7 A mortgage executed in favour of a minor who has advanced the whole of the mortgage money is enforceable by him or by any other person on his behalf. Mohori Bibee v. Dharmodar Ghose, I L R 30 Cal. 532, 30 I A 114 explained and distinguished. Emble. A sale to a minor under similar circumstances is equally good. Narayan Chetty v. Logalinga Chetty, I L R 33 Mad 312, overruled. English and Indian Law reviewed. RAGHAVA CHARIAN v. SHIVAKA RAGHAVA CHARIAN (1916) I L R 40 Mad. 308

16 ———— Liability of, when ancestral trade carried on on his behalf—Contract Act (IX of 1872) s. 247—Interest, not contractual for and not recoverable under the Interest Act (XXXII of 1839), allowed as damages. A minor on whose behalf an ancestral trade is carried on is not personally liable for debts incurred in such business. The liability of such a minor is not greater than that of a minor admitted to a partnership as laid down by s 247 of the Contract Act. The amount due having been ascertained and a mellogbandi signed by the defendants. Held, that though no contract to pay interest was proved and the case was not covered by the Interest Act, some interest should be allowed by way of damages for the detention of the money. KHETRA MOHAN TODDAR v NISHU KUMAR SHARMA (1910) 22 C W N 438

MINOR—contd

17 ——— Money borrowed by guardian of a Hindu minor for a purpose binding on minor—Form of decree in a suit on loan—Liability of minor and his estate for loan. Held by AYLING and SHRENDHAM AYAR, J J—(a) that on a contract entered into on behalf of a minor by his guardian under which the guardian borrowed money but no charge was created on the minor's estate, no decree can be passed against the minor on his attaining his majority or his estate, except in cases in which the minor's estate would have been liable for the obligation incurred by the guardian under the personal law to which he is subject, and that (b) a decree can be passed against the estate of a Hindu minor for a debt, contracted by his guardian for the marriage of his sister. PER WALKER, C J—A decree cannot be passed against a minor on his attaining his majority or his estate on a covenant entered into on his behalf by a guardian for his benefit. RASAJOGAYYA v JAGANSHASTHAN (1918) . I L R 49 Mad 155

18 ——— Advance to guardian to pay off decree obtained against minor—Liability of minor's estate for advance in excess of requirements—Mortgage. Where certain co-sharer landlords obtained a decree for the rent of the holding of two co-sharer tenants, one of whom was a minor, and one of the co-sharer landlords advanced money to the minor's guardian on the security of a mortgage executed by the guardian on behalf of the minor, for the purpose of averting a sale of the holding and for the payment of arrears of rent and the minor's guardian paid off the whole of the decretal amount and the arrears of rent with the money so advanced. Held, in a suit by the mortgagee for recovery of the mortgage debt that the minor was liable for only half the sum advanced as he was concerned with paying off only half the amount decreed in the rent suit and half the arrears of rent. Held, also, that the money having been borrowed for the purpose of saving the minor's estate from sale the latter was liable to refund half the amount of the loan although it was not expressly stated in the mortgage bond that the minor's estate or the minor personally would be liable to repay the money advanced. KALI RAI v KAMU SINGH 3 Pat L J 78

19 ——— Lease in favour of, whether void—Settlement—Chota Nagpur Tenancy Acts (Ben Act VI of 1908) s 41 A lease to a minor imposing a liability on him to pay rent and perform certain covenant is null and void. A person who claims to have entered into possession of land under a lease which is null and void is a mere trespasser and cannot claim protection for eject-

MINOR—contd

ment under s 41 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908. PRAMILA BALA DAS v JOGESHVAR MANDAL 3 Pat L J 518

20 ——— Agreement by manager that minor would pay maintenance to certain claimants—Whether minor bound. In a suit for maintenance for the three years prior to the suit against an estate which was being managed under the Court of Wards, the plaintiff, an illegitimate son of a former holder of the estate, compromised the suit with the manager of the estate on the following terms—the plaintiff was awarded a certain sum as past maintenance and it was agreed that he should receive Rs 50 per mensem as maintenance during the minority of the ward. The manager also covenanted that the ward should continue to pay to the plaintiff Rs 50 per mensem as maintenance after the wards attained majority. The suit was decreed according to the compromise. On attaining majority, the ward instituted the present suit to set aside the compromise. The first court held that the decree made the ward personally liable for future maintenance and was therefore invalid. The court held, however, that the decree should be considered as a decree against the estate and ordered that the defendant should be paid maintenance at the rate of Rs 50 per mensem from the estate. Held, that although the first court had power to set aside the decree based on the compromise in so far as it bound the plaintiff personally it had no power to substitute in lieu thereof an entirely different liability which had not in fact been decreed. RAJ KUMAR JAGAR NATH PRASAD SINGH v MINZA ERABAI BAHADUR 5 Pat L J 239

21 ——— Agent appointed by guardian—Liability of agent to account to minor—Settlement of accounts by arbitrator or mediator—Whether liable to be reopened. An agent appointed by the guardian of a minor is not liable to account to the minor for his acts even though he received properties belonging to the minor. A settlement of account by arbitrators or mediators cannot be reopened except on the ground of fraud. PANANATHAN CHETTIAR v MUTHIAN CHETTIAR (1920) I L R 43 Mad 429

22 ——— Appointment of guardian—Jurisdiction—"Property"—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1899), s 9 (2) A guardian can be validly appointed of the property of a minor in the hands of the administratrix to his father's estate. BRUNJANATH DEY SARKAR v ANANDAMAYA DAS, 5 B L R 208 relied on. LALIT KUMAR MUKERJEE v DASARATHI SINGHA (1920) I L R 45 Cal 802

23 ——— Fraudulent representation by minor that he was of age—Stoppage—Indian Evidence Act, I of 1872, s 115 Plaintiff sued to recover the principal and interest due on a bond executed by defendant on 4th February 1912. Defendant pleaded inter alia that he was not liable as he was a minor on that date. Defendant was born on 10th December 1891, and he was therefore about 20 years and 2 months old when the bond was executed. A guardian had been appointed for him, but the guardian resigned and on the 18th May 1910 the District Judge passed an order that though the minor was 18 or 19 years of age and minority would continue till the age of 21, as the appointment of a fresh guardian was discretionary and as the minor

MINOR—contd.

did not wish a fresh guardian to be appointed and was old enough by appearance to act for himself, no fresh guardian need be appointed. After that defendant managed his own affairs, and acted as a man who has attained majority would do. The plaintiff alleged that the dealings were entered into on defendant's assurance that he had become an adult. This was disputed by defendant, but the High Court found on the evidence (contrary to the finding of the District Judge) that the defendant did represent himself to be of full age and that the plaintiff was misled by the false representation. Held, that s 115 of the Evidence Act is applicable to the case, and that the defendant's plea of minority can not be heard. Ganesh Lal v Bapu (1 L R 21 Bom 193), Nelson v Stocker (4 de Gex and J 455) dictum of Turner, L J, cited in 1 L R 25 Calc. at page 393 and Leevay v Brougham (Times L R, Vol 24, p 507), followed. Dharmo Das Ghose v Brahma Dutt (1 L R 25 Calc 616) and Mohari Bisi v Dharmo Das Ghose (1 L R 30 Calc. 539, P C), distinguished. Dhanmull v Ram Chandra Ghose (1 L R 24 Calc 265, F B), Brahma Dutt v Dharmo Das Ghose (1 L R 26 Calc 331, F B), Sural Chand Mitter v Mohan Bisi (1 L R 25 Calc. 371, F B) and Balak Ram v Dadu (76 P P 1910), not followed. WASINDA RAM v SITA RAM 1 L R 1 Lab 339

MINOR CO-PARCENER.

— Purchaser from—

See PARTITION SUIT

1 L R 45 Bom 923

MINOR REVERSIONER.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY

1 L R 47 Calc. 274

MINOR WIDOW

See GUARDIAN 1 L R 42 Calc 953

MINORITY

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1909—

s 48. 1 L R 39 Bom 256

O. XXXIV, no 4, 5 10

1 L R 41 All. 473

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION

1 L R 40 Calc. 968

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908)—

s. 7 1 L R. 41 All. 435

SCH I, ART 15th (6) s 7

1 L R 40 All 630

See MINOR

See TITLE PROOF OF

1 L P 45 Calc 909

— of Mahomedan when to cease—

See PENAL CODE (Act XLV of 1900)

s 363 1 L R 37 Mad 567

MIRASDAR

See KADIM INAMDAR.

1 L R 42 Bom 112

— general rights of, over house-sites and waste in villages—

See MIRASI VILLAGE.

1 L R 40 Mad. 410

MIRASDAR—contd.

— Holding under a Kadim Inamdar who is a grantee of the soil as well as of the royal share of revenue—41

See LAND REVENUE CODE (Bom Act V of 1879) s 217

1 L R 45 Bom. 61

MIRASI LEASE

See SARANJAM 1 L R 34 Bom 329

MIRASI LEASE AND MORTGAGE

See HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (Bom III of 1874), ss 11, 11A

1 L P 37 Bom 37

MIRASI VILLAGE

— House-sites in—Owner ship of—Legal presumption of ownership in Government and not in mirasidars—Prescription or user by mirasidars effect of—General rights of mirasidars over house-sites and waste in villages. The plaintiffs claiming to be mirasidars of a mirasi village in the Chingleput district sued to eject certain persons from a part on of the grammatiam (house-sites) which the defendants claimed to hold and enjoy under a patta granted to them by the Government. On the plea taken by the Government that the Government and not the mirasidars are the owners of house-sites in mirasi villages, the following question was referred to the Full Bench: "Whether in a mirasi village the mirasidars are entitled to recover possession of a house-site held under a patta from Government?" On a review of the history of mirasi tenure in the Presidency both before and after the establishment of the British Government and on a review of several revenue and judicial records relating to the question Held, by the Full Bench:—In the absence of proof to the contrary the presumption is that the Government and not the mirasidars are the owners of house-sites in mirasi villages. Per WALLIS, C J—But where there is evidence of user by the mirasidars the presumption of their ownership readily arises. Per ALLING J—The mirasidars may show that they are the owners by proving a previous grant by Government or prescription as against the Government. Per KUMARASWAMI SASTRIGAR, J—(i) In mirasi villages the rights of Government over waste (including pottam and cten) are subject to the rights of the mirasidars (ii) The nature and extent of such rights are not uniform throughout the Presidency but vary, and the onus is on the mirasidars to prove that any specified incidents attached to mirasi rights in any particular district there being no presumption that grammatiam is the exclusive property of the mirasidars (iii) The rights of mirasidars over waste are not extinguished by the mere fact that the Government Grants pattas to strangers. Secretary of State for India v Basu Raybar, 1 L R 39 Bom 625 Sakkaji Bapu v Lakshmana Gaudwad 1 L R 2 Mad 149 Saundh Narayan v Nana Ranga Chari 1 L R 36 Mad 371, Secretary of State for India v M Arachayya, 1 L R 28 Mad 257 Natesa Gramani v Venkataranna Reddi, 1 L R 30 Mad 510, and Bhatnagarappa v The Collector

MIRASI VILLAGE—contd of North Kanara, I L R 3 Bom 452 472, referred to SESHACHALA CHETTY v CHINNASWAMI (1916)

I L R 40 Mad. 410

MISAPPROPRIATED GOODS

— suit for—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH I
ARTS 48 AND 49

I L R 40 Mad 678

MIS APPROPRIATED MONEY

See CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST

I L R 48 Calc 879

MISAPPROPRIATION

See SHERIFF . I L R 42 Calc 244

— of client's property—

See PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT

I L R 40 Mad. 69

— suit for—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH
I, ARTS 48, 49

I L R 38 Mad 783

Penal Code ss 465

471 477A—Removal of evidence of misappropriation by shewing amount misappropriated in accounts if offence under Where in order to remove evidence of misappropriation of a sum of Rs 10 the amount was shown in the accounts as having been received on a date on which it could not have been received Held that the entry, though false did not conceal liability but rather showed in regard to such liability the true point on of affairs and so intent to defraud in its true legal significance was not made out and there could be no conviction under ss 465 471 or 477A of the Penal Code Lalit
Mohan Dattar v The Queen Empress I L R 22
Calc. 313 and The Deputy Legal Penembrance v
Pash Belary Dass 12 C W N 581 distinguished Jyotish Chandra Mukherjee v Emperor (1909)

I L R 38 Calc 855

14 C W N 82

MISCHIEF

See COURT OF WARDS 15 C W N 224

See CRIMINAL TRESPASS

I L R 38 Calc 180

See NORTHERN INDIA CANAL AND DRAIN
AGE ACT (VIII OF 1873) ss 7 70

I L R 34 All. 210

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)
s 430

I L R 41 All 599

Intent on—Motive—

Cutting a channel through a way to let out water from fields Where tenants, finding their fields flooded cut a channel through a way in order to let the water run off their fields Held that the act having been intentionally done amounted to mischief and it was no defence to say that the motive in doing it was to free the fields from water, was an innocent one DEPUTY SUPERINTENDENT OF LEGAL AFFAIRS v CHULHAN
AMIR (1904) 16 C W N 283

MISCONDUCT

See LEGAL PRACTITIONER.

15 C W N 237

See PLEADER I. L. R. 35 Mad. 543

MISCONDUCT—contd.

See PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT

See SOLICITOR 16 C W N 386

See UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

— of servant or agent—

See EXCISEABLE ARTICLES
I L R 39 Calc 1033

— of vakil in management of appeal—

See PLEADER I L R 35 Mad 543

MISDELIVERY

See CARRIERS I L R 41 Calc 703

MISDIRECTION

See CHARGE TO JURY

I L R 41 Calc 1023

See COUNTERFEIT COIN

I L R 44 Calc 477

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

ss 297 25 C W N 142

ss 367 418 423 I L R 29 All 348

See DEPOSITION I L R 46 Calc 895

See EVIDENCE ACT s 167

14 C W N 493

See JURY TRIAL BY

I L R 40 Calc 367

I L R 46 Calc 635

See MISDIRECTION TO JURY

See PRACTICE I L R 40 Bom 220

See TRIAL BY JURY

I L R 47 Calc 46

Murder—Circumstantial evidence—Possession of deceased a blood-stained ornaments and clothes—Presumption of being mur-derer—Verdict of jury valid of where presumption of law not explained Where in a case of murder blood stained ornaments were found in the room occupied by the accused and the evidence established that those articles belonged to the deceased and in the Sessions Judge a charge to the jury, there was no direct on pointing out that the possession in this case if believed was a fact from which the Court might presume not merely theft or receipt of stolen property but also a murder with which the accused was charged Held that this was a serious omission detracting materially from the value of the verdict and opinion of the jurors
It is especially important that a Judge should point out a presumption of this kind because jurors are often reluctant to act on that which is commonly known as circumstantial evidence Emperor v Shafik Kamayulla (1913)

17 C W N 1077

Confession—Instructions to Jury to consider non-confessional statements admitted on accused—Direction to consider question of admissibility of confessions—Duties of Judge and Jury as to mode of dealing with confessions—Use in the charge to the Jury of expressions assuming guilt of the accused and of slang terms—Discovery—Admissibility of part of information leading to discovery—Verification of confessions—Oral evidence of unrecorded confessions made in verification on proceedings—Misdirection in placing before Jury information not leading to discovery and such unrecorded confessions—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895) ss 161 236—Evidence Act (I of 1872),

MISDIRECTION—contd

as 24, 27, 30 It is a misdirection, which must have misled the Jury, to instruct them to take into consideration statements not amounting to confessions by an accused as against the co accused. It is a misdirection to put to the Jury and to leave it to them to determine whether a confession to a Magistrate, and how much of a confession to the police, are admissible. It is the duty of the Judge to determine the question of the admissibility of evidence, in accordance with the law on the subject, and of the Jury to estimate the value of such evidence after its admission by the Judge. The Judge should avoid the use in the charge to the Jury of interrogative expressions assuming the guilt of the accused such as 'Is not this' or 'Does not that' and of slang and colloquial phrases. S 27 of the Evidence Act qualifies not only ss 25 and 26 but also s 24. Queen Empress v Dobu Lal 1 L R 6 All 509, approved. Though the accused has himself produced the stolen articles, so much of his anterior statements as led to the discovery are admissible under s 27 of the Evidence Act but not statements contemporaneous with the act of production, such as 'I got these ornaments as my share in the dacoity'. Queen Empress v Nana, 1 L R 14 Bom. 260 and Legal Remembrancer v Chama Nanyia, 1 L R 23 Cal 415, referred to S 27 does not render admissible the whole history of the investigation or an account of the various steps by which the police obtained and worked up clues and finally succeeded in arresting the accused. Under the section the whole of the statement of an accused is not admissible but only so much as led directly to the discovery or related directly to the fact discovered. Per SHAMSEL HUDA J. If a single statement contains more information than is contemplated by s 27, the whole statement is not admissible but only the particular information which led to the discovery. Where an accused states to the police that he killed A with a knife and concealed the corpse at a particular place the only part of the information admissible under the section is that relating to the concealment and not the murder. Queen Empress v Dobu Lal, 1 L R 6 All 509, followed. Per TATTON J. Verification proceedings are not wholly illegal, and may be useful in testing the truth of the confession, e.g., as to the accused's knowledge of the localities he has mentioned or as furnishing clues to a further inquiry. Per SHAMSEL HUDA J. Verifications in the company of the accused lead to very great abuses and should be avoided though a verification independent of, and unaided by, the accused is unobjectionable. Held per CRANF. In connection with such proceedings the Courts must ensure against the reception of evidence not strictly admissible. Statements to the verifying Magistrate when not recorded in the manner provided by s 164 of the Criminal Procedure Code are inadmissible and cannot be proved on. Per C. H. J. 220. King Empress v Jagan Mohan, 4 C. H. J. 220. Queen Empress v Jharob Chander Chackralaty, 4 C. H. J. 202 and Queen Empress v Jagan, 1 L R 9 All 251, followed. Per SHAMSEL HUDA J. Even if the statements are recorded after the verification is completed, it would be difficult to hold that they were voluntary. Amarendra Anand v Emerson (1917). 1 L R 45 Cal 557

MISDIRECTION—contd

Misdirection to Jury—
Prosecution, duty of, to produce material evidence—Circumstantial evidence—Presumption of innocence—Criminal Procedure Code (Act 5 of 1898), s 352—Court's power to draw inferences from answers of accused—Evidence Act s 106 The appellant and two other persons R and A were accused of having committed murder of a man travelling in a boat of which they were the boatmen. A was tried first and at this trial A was given a garden and examined as a witness. The appellant was tried subsequently and the prosecution did not examine A. The jury by a majority returned a verdict of guilty against the appellant who was convicted by the Sessions Judge. In appeal the High Court set aside the conviction on the ground of misdirection to the jury. Held (as to the non examination of A) Per TATTON J.—That in the case of Dhannoo Ko, 1 L R 8 Cal 121 is not an authority for the proposition that the prosecution is required to produce and examine such a witness but as he was examined as an approver at the former trial of R it would have been more satisfactory if the prosecution had at least secured his attendance and failing in this had given detailed evidence of the efforts made in that direction. Per SHAMSEL HUDA J.—That the omission to direct the attention of the jury to the question whether the prosecution was bound to call A as a witness and whether there was sufficient explanation why the prosecution did not call him was a defect in the charge which prejudiced the accused. That in the absence of anything to show that an effort was made to ascertain his whereabouts and to produce him in Court his absence from the village disposed to by one of the prosecution witnesses was not a sufficient explanation for his non production. Held (as to the direction of the Sessions Judge that the accused had said nothing about what had happened to the deceased and had given no explanation as to how he came by his death and this was a strong point against the accused) Per TATTON J.—That where a prima facie case of circumstances making out or tending to support the charge against the accused is established and the accused withholds evidence in disproval or explanation available to him and not accessible to the prosecution an inference unfavourable to the accused may legitimately be drawn. Under s 342, Criminal Procedure Code, it is open in the Court and jury to draw such inferences as they think just from the answers made by the accused to the necessary questions put to him by the Court. Per SHAMSEL HUDA J.—That the accused is merely on the defensive and owes no duty except to himself that he is as silent as to the whole or any part of the case against him to rely on the witnesses for the prosecution or to call witnesses or to meet the charge in any other way he chooses and no inference unfavourable to him can properly be drawn because he takes a course rather than the other. Where in a criminal case there is a conflict between presumption of innocence and any other presumption the presumption of innocence prevails. Per SHAMSEL HUDA J (TATTON J dissenting). The strength of this presumption varies according to the seriousness of the charge upon which an accused person is put on his trial. The greater the crime the stronger is the proof required for conviction. Per SHAMSEL HUDA J.—That whatever force a presumption arising under s 164 of the Indian Evidence Act may have in civil or in less serious criminal cases in a trial for murder it is extremely weak in comparison with the dominant presumption of innocence. Held (as to the direction to the jury that they must not acquit the accused simply because in their opinion he may possibly not be guilty but that they should do so if they thought the prosecution evidence was for good reason not satisfactory) Per SHAMSUL HUDA, J.—That the case rested on circumstantial evidence and before the jury could find the prisoner guilty, they had to be satisfied not only that the circumstances were consistent with his having committed the act but that the facts were such as to be inconsistent with any other rational conclusion than that the prisoner was the guilty person. That the prosecution evidence may be quite satisfactory and yet may leave ample room for doubt regarding the complexity of the accused in the crime and it was the duty of the Judge to have given the jury clear and unambiguous direction on these points. ASHRAF ALI v KING EMPEROR (1917)

MISDIRECTION—conold

21 C W N 1152

MISJOINDER*See* CHARITABLE TRUSTS

I L R 34 Mad 406

See COMMON CARRIER LIABILITIES OF

I L R 38 Calc 28

See JURY, RIGHT OF TRIAL BY

I L R 37 Calc 467

See PRELIMINARY DECREE

I L R 37 Bom 60

MISJOINDER OF CAUSES OF ACTION*See* ADMINISTRATOR 2 Pat L J 642*See* AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901),
s. 34 I L R 35 All 512*See* CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882 ss. 13, 44 I L R. 35 Bom 297*See* CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—s 47 O XXI RR 100 and 101

I L R 40 Mad. 964

O I, R 3 I L R 40 All 7

O II, R 5 I L R 38 Bom. 120

See PRE EMPTION I L R 32 All 14

1 ——— Persons whose separate rights have been infringed by a single act of another cannot join in one suit—Course to be adopted when there is a misjoinder of causes of action—Civil Procedure Code Act V of 1908 s. 99 Where the separate right of each of several persons is affected by a single act of another person, each of such persons has a separate cause of action against such other person and they cannot bring a suit jointly against such other person. Smurthwaite v Haana, (1821) A O 474 referred to Where there has been a misjoinder of cause of action which has prejudiced the defendant on the merits and no objection to such misjoinder was taken in the written statement or at the settlement of issues, the provisions of s. 99 of the Civil Procedure Code Act V of 1908 will apply and the ends of justice will be sufficiently met by findings in the case of each separately instead of dismissing the suit. AYYAPU MURTHY v VELLAYU NADAN (1910)

I L R 34 Mad. 55

ISJOINDER OF CAUSES OF ACTION—conold

Decision that a suit as framed not maintainable is a judgment and is appealable under cl. 15 of the Letters Patent RAMENDRA NATH ROY v BROJENDRA NATH DAS (1917)

21 C W N 794

MISJOINDER OF CHARGES*See* CHARGE I L R 40 Calc 318 346

I L R 41 Calc 66, 722

I L R 42 Calc 957

I L R 46 Calc 712

I L R 47 Calc 154

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 922

(2) 233 I L R 38 All 42

ss 235 537 I L R 1 Lah 562

See EXCISE I L R 41 Calc 694*See* PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)

s 408 I L R 40 All 565

Joint trial for offences under s 120 B of the Penal Code and ss 19 (f) 20 of the Arms Act committed in pursuance of the object of the conspiracy—Identity of transactor—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) s. 209—Joint possession of arms—Mere keeping of fire arms not an offence Fire arms whether inclusive of parts of the same—Arms Act (XI of 1878) ss 4 & 5 14 19(a) (f) 20—Criminal conspiracy proof of—Punishment when act contemplated not done—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) ss 109 116 120B A charge of criminal conspiracy to manufacture arms under s 120B of the Penal Code read with s 19(a) of the Arms Act (XI of 1878) may be tried jointly with charges of offences under ss 19 (f) and 20 of the latter Act committed in pursuance of the object of the conspiracy. As long as the conspiracy continues the transaction which began with the forming of the common intention continues and the offences under ss 19 (f) and 20 of the Arms Act are committed in the course of the same transaction. Legal Remembrancer, Bengal v Mon Mohan Roy 19 C W N 672 21 C L J 195 followed Where two persons rented a house and lived in it and parts of arms were found in one of the rooms—Held that both being in joint occupation of the house were in joint possession of the articles so found The word 'fire-arms' in s 14 read with the meaning of arms in s. 4 of the Arms Act includes parts of fire arms. 'Fire-arms' means only arms fired by gunpowder or other explosives. Alfred Hassan v Queen Empress 1 L R 27 Calc 690 Emperor v Dhan Singh & Or L J 435 3 A L R 53 followed The offence under ss 5 and 19 (a) of the Arms Act is not a mere keeping of arms but a keeping of the same for sale. In cases of conspiracy, the agreement between the conspirators cannot generally be directly proved but only inferred from the established facts of the case Where two persons took a house in which a considerable number of pieces of fire-arms was found with tools and implements, and work had been a really done to some of the parts of fire arms the Court may and ought to infer a conspiracy to manufacture arms. Per CHIAM Where there is only a conspiracy to manufacture arms without an actual manufacture the sentence should be imposed under s. 120B of the Penal Code read with s. 19 (a) of the Arms Act and s. 116 of the Penal Code, and the maximum term of imprisonment

MISJOINDER OF CHARGES—contd.

ment awardable under these sections is 9 months rigorous imprisonment. Per BEACHROFF J The punishment awardable under s 100B of the Penal Code varies according as the offence has or has not been committed in consequence of the conspiracy. If an offence has been committed, the punishment is that provided by s 109 of the Penal Code though, strictly speaking there should not be a conviction in such cases of conspiracy but of abetment. If it has not been committed the punishment is governed by s 110 of the Penal Code. HANSHA NATH CHATTERJEE v EMPEROR (1914) 1 L R 42 Cal 1153

MISJOINDER OF PARTIES

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O 1
R 3 1 L R 36 All 406

s 49 1 L R 1 Lah 295

See PRE EMPTION 1 L R 32 All 14
1 L R 41 All 423

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1863
s 7 1 Pat L J 393

Joint trial—Commission of criminal breach of trust in the same transaction as abetment of cheating and attempt to cheat and as part of a common design—Joint trial of one accused under ss 408 and 420 with another under ss 408 and 420 of the Penal Code—Legality of separate sentences—Concurrent sentences—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1894) s 239 Where A a railway ticket collector made over two used tickets which he had collected from passengers, to B and instructed him to apply for a refund of the fares covered by the same as unused tickets, at the place of issue and the latter proceeded there and made such an application but was discovered in the act—Held that the joint trial of A on charges under ss 408 and 420 and of B under ss 408 and 420 of the Penal Code was legal under the provisions of s 239 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Parmeshwar Lal v Emperor 13 C W N 1089 distinguished. Subratmisra Ayyer v King Emperor, 1 L R 21 Mai 61 referred to. Held also that A had committed two distinct offences in the same transaction and that separate sentences were not illegal, though concurrent sentences were under the circumstances more appropriate. Re Noyan 7 Mai H C R 35 referred to. The two parts of s 239 of the Criminal Procedure are not mutually exclusive so that if A includes B to cheat and B attempts to do so, they may be tried together for abetment of an attempt at cheating respectively, and if in the course of the same transaction A commits the separate offence of criminal breach of trust in furtherance of the conspiracy to cheat, he may be separately charged for such offence at the same trial. Kali Das Chuckerborty v Emperor (1911) 1 L R 39 Cal 453

Wrongful confinement on one day—Wrongful confinement and assault of the same persons on a subsequent day—Identity of transaction—Unity of object—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1894) s 237 Where in consequence of certain persons having killed a cow on a zamindar's estate contrary to practice and eaten its flesh, they were taken to the cutcherry on the 14th December, fined therefor and confined till they had furnished security for the payment of the fine within three days and on their failure to do so were again taken to the cutcherry and detained there and on information given to the police one of them was beaten and all ejected—Held that the illegal confinement on the first day and the similar confinement and assault on the second day were parts of the same transaction, the object of the accused on both days being the same viz to punish the persons for a breach of the rule by extorting the fine and the assault on the second day being the conclusion of the transaction and that the joint trial of the accused for offences under s 347 of the Penal Code committed on the 14th and 18th and for that under s 352 on the latter date by them was legal. Emperor v Datto Hanmant Shahapurkar 1 L R 30 Bom 49 and Emperor v Sheruallah Alikhoy 1 L R 27 Bom 135 approved. Budhas Shekh v Emperor 1 L R 33 Cal 292 and Gul Mahomed Sircar v Chokoru Mandal, 10 C W N 53 distinguished. DEPUTY LEGAL REMEMBRANCER v KAILASH CHANDRA GHOSH (1914) 1 L R 42 Cal 760

MISJOINDER OF PARTIES—contd.

Parties—Appeal—Causes of action—Practice—Judgment—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O 1, rr 1 and 3 O 11 r 3—Letters Patent 1865 cl 15 An appeal lies, under the Letters Patent from an order of the High Court on its Original Side refusing to allow plaintiff to proceed in one suit against several defendants on the ground of misjoinder and giving him time to elect how he would proceed with his suit and which of the defendants he would retain on the record. O 1, rr 1 and O 1 r 3 of the Civil Procedure Code apply to questions of joinder of parties as also of causes of action. Umabai v Bhas Balwant 1 L R 31 Bom 353 and Janabai v Shrinivas Ganesh 1 L R 35 Bom 120, distinguished. The plaintiff brought a suit against four sets of defendants for the recovery of certain documents of title and the goods covered thereby and in the alternative for damages. In his plaint he alleged that the goods in suit were his property, that the defendant No 1 obtained from him the documents of title relating thereto by fraud and made them over to defendant No 2, that defendant No 2 knowing that defendant No 1 had no title either to the documents or to the goods wrongfully dealt with them and sold the goods to defendants Nos 3 and 4 that defendants Nos 3 and 4 wrongfully claimed to retain the goods and the documents of title, and lastly that one of the documents of title, viz a railway receipt was pledged by defendant No 1 to defendant No 5 though the goods covered by it were in the possession of defendant No 3. Held that the suit was not bad for misjoinder of parties and causes of action. PANENDRA NATH Dey v BRAJENDRA NATH DASS (1917) 1 L R 45 Cal 111

Properly received by receivers separately and at different times—Joint trial of receivers—Legal title of—Criminal breach of trust at one place and dishonest receipt subalternity at another place—Joint trial of thief and receivers, legal title of—Some of the offences charged not committed in the same transaction—Illegality vitiating the whole trial—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1894) s 239 Where property is stolen, and the proceeds of the theft are received by different persons separately and at different times they cannot be tried together Abdul Majid v Emperor, 1 L R 31 Calc 1256 followed. The joint trial of two receivers who had received stolen cloths separately and at different times was, therefore held illegal. When goods are stolen and subsequently received by the receiver the legality of the joint trial of the thief and receiver depends upon whether the theft and dishonest receipt form parts of the same transaction or not Bishnu Banar v Emperor 1 C W N 35 followed. The joint trial of the petitioners for criminal breach of trust committed at B and of two receivers who received the property subsequently at J, was held bad in law. To justify a joint trial of several persons all the offences charged must have been committed by them in the one and the same transaction. If any of the offences so charged were not committed in the same transaction, the whole trial is illegal under s. 239 of the Criminal Procedure Code for misjoinder. OBI BHUSAN ADHIKARI v EMPEROR (1918)

MISJOINDER OF PARTIES—contd

1 L R 46 Calc 741

MISJOINDER OF PERSONS AND OFFENCES

See CHARGES 1 L R 46 Calc. 712

MISREPRESENTATION

See ADVERSE POSSESSION

1 L R 40 Calc 173

See CHURANI RIGHT

1 L R 42 Calc 28

See COMPANY 1 L R 42 Bom 264

MISTAKE

See CLERICAL MISTAKE

1 L R 39 Calc 265

See CONTRACT ACT (1X OF 1872), s. 20

6, 1 L R 40 Bom 838

See DECREE 1 L R 40 Bom 118

3 Pat. L. J 465

See REGISTRATION

1 L R 41 Calc 972

See REGISTRATION ACT, 18-7 ss. 17, 49

1 L R 34 Bom 202

See RES JUDICATA 2 Pat. L. J 313

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE

1 L R 41 Calc 590

— amendment of—

See POWER OF ATTORNEY

1 L R 37 Calc. 399

— in description of plaintiff—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE ACT (V OF 1908) O 1, s. 10

1 L R 40 Mad 743

— in drawing up of a decree—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), s. 152

1 L R 37 All 323

— in sale deed—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 82 cl.

(a) 1 L R 39 Mad. 782

— rectification of—

See DECREE 1 L R 40 Bom. 118

MISTAKE—contd

Discovery of when first Court's decree was passed—

See LIMITATION ACT (1908), SCH I ART 96 1 L R 45 Bom 582

Mistake, evidence of—Similar mistake in other documents—Admissibility

—Concurrent finding of fact, based on no evidence

The proper description of houses in towns for the purpose of registration is by the street in which they are situated and the number which they bear in that street. Where a stranger to a mortgage decree passed in the Original Side of the High Court, who had previous thereto acquired a title in property actually intended to be conveyed (all of which was outside Calcutta) proved that there was no property in Calcutta bearing the street name and number given to the only item of Calcutta property included in the mortgage, and that the property in Calcutta which in fact answered the description of that property by metes and bounds given in the mortgage deed, did not belong to the mortgagor. Held that the onus of proving (as it was open to him to prove) that there was a clerical or other error in the description of the property and that in fact an existing property situated in Calcutta was intended by both parties to be mortgaged, was on the mortgagee decree holder. That to prove this the mortgagee should have examined himself as also his mortgagor. That as no evidence whatever was given to prove this case, it was not open to the Courts in India to come to the conclusion that the entry of the property was a mistake. Evidence to show that the mortgagor had purported to mortgage with other mortgagees the same property under the same description and had been compelled by them to consent to rectification was irrelevant at the trial to prove that the entry in the document was a mistake. That the principle of concurrent findings of fact did not apply to such a case as it was a case of no evidence, and it was open to the Privy Council to hold from the conduct of the mortgagee in not examining himself or his mortgagor and from other evidence in the case, that the entry was intentionally fictitious. HARENDRA LAL ROY CHOWDHURI v HARI DASS DEBI (1914)

1 L R 41 Calc 972

18 C W N 817

Suit to set aside previous decree on ground of mistake—Competence of compromise and decree thereon—Rectification on—

Fraud. A decree can be set aside by suit on the ground of fraud if of the required character. But a suit does not lie to set aside a decree in a previous suit on the ground that the Judge in passing that decree made a mistake. Jogendra Akha v Ganga Bishnu Chakraborty, 3 C B N 473 dissented from. Mahomed Ghab v Mahomed Sullivan 1 L R 21 Calc 612. Sadho Mawer v Gdab Singh, 3 C B N 375, and Bhandi Singh v Doudat 17 C W N 82, 15 C L J 675, referred to. While in the case of a compromise, as the contract is capable of being rectified for an appropriate mistake, so, as the necessary consequence, is the decree which is merely a more formal expression given to that contract. Huddersfield Banking Co. Ltd v Henry Lister and Sons Ltd (1894) 2 CA 273 followed. KRISHNAJI BHUTTA v BRAJ MOHAN BHUTTA (1915)

1 L R 43 Calc 217

MISTAKE OF FACT

See ERROR I L R 37 Cal. 211

MISTAKE OF LAW

— by arbitrator —

See ARBITRATION

I L R 35 Bom. 153

— by Liquidator —

See CONTRACT WITH FIDELITY

I L R 44 Bom. 831

— Courts order passed on — Effect of —

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1885 ss 179
AND 174 6 Pat L J 18

MITAKSHARA

See HINDU LAW

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION

I L R 33 All 634

I L R 39 Cal. 862

See HINDU LAW—GIFT

I L R 37 Cal. 1

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I L R 37 All 604

I L P 34 Bom. 321 510

I L R 35 All 302

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I L R 43 Cal. 698 733

I L R 43 Cal. 1031

I L R 35 All 302

I L R 40 Cal. 407

I L R 32 All 183

I L R 33 All 436

I L R 39 All 437

I L R 40 All 159

I L R 41 All 235 338, 361

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PRO-PERTY I L R 43 Bom 472

See HINDU LAW—LEGAL NECESSITY

See HINDU LAW—MITAKSHARA

See HINDU LAW—MORTGAGE

I L R 42 Cal. 1068

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION

I L R 34 All 503

I L R 39 Bom 373

I L R 43 Cal. 459

I L R 39 All 83

See HINDU LAW—STRIDHAW

I L R 36 Bom 424

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I L R 37 All 845

I L R 33 All 702

I L R 39 Cal. 319

I L R 34 All 663

I L R 35 Mad. 152

I L R 39 Bom 439

I L R 38 All 416

I L R 43 All 2-9

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW

I L R 40 All 86

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE

I L R 38 Cal. 182

— doctrine of as to right by birth —

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION

I L R 38 Mad. 556

MITAKSHARA—contd.

— Who her father's sister's sons are heirs —

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I L R 1 Lah 554

— Ch II, s 5 pl. 4 and 5 —

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I L R 39 Bom 67

— Ch II ss 5 B —

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I L R 42 Cal. 384

— Ch II s. 8, para 2 —

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I L R 39 Bom 163

— Ch II s. XI paras 9 11. 25 —

See HINDU LAW—STRIDHAW

I L R 43 Cal. 944

MITAKSHARA FAMILY

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1881 ss 105
AND 149 25 C W N 38

See HINDU LAW—DEBT

I L R 43 Cal. 341

MITTADAR OR ZAMINDAR

— assignment of Jodi under permanent sanad —

See ISLANDIA I L R 40 Mad. 93

MIXED FUND

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PRO-PERTY I L R 44 L A 201

I L R 40 All 159

MOFUSSIL MAGISTRATE

See COMPTON OF COURT

I L R 41 Cal. 173

MOFUSSIL PROPERTY

See MORTGAGE (Misc)

I L R 47 Cal. 770

MOGHALI BRAHMOTTAR

See MINE AND MINERALS

I L R 42 Cal. 348

MOGULI RENT

— “Moguli rent” meaning of “Moguli” is a word of doubtful meaning and at the best imports no more than that the rent assessed represents a proportion of the Government revenue NAWABAR COAL CO. LD. v.
BENARAS TRIBUNAL (1916) 20 C. W N 1133

MOHUNT

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

14 C W N 191

MOKARARI

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT s 83.

14 C W N 141

MOKARABIDARS

See PARTITION I L R 37 Cal. 818

MOKARARI LEASE.

See DOWRY TENURE

I L R 39 Cal. 696

MOKARARI LEASE—contd

See LANDLORD AND TENANT (LEASE)
14 C W N 203

See LEASE (II)
I L R 45 Calc 87

See MINERALS
L R 44 I A 240

MOMBASA MIGRATION TO

See SUCCESSION
L R 43 I A 35

MONEY

— left with purchaser for payment to mortgagee—

See MORTGAGE (SALE OF PROPERTY)
I L R 38 All 209

— suit for—

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
ACT (IX OF 1897) SCH II ART 3
I L R 37 Mad 533

MONEY DECREE.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.
I L R 45 Calc 530

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING
I L R 48 Calc 184

— execution of—

See LIMITATION (44) I L R 45 Calc 630

MONEY HAD AND RECEIVED

— Money deposited "in num jus habent a improperly withdrawn by a person not entitled to it. Where money is deposited in Court in num jus habent and it is withdrawn by a person who is declared not to have any right thereto the money so obtained may properly be held to be received for the use of the person entitled to it. Lut v Martindale 13 C B 314 referred to MARDI HUSAIN v SUKH CHAND (1911) I L R 33 All 450

MONEY LENDER

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) ss 115 AND 151
I L R 38 Bom 633

MONEY ORDER

— Receipt on—See STAMP ACT s 65
I L R 34 All 102

MONEY PAID UNDER DECREE

— suit for—
See VOLUNTARY PAYMENT
I L R 40 Calc 598

MOOPU

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION
I L R 44 Mad 740

MOPLA

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT
I L R 36 Mad 385

MORPHIA.

— Whether included in the term opium—

See OPIUM ACT 1878 s 3
I L R 1 Lah 443

MORTGAGE.See ADVERSE POSSESSION

I L R 37 All 463
I L R 38 Mad 97
I L R 44 Calc 425
23 C W N 815

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901).

ss 10 20 I L R 32 All 383
s 20 I L R 33 All 136
I L R 37 All 278
s 21 I L R 33 All 779

See AGREEMENT AGAINST PUBLIC POLICY
I L R 40 Calc 113See ATTESTING WITNESSES

I L R 48 Calc 61

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1835 s 85
1 Pat. L J 161See BHAGDARI AND NARWADARI TENURES ACT (BOM V OF 1867) s 3.
I L R 39 Bom 358See BOMBAY CITY LAND REVENUE ACT (BOM II OF 18 6) ss 30 35 39 AND 40
I L R 39 Bom 664See BUNDELKHAND ALIENATION OF LAND ACT (II OF 1903)

s 9 I L R 36 All 376
s 16 I L R 42 All 142
s 17 I L R 38 All 351

See BUNDELKHAND ENCUMBERED ESTATES ACT (I OF 1903) s 13
I L R 33 All 138See CENTRAL PROVINCES GOVERNMENT WARD ACT s 18
I L R 40 Calc 784See CENTRAL PROVINCES TENANCY ACT (XI OF 1898) s 45
I L R 46 Calc 76See CHOTA NAOPUR ENCUMBERED ESTATES ACT APPLICATION OF
I L R 46 Calc 1See CIVIL AND REVENUE COURTS
I L R 35 All 464See CIVIL COURTS ACT (XII OF 1887)
s 21 I L R 41 All 384See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882.

s 13 I L R 32 All 215
ss 13 43 I L R 32 All 119
s 257A I L R 38 Bom 219
ss 278 280 283 287

I L R 41 Bom 64

ss 366 371 I L R 40 Bom 248
s 411 I L R 34 All 223

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908

s 11 I L R 40 Bom 614, 679
s II EXPL IV AND II s 2
I L R 39 Bom 138

s 11 EXPL V I L R 40 All 584
s 47 I L R 42 All 544

s 60 I L R 34 All 25
O 1, s 9 1 Pat. L J 468

MORTGAGE—contd

- O 11 & 2 I L R 38 All 264
I L R 39 All 506
I L R 45 Bom. 55
- O V r 5 I L R 38 Bom 377
- O XXII r 10 I L R 37 All 226
- O XXXIV r 1
I L R 35 All 441 484
I L R 44 Bom 698
- RR 4 5 10 I L R 41 All 473
- RT 4 5 I L R 38 All 398
- R 5 I L R 38 All 21
I L R 39 All 641
I L R 42 All 517
- R 6 I L R 40 All 551 553
I L R 41 All 581
I L R 42 All 519
- R 8 I L R 35 All 116
I L R 43 All 25
- R 14 I L R 32 All 377
I L R 35 Bom 248
I L R 35 All 518
I L R 39 All 36
I L R 41 All 399
I L R 44 Bom 366
I L R 42 All 386
I L R 43 All 677
- See COMPANY I L R 39 Bom 564
I L R 42 Bom 215
- See CONSIDERATION I L R 45 Calc 774
- See CONSTRUCTION OF DEED
I L R 39 Bom 119
I L R 40 Bom. 74
- See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT
I L R 33 All 122
- See CONTRACT ACT IX OF 1872.
s. 20 6. I L R 40 Bom 633
s. 30 I L R 34 All 273
s. 70 I L R 40 Bom 646
s. 74 I L R 32 All 448
s. 126 140 I L R 40 All 70
- See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1870)—
s. 7 CL (IX) I L R. 35 All 92, 94
SCH I, ART I SCH II ART 11
I L R 35 All 476
- See DEKHAH AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF ACT 1879—
s. 2 I L R 34 Bom 181
I L R. 44 Bom 217
- ss. 3 (v) 12 13 I L R 40 Bom 655
- s. 10A I L R 45 Bom 87
- s. 13 I L R 41 Bom 453
I L R. 43 Bom. 1
- ss. 13 15 (d) 16 I L R 39 Bom 73
- s. 15 I L R. 44 Bom 272

MORTGAGE—contd

- See EQUITABLE MORTGAGE.
- See EQUITY OF REDEMPTION
- See ESTOPPEL I L R 39 Calc 513
- See EVIDENCE I L R 35 All 194
I L R 44 Calc 345
I L R. 45 Calc 390
- See EVIDENCE ACT I OF 1872—
ss. 68 92 I L R 42 Mad. 41
s. 68 I L R 35 All 254
ss. 68 69
I L R 39 All 109 112 & 241
ss. 69 70 I L R 35 All 364
s. 90 I L R 44 Bom. 55
s. 94 I L R 38 All 103
- See EXPROPRIATARY TENANT
I L R 36 All 248
- See FAMILY FIRM I L R 36 Bom 515
- See FOREFEITURE I L R 36 Bom 539
- See FRAUD I L R 36 Bom 185
- See HIGH COURT I L R 37 Bom 631
- See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION
I L R 40 Calc 721
I L R 42 Calc. 876
I L R 39 All 500
I L R 40 All 171
I L R 45 Bom 105
- See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
- See HINDU LAW—MORTGAGE.
- See HINDU LAW—WIDOW
I L R. 35 All 311 396
- See INSOLVENCY I L R 41 All 481
- See JURISDICTION I L R 42 Mad. 813
I L R 48 Calc. 832
24 C W N 633
- See LIMITATION I L R 37 Bom 326
I L R. 43 Calc. 244 294
I L R 47 Calc 746
- See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 18)
- SCH II ARTS 134 143 I L R 32 All 160
- SCH II ART 148 I L R 36 All 195
- SCH II, ART 179 I L R. 39 Bom 20
- See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)—
ss. 6 7 AND ART 144
I L R 43 Bom 487
s. 20 I L R. 41 All 111
I L R. 44 Bom 500
s. 22 I L R 39 Bom 729
s. 31 I L R. 35 All 167
- SCH I ARTS. 91 AND 120 I L R 37 All 840
- SCH I ARTS. 126 144 148 I L R. 41 Mad 650
- SCH I ARTS. 132 I L R 36 All 567
I L R 43 All 596

MORTGAGE—contd

- SCH I, ART 134 I L R 37 All 660
 I L R 38 All 123
 I L R 44 Bom 614
 SCH I, ARTS 134 144 and 145
 I L R 43 All 164
 SCH I, ARTS 140, 141
 I L R 40 Bom 239
 SCH I, ART 148 I L R 40 All 683
 SCH I ART 181 I L R 40 All 235
 I L R 43 All 320
 SCH I ARTS 191 and 192
 I L R 43 Bom 689
 See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER
 I L R 33 All 421
 See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT
 I L R 37 Calc 179
 I L R 47 Calc 886
 See MALABAR TENANTS IMPROVEMENTS
 ACT (MAD I OF 1900) ss. 3 5
 I L R 38 Mad. 954
 See MINOR I L R 34 All 286
 See MORTGAGE BOND
 See MORTGAGE DEBT
 See MORTGAGE DECREE.
 See MORTGAGE DEED
 See MORTGAGE OR SALE.
 See MORTGAGE SUIT
 See MORTGAGEE.
 See MORTGAGOR.
 See OCCUPANCY HOMOING
 14 C W N 71
 I L R 43 All 81
 See OCCUPANCY RAIYAT
 I L R 40 All 228
 See PALAS OR TURNS OF WORSHIP
 I L R 42 Calc 455
 See PURDANASHIN LADY
 14 C W N 165
 See PENALTY I L R 44 Calc 162
 See PRE EMPTION I L R 32 All 45
 I L R 34 All 416
 I L R 38 All 381 530
 See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT 190",
 s. 16 I L R 43 All 555
 See REDEMPTION 3 Pat L J 490
 See REGISTRATION
 I L R 41 Calc. 972
 See REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877)
 s 50 I L R. 34 All 631
 See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—
 s. 17 I L R. 41 Bom 510
 s 17(2)(vi) I L R 34 All 528
 s. 50 I L R 35 All 271
 s. 77 I L R 2 Lab 202
 See SIMPLE MORTGAGE
 See SOUTHAL PARGANAS—
 L R. 41 I A 197
 See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT 1877 s. 39
 I L R. 42 Mad. 20

MORTGAGE—contd

- See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)— s 2 (d) I L R 35 Bom 199
 s 6 I L R 39 All 196
 ss 58 to 11"
 See TRUSTS ACT—
 s 5 I L R 36 Bom 396
 See UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS
 ACT 191. s 8 I L R 43 All 478
 See UNFUCTUARY MORTGAGE
 See VATAN I L R 34 Bom 175
 See VENDOR AND PURCHASER
 I L R 41 Bom 300
 ——— anomalous—
 See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF
 1882) ss 58 60 98
 I L R 39 Mad 1010
 See MORTGAGE CONSTRUCTION
 I L R 38 All 97
 15 C W N 722
 ——— a testation of—
 See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 188",
 s. 59 I L R 44 Bom 405
 ——— between Hindus—
 See DAMDUPAT, RULE OF
 I L R 42 Calc 826
 See ASSIGNMENT
 I L R 35 Bom 199
 ——— by agriculturist—
 See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF
 ACT (XVII OF 18 9) s 15B
 I L R 37 Bom 614
 ——— by Directors of a Company—
 See PRESIDENCY BANKS ACT (XI OF 18 6) ss. 36, 37
 I L R 39 Mad 101
 ——— by conditional sale—
 See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT
 I L R 33 All 237 585
 I L R 38 All 570
 See SALE DEED I L R 44 Bom 961
 See PRE EMPTION I L R 39 All 544
 See REGULATION XVII OF 1806 s. 8
 I L R 40 All 387
 See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF
 1882) ss 60 and 98
 I L R 35 Mad. 687
 ——— by Executor—
 See WILL I L R 34 Bom 209
 ——— by Hindu widow—
 See RES JUDICATA I L R 41 Calc. 69
 ——— by Karta—
 See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
 I L R 39 All 500
 ——— by minor—
 See MORTGAGE I L R 38 Mad. 1071
 ——— by Talukdar—
 See BROACH AND RAIPRA INCUMBERED ESTATES ACT (XXI OF 1881) s 23.
 I L R 41 Bom. 546

MORTGAGE—contd

- by vatandar
See HEREDITARY OFFICERS ACT (DOM III OF 1874), s. 5
I L R 39 Bom 537
- by widow
See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION
I L R 40 Calc. 721
- decree absolute for sale on—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), O. XXIV, s. 6
I L R 38 All 21
- decree for redemption—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) ARTS 181 192
I L R 43 Bom 689
See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877), s. 39
I L R 42 Mad. 20
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s. 67
I L R 41 All 631
- decree for Road Cess Priority of—
See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1876 s. 65
1 Pat L J 161
- dispossession of mortgagee by person with better title—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 68
I L R 43 All 434
- divisibility of—
See CHOTA NAGPUR ENCUMBERED ESTATES ACT
6 Pat L J 328
- executed by Collector—
See BUNDELKHAND ALIENATION OF LAND ACT (II OF 1903) s. 17
I L R 38 All 351
- extinguishment of—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s. 65 (c)
I L R 39 Mad. 959
- Forfeiture—Effect of—
See RIMBAY LAND REVENUE ACT, 1879 s. 56
I L R 37 Bom. 692
- in fraud of creditors—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 53
I L R 38 Mad. 29
- money borrowed on suit to recover—
See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT
I L R 40 Mad 402
- Money-decree—priority of—
See EXECUTION OF DECREE
1 Pat L J 449
- Mortgagee in possession—obligations of—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882 s. 76
5 Pat L J 462
- New charge on old security—whether a new mortgage—
See REGISTRATION ACT 1908 s. 77
I L R 2 Lah 202
- non-joinder of parties in Mortgage Suit—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O 1 s. 9
1 Pat L J 468

MORTGAGE—contd

- Maha Brahmins Rights—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), ss. 6, 53
I L R 39 All 196
- of Mukattari Interest—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 70
6 Pat L J 347
- of occupancy holding—
See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES REST ACT (VII OF 1881).
I L R 37 All 444
I L R 39 All 188
- See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I L R 33 All 333
- of promissory note—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) ss. 130 AND 131.
I L R 38 Mad. 297
- of stock-in-trade—
See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT
I L R 37 All 390
- proof of execution of—
See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—
ss. 68 69 I L R 39 All 109 112, 241
s. 69 70
I L R 33 All 344
- redemption of—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), O XXII, s. 10
I L R 37 All 226
- See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877), SCH II, ART 148
I L R 38 All 195
- See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)—
SCH I, ARTS, 134 144
I L R 38 All 133
SCH I, ART 148,
I L R 40 All 683
- Sale deed when may be construed as mortgage—
See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURIST RELIEF ACT 1879, s. 2.
I L R 44 Bom 217
- suit on a—
See AMENDMENT OF PLAINT
I L R 45 Calc 305
- See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O V, s. 5
I L R 38 Bom 377
- See GUJARAT TAUKHANS ACT (BOM ACT VI OF 1888 AS AMENDED BY BOM ACT 11 OF 1905) ss. 29 29B (1), (2) (3), AND 20L
I L R 38 Bom 604
- See LIMITATION ACT I L R 41 Calc 654
- Suit on a prior mortgage without impleading existing mortgagee—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882 ss. 80 AND 89
I L R 43 All 204
- surging proceeds—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s. 69
I L R 40 Mad. 767
- with possession by lessee—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 108 (5).
I L R 40 Mad 1111

MORTGAGE—contd.

Vatan mortgaged with possession—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) s 20
CL (2) ART 116

I L R 45 Bom 1206

Sale to mortgagee in possession—subsequent sale to stranger—

See NOTICE I L R 45 Bom 910

Mortgagee having the option to sue for interest or for possession on mort-gagor's failure to pay interest—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O II
s 2 I L R 1 Lah 457

Acquisition of equity of redemption by adverse possession—

See EQUITY OF REDEMPTION
I L R 1 Lah 549

ASSIGNMENTATTACHMENT*ATTESTATION*CONSENT DECREE*CONSIDERATION*CONSOLIDATION*CONSTRUCTION*CONTRIBUTION*DEPOSIT OF TITLE DEEDS*DISCHARGE*ESTOPPEL*EXECUTION OF MORTGAGE DECREE*EXONERATION*FEMALES—REPRESENTATION OF*FORECLOSURE*FRAUD*GUARDIAN—MORTGAGE BY*INTEREST*LOST BOND*MARSHALLING*MOR*MOVEABLES*PARTIS*PARTITION*PRIORITY*REDEMPTION*REISTRATION*SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY*SEVERANCE OF MORTGAGEES INTEREST*SIMPLE MORTGAGE*SUBROGATION*TRANSFEREE MORTGAGEE*UTRUCTUARY MORTGAGE*MISCELLANEOUS*ASSIGNMENT

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT s
130—13

Application of the Rule of dampasit—Transfer of Property Act (II of 1880),

MORTGAGE—contdASSIGNMENT—contd

s 2 (d) The fact that the person entitled to sue on a mortgage happens by assignment to be a Parsee cannot affect the (Hindu) mortgagee's right to claim the advantage of the rule of dampasit if it existed when the mortgage was entered into.
It is not proper to infer that because it has been expressly enacted that nothing in Chapter II of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1880) shall be deemed to affect any rule of Hindu Law the Legislature has deprived a Hindu mortgagee of the protection afforded him by the rule of dampasit.
The right of a mortgagee to sue for his principal and interest arising from a contract must be taken to be made subject to the usages and customs of the contract in parties JEEWANBAI v MANORAS
(1910) I L R 35 Bom 199

Suit by assignee of mortgage bond—Set off by the defendant of a decree debt against the assignee—Equitable set-off whether allowable—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1880) ss 3 and 130—Actionable claim nature of The doctrine of equitable set off is always confined to unascertained sums arising out of the same transaction Subramanian Chettiar v Mulluswami Ayyar 17 Mad L J 481 dissented from Where a mortgage is transferred without the privity of the mortgagee the transferee takes subject to the state of account between the mortgagor and mortgagee at the date of the transfer but not subject to any independent debt in no way connected with the mortgage Turner v Smith [1901] 1 Ch 742 followed Chinnappa Rautthan v Chudambaram Chetti I L R 2 Mad 210 dissented from SUBRA-MANIA AYYAR v SUBRAMANIA PATTAR (1916)
I L R 40 Mad 683.

ATTACHMENT

Attachment—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XXXVIII r 5
The plaintiff in a mortgage suit after the preliminary decree and before the date appointed for payment into Court applied for attachment of certain other properties of the defendants on the ground of insufficiency of the mortgaged security.
—Held that as the plaintiff would ultimately have to apply for a personal decree against the defendants who had a right to get an attachment under O XXXVIII r 5 of the Civil Procedure Code Bishambhar Sahas v Sukhdan I L R
18 All 186 and Jaipal Singh v Singh v Bansila Kumari Deb 15 Ind Cas 694 referred to JOGENDRA DAS v BAIJANATH PRANAVICK
1918 I L R 46 Cal 245

ATTESTATION

See EVIDENCE ACT 1872 ss 68 AND 69
S v TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1880
ss 68 AND 69.

Transfer of Property Act
(II of 1880) s 55—Co-executants of any will at execution by others—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 68 69 O A mortgage bond executed by several persons was sought to be proved by the evidence of one of the executants who was also the scribe of the document. Held that a party executing a document required by law to be attested cannot be an attesting witness thereof and his evidence even if he was present at and witnessed the execution of it by others cannot be accepted as that of an attesting witness in regard to such executions Jogendra Nath v. Natas Churn, 7 C W N 335, distinguished Bryan v. White, 2 Robertson 315, 317 Sharpe v. Birch, L R 3 Q B D 111, Wright v. Talham, 1 Ad. & Ell. 3, 23 Freshfield v. Reed, 9 M. & W. 494 and Szal v. Claridge, L R 7 Q B D 516, relied on Quare Whether admission of execution by a party is not receivable in proof of execution of such document by himself PEARY MOHAN MAITI v. SREENATH CHANDRA MAITI (1908) 14 C W N 1048

MORTGAGE—*contd.*ATTESTATION—contd.

Transfer of Property Act

(IV of 1882), s. 9—Execution of mortgage by pardanashin lady, attestation of—Requirements as to identity of executant and as to witnesses seeing actual execution of deed—Acknowledgment of her signature by executant On a question whether a mortgage sued upon had been properly attested under the provisions of a 59 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), the evidence showed that the attesting witnesses had not though present, seen the executant (a pardanashin lady) sign the deed, but had subsequently to the execution received from her son, who had been with her on the other side of the parda an acknowledgment that the signature on the deed had been made by his mother. Held (reversing the judgment of the High Court), that the requirements of s. 59 had not been complied with, and the deed was therefore, invalid as a mortgage Shams Patter v. Abdul Kadir Barathan, 1 L R 35 Mad 607, L R 39 I A 35, and Padarath Helwan v. Ram Asa Upadhyay, 1 I R 37 All 474 I R 42 I A 163, distinguished GANGA PRASAD SINGH v. ISHRI PRASAD SINGH (1918)

1 L R 45 Cal. 748

Attesting witness—

Scribe—Execution admittedly adul executant, whether binding on minor—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 65 and 70 Where it is sought to prove the execution of a mortgage by the evidence of a person who signed the deed as a scribe it must be established that the latter, in signing as a scribe, intended to sign as a witness Where a person who has signed a deed as a scribe subsequently asserts that he signed as a witness the onus of proving this assertion lies very heavily on him NAKSHATRA PRASAD v. BACRU SINGH

4 Pat L J 511

CONSENT DECREE

Consent decrees between mortgagee and mortgagee—Joint management—Equal division of rent and produce—Prohibition against partition—Mortgagee competent to grant musam lease—Mortgagee to get one-fourth of the musam (present)—Rights of the mortgagee conveyed to the mortgagee—Equitable mortgage by mortgagee—Settlement by mortgagee in favour of his relations—Suit by equitable mortgagee—Decree—Execution—Auction purchaser put in possession—Suit by donees under the settlement—Donees entitled to possession—Rights of the parties to be worked out, by amicable settlement or by a suit—Suit by representatives of auction purchaser to recover one-fourth share by partition—Plaintiffs entitled to possession of the share as tenants in common—Musam lease by mortgagee's assignee without mortgagee's consent—Lease not to ensure for the benefit of the assignee The owners of certain land mortgaged it to S In the year 1806 consent decrees, Exhibits 57 and 58, were passed between the mortgagors and the mortgagee S The consent decrees provided that both parties should jointly carry on the management of the land, each being entitled to half of the produce and rent, that the land itself should not be partitioned, that S was competent to grant a musam lease, provided the na zamana (present) accepted was not less than Rs 500 and that the said musam should be divided between the mortgagors and S in the proportion of $\frac{1}{2}$ and $\frac{1}{2}$ respectively The said rights of the mortgagors were subsequently conveyed by them to S for consideration, Exhibit 64 Afterwards S, in April 1891, deposited Exhibit 64 by way of equitable mortgage with two persons In October 1891 S settled the property which was subject to the equitable mortgage on his relatives J and M In 1892 the two equitable mortgagees sued S to recover their equitable mortgage debt and got a decree against the property equitably mortgaged and against S personally The property was put up for sale in execution and purchased by H for Rs 5425 which covered the claim of the equitable mortgagees J and M obstructed the auction purchase H in his attempts to obtain possession, and their obstruction having failed, they brought a suit against H The final decree in the suit made a declaration that as against H, J and M were entitled to the properties and their possession subject to H's right conveyed to the mortgagee S under Exhibit 64 and subsequently purchased by H and that "the rights of the parties as thus declared must be worked out by amicable settlement between them or by means of a separate suit" The plaintiffs as executors under the will of H, deceased, who was deprived of possession under the musam decree, having brought a suit against the assignees of J and H to recover by partition $\frac{1}{2}$ share of the land, the lower Courts dismissed the suit for the recovery of $\frac{1}{2}$ share by partition on the ground that the clause in the consent decrees Exhibits 57 and 58, affected to prohibit partition On second appeal by the plaintiffs Held, reversing the decrees, that though the plaintiffs as tenants in common would be entitled to partition, yet by virtue of the consent decrees they were estopped from exercising such right Held, further, that though the consent decrees did empower the mortgagee S to grant a musam lease without the mortgagor's consent, yet this power did not ensure for the benefit of his assignees COWASHI TENDITJI v. KINANDAS TICUMDAS (1911)

MORTGAGE—*contd.*CONSENT DECREE—contd.

1 L R 35 Bom. 371

CONSIDERATION

Sic TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, s. 38.

Consideration—Ratification—Ratification in mortgage deed of receipt of consideration—Burden of proof Where a mortgage deed is proved to have been executed and the document contains an acknowledgment of the receipt of the consideration this is strong prima facie evidence that the consideration has been actually received and is evidence not only against the mortgagee, but also against persons claiming under them subsequent to the date of the mortgage. The mere fact that a decree mortgaged—Civil Procedure Code Act XIV of 1882, s 276—Attachment and mortgage of decree on same day—Mortgage valid unless attaching creditor shows it to have been effected during the pendency of attachment Where a decree is mortgaged and the amount due under the decree is subsequently realised in execution, the mortgagee has a charge on the amount so realised The mortgagee is entitled to a charge on property which through no fault of his has taken the place of the mortgaged property Singaravelu Udayan v Rama Iyer, 13 Mad. L J 306 dissented from The receipt by one Court of a notice of attachment by another Court is not a judicial act to which the principle that judicial acts must be presumed to have been done at the earliest point of time of the date thereof would apply Where therefore a decree is mortgaged on a certain date and notice of attachment of such decree is received by the Court on the same day, it lies on the attaching creditor seeking to set aside such mortgage as made during the pendency of attachment under s 276 of the Civil Procedure Code to show that the receipt of such notice was prior to the execution of the mortgage when a decree is attached and the attachment is subsequently withdrawn by agreement, the attachment does not continue against the money realised in execution of such decree in the absence of anything to that effect in the agreement VENKATRAMA IYER v RAJUMA POWTHEN (1909) I L R 33 Mad 429

MORTGAGE—contd

CONSTRUCTION—contd

2 — Mortgaged for family purposes

—Liability of minor son when authority may be presumed—Alienation—Onus of proof—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 106 —Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) ss 84, 90—Civil Procedure Code (V of 1908) O 111 r 6 Where a mortgage purports to charge the entire interest in a property, and the mortgage money was advanced for legitimate family purposes express or implied authority of minor co-parceners may be implied and the mortgage may be enforced against the entire family interest. Surya Binnu Koer v Shoa Persad Singh 1 L R 5 Cal 118 L R 61 4 88 referred to. Authority to mortgage may also according to the peculiar circumstances of a case, be implied even in cases where the mortgage money was not advanced for legitimate family purposes A mortgage is an alienation even though it is for a very particular purpose e.g. as security only for the amounts drawn or paid on account of instalments of rent Charb Hah v Khabal Singh 1 L J 25 All 107 L R 30 J 1 165 referred to Where on the one's do it is proved that the whole of the mortgage money, with the exception of a very small portion of it was advanced for legitimate family purpose and there is, therefore a sufficient foundation for a decree for sale on the mortgage, and on the other side it is not shown that the small portion of the debt was not for any immoral purpose, the smaller item may be regarded as a debt of the father binding on the son. Ilumoonasapersad Junday v Munraj Koonwerre, 6 Moo J 4 393, 13 B R 81 n Lachman Das v Giridhar Chowdhury 1 L R 5 Cal 833 Mahender Dutt Tewari v Kishan Singh 1 L R 34 Cal 134 Kishan Pershad Chowdhury v Tipan Pershad Singh, 1 L R 34 Cal 735 Lala Suraj Prasad v Gulab Chand, 1 L R 28 Cal 817, vested in the mortgagee on execution and registration of the mortgage bond Failure on the part of the promisor to perform a promise which formed the whole or part of the consideration inducing an executed conveyance does not give the promisee a right of rescission Mere registration does not render a sale of immovable property or a mortgage operative from the time of registration if there is a condition attached to the contract that the operation of sale of mortgage is to be postponed till the actual payment of the full amount of consideration In every case the onus is upon the person setting up such a condition. MOKHAN LAL MARWARI v HANUMAN BUX

2 Pat L J 168

CONSOLIDATION

—Right of does not arise when equities of redemption are severed—Subsequent mortgage executed by some of the descendants of original mortgagor, whether mortgagee may consolidate The right of consolidation can be exercised against successors in title to the mortgagor only so long as the equities of redemption are not severed There cannot be a consolidation of mortgages where the first mortgage is executed by the sole owner of the land mortgaged and the subsequent mortgage is executed by some one of the successors of the original owner There cannot be two different usufructuary mortgages on the same land at the same time. LALA RAM NARAY LAL v LALA MURLIDHAR . . . 5 Pat. L J 644

CONSTRUCTION

1. —Decree, mortgage of—Mortgagee has a charge on amount realised in execution of

MORTGAGE—*contd*CONSTRUCTION—contd

Transferred Transfer of Property Act s 59 construction of. The question in this appeal was whether property mortgaged to the respondent on the 13th of October 1881 should when sold under a decree absolute for sale be treated as a full subject to an alleged prior right of the appellant under an earlier mortgage of the same property dated the 25th of February 1880. The appellant, in 1951 acquired the title of the mortgage and also such title as remained in the mortgage under the earlier mortgage. In 1951 the prior mortgage brought a suit on his mortgage and in 1953 obtained a decree absolute for sale under the Transfer of Property Act. The suit was, however, only against the mortgage and the second mortgage, was not made a party to it. Neither the prior mortgage nor his successor took any steps to execute that decree and it became barred and inoperative after the lapse of three years from the date on which it became absolute. It was limited that the later mortgage was duly registered, and that the earlier mortgage must be taken to have had notice of it when he brought his suit and obtained a decree in 1952. Held in a suit brought on the 26th of July 1919, by the first respondent on his mortgage of the 13th of October 1881 against among others the appellant that respondent was entitled to a decree absolute under D XXXIV c 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908, for sale but that the sale was not subject to the prior mortgage of the appellant. The true construction of s 59 of the Transfer of Property Act is that on the making of the order absolute for sale under that section the security as well as the defendant's right to redeem were both extinguished and that for the right of the mortgagee under his security there was substituted the right to a sale conferred by the decree. HET RAM v. SHADI RAM (1919) I. L. R. 40 ALL 407

11 ——— Mortgage Bond—Rice lent—Covenant of repayment Mortgagee to realise money in case of default by sale of mortgaged properties—Suit on mortgage bond whether a suit for recovery of money charged on mortgaged properties. Where in a suit to enforce a mortgage the plaintiff lent a certain amount of rice and there was in the bond the usual covenant of repayment and interest and the bond also provided that if default was made in the rice the mortgagees would be competent to realise the money which would be due at the rate of 1 s. 6 per cent by sale of the mortgaged properties belonging to the mortgagors. Held that the primary object of the suit was to recover money and what the Court would give the plaintiff would be money and not rice if they succeeded in the suit and that that money was a charge on the mortgaged property. Held also each case must turn on the construction that the Court places on the mortgage deed in that particular case. SHAFAT LALL DEVI v. SARAT CHANDRA MOHDAL (1915) 22 C W N 750

12 ——— Two Mortgagees—Separate sums secured—Tenants in Common—Right of each Mortgagee—Adverse Influence—Paradonashin—Compromise—Independent Advice—True Test. Upon a mortgage to two mortgagees to secure for separate sums the whole mortgaged property being conveyed to the mortgagees as tenants in common all of them being no less venant to repay to each separately, if one mortgagee desires repayment

MORTGAGE—*contd*CONSTRUCTION—contd

his co mortgagee is not consenting to proceedings, his proper course is to sue for a mortgage decree in respect of the whole sum secured—Joining his co mortgagee as a defendant the decree should provide for all necessary accounts and payments, but no personal decree against the mortgagee in favour of the mortgagee who sues. To support an agreement by a paradonashin in a compromise of litigation it is sufficient to show that the general result of the compromise as directed from the details and legal technicalities involved, was understood by her and that disinterested and competent persons with a fair understanding of the whole matter advised her to execute it. SHRUTABALA DEVI v. DHARA SHENDRI DEVI CHOWDHURANI (1919) I. L. R. 46 I A 272

13 ——— Mortgage of entire sixteen annas of village—Without reservation of one anna. Where a zamindar mortgages his entire zamindari rights in a village without any reservation whatever, there is no reason why the mortgage should not be held to include the mortgagee's rights in grove land purchased some time before the execution of the mortgage. HASAN ALI KHAN v. AZHAR UL-HASAN (1915) I. L. R. 41 ALL 45

14 ——— Debtor executing a mortgage of his properties in favour of alleged creditor (a relation)—Soon after suspending payment—Bond file of transaction, how to be determined—Consideration of facts as a whole and in relation to each other, essential C and D were related to each other and had between them numerous business dealings which it was alleged left D indebted to C to the extent of Rs. 50,000. On 26th September 1894 just after D's shop had suspended payment D purported to execute a usufructuary mortgage of all his immovable properties in favour of C in consideration of the said alleged debt owed by D to C. Certain creditors of D who in the meanwhile had instituted suits against D attached before judgment the said properties whereupon C unsuccessfully laid claim to the properties under s 279 of Act XIV of 1882. Held in a suit by C to set aside the attachments, that the question for determination in the case was whether the mortgage was a bond file transaction entered into with the object of securing the debt of C or whether it was a mere contrivance for defeating or delaying the just claims of the other creditors and retaining the property for the benefit of or in trust for D. That taking the facts as a whole the mortgage was a mere device for rescuing the bulk of the available assets of D for the benefit of the family and indirectly for himself. That also C out of first instance fell into an error in taking each fact which militated against the bond file of the mortgage separated from the rest of the facts and proceeding to demonstrate that it was quite consistent with good faith whereas in a case like the present it was essentially necessary that the facts should be considered in relation to each other and weighed as a whole as was done in the Appeal Court, whose decision on the Judicial Committee affirmed. CHAKRAM DASS v. UNAKRAMAD (1919) 23 C W N 817*

15 ——— Mortgage of several properties—Sale of some under a particular title—Failure of mortgagee in sale payment out of surplus sale proceeds if amounts to release—Mortgagee if may realise the whole debt from remain any properties—Transfer of Property Act (11 of 1882) s 30 If properties A, B and C are mortgaged they are all equally liable in the hands of the mortgagor for the mortgage, if however during the subsistence of the mortgage they pass into other hands they are still similarly liable but the owners inter se when the mortgage is enforced are entitled to have the liability apportioned rateably between the properties according to their value at the date of the mortgage (s 32 of the Transfer of Property Act) This however is a right between the holders of the properties inter se and does not affect the mortgagee's right to enforce his mortgage against all or any of the properties If however the mortgagee releases one or more of the properties from liability under the mortgage with knowledge that there has been a change of ownership as to some or all of the properties, then the properties which remain liable are only liable to such part of the mortgage debt as is proportionate to their value at the date of the mortgage Whether a mortgagee's neglect to enforce his charge against the surplus sale-proceeds of mortgaged properties sold under a paramount title amounts to a release of the properties from their liability to the mortgage debt is a question of fact The Midnapur Zemindary Co., Ltd. v. Anwar Chandra Mitter (1918) 23 C W N 308

MORTGAGE—contdCONSTRUCTION—contd

16. ———— "Muakhiza"—Transfer of Property Act (17 of 1882), ss 68, 100 A deed the basis of a suit for sale as on a mortgage opened with a recital that the executant had borrowed a sum of money, followed by a promise to pay the amount with interest at 2 per cent per month within a certain time, and then provided "muakhiza out o sud to yom ul-wasul upar (description of the share) haqiqat min muqar gaur rahga lihaara batark tamassuk muakhiza padad ka lihaara" Held, that this deed could not be construed as mortgage The word muakhiza did not necessarily imply a power of a sale, and there was nothing else in the deed from which an intention to give a power of a sale could be inferred Dalip Singh v. Bahadur Ram (1912) . . . I L R 34 All 446

17. ———— When only part of the consideration paid—Mortgagee in possession cannot prescribe for higher interest by asserting a larger amount as due—Limitation Act Sec 11, Art 144, 148 Where only a part of the consideration for a mortgage has been paid, the mortgage is a good security for the amount that has validly passed The mortgagee by remaining in possession for more than 12 years under such a mortgage, cannot by merely claiming to hold for the full amount, acquire by prescription a right to hold as mortgagee, for such full amount Notwithstanding the assertion by the mortgagee of a larger interest than was validly passed to him by the mortgage article 148 of the Limitation Act will apply to a suit for redemption by the mortgagor Article 144 will not apply as article 148 specially provides for the case Rajai Trimal Raju v. Pavda Mathial Naidu (1911)

I L R 35 Mad 114

18. ———— Collateral agreement—Where a mortgage is executed but there is a collateral agreement that no obligation should attach under the instrument till payment of money on the one hand and delivery to the registering officer on the other, the moment the condition is fulfilled, obligation attaches with effect from the date of execution and attestation of the document There is no analogy between a common law deed in England and a mortgage deed in this country in this respect Jadavdax Phosar Singh v. Deo Narain Singh (1911) 16 C W N 612

MORTGAGE—contdCONSTRUCTION—contd

19. ———— Liability for deficiency in interest—whether personal merely or a charge on the mortgaged property A mortgage deed provided that the mortgagee should take possession of the mortgaged property and out of the rents and profits pay the Government revenue and appropriate Rs 132 per annum on account of interest at the rate of 11 annas per cent per mensem It further provided that should the amount of profits calculated on the basis of the patwaris accounts, be found insufficient to cover the whole amount payable for interest, the deficiency would be made good by the mortgagor together with interest at the rate of P a 2 per cent per mensem Held that deficiency in the stipulated interest was realizable as well from the mortgaged property as from the mortgagor personally Muhammad Hussain v. Emdar Khan Ditta & Ali L J 176 referred to Chitra Man v. Dulari (1910) I L R 33 All 107

20. ———— Interest partly in kind and partly in cash—Interest when payable—Suit for arrears of interest—Words amounting to covenant to pay year by year In this case their Lordships of the Judicial Committee held (reversing the decision of the High Court) that on the true construction of the mortgage there was clearly a personal covenant to pay interest on the mortgage money from year to year, and that the suit, which was for arrears of interest, was therefore maintainable Madappa Hegde v. Ramkrishna Narayan (1911)

I L R 35 Bom. 327

21. ———— Personal decree, suit for—Mortgaged properties, if must be first proceeded against Held, on the construction of the mortgage bond in this case, that it contained an express promise to pay the amounts secured so that the mortgagee was entitled to sue for a personal decree only Held, further, that a stipulation that "if the debt be not paid off by the hypothecated properties" the mortgagee "will be able to realise the money by sale of the mortgagor's other moveable and immovable properties did not imply that the parties agreed to postpone the remedy against the person and other properties to that against the mortgaged properties Beno Krishna Deb v. Debendra Kishore Nandy (1911)

15 C W N 722

22. ———— Simple or anomalous mortgage—Covenant to pay—Option of mortgagee to take possession on default of payment of interest—Mortgage if usufructuary—Decree for sale if proper Held, on the terms on the bond in suit that it was a simple mortgage. A simple mortgagee is entitled to a decree for sale as a matter of course, notwithstanding that under the terms of the mortgage bond he has the option on the mortgagor's default in payment of interest, to "take possession of the mortgaged properties and to enjoy the same, as under a usufructuary mortgage." Krishna Bhupati Devt Garu v. Seltan Bahadur of Vizianagaram (1911) . . . 15 C W N 441

MORTGAGE—*contd.*CONSTRUCTION—contd.

23. — Attornment clause in mortgage deed—Construction of Deed The courts in India will not, in the absence of the strongest reasons, give a construction to an alleged attornment clause in a mortgage deed which will have the effect of creating rights of tenancy in derogation of the rights of the mortgagee. By a deed dated the 14th August, 1896, defendants 1st party mortgaged to the plaintiffs their shares in several mauzas, inclusive of 200 bighas of serai land. Out of the 200 bighas of serai land, 50 bighas was left in the possession of the mortgagors at a nominal rent. By a Kabuliat dated the 25th September, 1902, a further area of 4 bighas 10 cattahs of jungle land was let to the defendants at a rental of Rs 14 5 6. The plaintiffs sued for arrears of rent and for khaz possession in terms of the mortgage. Held, on a construction of the mortgage deed, that with regard to the 50 bighas of serai land the real relationship between the parties was not that of landlord and tenant but mortgagee and mortgagor, and that the arrears of rent claimed in the present suit were really on account of principal and interest. The plaintiff was entitled to a decree for the amount claimed as rent and for recovery of possession of the 50 bighas. Obiter dictum As the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1855, does not contemplate a ryot who does not come under any of the clauses of s. 4 of that Act the mortgagor must, with regard to the serai land, be held to be a non occupancy ryot. Held, further, on a construction of the Kabuliat, that with regard to the 4 bighas 10 cattahs the relationship of landlord and tenant existed and that the mortgagor was not precluded from obtaining the status of an occupancy ryot under the mortgage. The plaintiff was entitled to a decree for arrears of rent but not to recovery of possession as the mortgagor was found to have acquired occupancy rights in the holding. UDAI CHAND v SAKI BAHADUR SINGH . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 353

24. — Simple mortgage, essentials of—recitals in mortgage deed, effect of—mortgagor in possession, acts of, how far binding on mortgagee. The recitals in a mortgage deed are important in considering the nature and the scope of the implied authority which arises as between the mortgagor and mortgagee when the former is allowed to remain in apparent possession and ownership of the mortgaged property. A deed which is expressly called a mortgage deed and which expressly mortgages and hypothecates the property charged as security for the mortgage debt, is according to the law of India a valid simple mortgage. When a mortgagor remains in possession after the date of a mortgage he can deal with the property in the usual and customary way so as to bind the mortgagee, but he must not do anything prejudicially affecting the mortgaged property as security for the debt. The fact that a mortgage deed declares itself to be executed by a Manager appointed under the Guardian and Wards Act, 1890, rather limits than extends the ordinary rights of a mortgagor in possession. Where a person obtains a contractual benefit from a mortgagor in possession after the date of the mortgage, the onus is upon such person to prove that it was a benefit which he might derive and retain in the usual course of the management of the property. The High Court is entitled to examine and enquire into the grounds and basis upon which an entry in the Record of Rights was made. ANANDA RAM MAHWARI v DHANPAT SINGH . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 563

MORTGAGE—*contd.*CONSTRUCTION—contd.

25. — What charges may be added to mortgage debt—whether payments on account of road cess may be added A mortgagee is not entitled to add the expenses incurred for payment of road cess to the sum due on the mortgage. The payment of a public charge for which the mortgaged property may not be summarily sold cannot be constituted a charge upon the property. S. 72 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, does not cover a case in which the right title and interest only of the mortgagor may be put up for sale. The section includes only payments made to save the security itself. RAJENDRA PRASAD v BANTRIA RATAV JOTI KUMAR . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 589

CONTRIBUTION.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 82

Payment by co-mortgagor—Guardian and Minor—Power of de facto guardian to mortgage minor's property—Mahomedan law Held, that where a joint mortgagor seeks contribution upon the ground that he has paid the whole mortgage debt and thus relieved the property of his co-mortgagor from a burden, it is not necessary for him to plead that he did so under compulsion. Held, also that the de facto guardian of a minor Mahomedan is competent, in case of necessity and for the benefit of the minor, to make a valid mortgage of the minor's property. ABID ALI v IMAM ALI (1915) . . . 1 L. R. 38 All. 92

Property subject to three mortgages sold under decrees on two—Decrees not satisfied—Property sold not liable to contribute to third mortgage Where property the subject of more than one mortgage is sold in execution of a decree on a prior mortgage and that decree still remains unsatisfied, it cannot thereafter be made liable to contribution under a decree on a second or third mortgage. Hari Raj Singh v Ahmad ul din Khan, I L R 19 All. 515, and Bohra Thakur Das v. The Collector of Alwarh, I L R 28 All. 593, referred to BHAGWATI PRASAD v SHAFAT MUHAMMAD CHAUDHRI (1920) . . . I L R. 43 All. 42

Limitation of suit for contribution by co-mortgagor—Contribution suit by co-mortgagor paying off mortgage decree in excess of his share, period of limitation for—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Arts 60, 69, 120 or 132, which of them applies—A co-mortgagor redeeming a mortgage, if to be treated as an assignee of the original security A, B and C mortgaged their properties to H in 1888, the due date of the mortgage being September 1891. In 1903 the mortgagee brought a suit upon his mortgage and a preliminary decree was passed in June 1903. In February 1904 some of the mortgagors paid a portion of the mortgage debt to the mortgagee. In May 1909 order absolute for sale of the mortgaged properties was passed and the mortgagee thereafter put up the properties to sale. To prevent the sale two of the mortgagors satisfied the mortgage decree by depositing the decretal amount in Court on the 27th March 1909, and one of them brought the present suit for contribution on the 7th October 1915 against his co mort

MORTGAGE—contd.CONTRIBUTION—contd

gator. Held, that the position of the co mortgagee redeeming a mortgage is that of an assignee of the original security, and that the period of limitation is the same as that within which the original mortgagee could have brought his suit on his mortgage, had he not been redeemed. Therefore, the suit, having been brought more than 12 years after the due date of the original mortgage, was barred by limitation under Art 132, Limitation Act. Pancham v. Ali, 1 L. R. 4 All 35 (1891), Nura Bibi v. Jagat, 1 L. R. 8 All. 295 (1896), Ashfaq v. Wazir, 1 L. R. 11 All. 113; also 1 L. R. 11 All. 423 (1889), Har Prasad v. Raghunandan, 1 L. R. 31 All. 166 (1909) and Digambar v. Haren dra, 14 C. W. N. 617 (1910), followed. Varadch v. Balaji, 1 L. R. 26 Bom. 390 (1902), referred to. Besides, the suit, having been brought more than six years after the dates of the payments, was barred, whether Art 60 or 90 or Art 120 of the Limitation Act applied. SUREKATI RAJKUMARI DEBI v. MUKUNDALAL BANDOPADHYAY

25 C. W. N. 283

DEPOSIT OF TITLE DEEDS

See MORTGAGE (REGISTRATION)

24 C. W. N. 599

See MORTGAGE (MISCELLANEOUS)

1 L. R. 43 Calc. 1052

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908 s. 49

1 L. R. 40 Mad. 547

—Equitable mortgage—

*Security, scope of—Title deeds, deposited as security, and endorsement made on promissory note given—Addition subsequently made to memorandum endorsed on note—Scope of security limited to original memorandum. Where title-deeds of property are handed over with nothing said except that they are to be security, the law supposes that the scope of the security is the scope of the title-deeds. Where, however, title-deeds are handed over accompanied by a bargain, that bargain must rule. Lastly, when the bargain is a written bargain, it, and it alone, must determine what is the scope and extent of the security. Shaw v. Foster, 1 L. R. 5 E. & I. App. 321, per Lord Cairns, followed. On obtaining a loan the defendants executed a promissory note, and made an endorsement on it. "As security, grant of a house in 14th Street," to which admittedly some months afterwards, words were added which caused the endorsement to read "As security, grant of a house in Strand Road and 14th Street." There was, in their Lordships' opinion, satisfactory evidence for the defendants of identification to show that the security consisted of only one house, and that the references to it in books of account and elsewhere, were always in the singular and on the other hand, the plaintiffs, the persons holding the security, on whom it lay to clearly satisfy the Court of the scope of the security, had failed to do so. Held, therefore, (upholding the appellate decision of the Chief Court), that the scope of the security was limited by the original endorsement on the note. FRANJIVANDAS JAGJIVANDAS MERTA v. CHAK MA PHUK (1916). . . . 1 L. R. 43 Calc. 895*

DISCHARGE

See UNDER SUB-HEADING SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY 15 C. W. N. 899

MORTGAGE—contdDISCHARGE—contd

1. ———— *Co mortgagees—Payment by mortgagee to one of them who gives him full discharge—Other mortgagees if bound by it—Effect on the interest of mortgagees who gave the discharge. Payment to one of several joint creditors does not necessarily operate as a discharge of the debt in so far as the other creditors are concerned. In the absence of any evidence or circumstances which would justify a contrary inference, it will be presumed notwithstanding the form of the obligation that a debt due to a number of joint creditors is due to them in severalty. Where after relations between co-mortgagees had become strained, one of them acknowledged receipt of payment from the mortgagor and gave the latter a discharge in respect of the mortgage-debt. Held, that the discharge operated as a valid discharge in respect only of the share of the mortgage money due to the co-mortgagee by whom it was given. HAKIM v. ADWATTA CHANDRA DAS DALAL (1918) 22 C. W. N. 1021*

2. ———— *Equity of redemption of mortgaged property—Purchase by mortgagee—Extinction of mortgage. In the absence of fraud, the purchase by the mortgagee in Court auction of the equity of redemption of some items of the mortgaged properties discharges that portion of the mortgage debt which was chargeable on those items, that is, it discharges a portion of the mortgage debt which bears the same ratio to the whole mortgage debt as the value of those items bears to the value of all the mortgaged properties. Bhushur Dial v. Ram Sarup (1910) 1 L. R. 22 All. 284 (F. B.), followed. Sami Raveppa v. Kuppusami Iyengar (1911) 2 M. B. N. 312, overruled. PONNAMMALA PILLAI v. ANNAMALAI CHETTIAR (1920) . . . 1 L. R. 43 Mad. 372*

3. ———— *Payment to one mortgagee whether discharges the whole security—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 35 (3). Payment to one of two mortgagees is not a discharge of the mortgagor's liability to the other. Unless the contrary is shown mortgagees must be regarded as having a separate interest in the money advanced by them although they take a joint security and must be treated as in the position of tenants in common and not joint tenants. S. 38 (3) of the Contract Act, 1872, relates to joint promisees and not to co-mortgagees whose interests are several. SYED ABBAS ALI v. MISRI LALL 5 Pat. I. J. 376*

4. ———— *Heirs of original mortgagee, whether one of them is entitled to release the entire debt—One of the heirs, or an assignee of one of the heirs of a deceased mortgagee is not competent to grant a release of the interests of the others. BANAMA SATPATRI v. TALNA RANJARI PATRA 5 Pat. I. J. 161*

5. ———— *A mortgage lien is not extinguished on the passing only of the decree upon it. It is not extinguished till the sale takes place in execution of the mortgage decree and the sale proceeds are distributed in satisfaction of the mortgage debt. BHICHUMBI DASI v. BHARA SUNDARI DASI . . . 24 C. W. N. 861*

ESTOPPEL

See FALLS OR TURNS OF WORSHIP 1 L. R. 42 Calc. 455

1. ———— Mortgage of entire property by owner of half share—Purchase by defendant

MORTGAGE—*contd*ESTOPPEL—contd

of entire property pending mortgage suit—Sale and purchase by mortgagee in presence of defendant—Defendant is estopped from proving title to the other half—Ignorance of plaintiff of real fact and misleading by defendant's conduct, to be proved. J, who owned a half share in a property purported to mortgage the whole. After a preliminary decree had been passed in favour of the mortgagee in a suit against J brought on the mortgage, N purchased the interest of J and his co share and was brought on the record as the successor in interest of J. The mortgage decree was thereafter made absolute and the property put up to sale and purchased by the mortgagee. In a suit by the latter against A to establish his title to the entire mortgaged property. Held that N would not be estopped from showing that the mortgage sale passed only J's half share in the property to the plaintiffs, unless it was established that the mortgagee was not aware that J had only a half share in the property which he purported to mortgage and that he was misled by some representation by conduct of N into believing that J had full title. KAMAL KUMAR NAYDI v KALI MEAN (1911).

15 C W. N. 572

2. ——— Power of representatives of mortgagor to question validity of mortgage—Adverse possession—Possession adverse to mortgagor not necessarily adverse to mortgagee. Held that, although the representatives of a mortgagor cannot as such question the validity of the mortgage, it may be open to them as mutawallis to plead that the property was waqf and that the mortgage of it was void. Gulzar Ali v Fida Ali, 1 L R 6 All 21 distinguished. Held also that a simple mortgage being not merely a security for a debt but a transfer of an interest in the property mortgaged, a trespasser who ousts the mortgagor and holds the property adversely to him may by prescription become the owner of the limited estate which the mortgagor had in the property, but such adverse possession cannot extinguish the right of the mortgagee. Agency Company v Short 1 L R 13 A C 733. Smith v Lloyd 9 Ex 562. Secretary of State for India v Krishnaamoni Gupta, 1 L R 29 Cal. 518, and Ismar Akka v Ahmad Hussain 1 L R 30 All 119 referred to. Ramaswami Chetty v Panna Padayachi 21 Mad L J 397, and Pratap Bahadur Singh v Maheshwar Bakshi Singh, 12 O C 45 not approved. Amar dar Mandal v Mekhan Lal Day, 1 L R 33 Cal 1915 and Parthasarathi Nookan v Lakshmana Ailam, 21 Mad L J 467, approved and followed. Karan Singh v Bakar Ali Khan 1 L R 5 All 1 discussed. NANDAN SINGH v JEWAN (1912).

1 L R 34 All 640

3. ——— Purchase of mortgaged property by mortgagee in execution of his decree for sale—Subsequent suit for sale by a prior mortgagee—Plea of incompetency of mortgagor raised by mortgagee—Purchaser. Held that a mortgagee who in execution of a decree for sale in his favour, has purchased the mortgaged property himself, could not be permitted, in another suit on a prior mortgage of the same property in which he was arrayed as defendant, to set up the defence that the mortgagor was incompetent to execute the mortgage in suit. Dishambhar Dayal v Parahadi, 10 All L J 112, Bakshi Ram v Luludhar, 1 L R 35 All 357, and Prayag Ray v Sidha Prasad

MORTGAGE—*contd*ESTOPPEL—contd

Tiwari, 1 L R 35 Cal 577 referred to. Radha Bai v Kamod Singh, 1 L R 30 All 38, distinguished. TOTA RAM v HAR GOBIND (1913).

1 L R. 26 All 141

EXECUTION OF MORTGAGE DECREE.

1. ——— Order in which properties to be sold discretion of Court as to—Execution of mortgage decree—Partial execution, application for, if may be entertained—Two properties A and B, were mortgaged by one deed by N. Subsequently S sold the property A to one R. The mortgagor brought a suit on the mortgage and got a decree against S and R. The decree holder applied for execution against both the properties, but the Court in the exercise of its discretion ordered execution against the property B in the first instance. Thereupon the decree holder had the petition for execution dismissed and made a fresh application for execution against the property A alone. Held that the discretion as to the order in which the execution should issue is vested in the Court alone and the decree holder cannot be allowed to fetter the hands of the Court by petition for partial execution. Held, also, that execution could not be ordered unless the decree holder included both the properties in his petition. Amir Chand v Bakshi Sheo Pershad 1 L R 34 Cal. 13, distinguished. MAHOMED SADDIK v SAUDA GAR MIAN LAHARI (1910). 15 C W. N. 80

2. ——— Mortgage by co-partner—Hindu Law—Mitakshara—Decree directing property to be held in specific shares and charging mortgagor's share with the mortgagee's dues if enforceable in execution—Separate suit to enforce lien if necessary. A mortgage by a co-partner in a Mitakshara joint family was declared to be void in so far as it purported to affect the specific share of the mortgagor but the Court directed by its decree that the mortgagor and his co-sharer do hold the properties in specified shares and that the share of the mortgagor be held subject to the lien of the mortgagee for the sum advanced with interest. The mortgagor or his co-sharers not having asked to redeem the share of the mortgagor by paying off the mortgage money with interest, no decree for redemption was made. Held that the mortgagee could bring the share to sale in execution of the decree and it was not incumbent on him to institute a separate suit to enforce the lien. RAM SUNDAR DAS v NATHUNI SINGH (1911).

15 C W. N. 748

3. ——— Interest—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1922), ss 33–34—Mortgage interest on, up to what date payable—Prior incumbrances joined in suit by puisne mortgagee if may get interest at contract rate after date fixed in prior mortgage decree for repayment. A puisne mortgagee having joined the prior mortgagee in his suit a decree was passed fixing the period of redemption for the plaintiff but not in regard to the prior incumbrances. The decree did not also determine the amounts payable to the latter. In execution the property was sold and the purchase-money deposited. Subsequently the mortgagor brought a suit to set aside the sale which was ultimately dismissed and the sale was then confirmed. On the question up to what date the prior mortgagees would be entitled to get interest. Held that interest would be payable on the principle of s. 34 of the Trans fer of Property Act up to the date of confirmation of sale and not up to the date fixed for payment in the decree. Although it may be open to the Court to distribute the sale proceeds amongst the claimants before the sale has been confirmed it is not obligatory on the Court to distribute it then nor is the sum distributable as a matter of course. Order for distribution ought not ordinarily to be made before the confirmation of the sale. Jogendra Nath Sirkar v Gobinda Chunder Addi, 1 L R 12 Cal 252. Hafiz Mahomed Ali Khan v Damodar Paramanick, 1 L R 18 Cal 242 explained. The order for distribution by the Court was a decree within s 2 read with s 47, sub s (1), of the Civil Procedure Code and appealable as such. BEVDE LAL BANDOPADHYA v HARISH CHANDRA TEWARI (1910). 15 C W N. 783

MORTGAGE—contd.

EXECUTION OF MORTGAGE DECREE—contd.

EXONERATION OF CERTAIN ITEMS MORTGAGED

— Suit for sale of one item exonerating other items mortgaged—Right of mortgagee to exonerate—Contribution, duty of whether lost by exoneration—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss 60 and 82. A mortgagee seeking to realize the amount due to him brought a suit for sale of one only of the items mortgaged impleading therein the mortgagor and the person who purchased the equity of redemption in the one item in execution of a money decree. The mortgagee exonerated from liability the other items mortgaged. Held by the FULL BENCH that, a mortgagee voluntarily releasing from the suit a portion of the mortgaged property is not bound to abate a proportionate part of the debt and is entitled to recover the whole of the mortgage amount from any portion of the mortgaged property. Ponnusami Mudaliyar v Sriyasa Naicken, 1 L R 31 Mad 333, and Sriram Marwari v Barhamdeo Persad, 1 C L J 337, dissented from. Semle A release of certain items by the mortgagee has not the effect of releasing those items from liability for contribution under s. 82 of the Transfer of Property Act. Jugal Kishore Sahu v Kedar Nath, 1 L R 31 All 606, referred to. PERUMAL PILLAI v RAMAN CHETTIAR (1917). 1 L R 40 Mad 968

FEMALES, REPRESENTATION OF

— Mortgage bond executed by male members of Mahomedan family—No proof of custom to exclude females as in Hindu family—Female members added as defendants in mortgage suit—Shrout and exonerators of bonds—Form of decrees—Whether females were represented in the mortgage transaction by male members of family—Estoppel by conduct. The appellants were the female members of a Mahomedan family which had adopted the Hindu religion in matters of worship, and as to which both Courts in India concurrently held that there was no custom proved excluding female members from inheritance, which was the case set up by the respondent. In a suit brought by the latter to enforce a mortgage bond which has been executed only by the male members of the family, in which suit the appellants were also joined as defendants the first Court made a decree against the interests of the male defendants only in the property, but the High Court decreed the suit against both the male and female defendants on the grounds that, because the female members had not actively interfered in the management of the property, the male defendants must be taken to have represented them in the mortgage transaction. It appeared that in other transactions the male members of the family had dealt with the family property without the active concurrence of the females. Held, by the Judicial Committee, reversing the decision of the High Court, that the evidence did not prove that the male defendants had represented the appellants. The latter were purdana-hin ladies, and naturally left the management of the property to their male relatives. There was nothing to show that the appellants had misled the respondent either by word or conduct to the belief that they had no proprietary interest in the property, and he made no inquiries in the matter from them or their husbands as he might have done if he had any doubt in the matter. The decree of the High Court was therefore erroneous, so far as it made the appellants liable, and should have been limited to making liable only the interests in the property of the male defendants, the executors of the mortgage bond. AZIMA BIBI v SHAMALAVAND (1912).

MORTGAGE—contd.FEMALES, REPRESENTATION OF—contd.

1 L R. 40 Cal 378

FORECLOSURE.

1. — Order absolute, application for—Mortgage—Foreclosure—Limitation—Execution of decree, application for—Revival of pending execution—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sec 11, Art 181. Previous to the passing of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908), and the Civil Procedure Code (V of 1903) there was no rule of limitation applicable to an application for order absolute of a decree nisi made under s 86 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882). Tiluck Singh v Parastein Proshad, 1 L R 22 Cal 924, Rahmat Karim v Abdul Karim, 1 L R 34 Cal 672, referred to. An application for execution of a decree may be treated as one in continuation or revival of a previous application, similar in scope and character, the consideration of which has been interrupted by the intervention of objections and claims subsequently proved to be groundless or has been suspended by reason of an injunction or like obstruction. Qamaruddin Ahmed v Jousahir Lal, 1 L R 27 All 334. 1 L R 32 I A 102, Rudra Narain Guria v Pachu Maity, 1 L R 23 Cal 437. Narayan Gobind Manik v Sona Sadaniv, 1 L R 21 Bom 345, Rahim Ali Khan v Ikul Chand, 1 L R 18 All 482. Mir Aynuddin v Mathura Das 11 Bom H O 206. Suppa Reddier v Arunda Ammal 1 L R 23 Mad 60, Foras Ram v Gardner, 1 L R 1 All 355 referred to. The Limitation Act (IX of 1908) does not profess to provide for all kinds of applications whatsoever. Gownd Chunder Gowram v Kungummondy 1 L R 6 Cal 60, Sital Prasad v Abdul Rashid 11 Oudh Cases 208, referred to. Nor does it apply to an application to a Court to do what the Court has no discretion to refuse. Aylasa Gowdan v Pamasam Ayyan, 1 L R 4 Mad 172. Rolay v Kuchaba, 1 L R 30 Bom 415, referred to. Nor is it applicable to an application to the Court to terminate a pending proceeding the final order in which has been postponed for the benefit of the defendant or for the convenience of the Court. Puran Chand v Roy Radha Achen, 1 L R 19 Cal 132, referred to Act 181 Sch II of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908) does not govern an application for order absolute under order 34 rule 3 of the Civil Procedure Code (V of 1908). MADHARMANI DATT v. LAMBERT (1910) I L R 37 Cal 790

MORTGAGE—contdFORECLOSURE—contd

But see CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O XXIV, rr 3 and 5 1 Pat L J 354

2 ———— Right to foreclosure and right to redeem is co-extensive—Covenant to pay the mortgage money is a year effect of unless there is an agreement to the contrary the right of foreclosure and the right of redemption must be deemed co-extensive. In each particular instance, therefore it must be determined upon the terms of the contract between the parties whether there is any special provision in the contract which takes the case out of the general rule. Where the covenant in the mortgage-deed was that the mortgagor shall pay the amount of principal and interest within the term of one year. Held that this clause was inserted for the benefit of the mortgagor so that he may be at liberty to pay the principal with interest before the expiry of the year. Rose Ammal v. Rjurantham Ammal, I L R 23 Mad 33 relied on. Held further, that such a case falls within the class of cases in which the mortgage is payable before a certain day and not within the class where a day is fixed for the repayment of the debt. Raghobur Dajal v. Buddu Lal I L R 8 All 95 and Brown v. Col-Id Sim, 427, distinguished. PURTA CHANDRA SAHNA v. PRABU MOHAN PAL DAS (1912)

I L R 39 Cal 828

3 ———— Decree in foreclosure—Res Judicata—Suit against legal personal representative of widow—Suit or redemption by the widow's reversionary heir—Effect of decree on appeal on original decree—Decree of Appellate Court what it exactly should be—CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (XIV of 1882) ss 551 577, 586 Decree in a foreclosure suit which was instituted against the mortgagor, who was a widow and which was wrongly continued in appeal by the legal personal representative of the widow, and in which the redemptioner was no party, is no bar to a suit for redemption by the reversionary heir. Where there is a decree on appeal which confirms the decree against which the appeal is made it is the appellate decree to which regard must be had. The appellate decree supersedes the original decree. Voor Ali Choudhary v. Anon Meah I L R 13 Cal 13 followed. Semble The expression of law contained in s. 577 of the Code of Civil Procedure of 1882 as regards the proper course to be adopted in appellate decrees, viz., that except when an appeal is incompetent as being out of time, or as coming within the provisions of s. 586, an appeal is not to be dismissed but the judgment is to confirm vary or reverse the decree against which the appeal is made, is still applicable. KALLAN CHANDRA BOSE v. GINTA SUNDARI DEBI (1912)

I L R 39 Cal 925

4 ———— Sale by mortgagee after foreclosure—Rights of purchaser—Suit for sale by pawning mortgagees—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sch. I Art 134—Limitation. A mortgagee under a mortgage by conditional sale foreclosed and after foreclosure sold the mortgaged property as unincumbered. Subsequently to this

MORTGAGE—contdFORECLOSURE—contd

certain pawns mortgagees, who had not been made parties to the foreclosure proceedings, brought a suit for sale on their mortgage. Held, (i) that the purchasers could not hold up as a shield the mortgage by conditional sale of their vendor for that had become extinct on foreclosure, and (ii) that article 134 of the first schedule to the Limitation Act 1908, had no application to the suit. MENNA LAL v. MUNDA LAL (1914) I L R 36 All 327

5 ———— Failure to join pawns mortgagees—Rights of pawns mortgagees—Prior mortgage as a shield—Civil Procedure Code (1908) O XXXIV, rr 3 and 5 Whereas s 80 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) provided that after a decree under that section for the sale of mortgaged property the security was extinguished, O XXIV, rr 3 and 5, under which sale and foreclosure decrees are now made do not so provide. A mortgagee who has obtained a sale or foreclosure decree under O XXXIV without joining a pawns mortgagee, and after wards is sued on the pawns mortgage can use his mortgage as a shield in all cases in which he could have done so before the Act of 1882. Het Ram v. Shahu Ram I L R 40 All 407, I L R 45 I A 310 distinguished. A village was mortgaged in 1874 and 1875 to K. R. and in 1883 to G. S. In 1888 K. R. having obtained a sale decree without joining G. S., purchased the property. K. R. died in 1895 having bequeathed the property to his widow, the appellant. In 1902 she gave it to J. R. and N. R., who covenanted to pay her an annuity, and hypothecated the property to her as security. In a suit brought in 1910 G. S. obtained a foreclosure decree under O XXXIV, r 2 against J. R. and N. R. paying under the decree Rs 2854 in discharge of the mortgages of 1874 and 1875. The appellant was not made a party to that suit. In 1914 the appellant sued J. R. and N. R. (neither of whom defended) and G. S. claiming a sale under the hypothecation deed of 1902. G. S. set up his mortgage of 1883 as a shield, and relied on his payment in discharge of the mortgages of 1874 and 1875. Held that the appellant was entitled to be placed in the position which she would have occupied if she had been made a defendant to the suit of 1910, that, accordingly, she was entitled (as mortgagee of the rights of mortgagor and mortgagee under the 1874 and 1875 mortgages) to recover from G. S. the Rs 2854 which he had paid to J. R. and N. R. and they had improperly received, and that upon that sum being paid or realized by sale she could have a sale decree, but only if she paid to G. S. the amount due upon his mortgage of 1883, he being entitled to rely upon it as a shield, that G. S. was entitled to recover the Rs 2854 from J. R. and N. R. SUKH v. GHULAM SARDAR KHAN

I L R 43 All 469

6. ———— Suit for possession after expiry of year of grace—Compromise decree for possession subject to judgment-debtor being allowed to redeem the mortgage within one year—Whether decree creates a new mortgage—Adverse possession. Where after expiry of the year of grace in foreclosure proceedings the mortgagee sues for possession as owner of the mortgaged property and under a compromise between the parties the Court passes a decree for such possession with the proviso

MORTGAGE—*could*FORECLOSURE—could that the defendant mortgagee can redeem the whole or our half of the mortgage within one year and avoid either wholly or in part the execution of the decree. Held that such a decree does not create a fresh mortgage. Debi Sahas v Ramji Lal (56 P R 1918) disapproved Held, also, that the possession obtained by the mortgagee under the decree on failure of payment by the mortgagor, was that of a full owner, and as such was adverse to the mortgagor, and his successors in title. HARORI MAL v RAMJI LAL 1 L R 2 Lah 53

7 ——— Service of notice of demand on minor mortgagor through his brother, the other mortgagor, as guardian, with whom he was living—demand made some time prior to application for foreclosure. The plaintiff mortgagor sued for possession by foreclosure of the mortgaged property. The application for notice of foreclosure was dated 15th May 1911. Demand had been made by registered notice, dated 30th August 1909, which was served upon H L for himself and as guardian of K C, the other mortgagor. A minor. An application for guardianship had been dismissed on the ground that K C and H L formed members of a joint Hindu family and it was found that the minor lived with his relation. Held that the service of the notice on K C through H L was under the circumstances sufficient. Ras Mun Dihal v Pran Aishen Das (13 Moo 1 A 392, 402) and Lal Singh v Gopal Das (94 P R 1892), referred to. Held also, that there is no authority for the contention that the demand must immediately precede the application for foreclosure, and that the foreclosure proceedings were consequently not defective because the demand was made sometime previous to the application for foreclosure. Bhagvath v Nath Mal (105 P R 1907), Dalip Singh v Jaisal Singh (131 P L R 1910) and Barkat Ali v Ali (31 P R 1913), referred to. Hazara Singh v Muhammad Khan (131 P L R 1901) distinguished and in part disented from. GORDHAN DAS v MUHAMMAD RUKMAN 1 L R 1 Lah 292

8 ——— Final decree application for by transferee from defendants, effect of —Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908) O XXXIV, r 3 (2)—decreeal amount not paid in time, whether defendant entitled to pay between expiry of time and passing of final decree. Although an application for a final decree in a foreclosure suit should be made by the plaintiff yet where such an application was made by a transferee from the defendants in the presence of the latter: Held, that the defendants were not entitled subsequently to challenge the final decree on the ground that it had not been applied for by the plaintiff. The proviso to O XXXIV, r 3 (2), gives the Court a discretionary power to extend the time for payment of the decreeal amount but a mortgagor has no absolute right to pay the money after the expiry of the specified period even though no final decree has up to the time of such payment been made. PATYAKAR GOENTIA v CHAMRA SATPASTY 4 Pat L J. 347

FRAUD

—Suit to recover the amount due—Defendant's plea that the mortgage was effected to defraud his creditor—Attachment of the property by the creditor—Order for sale subject to the mort-

MORTGAGE—*could*FRAUD—could gage—Creditor paid off before sale—Decree for plaintiff on the ground that defendant cannot plead his own fraud—Fraud not carried out—Defendant's intention not punishable. The plaintiff sued to recover from the defendant the amount due under a mortgage. The defendant pleaded that the mortgage deed was effected to protect his property from his creditor and that no consideration really passed under the deed. Previous to the suit the defendant's creditor had attached the mortgaged property, and the mortgagee (present plaintiff) had made a claim on the basis of the mortgage for the release of the property from attachment. The mortgagor (present defendant) admitted the mortgage and the property was ordered to be sold subject to the mortgage. But the property was, however, not sold because the mortgagor paid off his creditor before the order for sale was carried into effect. Both the lower Courts decreed the claim on the ground that the defendant could not be allowed to defeat the plaintiff by pleading his own fraud. On second appeal by the defendant Held setting aside the decree, that as the defendant's creditor had not been defrauded, there was no reason why the Court should punish his intention to defraud by passing a decree against him. Sudingappa v Hurasu, 1 L R 31 Bom. 403, explained and distinguished. Ram Surun Singh v Pran Peary, 13 Moo 1 A 551 referred to. GIRDHARLAL PRAYAGDATT v MANIKAMMA (1913)

1 L R. 28 Bom. 10

GUARDIAN, MORTGAGE BY.

—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), ss 23, 30—Mortgage by guardian without Judge's authority—Ward benefited—Suit to enforce mortgage—Minor's remedy—Cancellation of benefit—Equitable obligation of defendant. A mortgage of a minor's property executed by a certificated guardian without permission taken from the District Judge is voidable only. But it is not necessary that the person affected should sue to set aside the transaction, it is sufficient if he declares his will to rescind by way of defence in an action to enforce the mortgage against him. Where it was found that the money raised by the mortgage was for the benefit of the minor the latter cannot avoid the mortgage without restoring the benefit which he had received under it. This equitable doctrine being applicable as well to a defendant in an action on the mortgage as to a plaintiff seeking to avoid the mortgage. The Eastern Mortgage and Agency Co v Relati Samar Pay 3 C L J 260, followed. HEM CHANDRA SARKAR v LALIT MOHON KAR (1912)

16 C W N 715

—By certificated guardian —Sanction to raise loan granted by District Judge but subsequently revoked—Money lent without notice of revocation and applied by guardian for minor's benefit—Effect of the revocation of sanction on the mortgage—Rate of interest. The certificated guardian of a minor obtained the leave of the District Judge to raise a loan for a certain amount from the plaintiff. Subsequently the District Judge called upon the guardian to state whether the mortgage had been executed or not and on the guardian's failure to do so the Judge evoked the order. No notice of revocation was given either to the plaintiff

MORTGAGE—*contd*GUARDIAN, MORTGAGE BY—contd

or the guardian and the plaintiff advanced the money on the mortgage which was executed by the guardian and the entire amount was applied to the benefit of the minor's estate. The rate of interest was not placed before the District Judge and was not sanctioned by him but that stipulated in the mortgage bond was Rs 18 with annual rests. Held that even assuming that the order of the District Judge revoking the leave was effective as against the plaintiff the transaction stood in the same position as if there was no sanction by the Judge to the certificated guardian. The order was merely a voidable one under s 30 of the Guardians and Wards Act at the instance of the minor on coming of age after restoration of the benefit received by him under the order and the plaintiff was entitled to a decree for the amount advanced by him on the mortgage bond but only to interest at the rate of 12 per cent simple interest. MANSHARAM DAS v AHMED HOSAIN PRODHAN (1916). 21 C W N 63

Mortgage executed by pardanashin lady as guardian of minor son with sanction of District Judge—Lender, if justified in relying on Court's sanction and making no further enquiry—Application of money borrowed, lender is bound to see to it. A pardanashin lady acting as guardian of her minor son applied to the District Judge for raising a loan by mortgage and the District Judge being satisfied as to the necessity of the loan sanctioned it. In a suit on the mortgage it was pleaded, inter alia, that there was no necessity for a considerable portion of the loan. Held, that the lender was not bound to go behind the order of the District Judge sanctioning the loan and was entitled to rely upon it, and if he acted bona fide he was not bound to see to the application of the money. AKHIL CHANDRA SAHA v GIRISH CHANDRA SAHA (1917). 21 C W N 864

INTEREST

1. Preliminary decree appeal by mortgagee against dismissed Mortgage if may claim contract rate of interest up to date of payment fixed in final decree—Purchaser of equity of redemption, if personally liable. Where the mortgagee plaintiff prefers an unsuccessful appeal against the preliminary decree made in his suit and the mortgagor does not ask for extension of time to enable him to redeem, it is not open to the mortgagee to demand interest at the contract rate up to the date fixed for payment in the final decree. A purchaser of the equity of redemption is not personally liable to repay the mortgage debt. TARA CHAND MARWARI v BROJA GOPAL MOOKERJEE (1912). 17 C W N 457

2. Mortgage by conditional sale with no provision for post diem interest—Post diem interest not allowed. A mortgage executed in 1897 provided for the payment of the sum of Rs 300 with interest at Rs 18 per cent per annum in one lump sum upon a certain specified date four years from the date of the mortgage. It further provided that if the money was not paid upon that date, the property mortgaged should become the absolute property of the mortgagee. There was no stipulation of any kind as to the payment of interest after the date fixed. Held, that the mortgagee was not entitled to post diem interest. Mathura Das v Paja Narindar Bahadur, I L R 19 All 39, distinguished. Gudra Aor v Lhalaneswari Coomar Singh, I L R 19 Cal 19, and Moti Singh v Ramofari Singh, I L R 24 Cal 699, followed. BALWANT SIKHAN v GATAN SIKHAN (1913). I L R 35 All. 534

MORTGAGE—*contd*INTEREST—contd

3. Loss of part of security by acquisition of mortgaged land—Mortgagee applying to Land Acquisition Judge for return of mortgage money (out of the compensation money) within term, whether entitled to interest for the whole term—Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894) s 18, 30. If the mortgagee makes a demand for payment within the term, and the mortgagee complies, the mortgagee cannot insist upon payment of interest for the whole of the term. Latta v Hutchins I P 13 Eq 176 *In re Moss, 31 Ch. D 90 Smith v Smith, [1891] 3 Ch 650 referred to. Where the mortgagee has given notice requiring payment within the term, he cannot withdraw it without the consent of the mortgagor, Samley v Wilde, [1899] 1 Ch 747, 2 Ch 474, followed. Where the mortgagor agreed to keep the money for one year from 28th September 1912 on condition that the land should remain as security for the loan during the term, but one of the properties given as security had been acquired (the mortgagee probably having no knowledge thereof) and on the 11th October 1912 the mortgagor applied to the Land Acquisition Deputy Collector that the money due under the mortgage (including one full year's interest) might be paid to him out of the compensation money, and the mortgagor consented. Held, that as the contract between the parties could not be performed according to its letter by reason of circumstances beyond their control the mortgagor was not bound to pay interest beyond the period of one month (as admitted by him). Baksh Gaur Bham v Huseini Khanum, I L R 36 All 195 explained. PROKASH CHANDRA GHOSH v HASAN BANU BISHI (1914). I L R 42 Cal. 1146*

4. Covenant of possession by the mortgagee in lieu of interest—Mortgagee wrongfully kept out of possession of mortgaged property—Interest—Charge on mortgaged property—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sch I Arts 110, 132—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 72. A mortgage deed expressly covenanted that the mortgagee should have possession of the mortgaged property in lieu of interest and that if the mortgagor failed to pay the amount of the debt at the end of the period specified the mortgagee should be at liberty to foreclose according to law. Except for one year, the mortgagee in spite of his efforts was wrongfully kept out of possession by the mortgagor. In a suit brought by the mortgagee on the mortgage deed—Held that the mortgagee was clearly entitled to some interest as a charge on the property and the interest claimed was not excessive. Raja Oodai Purkash Singh v Marindell, 4 Moo I A 445 Pargan Landy v Mahomed Mahin, 6 C L J 143 Parab Bahadur Singh v Gajadhar Bakhsh I L R 29 All. 521 I L R 29 I A 148, and Moti Singh v Ramohari Singh I L R 24 Cal 699, referred to. Mahalinga v Joti I L R 17 Bom 425 distinguished. SITA NATH GHOSH v THAKURDAS CHAKRAVARTY (1918). I L R 46 Cal. 448

MORTGAGE—contdINTEREST—contd

5 ————— Stipulation as to payment of interest, if unconscionable and binding on pardanashin executant—Successful Appellant deprived of interest for period during which case was hung up through his persistence in urging an un-supportable claim of interest Where by a mortgage deed it was stipulated that the mortgagee was to remain in possession and enjoy the rents and profits and 'that after the expiry of thirty years at the time of redemption interest shall be paid along with the principal at the rate of 3 percent per mensem' Held—That the mortgage deed did not bind the mortgagor to pay interest from the date of the mortgage and the condition to pay interest only came into force on the expiry of the thirty years That so interpreted, the contract was not one which the executant of the mortgage, a pardanashin lady, could not understand The Judicial Committee disallowed interest to the mortgagor from the date of the decree of the Subordinate Judge (which had been reduced by the Judicial Commissioners but on the mortgagee's appeal the Board restored) to the disposal of the appeal by the Privy Council, the case having in its view been hung up by his persistence in asserting an unwarrantable claim of interest from the date of the mortgage RAJA SIR MOHAMMAD ALI MOHAMMAD KHAN BAHADUR v. QAZI RAMZAN

24 C. W. N. 977

LOST BOND

————— Suit on lost bond—Admission of execution—Plea of payment—How far question of loss material In a suit brought on a lost mortgage bond the defendant, a son of the executant, admitted execution but pleaded payment and denied the loss Held, that since the defendant admitted execution, it lay on him to prove that the mortgage had been discharged The question of the loss of the bond was only material for the purpose of determining whether the bond had been discharged and returned JHANDU MAL v. KARAN SINGH (1915)

I L R 37 All 426

MARSHALLING

————— Mortgagee failing to pay a part of consideration, as provided in the mortgage-deed—Failure of consideration—Subsequent payment cannot be taken as part of mortgage-debt—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss 66, 81, 85—Marshalling of securities In 1896, G mortgaged some lands (Serial Nos. 1—10) to I for Rs. 400, of which Rs 200 were paid in cash and Rs 200 were to be paid to A, a prior mortgagee V having failed to pay to A, G sold to defendant No 5 some of the lands mortgaged (Serial Nos 6—10) and other property and released A's mortgage by paying Rs 200 to him Subsequently V paid Rs 200 to G Shortly afterwards G mortgaged some more lands (Serial Nos 1, 3, 4 and 5) to defendant No. 4 for Rs 400 The defendant No. 4 sued on his mortgage and obtained a decree against G In execution of the decree the lands, Serial Nos 1, 3, 4, 5, were sold and were purchased by defendant No. 4 I then sued on his mortgage treating it as one for Rs 400 to recover the amount by sale of all the ten numbers The lower Courts recognized I's mortgage only for Rs 200, and granted him a decree authorizing him to proceed against Serial No 2 alone and if the sale proceeds failed to satisfy his claim, to proceed against the other serial numbers which were sold to defendant Nos 4 and 5 On appeal Held, that I was not entitled to treat his mortgage as one for Rs 400 since I having failed to pay Rs 200 to A either at once or within a reasonable time there was partial failure of consideration for the mortgage and the subsequent payment of Rs 200 to G by I could not serve in law to undo the effect of that failure so as to prejudice the rights of defendant No 5 Held further, that the Court had power, under s 88 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) to pass in such a suit a decree for sale, ordering that, in default of G paying, the mortgaged property or a sufficient part thereof be sold per Curiam The provisions of s 56 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, apply only as between a seller and his buyer, not as between a mortgagee of the seller and the buyer SOBRA LADIV v. VENKATESH v. GANPA (1911)

MORTGAGE—contdMARSHALLING—contd

I L R 35 Bom 895

MINOR

1 ————— Mortgage by—Settlement of all property by mortgagor after majority—Fraud of creditors—No fraudulent misrepresentation as to age—Liability to refund—Mortgagee if a creditor—Transfer by mortgagee—Attestation by mortgagor—Endorsement of payments by mortgagor—Suit against mortgagor and his son—Estoppel of mortgagor—Suit not maintainable against the son—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 53—Subsequent creditors, if included The plaintiff sued on a mortgage bond executed by the first defendant during his minority in favour of the third defendant who transferred it to the fourth defendant who again transferred it to the plaintiff After attaining majority the first defendant executed a settlement transferring all his property to his mother and his wife on behalf of his minor son, the second defendant stipulating only for maintenance for himself The first defendant, after attaining majority, had endorsed payments on the mortgage deed and attested the transfer of the same by the third defendant to the fourth defendant It was found by the lower Appellate Court that the settlement was intended to be operative but that it was executed by the first defendant with intent to defeat and delay his creditors It was also found that there was no fraud or misrepresentation by the minor as to his age when he borrowed on the mortgage The plaintiff contended that the first defendant was bound to refund the amount advanced on the mortgage to the third defendant, and that he was consequently a creditor entitled to set aside the settlement The first defendant admitted the plaintiff's claim The second defendant, who contested the suit, preferred the Second appeal Held, where a minor has obtained money by misrepresenting his age that amounts to fraud and he may be made to refund it, but, in the absence of fraud a refund cannot be ordered As there was no fraud or misrepresentation by the minor as to his age when he borrowed money on the mortgage, he could not have been ordered to refund, and the third defendant was not one of his creditors at the date of the settlement; consequently the plaintiff was not competent to sue under s

MORTGAGE—contd.MINOR—contd.

53 of the Transfer of Property Act to set it aside. The admission of the first defendant during the suit, his enforcement of payments on the mortgage and his attestation of the transfer deed could not give the plaintiff the right to set aside the settlement as against the second defendant. Quære—Whether subsequent creditors are included under s. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act. Per SADASIVA AYYAR J. A person does not actually become a subsequent creditor or creditor by reason of the estoppel of the debtor. An estoppel cannot overrule a plain provision of law. The statutory provision that a minor is incompetent to incur a contractual debt cannot be overruled by an estoppel. VAJESVARANAM PILLAI v. ANTHIMOO LAM CHETTIAR (1914) 1 L. R. 38 Mad. 1071.

2.—In favour of—Mortgage, if void because executed in favour of minors. The plaintiffs executed a mortgage in favour of the defendants who were minors at the time. The defendants sued on the mortgage, had the property sold in execution of their decree and purchased it themselves. They were of full age when the suit was brought. The plaintiff sued to have it declared that the mortgage bond was void and to have the decree and the sale set aside. Held, that the defendants were entitled to enforce the mortgage which was not void simply because of their minority at the time of its execution. That the case was not concluded by the decisions of the Judicial Committee in Mohori Bibi v. Dharmadas Ghosh 1 L. R. 30 Cal. 539 7 C. W. N. 411, and Mir Sarwarjan v. Fakhrudin Mohamed 1 L. R. 35 Cal. 232 16 C. W. N. 74 inasmuch as there was no covenant which it was for the minors to perform. HARI MOHAN MONDAL v. MOHINI MOHAN BANERJEE (1910) 22 C. W. N. 130.

MOVEABLES

Mortgage equitable of loose chattels—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 172, if prohibits such hypothecation—Equitable mortgage of land—Fixtures if pass to mortgagee—Letter written by mortgagor stating purpose of deposit of title-deed, if must be registered as a document of mortgage—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 59. There is nothing in the Indian Contract Act which contains only a portion of the law of contract applicable in British India, to prevent a person from hypothecating his goods to another person for security. As between mortgagor and mortgagee, the law is settled that fixtures pass with the land to the mortgagee. A letter written by the mortgagor to the mortgagee stating the purpose for which the title deed has been deposited with the latter is not a document requiring registration under the provisions of the Indian Registration Act as being a mortgage. HARPADA SADRUKHAN v. ASHTE NATH DE (1916) 22 C. W. N. 758.

Hypothecation of stock in trade left in possession of the debtor—as originally sold to a purchaser with notice of the creditor's lien—whether the creditors can follow the property into the hands of the purchaser. Held that in India there is no rule of law by which a person having a mortgage on moveable property is debarred from following that property into the hands of a purchaser with notice of the mortgage. Drama v. Richardson (3 N. W. P. H. C. R. 54) Ko Kyuchnee v. Ko Koung Sane, (3 W. R. 182) and Taitlam v. Andree (1 Moa.

MORTGAGE—contd.MOVABLES—contd.

P. C. 356) cited in Ghose's Law of Mortgage, 4th Edition, Volume 1, page 108 followed. Addison's Law of Contract 10th Edition, page 766, referred to and discussed. ORIENT BANK v. MIST GULAM FATIMA 1 L. R. 1 Lah. 422.

PARTIES

Hindu law—Mortgagee holding an usufructuary and a simple mortgage over the same property—Sue by the mortgagee as karta of joint Hindu family on later mortgage alone—Maintainability—Non-journer of necessary party—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss. 85-94—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXXIV, r. 1, 14. Where the karta of a joint Hindu family who was the holder of an usufructuary and a simple mortgage brought a suit on the latter without joining as party one of the members of the family, who had a joint interest with him in the usufructuary mortgage. Held that under the terms of s. 85 of the Transfer of Property Act and O. XXXIV, r. 1, of the Civil Procedure Code, the plaintiff was bound to make him a party. Hori Lal v. Munram Kuntor, 1 L. P. 34 All. 519, and Mohan Lal v. Kishan Singh, 1 L. R. 34 All. 572 not followed. Lala Surya Prasad v. Golab Chand, 1 L. R. 27 Cal. 724 25 Cal. 517, followed. DEBI PRASAD SAHAI v. DHANAMJIT NARAYAN SINHA (1914) 1 L. R. 41 Cal. 727.

PARTITION, EFFECT OF

Mortgages of undivided share—Effect of subsequent partition—Mortgage takes effect on substituted share. A mortgagee of an undivided share in common property or of one of the joint properties before partition from one of the sharers is only entitled to proceed against the substituted property which falls to the share of the mortgagor at the partition unless the partition has been unfair or in fraud of the mortgagee. MUTHIA RAJA v. APPALA RAJA (1910) 1 L. R. 34 Mad. 175.

It is one of the incidents of a mortgage of an undivided share that the mortgagee cannot follow his security into the hands of the co-sharer of the mortgagor who has obtained the mortgage share upon a partition. If the partition is tainted with fraud or if in the making of the partition the incumbrance was taken into account and the partition was made subject to the incumbrance the result will be different, but in the absence of such fraud the mortgagee's remedy is against the share or property which the mortgagor has obtained under the partition. Hence where execution of a decree for sale of a share in undivided property the subject of a mortgage was gone on pro rata with proceeds for partition, and the mortgaged share was sold two days after the final decree for partition (by which the mortgaged property fell to the share of a member of the family other than the mortgagor) was made it was held that the auction purchasers (in this case the decree holders themselves) took nothing by their purchase. Byrappa Lal v. Ramoodeen Choudry 1 L. R. 1 I. A. 103, Amolak Ram v. Chandan Singh, 1 L. R. 24 All. 433 Hem Chander Ghose v. Thakur Moni Deb 1 L. R. 20 Cal. 533 Venkatrama Iyer v. Eramma Poulchen, 1 L. P. 33 Mad. 429, Muthia Raja v. Appala Raja 1 L. R. 34 Mad. 175 Shakebunda

MORTGAGE—contd

PARTITION EFFECT OF—contd

Mahomed Azim Shah v R S Hills, 1 L R, 35 Cal 333, and Hakim Lal v Ram Lal 60 L J, 16, referred to BHUT SINGH v CHEDDA SINGH
I L R 42 All 596

PRIORITY

1 — Prior mortgagee, right of.— A second mortgagee brought a suit on his mortgage making the transferees of the prior mortgagee parties to the suit and obtained a decree, and in execution thereof the transferees applied to be allowed to deposit in Court the full amount of the second mortgage-debt in order to save the property from sale. The Court of first instance allowed the application, but on appeal, the District Judge set aside the order of the first Court.—Held, that the transferees of the prior mortgagee were entitled to pay off the mortgage debt due on the subsequent mortgage to save the mortgaged property from sale. BHAJA SHARI MAITI v GAJENDRA NARAIN MAITI (1909)
I L R 37 Cal 282

2 — Civil Procedure Code 1882, s 244 A prior mortgagee in an application under s 244 of the Code of Civil Procedure in execution is entitled to have his right settled without being put to the extra expense and unnecessary trouble of bringing a fresh suit. GOVIND PRASAD MISSEER v LACHMI CHARAN MARWARI (1909) . 14 C W N 675 note

3 — Limitation Act (XV of 1877) Sch II, Arts 132, 134, 148.—Suits by prior mortgagee without making purchase mortgagee party.—Sale and purchase by himself.—Subsequent suit by second mortgagee and purchase by himself.—Interest acquired by latter.—Suits by him to redeem prior mortgagee purchaser. Where a prior mortgagee sues on his mortgage without making the second mortgagee a party and in execution of the decree obtained by him purchases the property himself and subsequently the second mortgagee also sues on his mortgage without making the prior mortgagee a party, and purchases the property in execution of his decree he acquires by his purchase only the interest he previously possessed as mortgagee. He can seek to enforce his rights as such by suit as against the prior mortgagee purchaser only within the period of 12 years from the due date of his own mortgage as provided in Art 132 of Sch II of the Limitation Act (XV of 1877) and he cannot claim the benefit of a fresh period of limitation running in his favour from the date of his purchase. A suit brought by him to redeem the prior mortgagee purchaser more than 12 years after the due date of his mortgage would be barred by Art 132 of Sch II of the Limitation Act (XV of 1877). NRDHIRAM BANDO PADHYA v SARESHCHANDR BISWAS (1909)
14 C W N 439

4 — Decree obtained on a prior mortgage satisfied by execution of a fresh mortgage in favour of decree holder.—Priority over an intermediate mortgage. A decree for sale upon a mortgage of 1893 was obtained in 1901. In 1903 the decree-holder accepted in satisfaction of the decree a sale deed of a certain portion of the mortgaged property but this adjustment was never certified to the court. Subsequently the decree was put into execution and a sale was ordered, but before it was carried out the parties came to terms and the judgment debtor executed a fresh mortgage to secure the decretal amount. This was in May 1904. Meanwhile in April, 1901, another mortgage had been executed by the judgment debtor Held, that the mortgage of May 1904 being in satisfaction of the earlier mortgage of 1893 had priority over that of April, 1904. Kankhaya Lal v Chedda Singh 7 All L J 284 and Shyam Lal v Basuruddin 1 L R 28 All 778, followed RAMMUNDESA v BADEY DAS (1911)

MORTGAGE—contd

PRIORITY—contd

I L R 33 All 368

5 — Sale of mortgage property in execution of prior mortgages a decree.—Subsequent mortgagee no party to suit.—Price to be paid by subsequent mortgagee seeking to redeem. A subsequent mortgagee is not entitled to redeem the prior mortgage by simply paying the price for which the mortgaged property may have been purchased at an auction sale held in execution of a decree obtained by a prior mortgagee without joining the subsequent mortgagee as a party, but such subsequent mortgagee must if he wishes to redeem, pay to the prior mortgagee the full amount due on the prior mortgage. Dip Narain Singh v Hira Singh 1 L R 19 All 527 applied PHUL MANT CHAUDHRAI v NAGESHAR PRASAD (1911)
I L R 33 All 370

6 — Mortgage of chattel.—Priority.—Prior Mortgagee inducing subsequent encumbrancer to advance money as first charge. Where a first mortgagee was an assenting party to the mortgage or charge executed in favour of a subsequent encumbrancer and actually obtained a large portion of the mortgage money thus raised and the subsequent mortgage contained an express covenant that the property mortgaged was free from encumbrances Held that the prior mortgagee having thus concurred in inducing the subsequent encumbrancer to advance money as a first charge could not turn round and claim priority over that charge in favour of his own mortgage subsisting from an earlier date. RAMAN CHETTIY v STEEL BROTHERS AND COMPANY (1911)
15 C W N 813

7 — Third mortgagee paying off first mortgage and claiming priority as against second mortgage.—Presumption as to intention of third mortgagee. Where a mortgagee pays off prior encumbrances on the mortgaged property, it is to be presumed that he does so with the intention of keeping these encumbrances alive and using them as a shield should occasion arise, and he can so use them as much when he is a plaintiff suing for sale as when he is a defendant to an intermediate or subsequent mortgagee's suit. If the payment is made in the form of leaving part of the money with the mortgagee to be paid to the prior mortgagees the subsequent mortgagee does not thereby become the agent of the mortgagor for the purpose of paying off the prior mortgages. Gokaldas Gopalidas v Iyannal Premukhdas 1 L P 10 Cal 1035, Dinobundhu Shaw Chowdhry v Jogmaya Dan 1 L R 29 Cal 154, and Jagadhar Narain Prasad v A M Brown, 1 L R 33 Cal 1133 followed Tufail Fatma v Bitola 1 L R 27 All 400 and Baij Nath v Mirulidhar All W N 1907, 85 dissenting from GUR NARAIN v SHADI LAL (1911)
I L R 34 All 102

MORTGAGE—contd.PRIORITY—contd.

8 ————— Mortgage, right of person paying of prior—Canal claim rights of prior mortgagee unless prior debt is completely satisfied Where there are two mortgages on a single property and a person advances money for the payment of the first mortgage, the claim of such person to priority over the second mortgage cannot be sustained unless the first mortgage is entirely discharged. HAYUMANTHAYAN v MEENATCHI NAIDU (1911) I. L. R. 35 Mad. 183

9 ————— Sale of mortgaged property—Prior mortgage, extinguishment of—Intention of parties—Effect of payment of prior mortgage by subsequent mortgagee—Res judicata—Omission to raise issue in former suit when party thereto—Civil Procedure Code (Act XI of 1882), s. 13 expl (2)—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 35—Parties to mortgage suits—Limitation Act, 1877, Sch II, Art 132 In a suit brought on a simple mortgage deed, dated 17th February, 1888, to recover Rs. 12,000 and interest, and to have it declared that the properties covered by the mortgage in suit, and by a zarfeshgi deed, dated 20th November, 1874, were liable for the decretal amount, it appeared that by the deed of 1874 the properties in suit were hypothecated as security for Rs. 12,000, the mortgagee to have possession until the amount was repaid in 1887. Subsequently, on dates intermediate between 20th November 1874 and 17th February 1888, three of the properties in suit (the only properties concerned in this appeal) were further charged by simple mortgages, some of them relating only to two of such properties, and one of them relating only to the third of such properties and suits on them were brought on 6th September 1888, 3rd May 1890, and 15th July 1890 and decrees for sale were obtained in them. The mortgages of the mortgage in suit of 17th February 1888 or her representatives being made parties only to those suits and decrees which related to two of the properties mortgaged. The mortgage in suit was repayable in two years, and was by agreement of the parties to it, made for the express purpose of paying off the debt of Rs. 12,000 on the zarfeshgi deed of 1874, and charged the same properties as were hypothecated by that deed. The money then borrowed was, on 10th July, 1888, in accordance with the agreement, applied in charging the debt in the zarfeshgi deed, and that deed was then given up to the mortgagee of the mortgage in suit, and her representatives, on 16th June, 1891, assigned the mortgage in suit to the plaintiffs who on 22nd September 1900 instituted the present suit making defendants the representatives of the mortgagees, the representatives of the mortgagee, and the persons whose titles as decree-holders and purchasers arose under the intermediate mortgage made between 20th November, 1874 and 17th February, 1888, claiming priority over the last set of defendants: Held, that, under the circumstances, the mortgagee of the mortgage in suit intended to keep alive for her benefit the charge created by the zarfeshgi deed of 20th November 1874, notwithstanding that no formal assignment in writing of that deed was made; and she thereby obtained priority over the mortgagees of the intermediate further charges. Dinokundhu Sams Choudhry v Jogmaya Das, I. L. R. 29 Cal. 154, L. R. 29 I. A. 9, followed. Held, also, that in any case, she was, under s. 85 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), a necessary party to all the suits on the intermediate mortgages, and consequently in the suits to which she or her representatives were made parties, her rights under her mortgage were barred by explanation (2) of s. 13 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) by her omission in those suits to put those rights in issue, though such rights were not affected by the decree in the suit to which she or her representatives were not made parties. But, held, further, that the appellants' rights of priority under the zarfeshgi deed of 1874 were barred by Art 132 of the Limitation Act (XV of 1877), the present suit to enforce them not having been instituted within 12 years from the date when the money under that deed became repayable in 1887. Held, therefore that they were only entitled in the present suit to a decree for redemption of their interest in the third property, the subject of the suit, to which their assignors had not been made parties. MAHOMED IBRAHIM HOSSEIN KHAN v AMERICA PERSHAD SINGH (1912) I. L. R. 39 Cal. 527

MORTGAGE—contd.PRIORITY—contd.

10 ————— Prior and pawns mortgages—Sale to prior mortgagee after creation of a pawns mortgage—Prior mortgagee kept alive to what extent—Prior mortgagee whether entitled to charge interest after date of sale—His claim for necessary repairs and municipal taxes, whether allowable—Practice—Appeal—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss. 65, 72 and 101—Madras District Municipalities Act (IV of 1884), s. 102—Doors and windows not moveable property When, after the creation of pawns mortgage, the mortgagor sells the property to the prior mortgagee with possession, the prior mortgagee is kept alive as against a pawns incumbrancer in the circumstances mentioned in s. 101 of the Transfer of Property Act, but not against the owner, whose equity of redemption has been purchased by the prior incumbrancer. The prior mortgagee is not entitled to claim interest on his mortgage after the date of his sale, against the pawns mortgagee, the effect of the sale is this that what was enjoyed by the prior mortgagee till sale, as compensation for the amount of the usufructuary mortgage, he agreed subsequently to enjoy in consideration of the whole price, and he cannot therefore claim any further compensation from the date of sale, for any portion of the price. Where by the terms of the mortgage deed, the mortgagor personally covenanted to pay the municipal taxes himself the mortgagee who pays the same, cannot add it to the mortgage amount and recover it from the pawns mortgagee either under s. 65, clause (c), or under s. 72, Transfer of Property Act, as money spent for preservation of the property as the doors and windows of a house are not moveable property and could not have been seized under s. 103 of the District Municipalities Act before its amendment in 1899. The cost incurred by the prior mortgagee after the sale, for necessary repairs to the property, or for restoring a room that had fallen are recoverable, as all rights incidental to the mortgage must subsist with the mortgage right itself, and the prior mortgagee is consequently entitled to add all moneys to the principal amount which he would be entitled to do under s. 72 of the Transfer of Property Act, if the sale had not taken place. There is nothing to prevent the appellant from attacking only a portion of the decree by paying court fee only thereon, although the reason for the attack might cover the whole decree. SYED ISRAHIM SAHIB v ARUMUGHATHAYEE (1912)

MORTGAGE—contdPRIORITY—contd.

I L R. 38 Mad 18

11. —Two mortgages executed by the same mortgagor—Mortgagor becoming by inheritance owner of decree for sale on prior mortgage—Effect of, on rights of puisne mortgagees. Held, that a mortgagor who had become by inheritance the owner of a decree against himself on a prior mortgage was not entitled to hold up such prior mortgage as a shield against the decree of a subsequent mortgagee from himself. OTTER v VAUR, 6 De G M & G 638, Platt v Mendel, L R, 27 Ch. D 216, and Baya Chowdhury v Churni Lal, 11 C W N. 281, referred to. BADAN v MURARI LAL (1915) . . . I L R 37 All. 309

12. —Prior and subsequent mortgagees—Decree obtained on prior mortgage—Fresh mortgage executed in consideration of the balance due under the decree—Provision in deed that the decree shall be deemed discharged—Effect of decree absolute as regards extinction of the security. A second mortgagee brought a suit upon his mortgage impeaching the first mortgagee, and obtained a decree for sale for the amount of both mortgages. This decree was made absolute, but the mortgaged property was not in fact brought to sale under it. A third mortgagee then sued on his mortgage, obtained a decree, brought the mortgaged property to sale, and purchased it himself. To this suit the second mortgagees were not made parties. Subsequently to this the second mortgagees took another mortgage comprising the property originally mortgaged to them and some more, for the balance remaining unpaid of their former decree and a small further advance. In this deed it was expressly stated that the decree was to be deemed to be discharged thereby—Held in suit on this last mortgage, that the plaintiffs were not entitled to go behind their deed and claim priority of the third mortgagees in virtue of their own second mortgage. ELLIS v ELLIS, 1 Ch. D 619, Dhakencar Prasad Singh v Haridar Prasad Narain Singh, 21 C L J 104, Kanhaiya Lal v Chhida Singh 7 A L J 911, and Het Ram v Shadi Ram, I L R 40 All 407, referred to. CHHADAY LAL v MUHAMMAD HUSAIN KHAN (1919) . . . I L R. 41 All. 456

13. —Mortgage—Suit and decree by prior mortgagee without impeaching puisne mortgagee—Purchase of mortgage property by prior mortgagee in execution—Receipt of rents and profits thereafter—Mode of accounting between the two mortgagees. A mortgage decree obtained by a prior mortgagee without impeaching a puisne mortgagee does not affect the latter and the amount therefore payable by the latter in discharge of the prior mortgage is not the amount of the decree but that which is due on the footing of the prior mortgage as if no suit had been brought, and if the prior mortgagee buys the mortgage property in execution of his decree and gets possession of him the same the rents and profits received by him cannot be set off as equivalent to the interest due for the period of possession, but must be accounted for and deducted from the amount payable by the puisne mortgagee. UMMA CHANDER SIKAR v ZAFAR FATIMA, I L R 18 Cal. 161, and Gangi Ishad Saha v. The Land Mortgage Bank of India, I L R 21 Cal. 366, applied.

MORTGAGE—contdPRIORITY—contd

Syed Ibrahim Sahib v Armughathayee, I L R 38 Mad 18 considered MUTHAMMAL v RAZU PILLAI (1917) . . . I L R 41 Mad 513

—Prior and subsequent mortgages, rights of, inter se—Separate and independent decrees obtained by each set of mortgagees—Property sold by prior mortgagee and purchased by a third party leaving a surplus of sale proceeds—Rights of auction purchaser and puisne mortgagees. A mortgaged the same property, first to B and then by two separate mortgage-deeds to C B and C both sued on their mortgages each party without impeaching the other, and obtained decrees. B's decree was executed first. The mortgaged property was sold and was purchased by K. B's mortgage was paid up, and a considerable surplus remained which was deposited in court. C then endeavoured to execute his decree against the surplus sale proceeds, but failed, and the money was ultimately withdrawn by the mortgagor. C next proceeded with the execution of his decree against the property in the hands of K, the auction purchaser and K in order to retain possession paid up the amount of B's decree. K then sued the representatives of A to recover the amount so paid. Held, that in the circumstances K was entitled to a decree. BARHAMDEO PRASAD v TARA CHAND, I L R, 41 Cal. 651, referred to. KARAN SINGH v ISHTIAQ HUSAIN . . . I L R 43 All 263

REDEMPTION

See UNDER SUB HEADINGS CONSTRUCTION, DISCHARGE, CONSOLIDATION AND SALE
 See BENGAL REGULATION XV OF 1793
I L R 34 All. 261

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O 31, r 1 . . . I L R. 44 Bom 698

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, ART 134
I L R. 32 All. 160

See LIMITATION ACT 1908, ART 126.
I L R. 41 Mad. 650

ART 140
I L R. 40 Bom. 239

See MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE

See REDEMPTION

See REDEMPTION OF MORTGAGE PUNJAB ACT, 1913 . . . I L R. 2 Lah. 234

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s 83 . . . I L R. 43 All 424

See s 41 to 103

—Acknowledgment of mortgagor's right to—Signature by mortgagee in the Register of Sanads—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) s 10
I L R 45 Bom. 234

—Clog on—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s 60 . . . I L R. 45 Bom. 117.

—Suit by some of the heirs of mortgagor—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O 1, r 10 (2), AND O XXXIV, s 1 . . . I L R 45 Bom. 1009

—Lekha Mukhi—

Suit for redemption—limitation—

MORTGAGE—couldPREFERENTIAL—con 1

N. C. AND AN LIMITATION ACT 1908 (11)

I L R 1 Lah 89

appeal for decree for—

See COURT FEE I L R 1 Lah 254

Provision for mortgagee to remain in possession so long as it bearing interest remains on land—Whether a clog

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 61 I L R 45 Bom 11

MORTGAGE—couldREDEMPTION—could

Act (I) of 1882, s. 29—Sale voidable not void—Mortgagee of money redeem without giving consideration—Mortgagee's sale for mortgagee—Had money right of mortgagee to and to credit for amount paid for purchase. It is a well established principle that a purchase by the mortgagee of the equity of redemption constitutes him a trustee for the mortgagee and that he does not (unless there has been a release of the equity of redemption or other circumstance which in law would bar his right to redeem) acquire an independent title. Abderrahman v. Ibrahim I L R 30 C 10 210 ac 11 C W N 501 referred to. The right to redeem which according to this principle would still subsist in the mortgagee has not been affected by the decision in Shah I L R 35 Cal 61 ac 11 C W N 1011 where it was held that a sale in contravention of the terms of a 91 of the Transfer of Property Act is not a nullity but an irregular sale liable to be avoided merely on proof that the terms of the section have been contravened. The mortgagee is under no necessity to have the sale set aside first in order to be entitled to redeem the property. He may sue for redemption within the period of limitation allowed by law. But in such a case the mortgagee would have to pay the mortgagee the amount given credit for by the latter in respect of the sale. Mayan Lal v. Fakir I L R 20 Mad 347, and the mortgagee would further be entitled to be reimbursed and to add to the mortgage-debt the amount which he has expended for the protection and preservation of the property. ANCHAM LAL CHOWDHURY v. KISHOR PRASAD MISER (1910) 14 C W N 579

1 ———— Clog on the equity of redemption—Two mortgages—Covenant to discharge the second mortgage before the first—Conclusion. Under a covenant contained in a mortgage of the year 1907 the mortgagee took possession of the mortgaged property but subsequently the mortgagee took a further advance from the mortgagor and gave them a second mortgage on the same property in which they covenanted that they would pay off the amount due on the second mortgage before redeeming the first. Held on suit by the mortgagors to redeem the mortgage of 1907 that this was an admissible covenant and not a clog on the equity of redemption. Bharu v. Dabir Ali Baidy Notes (1910) 978 d distinguished. Muhammad Abdul Hamid v. Jawaj Mal Ali Weekly Notes (1906) 267 referred to. In second appeal the plaintiffs mortgagees were allowed to amend their plaint so as to include a prayer for redemption of both the mortgages. HALI LAL SIKHAN v. BHAWANI SIKHAN (1910)

I L R 30 All 651

2 ———— Redemption, suit for—Deposit of money in Court in terms of mortgage profits—Mortgagor's claim for means profit after such deposit and before giving possession—Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1887), Sec 11 Art 30. The relation of mortgagor and mortgagee ceases as soon as the mortgagor deposits the money in Court in pursuance of the Court's order in a redemption suit and the possession of the mortgagee thereafter becomes wrongful possession. Bhajan Lals v. Sahai Bros I L R 31 Cal 263 ac 8 C W N 588 referred to. Where under orders of the Court in a suit for redemption a mortgagor deposited the amount due on the mortgage in Court but the mortgagee did not deliver possession of the mortgaged property till some time later. Held that a suit by the mortgagor for means profit up to the date when possession was delivered was maintainable. The test to be applied is whether the sum claimed in the suit could have been recovered in the previous suit for redemption. Yagnak v. Dattatraya I L R 26 Bom 661 referred to. Bulman Lal v. Yankatesh I L R 31 Bom 577 Satpal Lal v. Mangal I L R 31 Cal 273 ac 5 C L J 197 and Pom Dey v. Bhup Singh I L R 30 All 223 distinguished. A suit by a mortgagor against the mortgagee for means profit for the period during which he held wrongful possession of the property is maintainable in a Small Cause Court. Art. 31 of Sch. II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act is no bar to such a suit being instituted in a Small Cause Court. SABAHU DUTT v. SHUKH ARKHUR (1910) 14 C. W. N. 1001

3 ———— Purchase by mortgagee of equity of redemption—Transfer of Property

4 ———— Mortgagee out of possession—Equity of redemption—Gift of money of mortgaged property—Transfer of Property Act s 68 s 69 and 71—English Conveyancing and Law of Property Act s 14. The discharge of a mortgage merely enlarges the security of a subsequent encumbrance or adds to the interest of the owner of the equity of redemption. Where A is the owner of the equity of redemption in a moiety of certain property and a gift though the right to possession was outstanding in the mortgagee at the date of the gift A is entitled to possession of the moiety on the discharge of the mortgage. Transfer of Property Act s 60 74 61 discussed and compared with the English Conveyancing and Law of Property Act s. 15. PONKALAI v. KALITHIRAI MUDALI (1910) 14 C L J 34 Mad 115

5 ———— Bengal Regulation No. XV of 1893 s 10—Redemption—Meaning of—Judicial—English Law P and Decree of Courts Act (XII of 1857) s 29—Competence of Court to give a decree for an amount exceeding the principal limits of the jurisdiction. Held that the word "decreed" as used in s 10 of Regulation XV of 1893 was not used in the sense that the mortgage had been redeemed in the full use of that word that is satisfied and justice given to the mortgagee. So long therefore as the property remains in the hands of the mortgagee the mortgagee can bring a suit for redemption even if the mortgage had been satisfied over 12 years before suit. Hid also that where a suit is filed within the pecuniary jurisdiction of a court the jurisdiction of the Court is not ousted by the subsequent decree that a sum is in fact due to the plaintiff exceeding

MORTGAGE—*c. ntd*REDEMPTION—contd

the pecuniary limits of the jurisdiction Madho Das v Ramji Palai, I L R 16 All 286, followed Colap Singh v Indra Coomar Ha ra, 13 C W N 493, dissented from SUDARSHAN DAS SHASTRI v RAM PRASAD (1910) I L R 33 All 97

6 ——— Right to redeem one of two properties separately mortgaged—Two persons mortgaged certain property in 1879. In 1883 one of the mortgagors executed a mortgage comprising in part property subject to the mortgage of 1879 and in part other property in favour of the same mortgagee. This latter mortgage contained a stipulation that the mortgagor would redeem if before redeeming the mortgage of 1879. Certain property comprised in the first mortgage, but not in the second, was sold, and the purchasers sued for redemption of that mortgage alone. Held, that in the circumstances they were not precluded by the covenant in the second mortgage from redeeming the first. GANGA RAI v KIRANATH RAI (1911) I L R 33 All 293

7 ——— Sale by the mortgagor of his rights—Third person redeeming the mortgage at mortgagor's desire—Sale-deed unregistered—Sale deed could be looked at for evidence of payment of money—Suit by mortgagor to redeem ignoring sale—Lienor's rights—Adverse possession by lienor—Registration Act (111 of 1877), s 17—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s 91—Limitation Act (XV of 1877) Arts 132, 144. The plaintiff mortgaged certain property with possession with defendant No 1 for Rs 601, on the 4th April 1873. On the 25th November 1878 defendant Nos. 2 to 4, at the request of the plaintiff paid off the mortgage to defendant No 1, and for the sum so paid and for a further payment of Rs 50 the plaintiff sold the property to defendants Nos. 2 to 4. The document as to the sale was not registered, but ever since the purchase, the defendants Nos. 2 to 4 were in possession as owners. In 1907, the plaintiff filed a suit to redeem the mortgage of 1873. The defendants Nos. 2 to 4 set up in reply the sale of 1878 and contended that the suit was barred by limitation. Held that the sale-deed being unregistered could not be looked at for proving the sale, but it could be looked at as evidence of payment of money. Mahadunappa bin Dunappa v Datt bin Bala, (1876) P J 229 and Haman Ramchandra v Dhandu Kishnaji I L R 4 Bom 124, followed. Held, further, that the redemption having been made by the defendants for the plaintiff with his knowledge and consent, they became entitled to hold the property as lienors and the plaintiff could not recover it from them without paying the amount of Rs 651. Mohamed Shumood v Shenukram, I L R 21 A 17, followed. Held, further, that the defendant's lien was alive for twelve years after 1878 that is up to the year 1890 (Art 132 of the Limitation Act of 1877) at that when that period expired, the lien was gone and their possession after that was without any right and that their title by adverse possession was perfected in 1902. Ramchandra Yashwant Sirgudar v Sadashiv Abaji Sirgudar, I J P 11 Bom 422, explained. SAYEED BIN HANFANTA v NAMA BIN NARAYAN (1911) I L R 35 Bom 433

8 ——— Unfructuary mortgage—Defendants selling up the land under sale of mortgagors interest—Title by adverse possession—Separation of member of joint Hindu family and purchase of property with self acquired means—Possession adverse to mortgagors. These were cross appeals from the decision of the High Court in Mu offer Ali Khan v Parbati, I L R 29 All 640. The plaintiffs relied on a usufructuary mortgage of 1846 and sued for redemption of the property in suit, two shares in a village called Lohari. The case of the defendants was that they were in possession not under the mortgage but under sales of the 27th of May 1853 and the 20th of March 1854, respectively, by which the equity of redemption in the shares mortgaged in 1846 had passed to those through whom they claimed title, and they pleaded adverse possession. Both the lower Courts had upheld the later sale and dismissed the suit as to that share in Lohari. As to the earlier sale the Courts below had differed, the first Court upholding it and the High Court deciding in favour of the plaintiffs. On appeals by both parties, it was immaterial, in the view taken by their Lordships of the Judicial Committee of that sale (27th May 1853) by what title Ashraf un nissa, one of the widows of the mortgagor, obtained the share she took, and whether or not she had a daughter who survived him. Her share was certainly transferred by the sale to Baldeo Sahai, who though he was the grandson of one of the mortgagors and the son of the other, with both of whom he had lived as a member of a joint Hindu family had according to reliable evidence, separated from them and at the time of the sale was carrying on with a nucleus of property derived from his grand mother, a money lending business from profits of which he was enabled to purchase, with self acquired funds, the share in Lohari from Ashraf un nissa who purported to sell it to him as a person who was not a mortgagee under the mortgage of 1846 and he was therefore not precluded from setting up a title by adverse possession, which it was conclusive in the evidence he had held for more than 60 years. Their Lordships, therefore, while affirming the decision of the Courts below as to the latter sale reversed the decision of the High Court as to the earlier sale, and upheld that transaction also. PARBATI v MUZAFFAR ALI KHAN (1912) I L R 34 All 289

MORTGAGE—*contd*REDEMPTION—contd

9 ——— Clog—Subsequent agreement qualifying right to redeem—Loss of deed—Onus of proving terms of mortgage—Oudh Estates Act (I of 1859), s 6—Limitation—Compromise barring right to redemption. There is nothing in law to prevent the parties to a mortgage from coming to a subsequent arrangement qualifying the right to redeem. In this case the mortgage which it was sought to redeem was dated in 1810 and in 1870 the mortgagors had in consideration of certain additional benefit reserved to them under a compromise agreed to subject their right of redemption to certain conditions. The deed having been lost the onus was on the plaintiffs to prove the terms of the mortgage, so as to show that the suit was not barred by s 6 of the Oudh Estates Act (I of 1859), see Paya Ahsan Dutt Bam Farid v Narendar Bahadur Singh, I L R 31 A 83, which onus he was found unable to discharge. Held (affirming the decision of the Judicial Commissioner of Oudh) that the plaintiffs were not in any case entitled to redeem as long as there was no breach by the defendants of the covenants contained in

MORTGAGE—contdREDEMPTION—contd

compromise SHANKAR DIXI v. COKAL PRASAD
(1912) I L R 34 All 620
17 C W N 1

10 ———— Mortgagees allowed to redeem before expiry of term of mortgage—Non payment of greater part of mortgage money—Certain property was mortgaged by way of conditional sale for Rs 599 15 0 for ten years. Of the mortgage money Rs 50 15 0 only were paid, and the balance was left with the mortgagees for payment to prior incumbrancers. The mortgagees did not pay off the prior incumbrancers and, the mortgagor having meanwhile sold the mortgaged property, his assignees sued for redemption of the mortgage before the expiry of ten years. Held, that, on equitable grounds, the defendants not having performed what was a most essential part of the contract the plaintiffs ought to be allowed to redeem before the expiration of the period of ten years. CHHOTU RAI v. BALDEO BAKUL (1912) A. L. R. 34 All. 639

11 ———— Transfer by mortgagee—Rights of the transferee—Redemption—Construction of statute—Legislative exposition—Limitation Acts (XV of 1877 and IX of 1908), Art 134. The plaintiffs sued in the year 1900 to redeem a mortgage effected prior to the year 1854. The representatives in title of the mortgagees claiming to be absolutely entitled, mortgaged the land with possession to A in 1834 and he sold his rights to defendant S. The suit having been brought more than 12 years after the alienation to A, defendant S claimed as against the plaintiffs the interest of mortgagee by virtue of his adverse possession under Art 134 of the Limitation Act (XV of 1877). Held, that it was obligatory on the plaintiffs to redeem defendant S before they could recover possession of the property. Yasu Ramji Kulkarni v. Balirukha Lakshman, I L R 15 Bom 633 Mahaji v. Fakirchand I L R 22 Bom 225, and Rameshchandra v. Shriek Mohidin, I L R 23 Bom 614 followed. Abduram Gonsami v. Shyam Charan Nandi, L. P. 38 I A 148, and Jahar Shyam Chand Jia v. Ram Kani Ghose, I L R 38 Cal 506, explained. The alteration in the language of Art. 134 of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908) was a legislative recognition of the soundness of the view that the Article was intended to give protection to all transferees for value including mortgagees. Suiff v. Jewsbury L. R 9 Q B 312, and Morgan v. London General Omnibus Company, 12 Q B D 291, referred to. Bhadas Umanji v. Nathabhai Uthmanji (1911) I L R 38 Bom. 146

12 ———— Right of assignee of mortgagor to redeem first mortgage after a decree for redemption obtained by a puisne mortgagee had become inoperative. A mortgaged certain properties to B and afterwards mortgaged the same with other properties to C. C obtained a decree for redemption against B, but the decree was allowed to become inoperative by not being executed. D obtained an assignment of the right of A in the mortgaged properties and also the rights of C therein. A sued to redeem the mortgage in favour of B. Held, that although the suit by D as the assignee of C was not maintainable still it was competent to him as assignee of A to bring the suit after the decree obtained by C had become inoperative. KUTUBALI PAMAY NAMBOORI v. ACHUTHA PUNTHORI (1904) I L R 31 Mad. 42

MORTGAGE—contdREDEMPTION—contd

13 ———— Clog—Usufructuary mortgage—Lease—Right to retain possession as lessee after satisfaction of mortgage. A provision in a mortgage deed whereby the mortgagee is to remain in possession after payment of the mortgage debt is unenforceable as it acts as a fetter upon the right to redeem. When a mortgage deed is accompanied by a lease the effect of which is to keep the mortgagor out of possession notwithstanding the discharge by him of the mortgage-debt there is a fetter on the equity of redemption on which the Court ought not to enforce. AKHENDU v. SUBHAN (1912) I L R 35 Mad. 744

14 ———— Usufructuary mortgage—Accountability of mortgagee for illegal realisation of cess from tenants—Transfer of Property Act (I of 1882), s. 76—Stipulation by mortgagee to pay a portion of profits to mortgagor—Subsequent arrangement regarding mode of payment if may be proved by parol evidence—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92. Under a usufructuary mortgage of 1877, the mortgagee undertook to pay to the mortgagor an annual sum of Rs 10 odd and apply the balance of the profits to payment of revenue charges and interest on the mortgage-debt. Held, that oral evidence to prove a subsequent arrangement under which the mortgagee allowed the mortgagor to possess and enjoy a portion of the property in lieu of the payment was admissible in evidence inasmuch as it did not supersede or vary the stipulation regarding the payment but merely concerned the mode of payment. Held, further, that in a suit for redemption by the mortgagor the mortgagee was bound to account for the amounts they realised from the tenants as cesses subsequently imposed by the Cess Act of 1880, and payable by the tenants to the mortgagor. The mortgagee's accountability is not limited to items within the contemplation of the mortgage contract but may extend to amounts which the mortgagee was enabled to realise out of the mortgaged property by taking advantage of his position as mortgagee. PANAVATAR SINGH v. TELU PRASAD SINGH (1911) 16 C W N 137

15 ———— Practice—Redemption decree under appeal by mortgagee—Deposit of decretal amount—Duty of mortgagee to withdraw under protest—Responsibility of mortgagee for loss of right in deposit by lapse of time although amount of decree increased by Appellate Court. In a suit for redemption the Court of the Judicial Commissioners in India passed a decree entitling the mortgagee to recover a certain sum on account of principal and interest from which decree the mortgagees appealed to the Privy Council who increased the amount. Pending the appeal the mortgageors had deposited the amount of the decree of the Judicial Commissioners, which, however, the mortgagees did not withdraw, as they might have done without prejudice to their pending appeal, either by arrangement or the sanction of the Court in India or the sanction of the Board which would have been given as a matter of course. Held that if the amount deposited had lapsed to Government under the rules owing to the same not having been withdrawn in time the mortgagees must give credit for the amount. CHAMEAY SINGH v. JAGAT SINGH (1912) 18 C W. N 793 which sons of a mortgagor not joined—Decree extinguishes son's right—Representation of son's interest by father, when debt not charged as immoral. The plaintiff's father, amongst other co-parceners of a joint Mitakshara Hindu family executed a mortgage by conditional sale the term of which expired in 1888, whereupon the mortgagee instituted a suit for foreclosure against the mortgagors and obtained delivery of possession in 1893, in execution of the decree in that suit. The plaintiffs were not made parties in that suit, the mortgagee not having had notice of their interest at the time and they brought the present suit in 1907 for redemption. Held, that in the absence of allegation by the plaintiffs that the debt was an immoral debt, the father of the plaintiff sufficiently represented the plaintiffs in the previous suit, and with the extinction of the father's right to redeem, the son's right of redemption was also extinguished. Bunsee Das v Gena Lal Jha, 14 C L J. 630, Ram Taran Goswami v Parnassas Malia, 11 C. W. N. 1078, referred to BALESH MAHAYATRA v BROJODASI PANDA (1912)

16 ———— Parties—Mortgage by Mitakshara co-parceners—Suit for foreclosure in

MORTGAGE—*contd.*REDEMPTION—contd.

13 C W. N 1019

17 ——— Mortgage and lease to mortgagor contemporaneously granted—Mortgage executed before Transfer of Property Act (1882) came into force—Mortgagee's security reduced by portion of property being withdrawn—S. 65(a) of Transfer of Property Act—Right of mortgagee to compensation. The plaintiff (respondent) mortgaged to the defendant (appellant) certain property by a deed, dated the 25th of August, 1880, for Rs 70,000 for eight years. On the 29th of August (and so practically contemporaneously with the mortgage) a lease of the mortgaged property was executed by the mortgagee in favour of the mortgagor at an annual rent of Rs 4,200, which represented interest on the mortgage debt at the rate of 6 per cent per annum. The mortgage contained a clause that "it is agreed by mutual consent of the parties that the profits of the property mortgaged shall belong to the mortgagee in lieu of the interest on the mortgage money, and I, the mortgagor shall have no claim for mesne profits. The mortgagee also shall have no right to claim interest on the mortgage money advanced by him." The lease after reciting the mortgage referred to a provision in the latter that the mortgagor should be entitled to all a certain portion of the mortgaged property on condition that he handed over the whole of the proceeds of the sale to the mortgagee in payment of the mortgage debt, and provided that "under the condition whole or some of money the mortgagor should pay to the mortgagee in a lump sum, should be credited and set off against the rent payable under the lease with interest at 8 annas per cent per mensem." Subsequently three further charges were taken on to the mortgage the latest of which was dated the 13th of December, 1892. In June, 1931, the mortgagor was in arrears with his rent and the mortgagee brought a suit against him on which the mortgagor gave up possession of the property to the mortgagee. In a suit for redemption (the right to redeem not being disputed) Held, that the mortgagee was entitled under the terms of the mortgage to appropriate the profits of the mortgaged property in lieu of the interest on the mortgage money not paid by the mortgagor. Evidence of preliminary negotiations and previous conversations were not admissible to contradict or vary the terms of the mortgage (Evidence Act, s. 92) Held, also, that the mortgage and the lease were both parts of one and the same transaction. But there was no inconsistency between the two instruments, nor would there have been any inconsistency if the mortgage itself had contained a provision for granting a lease on the terms upon which the lease was actually granted. Held, further, that the original mortgage having been executed before the Transfer of Property Act came into operation, that Act was not applicable, notwithstanding that one of the further charges was executed subsequently to that date. Whatever might be the construction of s. 65(a) of that Act (which was cited in support of the mortgagee's claim), he was not, on the evidence and under the circumstances of the present case, entitled to compensation for any loss or damage occasioned by his security being diminished owing to a portion of the mortgaged property being successfully claimed from the mortgagor. ABDULLAH KHAN v BASHARAT HUSAIN (1912)

MORTGAGE—*contd.*REDEMPTION—contd.

I L R 35 All. 48

18 ——— Redemption by reversioners after foreclosure decree—Subrogation—Transfer of Property Act (1882), s. 91. While a sale in execution under a mortgage decree was in progress plaintiff (a stranger) paid the decree amount into Court on behalf of some of the reversioners to the property. Held, that though the mere payment of a mortgage-debt by a stranger will not entitle him to the mortgagee's rights by subrogation yet here under s. 91 Transfer of Property Act (1882) the reversioners became equally entitled to a charge over the property and they could validly assign this charge to the plaintiff by way of sub-mortgage. The English and Indian Law relating to the doctrine of subrogation compared and discussed. Per SUNDARA AYYAR, J.—I am on the whole inclined to hold that a reversioner cannot voluntarily claim to redeem a mortgage made by the last male holder or institute a suit for that purpose. But does it necessarily follow that when a suit is instituted by a mortgagee for sale, the reversioner has not got a sufficient interest in the property to entitle him to discharge the mortgage to prevent the loss of the property to which he would be entitled to succeed on the death of the widow? I do not think I am bound to hold that his right stand on the same footing when he claims of his own accord to redeem and when he tries to save the property for the estate upon the mortgagee attempting to sell it. The right of a person interested in the payment of money which another is bound by law to pay and who therefore pays it, to be reimbursed by the other is recognised in s. 69 of the Indian Contract Act. There is no reason for holding, that only those who have an interest in a mortgaged property within the meaning of ss. 81 and 91 of the Transfer of Property Act can be held to be interested in the payment of money due on a mortgage created by the last male owner. HARAYANA KUTTI GURUDAY v PERIAHMAL (1912)

I L R 36 Mad. 426

19 ——— Accounts—Mortgagee deducting and postponing payment to keep property in possession—Interest, disbursement of, for period during which defendant prosecuted appeals to higher Courts unsuccessfully—Liability of defendants to account for rents and profits received during the period—Expenses of management, necessarily incurred—Costs of taking accounts and striking balance against redemption money—Costs of special leave application Where a suit for redemption of a mortgage in respect of property of which the mortgagees took and kept possession from 11th February 1884, was commenced on 30th May 1888, and a preliminary decree for accounts, etc., was passed by the Subordinate Judge on 20th June 1889, and the decree, subject to certain modifications in favour of the plaintiffs, was affirmed by the High Court on 10th September 1890, and the decree of the High Court was affirmed by the Privy Council on 27th July 1895; and the plaintiffs, having applied in the meanwhile for the taking of accounts in pursuance of the decree of the High Court, the same was taken and a final decree for redemption was passed by the Subordinate Judge on the 29th July 1902, declaring that a sum of Rs. 331 162 0 11 was due from the plaintiffs to the defendant at that date and decreeing that on payment into court within six months from that date of the said sum with interest at 12 per cent per annum on the sum of Rs. 2,88 886 from the 29th July 1902 to the date of payment into Court within such six months plaintiffs should have a reconveyance, free of encumbrances, of the property under mortgage, etc., and the plaintiffs appealed to the High Court and the defendants also filed cross objections but both were dismissed by that Court and upon appeal and cross-appeal by both parties to the Privy Council, the decree of the Subordinate Judge of 29th July 1902, was maintained by the Board's judgment, dated the 13th June 1912 but the Privy Council found that in the action the defendants had been obstructive and oppressive and they had unduly and intentionally prolonged the litigation to their own advantage and to the serious detriment of the plaintiffs Held, by the Privy Council, that no further sum as interest beyond the interest on the sum of Rs. 2,88 886 decreed by the Subordinate Judge for the period from 29th July 1902 to the 24th January 1903, should be allowed to the defendants in the accounts which the High Court was directed to take of the rents and profits which the defendants had received since 29th July 1902, and it was ordered that the expenses of taking such account and all procedure incident thereto and to the striking of the balance upon payment of which redemption might be made was to be borne by the defendants that allowance should be made in taking the accounts for money, if any necessarily spent by the defendants after the 29th July 1902, in the proper management and preservation of the mortgaged property, but no interest should be allowed on the money so spent, but that simple interest should be allowed to the plaintiffs on the balance or excess of each year's receipts over expenditure at a rate to be fixed by the High Court, and that the sum of money found to be due to the plaintiffs should be deducted by the High Court from the amount which would have been payable by the plaintiffs into Court on the 24th January 1903, if payment had been made under the decree of the Subordinate Judge of 29th July 1902, and that the plaintiffs should be allowed to redeem on payment by them into the High Court within a time to be fixed by that Court of the balance to be ascertained in the manner indicated. In the appeal and cross appeal, the respective parties were directed to bear their own costs except those in connection with the application for special leave to cross appeal which in accordance with the order granting such leave was to be paid by the cross-appellants MANA BAHU DEVI v. ARUN KISHNA Poy (1912) 17 C. W. N. 25

MORTGAGE—*contd*REDEMPTION—contd

MORTGAGE—*contd*REDEMPTION—contd

20 ———— Purchase by mortgagees of part of mortgaged property—Tender of proportionate part of mortgage money by purchasers of the residue—Tender refused on ground of subsequent mortgages affecting the property—Suit for redemption—Form of decree Tender of payment under s. 61 of the Transfer of Property Act was made by the purchasers of part of the property comprised in a mortgage (the rest of the property having been purchased by the mortgagees themselves) who paid into Court what they believed to be the proportionate amount due on the share purchased by them, and within the period limited by the mortgage deed. This tender was, however, refused upon the ground that there were two subsidiary mortgages affecting the property under which further sums were due. The mortgagees thereupon brought a suit for redemption expressing their readiness to pay what might be found by the Court to be the proper proportionate amount due by them in respect of the property which they have purchased. Held, on the finding, that the plaintiffs when they made their original tender were unaware of the existence of the two subsidiary bonds, that the Court below was right in giving a decree for redemption on payment of the amount due under the three mortgages in respect of the share purchased by the plaintiffs and for possession at the corresponding period of the following year. NAN-SINGH SINGH v. ARSCHARAN SINGH (1913) 1 L. R. 36 All. 56

21 ———— Prior and puisne incumbrancers—Seeing in succession—Suit for sale by prior incumbrancer without impleading puisne incumbrancer—Subsequent suit by puisne incumbrancer for sale—Form of decree Where a prior incumbrancer sues for sale on his mortgage and brings the mortgaged property to sale without making a puisne incumbrancer party to his suit, and thereafter the puisne incumbrancer brings a suit for sale on his mortgage, the proper decree to be made in the second suit is to direct a calculation of what was due on foot of the prior incumbrancer up to the date of the taking over of possession upon sale, or, if it at date cannot be ascertained, the date of the sale and to declare the puisne incumbrancer entitled to redeem upon payment of the amount so ascertained. Exp. Haris Singh v. Hira Singh, 1 L. R. 19 All. 527, Phulman Chaudhrai v. Nagel or Prasad, 1 L. R. 33 All. 370, and Manohar Lal v. Ram Bala, 1 L. R. 34 All. 323, referred to. RAGHUNATH LALWAR v. SHANKAR SINGH (1913) 1 L. R. 36 All. 123

22 ———— Clog—Condition intended to defeat the right of redemption—Condition held to be unenforceable A Court of Equity will not permit any device or contrivance designed or calculated to prevent or impede redemption, although it may be impossible to lay down any general rule as to what should not be regarded as an improper restraint or fetter on the right of redemption Where a mortgage was made for forty years and a provision was inserted in the deed fixing a particular day on which it was to be redeemed, failing which the mortgage was to be renewed for another term of forty years, and it was further provided that the mortgage should not be redeemed with borrowed money, it was held that these provisions were designed to make redemption very difficult, if not impossible, and should not be enforced Bansa v Girdhar Lal, All Weekly Notes (1894), 143, and Rambaran Singh v Ramkr Singh, 10 Indian Cases, 243, referred to SAREEDAWAN SINGH v BIJAI SINGH (1914)

MORTGAGE—contd

REDEMPTION—contd

I L R. 36 All 551

23 ——— Subsequent mortgages obtaining decree on his mortgage in absence of first mortgage—Sale of property subject to first mortgage—Subsequent mortgagee purchasing property with permission of Court—Execution of decree by first mortgagee—Subsequent mortgagee can ask the mortgage amount of first mortgage to be determined again—By purchase subsequent mortgagee does not lose his rights under his mortgage—Extinction of mortgage—Transfer of Property Act (I) of 1882, s. 191 In 1880 certain property was mortgaged to V It was again mortgaged by the same mortgagor to H in 1887 In 1892 V obtained a decree on his mortgage. H was not made a party to the suit V having sold his rights, his assignee K obtained another decree in 1896 against the mortgagors on the mortgage and other debts To this suit also H was not a party In 1895 H sued on his own mortgage without making the first mortgagee a party A decree was passed in terms of an award The property was sold in execution of the decree subject to the first mortgage and was purchased by H with the permission of the Court In 1908 the decree holder applied to execute the decree of 1896 H was made a party to the execution proceedings It was contended by H that he was not bound by the decree under execution and was entitled to have the mortgage amount determined again in the execution proceedings The decree holder urged that H's mortgage had been extinguished by his purchase at the Court sale, and as such purchaser he was bound by the decree by which the original mortgagees were bound at the date of the auction sale, and that H did nothing to show that he intended to keep alive his mortgage Held, that as a second mortgagee H was entitled to redeem the first mortgage, and to have the amount of the first mortgage determined again as between himself and the first mortgagee Held, further, that as auction purchaser H became entitled to all the rights which the mortgagees and the mortgagee had at the date of the sale, i.e., to all the rights of the mortgagees as they existed at the date of the mortgage upon which the decree was based Held, also, that H must be presumed to have intended to keep his mortgage alive, as it was clearly for his benefit to do so SHANKAR VENKATESH v SADASHIV MAHAJANI (1913)

I L R 39 Lcm. 24

24 ——— Valuation—Jurisdiction—Malabar law—Mortgage by karnaman, whether a junior member is bound to sue to set aside The proper valuation of a suit to redeem a mortgage is the amount of the mortgage admitted by the plaintiff to be binding on him, and not that of the mortgages set up by the defendant In such a suit the question of jurisdiction has to be decided in the averments on the plaint, and not with reference to the pleas of the defendant Chandu v Kombi, 1 L R 9 Mad 209, followed Unni v Kunchi Anma, 1 L R 14 Mad 26, 28, referred to When a karnaman of a Malabar tarwad makes an alienation which is not binding on the other members, the latter need not sue to set it aside, but can recover possession on the strength of their title, in the absence of proof of the validity of the alienation Secus where the plaintiff has himself executed the instrument under which the defendant claims The trustee of a Malabar devanam first executed an ottu for Rs 70 and subsequently renewed the same in a consolidated ottu for Rs 1,650 and further created a purakkadam for Rs 1,600, on the same property His successor sued to redeem the ottu for Rs 70, treating the other mortgages as invalid Held, that the suit as framed was maintainable, and the plaintiff was not bound to sue to set aside the later mortgages credited by his predecessor CHAPPAN v KARI (1912)

MORTGAGE—contd

REDEMPTION—contd.

I L R 27 Mad. 420

25 ——— Extinction of equity of Redemption—Mortgagee paying a rajnana to mortgagee for the land—No ignora excepting labulbat to pay Government assessment In 1870, the plaintiff mortgaged the land in dispute to the defendant, and in 1879 passed a rajnana relinquishing all his occupancy rights in the said land in favour of the defendants The latter at the same time gave a complementary labulbat agreeing to pay Government assessment on the land The plaintiff having sued to redeem the mortgage, Held, dismissing the suit that the rajnana and labulbat effectually extinguished the plaintiff's equity of redemption VENKAJI NARAYAN v GOPAL RANCHANDRA (1914)

I L R 39 Bom 55

26 ——— Previous decree in mortgages favour for possession, if bars redemption suit—Civil Procedure Code (Act 21) of 1882, s. 244—Order in execution of decree in suit for possession directing mortgagee to furnish accounts and permitting redemption, effect of Where in a suit by a mortgagee for recovery of possession "by right of ijara" of the immovable properties mortgaged the Court passed a decree directing inter alia that "the plaintiff do get possession of the same by right of ijara and be in possession thereof so long as the money for which the said malahs were mortgaged were not repaid out of the income arising therefrom" Held, that the decree was clearly a decree for ejectment and a suit by a person interested in the equity of redemption or redemption of the mortgage was not barred by s. 244 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1882 That the fact that since the decree in the ejectment suit, a predecessor in interest of the plaintiff had applied in the executing Court asking "that the decree holder should file accounts showing what moneys have been realised by him since he took possession under the decree, and if the decretal money was not fully paid to let the Court know how much still remains due by rendering a proper account thereof" and the Court overruling the objection of the mortgagee that the matter could not be dealt with under s. 244, held, that the petitioner could redeem the mortgaged property, but the latter took no steps to do so Held, that

MORTGAGE—contd

REDEMPTION—contd

this order if binding at all in the suit for redemption was to be regarded merely as interpreting the mortgage and the fact that the plaintiff in his plaint made a prayer that in the taking of accounts the directions contained therein might be followed did not mean that he based his right of redemption on that judgment. The passing of the final decree in a mortgage suit pending an appeal from the preliminary decree is no bar to the hearing of the appeal. PEARY MOHUN MUKERJEE v CHANDRA SEKHAR SARKAR (1915)

[19 C W N 1182]

27. — Adverse possession—Usufructuary mortgage—Mortgagee in possession—Equity of redemption—Adverse of possession while period of redemption is running—Suit to redeem by a person whose name is recorded in revenue papers Held, that a person could not acquire a title, by adverse possession, to land which was the subject of a usufructuary mortgage, and therefore in the possession of the mortgagee, merely because he had managed to get his name recorded in the village papers for a series of years in respect of the mortgaged property. Lala Kanhoo Lal v Manji Bhai, 6 C W N 691, not followed. Casborne v Scarfe, 144 685, distinguished. KUSWAR SEN v DARBARI LAL (1916)

I L R 33 All 411

28. — Tender of mortgage money as condition precedent to the institution of a suit for redemption—A usufructuary mortgage of agricultural land provided that the right to redeem should be exercised only in the month of Jeth of any year. Held, that before the mortgagee could sue for redemption it was necessary for him to prove that he had tendered to the mortgagee the mortgage-debt or such amount as he considered due on the mortgage in the month of Jeth of some year after the mortgage money had become payable. Baner v Gurdhar Lal, All W. N. (1924) 143, followed. MUHAMMAD ALI v BALDEO PANDI (1915)

I L R 33 All 143

29. — Limitation—Application for execution—Time, if runs from date of decree or date of ascertainment of exact amount. Where in a suit for redemption a certain decree was passed on 27th July 1909 and it was directed therein "that it will be necessary to have fresh accounts taken to determine the amount due to the appellants" and the amount was not definitely ascertained till the 23rd February 1910 and the application for execution was filed on 29th January 1913. Held, that the judgment of the District Judge, dated 27th July 1909, sets forth clearly the exact method of ascertaining the sum to be paid in redemption and the calculation of that sum was a matter parol of office routine and that the application for execution was barred by limitation. Golan Gaffer Mandal v Golan Bibi, 1 L R 25 Cal 109, followed. SERAJEO NARAYAN SINGH v MURHANOO RAUT (1916)

20 C W N 850

30. — One mortgagor redeeming the entire mortgage—Acknowledgment—Dakhalnama—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s 19, Sec 1, Art 143 In a suit by the representatives of some of the co mortgagors for the redemption of their shares in certain property against the representatives of co mortgagor, who had redeemed the mortgage, the plaintiffs alleged that the mortgage had been made by one Sukhjit in favour of one Muhammad Hussain in the year of 1913 Samvat. The plaintiffs also relied on certain acknowledgments made by the defendant's predecessors in title. One of these was a dakhalnama executed by Ram Lal in 1890 which contained a description of the property and was signed by Ram Lal. The defendant contended that there was no mortgage, that he was absolute owner, that the acknowledgments had not been proved and that the suit was time-barred. It was held by the lower Appellate Court that the date of the mortgage had not been proved, but the acknowledgments were in respect of some mortgage and that the plaintiffs were entitled to redeem. Held, that the rule of limitation governing a suit of this kind was that laid down in Ashfaq Ahmad v Nazir Ali, 1 L R 11 All. 423, 11, that Art 148 of Sch I to the Limitation Act applied that is, the limitation extended for a period of 60 years from the date of execution of the mortgage or from the date when the mortgage money became due, and the burden was upon the plaintiffs of proving the mortgage that they had set up, and that it was for them to prove that the acknowledgment relied upon by them as contained in the dakhalnama had been made at a date within the period of limitation. Held, further, that the acknowledgment contained in the dakhalnama amounted to nothing more than a description of the property purchased and was not acknowledgment of liability within the meaning of s. 19 of the Limitation Act. Dharma Vishal v Govind Sadavaller, 1 L R 8 Bom. 99, referred to. KHILAI RAM v TATE RAM (1916)

MORTGAGE—contd.

REDEMPTION—contd

I L R 33 All 540

31. — Adverse possession—Mortgagee in proprietary possession under an agreement unregistered but acted upon for a very long period The parties to a mortgage by conditional sale, executed in 1869, entered into an agreement in 1876 whereby the mortgagor gave up all his equity of redemption in the property mortgaged. The agreement was not registered, but both the parties consented to the complete transfer of the equity of redemption and both parties acted on the agreement for very nearly forty years. Held, on a suit being brought in 1912 for redemption of the mortgage of 1869, that the mortgagee or their predecessors in title had been in adverse possession since the year 1876 and the suit was barred by limitation. Mahomed Ali v Ashore Kumar Gungul, 1 L R 24 Cal 801, and Uman Khan v N Daxarna 1 L R 37 Mad 545, referred to. KHEDU PAT, v SHEO PARSON RAI (1917)

I L R 39 All 42

32. — Major portion of mortgaged property purchased by mortgagee—Suit by one only of the heirs of the mortgagor to redeem the whole of the remaining share in the mortgaged property Out of the original 16 annas of a village which was the subject of a usufructuary mortgage, the mortgagee acquired by purchase 13 annas and 4 pice. After the death of the mortgagor, one of his heirs sued to redeem the whole of the remaining 2 annas and 8 pice. The other heirs were made parties, the suit as pro forma defendants and consented to the plaintiff redeeming to the whole of the remaining share. Held, that notwithstanding this, the plaintiff was only entitled to redeem her own personal share. Kuray Hail v Purnax

MORTGAGE—contdREDEMPTION—contd.

Mal, I L R 2 All 565, and Munshi v Davlat, I L R 29 All 262, followed Sukhram Narayan v Govind Lakshman, I L R 10 Bom 656 (Note), not followed ZAIR UN NISSA BIRI v MAHARAJA PARBHU NARAIN SINGH (1917)

I L R 39 All 618

33 ——— Annuity provided for by terms of deed—Equity of redemption acquired by mortgagee—Suit by heirs of annuitant to recover arrears of annuity By the terms of a mortgage deed an annuity or malikana charge was made payable to one Musammam Turab un nissa and her heirs by the mortgagee By a series of transactions the mortgagee ultimately became the owner of the equity of redemption in the whole of the mortgaged property Held, that the mortgagee nevertheless still continued liable for the payment of the annuity secured by the mortgage LACHMI NARAIN v SAJJADI BEGUM (1917)

I L R 39 All 700

33 (a) ——— A Zarpeshgi deed executed in 1874 in favour of one G provided inter alia for payment by G to the executants of a Zarpeshgi rent of Rs 500 odd every year The principal amount was made payable in September 1887 In February 1888 Rs 12,000 was borrowed by the mortgagor from A and in accordance with the agreement between them was applied in paying the Zarpeshgi debt and the Zarpeshgi deed upon such payment was taken back and handed over to A in whose favour a simple mortgage was executed to secure the loan of Rs 12,000 given by her Held, that so far as it operated as a lease, the Zarpeshgi deed came to an end but the charge created by the Zarpeshgi was kept alive for the benefit of A Mohesh Lal v Mohant Bawan Das, L R 10 I A 62 (1893) Goludass v Pambur Sechand L R 11 I A 126 (1891), Dinolondhu Shas Chowdhry v Jogmaya Dass, L P 29 I A 9, s c 6, C W N 209 (1901) referred to That in suits for sale instituted after the date of A's mortgage of 1888 by persons who had obtained mortgages between the dates of the Zarpeshgi of G and the simple mortgage of A A as a puisne mortgagee was a necessary party under s 85 of the Transfer of Property Act Where in such suits was made a party but did not set up prior title under the Zarpeshgi of 1874 and some of the properties covered by the Zarpeshgi were sold Held, that A a right to proceed against the said properties by a suit for sale on the basis of the Zarpeshgi deed was barred by Expt II of s 13 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1882 In one such suit instituted by M within 12 years of the due date of payment under the Zarpeshgi of 1874, A not having been joined as a party, the sales held did not affect or take away A's right as puisne mortgagee under the mortgage of 1888 or her claim of priority under the Zarpeshgi of 1874 Put A a claim to priority under the Zarpeshgi of 1874 became barred in 1900 when a suit was first instituted by A assignee to enforce A's mortgage and the only decree plaintiff in this suit would get as against the purchasers in M's suit was to be allowed to redeem the mortgage of M on payment to the purchaser of the amount at principal and interest in respect of which the property purchased by him was sold in M's suit In a mortgage suit a puisne mortgagee of whose interest in the mortgaged property the plaintiffs have notice is a necessary party under s 55 of the Transfer of Property Act, and a sale of the property had in such a suit does not take away the puisne mortgagee's right to redeem SYED MAHOMEDD IBRAHIM HOSSEIN KHAN AND ANOTHER v AMBIA PRASAD SINGH AND OTHERS (1911 12)

MORTGAGE—contdPEDEMPTION—contd

18 C W N 505

34 ——— Mortgage by conditional Sale—Mortgagor in possession as tenant of mortgagee—Suit for rent in arrears—Decree for rent barred by limitation—Suit for redemption—Mortgagee, whether entitled to claim arrears of rent and interest decree as part of price of redemption—Abandonment of charge—Election of remedies In a suit for redemption, the mortgagee is not entitled to claim any arrears of rent with interest in respect of the mortgaged lands which were left in the possession of the mortgagor as tenant of the mortgagee under the terms of the mortgage deed, when the mortgagee has already sued and obtained a decree for such rent with interest and has allowed the decree to become barred by limitation even though the arrears of rent is a charge under the deed English and Indian cases reviewed Hewanchal Singh v Jawahar Singh I L R 16 Cal 307, distinguished Imdad Hasan Khan v Bachu Prasad I L R 20 All 401 referred to NARAYNA RAO v SHIVU RAO (1918) I L P 41 Mad 1049

35 ——— Partial owner of equity of redemption, if can redeem whole mortgage A partial owner of the equity of redemption is entitled to redeem the whole mortgage BAIKRANTHA NATH DAS v MOHESH CHANDRA DIXY (1916)

22 C W N 128

See also PROTAP CHANDRA DHAP v PEARY MOHAN DHAP (1918)

22 C W N 600

36 ——— Mortgage suit—Purchaser of mortgaged property, applying to be made a party, not allowed on plaintiff's objection—Subsequent suit by purchaser at mortgagee's sale to recover possession—Right of previous purchaser to redeem Where an application by a purchaser A, of mortgaged property to be made a party in the mortgage suit was on the mortgagee's objection refused and he was thus prevented from exercising the right of redemption amongst other reliefs which he desired to claim Held, that in a suit by the purchaser at the sale in execution of the mortgage decree B to recover the property from A who was in possession, A was entitled to redeem B PEBATI MOHAN DAS v NABINABASHI DE (1918)

22 C W N 543

37 ——— Decree passed under Dekkhan Agriculturists Relief Act (XVII of 1879) not governed by Transfer of Property Act—Decree not executed—Second suit to redeem the mortgage, not maintainable—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 47 The plaintiff obtained in 1888 a redemption decree under the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists Relief Act, 1879, which provided that on plaintiff's default to pay the decretal amount by the end of March 1893 his right to redeem should be for ever barred The decree was not executed In 1913 the plaintiff filed a second suit for redemption of the same mortgage—Held, that no fresh suit could be under the provisions of s 47 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 inasmuch as the decree of 1888, to which the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act 1882, did not apply, was capable of execution and its execution was time barred long before the date of the second suit Ramji v. Pankarainath, I L R 43 Bom. 334, distinguished Lala Chhajaj v. Babji Khatwaj, I L R 7 Bom. 432, followed Dinu Bai Yashu v. Shripad (1919)

MORTGAGE—contd

REDEMPTION—contd

I L R 43 Bom. 703

35 ———— Decree void—Failure to apply to make absolute—Execution time-barred—Second suit for redemption, maintainability of—Civil Procedure Code (Art V of 1908) ss 11 47 and O XXIV, rr 7 and 8—Transfer of Property Act (11 of 1922) s 60 A question having been referred whether a mortgagor, who has brought a suit for redemption and obtained a decree nisi which neither the mortgagor nor the mortgagee has applied to be made absolute, can after the execution of that decree is time barred bring a fresh suit for redemption Hell (Shah, J dissenting), that the mortgagor could bring a second suit for redemption and the same would not be barred by s 11 or s 47 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 Ramji v. Pankarainath (1918)

I L R 43 Bom. 234

39 ———— Decree for sale of mortgaged property—Purchase by mortgagor—Puisne mortgagee's right to redeem—A prior mortgagee obtained a decree on his bond on the 31st May 1897 brought the mortgaged property to sale and purchased himself on the 4th July 1900 and obtained a decree of possession. A puisne mortgagee obtained a mortgage loan against the same property on the 8th April 1912 purchased the property in execution of his decree and obtained registration of his name in the Collectorate register. In a suit by the prior mortgagee for a declaration of title and confirmation of possession or in the alternative for recovery of possession the Munsif decreed the suit but gave the puisne mortgagee permission to redeem. The lower appellate Court held that the defendant was not entitled to redeem as he had not done so before the making of the order absolute for sale in the plaintiff's suit. Held, that the right of redemption continued until the confirmation of sale. It appeared that the puisne mortgagee's name had been omitted from the execution proceedings. Held, that this was merely an irregularity and the sale could not be considered a nullity even though the prior mortgagee was himself the purchaser. SYED MUHAMMAD RAFI v. SYED MUHAMMAD ASKARI

I L R 1 J 261

40 ———— Effect of sale in execution of decree and purchase by mortgagee—Minor joined as defendants in mortgage suit but not represented by a guardian—Subsequent suit by them or redemption on ground that they were not properly parties to former suit—No claim to set aside decree or sale. The head of a joint Hindu family governed by Mitakshara law mortgaged in 1896 immovable property belonging to the family for purposes for which he was admittedly able to bind the other members. The mortgage money was not repaid and in 1901 the mortgagee brought a suit on the mortgage against the mortgagor and his two brothers, and joining also as defendants the two sons of the mortgagor now represented by the first respondent. In that suit a decree was made on 20th January 1902 in execution of which the mortgaged property was sold and purchased by the mortgagee. In a suit in 1909 by the sons of the mortgagor in which they impeached neither the debt nor the mortgage but admitted that they were binding on them, and did not in their plaint seek to set aside the decree or the sale under it, but only claimed to be entitled to redeem the mortgaged property on the ground that they had been minors at the time of the suit on the mortgage, and not having been represented by a guardian had not been properly parties to that suit. It was found as a fact by the two Courts in India and upheld by the Judicial Committee that they had not been effectively parties in the mortgage suit. Held that the right of redemption had been extinguished by the decree and sale in execution of it, and that until the sale had been set aside, it could not be exercised. GANGAI LAL v. BHUBHAGI PRASAD NARAYAN SINGH (1920)

MORTGAGE—contd

REDEMPTION—contd

I L R 47 Cal. 924

41 ———— Transferee of part of equity of redemption—Mortgagee in possession—Suit for foreclosure without making transferee from mortgagor a party—Right to redeem whole of the mortgaged property—Accounts. In 1893 the owner of sixteen fields in Berar mortgaged them to the appellant. In 1896 the mortgagor conveyed one of the fields to the respondents. In 1899 the mortgagee brought a suit to enforce the mortgage against the mortgagor alone without making the respondents parties and obtained a decree by consent which was afterwards made absolute. The decree declared that in default of payment within a definite time limit of the mortgaged fields (including that conveyed to the respondents) were to be foreclosed and possession of them made over to the appellant, and no payment having been made that was done under the decree. In a suit for redemption by the respondents (who not being parties to it were not affected by the decree) the only question was whether they were entitled to redeem the whole of the nine fields, or only the field conveyed to them subject to the mortgage over the whole. Held, that subject to the safeguarding of the equal title to redeem of any other person who had a right of redemption, the respondents were entitled to redeem the entire mortgage unless something had happened to extinguish the mortgage in whole or in part, or the conduct of the respondents had estopped them from asserting what would normally have been their rights. It was not the law in India, any more than in England, that one of several mortgagors cannot redeem more than his own share unless the owners of the other shares consent or make no objection, subject to the safeguarding of the rights which those owners might possess. The respondents as owners of an interest in the equity of redemption as it originally stood were entitled to redeem the mortgage on the footing of paying the balance left of the mortgage debt after debiting the mortgagee with a fair occupation rent during the period of his possession and crediting him with simple interest on the debt due to him under the mortgage deed. YADALI BEH v. TEJARAM (1920)

I L R 48 Cal. 22

42 ———— Clog—subsequent lease of mortgaged property by mortgagor to mortgagee, effect of—A, who was a permanent tenure holder of 7 plots, executed an usufructuary mortgage of all the plots in favour of B from whom he subsequently took a lease of 4 of the plots. In 1908 A granted a permanent malikari of one of the plots to B at a fixed rent of Rs. 2. In 1913 C purchased several of the plots belonging to A including the plot leased to B. Subsequently C sought to redeem the mortgage to B and having paid off the mortgage debt he claimed possession of the plots. B resisted the claim relying upon the mukarrari of 1908. It was held that the mukarrari of 1908 was a lease in futuro and did not operate as a valid lease of the B's equity of redemption. In an appeal under the Letters Patent from that decision, held, that the appeal should be dismissed. Per DAWSON MILLER, C J.—If the mukarrari of 1908 was a lease in futuro it did not operate as a valid transfer of the lessor's equity of redemption. If the mukarrari of 1908 was a lease in presentis it was invalid as being a clog on the equity of redemption. Once a mortgage transaction has been entered into it is not within the competency of the parties to clog the equity of redemption whereby, even after redemption the mortgagee would retain an interest in the property as lessee upon payment of a comparatively trifling rent. Such a transaction is invalid both as against the mortgagor and against a purchaser from the mortgagor of his interest. Per DIX, J.—Query Whether a lease intended to operate in futuro is an invalid lease. Query Whether a lease by a mortgagor to the mortgagee subsequent to the mortgage transaction may correctly be called a clog on the equity of redemption. RAM NARAIN PATTACK v. SUBATHINATH PANDAPADHYA 5 Pat L J 423

MORTGAGE—contd.

REDEMPTION—contd.

43 ——— Tender of mortgage money.—Offer to pay not accompanied by the production of any actual money. The mortgagors of a usufructuary mortgage sent a notice to the mortgagees offering to pay a certain sum named therein and asking for redemption of the mortgage, but no actual money was produced. Held that this did not amount to a legal tender of the sum due under the mortgage. Chetan Das v. Gobind Saran, I L R 36 All 139, referred to. ILMHAMMAD MISHKAT ALI KHAN v. BANK OF CAL I L R 42 All 420

44 ——— Limitation.—Acknowledgment of mortgagor's title recorded in settlement papers.—Inferences derivable from such acknowledgment.—Burden of proof. The plaintiffs sued for redemption of an old mortgage which they alleged to have been executed by their predecessors in title some time between the years 1833 and 1839. That there had been at one time a mortgage corresponding to that set up by the plaintiffs was sufficiently proved by the records of the settlements of 1833 and 1863, both of which contained fairly definite statements as to the parties, the land affected and the terms of the mortgage. There was, however, no evidence from which the date of the mortgage could be inferred with any certainty, and the plaintiffs relied to bring their suit within limitation, mainly upon the acknowledgments made by the mortgagees in the records of the settlement of 1863 as indicating that the mortgage must have been a subsisting mortgage in 1863. Held by PROCTOR and WALSH, JJ., that no substantial inference could be drawn from the acknowledgment in question that the mortgage was in 1863 a subsisting mortgage not barred by limitation, and it was on the plaintiff relying on the acknowledgment to show that it was made before the period of limitation had expired. Per BAKER, J., contra. The acknowledgment of 1863 might be taken until rebutted as prima facie evidence that the mortgage was a subsisting mortgage at its date. It was improbable that the mortgagees would have agreed to its insertion in the settlement records had the title of the mortgagor been then in fact barred by limitation. Per Parmanand Mier v. Sahib Ali I L R 11 All 428, Dara Chand v. Sarfaraz, I L R, 1 All, 117, Kamola Devi v. Gur Doyal 17 A L J 330 referred to. ANUP SINHA v. FATH CHAND I L R 42 All 575

MORTGAGE—contd.

REDEMPTION—contd.

45. ——— After sale of mortgaged property.—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss. 92, 93. Where a mortgagee has in contravention of s. 99 of the Transfer of Property Act, attached the mortgaged property and brought it to sale and purchased it himself, the mortgagor or his transferee cannot successfully maintain a suit for redemption of the property without first getting the sale set aside. Ashutosh Sirdar v. Behari Lal Kirtana, I L R 35 Cal 61, referred to. UTTAM CHANDRA DAW v. RAJAKRISHNA DALAL (1919) I L R 47 Cal 377

46 ——— Consolidation of several mortgages on different properties.—agreement not to redeem one mortgage without the others must be clearly proved.—Transfer of Property Act, IV of 1882, s. 61. The question arising in this appeal was whether plaintiff could redeem his mortgage of 18th August 1882 without redeeming also his two subsequent mortgages of 9th September 1882 and of 8th February 1889. The mortgages related to different properties. In the mortgage of September 1882, it was stipulated that the mortgage would be redeemed along with the prior mortgage, dated 8th August 1882, while in the 1889 mortgage it was agreed that 'should the mortgagor redeem the land mortgaged by the deeds of the 18th August 1882 and 9th September 1882, they will redeem the present charge at the same time'. Held, that although the parties contemplated that the money due on all the mortgages should be paid at the same time that was not enough to establish the defendant's plea of consolidation, but that it was incumbent upon the latter to show that plaintiffs expressly and unequivocally contracted themselves out of their right to redeem the first mortgage without redeeming at the same time the two later mortgages. Ganga Pasi v. Kirtanath Pasi (I L R 33 All 393) and Gara Din v. Har Kuran (22 Indian Cases 132) referred to also.—Transfer of Property Act, s. 61. Farash Dal v. Kharu (2 F.R. 139), distinguished. Allu Khan v. Poshan Khan (I L R 4 All 25) referred to, as having been dissentient from in Shro Shankar v. Parma Mahon (I L R 26 All 559). JIWAN DAS v. THAKUR I L R 1 Lab 105

47 ——— Mortgage made to two mortgagees as tenants-in-common.—Where a mortgage is made by one mortgagor to two mortgagees as tenants-in-common, the right of either mortgagee who desires to realise the mortgaged property and obtain payment of the debt, if the consent of the co-mortgagee cannot be obtained, is to add the co-mortgagee as a defendant to the suit and to ask for the proper mortgage decree which would provide for all the necessary accounts and payments, excepting that there could be no

MORTGAGE—*contd*REDEMPTION—contd

decree for money entered as between the mortgagee defendant and the mortgagor—Held, that in this case the mortgage clearly effected the conveyance of the real estate to the mortgagees as tenants in common and no redemption could be effected of part of the property by paying to one of the mortgagees her separate debt. It was not a mortgage to each of a divided half but a conveyance to them of the whole property. In this case the mortgage completing a compromise was executed by a Hindu pardanashin lady—Held, that it was not necessary nor desirable in such a case to insist upon a clear understanding of each detail of a matter which may be much involved in legal technicalities. It is sufficient that the general result of the compromise should be understood and that the lady should have had people disinterested and competent to give advice with a fair understanding of the whole matter who advised her that she should execute the deed. SUNITRALA DEBI v. DHARA SUNDAR DEBI CHOWDHURANI (1919) I. L. R. 47 C.J. 175

43 — By one of several co-mortgagors—When one of two co-mortgagors redeems the mortgage and obtains possession of the property a suit by the other mortgagor to recover possession of his share of the mortgaged property is not a suit for redemption but for possession as governed by Art. 144 and not Art. 145 of the Limitation Act and in such a suit a plaintiff is entitled to succeed unless the redeeming mortgagor establishes that he has been in possession for 12 years on an assertion of a hostile title to the knowledge of the Plaintiff. RAM NARAYAN RAI v. RAM DEVI RAI 6 Pat. L. J. 680

49 — Deed excluding right—Anomalous mortgage—Statutory right—Act No. IV of 1882 (Transfer of Property Act) ss. 60, 98 Immovable property was mortgaged by deed for five years to secure a debt. The deed provided that the years and that if he did not do so the mortgagee was to have the option of taking possession for a period of twelve years. If the mortgagee took possession was provided that during the period of twelve years the mortgagor was not to be entitled to redeem, but that at its conclusion he was to do so. The mortgage debt not being repaid at the end of five years the mortgagee took possession. In the same year the mortgagor sued to redeem. Held, that the mortgagor had by s. 60 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882, a statutory right to redeem whether or not the mortgage was one in which by s. 98 the rights and liabilities of the parties were to be determined by their contract. MUHAMMAD SHARIF KHAN v. RAJA SETH SWAMI DATAL I. L. R. 44 All. 185

50 — Previous redemption decree—Right to redeem reserved—Second suit for redemption In 1915 the plaintiff sued to redeem a mortgage of 1874. The defendant contended that the suit was barred in consequence of a previous redemption decree of 1881 the terms of which were as follows. The plaintiff should pay to the defendant Rs. 400 with interest at the rate of eight annas per cent. per mensem by annual instalments of Rs. 60 each from 31st March 1884. If the plaintiff were to pay more than Rs. 60 the defendant should not refuse to accept the same.

MORTGAGE—*contd*REDEMPTION—contd

In case the plaintiff fails to pay any instalment the defendant should take the land in his possession and receive the produce of the land in lieu of interest on the remaining amount and Government assessment and on the plaintiff paying the principal amount at the end of any fiscal year the land belonging to the plaintiff should be returned to him. Held, that on the construction of the decree the right to redeem was reserved and therefore the plaintiff was entitled to sue for redemption. ABDUL PAJACK v. VAMAN GANESH I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1335

REGISTRATION

1 — Registration—Endorsements on mortgage bond—Registration—Registration Act (III of 1877), s. 17 cl. (n)—Endorsement on a mortgage bond of payment made in satisfaction of a prior mortgage debt—Civil Procedure Code (Act XI of 1882) s. 43—Payment by a subsequent mortgagee under s. 74 of the Transfer of Property Act (II of 1880) effect of The endorsements on a mortgage bond of payments made in satisfaction of a mortgage, which payments did not purport to extinguish the mortgage are covered by cl. (n) of s. 17 of the Registration Act and as such do not require registration. Ji van Ali Beg v. Lasa Mal I. L. R. 9 All. 108, and Uppalakund Kunhi Awti Ali Hoji v. Kunnam Mihal Kottapath Abdul Rahman I. L. R. 19 Mad. 287 followed. A subsequent mortgagee who makes a payment of a prior mortgage debt under the provisions of s. 74 of the Transfer of Property Act in a suit to enforce his original mortgage against the security which by his payment of the former mortgage, he has protected and made more valuable for the realisation of his debt, is bound, under s. 43 of the Code of Civil Procedure to join in that suit any further claim which he has against that property by reason of such payment made by him. Sunder Singh v. Bhadu I. L. R. 20 All. 392 distinguished. HARI NARAYAN BAWERJEE v. KUNBI KUMARI DAS (1910) I. L. P. 37 Cal. 589

2 — Endorsement re leasing mortgaged property for consideration in cash—Registration An endorsement made by a mortgagee (on the back of the mortgage deed) releasing the mortgaged property in consideration of a cash payment of Rs. 300 is a document which requires registration and not being registered was not admissible in evidence either of the redemption of the property or of the real nature of the original transaction between the parties. PARASHARAMPANT v. RAMA (1909) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 202

3 — Registration of mortgage out of time by altering date—Leases from executant if may question validity of mortgage registered out of time—Estoppel Where a mortgagee died had been presented for registration more than four months after the date of its execution and its registration had been secured by the executant altering the date of the instrument. Held, that even assuming that the deed had been wrongly registered, there being no fraud the mortgagor would be estopped from taking the objection. Held further that lessees from the mortgagor who took their leases after the registration of the mortgage are in the absence of fraud equally estopped with the mortgagor from taking the objection.

MORTGAGE—*contd*REGISTRATION—contd

GOPAL CHANDRA CHUCKRABORTY : SURENDRA KUMAR ROY CHOWDHURY (1912)

16 C W N 535

4. ——— Constructive notice—Subsequent mortgage—Registration Act (III of 1877) ss 17, 49—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) ss 3 (14) and 53 The mere registration of a mortgage under the Registration Act is not per se constructive notice of the mortgage. So held by their Lordships of the Judicial Committee approving of the view, on this question of the High Courts of Calcutta and Madras which differed in opinion from those of Bombay and Allahabad. In Mamindra Chandra Nandy v Troschke Nath Bural 2 C W N 750, the Court said: "Having regard to the statutes applicable in this country the proposition involved is not one of law but of fact, and as each case arises it should be determined whether in that individual case the omission to search the register, taken together with the other facts, amounts to such gross negligence as to attract the consequence which results from notice." In Biswanath Jha v Ramprasad Tiwar 7 C W N 11 in which the Court observed: "Whether registration is or is not notice in itself depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case upon the degree of care and caution which an ordinarily prudent man would necessarily take for the protection of his own interest by search into the register" and other cases in the High Court at Calcutta. In Shan Nayan Mull v Madras Building Co, 1 L P 15 Mad 263 in which the Madras High Court adopted the same view and pointed out that if the Legislature had wanted to make registration notice, it might have made it the subject of conflict of opinion on the question have made it in express terms. Lakshmandas Sarupchand v Dastur 1 L R 6 Bom 168, and other cases of the Bombay and Allahabad High Courts to the contrary disapproved. Mahomed Ibrahim Hossein Khan v Ambica Prasad Singh 1 L R 39 Cal 711 L R 39 I A 68 and Het Pam v Shad Lal 1 L R 40 All 407 L R 45 I A 130 decisions of the Board with reference to a S. of the Transfer of Property Act distinguished on the ground that under that section a duty was imposed on the mortgagee suing for foreclosure sale or redemption, in discharge of which he was bound to search the register, and his omission to do so would have been "a wilful abstention from the search of gross negligence within the definition of notice in s 3 (14) of the Transfer of Property Act. The object of registration is to protect against prior transactions but the argument for the appellants would extend the doctrine of notice to notice of subsequent transactions and it would not be reasonable to hold that registration was notice to the world of every deed which the register contained. In the present case no circumstances are found excepting those drawn from the fact that the mortgagor was executing several mortgages on the property. TILAKDHARI LAL v KUNDEAN LAL (1920) 1 L R 48 Cal. 1

5. ——— Fictitious inclusion of property—Absence of title—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 51—Registration Act (III of 1877) ss 17, 23, 49 S. 28 of the Indian Registration Act, 1877, provides that every document which by s 17 is required to be registered shall be presented for registration in the office of a Sub-Registrar within whose sub-district the whole or some portion of the property to which the document relates is situated. A mortgage bond for Rs 8000 which purported to mortgage a 7anna share in a village in the Darbhanga district and a one kauri share in the Mozaferpur district was registered only in the Mozaferpur district. The mortgagor had purchased the one kauri share shortly before the execution of the mortgage and in order that he might register in Mozaferpur he paid Rs 50 for the one kauri share but there was no registered instrument or delivery of possession as required by s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882. Their Lordships found that none of the parties intended that the one kauri share should vest in the mortgagor or pass under the mortgage and consequently held that the mortgage was invalid under s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882, under which a mortgage for over Rs 100 can be made only by a registered instrument. Harendra Lal Roy Chowdhury v Hari Dam Deb 1 L R 41 Cal 572 L P 41 I A 110, followed. Judgment of the High Court affirmed. BISWANATH PRASAD v CHANDRA NARAYAN CHOWDHURY (1921) 1 L R 48 Cal 509

MORTGAGE—*contd*REGISTRATION—contd

6. ——— By deposit of title deeds—Memorandum in relation thereto when must be registered Defendant (who had already mortgaged a house to the Plaintiff to secure two previous loans and had delivered to him the title deeds thereof for the purpose of those mortgages) on 25th February 1914 executed a promissory note for Rs 1,500 in respect of a fresh advance in Plaintiff's favour and on the same date gave Plaintiff a letter in these terms: "For payment of the sum of Rs 1,500 with interest I have borrowed from you on a promissory note of date I hereby put on record that the title deeds re my premises already deposited with you shall be held as a collateral security. The amount (Rs 1,500) was paid to Defendant after the execution of the promissory note and the passing of the letter. Held—That there was no completed contract of mortgage before the letter passed, which in the circumstances of the case constituted the mortgage contract and was inadmissible for want of registration. Kedar Nath Dutt v Shom Lal Khetry 20 W R 130 11 E L R 495 (1873), and Dwarkanath v Sarat Kumar 7 B L P O C J 55 (1871) considered. BRABHAR CHANDRA BOSE v ANANT NATH DE 24 C W N 599

SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s 11
1 L R 34 All 599

O XXII s 10 1 L R 37 All 226

See MORTGAGE (MARSHALLING)
1 L R 35 Bom 365

See MORTGAGE (REDEMPTION)
1 Fat L J 261

See MORTGAGE (MISCELLANEOUS)
14 C W N 1053

Conditonal decree (Limitation for final decree)—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O
XXIV, s 3 1 Fat L J 364

Effect on redemption—

See MORTGAGE (REDEMPTION 4)
1 L R 47 Cal. 377

MORTGAGE—couldSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—could

Several mortgages as part of the same transaction over the same property—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O II, R 2

I L R 45 EOM 55

1 ———— Practice—First mortgagee's suit for sale—Surplus of sale proceeds—Second mortgagee's claim for sale in first mortgagee's suit of other property on which he has a mortgage—CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XXXI
A and afterwards mortgaged the same property and a further property in the mofussil to C. A brought an ordinary mortgage suit against B for sale, making C a party-defendant. A obtained a decree. C thereupon claimed to be entitled to a decree for sale of the property mortgaged to A including the mofussil property not included in A's mortgage. Held that in a suit C could only obtain the surplus of the sale proceeds of the property in that suit and could not get any relief against the other property in the mofussil. Maharaj Mohan Roy v Kally Charan Ghose I I R 29 Calc 100, Maharaj Mohan Roy v Kally Charan Ghose I L R 24 Cal 190 In re Rastory Mohan Roy v Kaly Charan Ghose I C W A 106 and 107 v Mendel, 27 CA D 216 distinguished. Maclean v Watkins I C I J 31 followed. The effect of the incorporation of the sections in the Transfer of Property Act into O XXXIV of the new Code of Civil Procedure is to put an end to any independent practice on the Original Side of the High Court based on the old procedure, and the Original Side should now follow the provisions of O XXXIV of the Code. Costs will be on Scale No 2 not Scale No 1 against the mortgagor who does not appear. SARAT CHANDRA ROY CHOWDHURY v NAHARIET (1910) I L R 37 Cal 907

2 ———— Execution of mortgage-decree—

Stay of sale in execution of mortgage-decree—Jurisdiction of Court to stay sale—Waiver on behalf of minor of fresh-sale proclamation—Guardian ad litem right of—Benefit to minors—Minors entitled to impugn sale afterwards for want of fresh proclamation—Transfer of Property Act (II of 1882) s 89—CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT VI of 1882) s 291. The Court has jurisdiction to order stay of a sale in execution of a mortgage-decree under a 291 of the Civil Procedure Code 1882. Shyamkisen v Sunder Hor I L R 31 Calc 373 explained. Bibiyen Bibi v Racha Bishah, I L R 31 Calc 963 referred to. There is no conflict between a 89 of the Transfer of Property Act and a 291 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1882. The former section on is concerned with the Court's order absolute for sale (the latter with the adjournment of the sale. The two sections relate to different matters. Even if an order of the Court is erroneous, it is not thereby not open to a party, who has obtained and enjoyed the benefit of an erroneous order, to turn round afterwards and ask that the order should be treated as a nullity and discharged. The guardian ad litem appointed by the Court and acting in good faith is entitled to make applications, on behalf of the minors and has the power to waive the right of the minors to a fresh sale-proclamation after postponement of the sale if the postponement ensured to the benefit of the minors. The minors are not entitled in such a case to impugn the sale on the ground that a fresh sale-

MORTGAGE—couldSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—could proclamation was not made. BIPTI BENARI MITRA v JATINDRA NATH GHOSH (1910)

I L R 37 Calc 897

3 ———— Attachment of sale proceeds—Mortgage decree—Sale for arrears of revenue pending suit. Where the surplus sale proceeds in the hands of the Collector of a mortgaged property sold for arrears of revenue after the preliminary decree passed in the mortgage suit was attached in execution of that decree and subsequently the decree was made absolute. Held, that so soon as the decree was made absolute the sum attached became available to the decree holder and to that extent the decree was satisfied at that date. Mograj Marwari v Narasing Mohan Thakur, I I R 33 Calc 846 Debedra Nath v Abdul Samad I C L J 150 distinguished. GORI KRISHNA MANDOL v PAM LAL MANDOL (1910)

14 C W N 434

4 ———— Preliminary mortgage decree

Application for sale of mortgaged property—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sch I, Arts 181, 182 and 183—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) ss 88 and 89—CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XXXII, r 4 and 5 O VII r 20. Part 4 addition of a preliminary mortgage decree under s 88 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 does not require and is not followed by any supplemental decree but only if necessary, by an application for an order absolute for sale under s 89 of the Transfer of Property Act. Such an application is a petition for realization by the mortgagee of his decree and is an application to enforce a judgment or decree, etc. within the provisions of Art 183 of the Limitation Act 1908. Harendra Lal Paj Choudhary v Maharazi Das, I L R 28 Calc. 557 I L R 98 I 4 89, referred to. Madhab Mani Das v Lambert, I I P 37 Calc 795 I C W A 317 discussed. It is a question for the Court in its discretion to determine in each case whether or not it will make an order for the addition of a party as contemplated by O XII, r 20, of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. AMLOOK CHAND PARRACK v SARAT CHUNDER MIKRIJEE (1911) I L R 33 Calc 913

5 ———— Private sale of mortgaged property—

Consideration left with purchaser for discharge of two mortgages—First mortgage alone discharged—Suit for sale by second mortgagee—Purchaser not entitled to hold up first mortgage as a shield. Where a purchaser of mortgaged property undertook to discharge out of the purchase money two subsisting mortgages and in fact discharged only the earlier one. Held that it was not competent to him to hold up this mortgage as a shield against the sale of the same mortgage for sale. Copai Das v Purnan Mal, I L R 19 Calc. 1035 1016 referred to. MEHANNAD BADIQ v CHAUS MEHANNAD (1910) I L R 33 AU 101

6 ———— Purchase of mortgaged property by mortgagee, application of sale-proceeds to reduce the debt due if pro tanto extinguished—Mortgage if any proceed used against other properties—Cancellation of security if may be released by mortgagee—Purchaser of equity of redemption possession of. Where a mortgagee purchased portions of the mortgaged property for a fair price without fraud or undue influence and applied the purchase-money to the reduction of the debt under an agreement to that effect, and it appeared that the property was intended to be conveyed free of the mortgage — Held, that as between the mortgagor and the mortgagee the mortgage was not pro tanto diminished and that the debt remaining due after deducting the purchase money was chargeable on the rest of the property. The effect of the transaction must be judged by its nature, i.e. whether the sale was of the equity of redemption only or of the property freed of the mortgage. Held, also, that subsequent purchasers of the equity of redemption in the remaining portion of the mortgaged property stood in the shoes of the mortgagor and could not object to having the whole mortgage debt realised by sale of the property in their hands. Where there are no other persons having a lien on the same property it is settled that as between the parties to the mortgage the mortgagee is entitled to release a portion of the hypothecated property and impose the whole lien upon the residue. A subsequent purchaser of the equity of redemption of the residue therefore cannot object to the release and require the property so released to contribute ratably to the satisfaction of the debt. FISHERY ALI HAJI v. PANCHANATH CHATTERJEE (1910)

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd

15 C W N. 800

7. ———— Purchase by mortgagee—Subsequent purchase by landlord—Mortgage encumbrance—Mortgage purchaser, rights of, to fall back on mortgage—Sale under Bengal Tenancy Act—Ordinary Court-sale, its effect—Decree for tenant, effect of—Bengal Tenancy Act (111 of 1885), ss 161, 165 and 167 Where the mortgagee of a tenure purchased the mortgaged property in execution of a decree of his own mortgage, and the landlord subsequently purchased the same property in execution of a rent decree but did not annul the mortgage encumbrance. Held, that the mortgagee purchaser was entitled to fall back on his mortgage as a shield against the purchase by the landlord. Akhoy Kumar Soot v. Bejoy Chandra Mahalap, 1 L R 29 Calc 813, followed and the obiter dictum in the case discussed. Bhawanee Koor v. Nathura Prasad, 7 C L J 1, referred to. Held, further, that the landlord could not oust the mortgagee from the tenure without annulling the encumbrance under s 167 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and this would be so even if the mortgagee had not proceeded to sell before the purchase of the landlord. Where the bidding for a tenure put up to auction under s 164 of the Bengal Tenancy Act did not reach the level of the decretal amount and a sale of the tenure subsequently followed, but without a second proclamation as contemplated by s 165 of the same Act, the sale must be held to have been an ordinary court-sale and the purchaser to have acquired only right, title and interest of the judgment debtor. Nawab Mahomed Sirkar v. Gurish Chunder Chowdhury, 2 C. W. N. 251, and Akhoy Kumar Soot v. Bejoy Chandra Mahalap, 1 L R 29 Calc. 813, distinguished. The special provisions for the sale of tenures under the Bengal Tenancy Act are a part of the public policy intended for the benefit of all parties concerned and the results of such sales are generally destructive of various derivative rights belonging to third parties not before the Court. The provisions of the Act are therefore very stringent, and if the landlord wants the special result provided for by the Act, he must proceed strictly in accordance with its provisions. Where a suit for rent has been rightly brought against the real tenant and a decree has been obtained, the decree is a good decree for rent, whether the tenant was recognised as such or not. Lalun Monee v. Sona Monee Deber, 22 B R 334, and Surnomoyee v. Denomath Gur Surnomoyee, 1 L R 2 Calc 908, referred to. BANBHATI KAPUR v. KHETRA PAL SINGH ROY (1911)

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd

1 L R. 38 Calc 923

8. ———— Limitation—An application made on the 3rd July 1900, for an order absolute for sale by a mortgagee who had obtained the preliminary decree on his mortgage in the High Court on the 14th December 1896 was barred by Art 183 of sch I of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908) or the corresponding article of Act XI of 1877. The application was one to enforce a judgment within that article. The meaning of the word "enforce" is not limited to realization by execution but may have a wider meaning. Horendra Lal Rai Chowdhary v. Maharani Das, L R 25 I A 89, referred to. Madhub Mohi Das v. Pamela Lambert 15 C W N 337, distinguished. ASHOOK CHAND PAKAR v. SARAT CHANDRA MUKHERJEE (1911) 1 L R. 28 Calc. 913

16 C. W. N 49

9. ———— Mortgaged property sold subject to mortgage—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 65, sub s (5) cl (b)—Vendor and purchaser—Implied contract of indemnity—Seller damaged by reason of buyer not discharging mortgage debt—Suit for damages if yes—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Sch II, Art 83—Measure of damages Where one buys from another an equity of redemption on subject to a mortgage and merely pays for the value of that equity of redemption, he contracts to protect his vendor from the obligation of the mortgage, the buyer's contract with the mortgagor being that the debt should not fall upon the latter. It is a contract of indemnity and the buyer would be bound without any specific contract to indemnify the seller. Twydale v. Twydale, 2 Brown's Rep of Ch Cas 153, 23 Beas 311, relied on. Where a portion of the mortgaged property was sold subject to the mortgage, but the buyer having failed to pay off the mortgage, the latter sued on his mortgage and the whole of the mortgaged property was sold and the seller was dispossessed of the lands which had been retained by him. Held, that a suit by the seller for damages against the buyer was governed by Art 83 of Sch II of the Limitation Act, time running from the date when the seller was actually dispossessed, i.e. the date of dispossession. The word "contract" in Art 83 does not mean an express contract. Quare Whether the deed of sale being registered, the period of limitation was that provided by Art 110. Quare What under the circumstances would be the proper measure of damages? RAM BARAI SINGH v. SHROFET SINGH (1912) 16 C W N. 1050

10. ———— Estoppel—Decree on mortgage—Decree set aside as against one mortgagor—Second suit to recover proportionate share of the debt maintainable A mortgagor died leaving him surviving a brother, two daughters and an illegitimate son. The four sons of the brother took an assignment of the mortgage from the mortgagor, and subsequently brought a suit for sale of the mortgaged property against the children of the mortgagor and, inasmuch as they were themselves owners of part of the mortgaged property framed their suit as one for the recovery of the shares of the mortgage money from the portions of the property in the possession of each of the defendants. They obtained in this suit an ex parte decree which however was set aside as a suit one of the daughters upon the ground that she was a minor and not properly represented therein. Held that the plaintiffs were not precluded from maintaining a fresh suit against this defendant for the recovery of a share in the mortgage debt proportionate to her share in the property. RASHTON V. VISSA v. MUHAMMAD KHALIL KHAN (1912) I L R. 34 All 474

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd.

11. ————— Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act (Beng. 41 of 1908) s. 47—Decree for sale of property situate in Manbhum—Estoppel After the preliminary decree on a mortgage was passed, and before the final decree for sale was made the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908 was extended to Manbhum where the mortgaged property was situate. The judgment debtor having objected to the application of the decree holder for sale of the said property both Courts set aside the objection, and the sale to the decree-holder was thereafter confirmed. Upon appeal to the High Court Held, that the sale was in direct contravention of the provisions of s. 47 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act. Held, further, that the judgment debtor cannot be estopped from bringing to the notice of the Court what the Court must be taken to know of itself that there was a distinct provision of law which prevented the sale of the property. LAKSHMI BINI KUMARI v. AYAL BHARAT HALDAR (1913) I L R. 40 Cal 534

12. ————— Parties—Suit for entire mortgage money and sale of entire mortgaged property—Omission to implead certain persons interested—Decree to which plaintiffs entitled Where a plaintiff mortgages land for the recovery of the whole of the mortgage money by the sale of the whole of the mortgaged property, but by an oversight omitted to implead certain persons who had acquired a share in the property subsequent to the mortgage in suit, it was held, that so much of the claim should be decreed as was proportionate to the interests of the persons who were before the Court. GANGULI LAL v. CHAMAN SINGH (1913) I L R. 23 All 247

13. ————— Suit for sale against auction purchaser of mortgaged property—Evidence admissible of—Receipt of receipt of consideration—Estoppel Held that an admission made by a mortgagor in a mortgage-deed and also before the registering officer as to the receipt of consideration is admissible in evidence against the purchaser of the mortgaged property at an auction sale in execution of a simple money decree. PILLAI LAL v. MOHAMMAD RASUL I L R. 33 All 194 Followed Musadar Singh v. Sumaria Puar, I L R. 17 All 323 not followed Mahomed Mawlat Hassan v. Kishore Mohan Joo I L R. 22 Cal 201 referred to. Held, also that a purchaser at auction of the right title and interest of the father alone in joint family property which had been mortgaged by the father was not entitled to raise the plea that the mortgage was made without legal necessity so long as there was time yet for the sons to challenge the purchase. Mahomed Musamilladh Khan v. Nethu Lal, I L R. 33 All 783 dist. approved. BAKRISHI RAM v. LILADHAR (1913) I L R. 35 All 333

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd.

14. ————— Sale of mortgaged property for any claim of mortgagee unconnected with mortgage—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908) O. XXII—s. 14—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1932) s. 92 A mortgagee is competent, under the Civil Procedure Code of 1908 to have his mortgaged property sold in satisfaction of any claim which he may have against the mortgagor, though the claim may be unconnected with the mortgage. TATAR NATH ADHIKARI v. PRABHAKSHWAR MITRA (1914) I L R. 42 Cal 780

15. ————— Suit by second mortgagee—Surplus sale proceeds taken out by fourth mortgagee in execution of his decree—Third mortgagee may sue to recover amount realised by fourth mortgagee—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), s. 73 (1) proviso (c) A second mortgagee obtained a decree on his mortgage, in execution of which the property was sold and purchased by the third mortgagee. There was a surplus of sale proceeds left after satisfying the decree. The fourth mortgagee thereafter sued on his mortgage without making the third mortgagee a party and in execution of the decree obtained by him withdrew a portion of the surplus sale proceeds. The third mortgagee thereafter without seeking to put his mortgage in suit sued the fourth mortgagee to recover the amount of the surplus sale proceeds withdrawn by the latter. Held that the plaintiff could not succeed on this footing. Ber Ahmed Pershad v. Tara Chand, I L R. 33 Cal 92 referred to. CL (c) of proviso to sub s. (1) of s. 73 of the Civil Procedure Code does not apply to this case as the Plaintiff was not the holder of any decree. NATHAN SAO v. ANNIE BESANT (1913) 19 C W. N 535

16. ————— Purchase money "left with the purchaser for payment to the mortgagee"—Nature of the transaction—Trust Where a mortgagor sells the mortgaged property and, as it is commonly expressed, leaves part of the price with the purchaser for payment to the mortgagee, the transaction is merely one of sale subject to the mortgage. No trust is created in the purchaser for payment of the portion of the price 'left with him' to the mortgagee. JAWA DAS v. RAM ACTAR PANDY (1916) I L R. 38 All 209

17. ————— Mortgage by two persons of two properties for a single debt—Payment by one his portion—Suit against other for the balance—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1932) s. 67 There is nothing in the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act to support the view that as between a mortgagee and the holders of equity of redemption on the mortgagee is bound to distribute his debt rateable on the mortgage properties. Krishna Ayyar v. Mathalamanna Siva Iyer I L R. 29 Mad 217 followed. Where therefore the plaintiff sued the defendant one of the mortgagors for the recovery of the balance of mortgage money due under a deed of mortgage without joining the other mortgagor Held that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree for a sale of the plaintiff's

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd.

tioned properties for the whole of the balance due on the mortgage VENKATA SUBBA REDDI v BALAJINMAL (1914) I L R 39 Mad. 419

18 ——— Mortgage by two out of three brothers, members of joint Hindu family—Death of one executant—Suit against other executant and the non executing brother only as representing the deceased executant—Ex parte decree and sale in execution and purchase by mortgagee—Non executing brother's original share, if passed by the sale—Decree for joint possession, if can be made—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 41 Delivered of symbolical possession is operative against the judgment-debtor who from that date becomes a trespasser, and the remedy of the decree holder, who has failed to get actual possession, is by suit. Where A and B, two out of three brothers, A, B and C, members of a joint mutakshara family, executed a mortgage of their whole property, and the mortgagee on the death of A sued to enforce the mortgage against B as mortgagor and also as the legal representative of A and against C, describing him only as A's legal representative. Held, that the decree and the sale could not affect C's original one-third share in the mortgaged property, since the question of the validity of the mortgage as against C who was not a party thereto could not be raised and decided in the mortgage suit. That in a suit by the purchaser to recover the property, C was not barred from raising the question by the doctrine of constructive res judicata. That the plaintiff as purchaser of an undivided two-thirds share in huts used as residence by a joint Hindu family could not be given a decree for joint possession, regard being had to s 44 of the Transfer of Property Act. That the proper course to follow is either to direct delivery of possession by partition in execution proceedings or to leave the purchaser to his remedy by a separate suit for partition. GIRIJA KANTA CHAKRABARTY v MOHINI CHANDRA ACHARYA (1915) 20 C W N 670

19 ——— Death of judgment-debtor after decree nisi but before order absolute—Order absolute made without bringing all the legal representatives on the record—Sale in execution of decree—Title of purchaser at such sale A Hindu widow was in possession of a one-sixth share of her husband's estate upon a partition made among her sons. One of the sons lived jointly with her. She made a mortgage of her share to him upon raising money to pay off debt legally bound upon the estate. The mortgagee bought a suit against her and obtained the decree nisi against her. She then died and the son who was living jointly with her, was alone brought on the record as her legal representative. An order absolute was obtained and the shares of the widow and the son who was joint with her were sold and purchased by plaintiffs. When they applied for mutation of names, they were opposed by the other sons. They thereupon commenced the present action for recovery of possession. Held, that the order absolute having been obtained against one only out of several heirs, there was not in existence any decree under which the interest of the other heirs could be sold and consequently the plaintiffs could not obtain possession. Mallaraju v Narhari, I L R 25 Bom 337, distinguished KUNDAN SINGH v SRIJA KUNWAR (1916) I L R 39 All. 67

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd.

20 ——— Agra Tenancy Act—Mortgage comprising both fixed rate and occupancy holdings executed before the passing of the Agra Tenancy Act, 1901—Suit for sale of the fixed-rate holdings only A mortgage made prior to the passing of the Agra Tenancy Act, 1901, comprised both occupancy and fixed rate holdings. The mortgagee brought a suit for sale of the fixed rate holdings only. Held, that the mortgage, so far as it related to the fixed rate holdings, was not bad and these being distinct from the occupancy holdings, the suit was maintainable. Kanias v Tilak 16 Indian Cases 42, and Badri Mallick v Sudama Mal, 10 All. L J 176 distinguished RAJENDRA PRASAD v RAM JATAN RAI (1917) I L R 39 All. 539

21 ——— Second mortgage debt secured by sureties—Assignment of equity of redemption to sureties—Sub mortgage by sureties in favour of assignor—Sale of mortgaged property by prior mortgagee—Subsequent sale by sub-mortgagee—Remainder of mortgaged property in existence and available for sale insufficient to satisfy sub mortgagee's debt—Application for personal decree against sub-mortgagee—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXXII, r 6 The plaintiffs, who were the mortgagees of the equity of redemption in respect of certain property further secured their mortgage debt by a promissory note executed in their favour by two sureties on behalf of the mortgagor. They subsequently assigned their equity of redemption to the sureties who executed a sub mortgage thereof in favour of the plaintiffs. Some time after, the plaintiffs obtained a preliminary mortgage decree, which was later followed by a final decree directing that the premises charged under the mortgage, or a sufficient part thereof should be sold subject to the prior mortgage. In the meantime between the dates of the preliminary and final decrees, the mortgagor having been adjudicated an insolvent, the prior mortgagee obtained an order of the Court exercising insolvency jurisdiction, that the remainder properties included in the prior mortgage should be sold free from all incumbrances, and that the balance of the sale proceeds after payment of the costs of the sale and the claim of the prior mortgagee, should be retained by the Official Assignee and be paid by him in discharge of other incumbrances in accordance with their respective priorities. The sale was duly carried out by the Official Assignee in pursuance of this order. The amount thus realised was not sufficient to meet the debt of the prior mortgagee. Subsequently, in pursuance of the mortgage decree, the Registrar put up for sale the equity of redemption in certain properties specified in the plaintiffs' mortgage and the amount realised at the sale by the Official Assignee was not sufficient to meet the plaintiffs' debt. The plaintiffs applied for and obtained a debt the plaintiffs against the sub-mortgagee for personal decree against the sub-mortgagee for the amount of their claim. Held, (1) that the plaintiffs' claim for a personal decree was not debarred by the fact Per SANDERSON, C J Having regard to the fact that all the properties covered by the mortgage, which were in existence and which were available for sale at the date of the sale, were sold (2) that the plaintiffs were not responsible for the fact that some of the properties included in the mortgage were not in reality available for sale though the sale purported to include them. It is held that it should be taken that the provisions contained in the rules and the directions contained in the mortgage decrees as to the sale have been complied with and that the plaintiffs are entitled to the personal decree which the learned Judge has directed. Ram Ranjan Chakravarti v Indra Naraya Dasa, 1 L R 33 Cal 890, and Badr Das v Inayat Khan, 1 L R 22 All 401 distinguished. Per Woodhouse, J. We must look at this matter rationally and with reference to the reason of the rule, namely, that the personal liability will only be enforced where there is a deficiency after the sale of all the mortgaged property available for sale at the date of sale. In other words, the personal liability must not be improperly increased. SATISH RANJAN DAS v MERCANTILE BANK OF INDIA, LD (1917).

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd.

1 L R 45 Cal 702

22 ——— Decree not in accordance with s 88, Transfer of Property Act—(IV of 1882)

Sale in execution of decree—Confirmation of sale—Purchase by mortgagee at auction sale with leave of the Court—Right of redemption by mortgagor—Suit to redeem against auction purchaser—Parties—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s 241—Question in execution of decree. In a suit to enforce a mortgage and for sale of the mortgaged property the decree made was not in accordance with the provisions of s 88 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) no day being fixed by the Court on which payment might be made within six months from the date of declaring in Court the amount due. In execution of the decree the mortgaged property was attached sold and purchased with the leave of the Court by the mortgagee decree holder and the sale was duly confirmed. In a suit by the mortgagor for redemption of the mortgage which was one of ancestral property made by the plaintiff's father before the birth of his sons. Held, that whether or not the decree was in accordance with the provisions of the Act, the property, and all the right, title and interest of the defendant were in fact sold in execution of the decree of a Court which had jurisdiction to entertain the suit in which the decree was made, and that decree was not appealed from, and that consequently the mortgagor had no right of redemption. Held, further, that the question now raised could have been raised before the sale was confirmed, and if so raised, would have been determined by the Court executing the decree, and that the suit was therefore barred by s 241 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882). Prasanna Kumar Sargol v Kala Das Bangul, 1 L R 19 Cal 653, 1 L R 19 A 166, followed. GANA PATEY MUDALIAR v KRISHNAMACHARIAR (1917).

1 L R 41 Mad. 403

23 ——— Estoppel—Mortgaged property partly sold and partly mortgaged to persons induced by some of the mortgagees themselves to believe property to be free from encumbrance—Interests of co mortgagees, if several—Document creating transfer of simple mortgage if compulsorily registrable—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 51—Registration Act (XVI of 1908), s 17 (b). In a mortgage suit some of the defendants were purchasers of a portion of the mortgaged property and one had taken a puisne mortgage of the remainder. It appeared that some of the plaintiff mort-

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd

gagors led these defendants to believe that the whole property was unencumbered. The lower Court dismissed the suit so far as these plaintiffs were concerned. Held that as regards the defendants who were purchasers of a portion of the mortgaged property the claim of these plaintiffs was rightly dismissed under the rule of estoppel but as regards the other defendant who was a puisne mortgagee of the remainder of the mortgaged property the effect of the estoppel under s 78 of the Transfer of Property Act was to postpone these plaintiffs in respect of their share of the original debt to this defendant and the decree should declare that the property mortgaged to this defendant hypothecated to these plaintiffs for their share of the original mortgage debt and their rights as mortgagees were postponed to those of this defendant. That co mortgagees are presumably tenants in common of the mortgage debt and their interests are severable or partible among themselves and it was open to the Court to sever the interests of those plaintiffs who had taken no part in the deceit practised upon the purchaser from those who did and to make a decree in their favour in proportion to their interest in the debt. That a mortgage debt is immovable property both for the purposes of s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act as also for the purposes of s 17 (b) of the Registration Act, and where a mortgage including a simple mortgage is transferred by an instrument in writing and the value of the right, title or interest transferred is one hundred rupees or more the writing requires registration and the absence of registration makes the document inadmissible. SANJEEV DITTA SAMA v SONAILLAL-SARKAR (1918).

22 C W N 641

24 ——— Decree directing sale of other properties of judgment-debtor, if sale-proceeds of mortgaged property insufficient—Limitation as to latter part of decree—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), s XX O 20, r 6—O XXXII, r 6. Where a mortgage decree after directing that the available proceeds of the sale to be held under the decree was to be paid in satisfaction of the decretal debt but that if the amount due to the plaintiff was not satisfied by the sale of the mortgaged property the balance would be realised from other properties and the persons of the defendants. Held that limitation for execution of the latter part of the decree did not run from the date of the sale of the mortgaged property but from the date of the decree as fixed by O XX r 6 of the Civil Procedure Code. KUTUBA LOAN COMPANY v JYANENDRO NATH BOSE (1917).

22 C W N 125

25 ——— Rights of Puisne mortgagee—Decree for sale at the instance of prior mortgagee—Right of puisne mortgagee to apply for sale in execution for amount ascertained to be due to him—Subsequent suit by puisne mortgagee for sale—s 47, Civil Procedure Code whether a bar to suit. In a suit for sale by a prior mortgagee against the mortgagor and a puisne mortgagee, the decree not only directed the sale of the mortgaged properties for the amount found due to the prior mortgagee but also ascertained the amount due to the puisne mortgagee and ordered the payment to him of this amount out of the surplus sale proceeds. Held (i) that the puisne mortgagee was not entitled to execute the decree for the amount due to him,

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd.

when no sale was held for the realization of the amount due to the prior mortgagee, (ii) that the remedy of the prior mortgagee was a suit for sale, (iii) that s. 47, Civil Procedure Code, was no bar to the suit and (iv) that the decree in the previous suit did not operate as res judicata. VIDAVYASA AYYAR v THE MADURA HINDU LABHA NIDHI CO., LTD (1016) I L R 42 Mad 99

26. — Preliminary decree containing direction as to personal liability of defendant in case mortgaged property to insufficient to satisfy decree—No mention of personal liability in final decree—Preliminary decree, whether composite—Application under O XXXIV, r 6 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), whether maintainable. In a mortgage suit the decree for sale of the mortgaged property contained a direction that if the whole amount was not realized by the sale of the mortgaged properties, for the rest of the claim if legally realizable the defendant No 1 would be liable. In the final decree there was no provision for any personal decree. Before the mortgaged properties could be sold a third party succeeded in having it declared that the mortgaged property could not be sold in execution of the decree. Thereupon the plaintiff applied under O XXXIV, r 6. It was contended that the preliminary decree was a composite decree and that therefore a fresh decree was not necessary. Held, that the preliminary decree was not a composite decree allowing the decree holder to proceed against the other properties of the judgment debtor. It said that he might proceed if he were legally entitled to do so thus leaving it for future decision whether the decree holder was legally entitled to obtain such a decree. SITAVATH SHAN BAXI v MADAN MOHAN DAS (1919) 23 C W N 924

27. — Sale for arrears of revenue—suit on the mortgage—purchase by mortgagee—Rights of mortgagee. In execution of a mortgage decree plaintiff the mortgagee himself purchased the mortgaged property and obtained formal possession. Before that suit was brought the defendants had purchased the property at a sale for arrears of revenue. That purchase was subject to the plaintiff's mortgage. Plaintiffs sued for possession, and the Lower Courts gave him a decree for possession, in case the defendants failed to pay the amount due on the mortgage within 6 months. Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to a decree for possession but was entitled to have the mortgaged property put up for sale, if the defendants failed to redeem. BALLI SIMON v BINKSWARI TEWARI I Pat. L. J. 133

28. — Subsequent sale of part of the mortgaged property—purchaser's liability to contribute to mortgage debt. Certain properties including a house were mortgaged. Subsequently the defendant purchased half of the house from the mortgagor who then conveyed the equity of redemption in respect of all the mortgaged properties to the mortgagee. In a suit by the latter to enforce his mortgage by sale of the mortgaged properties, held, that, having regard to the terms of s. 82 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, it was improper to order the property to be sold without fixing the proportion of the mortgage debt chargeable on the house purchased by the defendant. MAHARAJAH RAMANARAYAN SUDHARMA RAMACHANDRAN LAL BHAGAT I Pat. L. J. 228

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd

29. — Different persons becoming interested in fragments of equity of redemption—Mortgagee not entitled to throw the burden of entire mortgage debt on a portion of the mortgaged property. The property in suit was mortgaged to plaintiff. Subsequent to the date of the mortgage, M and K purchased the equity of redemption in half shares. Plaintiff sued to recover the entire mortgage debt by sale of half of the mortgaged property in the hands of M without adding K as a party to the suit. Held that it was contrary to the principles of equity that the plaintiff who by his own negligence had lost his remedy against the owner of half of the equity of redemption, should seek to throw the whole burden of the mortgage on the owner of the other half. Imam Ali v Day Nath Ram Sahu (1906) 33 Cal 613 at p 621, followed. BUDHIMAL KEVALCHAND v RAMAVALAB DESU (1919) I L R 44 Bom 223

30. — Double sale—Where plaintiff purchased a mortgaged property from the mortgagor in execution of a money decree and subsequently the mortgagee brought a suit against the original mortgagor without making the purchaser a party and in execution of the decree purchased the mortgaged property and sold it to another from whom plaintiff sought to recover. Held that plaintiff by virtue of his purchase acquired only a right to redeem and was not entitled to recover possession after the mortgage sale. The fact that he was left out of the suit did not vitiate the decree. SHANKH RALA SHARIF v ABBAY CHARAN KIPMAKAR 25 C W N 253

31. — Suit for sale by second mortgagees making prior mortgagee a party, but not attaching his title—Decree for sale—Subsequent suit by assignee of prior mortgagee to enforce his mortgage against second mortgagees—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908) s. 11, Explanation 11—Transfer of Property Act (Act I of 1882) s. 86—Res judicata. The respondents were second mortgagees of certain villages under a mortgage of April 1894, and the appellant was the assignee of the original mortgagee of the same property under a mortgage of May, 1892. The respondent's brought a suit (100 of 1900) to enforce the mortgage to which they made the assignor of the appellant a party but did not attack or impugn the validity or priority of his mortgage, and he did not appear to defend it. In a suit by the appellant in 1907 to enforce his mortgage against the second mortgagees, they contended that the mortgage deed of 1892 might and ought to have been made a ground of defence in the former suit and by the omission to do so the present suit was barred as res judicata. In this suit the appellant's mortgage was admittedly valid. Held, that under these circumstances the case came within the terms of s. 96 of the Transfer of Property Act, and that the property could only be sold as therein provided with the consent of the prior mortgagee who had a paramount claim outside the controversy of the suit unless his mortgage was impugned, and, therefore, to sustain the plea of res judicata it was incumbent on the respondents to show that they sought in the former suit to displace the title of the prior mortgagee, and postpone it to their own, and that had not been done. The respondents, therefore, had failed to establish the conditions essential to their plea. PADMA KISHAN v KARNABUD MOSSAIN (1919)

MORTGAGE—contd

SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd.

I L R. 47 Cal 602

32 ————— Sales certificates—Conclusiveness of—on subsequent suit—Code of Civil Procedure (I of 1908), s 47. Certificates of sale are documents of title which ought not to be lightly regarded or loosely construed. Where upon a sale under a mortgage decree the purchaser has been given a sale certificate which plainly includes certain property and has been put into possession of that property it is not open to a Court in a subsequent suit by the mortgagor's representative to hold by reference back to the mortgage deed that the property in question was not sold under the decree. The title of the purchaser can be questioned only by a petition in the execution proceedings under s 47 of the Code of Civil Procedure and not at all where that remedy is barred by limitation. Jaligment of the High Court reversed. RAMABHADRA NAIDU v KADIRIYASAMI NAICKER (1921)

I L R. 44 Mad. (PC) 483

33 ————— Decree for sale and decree for balance can be made at the same time—Portion of decree payable later when proceeds of sale found insufficient—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1932) s 90. It is not necessary to put such a construction on s. 90 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1932) as would establish as a condition precedent to the power of decreeing personal payment of the balance that the mortgaged property must first be sold and found insufficient to satisfy the debt. The words of the section are satisfied in cases where the Court passes a decree that on the happening of the event when the net proceeds of the sale are found to be insufficient the balance should be paid. JEWNA BAIU v PARNESWAR NARAYAN MAHTHA (1913)

I L R. 47 Cal 370

34 ————— Holder of two independent mortgages—If cannot take separate suits there is nothing in the Civil Procedure Code or Transfer of Property Act to prevent the holder of 2 independent mortgages over the same property who is not restrained by covenant in either from obtaining a decree for sale on each in a separate suit subject to the reservation that he cannot sell the property twice over nor under the second decree subject to the first. MILA v ASHABAD MALDAL 25 C W N 129

35 ————— Mortgage extinguished by sale—Purchase by first mortgagee—Subsequent suit by second mortgagee who was not made a party to first mortgagee's suit—Act No 11 of 1882 (Transfer of Property Act), s 89. An order made under s 89 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 for the sale of mortgaged property has the effect of substituting the right of sale thereby conferred upon the mortgagee for his rights under the mortgage, and the latter rights are extinguished. Where, therefore, a first mortgagee brought a suit for sale under the Transfer of Property Act on his mortgage without making a second mortgagee of the same property a party to his suit and obtained a decree for sale and purchased the property under that decree and the second mortgagee afterwards sued on her mortgage. Held the amount to be paid by the second mortgagee was to be calculated on the basis of the decree and not with regard to the amount due on the prior mortgage. Het Pam v Shadi Pam, I L R 40 All 407, L R 45 I A, 130, followed. Umes Chander Sircar v Zahur Fatima I L R 18 Cal 363 L R 17 I A 201, a case decided before the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 was passed distinguished on that ground. MATRU LAL v DURGA KUNWAR

MORTGAGE—contd

SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY—contd

I L R. 42 All. 364

36 ————— Prior and subsequent mortgagees' rights of, inter se—Separate and independent decrees obtained by each set of mortgagees—Property sold by prior mortgagee and purchased by a third party leaving a surplus of sale proceeds—Rights of auction purchaser and junior mortgagees. A mortgaged (1) same property first to B and then by two separate mortgage deeds to C and B and C both sued on their mortgages each party without implying the other and obtained decrees. B's decree was executed first. The mortgaged property was sold and was purchased by A. B's mortgage was paid up and a considerable surplus remained which was deposited in court. C then endeavoured to execute his decree against the surplus sale proceeds but failed, and the money was ultimately withdrawn by the mortgagor. C next proceeded with the execution of his decree against the property in the hands of A, the auction purchaser and A, in order to retain possession, paid up the amount of B's decree. A then sued the representatives of A to recover the amount so paid. Held that in the circumstances K was entitled to a decree. Barhamdeo Prasad v Tara Chand I L R 41 Cal. 651, referred to. KARAN SINGH v ISHTIAQ HUSAIN

I L R. 43 All 268

37 ————— Sale by mortgagor of part of the mortgaged property—Suit for sale on mortgage without implying the vendee—Subsequent suit for redemption by auction purchaser against vendee—Decree to which plaintiff is entitled—Limitation. In 1901, A took a lease of certain property from B and, as security for the due payment of the rent hypothecated two separate items of property x and y. In 1905, A sold property y to C. In 1906 the rent due to B having fallen into arrears. B sued to recover it and obtained a decree from the Rent Court. In 1908 B brought a suit in a Civil Court to enforce his lien against both x and y but apparently being unaware that y had been sold did not make C a party. In this suit B obtained a decree for Rs 6000.00. In 1912 properties x and y were brought to sale in execution of B's decree and purchased by him for Rs. 1000. In 1916 B sold both properties to D. In 1917 D sued C for the recovery of Rs. 2200 as representing the proportionate share of B's decree for Rs. 6000.00 which was attributable to property y. Held that the suit was in time and that D was entitled to recover from C the proportionate part of B's decree for Rs. 6000.00 (not of the amount which B had paid for the two properties) for which property y was liable. Hajra Bibi v Shiam Norein, 11 A L J 362, referred to. MARADPO TAL v BALDEO RAI

I L R. 43 All 539

38 ————— Suit for sale on—Defence that no money was due on mortgage—Mortgagor shown to have been under influence of mortgagee an unscrupulous man who abused that influence

MORTGAGE—contdSALE OF MORTGAGE PROPERTY—contd

—Mortgagee put in possession of all mortgagor's property never rendered accounts—Onus of proof—Indian Trusts Act (II of 1882), ss 3, 6 B, a very young man leading a most immoral life, mortgaged the ancestral property of his family to N and gave N possession of practically all his property which included other villages not mortgaged to N, who sold a considerable part of the property including some of the mortgaged villages and some of the mortgaged villages were purchased by N. Neither N nor the plaintiffs who claimed through A rendered accounts of what had been received by him from and in respect of any of the properties, not even of the mortgaged properties B was completely under the influence of A, an unscrupulous man who exercised that influence regardless of the interest of B and his infant son who was born subsequently to the two mortgages on which plaintiffs sued. Held, that this was not an ordinary case of a suit for sale based on a mortgage in which it would be for the defendant, the mortgagor, to prove that nothing remained due under the mortgage, if that was his defence, and the onus lay on the plaintiffs to prove that the mortgages had not been satisfied and what, if any, was due under each mortgage before they could get a decree for sale. The plaintiffs having failed to prove that anything was due, the suit should be dismissed. Shortly after the first of the mortgages, B executed an agreement by which he appointed N manager and receiver of all his property movable and immovable for 10 years and put N in possession under that agreement. N was to keep accounts and explain them to D in July of each year and was to receive certain remuneration for his work. Held, that the agreement did not constitute N a trustee within the meaning of the Indian Trusts Act. D L RAI v BHATYALAL . . . 24 C. W. N. 769

Mortgage—Equity of redemption, sale of—Purchaser retaining portion of purchase money to pay off mortgage, if personally liable for the mortgage debt A purchaser of mortgaged property who retains a portion of the purchase money in order to enable him to pay off the mortgage does not thereby become personally liable to discharge the mortgage debt. NAKRU SINGH v KAMTA PRASAD . . . 25 C. W. N. 771

SEVERANCE OF MORTGAGOR'S INTEREST

See UNDER SUB HEADING SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY

Mortgage—Decree of Court splicing up mortgagee's right—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 67, cl. (d), analogy of The principle of the rule embodied in s 67, cl. (d), of the Transfer of Property Act enabling one of several mortgagees to enforce by suit the payment of his portion of the mortgage-money, when the mortgagees sever their interests with the consent of the mortgagor, is applicable to a case where the severance effected by a decree of Court binding on the mortgagor. VIJAYABHUSHANMAL v EVALAPPA MUDALIAR (1914)

I. R. B. 39 Mad. 17

SIMPLE MORTGAGE

Single mortgage—Mortgagor's power to create leases binding on mortgagees. A simple mortgage in India, unlike a legal mortgage in England, does not arrest the mort-

MORTGAGE—contdSIMPLE MORTGAGE—contd

gagor's power of leasing in the ordinary course of management and the mortgagor acts within his powers in creating a temporary lease which does not impair the value or impede the operation of the mortgage. Banes Pershad v Reet Bhunyan Singh, 10 W. R 325, referred to Keech v Hall, 1 Douglas 21, not applied. BALMUKUND REXIA v MOTI LAL BARMAN (1915) . . . 20 C. W. N. 350

SUBROGATION

See SUBROGATION.

—One of the mortgagees paying off the mortgage—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908), SCH. I, ART 120 I. L. R. 45 Bom 587

1.—Presumption of intention—Interest—Costs, if part of decree Where the kothali by which mortgaged properties were sold recited certain mortgages which were paid off out of the purchase money and the mortgage bonds were preserved by the purchaser. Held, that there was a presumption of subrogation of the purchaser to the rights of the mortgagees. Held, further, that in order to establish right by subrogation it was not necessary for the purchaser to prove any intention or agreement to subrogate and the presumption from the circumstances would be in his favour. Where the contract rate of interest is not proved to be a penalty or unconscionable, the Court should not disturb. Costs form a part of the entire decree and carry Court rate of interest. PRAYAG NARAYAN AFFRI v CHEDI RAI (1910) . . . 14 C. W. N. 1093 note

2.—Presumption of intention—Legal and equitable claim if both may be urged together The principle of subrogation is one based on a presumption of intention which may be supported by circumstances or evidence of assignment or agreement or both. Where a debt on a mortgage decree obtained by A was paid off by money paid by plaintiff for which the defendant executed a fresh mortgage bond at an increased rate of interest, which recited the necessity for paying off the decretal debt and which actually mentioning one of the three mortgagees falsely stated that the property was otherwise free from encumbrance. Held, that the plaintiff stepped into the shoes of N on the principle of subrogation and had priority over the mortgagees. Subrogation by intention confers an equitable right and subrogation by agreement a legal claim. It is therefore open to a party to base his claim on both intention and agreement. Gardio Singh v Chandrikah Singh, 5 C. L. J. 611, distinguished. Bussacree Prasad v Lala Sarnam Singh, 6 C. L. J. 134, referred to. TARA SUNDARI DEBI v KHEDAR LAL SAHU (1910) 14 C. W. N. 1089

3.—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 95—Co mortgagor paying off mortgage—Charge—Subrogation, limits of—Interest, Court's discretion as to—Tender of insufficient amount when valid pro tanto—Decree, vague and incapable of execution—Execution, amendment of decree in, when permissible Where a decree of the High Court which was sought to be executed did not specify the period during which interest on the principal money due was to be allowed, the decree as regards the interest was indefinite and was not capable of execution. But the High Court did not give effect to this plea where it was con-called that an application for a review of the decree if made would be heard by the Bench hearing the present appeal which arose in execution proceedings and proceeded to ascertain the rights of the parties as upon such application. If one of several joint mortgagors in order to protect his interest pays the joint debt, he is placed in the position of the mortgagee in relation to his co-mortgagors, to the extent of their shares of the debt. But the substitution of the new creditor in place of the original one does not place the former precisely in the position of the latter for all purposes. The extent to which subrogation will be availed in any particular case must be governed by equitable considerations. In so far as any question of priority is concerned he no doubt enjoys the same advantages as the original mortgagee and is entitled to priority over subsequent mortgagors from his co-mortgagors. In so far however as the amount of money which he is entitled to recover from his co-mortgagors is concerned, he can claim contribution only with reference to the amount actually and properly paid to effect redemption, to which sum his own and his legitimate expenses. In so far as interest on these sums is concerned he cannot claim it for any period antedating to the redemption. In regard to these matters the Court has a discretion which it will exercise with a view to secure substantial justice regardless of form. Jarell v. J. J. 219 Sarjima v. Burkhamba 2 C L J 253 Girdes v. Chandraiah 1 L R 36 Cal. 193 et seq. 5 C L J 611 referred to. The doctrine that a mortgagor is not bound to accept any sum in part satisfaction of his decree and is entitled to an order absolute on the entire amount is brought into Court for payment to him is applicable only where there is no dispute as to what amount is due. An unconditional tender of a sum which turns out in the end to be less than what is really due may be valid pro tanto if there is a dispute as to the amount due though a tender to a part of what was admittedly due is of no avail. Ganga Das v. Jopendra Nath, 11 C W N 493 et seq. 5 C L J 315 Ram Kamaldev v. Sakhu Singh 7 C L J 112 Dixon v. Clark 5 C B 355 75 R R 14 referred to. Though a tender of a smaller amount than that of which an indivisible and entire claim consists may be invalid as a tender there is nothing to prevent the creditor from accepting the amount tendered in part-payment and his doing so will not preclude him from afterwards claiming the residuum of his account always provided that the debtor did not make it a condition of his tender that it be accepted in discharge of the whole. Powers v. Owen 11 Q B 139 75 R R 396 relied on. Dinabhai Das v. Hanendra Narayan Pandey (1910). . . . 14 C W N 617

MORTGAGE—contd.SUBROGATION—contd.

4 Mortgage subrogation of—Undertaking to pay subsequent incumbrance rebuts presumption of intention to keep alive prior mortgage. Where property subject to two mortgages is sold and the purchaser who undertook to pay off both the mortgages with the purchase money discharges the prior mortgage only, he cannot, as against the subsequent mortgagee, claim to stand in the shoes of the prior mortgagee. His right to use the prior mortgage as a shield is based on a presumed intention to keep alive the prior mortgage for his own benefit and such presumption is rebutted when he undertakes to discharge both the mortgages. Govindasami Tevan v. Dorasami Pillai (1910) 1 L R 24 Mad. 219

MORTGAGE—contd.SUBROGATION—contd.

5 Mortgage—Sale, advance of money to set aside—Mortgage in favour of lender—Sale in execution of money decree after sale set aside but before mortgage executed. Plaintiff advanced small sums of money to the mortgagor for payment to the mortgagee pending execution of a mortgage-deed, and the balance due to the mortgagee after sale in execution of the decree with the result that the sale was set aside. One month after the mortgagor executed a mortgage in favour of the plaintiff to secure the amounts paid by him but during this interval a portion of the property had been sold in execution of a money decree obtained against the mortgagor by the defendant and purchased by him. The sale was, however, not confirmed till after the plaintiff's mortgage held, that the plaintiff cannot claim to be placed in the position of the mortgagee whose debt he discharged with respect to the property purchased by defendant No. 1, which was free from encumbrances at the time he purchased it. Shyam Lal v. Bashiruddin, 1 L R 28 All. 775 and Isamkalinga v. Chidambaram, 1 L R 23 Mad. 37, distinguished. The defendant No. 1's title to the property accrued on the sale and not for the first time on confirmation thereof. Bhawanis Koor v. Malhara Prasad 7 C L J 1 and Idhar Chander v. Aghore Nath, 2 C W N 589 relied on. Premchand v. Parmina 1 L R 15 Cal. 516 and Amir Kazim v. Durbasi Mal, 1 L R 24 All. 475 distinguished. Ram Saran Singh v. Anakhan Singh (1910) 15 C W N 312

6 Third mortgagee advancing money for discharge of first mortgage—Application of part only towards discharge—Priority over mortgage to that extent. A mortgagee who advances money towards the discharge of a first mortgage on a property is entitled to priority over an intermediate mortgagee to the extent to which the money advanced by him went towards discharging the first mortgage. Rapohai v. Induram 1 L R 11 Mad. 315, followed. Himmavithayan v. Meenakshi Nadu, 1 L R 35 Mad. 181 referred to. SAMINATHA PILLAI v. KRISHNA IYER (1913) 1 L R 38 Mad. 548

7 Partial discharge of prior incumbrance—Purchaser of equity of redemption entitled to stand in the shoes of prior incumbrancer to the extent that the incumbrance has been discharged. A purchaser of the equity of redemption is entitled to stand in the shoes of a prior incumbrancer where the purchaser has, with the consent of that incumbrancer partially discharged the liability. Girdes Singh v. Chandraiah 1 L R 36 Cal. 193 dissented from. Chetand v. Allen 1 Ch. D. 353, followed. Barnes v. Woodcock v. The River Dee Company, L. 19 Q B 155 referred to. UDIR NARAIN MISIR v. ASHARFI LAL (1910) 1 L R 38 All. 502

8 Suit for recovery of mortgage money—Payment of prior mortgage debt—Subrogation—Circumstances in which intention to keep prior mortgage alive is to be inferred. On the 22nd of March 1911, one A executed two separate leases in favour of O L comprising a zamindari share in the village of Kura Mai and a house in the town of Maruhra. Upon this A.

MORTGAGE—contdSUBROGATION—contd

F brought a suit against A A and G L for specific performance of an agreement entered into by A A to mortgage to her the zamindari in Kura Mal, and for a declaration that the zar : pesghi leases entered into with G L were ineffective as against her. The plaintiff obtained a decree, which was upheld in appeal by the High Court and as the result a zar : pesghi lease was executed by A A in favour of A F under the order of the Court, and G L's leases were declared to be void as against A F. Immediately after the execution of the zar : pesghi leases of the 22nd of March, 1911, G L paid off two prior mortgages of 1907 and 1908. No reference, however, was made to these in the deeds of 1911 nor was there any contract between the parties to these deeds that the mortgagee was to be subrogated to the benefits of the earlier securities which were to be paid off. Moreover, the mortgages of 1907 and 1908 comprised other property besides that included in the deeds of 1911. Held, that it was not competent to G L in a suit on his zar : pesghi leases of 1911, to set up a title under the mortgages of 1907 and 1908 and claim to recover from A F the money which he had expended in their redemption. GULZARI LAL v AZIZ FATIMA (1919) I L R 41 All 372.

9 ————Priority over intermediate mortgage—Mortgage pending execution proceedings—Estoppel—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XXI, rr 13, 62, 66—Decision in course of execution proceedings, effect of—Order by consent, how far binding As to whether a subsequent mortgage is not entitled to be subrogated to the rights of the first depends upon the question whether the property has been sold subject to the mortgage or whether mere notice of the alleged mortgage has been given in the proclamation of sale. Jayant Singh v Issul-un-nissa Begam I L R 27 All. 97, Ramachandra Joishi v Hazi Kusun, I L R 16 Mad. 207, Shanappa Medambaraya v Subrao Ramchandra Yellapur, I L R 18 Bom 175, Shri Anwar Singh v Saeed Prasad Singh, I L R 28 All. 418, Ganesh Moreshwar Joshi v Parashottam Balkrishna Rode, I L R 33 Bom. 311 and Jangai Mal v Radha Kishan, I L R 35 All. 257, referred to KALIDAS CHAUDHURI v PRASAD KUMAR DAS (1919) I L R 47 Cal 440

TRANSFeree MORTGAGEE

———Transferee from benamidar—Right of suit. A transferee mortgagee can maintain a suit on the mortgage though the mortgagee named in the bond is only a benamidar and though the beneficial owner is not added as a party. Krishnas Das v Gopal Jiu 19 C L J 193, and Paramashwar Das v Ana Das I L R 37 All. 113 followed. SINGA PILLAY v GOVINDA REDDY (1917) I L R 41 Mad. 435

USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE

1 ————Bombay Regulation V of 1827, s XV, cl 3—Usufructuary mortgage of 1869—Agreement to pay the debt after fixed period—Suit by mortgagee after the expiration of the period for the recovery of the debt by sale of mortgaged property. A usufructuary mortgage executed in the year 1869 contained the following agreement—“The amount of Rs 1,750 is borrowed on the said premises. We three of us shall, after paying off the said amount of debt after fifteen years from this day, redeem our premises. I perhaps any one of us three might within the period pay off at one time the amount of rupees according to his share, you should allow redemption of the premises proportionately after receiving the amount and you should pass a receipt for the moneys received.” In the year 1903 the mortgagee having brought a suit for the recovery of the mortgage debt by sale of mortgaged property, the first Court allowed the claim, but the Appellate Court reversed the decree and dismissed the suit on the ground that where in the case of a usufructuary mortgage the mortgagor agrees to redeem by payment of the principal after a stated period, the mortgagee has no higher or better right than he has under a simple usufructuary mortgage. Held, on second appeal by the plaintiffs, that the mortgage in suit was governed by cl (3), s XV of Regulation V of 1827, and there being nothing in the terms of the agreement between the parties which either expressly or by implication indicated that the property should not by means of a suit be applied in liquidation of the debt, the suit would lie. The decree of the Appellate Court reversed and that of the first Court restored. Mahaday v Joti, I L R 17 Bom 425 and Ramchandra v Tripurabai, (1898) P J 45, followed Shrik Idra v Abdul Rahman, I L R 16 Bom 303, Sadasahu v Syannkatrao, I L R 20 Bom. 296 and Krishna v Hari, 10 Bom L R 615, explained. PARASHRAM v PUTLJIRAO (1909)

MORTGAGE—contdUSUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE—contd

I L R 34 Bom 128

2 ————Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1932) ss 265, 274—Debt—Immovable property—Execution of money-decree—Attachment. Where a deed of mortgage with possession provided that the mortgagee was to enjoy the profits in lieu of interest for ten years and was to be redeemed on the expiration of the term by payment of the mortgage money. Held, that the document created a purely usufructuary mortgage. Held, further that in the case of a usufructuary mortgage, there was no debt payable by the mortgagor to the mortgagee which could be attached in execution of a money decree against the assignee of the mortgagee, and that s 268 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1932) was not applicable to such a case. The procedure should be by attachment, under s 274 of the Civil Procedure Code of the interest in immovable property and its sale according to the provisions of the Code. Taraddi Bholanath v Bai Kashi, I L R 28 Bom 305 explained. MANILAL JAYCHOD v MOTIBHAI HEMABHAI (1911)

I L R 35 Bom 288

3 ————Usufructuary, if implies personal covenant to pay—Suit against debtor personally on usufructuary mortgage—Limitation Act 1877, Sec 11, Art 115. Every loan implies a promise to repay, and an unqualified admission of indebtedness is equivalent to an express covenant and creates a personal obligation. Keer v Ruxton, 4 C L J 510, referred to. A usufructuary mortgage providing for the repayment of the mortgage debt with interest from the rents and profits of the mortgaged property within a specified period on the expiry of which the mortgagor is to be put in possession, while prescribing a mode of payment, does not necessarily imply that the creditor is limited to that mode alone, if it is found insufficient to satisfy the debt. There was clearly a personal obligation to pay where the document expressly provided that the debtor would be responsible for the deficiency. Marotam v Shro Panchab, 1 P 111 A 53 1 I R 10 Cal 749 and Kaila Singh v Lora Ram L B 22 I A 88, 1 I P 22 Cal 434 distinguished. Parbat (Karan v Corinda Chandra), 4 C I J 246, referred to. A suit to recover from the debtor personally money due on a registered mortgage bond, is a suit for compensation for the breach of a contract in writing registered within the meaning of Art 116 of Sch. II of the Limitation Act. Kerr v Rastogi, 4 C I J 519 relied on. Sobh Cooper v Sir Mullaik I L B 6 Cal 91, and Hassan Ali v Hojaj Ali, 1 L B 3 48 699, referred to. Held on a construction of the document, that the present case fell within the second division of Art 116 of Sch. II of the Limitation Act. Where the mortgage bond provided that a specified sum would be paid out of the income of certain properties at prescribed times towards the satisfaction of the debt but the document gave the debtor seven years time altogether for the repayment of his loan. Held that it could not be held upon a construction of the document as a whole that whenever the mortgagee found it impossible to collect the sums mentioned at the appointed time, there was a breach of contract and that time ran from the date of each successive breach. The intention was that the liabilities of the parties should be adjusted on the expiry of the term and time ran from that date. Ram Narain Singh v Oodiyora Nath Mukherjee (1911). . . . 17 C W. N 339

MORTGAGE—contdUSUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE—contd

4. ———— Covenant to pay money due on simple mortgage before redemption of the usufructuary mortgage—Suit on simple mortgage barred by limitation—Redemption of usufructuary mortgage. Plaintiff executed a usufructuary mortgage and later executed a simple mortgage in favour of the defendant. In the latter bond he covenanted not to redeem the usufructuary mortgage till he had paid the money due on the second bond. The present suit was brought to redeem the usufructuary mortgage at a time when if the defendant had to sue on the simple mortgage it would have been barred by limitation. Held that the plaintiff was entitled to redeem the first mortgage without paying money due on the second bond. Krishna Kumbhar v Kasht Ram (1913). . . . 1 L R 27 All 634

5. ———— Contract on of—Balance remaining due to mortgagee at end of term of mortgage—Allegation in plaint of wrongful acts by mortgagee by which mortgagee was deprived of part of his security—Transfer of Property Act (I) of 1882, ss 53, 59 and 63—Mortgage deed was void and not enforceable as a mortgage—Privy Council, practice of—Preliminary and rehearing after decision of cases ex parte. The question for determination on this appeal was whether the respondents (mortgagees) were entitled to recover from the appellant (mortgagor) the balance due on a usufructuary mortgage dated 14th April 1896 where it was alleged that they had been deprived of part of their security by the wrongful acts of the mortgagor. It had been calculated that the amount borrowed, with interest, would be paid off by the rents of the properties mortgaged, on 14th January 1903 when they were to be returned to the mortgagee. Both parties acted on the deed. But on the date mentioned it was found that the mortgagee in possession had not by the collection of the rents received sufficient to discharge the principal of the loan with interest as mentioned in the deed. In a suit brought by the mortgagee on 13th January 1903, the deficiency was attributed in paragraph 6 and 17 of the plaint to the facts that the defendant (mortgagor) had taken rents which should have gone to the mortgagee but which had not been paid over to him by the mortgagee and that the rents in some cases were less than those mentioned in the deed and those were wrongful acts complained of. The claim was for a mortgage decree under O XXIV, r 4 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1904, or in the alternative for a decree for the amount due on the footing of the personal liability of the mortgagor. In the course of the suit it appeared that the mortgage deed had not been attested and the Subordinate Judge felt that it could not have regard to a 59 of the Transfer of Property Act (I) of 1882), be enforced as a mortgage, which decision as it was not appealed from became final. The sole question therefore was whether the mortgagee was personally liable. The facts on which the allegations of wrongful acts by the mortgagee were based were not investigated but both Courts in India held that on the construction of the deed it imposed a personal liability on the mortgagor and they made decrees in his favour. Held (reversing those decisions) that the nature and terms of the deed were such as to show that it was not originally intended that the mortgagor should be personally liable. The respondent ought to be given an opportunity of proving the allegations in paragraphs 6 and 7 of the plaint and of establishing that those facts were sufficient to bring a 59 of the Transfer of Property Act into operation. The position of the mortgagee under that section could not, however, by reason of the deed be better than it would have been if the mortgage had been duly attested. The case was for that purpose remitted to India for further trial. After the appeal had been heard ex parte and judgment had been given in favour of the appellant the respondents were allowed to have it reinstated and reheard on the ground that the person with whom they came to an agreement to defend the appeal on their behalf and to whom they advanced funds to pay the expenses of entering appearance and taking other necessary steps, in the conduct of the appeal defrauded them. Mortgagee plaintiff the money without doing anything in the matter of the appeal and left them in complete ignorance of its progress, until they discovered that there was not a word of truth in his misrepresentations and that the appeal had been decided ex parte against them. They had to pay the costs of the first hearing as the appellant was in no way to blame. Ram Narain Singh v Adhishdra Nath Mukherjee (1916). . . . 1 L R 44 Cal 398

MORTGAGE—contdUSUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE—contd

MISCELLANEOUS

1. ———— Suit to enforce earlier mortgages without joining the claim under the latest mortgage—Mortgageability. There is nothing in law to prevent a person who has several mortgages over the same property from bringing a suit on the earlier mortgages without joining in that suit his claim under the latest, if he does not in such a suit pray for the sale of the property subject to the latest mortgage. Kesharram Dulafram v Ranchhod Walra, 1 L R 30 Bora 156, Dorasami v Venkata Seshagayyar, 4 C W N 814, Bhagwan Das v Bhawanji, 1 L R 26 All 14, Rattu Krishnama Chariar v Annangara Chariar, 1 L R 39 Mad 353, referred to. GOPINDA PRASAD v LALA HARIBAB CHARAN (1910) 1 L R. 38 Calc. 60 14 C W N 1053

MORTGAGE—contd

MISCELLANEOUS—contd

2 ——— Two mortgages advancing money in equal shares—Discharge of debtor by one not binding on the other. One of two mortgagors who have advanced the mortgage money equally cannot give a good discharge for the entire mortgage debt without the consent of or reference to his co-mortgagee. Manzur Ali v Mahmud un nissa, 1 L R 25 All 155, followed. Bhup Singh v Zain ul Abidin 1 L R 9 All 205, and Barber Maran v Ramana Goundan, 1 L R 20 Mad 461, distinguished. RAM CHANDRA v. GOSWAMI RAJYAN LAL (1909) 1 L R. 32 All. 163

3 ——— Gross and culpable negligence of vendor (first mortgagee) in leaving title deeds with vendee (mortgagor)—Neither prior mortgage postponed thereby in favour of subsequent mortgage by deposit of title deeds—Search in Registration of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss 3, 78. S 78 of the Transfer of Property Act makes its three ingredients "fraud misrepresentation or gross negligence" disjunctive and one cannot be defined in terms of the other or others. They are three different kinds of conduct and are in no way co-extensive. Manindra Chandra Vandy v Troy Juckho Nath Barai 2 C W N 759, discussed and distinguished. Walker v Linom, [1907] 2 Ch 104 followed. Neglect to recover the title deeds by a vendor from a vendee who has secured the greater part of the purchase money to the vendor by giving him a mortgage on the property itself, when the vendor has full notice that the vendee is impecunious and a bad paymaster, and thereby the vendee is enabled to obtain a second mortgage on the property by deposit of the title deeds is gross and culpable negligence (which postpones the prior mortgagee), and is rendered more so by a deliberate suppress on of the existence of the mortgage in the sale deed and a suggestion that the purchase money was required in cash and paid accordingly. Colper v Finch, 5 H L 295, followed. Registration not being itself notice, a search made by the clerk to the solicitor to the vendee (mortgagor), who has an interest to conceal the encumbrance from the second mortgagee, cannot saddle the latter with notice of the encumbrance. Madras Building Company v Rocklandson, 1 L R 13 Mad 353, 1 L R 15 Mad 256, and Manya Karanbhai v Hoobas, 1 L R 35 Bom 312, followed. NANDA LAL ROY v ABDUL AZIZ (1911) 1 L R 43 Cal. 1052

4. ——— Framing suit—A suit brought to enforce a mortgage against a person as the legal representative of the mortgagor cannot be thrown out as improperly framed because the defendant sets up a title paramount to that of the mortgagor in the mortgaged premises. Jogirewar

MORTGAGE—contd

MISCELLANEOUS—contd

Dutt v Bhudan Mohan Mitter, 1 L R 30 Cal. 425 sc 3 C L J 205, distinguished. Bhaja Chaudhary v Chuni Lal Marwari 5 C L J 95 sc 11 C W N 254, relied on. NARAY CHANDRA KOONDGO v RATAN MALA (1910)

15 C W N 66

5 ——— Mortgage of sur land—Purchase of proprietary rights by mortgagee—Suit for redemption—Amount payable by mortgagor. After a usufructuary mortgage of certain sur lands the mortgagee at an auction sale in execution of a simple money decree purchased the proprietary rights in the mortgaged property, the mortgagor becoming an ex proprietary tenant. On a suit for redemption being brought Held, that the mortgagee having himself broken up the integrity of his security, could not be permitted to cast the whole burden of the debt upon the ex proprietary rights. Bisheshwar Dial v Pam Sarup 1 L R 22 All 284, referred to. CHUNY LAL v SIKISHAN SINGH (1911) 1 L R 33 All 434

6 ——— Mortgage of math properties—Math, Mahant of, dispute between rival chellars to succeed to—Mortgage of math properties by chellars who established will but never got possession—Compromise, chellars agreeing to manage math properties jointly—Mortgage, if valid—Onus. On the death of the Mahant of a math, disputes arose between two chellars one of whom succeeded in establishing a will in his favour purporting to be that of the deceased Mahant but could not get possession and the other who alleged that he had been installed by the deceased as his successor, managed to obtain and keep possession of the properties of the math. Pending these disputes the former executed the mortgage in suit hypothecating math properties. Soon after there was a compromise between the claimants under which the survivor of the two was to be the Mahant and till the death of one of them neither was to take the place of the deceased but both should jointly manage the properties and the survivor would be bound to repay loans jointly raised by the claimants. No provision was made in the compromise regarding the discharge of the mortgage in suit. Held, that the mortgagee was aware that the property mortgaged was property of the math and that the mortgagor had not succeeded in establishing his title as Mahant and that this suit to enforce the mortgage should fail. MADHO PRASAD v MAHANT KAMRATTAN GIN (1911) 15 C W N 839

7 ——— Suit upon a mortgage executed by Hindu widow and reversioner—Investigation of mortgagor's title not permissible in mortgage suit. In a suit upon a mortgage where it was proved that the mortgage deed had been duly executed by a Hindu widow and her reversioner it is not open to the Judge to investigate the mortgagor's title, nor is it permissible to the mortgagee to deny their title and judgment should be given for the plaintiffs with costs. GOPAL CHANDER SHAW v JADUMONEY DASSEE (1911)

15 C W N. 915

8 ——— Mistake of fact in—Knowledge of mistake by second mortgagee—Notice—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 31. A second mortgagee who has advanced money with the knowledge of a mutual mistake of fact between the mortgagor

MORTGAGE—contd

MISCELLANEOUS—contd

and the first mortgagee as to the subject matter of the first mortgage has notice of that mistake of fact and cannot plead that he has acquiesced in his rights in good faith under s 31 Specific Relief of Act. Where a plaintiff alleges a mutual mistake of fact extrinsic evidence of such mistake is admissible although no rectification thereof is prayed for. Karuppa Goundan alias Thoppala Goundan v Periyathambal Goundan, 1 L R 30 Mad 397 followed. MAHADEVA AIYAR v GOFALA AIYAR (1910) 1 L R 31 Mad. 51

9 ——— Administration—Co mortgagees—Appointment of a mortgagee as administrator or to mortgagee a estate—Extinguishment of debt—Plaintiff by co mortgagee as administrator against mortgagee as he is instead of mortgagee as administrator—Improper frame of suit—Limitation—Pro forma defendant transfer of—Limitation on Act (XV of 1877) s 20—Mortgage administrator's right to sue set. A S the father of the two defendants executed a mortgage bond in favour of A J repayable on the 16th October 1894. Subsequently A S executed a second mortgage in favour of A A and A N repayable on the 14th March 1896. A J transferred his security to A A and A N. In 1896 A S died leaving an infant daughter and infant son the present defendants as heirs. In 1897 A N took out letters of administration to the estate of A S and was at all acting as administrator when the present suit was instituted. In 1897 A A died and A N took out a succession certificate to collect the debts due to his estate. In 1903 the plaintiff took out letters of administration to the estate of A A. On the 2nd October 1906 shortly before the expiry of 12 years from the date on which the first security was repayable the plaintiff as administrator brought the present suit for the recovery of Rs 1524 on both securities against the defendants and joined A N as a pro forma defendant. A N showed that he was always ready to join the plaintiff and on the 20th December 1906 his name was transferred from the category of defendant to that of plaintiff. Held that the appointment of one of the mortgagees as administrator to the estate of the mortgagor did not extinguish the right of action of the mortgagee other than the one who was appointed administrator and had sufficient assets to satisfy his own share of the debt. The mortgagee administrator could not however maintain an action on Wentford v Wentford 1 Salted 229. In re Caer & Co 4 Ir Ch Rep 110. Harishwar Pershad v Bhoji Pershad 6 C L J 333. Maitron v Dennis 4 De G J & S 315. Vickers v Conwell 1 Eras 599. Smith v Skithope 31 Ch D 730. Powell v Brodhurst [1910] 2 Ch. 160. Steds v Steds 22 Q B D 637. Morley v Brad 3 Ves 679. Sitarum v Shrivihar 1 L R 28 Bom 299. Tamman Sugh v Lochman Kunawari 1 L R 6 All 318 followed. Banerjee v Nichols L R 6 Fg 268. Dexter v Arnold 3 Moore 231. Lowe v Pesket 16 C B 569. Berber Maran v Ramana Goundan, 1 L R 20 Mad 451 dated 1906. Bcha d v Molony 2 Ir Ch Rep 1 and Wallace v Kellogg 7 M & W 264 disapproved from. Held also that the appointment of A V as administrator vested in him the estate of A S under s 4 of the Probate and Administration Act 1881 and the suit should therefore have been brought against him and not against the heirs. Clegg v Rowland L R 3 Fg 368. Beresford v Ramasubbai, 1 L R 13 Mad 197. Francis v

MORTGAGE—contd

MISCELLANEOUS—contd

Harrison 43 Ch D 183. Morley v Morley 25 Beav 253 distinguished. Jaggewar Prutt v Babban Mohan Hittia 1 L R 33 Calc. 425 referred to. The transfer of a party from pro forma defendant to plaintiff is not an addition of a new party within the meaning of s. 20 of the Limitation Act. Nayendrabala Debba v Tara pada Aclaryee 8 C L J 286. Khad v Mouden v Rama Nank 1 L R 17 Mad 190 followed. Abdul Rahaman v Amir Ali 1 L R 31 Calc 612 dated 1905. Pyari Mohan Bose v Kedarnath Poo 1 L R 26 Calc 403 referred to. No interest should be allowed to a mortgagee administrator from the date when sufficient assets became available to him for repayment of the mortgage money. Robinson v Crampton 2 Atk 469. Pope v Lloyd 5 Peters 304 and Adams v Calc 2 A k 106 referred to. HOSAINABA BEGAM v PAHMANWESSA BEGAM (1910) 1 L R 33 Calc 342

10 ——— Whether security kept alive for benefit of person making payment—Mortgage, discharge of. The question whether a mortgage which has been satisfied is to be construed as extinguished or kept alive for the benefit of the person who makes the payment is a question of intent on to be determined with reference to the surrounding circumstances as they exist at the time when the mortgage is discharged. If it is to the advantage of the person paying that the security should be kept alive the law will presume that he intended to keep it alive. Bhawani Koer v Mathura Prasad 1 C L J 41 referred to. MAHALAKSHMINIMAL v SRINIVASA MADHWA SIDDHANTA GOVINDA NIDHI LD (1910) 1 L R 35 Mad. 812

11 ——— Prior and subsequent mortgages—Suit by first mortgagee with impleading second—Decree and sale—Subsequent suit by second mortgagee against purchasers under decree in first suit—Plaintiff held bound to redeem first mortgage. The plaintiff brought his suit for sale of certain property in satisfaction of a mortgage of the year 1877 which was a renewal of a mortgage of 1876. The defendants were purchasers at a sale in execution of a decree on a mortgage which bore a later date in 1875 than the plaintiff's first mortgage but was a renewal of a previous mortgage of 1869. To the suit in which the decree had been passed the plaintiff had not been made a party. The defendants had been in possession of the property 20 years purchased by them for some twenty years. Held that the plaintiff had no absolute right to bring the property to sale in satisfaction of his mortgage subject to the mortgage of 1869 and that in the circumstances he ought to redeem that mortgage before bringing the property to sale. Matu D n Kaseodan v Ram Huse 1 L R 13 All 430. Ram Shankar Lal v Ganesh Prasad 1 L R 29 All. 385. Raj Prasad v Bhagwan Das 1 L R 4 All. 198. Kanki Ram v Kanki datt Mohomed 1 L R 22 Calc. 33. Baldeo Prasad v Uman Shankar 1 L R 30 All. 1. Matiullah Khan v Banwari Lal 1 L R 32 All. 138. Kanoo Lal v Heloo Singh 9 All. L J 29. Gangayan Yankala amara Iyer v Henry James Colley Gompie 1 L R 31 Mad 476 and Har Pershad Lal v Dalmardan Singh 1 L R 32 Calc 891 referred to. Dindendra Narayan Poy v Ramnarayan Paterjee 1 L R 30 Calc 599 discussed and doubted. MAHOMAR LAL v PAN BART (1910) 1 L R 34 All 523

MORTGAGE—contd.

MISCELLANEOUS—contd

12 ——— Prior and subsequent mortgages—Release of part of mortgaged property for less than its value—Suit for recovery of entire balance of mortgage debt from the remainder of mortgaged property Held, that a first mortgagee cannot be allowed to release part of the mortgaged property for less than its due proportion of the mortgage money and then claim a decree against the mortgagor and a puisne mortgagee for the recovery of the whole of the balance of the mortgage money out of the remainder of the property. Mir Ekus Ali Haji v Panchanan Chatterjee, 15 C W N 800, Hars Aissen Bhagat v Velast Hossein, 1 L R 30 Cal 755, and Ponnusami Mudaliar v Srinivasa Naickan, 1 L P 31 Mad 333 referred to. JUGAL KISHORE SAHU v KEDAR NATH (1912) 1 L R 34 All 608

13 ——— Company—Mortgage—Managing agents—Articles of association, breach of by managing agents—Acts requiring approval of directors—Presumption regarding internal management—Validity of deed irregularly executed—Equitable security—Winding up—Lease—Liquidators in possession—Acquiescence of landlord—Errors of rents and royalties, whether secured debts. The company's articles of association empowered the managing agents, with the approval of the directors, to borrow or raise sums of money for the purposes of the company, and to secure repayment of such sums by mortgage or charge of the property of the company, and to draw all such instruments as should be necessary for the carrying on of the business of the company, and directed that every instrument to which the seal of the company was affixed should be signed by at least one director, and countersigned by the managing agents. L. D., a stranger, advanced money to the company which was credited in the company's books under loan account, and was given an instrument by way of hypothecation or security to which was affixed the seal of the company and which was signed by the managing agents, but it did not sufficiently appear that the money had been borrowed with the approval of the directors and the instrument was not signed by any of the directors as required by the articles. Held that it was not necessary to show the approval of the directors, inasmuch as this was a matter of internal management regarding which the lender was if he knew nothing to the contrary entitled to assume as against the company that the managing agents had the authority or approval of the directors. The Royal British Bank v Turpin & Co Ltd & El 327, In re County Life Assurance Co, 1 T & C App 233, County of Gloucester Bank v Dudley Merthyr Colliery Co, [1895] 1 Ch 629 and In re Bank of Syria, [1901] 1 Ch 115 followed. With regard to the signature of a director, even if the security be not complete, the lender who had advanced money to the company upon the terms that security should be given him, is entitled under the rules of equity to have a charge upon the property of the company. In re Queensland Land and Coal Co, [1894] 3 CA 181, and Peppas v South Transvaal Co, Ltd, [1905] 1 Ch 253 followed. Where a landlord to whom rents and royalties are payable by a company which goes into liquidation, acquiesces in the liquidators retaining in possession of the property leased, he cannot claim to be a secured creditor in respect of arrears of such rents and royalties. CHAPNOCK COLLIERIES Co, Ltd, v BHOLAKATH DHAR (1912) 1 L R 39 Cal 810

MORTGAGE—contd

MISCELLANEOUS—contd

14 ——— Right of reversioner partly to mortgage to question surrender in favour of mortgagor. A Hindu mother inheriting one fifth share on death of S one of her five sons, gave it up to her remaining sons in consideration of an annuity. The interest of S derived by three of the sons, under the surrender was subsequently mortgaged. In a suit to enforce the mortgage instituted against the mother who had inherited the shares of the mortgagors in which M, the sole surviving son was joined as a party as reversioner the mother dying during the pendency of the suits. Held that the fact that M, the sole reversionary heir of S, was a party to the mortgage suit would not preclude him from questioning the validity of the surrender and establishing such right to one fifth share of S as he might have as a reversioner entitled to possession. The circumstances under which a pardara Hindu lady agrees to sell or mortgage property must be carefully examined to ascertain she had independent advice and sufficient intelligence. MATI LAL DAS v THE EASTERN MORTGAGE AND AGENCY CO, Ltd 22 C W N 165

15 ——— Paddy loan—Lands mortgaged to secure repayment of price of paddy—Money charged upon immovable property—Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sec 1, Art 12. Where paddy had been borrowed on an agreement to repay the price of the paddy with interest thereon on default the mortgagee being entitled to recover the same by attachment and sale of the mortgagor's lands which were given in mortgage, in a suit to enforce the mortgage bond. Held that the money was charged upon immovable property, and Art 132 Sec 1 of the Limitation Act was applicable. Pashchhari Das v Anupabikari Patra 21 C L J 349 distinguished. Srinivas Lall Dutt v Sarat Chandra Mondal 22 C B N 160 and Ashwini Singh v Haradshan Das 13 C B N 1, eluzio n, referred to. INDRA NARAIN SHARMA v DRISABAN SAMANTA (1919) 1 L R 47 Cal 125

16 ——— Priority in the mortgage—Sub-mortgage including property in Calcutta—Suit by sub mortgagee—Home of law—Jurisdiction of High Court—Waver—Levy, dicta. The mortgagee of a certain property situate in the mofussil transferred his interest therein to a sub mortgagee and included in that document a certain other property in Calcutta as further security. Held, that the sub mortgagee could not enforce in the mofussil Court the security under the original mortgage against the original mortgagee just as the mortgagee might have done. Held, also, that the sub mortgagee might also sue the mortgagor on the Original Side of this Court and for his equity of redemption. Held, also, that the sub mortgagee could not be allowed by the inclusion of two claims in one suit against his mortgagee and against the original mortgagor in respect of properties situated as regards one of them in the mofussil alone to make the composite suit against both the defendants maintainable in the Original Side of this Court. Potterjee & Co Ltd, Ltd v Shargere Ltd, 1 L P 25 Cal 824, Sarat Chandra Roy Choudhury v M D Baidya, 1 and the first mortgagee as to the subject matter of the first mortgage has notice of that mistake of fact and cannot plead that he has acquired his rights in good faith under s 31 Specific Relief Act. Where a plaintiff alleges a mutual mistake of fact extrinsic evidence of such mistake is admissible although no rectification thereof is prayed for. Karappa Goundan alias Thoppala Goundan v Periyathambi Goundan, 1 L R 30 Mad 397 followed. MAHADEVA AIYAR v GOPALA AIYAR (1910) 1 L R 34 Mad. 51

MORTGAGE—contdMISCELLANEOUS—contd

9 ——— Administration—Co mortgagees—Appointment of a mortgagee as administrator to mortgagee's estate—Extinguishment of debt—Partes—Suit by co mortgagees as administrators against mortgagee's heirs instead of mortgagee's administrator—Improper frame of a suit—Liability—Pro forma defendant transfer of—Limit on Act (XV of 1877) s 22—Mortgage administrator's right to interest. A S the father of the two defendants, executed a mortgage bond in favour of A J repayable on the 16th October 1894. Subsequently A S executed a second mortgage in favour of A A and A N repayable on the 14th March 1896. A J transferred his security to A A and A N. In 1898 A S died leaving an infant daughter and infant son the present defendants as heirs. In 1897 A N took out letters of administration to the estate of A S and was still acting as administrator when the present suit was instituted. In 1897 A A died and A N took out a success on certificate to collect the debts due to his estate. In 1902 the plaintiff took out letters of administration to the estate of A A. On the 22nd October 1906 shortly before the expiry of 12 years from the date on which the first security was repayable the plaintiff as administrator brought the present suit for the recovery of Rs 1524 on both securities against the defendants and joined A N as a pro forma defendant. A N showed that he was always ready to join the plaintiff and on the 20th December 1906 his name was transferred from the category of defendant to that of plaintiff. Held that the appointment of one of the mortgagees as administrator to the estate of the mortgagor did not extinguish the right of action of the mortgagee other than the one who was appointed administrator and had sufficient assets to satisfy his own share of the debt. The mortgagee administrator could not however maintain an action. Wankford v Wankford 1 Salted 299 in re Curell 4 Ir CA Rep 112. Haniff Pershad v Bhatt Pershad 6 C L J 383. Mateem v Dennis, 4 DeG J & S 315. Tuckers v Cowell 1 Bear 529. Smith v Sidthorpe 24 Ch D 732. Powell v Brookhurst [1910] 2 Ch 160. Steele v Steele 22 Q B D 537. Morley v Erd 3 Ves 679. Sitaram v Shrivakar, 1 L R 26 Bom 297. Tamman Singh v Lakshmin Kulkarni 1 I P 26 All 318 followed. Biswas v Nichols L R 2 Eq 216. Dexter v Arnold 3 Mason 284. Lowe v Peckell 16 C B 600. Barber Maran v Ramana Goundan 1 L R 20 Mad 491 distinguished. Pickard v Molony 2 Ir CA Rep. 1 and Wallace v Kelsoff 7 M & W 261 distinguished from. Held also that the appointment of A N as administrator vested in him the estate of A S under s. 4 of the Probate and Administration Act 1881, and the suit should therefore have been brought against him and not against the heirs. Clegg v Bowland, L R 3 Eq 368. Beresford v Ramaswami, 1 L R 13 Mad. 197. Francis v

MORTGAGE—contdMISCELLANEOUS—contd

Harrison 43 CA D 183. Morley v Morley 25 Bear 253 distinguished. Jaggeswar Dutt v Bhuvan Mohan Mitter 1 L P 33 Cal 425 referred to. The transfer of a party from pro forma defendant to plaintiff is not an addition of a new party within the meaning of s 22 of the Limitation Act. Angendrabala Delya v Torapada Acharjee 8 C L J 286. Khad'r Mouden v Rama Naik 1 L P 17 Mad 12, followed. Abdul Rahaman v Amir Ali 1 L R 34 Cal 612 distinguished. Piyari Mohan Dose v Kedarnath Poy 1 L R 26 Cal 409 referred to. No interest should be allowed to a mortgagee administrator from the date when sufficient assets became available to him for repayment of the mortgage money. Robinson v Cumming 2 All 402. Puge v Lloyd 5 Peters 301 and Adams v Gale, 2 All 106 referred to. HOSAINARA BEGAM v RAHMANESSA BEGAM (1910) 1 L R 35 Cal 242

10 ——— Whether security kept alive for benefit of person making payment—Mortgage discharge of. The question whether a mortgage which has been satisfied is to be construed as extinguished or kept alive for the benefit of the person who makes the payment is a question of intent on to be determined with reference to the surrounding circumstances as they exist at the time when the mortgage is discharged. If it is to the advantage of the person paying that the security should be kept alive, the law will presume that he intended to keep it alive. Bhuvan Koor v Mathura Prasad 1 C L J 31 referred to. MAHALAKSHMINAMMAL v SRINIVAS MADHWA SIDDHANTA OOMATHI NIDHI Ltd (1912) 1 L R 35 Mad. 642

11 ——— Prior and subsequent mortgages—Suit by first mortgage with impleading second—Decree and sale—Subsequent suit by second mortgagee against purchasers under decree in first suit—1st plaintiff held bound to redeem first mortgagee. The plaintiff brought his suit for sale of certain property in satisfaction of a mortgage of the year 1877 which was a renewal of a mortgage of 1875. The defendants were purchasers at a sale in execution of a decree on a mortgage which bore a later date in 1875 than the plaintiff's first mortgage, but was a renewal of a previous mortgage of 1869. To the suit in which this decree had been passed the plaintiff had not been made a party. The defendants had been in possession of the property so purchased by them for some twenty years. Held that the plaintiff had no absolute right to bring the property to sale in satisfaction of his mortgage subject to the mortgage of 1869 and that in the circumstances he ought to redeem that mortgage before bringing the property to sale. Mata Din Kasodhan v Ka im Husa 1 L R 13 All 439. Ram Shankar Lal v Ganesh Prasad 1 L R 29 All 385. Har Prasad v Bhagwan Das 1 L R 4 All 196. Kanai Ram v Kuttub-uddin Mahomed 1 L R 22 Cal 33. Baldes Prasad v Lman Shankar 1 L R 32 All 1. Mata-ullah Khan v Panwar Lal 1 L R 32 All 133. Kanai Lal v Rulas Singh 9 All L J 29. Campbell Vankararamana Iyer v Henry James Colley Gompert 1 L P 31 Mad 495, and Har Pershad Lal v Dalimardan Singh, 1 L R 32 Cal 491 referred to. Debrunda Narain Poy v Ramaran Danerjee 1 L R 30 Cal 599 discussed and doubted. MAHOMAD LAL v RAM BABU (1912) 1 I R 34 All 323.

MORTGAGE BOND—contd.

full settlement of the debt due, the mortgagor is entitled to get credit, as against the transferee, not only for what he actually paid but for the whole mortgage debt. Where a receipt by the mortgagee, in terms, only discharges a mortgage debt, it does not fall under s 17 (b) of the Registration Act, and is admissible in evidence, though it was not registered. Where, in a suit for sale instituted by the transferee of a mortgage bond against the mortgagee and mortgagor, a decree was passed against the latter, but on appeal by him, the decree against him was reversed, the Appellate Court had power, under O XII, r 33, Civil Procedure Code, to pass a decree against the mortgagee, who was a respondent in the appeal, even though the plaintiff had not filed an appeal or memorandum of objections. NEELMANI PATTAIK MISSADEV v. SURADUV BEHARU (1920) 1 L. R. 43 Mad. 803

MORTGAGE BY KARNAYAN.

See MORTGAGE. 1 L. R. 37 Mad. 420

MORTGAGE-DEBT.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss 11, 47 1 L. R. 37 Bom. 41

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s 90. 1 L. R. 34 Bom. 540

—Mortgage debt, is movable or immovable property Under the Hindu, as under English law, a mortgage is treated as personal or movable property, the land being considered as merely a pledge or security for the money lent. SURESHWAR MISSEER v. MORESH RAO MESRAI (1915) . . . 20 C. W. N. 142

MORTGAGE DECREE.

See APPEAL. 1 L. R. 41 Cal. 418

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss 47, 73, 104

1 L. R. 39 Mad. 570

s 43 1 L. R. 40 Mad. 989

O XXXIV

See COURT FEES 4 Pat. L. J. 191

See DAMNIFAT, RULE OF

1 L. R. 40 Cal. 710

See DECREE 3 Pat. L. J. 478

See EQUITABLE MORTGAGE

1 L. R. 38 Cal. 824

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

1 L. R. 40 Cal. 704

See INSOLVENCY. 1 L. R. 42 Cal. 72

See MORTGAGE

See SALE. 1 L. R. 48 Cal. 69

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE

1 L. R. 44 Cal. 524

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, s 12

3 Pat. L. J. 182

—decree nisi—

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF

ACT (XVII OF 1879), s 15B

1 L. R. 43 Bom. 477

—When personal decree will be given as well—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O

XXXIV, s 6 6 Pat. L. J. 108

—Held, upon a construction of the mortgage decree sought to be executed

MORTGAGE DECREE—contd.

that the direction as to payment of interest at the rate stipulated in the bond "up to the date of payment" referred not to the date fixed by the preliminary decree for payment but to the date of actual realisation of the money. RADHIKA MOHAN GHOSH v. BROJENDRA KUMAR SANA

14 C. W. N. 125

1 (a). ——— Mortgage-decree, if also money decree and if decree holder may be allowed to execute against other property before exhausting security—Civil Procedure Code, 1908, s 73, O. XXXIV, rr 6, 6, and O XXI, rr 10 12, 13—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 90. Where the holder of a mortgage decree applied to Court for an order to be allowed to execute the mortgage-decree as a money decree by attachment of some other property or for the passing of a supplemental decree for the purpose, but at the same time reserving his rights under the mortgage decree, on his giving an undertaking not to take any steps as against the mortgaged property till he has exhausted the other property. Held, that such an order could not be made having regard to O XXXIV, rr 5 and 6 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Hari v. Tara Prasanna Mukerjee, 1 L. R. 11 Cal. 718, commented on. A decree passed in a mortgage suit and directing the realization of the decretal amount from the mortgaged property and, if insufficient, from the defendant personally, is a mortgage decree and not a money decree. Fasil Howladar v. Krishna Bandhoo Roy, 1 L. R. 25 Cal. 580, Lal Behary Singha v. Habibul Faohman, 1 L. R. 26 Cal. 186, Arituck Nath Pandey v. Juggernoth Ram Marwari, 1 L. R. 27 Cal. 285, referred to. A person who has taken a mortgage decree should not be allowed to treat it as a money-decree and to execute the decree against other properties without exhausting his remedies in respect of the security under his decree. It is only after sale of the mortgage security that a decree for the balance due on the mortgage may be given, if it was recoverable from the mortgagor personally and his other property and the decree may be executed as an ordinary money decree. Gopal Das v. Ali Mohammed, 1 L. R. 10 All. 632, Ram Runjan Chakrobarty v. Indra Narain Das, 10 C. W. N. 862, 1 L. R. 33 Cal. 890, referred to. SURJA KUMAR KARPHORA v. PRAMADA SUNDAREE DEBI (1913) . . . 17 C. W. N. 1039

2. ——— Application for order absolute—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss 85 and 89—Successee applications within three years of each preceding application—Last application within twelve years of decree, if barred—Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Arts. 181, 182, 183—Preliminary decree, executability of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 43. A decree for sale was passed in a mortgage suit on the 7th October 1901, and an application for order absolute was made on the 6th April 1904, subsequent applications were made in 1907, 1910 and 1912 all within three years of the immediately preceding application; notices were sent to the judgment debtor in most of the applications, but the latter were all dismissed without the relief prayed for being granted; the last application was made on the 15th April 1912; the judgment-debtor objected that the application was barred by limitation as more than

MORTGAGE—contd.MISCELLANEOUS—contd.

L R 37 Calc 507 and Harindra Lal Roy Chowdhury v Hari Das Deb I L R 41 Calc 372, I R 51 I A 110 referred to. Where the decision of the Court is void for want of jurisdiction over the subject matter of a suit it cannot operate as res judicata in order that a judgment may be conclusive between the parties the essential prerequisite is that it should be the judgment of a Court of competent jurisdiction under s 11 of the Civil Procedure Code. Where a Court judicially considers and adjudicates the question of its jurisdiction and decides that facts exist which are necessary to give it jurisdiction over the case the decision is conclusive till it is set aside in an appropriate proceeding. But where there has been no such adjudication the decree remains a decree without jurisdiction and cannot operate as res judicata. Krishna Kishore De v Anant Khettry (1920) I L R 47 Calc 770

17. — non joinder of all heirs of mortgagor—Decree for proportionate amount against defendants on record. All the heirs of mortgagor not made parties—Suit, if liable to be dismissed for non joinder of parties. A mortgage suit in which all the heirs of the mortgagor were not made parties had been dismissed by the lower Courts for non joinder of parties. Held that the plaintiffs were at the least entitled to a decree for a proportionate share of the mortgage money as against the defendants who were on the record. Even if it be assumed that the persons who had been left out, could if joined have successfully urged the plea of limitation that would not afford a defense in favour of the persons who had been joined as parties within the prescribed time. Imam Ali v Bayanath Ram Sahu I L R 33 Calc 613 s c 10 C W N 551 (1906) followed. HAN CHANDRA ROY v MAHAMED HUSAIN 25 C W N 594

18. — Of land comprising air land by U P.—Proprietor Decree for sale of property with all actual and reputed rights as detailed in the mortgage.—Sale if passed s c land—Act IX of 1882 s 42. A person whose proprietary rights in land comprised air land comprising his entire interest therein including the rights in the air land. In the decree for sale upon the mortgage the parties agreed that the properties scheduled in the decree for sale instead of including the cultivating rights in air should comprise the property with all actual and reputed rights as detailed in the mortgage. Held that in the face of the decree it was not open to the mortgagor to urge that the rights of the mortgagee to sell the air lands were taken away by the decree. GULABSIINGH v DIWAT BAHADUR BALLABHIAN (P C.) 23 C W N 933

19. — Successive mortgages—Suit by first mortgagee without impleading subsequent mortgagee—Purchaser at mortgage sale may set up first mortgagee as shield in subsequent mortgagee's suit—Successive mortgagee's right to be placed in the same position as he would be if he had been impleaded. Under s 3 of Ord XXIV of the Civil Procedure Code (which has repealed s 80 of the Transfer of Property Act) an owner of a property who is in the right of a first mortgagee and of the original mortgagor, as acquired at a sale under the first mortgage, is entitled, at the suit of a subsequent mortgagee who (not having been made a party in the first mortgagee's suit) is not bound by the sale or the decree on which it proceeded to set up the first mortgagee as a shield. Het Ram v Shadi Lal (1) Mairu Mal v Durga Kewar (2) and Vanmukulunga Madali v Chidambara Chetty (3), referred to. But in such a case the puisne mortgagee (plaintiff) also is entitled to be put in the position which he would have occupied had he been made a party to the first mortgagee's suit. After two mortgages had been effected by the owner of certain properties the first mortgagee sued on his mortgage and purchased the property without impleading the second mortgagee. Later on his successor in interest executed another mortgage in favour of the plaintiff. Subsequently the second mortgagee sued on his mortgage without impleading the plaintiff and in that suit the then owners recovered from the second mortgagee the amount of the first mortgage (which they set up as a shield) but as they failed to redeem the second mortgagee the property was sold and purchased by the latter. In plaintiff's suit to enforce plaintiff's mortgage against the property in the hands of the second mortgagee. Held that the amount of the first mortgage had been wrongly taken away by the owners the same being then subject to the mortgage of the plaintiff and that therefore in this suit unless the defendant paid to the plaintiff that amount with interest plaintiff was entitled to get a decree for sale of so much of the estate as would realise that sum and for the rest on condition the plaintiff paid defendants the amount of the decree on the second mortgage. MUSAMMAT SIKHI v MUNSHI GHULAM SAFFAR KHAN 28 C W N 283

MORTGAGE—contd.MISCELLANEOUS—contd.

MORTGAGE BOND

See ATTESTING WITNESSES

I L R 49 Calc 61

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L R 45 Calc 530

S c LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) SCH I, ARTS 13^o 75 I L R. 39 Mad 951

See MORTGAGE.

See RECEIPT I L R 42 Calc 546

Attestation—Scribe, signature and attestation by validity of—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 59. Where no mark seal or thumb impression of the mortgagor appears on a mortgage deed the scribe who executes the document for and on behalf of the mortgagor is not competent to attest his own signature as an attesting witness. Shamu Patter v Abdul Kadir Raseetha I L R 35 Mad 697 I L R. 39 I A 218 referred to. URENDRA CHANDRA BRADRA v HUKUM CHAND DE (1018)

I L R 48 Calc 522

Transfer—Absence of notice to mortgagor—Payment to mortgagee by mortgagor after transfer without notice thereof—Payment in full settlement of debt—Effect of payment—Receipt by mortgagee necessary for registration—Registration Act (XVI of 1908) s 17 (b)—Civil Procedure Code O XXI s 33—Memorandum of objections whether necessary—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 130, principle of Payment by the mortgagor to the mortgagee after, but without notice of a transfer of the mortgage, must, in the absence of collusion, be allowed to the mortgagor as against the transferee. Where such payment was accepted by the mortgagee in is to have it set aside in accordance with law but until it is set aside its validity cannot be questioned in execution proceedings [But see Jungti Lal v. Laddu Ram Marwari (p 240)] Although no formal appointment of a guardian ad litem has been made, where the Court, by its action, has given its sanction to the appearance of a guardian, the absence of a formal order of appointment is not necessarily fatal to the proceedings unless the interests of the person acting as guardian are adverse to the interests of the minor KESHAWESARINDRA SAHAI v. RANI DEENDRA BALA DASST 4 Pat. L. J. 213

MORTGAGE DECREE—could

7 (a) ——— An application for final decree in a foreclosure suit should be made by the plaintiff but where it was made by the transferees from the defendants in the presence of the plaintiff it was held good. The proviso to O. XXXIV, r. 3 gives the Court a discretionary power to extend the time for payment of the decretal amount but a mortgagor has no absolute right to pay the money after the expiry of the specified period even though no final decree had at the time of such payment been made RATNAKAR GOWSTIA v. CHAMRA SATPASTY 4 Pat. L. J. 347

8 ——— Whether purchaser in execution of takes priority over purchaser under rent decree—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1835), s. 167—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), O. XXI, r. 100 A purchaser under a rent-decree is not liable to be ousted by a person who purchases the same property in execution of a mortgage decree, even though the mortgage has not been annulled under s. 167 of the Bengal Tenancy Act SUBAT LAL CHoudhury v. LALA MORLIDHAR 4 Pat. L. J. 362

9 ——— Preliminary decree embodying compromise—increasing rate of interest—whether decree holder entitled to interest at increased rate A Court passing a preliminary decree in a suit on a mortgage is at liberty to make an order for the payment of interest at any rate that may seem suitable. If no appeal is made against the order fixing the rate of interest, then that order becomes final and cannot be questioned in any future proceeding. Where, therefore, a suit to enforce a mortgage was compromised on the following, among other conditions, namely—that the rate of interest stated in the bond should be increased from Rs 1 0 0 per mensem to Rs 3 2 0 per mensem, and this condition was mentioned in the decrees made upon the compromise, and there was no appeal from that decree—Held, that when the mortgagee applied for a decree absolute upon the taking of an account the mortgagor was not entitled to object that the rate of interest agreed upon in the compromise was in excess of the rate claimed in the plaint, or that the preliminary decree providing for interest at that rate was outside the jurisdiction of the Court making the decree BENUDHAN PANDA v. KANGOI KRISHNA CHANDRA DAS 4 Pat. L. J. 366

10 ——— Execution—Limitation In cases falling within Art 181 of the Limitation Act, 1908, the date upon which the right to apply accrues is, in the case of an application to convert a preliminary decree into a decree absolute, the date upon which the period of grace expires. RAS BEHARI SINGH v. JUMAN LAL 4 Pat. L. J. 523

MORTGAGE DECREE—could

11. ——— Preliminary Decree awarding interest—up to date of realization—Final decree, no provision as to interest—Date up to which interest recoverable Where a preliminary mortgage decree awarded the plaintiff interest at the bond rate up to the date of realization and the final decree merely made the preliminary decree absolute without mentioning the interest, held, that the Court must be presumed to have refused interest and the decree holder therefore was not entitled to any interest after the expiry of the days of grace. TERATI KRISHNA PRASAD v. SURENDRA MOHON KUNDU 5 Pat. L. J. 698

12. ——— Construction Direction to pay interest on decretal amount at bond rate up to "date of payment," if refers to date of actual realization Held, upon a construction of the mortgage decree sought to be executed that the direction as to payment of interest at the rate stipulated in the bond "up to the date of payment" referred not to the date fixed by the preliminary decree for payment but to the date of actual realization of the money 14 C. W. N. 125

MORTGAGE-DEED.

See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872), s. 68.

1 L. R. 40 All 256

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI of 1908), ss 32, 33, 71, 73, 75, 87, 88.

1 L. R. 40 All 434

See STAMP ACT (II of 1909), s. 2 (17),

1 L. R. 38 Mad. 646

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV of 1882)—

s. 59 1 L. R. 41 Bom. 384

ss 60 AND 68 1 L. R. 38 Mad. 607

——— attestation of when executed by pardanashin ladies—

See PARDANASHIN LADIES

1 L. R. 45 Cal. 743

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV of 1882), s. 59 1 L. R. 37 All 474

MORTGAGE OR SALE

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT

1 L. R. 40 Bom. 278

——— Deed of sale with condition of repurchase, if mortgage—Extraneous circumstances if and when may be referred to to determine nature of deed—Mortgage transaction—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art 134—Perpetuity rule against, whether applicable D executed in favour of A a deed of out and out sale with a condition of repurchase of a house but no date was fixed for repurchase. On the same date B executed a kabulyat in favour of A by which he accepted lease of the house sold. The Court took into consideration how the language of the document was related to the existing facts such as that the vendor continued in possession, paid rent at the usual rate of interest, etc., and, further, that the value of the property was much more than the consideration paid. Held, that these are legitimate materials on which a Court is entitled to say that the transaction was a mortgage, and in so doing the Court does not infringe the provisions of s. 92 of the Evidence Act or disregard anything laid down in Balkrishna Das v. Legg, 1 L. R. 22 All 149. A mortgagee's right to redeem is exempt from the operation of the rule against perpetuity. SULAZADI BIR v. SURESH JAMAL (1913) 17 C. W. N. 1053

MORTGAGE DECREE—contd.

three years have elapsed from the date of decree. Held that the application was not barred by limitation. Held, also, that the following propositions are deductible from the decided cases:—
 (i) The preliminary decree passed under s. 88 of the Transfer of Property Act is executable. (ii) In order to obtain the order absolute under s. 89 of the Transfer of Property Act, steps have to be taken in execution. (iii) To such application Art 182 or 183 of the Limitation Act will apply as the decree happens to be of a mutasaf Court or of the original side of the High Court. (iv) There is a fresh starting point given to the decree holder after the preliminary decree ripens into a final decree. (v) A decree holder will have twelve years under s. 43 of the Code of Civil Procedure, to perfect the preliminary decree and another twelve years under the same section, if he gets the order absolute within the first twelve years. Abdul Majid v. Jannah Lal 1 L. R. 36 All 359, followed. Munna Lal v. Sarat Chandra, 21 C. L. J. 115, followed. Ashfaq Hussain v. Gauri Sahai, 1 L. R. 33 All 261 explained. Mallikarjuniah v. Lingamurthi Pasula 1 L. R. 25 Mad 245, and Rangiah Goundan and Co. v. Nanyappa Row, 1 L. R. 28 Mal 789, referred to. Husain v. Karim (1915) 1 L. R. 39 Mad. 244.

3. ———— Appeal by purchaser in execution of revenue-sale—Appellant declares not liable, effect of appellate Court's order. An order in an appeal by one of several defendants ensures to the benefit of the other defendants only if the interests of the latter are inseparable from the interest of the defendant appellant. Where a decree in a mortgage suit made all the properties covered by the mortgage liable to sale, and a person who had purchased one of the properties at a revenue-sale appealed from the decree, and the Appellate Court exonerated him from liability under the mortgage. Held, that the result of the appeal was to free only the property in which the defendant appellant had an interest, leaving untouched the decree of the original Court in so far as the interests of the other defendants (mortgagors and pawns mortgagees) were concerned. MAHENDRA KOVS v. SATYRAJ LALL.

3 Pat L. 2. 168

3 (a). ———— Compromise—binding other properties of mortgaged properties not sufficient—Recovery of balance—Practice—Code of Civil Procedure (Act 3 of 1908) O XXIV, r 6. A formal order under O XXIV, r 6 Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 is a necessary preliminary to pursue properties not covered by mortgage even where the original decree is a compromise decree declaring that the judgment debtors' other properties are to be liable in the event of the mortgaged properties not realising sufficient to cover the decretal amount. KABIMULLA SHAH v. MIRZA MUHAMMAD RAZA. 3 Pat L. J. 649.

4. ———— Whether pawns mortgage is bound to redeem prior mortgage before bringing property to sale—Sale of pawns mortgage of property subject to a prior mortgage—If both pawns mortgagee decrees holder entitled to notify prior mortgage held by himself but not mentioned in the pleadings. A pawns mortgagee is not bound to make a prior mortgagee a party to his suit for sale and he is entitled to bring the mortgaged property to sale without redeeming the prior mortgage. A pawns mortgagee is entitled to bring the mortgaged property to sale subject to a prior mortgage held by another person or subject to a mortgage held by himself at all events when he is unable to sue upon the prior mortgage. Where a pawns mortgagee sued upon her mortgage without mentioning a prior mortgage held by her on the property, and obtained a decree absolute for sale of the mortgage property. Held, that the mortgagee was entitled to have the prior mortgage notified at the execution sale. JAGANNATH SINGH v. MUHAMMAD MOHNA HUSSAN. 2 Pat L. J. 118.

MORTGAGE DECREE—contd

5. ———— Grant of additional relief to that prayed for, validity of—Practice. An usufructuary mortgagee who sues the purchasers of the equity of redemption and prays (i) for a decree on the mortgage (ii) for possession, or (iii) for a money decree, is not entitled to a decree for the usufruct of the property accumulated in the hands of the District Magistrate while the property was under attachment in proceedings under s. 145 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. KUNDEAK OJHA v. GULAB OJHA. 2 Pat L. J. 693.

6. ———— Several properties covered by mortgage—order in which properties liable for sale—Code of Civil Procedure (Act 3 of 1908), s. 47 and O XXIV, r 4. The Court executing a mortgage decree ought not to fetter the discretion of the decree holder to put up to sale whichever of the mortgaged properties he wishes first to sell. The discretion given to the Court making a decree by O XXIV, r 4, of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, to declare which portion of the mortgaged properties shall first be sold should not be arbitrarily exercised and is subject to the general principle that the Court cannot prejudice the rights of the mortgagee if he has not himself done anything which prejudices the rights of those having equities against the mortgagor. In the absence of a direction in the decree to the contrary it would seem that the discretion given to the Court making the decree by O XXIV, r 4, vests in the executing Court also. Per Junda Prasad, J.—If the mortgage deed specifically provides that on default of payment of the mortgage money the properties are to be sold in a particular order it is not open to the decree holder to change the order in enforcing repayment of his money. JATADHAT SINGH v. BALDEO LALL. 4 Pat L. J. 207.

7. ———— Notice served under s. 89 of Transfer of Property Act—whether execution governed by Code of Civil Procedure, Act 3 of 1908, Order XXIV, rule 5—Defective decree whether can be executed—Minor—no guardian ad litem formally appointed—de facto guardian, position of—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sec. 1, Art 181—Trivial defects in decree, effect of. Held, that where proceedings to make absolute a decree made under s. 89 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 were pending at the time when the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, was brought into force, and notice of an application for an order under s. 89 had been served on the original mortgagor, it was not necessary for the plaintiff to apply for a decree absolute under O XXIV, r 6 (2), and no objection to the order under s. 89 having been taken by the original mortgagor during his lifetime it was not open to his legal representative to take such objection. So long as an order also lute subsists it is enforceable and its operation cannot be impugned if, for any reason, the order is defective, the remedy of the party aggrieved

MORTGAGE SUIT—contd.

purchaser at the mortgage sale, if maintainable, when plaintiff not a party to the mortgage suit—Such suit allowed to be framed as a suit for redemption. Where the plaintiff purchased a mortgaged property from the mortgagor in execution of a money decree, and subsequently the mortgagee brought a suit against the original mortgagor without making the purchaser a party, and in execution of the mortgage decree purchased the mortgaged property and then sold it to another, from whom the plaintiff sought to recover possession of the mortgaged property on declaration of his title. Held, that the plaintiff, by virtue of his purchase, acquired only the right to redeem the mortgage, and was not entitled to recover possession of the mortgaged property after the mortgage sale had taken place. The fact that he was left out of the mortgage suit did not nullify the mortgage decree, but left unaffected his right to redeem and he was entitled to possession upon redemption. It was not necessary for the mortgagee to sue again on his mortgage and he was not bound to deliver up possession to the plaintiff till the redemption of the mortgage. The case was remanded to the District Judge so that a decree might be made in favour of the plaintiff as if this was framed as a suit for redemption. SHRI KALU SHARIF v. ARROY CHARAN KARNOKAR 25 C. W. N. 253

6. —All heirs of mortgagor not made parties, effect of A mortgage suit in which all the heirs of a mortgagor were not made parties had been dismissed by the Lower Court for non joinder of parties. Held that the plaintiffs were at the last entitled to a decree for proportionate share of the mortgage money as against the defendants who were on the record. Even if it had been assumed that the persons who had been left out could, if joined, have successfully urged the plea of limitation that would not afford a defence in favour of the persons who had been joined as parties within the prescribed time. HARCHANDRA ROY v. MAHAMED HUSEIN 25 C. W. N. 594

7. —Second mortgagee not made party to suit by first mortgagee—First mortgagee purchaser if may claim to be paid on foot of mortgage contract or amount decreed. An order under s. 89 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 for the sale of the mortgaged property has the effect of substituting the right of sale thereby conferred upon the mortgagee for the right under the mortgage and the latter rights are extinguished. Where a first mortgagee obtained a decree for sale upon his mortgage in a suit in which he did not make the second mortgagee a party and purchased the property at such sale. Held in a suit by the second mortgagee upon his mortgage, that the first mortgagee purchaser had no greater rights than any stranger would have had who had purchased the property under the mortgage decree and paid cash for it and the latter was entitled to set up only the amount of the decree made in his suit. LALA MATHU MAL v. MUSAMMAT DURGHA KUNWAR 25 C. W. N. 397

8. —Claims of title of decedent to mortgagor by representative of decedent mortgagor. Substituted on record—If should be entertained. Held, that such a plea could not be entertained without altering the scope of the suit and should be tried by separate suit. KALIDAS ROY v. GIRENDRA MOHAN BAKSHI 25 C. W. N. 192

MORTGAGE SUIT—contd.

9. —Separate suits by holder of independent mortgages over same property to obtain separate decrees for sale on each—Mortgagee—Holder of two independent mortgages over same property, if can institute separate suits to obtain a separate decree for sale on each of them—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), Or. 11, r. 2 (1)—s. 11, Frp. 4—Transfer of Property Act (11 of 1882), s. 61—Decrees made in such suits, how to be given effect to. There is nothing in the Code of Civil Procedure or in the Transfer of Property Act to prevent the holder of two independent mortgages over the same property, who is not restrained by any covenant in either of them, from obtaining a decree for sale on each of them in a separate suit, subject, however, to the reservation that he cannot sell the property twice over, nor sell it under the second decree subject to the first. The under the second decree subject to the first. The right course to follow in such circumstances is to direct that the property be sold free of both charges, whether in execution of the decree on the first mortgage or of the decree on the second mortgage, and that the balance of the sale proceeds, after payment of incidental expenses, be applied in discharge of the dues on the first mortgage and the second mortgage one after the other, the residue if any to stand to the credit of the holder of the equity of redemption. NILO : ASHBAH MANDAL 25 C. W. N. 129

10. —After the hypothecated property was sold in execution of a decree for money the mortgagee instituted a suit for the realisation of his dues against the mortgagors as also the purchasers of the equity of redemption. The latter contested the claim on the ground that the mortgage bond was not a bona fide document and was not properly executed. Held, that if an action to enforce a mortgage security is contested by the mortgagor and execution is admitted by or proved against him the onus lies upon him to prove that the rental as to the payment of consideration for the deed which he executed is untrue. KRISHNA KISHOR DE : SREEKATI NAGENDRABALA CHOWDHURY 25 C. W. N. 942

11. —Mortgage suit—Mortgagor's estate taken over by Court of Wards after preliminary decree—Decree absolute for sale passed against Court of Wards representing the mortgagor—Release of estate thereafter—Release not shown to have had retrospective operation—Refusal of Government to produce correspondence leading to release—Decree absolute of bonded mortgagor. A preliminary decree was made in a suit for sale of mortgaged properties on 15th June 1915. On 21st July 1915, the Court of Wards declared the mortgagor a disqualified proprietor and assumed superintendence of his estate under United Provinces Act IV of 1912. On 21st February 1916, a decree absolute for sale was passed against the Court of Wards representing the mortgagor on the application of the mortgagee. On 12th September 1917, the estate of the mortgagor was released from under the direction of the Central Government for reasons of State. The correspondence which passed between the two Governments upon the matter was not produced and its production could not be compelled by Court. Held, that prima facie, the Local Government acted within its powers in putting the Court of Wards in charge of the mort-

MORTGAGE SALE.

See CONTRIBUTION . 14 C. W. N. 261

MORTGAGE SUIT.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XXIV, r 1

1. L. R. 43 Bom 575
O XXXIV, r 6 2 Pat L. J. 533

See COMPROMISE 1. L. R. 42 Cal. 801

See JURISDICTION 1. L. R. 42 Cal. 116

See RES JUDICATA 2 Pat L. J. 313

See MORTGAGE.

See MORTGAGE DECREE

2 Pat. L. J. 118

— decree in—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 47, O XXII, r 10

1 L. R. 39 Mad. 488

— failure of, to deliver possession—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), ss. 58 (a) AND (d), 67, 68 (c).

1 L. R. 41 Mad 259

— Parties—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O XXIV, r 1 6 Pat L. J. 640

1 — Preliminary decree

— Payment out of Court if may be proved, though not certified, to oppose passing of a decree absolute—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r 2, O XXIV, r 5 Payment in pursuance of a preliminary decree in a mortgage suit, if not made in Court, must be certified under O XXI, r 2, failing which the Court has no discretion except to follow the statutory form of the decree when no payment has been made into Court as mentioned in O XXIV, r 5, unless there has been adjustment made under O XXI, r 2 of the Civil Procedure Code PRAN BHAI v JENDRA MONU MUSHRAJI (1917) . 21 C W. N. 920

2 — Pira of payment—

Onus, nature of—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 114—Shifting of onus—Trial Judge's estimate of testimony value of, in doubtful cases In a suit to enforce a mortgage bond, in which the defence sought to prove that the debt had been discharged by payments endorsed on the bond, the trial Court, on a review of the evidence, held that the endorsements were fictitious and decided in favour of the plaintiff; but the High Court on appeal was of opinion that the plaintiffs had failed to discharge the burden which rested on him to prove his case and dismissed the suit. Held by the Judicial Committee, that though the initial burden of proof rests on the appellant in such a case as this, both on general grounds and by reason of the provisions of s. 114 of the Evidence Act, this burden is one which shifts easily as the evidence is developed, and their Lordships did not attach much importance in this case to the question on whom the initial onus lay. That the evidence in this litigation, taken as a whole, was of such a character and so full of doubtful statements that it could only be weighed adequately by the Judge who had seen the witnesses; and the balance of probabilities in this case also being in their Lordships' opinion on the side of the conclusion reached by the trial Judge, the judgment of the High Court was reversed and that of the trial Judge was restored. KUNDAL Lal v. BEHAR CHAND (1918)

22 C. W. N. 937

 MORTGAGE SUIT—contd

3 — Mortgagee related to mortgagor—Bond executed in consequence of mortgagee becoming aware of the demand by another creditor of mortgagor for repayment of his dues—Mortgage bond, whether fraudulent Where the defendants Nos. 1 to 3 executed a mortgage bond in favour of the plaintiff for Rs. 16,000 due to the latter in consequence of the latter having come to know that defendant No. 4, another creditor of the defendants Nos. 1 to 3, was pressing for payment and thereafter defendant No. 4, obtaining a decree against defendants Nos. 1 to 3, purchased the mortgage properties, and then the plaintiff brought the present suit to enforce the security whereupon the defendant No. 4 contended that the mortgage was fraudulent. Held, that because the plaintiff was related to defendant No. 2 and was aware of the fact that defendant No. 4 was demanding his dues from defendants Nos. 1 to 3 and was bringing pressure to bear upon them was no reason why the plaintiff should not require the defendants Nos. 1 to 3 to secure the repayment of the money due to him. RASH MOHAN SHARMA v. KRISTODAS RAY (1918) . 22 C W N. 982

4 — On bond executed by defendants Nos. 1 and 2 for selves, as executors, and as certificated guardians of defendants Nos. 3 to 6—No permission obtained from Court to mortgage—Intention of testator to pay off his debts by sale of his properties and not by another mortgage—Defendants Nos. 1 and 2, whether bound by the mortgage bond—Power of the Karta of a joint Hindu family as guardian of minors appointed under Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890)—Whether the adult male member of a joint Hindu family entitled to borrow what he thinks necessary for the joint family In a suit upon a mortgage bond executed by defendants Nos. 1 and 2 for selves, as executors to the estate of their father and as certificated guardians of their four minor brothers defendants Nos. 3 to 6, it was contended on behalf of defendants Nos. 3 to 6 that they were minors at the date of the mortgage bond, that the defendants Nos. 1 and 2 did not obtain sanction of the Court for the mortgage and that therefore the mortgage was not binding upon them. Held, that the intention of the testator being that his debts should be paid off by sale of the two mahals and not by another mortgage there was an implied restriction on the power of the defendants Nos. 1 and 2 to mortgage the property. There being no permission of the Court the defendants Nos. 1 and 2 had no power to mortgage as executors under the will. That if the Karta of a joint Hindu family chooses to apply under Act VIII of 1890 for being appointed as guardian of a minor and has been appointed as such guardian, he comes under the control of the Court and cannot exercise the power of a Karta to mortgage without previous sanction of the Court; Held, that the defendants Nos. 1 and 2 as adult male members of a joint Hindu family were entitled to borrow what they considered necessary for joint family expenses provided the minors had been actually benefited by money borrowed. UPENDRO NATH BISWAS v. SHIB KUMARI DEBI (1915) . 23 C W. N. 634

5 — Suit by purchaser of redemption, not a party to the mortgage suit, against purchaser at the mortgage sale—mortgage—Suit for declaration of title and recovery of possession by the purchaser of equity of redemption against the purchaser at the mortgage sale, if maintainable, when plaintiff not a party to the mortgage suit.—Such suit allowed to be framed as a suit for redemption. Where the plaintiff purchased a mortgaged property from the mortgagor in execution of a money decree, and subsequently the mortgagee brought a suit against the original mortgagor without making the purchaser a party, and in execution of the mortgage decree purchased the mortgaged property and then sold it to another, from whom the plaintiff sought to recover possession of the mortgaged property on declaration of his title: Held, that the plaintiff, by virtue of his purchase, acquired only the right to redeem the mortgage, and was not entitled to recover possession of the mortgaged property after the mortgage sale had taken place. The fact that he was left out of the mortgage suit did not nullify the mortgage decree, but left unaffected his right to redeem and he was entitled to possession upon redemption. It was not necessary for the mortgagee to sue again on his mortgage and he was not bound to deliver up possession to the plaintiff till the redemption of the mortgage. The case was remanded to the District Judge so that a decree might be made in favour of the plaintiff as if this was framed as a suit for redemption. SHAIKH HAJI SHAIKH v ARROY CHABAN KAPMOKAR 25 C. W. N. 253

MORTGAGE SUIT—contd

6. — All heirs of mortgagor not made parties, effect of A mortgage suit in which all the heirs of the mortgagor were not made parties had been dismissed by the Lower Court for non joinder of parties. Held, that the plaintiffs were at the least entitled to a decree for proportionate share of the mortgage money as against the defendants who were on the record. Even if it had been assumed that the persons who had been left out could, if joined, have successfully urged the plea of limitation that would not afford a defence in favour of the persons who had been joined as parties within the prescribed time. HARCHANDRA ROY v MAHAMED HUSEIN 25 C. W. N. 594

7. — Second mortgagee not made party to suit by first mortgagee—First mortgagee purchaser if may claim to be paid on foot of mortgage contract or amount decreed An order under s 89 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 for the sale of the mortgaged property has the effect of substituting the right of sale thereby conferred upon the mortgagee for the right under the mortgage and the latter rights are extinguished. Where a first mortgagee obtained a decree for sale upon his mortgage in a suit in which he did not upon his mortgage a party and purchased the property at such sale. Held in a suit by the second mortgagee upon his mortgage, that the first mortgagee purchaser had no greater rights than any stranger would have had who had purchased the property under the mortgage decrees and paid cash for it and the latter was entitled to set up only the amount of the decree made in his suit. LALA MATHU MAL v MOHAMMAD DUNGA KUNWAR 25 C. W. N. 397

8. — Claim of title ad verse to mortgagor by representative of deceased mortgagor Substituted on record—If should be entertained. Held, that such a plea could not be entertained without altering the scope of the suit and should be tried by separate suit. KALIDAS ROY v GURINDRA MOHAN BAKSHI 25 C. W. N. 192

MORTGAGE SUIT—contd

9. — Separate suits by holder of independent mortgages over same property to obtain separate decree for sale on each—Mortgage—Holder of two independent mortgages over same property, if can institute separate suits to obtain a separate decree for sale on each of them—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), Or II, r. 2 (1)—s 11, Fp 4—Transfer of Property Act (15 of 1882), s 61—Decrees made in such suits, how to be given effect to There is nothing in the Code of Civil Procedure or in the Transfer of Property Act to prevent the holder of two independent mortgages over the same property, who is not restrained by any covenant in either of them, from obtaining a decree for sale on each of them in a separate suit, subject, however, to the reservation that he cannot sell the property twice over, nor sell it under the second decree subject to the first. The right course to follow in such circumstances is to direct that the property be sold free of both charges, whether in execution of the decree on the first mortgage or of the decree on the second mortgage, and that the balance of the sale proceeds, after payment of incidental expenses, be applied in discharge of the dues on the first mortgage and the second mortgage one after the other, the residue if any to stand to the credit of the holder of the equity of redemption. HAU v ASIEBAD MANJAL 25 C. W. N. 129

10. — After the hypothe- cated property was sold in execution of a decree for money the mortgagees instituted a suit for the realisation of his dues against the mortgagors as also the purchasers of the equity of redemption. The latter contested the claim on the ground that the mortgage bond was not a bono fide document and was not properly executed. Held, that if an action to enforce a mortgage security is contested by the mortgagor and execution is admitted by or proved against him the onus lies upon him to prove that the recital as to the payment of consideration for the deed which he executed is untrue. KEPANA KISON DE v SREENATH NAQINDRABALA CHOWDHURANI 25 C. W. N. 942

11. — Mortgage suit—Mortgagor's estate taken over by Court of Wards after preliminary decree—Decree absolute for sale passed against Court of Wards representing the mortgagor—Release of estate thereafter—Refusal of Government to produce correspondence leading to release—Decree absolute if bound mortgagor A preliminary decree was made in a suit for sale of mortgaged properties on 15th June 1915. On 21st July 1915, the Court of Wards declared the mortgagor a disqualified proprietor and assumed superintendence of his estate under United Provinces Act IV of 1912. On 21st February 1916, a decree absolute for sale was passed against the Court of Wards for representing the mortgagor on the application of the mortgagee. On 12th September 1917, the estate of the mortgagor was released from the superintendence of the Court of Wards under an order of the Local Government which was made under the direction of the Central Government for reasons of State. The correspondence which passed between the two Governments upon the matter was not produced and its production could not be compelled by Court. Held, that prima facie, the Local Government acted within its powers in putting the Court of Wards in charge of the mort-

MORTGAGE SUIT—contd.

gagor's estate and it could not be presumed until the contrary was shown that the order of release or rated retrospectively. That the Court in India was therefore right in holding that the decree absolute bound the mortgagor NARINDRA BHADUR SINGH & THE OODH COMMERCIAL BANK FYZABAD (P O) 28 C W N 896

MORTGAGED PROPERTY

See MORTGAGE.

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE.

sale of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) ss 47 73 104

I L R 33 Mad 570

See MORTGAGE I L R 38 Cal 913

MORTGAGEE

See ADVERSE POSSESSION

I L R 44 Cal 425

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882 s 317 1908, s 66

I L R 35 Bom 342

See COMPANY I L R 47 Cal 901

See DECREE I L R 34 Bom 280

See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF ACT (XVII of 1879)

I L R 40 Bom 433

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH. I

ARTS. 13^o 75 I L R 39 Mad 981

See MORTGAGE I L R 33 Mad 548

See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES REVT ACT (VII of 1881)

I L R 37 All 444

See PUISNE MORTGAGEE.

I L R 40 Mad 77

See RECEIVER I L R 47 Cal 418

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)—

ss. 60 AND 98 I L R 38 Mad 667

s. 67 I L R 40 Mad 77

s. 73 14 C W N 186

s. 83 I L R 39 Mad 579

s. 101 I L R 38 Bom 369

dispossession of—

See USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE

I L R 38 Mad 903

in possession—

See MORTGAGE I L R 38 All 411

See SALE FOR ARREARS OR RENT.

I L R 44 Cal 573

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) ss 60 AND 91

I L R 38 Mad 310

Position of when different persons become entitled to different positions of equity of redemption—

See MORTGAGE I L R 47 Cal 223

MORTGAGEE—contd.

holding two mortgages—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) ss 61 80 AND 99

I L R 38 Mad 927

If a creditor—

See MORTGAGE BY MINOR

I L R 38 Mad 1071

prior and subsequent—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882 s 317

I L R 33 All 382

See MORTGAGE.

I L R 33 All 368 370

purchase by—

See MORTGAGE

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I L R 40 Cal 89

right of to redeem property—

See MORTGAGE I L R 41 Mad 403

right of, to sue for sale—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) ss 58 (a) AND (d) 67 68 (c)

I L R 41 Mad 259

right of, to an order for sale—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT s 67

I L R 34 Bom 462

right of to exonerate—

See MORTGAGE I L R 40 Mad 968

right of, to pay rent—

See MORTGAGE I L R 44 Cal 448

suit for possession by—

See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF ACT (XVII of 1879)

I L R 35 Bom 204

title of—

See REGISTRATION

I L R 41 Cal 872

to remain in possession as long as fruit trees on the land—whether a clog or redemption—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882,

s 60 I L R 45 Bom 117

whether can dispute validity of gift by a Hindu widow—

See HINDU LAW I L R 45 Bom 105

with possession right of, to recover rent—

See MADRAS LOCAL BOARDS ACT (V OF 1884), s 73 I L R 39 Mad 269

1. Leasehold property. Mortgagee is entitled to pay rent to preserve property from being lost. The mortgagee is entitled to preserve mortgaged property from being lost for non payment of rent. Where rent is thus paid after the preliminary decree and before the final decree the money paid for rent should in the final decree be added to the mortgage money found due in the preliminary decree. ALLAHABAD BANK LD v MATI LAL BHAN (1916)

I L R 44 Cal 443

2. Right of mortgagee to sue to transfer. Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 68 The provision of s 68 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 are designed for the purpose of indemnifying a mortgagee against any disturbance of his enjoyment of the property. They are provisions of an enabling nature but they do not

MORTGAGEE—contd.

preclude a mortgagee who has been disturbed by a person claiming without title from suing the trespasser according to the general law and claiming as against him a declaration of title and recovery of possession. There is nothing in the law to debar a mortgagee from asserting his right against a trespasser alone without claiming the indemnity which s. 83 empowers him to claim from the mortgagor. BECHO SARU v ANJOU SARU

3 Pat. L. J. 162

3. ————— A prior mortgagee has a paramount claim outside the controversy of a suit on a subsequent mortgage unless his mortgage is impugned. RADHA KISNOY v KURUK SUDH HOSSEN

25 C. W. N. 417

MORTGAGOR.

See ADVERSE POSSESSION.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 425

See MORTGAGE

————— dispossession of, after mortgage—

See ADVERSE POSSESSION

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 811

————— In possession duty of, to pay public charges—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 85 (c)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 859

————— personal execution against—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss. 47, 73, 100

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 570

————— redemption suit by—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT XIV OF 1882), ss. 366, 371

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 248

MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE.

See ADVERSE POSSESSION

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 545

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss. 11, 47.

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 41

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 46 Calc. 111

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908 s. 19

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 834

See MORTGAGE

See TITLE I. L. R. 37 Calc. 239

————— Mortgagee retaining possession of mortgaged property under a rent note executed to mortgagee—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 47, O XXXIV, s. 14.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 174

————— Tenant under a mortgagee—Adverse possession against mortgagee—

See ADVERSE POSSESSION

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 661

————— Subsequent mortgagee redeeming prior mortgagee—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 74 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1112

1. ————— Suit to redeem—Decree obtained by mortgagee for a claim independent of MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE—contd.

the mortgage—Mortgagee purchasing the equity of redemption in execution of the decree—Leave to bid not obtained—Irregularity of practice—Sale not a nullity In 1888, plaintiffs mortgaged the property in suit with possession to defendant No 1 In 1897, the defendant brought a suit against the mortgagor for a claim independent of the mortgage and in execution of the decree obtained therein the equity of redemption was sold and purchased tenants by the defendant. In 1913, the plaintiffs sued to redeem and recover the property The trial Court held that the purchase by the defendant mortgagee was valid until it was set aside and not having been set aside in execution proceedings was binding upon the plaintiffs The lower Appellate Court reversed the decree holding that the mortgagee purchased the property without leave to bid and therefore the mortgagor could disregard the sale and redeem On appeal to the High Court: Held, reversing the decree, that the disregard of the statutory provision that leave to bid should be obtained by a judgment creditor was a mere irregularity of practice, and was not a fundamental breach of trust which nullified the apparent effect of the Court-sale DAYESH NARAY v GOPAL VISWU (1918)

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 357

2. ————— Redemption—Lasting improvements made by mortgagee—Right to recover costs of improvements—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss. 63, 72 and 76 In a redemption suit, a mortgagee is entitled to recover from his mortgagor the reasonable and proper costs incurred in making lasting improvements HENDERSON v ASHWOOD, [1894] A C 150, approved PER MARTIN, J.—In allowing costs of improvements the Court must naturally be on its guard against extravagant or unfounded claims It should inquire strictly into the bona fides and fairness of the claim in each particular case NUALINGAPPA v CHANNASAWA (1918)

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 69

3. ————— Mortgage with possession—Profits to be enjoyed in lieu of interest—

Amount to be realized by sale of property—Suit to recover amount with interest by sale of property—Interest cannot be allowed—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss. 53, 67 and 68 The property in suit was mortgaged with possession to the plaintiff Under the terms of the mortgage the profits were to be enjoyed in lieu of interest and if after the stipulated period the principal amount was not paid it was to be recovered without interest by sale of the mortgaged property The plaintiff never got possession of the property After the stipulated period he sued to recover the principal amount and interest from the date of the mortgage to the date of suit by sale of the mortgaged property Held, that the plaintiff was entitled only to recover the principal amount by sale of the mortgaged property, as under the terms of the mortgage bond the property was a security only for the amount borrowed and not for interest. There is nothing in ss. 53, 67 and 68 of the Transfer of Property Act which enables a mortgagee to make a claim to interest which is not given to him by the mortgage bond MANIKCHAND MAGANCHAND v. RANGAPPA KONDAPPA (1920)

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 523

MOTOR VEHICLES—contd

and the former has not been repealed by implication by the latter. Held, as to the contention that the rule must be taken to have repealed the bye law because the punishment which may be inflicted for contravention of the two provisions are not identical—That the principle recognised in Henderson v. Sperber 11 D. L. J. 36 (1817) and Hursey v. Orrell 11 L. R. 318 (1812), namely, that where the punishment or penalty is altered in degree but not in kind the later provision is considered as superseding the earlier one has no application because the offences are not identical. THE MANAGER, INDIAN MOTOR TAXI CAR CO. LTD. v. CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA 25 C. W. N. 21

MOTOR VEHICLES ACT (VIII OF 1914).

ss 3, 10—

See MOTOR VEHICLES

I L R 45 Cal. 430

— ss 8 and 11—Driving licence—Obligation on owner of licence to carry it about with him. Held on a construction of s. 8 of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act 1914 that the implication of the section is that the driver of a motor vehicle must carry his driving licence about with him so as to be able to produce it there and then when its production is demanded by a police officer. EMPEROR v. MADAN MOHAN NATH JAHA

I L R 43 All. 128

s 11—

Held that there was no repugnancy between bye-law 10 framed under s. 550 (8) of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1914, under this section and the former has not been repealed by the latter. THE MANAGER, INDIAN MOTOR TAXI CAR CO. LTD. v. CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA 25 C. W. N. 21

MOURASI MOKURARI KABULIYAT

— Stipulation in for payment of rent partly in cash and partly in kind with statement of the money value of the portion payable in kind and declaring the total rent as the amount made up by the two—Rent if to be taken and fixed in perpetuity at such amount. See Rent Ashutosh Mukhopadhyay v. Haran Chandra Mukherjee (1919) 22 C. W. N. 1021

— Mourasimokurari is creating a heritable and transferable tenancy at a fixed rate of rent—Agreement by successors in interest to pay an enhanced rate of rent if destroys the character of the original tenancy or creates a new tenancy—Variation of contract. Where a mourasimokurari lease created a transferable permanent and heritable tenancy at a rate of rent fixed in perpetuity and the successors in interest of the tenant by an agreement consented to pay rent at an enhanced rate and a decree for rent was obtained by consent on this basis. Held, that the circumstance that one of the terms of the lease was altered by agreement of parties namely, that the rent originally fixed was increased did not destroy the tenancy. It cannot be said that there was a supersession of the original tenancy or that there was a novation of contract. The consent decree for rent at an enhanced rate did not give the tenancy a fresh start in all respects nor did the alteration of rent necessarily destroy the transferable character of the tenancy. Result—Though the enhancement was made by consent of the parties the enhancement should be deemed to have been made subject to the original agreement that the rent was not enhanceable. IRINATH GHOSH v. SURENDRANATH DAS 28 C. W. N. 657

MOURASI MOKURARI KABULIYAT—contd

MOVABLE PROPERTYSee ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT

I L R 45 Cal. 17

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW

I L R 48 Cal. 100

See MORTGAGE I L R 38 Mad. 18

— attachment of—

See JURISDICTION I L R 46 Cal. 520See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R 47 Cal. 741

— hypothecation of—

See ADMINISTRATION

I L R 45 Cal. 853

See MORTGAGE (MOVABLE)

I L R 1 Lah. 422

— suit to recover—

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (XV OF 1882) s. 19 cl. (5).
I L R 37 Mad. 219

— transfer of—

See DECREE ASSIGNMENT OF

I L R 37 Mad. 227

— wrongful seizure of—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s. 4.
I, Arts. 29, 62 and 120.

I L R 38 Mad. 972

MUAFISee AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901),

s. 150 I L R 40 All. 656

ss 154 158 I L R 40 All. 60

ss 154 177 I L R 41 All. 318

s 158 I L R 39 All. 669

ss 158 167 I L R 41 All. 37

See PRE-EMPTION I L R 38 All. 260MUAFIDAR

— mortgage by—

See N. W. P. AND OUDH LAND REVENUE ACT (XIX OF 1873) ss 146 148 167
I L R 35 All. 100

MUKHTARSee LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT 1879

ss 12 14 14 C. W. N. 1073

s 13 I L R 42 All. 68

s 14 15 C. W. N. 269

See LIMITATION ACT 1908 s. 7, Sub. 1.

Art. 44 I L R 38 Bom. 94

s. 111A

1 — Application for reinstatement after a lapse of years—Dismissal from the roll on account of an offence implying moral turpitude—Discretion on the part of the court of allowance of sentence and of an order directing in his prosecution for such a false affidavit—If user of the High Court to re-instate a legal practitioner after a disbarment—Grounds of reinstatement. The High Court has power when a legal practitioner has been disbarred for misconduct of any description in the widest sense of the term to re-admit him after a lapse of time if he satisfies the Court that he has in the interval conducted

MUNICIPAL BOARD—contd.

- ss 87, 152 . . . I L R 36 All 329
 s 128 (4) (i) . . . I L R 35 All 24
 ss 147, 152 . . . I L R 36 All 227
 See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES
 ACT (U P ACT II of 1916) s 267
 I L R. 43 All 644
 ss 267 AND 263 I L R. 42 All 495
 ss 293 AND 318 I L R. 42 All 294

— powers of—

- See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES
 ACT (I of 1900) s 83
 I L R 35 All 375

— suit against—

- See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES
 ACT (II of 1916) s 326 (4)
 I L R. 41 All 182

— suit against member of—

- See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES
 ACT, 1900, s 40
 I L R. 33 All 540

MUNICIPAL BYE-LAWS

- See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES
 ACT (II of 1916) ss. 209, 210
 I L R. 39 All 386

— must be in accord with the Act—

- See PUNJAB MUNICIPAL ACT 1911
 I L R. 2 Lah 239

MUNICIPAL COMMISSIONER

- See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (BOM III of 1888), s 297
 I L R 36 Bom 495
 s 303 . . . I L R. 34 Bom. 593
 s 377 . . . I L R 34 Bom 346
 s 390 . . . I L R 34 Bom. 344

— powers of—

- See LAND ACQUISITION
 I L R 44 Bom 797

MUNICIPAL CONTRACTOR.

- See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES
 ACT, 1916 s 324
 I L R. 43 All 614

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION

Chairman—General Committee—Building plans, refusal of sanction of Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng III of 1899), ss 375, 377—Action for mandamus or damages whether maintainable—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) s 45 Where plans for building have been rejected by the Chairman and the General Committee of the Calcutta Municipal Corporation, no suit is maintainable to have the plans approved or for damages. If the Chairman and General Committee have acted honestly and within their authority, their decision cannot be reviewed by any Court. If the plans have been rejected mala fide the only remedy is by an application under s. 45 of the Specific Relief Act, for an order to compel the Chairman and the General Committee to hear the matter in the manner provided by law. Datta v Bombay Corporation (1963) 1 K
B 170 and 171 with v Charley Rural Council (1907), 1 Q B 678 followed. London and North Western Railway v Western Water Corporation, (1906), 1 Ch 753, referred to. Prosad Chunder Das v Corporation of Calcutta (1913)
 I L R. 40 Calo. 838

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

adverse possession, against—Nature of adverse possession—Right to a pial—Pial over a drain—Right of Municipality to street drains etc—Nature of the right—Right of Government—Adverse possession against Government —Length of possession—Pial, an encroachment or obstruction to drain, street, etc—Right of municipality to remove encroachment, even when right to site of pial barred—No injunction against Municipal Council—Against right to remove obstruction
—The Madras District Municipalities Act (IV of 1888)—Indian Limitation Act (XV of 1877) Art.
140 4—Amending Act (XI of 1900)—Declaration
A person can acquire a title to the site of a pial over a drain in a street vested in a municipality by adverse possession against the municipality for the prescriptive period which was 12 years before the art 140 4 of the Indian Limitation Act (XV of 1877) was passed in 1900 under Act XI of 1900
The right of a Municipal Council to the street and the drains is not a mere right of easement but is a special right of property in the site previously unknown to law but created by statute. Although it is not open to the municipality to give up the rights of the public by any act of their own, that would not affect the capacity of a person in adverse possession to acquire rights which would affect the public. The question whether possession has been adverse or not does depend upon the needs or requirements of the owner but on the character of the occupation of the person in possession. Fugitive or unimportant act of possession would not be sufficiently effective to make the possession adverse. Even if the Municipal Council had no right to the possession of the space above the drain but only a right of user for the discharge of its functions with respect to the drains, still the plaintiff as the person in possession of the pial would have a right to it against all but the true owner which was the Government in this case but as against the Government the plaintiff had not established a title as he had not been in adverse possession for sixty years. Although the plaintiff had acquired a title to the site of the pial by adverse possession as against the Municipal Council the right of the latter to the drain under the pial had not been affected, and the Council was entitled to remove the pial as an encroachment or obstruction under s. 168 of the Madras District Municipalities Act. The prayer of the plaintiff for an injunction against the Municipal Council could not therefore be granted, nor could the prayer for declaration of title be granted, as it was only incidental to the substantial relief asked for, namely, an injunction which was refused. Sankaran Ayyer v
The Municipal Council of Madurai, 1 L R 25 Mad. 635, followed. Rolle v Vestry of St. George the Martyr, Southwark, 14 Ch. D 785 at pp. 793 and 794. Municipal Council of Sydney v Bourne, (1938) 4 C 457, and Midland Railway v Wright,
(1907) 1 Ch. 733 referred to. HARAWESWARA
SWAMI v THE BRITISH MUNICIPAL COUNCIL
(1912) 1 L R. 38 Mad. 8

MUNICIPAL COUNCILLORS.— election of—

- s. 4 BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (III of 1888 AS AMENDED BY BOMBAY ACT V OF 1903) ss 33 AND 34
 I L R. 34 Bom. 659

MUNICIPAL COURTS

----- Jurisdiction of-----

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 86 I. L. R. 28 Mad. 635

MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

See BOMBAY MUNICIPAL ACT, 1888, ss. 33, 34. I. L. R. 34 Bom. 659

See MUNICIPALITY I. L. R. 34 All. 643

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (I OF 1900), s. 187

I. L. R. 35 All. 450

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (II OF 1916), ss. 19 to 26

I. L. R. 41 All. 646

----- Invalidity of-----

See RIGHT OF SUIT

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 120

----- rules for regulation of-----

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (I OF 1900) s. 187

I. L. R. 35 All. 578

1. ----- Bengal Municipal Act (III of 1881) ss. 6, 15, 103 and 105--Voter, qualification of--Illegal levy of Income tax and payment of Municipal rate effect of--'Owner' meaning of--Property acquired by father with contribution from son. A person whose income is below the taxable minimum, but who submits to the levy of the tax does not thereby acquire the statutory qualification contemplated by s. 15 of the Bengal Municipal Act. Similarly a person who is not legally liable to pay Municipal rate but pays it, does not become entitled to become a voter by the mere fact of such payment, unless it is proved to have been made by him as a person legally liable to satisfy the Municipal demand. An "owner" for the purposes of the Municipal Act includes not only an owner in the actual occupation of the holding but also an owner entitled to receive rent from the occupier or otherwise. It also includes a manager or agent, or a trustee for any such person. Where a house was purchased in the name of the father, and the major portion of the consideration money was paid by the son out of joint funds belonging to himself and his brothers, and further the expenditure on subsequent extensive alterations and additions were similarly defrayed by the son out of the said funds, and the son was occupying the house while the father was living abroad. Held, that the son having a substantial interest in the property should be treated as owner in the ordinary acceptance of that term and he being the manager or agent, of the father could also be treated, as owner, and he was therefore liable under s. 103 of the Municipal Act to pay the rates assessed on the holding. Held, further, that where the son being in possession of the house paid the municipal demands with his own money, it could not be said that such a payment was made by a person neither liable nor competent to make it under the provisions of the law, he being an occupier was as such liable to pay the rates under s. 103 of the Bengal Municipal Act. NAKENDRA NATH BISHA v. NAKENDRA NATH BISHA (1911) I. L. R. 38 Cal. 501

2. ----- Claims, applications and objections of voters, notice of--Last of Voters Calcutta Municipal Act (Ben. III of 1899), Sec.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION--contd.

IV, rr. 8 and 9--Extension of time by Chairman, power of, for giving such notice--Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 45, sub-s. (c)--Mandamus Under rr. 8 and 9 of Sch. IV of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, written notice of all claims, objections, and applications referred to therein must be given to the Chairman on or before the 1st January immediately preceding each general election, and the Chairman has no power to extend the time beyond such date. Such notices must be lodged with the Chairman of the Election Department and a lodging of such notices with the Secretary is not a proper lodging as required by the terms of the Act, even though the Secretary resides in the same building as the Corporation has its office unless it can be shown that the Chairman had authorised the private residence of the Secretary to be used as a place where such notices could be lodged. The omission of a statutory officer to perform his public duties as to attestation of the election roll in the manner provided by the Act is a forbearance to do something that is not consonant to right and justice within the meaning of s. 45 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877 and therefore if the Chairman has not performed his statutory duties the Court will issue an order in the form of a mandamus in the matter of R. C. Sax (1912) I. L. R. 39 Cal. 593

3. ----- Representation of associations for voting power--Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng. III of 1899), ss. 37, 38 and Sch. IV, rr. 9 and 10--"Any one individual person" meaning of--Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 45--Practice--Appeal, right of In r. 9 of Sch. IV of the Calcutta Municipal Act of 1899 the expression "any one individual person" is controlled by the expression "association of individuals immediately preceding and the selection for the representation of the several associations indicated in the rule is limited to the individuals composing the associations. A rule was obtained by a candidate for election as Commissioner of a certain ward calling upon the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta to show cause why he should not prepare and publish the revised list of voters for the ward under r. 10 of Sch. IV of the Calcutta Municipal Act by rejecting applications filed by a second candidate to have his name entered in the list as the representative of certain associations and a copy of the rules was served on the second candidate who together with the Chairman appealed and reversed cause. The Rule was made absolute. NATH C. SAX I. L. R. 39 Cal. 754

4. ----- Election Roll--Qualification of voters--Sitting Commissioner as candidate for election--Objections to voter's claims to be on Election Roll--Chairman's decision refusing to expunge names of voters from the Roll--Jurisdiction of the High Court to interfere--"Occupier"--Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 45--Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng. III of 1899), ss. 3 (36), 37, 47, and Sch. IV, rr. 3 & 5 (1) The sitting Commissioner for one of the wards in the Calcutta Municipality, who was one of the candidates for election as a Commissioner for that same ward at the forthcoming Municipal election, and who was also a voter on the list of voters in respect of another ward, objected that the names of various persons should not be entered and retained on the Municipal Election Roll for the ward for which he was a candidate. The Chairman of the Corporation having heard the objections, refused to expunge those names from the Election Roll. Held, that the High Court had jurisdiction under s 45 of the Specific Relief Act to interfere in this matter. In re Nandh C Sen, I L R 39 Calc. 751, and In re Ramesh Chandra Sen, 16 C W N. 472, followed. Held, also, that to make a person, who occupied certain premises, and who was entitled to the owner's vote in respect thereof, entitled to a vote as occupier in respect of the same premises, he must either pay rent to the owner or be liable to pay rent. Held, also, that voters must give written notice of their claims whether they sign the notice or not, to the Chairman of the Corporation under the provisions of s 8 (i) of Sch IV of the Calcutta Municipal Act prior to 1st January immediately preceding each general election. It was upon the persons objecting to the votes to prove that the voters had not complied with the provisions of the Act or the rules. Held, also, that the only persons to whom r 3 of Sch IV of the Calcutta Municipal Act applied were persons who were actually liable for the rates in respect of the six months specified therein. Held, also, that persons occupying flats or portions of houses used as flats which were not separately assessed as such in the records of the Corporation, were not associations of individuals within the meaning of s 37 of Calcutta Municipal Act. Held, also, that the word "occupier" in s 37 (2) (i) (c) and in s 37 (2) (i) (a) of the Calcutta Municipal Act meant an occupier in the ordinary sense and not as defined in s 3 (39) of that Act, and the only person who fell within s 37 (2) (i) (c) was a person who occupied a building separately numbered and valued for assessment. In re SURENDRA CHANDRA GHOSH (1918) I L R 45 Calc 950

MUNICIPAL ELECTION—contd

5. — Calcutta Municipal Act, s 50 Sch 5, r 2—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), ss 45, 50—Public officer, failure of, to exercise a discretion—Nomination paper—Description of the candidate—Rai Bahadur, of sufficient description—Delay in presenting the petition, effect of—Infructuous order whether ought to be passed. The appellant sent in his nomination paper on the 4th March, 1918, in which he was described as Rai Bahadur and it was also stated that he was Voter No 679. On the 16th March a list of nominated candidates was published. On the 18th March judgment was delivered by the Appeal Court in the election case of Narendra Nath Mitter. On the afternoon of the same day the applicant (respondent in this case) applied to the Chairman of the Corporation to reject the nomination paper of the appellant on the ground that the nomination paper did not contain the description of the appellant. The Chairman declined to entertain the application on the ground that it was too late. On the morning of the 19th March a petition was presented by the applicant before Chaudhuri, J., and a rule was issued on the appellant returnable at 4 P.M. on the same day to show cause why his name should not be expunged from the list of nominated candidates and the rule was made absolute. In pursuance of this the appellant's name was taken out of the list. On the 20th, which was the day fixed for election, the respondent being the only nominated candidate was elected commissioner. This appeal was filed on the 20th March and came on for hearing on the

MUNICIPAL ELECTION—contd

21st after the election had taken place. Held, that an order overruling the decision of Chaudhuri, J., would be infructuous, for the appellant's name had been expunged from the list of nominated candidates, the election had taken without the inclusion of the appellant's name in the list of candidates and the Appeal Court had in this appeal no power to set that right, and so the appeal must be dismissed. The Court's order ought to have been limited to a direction to the Chairman of the Corporation to exercise his jurisdiction and to hear and determine the application which had been made to him and which he had refused to entertain on the ground that it was too late. The Court will, in all cases, regard its exercise of the extraordinary jurisdiction as discretionary, and subject to considerations of the importance of the particular case or of the principle involved in it of delay on the part of the applicant, and of his merits with respect to the case in which the interference of the Court is sought. Should other special causes appear for, or against, the Court's intervention, due weight is to be given to them, regard being always had to the principles already enumerated. MANI LAL NAIKAR v MOWDAB RAHAMAN (1918)

(22 C. W. N 951)

6

Nomination paper

—Description of candidate—Approver—Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng 111 of 1899) Sch V, r 2 (a) (d)—Practice—Affidavits—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r 27—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s 45. A candidate for election as Municipal Commissioner sent to the Chairman by way of his nomination paper, three nomination forms gummed together under cover of and attached to a letter by a clip. The letter contained a description of the candidate. The first form contained the name of the candidate and his number on the electoral roll, as also the names of his proposer, his seconder and eighteen approvers one of whom was the seconder and another the name of a firm. The second and third forms contained some names of approvers, but did not contain the names of the candidates, his proposer or seconder. Held, that the four documents could not be taken together as one nomination paper, and that the nomination was invalid. A nomination paper should be self contained and complete. The first form did not contain a description of the candidate and reference could not be made to the covering letter for the purpose. Out of the list of approvers on the first form, the names of the firm and of the person who was also the seconder should be excluded, and the deficiency could not be made up by reference to the second and third forms which were not complete by themselves owing to the absence therefrom of the names of the candidate, his proposer and seconder. Certain affidavits prepared for, but not used at the hearing before the Court of first instance, on objection, held to be inadmissible on appeal. NARENDRA NATH MITTER v RADHA CHARAN PAL (1918) I L R 43 Calc 119

7. — Preparation, revision and publication of list of voters—Election Poll finally of—Nomination paper—Sitting Commissioner as candidate for election—Objection to rival candidate's nomination—Qualifications of voters—Application to declare nomination paper inoperative—Power of High Court to interfere—Calcutta

MUNICIPAL ELECTION—contd

Municipal Act (Beng III of 1883), s. 36, 37 (2) (c), 37, 38 Sch II, 1 Persons objecting to the final publication of the Election Roll should take steps to prevent the publication before the Election Roll is finally published according to the rules. In an application to have it declared that the nomination paper of a rival candidate for election as Commissioner be rejected and declared inoperative on the ground that some of the approvers to the nomination were not entitled to vote. Held that the Court could not alter the Election Roll at that stage. The Queen v. Tugwell, L. R. 3 Q. B. 704 relied upon. Asado Lal Bose v. The Corporation for the Town of Calcutta, 1 L. R. 11 Calc. 275, and Chairman of Giridih Municipality v. Suresh Chandra Mazumdar, 12 C. W. N. 709 referred to. AMLIYADHAN ADAR, In the matter of (1918)

I L. R. 46 Calc. 132

8 ——— Infringement of Rules effect of—Onus of proof—Estoppel—Bengal Municipal Act (Beng III of 1884) s. 15 69 The infringement of a rule of election framed by the Local Government under s. 15 and 69 of the Bengal Municipal Act of 1884 does not necessarily invalidate the election, unless the rule is mandatory in character. R. 17 of the election rules framed by Local Government under s. 15 and 69 of the Bengal Municipal Act of 1884 for the Dacca Municipality is not mandatory. The party who maintains the validity of an election notwithstanding the infringement of the rule must satisfy the Court that the result of the election was not affected by the error or irregularity. The Court will uphold an election, if it is satisfied that the result has not been affected by infringement which actually took place. But an election will be avoided even if the tribunal be satisfied that there is reasonable ground to believe that a majority of electors may have been prevented from electing the candidate they preferred. Decisions in England and the United States of America on election are not binding upon Indian Courts. English and American decisions referred to as illustrative. R. S. Ramaniya v. Parthasarathy Aiyengar, (1915) M. W. N. 290, 17 M. L. T. 331, approved. Estoppel cannot be pleaded where statutory requirements are disobeyed with full knowledge by the officers entrusted with the discharge of public duties. SYAM CHAND BASAK v. CHAIRMAN Dacca Municipality (1919)

I L. R. 47 Calc. 524

9 ——— Bengal Municipal Act (Beng III of 1884), s. 15—R. 6 and 11 framed by Local Government, if ultra vires—Civil Courts jurisdiction of The provisions of s. 15 of the Bengal Municipal Act (Beng III of 1884) authorise the Local Government to frame rules in all matters necessary to the proper conduct of elections. R. 6 and 11 made by the Government are intra vires. The Government by rule may require the preparation of a register of voters and entry in the register in the case of persons duly qualified to vote under s. 15 of the Act or the rules framed thereunder is to be regarded not so much as in itself a qualification but as the evidence upon which the polling officer must proceed, and the register is conclusive for this purpose. R. 6, read with rr. 5, 7, 9, and 10 in effect allows 15 days for inspection by residents, of the published register and 30 days for the adjudication on claims and objections in the first instance by the Chairman and on appeal, by the Magistrate, and within the said 30 days and not less than 15 days before the election, the register as amended by the revising authorities must be republished. The periods allowed by r. 6 for inspection and for adjudication on claims and objections appear to be reasonable and should be sufficient in the generality of cases. The interval of 15 days between the republishing and election is intended to give electors a further opportunity for the rectification of possibly accidental errors. R. 11 read with r. 9 has the effect of closing the register 15 days before the date of election. The proviso to r. 11 gives qualified electors a further opportunity of substantiating their claims. There is no basis for the contention that the proviso to r. 11 applies only to the rectification of the register for the purpose of by-election. In view of the finding that the Chairman acted in contravention of the rules, the provisions of s. 9 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), of s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) and of the 2nd proviso to s. 15 of the Act under consideration, the Civil Courts have jurisdiction to entertain this suit. ATUL HUGH v. THE CHAIRMAN, MANICKTALA MUNICIPALITY (1920)

MUNICIPAL ELECTION—contd

I L. R. 48 Calc. 375

MUNICIPAL LAW.

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES ACT (Bom III of 1901), s. 42

I L. R. 40 Bom. 168

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 115 I L. R. 40 Bom. 509

1 ——— Removal of structures—Compensation—Declaration—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 42—Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng III of 1899), s. 311, 617 Upon the Corporation of Calcutta giving notice under the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, s. 241, to the owner of a building requiring him to remove a fixture attached thereto so as to project over, encroach on, or obstruct any public street or land, the payment of compensation provided for in the case of a fixture, erected before June 1st, 1863, is not a condition precedent to its removal or its demolition under s. 450, sub s. (3), the compensation is assessable by the Court of Small Causes under s. 817, and not in a suit. If, however, the Corporation declines to admit the owner's right to compensation, a Subordinate Judge has a discretionary power under the Specific Relief Act, 1877, s. 42, to make a declaration that the fixture was erected before June 1st, 1863, and that the owner was entitled to compensation. JOSEPH v. CALCUTTA CORPORATION

L. R. 43 I. A. 243

2 ——— Roads which vest in the Municipality—Public, when they have a right to go over private pathway—Difference between roads vested in the Municipality and others as regards Municipality's rights—Bengal Municipal Act (Beng III of 1884), s. 30, 31 Under s. 30 of the Bengal Municipal Act as amended by recent legislation, private pathways do not vest in the Municipality. Chairman of the Howrah Municipality v. Kheta Krishna Mitter I L. R. 33 Calc. 1290, followed. Kum. d. Eandhu Das Gupta v.

MUNICIPAL LAW—contd

Kishori Lal Goswami, (1911) S A Nos 458 and 838 of 1909 (unrep.), and Kamol Kamini Deb v Chairman, Howrah Municipality, (1909) S A No 2134 of 1907 (unrep.) dissented from The Municipality may however, have control over such a pathway, if the public have a right to go over it, as provided for in s 31 of the Bengal Municipal Act. The difference between roads vested in the Municipality and other roads is that in the former case the Municipality is responsible for lighting, watering, sewerage and clearing the roads, and in the other case, the Municipality has only the power of control to prevent the road from becoming a nuisance, or the rights of the public from being interfered with. CHAIRMAN, HOWRAH MUNICIPALITY v HARIDAS DATTA (1916) . I L R 43 Calc 10

MUNICIPAL OFFENCE

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (II of 1916) s 307

I L R 40 AH 563

prosecution for—

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (II of 1916) ss 183 186

I L R 39 AH 482

MUNICIPAL OFFICER

dismissal of—

See DISTRICT MUNICIPAL ACT (BOM III of 1901) ss 2 46 AND 167

I L R 39 Bom 600

MUNICIPAL RULES

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (I OF 1904) s. 23

I L R 34 AH 381

MUNICIPAL TAXES

See MORTGAGE I L R 38 Mad 18

MUNICIPALITY

See BOMBAY, BENGAL, CALCUTTA AND MADRAS MUNICIPAL ACTS

See MUNICIPAL BOARD

See MUNICIPAL COMMISSIONERS

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898) s 195

I L R 37 Bom 365

See PUBLIC DRAIN

I L R 44 Calc 229

See RAILWAYS ACT (IX OF 1890 AS AMENDED BY ACT IX OF 1896), s 7

I L R 41 Bom 291

adversely possession against—

See MADRAS DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES ACT (IV OF 1884) s 103

I L R 38 Mad 456

sale by—

See RIGHT OF SUIT

I L R 36 Mad 373

Election—Practice—

Petition upon not elected member on ground of per

MUNICIPALITY—contd

sonation of voters.—Imitation.—Fresh instances of personation allowed to be pleaded after expiry of time for filing petition. An elector on the roll of a municipality filed a petition under the rules framed in that behalf by the Local Government against a successful candidate in a municipal election alleging various instances of personation of voters for which the opposite party was stated to be legally responsible. The petition was filed within the time limited by law. Held, that it was competent to the Court in which such petition was presented to allow the petition to be amended by the addition of fresh instances of personation. NAWAB KHAN v MUHAMMAD ZAMIN (1912) . I L R 34 AH 649

Assessment, principle of——Circumstances meaning of.—Onus of proving value of circumstances and property.—Bengal Municipal Act (Beng III of 1884) ss 85 116 —Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 106. The word 'circumstances' in s. 85 of the Bengal Municipal Act is equivalent to means Assessment according to that section, must be made according to the means and property within the municipality.

The burden of proving the value of the circumstances and property within the municipality is on the municipality. Chairman of the Giridih

v Sri Sri Chandra Mohundar I L R 35 Calc. 359 referred to DEE NARAIN DUTT

v CHAIRMAN, BARUIPORE MUNICIPALITY (1913) . I L R 41 Calc 158

Roads which rest in—Under s 30 of the Bengal Municipal Act private footpaths do not rest in the Municipality. CHAIRMAN HOWRAH

MUNICIPALITY v HARIDAS DATTA . I L R 43 Calc 130

Parties.—Bengal Municipal Act (Beng III of 1884) ss 6 (3) 29 103.—Holding splitting of.—Valuation.—Assessment

Where in a suit the claim is directed against the Municipality as such and no damages are claimed against the chairman and vice-chairman and other officers of the Municipality for any wrong done by them personally the only proper defendant in the suit is the chairman of the Municipality in whose name only the Municipality can properly be sued and the addition of the vice chairman and other officers of the Municipality as parties defendants to the suit is not in order.

The splitting of a holding held under one title and surrounded by one set of boundaries into two separate holdings and separate valuation and assessment thereof, is not justified under the Bengal Municipal Act. Where after the general quinquennial assessment of such a holding lands included in the premises became for the first time liable to the imposition of rates and taxes: Held that the Municipality could not revise the valuation and assessment of the holding under s. 108 of the Bengal Municipal Act. Held, further, that in the circumstances of the case the plaintiff was liable to taxation in respect of the portion of the premises which was found by the Civil Court to fall within the municipal limits and that the fact that subsequently thereto the remaining portion of the premises became liable to taxation by reason of the extension of the municipal limits made no difference as regards the liability of the plaintiff. TARAFADA MATUN DAR v SATISH CHANDRA SHARMA (1915) . I L R 48 Calc 784 Rules framed by Local Government under s 290 of the Bengal Municipal Act 1919—Water connection of municipality can cut off for non payment of costs of water meter—Bengal Municipal Act (Beng 111 of 1884) s 297 291 292 293 295 297 Rr 4 D and 21 e) framed by the Local Government for the (a) Municipal Act 1884 are intra vires and do not conflict with ss 293 and 297 of the same Act. The Municipality is therefore entitled to compel the proprietor or owner of a house to pay for cost of water meter to measure the amount of water consumed in the house or to cut off water supply for non payment of the same. NAGENDRA LAL DAS v THE CHAIRMAN CATTAGOUDA MUNICIPALITY (1919) I L R 17 Cal 428

MUNICIPALITY—contd

MUNIM

See PAKKI ADAT SYSTEM

I L R 39 Bom 1

MUNICIPAL

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
Act (IX of 1897) s 33

I L R 37 All 450

I L R 39 All 567

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R 39 Cal 774

See JURISDICTION OF—

See ADULTERY I L R 37 Cal 863

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L R 47 Cal 1100

See SALE BY—

See RATEABLE DISTRIBUTION

I L R 46 Cal 64

MUSSALMAN WAKF VALIDATING ACT (VI OF 1913)

See MAHAMMADAN LAW (WAKF)

I L R 40 Mad 116

I L R 41 All 1

See WAKF I L R 43 Cal 158

See 3—

See WAKF VALIDITY OF

I L R 43 Cal 158

Construction of Statute—whether effect retrospective—Wakf—Mahomedan Law The Mussalman Wakf Validating Act 1913 has no retrospective effect and consequently the old law applies to wakfs created before the passing of that Act. AMIRBIBI v AMIRBIBI (1914)

I L R 39 Bom 563

See Preamble and ss 3 4—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

I L R 41 All 1

MURDER

See AUTREFOIS ACQUIT

I L R 41 Cal 1072

See PENAL CODE (Act XLV of 1860)
ss 37 302 304

I L R 35 All 506, 509

ss 299 341 I L R 39 All 161

ss 300 375 I L R 35 All 329

MURDER—contd

s 300 CL (J). I L R 41 Bom 27

s 302 I L R 40 All 390

Committed during a dacoity—

See CAL (C P 54 3) 303

I L R 2 Lab 472

Violent and determined attack by a number of persons regarded as of the consequences on a other causing other injuries and severe rupture of a healthy spleen—Intention to cause death or such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause death—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) ss 300 (1) (2) and 302 A body of 12 persons attacked another with cattle goads in a violent and determined manner inflicting sixteen wounds on his body and causing several and severe ruptures of his spleen and so caused his death. The person attacked was a strongly built man of 35 years of age, and his spleen was in a healthy state. Held that such acts, committed by several persons on one in such a manner apparently regardless of the consequences and with such results, warranted the interference that the acts were done by those persons with the intent either of causing the death of the person attacked or such injury as the offenders knew to be likely to cause his death and that the offence amounted to murder. ELEM MOLLA v FAMEBOR (1907)

I L R 37 Cal 315

Information of to police—Disposal by Magistrate without examination of complainant or witnesses An information of murder was lodged with the police, and the Sub Divisional Magistrate before whom the police report was placed, on a perusal of the police papers but without any examination of the complainant or any of his witnesses, refused process on the ground that the case was one in which no jury would convict. Held that it was the duty of the Magistrate to examine the complainant and the witnesses he wished to produce and the order made was liable to be set aside as improper. FAZLUR RAHMAN v ABDAR RAHMAN (1918)

23 C W N 392

Circumstantial evidence—No ground for imposing lesser sentence If the Court is satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that the accused is guilty of murder and the circumstances require the imposition of the death penalty the fact that the conviction is based on circumstantial evidence is not a reason for passing the lesser sentence allowed by law. PUBLIC PROSECUTOR v PARAMANDI (1921)

I L R 44 Mad 443

MUSCOORAT AND NANKAR RIGHT

See NAVIGABLE RIVER

I L R 46 Cal 390

MUSHA.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT

I L R 39 Cal 518

15 C W N 328

MUTALIK DESAI VATAN

See BOMBAY HEREDITARY OFFICERS ACT
1874 s 15 I L R 41 Bom 237

MUTATION OF NAMES

See ARBITRATION I L R 43 All 389

MUTATION PROCEEDINGS.

See FALSE EVIDENCE

I. L. R. 23 Calc. 368

MUTAWALLI

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908),

s 92

I. L. R. 37 All. 63

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MUTAWALLI

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

See WAKF

appointment of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 13

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 856

appointment of a minor as—

See ELECTION . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 941 lease by—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 592

suit by for possession—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 860

mortgage executed by—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 179

suit for the office of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 263

MUTH

nature, object and custom of—

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 707

MUTT.

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT

See MUTH

appointment of successor—

See ISSUE . . . 25 C. W. N. 145

1. Head of a mutt
whether trustee or life tenant of mutt properties It cannot be predicated of the head of a mutt, as such, that he holds the mutt properties as a life tenant or trustee. The question must be determined in each case upon the conditions on which they were given or which may be inferred from the long established usage and custom of the institution. Giyana Sambandha Pandara Sannadhi v Kondasami Tambiran, I. L. R. 10 Mad. 375, referred to Vidyapurna Tirthaswami v Vidyasidhi Tirthaswami, I. L. R. 27 Mad. 435, referred to Kailasam Pillai v Nataraja Thambiran (1909) . . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 265

2. Improper alienation of mutt properties by the head of the mutt—
Suit by disciples under O. I. r. 8 Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) to set aside the alienation and for possession to be given to the head of the mutt for the time being, whether maintainable—Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Arts 120, 134, and 144, applicability of. The disciples of a mutt have sufficient 'interest' within O. I. r. 8, of the Civil Procedure Code to maintain a representative suit not only for a declaration of the invalidity of an improper alienation of the mutt properties by the head of the mutt, but also for a decree directing possession to be given to the head of the mutt for the time being. It is immaterial whether the head of the mutt be a trustee or only a life-tenant. The suit being one for possession, the article of the Limitation Act applicable is not 120, but Art. 134 or 144, according as the head of the mutt is a trustee or only a life-tenant; and the right to sue for possession arise from the date of the alienation or when possession begins to be adverse. Possession which is adverse to the institution is equally adverse to the plaintiffs who sue on its behalf. Chidambaramatha Thambiran v Nallasiya Mudaliar (1917) . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 124

MUTT—could

3. Lease in perpetuity of mutt properties, validity of—Right of successors to dispute, whether void or voidable—Confirmation by immediate successor—Right of the latter's successor to repudiate the same—Suit to set aside, if necessary—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Arts 142 and 144—Nature of the estate of a matathipathi (head of a mutt), of an absolute estate or estate for life—Local Boards Act (V of 1894), ss 63, 66 and 73—The Madras Revenue Recovery Act (II of 1864), ss 32 and 42—Suit for arrears of road cess—No notice to inamdar but to tenant—Sale irregular, not without jurisdiction—Suit to set aside sale—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Art. 12—Revenue Recovery Act (II of 1864), s 59 The head of a mutt made an alienation by way of a lease in perpetuity in 1872 of some lands which had been granted as inam for the support of the mutt, and died in 1900; his immediate successor in the office received the rent reserved by the old lease from the lessee's transferees from 1900 and treated the occupants under the old lease as the tenants until his death in 1906, the latter's successor in office brought the present suit in 1908 to set aside the lease and recover possession of the inam lands from the defendants who were sublessees or assignees from the original lessee and from the fifth defendant who was a purchaser in a revenue sale of some of the inam lands which were sold in May 1902, for arrears of road cess due under the Local Boards Act (V of 1894). Held, that the mutt was not barred by limitation except as regards the lands which were sold in revenue sale. A permanent lease is in excess of the powers of the head of a mutt. An alienation by the head of a mutt is not necessarily void and of no effect but is good for the life time of the alienor. A matathipathi (head of a mutt) is not a tenant for life but is in the position of one who, though in a certain sense owner in fee simple, yet in many respects has only the powers of a tenant for life. An alienation by the head of a mutt is voidable by the alienor's successors in very much the same way that an alienation by a Hindu widow in excess of her powers is voidable by her successors. The successors of a matathipathi cannot validate a case of his predecessor so as to bind his successors, he validates the lease only for the period during which he holds the office or avoids it altogether. Alkum Ganesami v Sanyama Charan Nandi, I. L. R. 26 Cal. 1003, Narappa Upada v Venkataswami Bhatta, 23 Mad. L. J. 270, Vidyapurna Tirthaswami v Vidyasidhi Tirthaswami, I. L. R. 27 Mad. 435, and Kailasam Pillai v Nataraja Thambiran, I. L. R. 33 Mad. 265, followed. The corpus of the mutt property is inalienable except in special circumstances, but the income subject to the upkeep of the mutt is at the absolute disposal of the matathipathi (see Vidyapurna Tirthaswami v Vidyasidhi Tirthaswami, I. L. R. 27 Mad. 435). Where owing to the failure of the holders of a portion of the inam lands to pay the local-cess due under the Local Boards Act (V of 1894), the Revenue officers sell some of the inam lands without giving notice of the proceeding to the head of the mutt as the defaulter but notice was given to the tenant in occupation of the lands the sale was a regular but not one held without jurisdiction and was consequently liable to be set aside, but the suit to set aside the same was barred as not brought within the time allowed by s. 53 of the Madras Revenue Recovery Act (II of 1904) or Art. 12 of the second Schedule of the Limitation Act (XV of 1877) Ramachandra v. Pitchaikani 1 L R 7 Mad 434 Chinnasami Mudali v. Tirumalai Pillai and the Secretary of State for India 1 L R 25 Mad 572, Malkarajun v. Varkari 1 L R 25 Bom 337, and Rajay Gopal Mukerji v. Krishna Mahesh Debi, 1 L R 34 Cal 329, referred to, Per SADASIVA AYYAR J.—The position of a mathathipathi is not analogous to that of a Corporation sole under the English Law, because there is this fundamental distinction, namely whereas the properties belonging to an English Bishop (a Corporation sole under the English Law) including his savings from the revenues of the benefice devolve upon his legal representatives or heirs, the savings of mathathipathi devolve upon the succeeding mathathipathi. The procedure laid down by the Revenue Recovery Act (II of 1904) has been incorporated into the Local Boards Act by s. 76 of the latter Act but the substantive provisions in the Revenue Recovery Act (ss. 32 and 37) that the sale for the recovery of arrears of land revenue frees the land from all incumbrances and from all favourably rented leases do not apply to a sale under the Local Boards Act. See Ramachandra v. Pitchaikani 1 L R 7 Mad 434 and Chinnasami Mudali v. Tirumalai Pillai and the Secretary of State for India 1 L R 25 Mad 572. MUTRASAMIER v. SAKK SURESHANTHATHI SWAMIKAR (1913)

MUTT—contd

1 L R 33 Mad 356

4 ————— Dharmapuram Adinam Pandarasannadhi of Junior Pandarasannadhi—Mode of appointment of—Nomination by will—Ordination—Abishegam, effect of—Nature of the office—Removal of junior from office, grounds of—Power of Pandarasannadhi to remove junior, if at pleasure or for good cause—Notice of charges, necessity for—Dismissal without notice or opportunity for defence, validity of—Compromise-decree, nature and effect of—Suit for setting aside, necessity for—Limitation for such suit—Compromise-decree partly illegal, effect of—Decree, if void altogether. The Pandarasannadhi or the head of the Dharma param mutt has no power to dismiss at his pleasure the junior Pandarasannadhi of the mutt from his office though he can do so for good cause, but a dismissal directed by the former without giving the latter any notice of the charges alleged against him (or an opportunity for making his defence thereto) is wholly void and inoperative in law. The nomination and ordination of a junior Pandarasannadhi is the customary mode of provision for the line of succession in mutts. The position of a junior Pandarasannadhi during the lifetime of the senior is analogous to that of an coadjutor with the right of succession under the Canon law, a right of which he cannot be deprived except for grave cause. Where an office is held at pleasure the incumbent may be removed even on charges of misconduct without any opportunity of being heard in his defence because he is removable at pleasure without any misconduct at all, but in all other cases the objection of want of notice can never be got over. Rez v Chancellor and Master of the University to Cambridge, 1 Str. 557, followed. A consent decree is binding on the parties and their representatives until it is set aside just as much as if it had been passed after contest. Fateh Chand v. Nursing Das, 23 C L J 353, and In re South American and Mexico Company Ex parte Bank of England (1895) 1 Ch 37 followed. A suit to set aside a compromise decree will be barred after three years from the date of the decree. An illegality in a compromise decree in so far as it restrains the Pandarasannadhi from removing the junior in case of any future misconduct is not a ground for setting aside the decree altogether in a suit instituted for that purpose. Aarney v. Whitehaven Colliery Co., (1893) 1 Q B 700, referred to. Per SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J. Where a suit is brought in a representative capacity, the legal representative must show that the estate devolved on him, the estate in this connection is not the estate which the deceased had but the estate which he represented, that is the estate which he laid claim to. Mutts are not voluntary associations or brotherhoods or proprietary clubs. A person who has been appointed as a junior Pandarasannadhi to whom abishegam has been duly performed acquires a status which is not lost unless he is removed from his office for good cause. An ascetic who holds an office like that of a head of a mutt or a junior Pandarasannadhi does not incur forfeiture of his office by reason of his immorality but is liable to be removed from his office on proof of his immoral conduct. In a suit by a junior Pandarasannadhi against the head of a mutt disputing the validity of his dismissal from his office it is competent to the head of the mutt to enter into a compromise which does not affect the usage of the institution whereby the senior Pandarasannadhi recognizes the title of the junior under his original appointment as subsisting and admits that his removal was invalid as the grounds of dismissal were not justifiable, a decree in accordance therewith is not illegal. THIRUVARALLA DEVIKAR v. MANIKKA VACHAKA DEVIKAR (1915) 1 L R 40 Mad 177

MUTT—contd

5 ————— Sanyasi—Simple money debts incurred by head for necessities of the Mut—Suit against successor—Liability of mutt properties—Personal liability of the debtor—Lay trustee executor or administrator, analogy of. In a suit to recover a simple money debt, incurred by the sanyasi head of a mutt for the necessary purposes of the mutt, the properties of the mutt can be made liable, whether the suit is brought during the lifetime of the incumbent who incurred the debt or his successor. Cases of debts incurred by lay trustees of religious or charitable institutions, executors or administrators distinguished. Shankar Bharati Sromi v. Yenlapa Naik (1855) 1 I R 9 Bom 422 followed. LAKESEMINERA TUTHRA SWAMIKAR v. PACHAVENDRA RAO (1920)

1 L R 45 Mad 795

MUTUAL CONSENT.See BURNETT LAW—MARRIAGE

1 L R 59 Cal 492

MUTUALITY

—WANT OF—

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

1 L R 79 Cal 232

N

NAIKINS.

Adopted as—Adoption of daughter by a Nainik—Adoption invalid—Will—Construction—Gift to the adopted daughter as persona designata One Sundra, a nainik (a professional prostitute), adopted her near relative Hira as her daughter. She next made a will whereby she bequeathed the bulk of her property to Hira. In the will, Hira was referred to at some places by her name and as others as "adopted daughter." On Sundra's death, Hira claimed Sundra's property as her adopted daughter and also as persona designata under Sundra's will. Held, that Hira could not succeed as an adopted daughter, because Sundra being a nainik, could not validly adopt a daughter to herself. Mathura Nainik v. Esu Nainik, 1 L. R. 4 Bom. 545, followed. Varku v. Mahalinga, 1 L. R. 11 Mad. 393, dissented from. Held, further, on construction of the will that Hira was entitled to succeed as persona designata under Sundra's will, for Hira was not to take the property as being the adopted daughter but she was the adopted daughter and was to take the property because she was the special object of Sundra's bounty. HIRA NAIKIN v. PADMA NAIKIN (1919) 1 L. R. 37 Bom. 116

NAVIGABLE RIVER—contd

—test for determining whether a river is a public Navigable River—contd

Flowing in rivers and streams. PRASAD ROW v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA

1 L. R. 40 Mad. 886

*Pennell's Map of inland navigation—Zemindars, status of, whether proprietors under Moghul Rule—Cession of Burdwan, Midnapore and Chittagong, effect of, on zemindar's rights—Fifth Report of Select Committee of House of Commons—Mussorah and Nankar Zemindar's chartered rights—Permanent Settlement, whether bed of river Damodar included in—Bengal Regulation XIX of 1816, s. 9—Fishery exclusive right of, presumption from—Bengal Allotment and Diluvion Regulation XI of 1825—Chura, principle of resumption of—Public domain gain from—Middle thread privilege of, as to right to bed of river—Rules as to construction of boundaries—Revenue, whether Government entitled to assess on churs forming within the Burdwan zemindari—Water duties—Doul behdool—At the date of the Permanent Settlement of Bengal (1791) the River Damodar was not a navigable river i.e., one in which boats could ply throughout the year. Rennell's Map of inland navigation appearing in his Atlas, which was published by authority of the East India Company, does not require to be proved. Prior to 1760 A. D. the zemindari or chakla of Burdwan was settled with the Maharaja's ancestors not by pargana but as a whole. They were not mere revenue agents of the Ruling Power for the principal zamindars of Bengal had clearly a title to their estates. Under the treaty of 1760 Burdwan, Midnapore and Chittagong were ceded to the East India Company subject to the rights of the zamindars which were expressly reserved by the Sanad executed to give effect to the treaty and accepted by the East India Company. The farming out of the revenues of Burdwan by public auction for three years in 1762, did not put an end to the rights of the Maharaja's predecessors for "a scrupulous regard seems to have been paid to the then Maharaja's chartered rights of Mussorah and Nankar, etc." At the time of the Permanent Settlement the bed of the River Damodar in so far as it flowed through the chakla or zemindari of Burdwan formed a part of the estate permanently settled with the Maharaja's predecessor. Regulation XIX of 1816, s. 9, provides only for compensation being paid not for a reduction of the land revenue. Although an exclusive right of fishery does not of itself pass the right to the soil in the bed of the river still where the river is a public domain, as in the case of the Damodar, the rights are unknown or uncertain, it is a matter of importance that the plaintiff has a several right of fishery in the river, the bed of which he claims. Under the Bengal Allotment and Diluvion Regulation, of 1825 chura in non-navigable rivers forming part of the permanently settled estate cannot be resumed for, before there can be a further assessment of Government revenue there must be a 'gain' from the public domain. Secretary of State v. Fakamondar Row 125 Ind. J. L. R. 17 Cal. 150, and Prasad Row v. Secretary of State for India, 1 L. R. 40 Mad. 886 referred to. It is the common law of the country the right to the soil of a river when flowing within the estates of different proprietors belongs to the riparian owners up to the middle thread. The British India v. Charles Chander Choudry 2 Poy 511 and *Kol Assam

NARVA TENURE

—mortgage of—

See BHAGDARI AND NARVADARI ACT (Bom. V of 1862) s. 3

1 L. R. 35 Bom. 42

NATIVE INDIAN SUBJECT OF HIS MAJESTY.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1898) s. 188

1 L. R. 41 Bom. 667

NATIVE STATE.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) Sch. I, Art. 182, cl. s. (5) AND (6)

1 L. R. 42 Bom. 420

NATTUKOTTAI CHETTIERS.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908 Sch. I Arts. 60, 17

1 L. R. 43 Mad. 629

See PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT, 1900, s. 115

1 L. R. 43 Mad. 747

NATURAL SON.

See HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN

1 L. R. 40 Cal. 204

NAVIGABLE RIVER.

See FISHERY 1 L. R. 42 Cal. 489

—dry lands formed through recession—whether can be assessed for revenue.

See PUBLIC NAVIGABLE RIVER

24 C. W. N. 639

—test for determining whether a river is a public Navigable River.

See PUBLIC NAVIGABLE RIVER 24 C. W. N. 809

The Law of the Madras Presidency as to Rivers and Streams certainly differs from the English law and it is quite possible that it recognizes some proprietary rights on the part of government in the water

NAVIGABLE RIVER—contd

test for determining whether a river is a public Navigable River—contd
Tagore v Jado Lal Mullick, 5 C I R 97, referred to Where property is bounded by a road or river, the boundary, even if given as the road or river, is the middle of the road or river as the case may be. Commissioners for Land Tax for the City of London v Central London Railway Company [1913] 1 C 361 and Attorney General for British Columbia v Attorney General for Canada, 1914] 4 C 153, referred to The assessment of the Government revenue on the riparian mouzabs of the Burdwan zemindari was imposed not only in the mouzabs but also on the adjoining half of the bed of the river, and Government is not entitled to assess further revenue on chaks forming therein SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v BOJOY CHAND MAHATAP (1918) 1 L R 46 Cal 390
 24 C W N. 872

NAZARANA

See MORTGAGE. 1 L R. 35 Bom 371

NAZIR.

appointment of, as guardian—
 See GUARDIAN 1 L R 38 Cal 783

NECESSARIES

See CONTRACT ACT (IV OF 1872) s 68
 1 L R 32 All 325

NECESSITY FOR ALIENATION

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION
 See HINDU LAW—JUAL NECESSITY NEGLECT

See BANKER AND CUSTOMER.
 1 L R 36 Bom 455
 See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPAL ACT (BOM III OF 1901) ss 50 54
 1 L R 35 Bom 492
 See CARRIERS. 1 L R. 43 Cal 716
 1 L R 41 Cal 80
 1 L R 47 Cal 1027
 See CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.
 1 L R 37 Bom 575
 See GAS COMPANY 14 C W. N. 158
 See HORSE. 19 C W. N 916
 See MORTGAGE. 1 L R. 43 Cal 1052
 See PEVAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—
 s. 304. 1 L R. 42 All 272
 ss. 337, 338 1 L R. 39 Bom 523

See RAILWAY COMPANY
 1 L R. 37 Bom. 1
 1 L R. 39 Bom. 191
 See STEAMSHIP COMPANY
 1 L R. 47 Cal 6
 See TORT.
 See VENDOR AND PURCHASER
 1 L R. 35 Bom. 269

NEGLECT—contd

Causing death—
 See PENAL CODE, s. 304
 1 L R. 42 All 272
 Indemnity against—
 See COMMON CARRIER.
 1 L R 33 Cal 28
 liability of landholder for—
 See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901),
 ss 184, 160 1 L R. 40 All 246
 of agent, damages for—
 See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 6 (c) 1 L R. 33 Mad. 133 of Government Servant—
 See TORT 1 L R. 39 Mad 351 of municipality—
 See BOMBAY IRRIGATION ACT, 1879
 1 L R 33 Bom. 116
 See TORT 1 L R. 41 Mad. 538
 of servants—
 See JUDICIAL DESCRIPTION
 4 Pat. L J. 331
 of servants of Public Works Department—
 See TORT 1 L R. 39 Mad. 351
 Railway accident—Railway Company—Breach of statutory duty—Injury to passengers with arm outside carriage window—Contributory negligence—Contractual obligations The fact that the door on a moving train is open is evidence, but not conclusive proof, of negligence on the part of the Railway Company. Where there is a statutory obligation, any breach of it which causes an accident is conclusive against the defendant apart from special proof of negligence. But the breach must in itself be the cause of the accident, and the rule does not extend so far as to exclude the defence of contributory negligence. In view of the contractual relations between the parties, a Railway Company is not liable for injuries caused to any part of a passenger which is outside the carriage in which he is travelling, provided that such injuries could not have been rectified had the passenger remained inside the carriage. The application of the rule that, where there is negligence on both sides the negligence of the person who had the last chance of averting accident is the efficient cause thereof, must be restricted to cases where the danger was apparent to both or at least one of the parties before the accident actually happened. DELLABHJI SAKHIDAS v G. I. P. RAILWAY CO. (1909)
 1 L R 34 Bom. 427
 See CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE
 1 L R. 37 Bom. 575
 Suit against Tramway Company —Passenger entering car while in motion—Contributory negligence. T brought an action against the Tramway Company claiming damages for injuries sustained by him by reason of the Company's negligence. T alleged that while attempting to board a stationary tramcar the car was suddenly started at a signal given by the conductor and the footboard tilted and slipped sideways from beneath T's foot, in consequence of which T lost his balance, was thrown to the ground and his right foot was injured. Held, dismissing the suit that the footboard was not loose and that T's fall was due to his attempting to enter a car while in motion and was not due to any fault or defect in the fixity of the board. Per Curiam.—Whether there is a bye law or there is not a bye law to that effect, the fact remains that if a passenger chooses to attempt to enter or leave a moving car, he does so at his own risk. It is not what a prudent or a reasonable man should or would do, and if he does it and sustains injury while in the act of so doing, it would be an accident or a misfortune for which the defendant Company would in no way be liable. TEJULJI JAMSETJI v. BOMBAY ELECTRIC SUPPLY AND TRAMWAYS COMPANY, LTD. (1911)

NEGLIGENCE—contd.

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 478

Driving motor-car at excessive speed

—Injury to bare licensee being driven in car—

—Liability of car-owner—Quantum of damages

The defendant was driving a party of relatives and friends (including the plaintiff) in his motor car from Deolali to Igarpuri. The road at one point turned somewhat abruptly to the left and crossed the lines of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway by means of a level crossing, after the level crossing the road turned abruptly to the right. The defendant, who was driving his car at an excessive speed, drove over the crossing at the time that a train was there due. Though it got over the crossing safely the car failed to take the abrupt turning to the right and jumping an embankment rushed into a paddy field below. The occupants of the car, with the exception of the defendant, were thrown out with much violence and the plaintiff received such grave injuries as would render him a cripple for the rest of his life. The plaintiff sued to recover damages caused to him by the defendant's negligence. Held, that putting the skill and caution exigible from the defendant at the very lowest, he was grossly and culpably negligent, that he was liable in damages to the plaintiff, and that in assessing damages the same principles should be applied whether the person who had incurred the liability was a private individual or a wealthy company. SOHABJI HORMUSJI v. JAMSHEDJI MERWANJI (1914)

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 552

Public authority, breach of statutory duty by, causing injury—when cause of action arises—Bengal Local Self Government Act (III of 1883), ss 20 and 146—Bengal Municipal Act (III of 1883), ss 29 and 363—Bihar and Orissa General Clauses Act of 1917, s 4 (2)—Suit against District Board or Municipality—Limitation. The words "anything done under this Act" in s. 146 of the Bengal Local Self Government Act, 1883, and in s. 363 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1883, include omissions. Where personal injuries are caused by a negligent act or omission of defendant a fresh cause of action does not arise whenever the damage suffered becomes aggravated without any fresh act or omission in the part of the defendant. In such a case the plaintiff is entitled to compensation not only for the damage actually visible at the time when the suit is instituted, or at the time of the trial, but also for such consequential damage as may reasonably be expected to arise in the future from the wrongful act or omission complained of. For if a suit for damages for the wrongful act or omission has been decided or has become barred, no fresh cause of action

NEGLIGENCE—contd.

accrues to the plaintiff on the development of the consequential damage. s. 146 of the Bengal Local Self Government Act, does not include a suit against a District Board as a body corporate, as distinct from a suit against the members of such Board, and, therefore a suit against a District Board may be instituted more than three months after the cause of action arises. But a suit against a Municipality must be brought within the period of limitation prescribed in s. 363 of the Bengal Municipal Act 1884. ALLAN MATTHEWSON v. CHAIRMAN OF THE DISTRICT BOARD OF MANDUR 5 Pat. L. J. 359

Railway Company—Derailment of train—Removal of rail—Onus of proof—Discharge of onus

The respondent was injured by reason of a train of the appellants in which he was a passenger leaving the line and being wrecked, and he sued the appellants for damages for negligence. The immediate cause of the accident was the removal of a rail, which the appellants pleaded had been effected maliciously by some person for whom they were not responsible. Held, that the onus of proof that the respondents' injuries were not due to the appellants' negligence was upon the appellants, but that upon the evidence they had discharged that onus. Judgment of the High Court (SANDHSON v. J., dissenting) reversed. FAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY v. KIRKWOOD (1919) I. L. R. 48 Calc. 757

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENT.

See BILLS OF EXCHANGE

See HUNDI

See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT (XVI of 1881)

See NOTE OF HAND 14 C. W. N. 414

See PROMISSORY NOTE

See SHARES I. L. R. 46 Calc. 331, 342

Party to suit on—Limitation Act, s. 22—Amendment by adding party cannot relate back to date anterior to application to add party

A suit on a negotiable instrument must be instituted in the name of the person who on the face of the instrument is entitled thereto or by a holder deriving title from him. Where the suit is instituted in the name of a wrong person, the Court has power under O. 1 r. 10 (1), to amend the plaint by bringing the proper party as plaintiff. Such person cannot be brought on the record as from the day the suit was instituted. The amendment will relate back, at the most, to the date on which the application to be added as plaintiff was made and if such application was made after the right to sue was barred by limitation, such amendment should not be allowed. In suits of this kind, a mistake to be corrected under O. 1 r. 10 (1), must be corrected before the limitation period of the suit expires. Sankar v. Chatterjee I. L. R. 20 Mad. 457, referred to SUBBARAYA IYER v. VATHINATHA IYER (1909)

I. L. R. 23 Mad. 115

It may be transferred by registered deed of gift—XVI of 1881, ss 46, 47, 48, 50—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 123—Mode in which transferee may enforce his right—Successor Act (I of 1872), s. 12—Creditor entitled to prove deed of gift to be set aside in certain cases When the holder of a Government Promissory note

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENT—contd

purported to transfer it to another by a registered deed of gift. Held that though there was no endorsement and delivery as contemplated by the Negotiable Instruments Act there was a valid transfer of the document as a chattel and the transferee was entitled to it and to the property referred to in it. [How such a voluntary transferee is to enforce recognition of his title and payment of the note not decided.] Delivery of the property is not necessary where the gift is by a registered instrument. Oral evidence is not admissible to prove that a document which in terms is an out and out gift was really meant to be a donatio mortis causa. BRADSHAW v. GOSWAMI v. ASHUTOSH MUKHOPADHYA (1912)

18 C. W. N. 888

— In favour of Agent—In favour of A as agent of B—Endorsement by A, simpliciter in C—No prima facie title to C If a negotiable instrument executed in favour of A, as the agent of B, is endorsed by A simpliciter (i.e., without describing himself as the agent of B) to C the endorsement cannot in the absence of any evidence to show that A was intended to be the beneficial owner of the note, convey, in this country, any title to C so as to enable C to sue the person or persons liable on the note. MUTHAR SAHIB MARAKAR v. KADAR SAHIB MARAKAR, I L R. 23 Mad. 244 referred to VEERAYAN CHETTIAR v. PONNUSWAMI CHETTIAR (1913) I L R. 36 Mad. 362

— In favour of several—Discharge by one of several payees validity of Held by the Full Bench (THE CHIEF JUSTICE dissenting), that one of several payees of a negotiable instrument could give a valid discharge of the entire debt without the concurrence of the other payees ANNAPURNAMMA v. ARKATTA (1913)

I L R. 36 Mad. 544

— Handl—Whether by mercantile usage at Delhi oral acceptance is binding—What constitutes a mercantile usage Held, that by mercantile usage at Delhi a drawee who has accepted a Handl orally is liable on the instrument. Held, also, that to establish a mercantile usage it is enough if the usage appears to be so well known and acquiesced in, that it may be reasonably presumed to have been an ingredient tacitly imported by the parties into their contract. Jyotsnabehn v. Manickchand & Alcos, I A 263 289, P. C., referred to PANNA LAL LAUGHMAN DAS v. HARGOPAL KHUBI RAM . I L R. 1 Lah. 80 — Accompanied deposit of title-deeds—Endorsement of negotiable instrument without transfer of equitable mortgage by registered instrument—Right of endorsee to enforce the mortgage The endorsee for value of a negotiable instrument, the amount of which had been secured by a mortgage by deposit of title-deeds cannot claim to enforce the mortgage in the absence of a registered instrument conveying the mortgage right to him. Permal Immal v. Permal Vaidyar (1921) I L R. 44 Mad. 198 dissenting from ELP MALAI CHETTI v. NAIKARISHNA MUDALIAR (1921) . I L R. 44 Mad. 985

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT (XXVI OF 1881)

ss. 4 and 28—

See NOTE ON HAND 14 C. W. N. 414

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT (XXVI OF 1881)—contd

— ss. 4 and 80—Certain person, whether manager of a bank is—Interest whether enlargement of time is good consideration for promise to pay—Promissory note where suit on, should be mat. lated A promissory note payable to the manager of a bank is payable to a certain person within the meaning of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 s. 4 & 80 being an enabling section is no bar to the recovery of interest which the debtor subsequently to the execution of a promissory note agrees to pay in consideration of the creditor not pressing his demand immediately. A suit on a promissory note is properly instituted at the place where payment is to be made. MAHANTH DAMODAR DAS v. DEVARAS BAYE, LTD

5 Pat. L. J. 536

— ss. 5 and 8—Cheque Bill of Exchange—Banker—Local Boards Act (V of 1891), ss. 55, 144 to 147—Government Treasury, whether a banker—Power of Local Board to make or issue negotiable instruments—Implied power—Rules and Forms under the Act—Local Fund Code, s. 512—Endorsee of an order of District Board, whether holder in due course A Local Board is impliedly empowered under the Local Boards Act (V of 1891) to make, endorse or accept negotiable instruments, as such a power can be inferred from the rules and forms made by the Governor in Council under s. 144 cl. (16) of the Act and contained in the Local Fund Code which have the force of law under s. 147 of the Act. A Government Treasury, in which a District Board deposits its money under s. 54 of the Act and issues orders for payment on which are respected by the former, is not a 'Bank.' Foley v. Hill (1848) 2 H. L. Cas. 28 at p. 43 and Halifax Union v. Wheelwright (1875) L. R. 10 Exch. 133, followed. An unconditional order in writing for payment of money to, or to the order of a person, issued by a District Board on the Government Treasury, is not a cheque under s. 6 but is a bill of exchange under s. 5 of the Negotiable Instruments Act; and a bona fide endorsee for value of such an order is entitled to payment as a holder in due course. RANKA SWAMI PILLAI v. SANKARALINGAM ATTAR (1920)

I L R. 43 Mad. 818

— s. 13—

See SHIBRA I L R. 46 Cal. 331, 342

— s. 16—Endorsement, what constitutes—Holder in due course—Bill payable on demand, when overdue S. 16 of the Negotiable Instruments Act does not lay down any specific form of words for an endorsement. A promissory note payable on demand was executed on 18th December 1901. On the 12th September 1904, the payee received the amount due on the note from one S and the following was endorsed on the note by the payee: 'I have this day received from you, S the sum of

Rs. for principal and interest and assigned this note to you with power to recover the amount due under it by showing the same.' No demand for payment was made before the 12th September 1904. Held that S was an indorsee of the promissory note, that the promissory note was not overdue on the date of indorsement and that S was entitled as holder in due course to sue on the note. SIVASANKARISHNA PATTAR v. MAN GATASERI KUNNU MOIDET (1909)

I L R. 33 Mad. 34

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT (XXVI OF 1891)—contd

s. 22—Liability payable after sixty one days—Draw of maturity—Liability of endorser—Held, (i) that a bill of exchange which is not expressed to be payable on demand, at sight or on presentment, is at maturity on the third day after the day on which it is expressed to be payable, and (ii) that a bill drawn in the customary form, that is, expressed to be payable after so many days, does not require to be presented for acceptance in order to render liable thereon the payee, who had endorsed it in favour of a third party GANGA PRASAD v HIRA LAL (1916)

I. L. R. 39 All. 86

s. 26, 27, 28—

See HUNDI, SUIT ON.

I. L. R. 46 Cal. 683

Agent, meaning of—Hundi or promissory note drawn or made by a trustee of a charity—Personal liability of trustee—Liability of charity property and other members of the family—Signature of trustee with vilasam of charity prefixed, effect of—Liability of non executors—A person drawing a hundi or bill of exchange or making a promissory note as trustee of a temple or of a charity is personally liable on such bill or note. Rule of English Law as to bills drawn or notes made by church wardens, overseers and others who describe themselves in their official capacities, applied. English and Indian cases reviewed. 'Agent' referred to in s. 27 and 28 of the Indian Negotiable Instruments Act, means the agent of a person capable of contracting within the meaning of s. 26, and when the agent is not liable, the principle is. A person drawing a bill or making a note as trustee of a temple or charity is not acting on behalf of such a principal and cannot claim the benefit of s. 28. When the agent of a Chetti firm is executing a negotiable instrument prefixed the firm's vilasam, that is, a well understood indication that he is acting only as an agent and has been so recognized by the Courts, but when a man signs as trustee prefixing the charity vilasam, there is on the face of the document no clear indication that he contracts for any one else but himself. PALANIAPPA CHETTIAR v. SHAN MUGAM CHETTIAR (1918)

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 815

s. 27—Promissory note executed under the authority of a markman but not marked by him, validity of—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 226, applicability of. The law of Agency as stated in s. 226 of the Indian Contract Act is applicable to Negotiable Instruments and a promissory note executed by a person under the authority of a markman is valid though the markman has not affixed his mark thereto. BALAYYA v. SUBBAYYA (1917)

I. L. R. 40 Mad 1171

s. 28—Promissory note by agent, with out any indication of execution as agent—Personal liability of executant. Unless an executant of a promissory note clearly indicates therein either by an addition to his signature or otherwise, that he executes it as agent of another or that he does not intend thereby to incur personal responsibility, he is liable personally on the promissory note according to s. 28 of the Negotiable Instruments Act. Merely describing oneself in the note as, the holder of a power of attorney from another does not show that the power included a power to sign promissory notes or that the note was signed in pursuance of the power. Applicability of English Law on the subject considered. KOTATI NAICKER v. GOPALA AYYAR (1913)

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS (ACT XXVI OF 1891)—contd.s. 29—contd

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 482

s. 23, 50—

See PROMISSORY NOTE IN GUARDIAN OF MINOR I. L. R. 39 Mad 915

s. 30, 47, 59, 74, 91—*Hundi, payable to bearer—Surety—Contract of suretyship only between surety and creditor—Right of surety against principal debtor—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 126, 140, 141, 145, 69 and 70—Right of holder, not being holder in due course—Delivery of hundi, payable to bearer, effect of—Holder, right of. A person who becomes a surety without the concurrence thereto of the principal debtor, gets as against the latter, only the rights given by ss. 140 and 141 of the Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872) and not those given by s. 145. Such a person cannot invoke in his favour the aid of ss. 69 and 70 of the Act. Hodgson v. Shaw, 3 My K 183, referred to. A person obtaining by payment, after dishonour by the drawee, delivery of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer, acquires the rights of a holder thereof and can, under s. 59 of the Negotiable Instruments Act (XXVI of 1891) recover from the drawer, the amount due thereon, on proof of presentment and notice of dishonour as required by ss. 74, 30 and 94 of the Act. Gajapathy Krishna Chandra Deo v. Srinivasa Charlu, Appeal No. 26 of 1909, referred to. Nanal Ram v. Mehru Lal, I. L. R. 1 All. 457, distinguished. MURTHU RAMAN v. CHINPA VELAYAN (1916) I. L. R. 29 Mad. 965*

s. 32, 43—

See ARBITRATION I. L. R. 2 Lah. 335

See BILL OF EXCHANGE

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 566

s. 43—

See C I F CONTRACTS

I. L. R. 42 Bom 473

s. 47—

See s. 30 I. L. R. 39 Mad 965

s. 48—Promissory note, making over of, without endorsement, if constitutes valid transfer of gift—Chose in action, transfer of—Negotiable Instruments Act, scope of—Transfer of Property Act (II of 1932), s. 123, 130, 137. The defendant executed a promissory note in favour of one N who handed over this note without any endorsement to an idol through its pujari, and having done so died. The plaintiff the shewast of the idol thereupon sued the petitioner for the amount due on the note. Held, that although a promissory note to order may be transferred otherwise than by endorsement and delivery as contemplated by s. 48 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, there was no legal transfer of the promissory note to the plaintiff or the Deity whom the plaintiff represented either as a negotiable instrument or as a chose in action under s. 130 of the Transfer of Property Act nor was there a valid gift of the promissory note under a 123 of the Transfer of Property Act. That even assuming that there was a valid transfer, the plaintiff was not entitled to sue in his own name. It may be generally true that a valid assignment of a negotiable instrument as an action-able claim gives the assignee the rights of the holder subject to equities, but this broad proposition must be subject at any rate to the qualification that it is true only so far as it is not inconsistent with the special provisions of the Negotiable Instruments Act. Per RICHARDSON J. The object and purpose of the Negotiable Instruments Act is to legalise a system under which claims arising upon certain instruments of a mercantile character can be treated like ordinary goods which pass by delivery from hand to hand. But except within the prescribed limits such claims cannot be so treated. AKHOY KUMAR PAL v. HARIDAS BYSACK (1913) 18 C. W. N. 494

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS (ACT XXVI OF 1881)—contd

s. 43—contd

s. 57—

See PROMISSORY NOTE

I L. R. 41 Mad. 253

s. 59—

See s. 30. I L. R. 39 Mad. 965

ss. 64, 76—Hundi—Presentation—

Liability of drawer—Burden of proof. Where it is sought with reference to s. 76 (d) of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, to render liable the drawer of a hundi which has not been presented for payment the onus of proving that the drawer could not suffer damage from the want of presentment is on the party who wants to excuse himself for the non presentation of the hundi. Madho Ram v. Durga Prasad I L. R. 33 All. 4 followed. Phul Chand v. Ganga Ghulam I L. R. 21 All. 459, distinguished. GAYA DIX v. SRI RAM (1917) I L. R. 39 All. 364

Hundi—Non-present-

ment by holder—Liability of drawer—Burden of proof. Where a hundi has not been presented for payment and the holder is seeking to recover from the drawer, it lies on the plaintiff to show that the drawer could not have suffered any loss by reason of the hundi not having been presented. NATHE MAL v. CHET RAM (1913) I L. R. 41 All. 40

ss. 76 (a), 87, 93 and 98—Altering period of payment of a hundi without consent of all the drawers—Material alteration—Consequence—Hundi payable at a specified place—Presentment—Necessity of notice of dishonour. In this case the Diamond Jubilee Mills, Delhi, (the 4th defendant) being in need of money in 1913, the Directors decided to borrow money. Consequently three persons namely Sundar Singh (defendant No. 1) Manager of the Company, and Ram Singh (defendant No. 2), and Chhajju Ram (defendant No. 3) two of the Directors drew five hundis, including the hundi which is the subject-matter of this appeal on the Company (defendant No. 4) in favour of the plaintiff firm Gulab Rai Mehar Chand. The hundis were drawn on 1st October 1913 and were accepted by the drawee Company on the 4th October who noted it as payable at the Alliance Bank of Simla, Limited, Delhi. Originally it was payable after 93 days but this was subsequently altered to 63 days under the initials of the Sunjar Singh alone. The plaintiff firm endorsed the hundi to the Alliance Bank of Simla Limited which paid the money to the acceptor Company. On the

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS (ACT XXVI OF 1881)—contd

s. 76 (a) 87, 93 and 98—contd

due date the hundi was dishonoured by the Company and the Bank recovered the money from the plaintiff firm. The plaintiff firm in its turn then brought the present suit to recover the money not only from the acceptor Company, but also from the three drawers. It was pleaded inter alia that the due dates of the hundis as executed were altered without the knowledge of Ram Singh and Chhajju Ram that the hundis were never presented for payment and that no notice of dishonour was given to them. The District Judge decreed the claim against all the defendants except Chhajju Ram. Ram Singh then appealed to the High Court claiming exemption from liability and the plaintiff appealed to have Chhajju Ram also rendered liable. Held that the alteration in the hundis reducing the period of payment was a material alteration within the meaning of s. 87 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, and plaintiff having failed to prove that this was done with the consent of Ram Singh and Chhajju Ram, or in order to carry out the common intention of the original parties, the hundi was thereby rendered void as against them and plaintiff could not be allowed to fall back upon the contract as it existed prior to the alteration. Suffel v. Bank of England, 9 Q. B. D. 555, and Wood v. Steel, 6 Ball & B. 89, followed. Held, also, that the fact that the hundis had not been presented for payment on due date did not in this case have the effect of non suiting the plaintiff as the hundis were expressly payable at the Alliance Bank of Simla and Delhi, and neither the acceptor nor any person authorised to pay had attended there during the usual business hours, presentment was, therefore, not necessary—vide s. 76 (a) of the Act. Held further, that the law embodied in s. 93 of the Act requires the holder to give notice of dishonour to the person or persons other than the drawer or acceptor whom he seeks to make liable on a bill and this rule does not admit of any departure except in the cases enumerated in s. 98 and as the plaintiff in this case had failed to prove the only exemption relied upon by him, viz., that the party charged could not suffer damage for want of notice, his suit against the drawers must also fail on the ground of want of notice of dishonour. RAM SINGH v. GULAB RAI MEHAR CHAND I L. R. 1 Lah. 282

s. 80—

See s. 4. 5 Pat. L. J. 536

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872 s. 92

1 Pat. L. J. 71

See HAND NOTE 2 Pat. L. J. 451

Promissory note silent about interest—oral agreement as to it provable—Evidence Act (of 1872) s. 92 (2). Where there was no mention of interest in a promissory note and it was sought by the plaintiff to prove that by a contemporaneous oral agreement it was settled between the plaintiff and the defendant that interest would run at the rate of 5 per cent per annum. Held, that under s. 92 (2) of the Indian Evidence Act, the plaintiff was not entitled to prove any such oral agreement as to the rate of interest. Where the defendant admitted in his written statement that he had verbally agreed to pay interest on the promissory note at the rate of 12 per cent per annum, s. 80 of the Negotiable Instruments Act (XXVI of 1881) was no bar to the interest being decreed at that rate. LACHMI CHAND JHAWAR v. HEMENDRA PRASAD GHOSH (1914) . . . 18 C. W. N. 1260

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS (ACT XXVI OF 1881)—*contd*s. 80—contd

s. 87—

See s. 76 . . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 281

See DEED . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 746

ss. 93, 98—

See s. 76 . . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 281

s. 94—

See s. 30 . . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 965

s. 98—Want of notice of dishonour

—Whether damage caused by reason of such want of notice—Burden of proof. In a suit by intermediate endorsers of a hund against earlier endorsers, the court found that the hund had not been presented for payment within a reasonable time and that notice of dishonour was not given. Held, that it lay upon the plaintiffs to prove that the defendants could not suffer damage by reason of want of notice of dishonour, not upon the defendants to prove that they had suffered damages. Moti Lal v. Moti Lal I. L. R. 6 All. 78, followed. MADHO RAM v. DURGA PRASAD

I. L. R. 33 All. 4

s. 118—

See PROMISSORY NOTE

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 861

Shah Jog Aundis—consideration—Onus probandi—Second appeal—Where lower appellate Court has placed onus on the wrong party. The respondent N M drew upon himself two Shah Jog Aundis in favour of the appellant M R, one on 5th November 1914, payable after 31 days, and the other on 9th November 1914, payable after 61 days. On 15th December 1914, N M brought an action for cancellation of the Aundis on the ground that they were without consideration. A week later M R brought a counter action claiming principal and interest on the earlier Aundi, the period for payment on the second Aundi had not then expired. Both actions were tried together and the first Court held that the onus of want of consideration was on M R, the drawer, and that he had failed to discharge this onus. On appeal the Additional District Judge placing apparently the onus of proving consideration on M R, the drawee, held that he had proved consideration on the second Aundi but not on the first. M R then presented a second appeal to this Court. Held, that the Aundis in dispute is what is called Shah Jog Aundi, i. e., a bill payable to a Shah or banker, which is similar to some extent to a cheque crossed generally which is payable only to, or through some banker, and that such a Aundi satisfies the requirements of a negotiable instrument. Held, also, that under s. 118 of the Negotiable Instruments Act there is a statutory presumption in favour of the passing of consideration, and that the onus of proving want of consideration was therefore upon the drawer. Held further, that in cases of this character in which the question of allocation of onus NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS (ACT XXVI OF 1881)—*concld*s. 118—contd.

is the most vital question between the parties, it is the duty of the Court in Second appeal to rectify a mistake made by the lower Appellate Court in this respect. MADHO RAM v. NARAYAN MAL . . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 429

s. 135—

See BILLS OF EXCHANGE

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 534

NEPAL

—whether a "Foreign State"—

See EXTRADITION WARRANT

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 793

NEW CASE.

See PROCEDURE I. L. R. 48 Calc. 832

See REMAND . . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 888

NEW CHANNEL

See FISHERY . . . L. R. 41 I. A. 221

NEW TRIAL.

See EVIDENCE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 671

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURT

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 425

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (XV OF 1882), s. 38

16 C. W. N. 25

—application for—

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (XV OF 1882), ss. 9, 38

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 823

Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882, 1895, ss. 9, 38—Notice returnable before Full Bench—Practice in the Small Cause Court of Calcutta—High Court, power of, to frame rules—Matters of procedure and practice—Calcutta Small Cause Court Rules 92, 93, 94 and 95. By a notification dated the 9th July 1919 and published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 16th July 1919, Part I, page 1128, the following rule framed by the High Court under s. 9 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act 1882 1895 was added to rule 92 of the Rules of Practice of the Court of Small Causes of Calcutta: "Provided that the Court may, if in its opinion no sufficient grounds are shown for the application, dismiss it without directing service on the party against whom the application is made." Held, that the addition to rule 92 was not ultra vires, but that the rule did not contemplate the exercise by one Judge of the Small Cause Court of the powers conferred on the Court by s. 38 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882, 1895. Madurai Pillay v. J. Muthu Chetty I. L. R. 38 Mad. 823, referred to. RAM CHANDRA SAGORENUL v. AMARCHAND MURALIDHAR, In re (1920)

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 763

NEWSPAPER.

See FORFEITURE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 190

See PRESS ACT (I OF 1900), ss. 3 (1), 4 (1), 17, 19, 20, 22

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1085

NEWSPAPER COMMENT.

—on party under cross-examination—
See COMPELLED OF COURT

15 C. W. N. 771

NII CHAS.

See ORISSA TENANT ACT, 1913

8 Pat. L. J. 67

NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT.

—statement of—

See LABEL

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 760

NOMINATION PAPER.

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 133

NEWSPAPERS (INCITEMENT TO OFFENCES) ACT (VII OF 1908).

—s. 2, 3—

See PRINTING PRESS

I. L. R. 33 Calc. 202

—s. 3—

press S 3 of the Newspaper (Incitements to Offences) Act, 1908, provides for the making of a conditional order declaring the printing press used for the purpose of printing or publishing the offending newspaper to be forfeited. The section refers to the whole of the press and no order could be made under it limited only to such portion of the press as were employed in printing the offending newspaper. Dhondoo KASHMIRI PHADKE, 14 re (1909) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 327

Order—Forfeiture of Nature of offences under the Act—Incitement to assassination—"Incite" means meaning of direct or indirect incitement—General incitement, not addressed to particular person—Construction of offensive article. The question of the intention or knowledge of an individual may determine his criminal liability under the ordinary law of abetment by incitement by means of words, written or spoken but under the Newspapers (Incitement to Offences) Act no question of the intention of the writer, printer or publisher arises and no personal liability is imputed to any particular person. The order thereunder is not one against any person, but is purely restrictive and directed against the use, or intended use, of a press for the purpose of printing or publishing a newspaper containing any incitement to murder or to any offence under the Explosive Substances Act (VI of 1908) or to any act of violence. The words any incitement in s. 3 (1) of the Newspapers Act include direct and indirect incitement, and need not be addressed to any particular person, nor expressed in violent and outrageous terms. To "incite" means "to move to action to stir up, to stimulate, to instigate or to encourage," and a newspaper article comes within the scope of s. 3 if it is, as a matter of fact calculated, directly, or indirectly, to produce that effect. PER RIVER, J. There can be no hard and fast canon as to what words or given set of words constitute "incitement." It is a question of fact in each case, and must usually depend largely on concomitant circumstances. The article must be read as a whole and as far as possible, in the sense in which it was read by the section of the public to which it was primarily addressed, and also considered with regard to the occasion and place of publication and the class or status of persons likely to be affected by it. I. L. R. 36 Calc. 403

NEXT FRIEND.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908)
O XXXII, R. 7

I. L. R. 41 All. 553

See Courts.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 676

NIMAK SAYAR MEHAL.

Permanent Settlement

Separate grants of zamindari and Nimak Sayar over the same village, rights which pass under—Right of grantee of Nimak Sayar to enter orders of zamindari for working saltpetre—Right of grantee of grantee—Reasonable exercise of right—*Ouyas est solum ejus est usque ad colant ad sajeros doctrine of application in India—Plaint, amendment of—excludes right to dig saltpetre misunderstood and wrongly described in plaint as a monopoly. The zamindari in village Manpura was settled on the predecessors in title of the defendant at the Permanent Settlement and at the same Settlement the Nimak Sayar Mehal in the said and other villages (i.e., an exclusive right to collect nitrous earth from the lands in those villages with a view to extracting saltpetre therefrom) was settled by Government on the plaintiff's predecessors. The plaintiff urged that the grant of the Nimak Sayar Mehal entitling her to enter on the land comprised in defendant's zamindari and exercise therein in a reasonable manner the rights vested in her under the grant, whilst the defendant, a recent purchaser of the zamindari right, contended that the grant in question conferred on the plaintiff the right to collect the revenue only if and when saltpetre happened to be manufactured, and that she had no right to come on the land except by the leave and license of the defendant much less to authorise others to utilize the tenuous soil for the collection of saltpetre. Held, that what passed under the grant of the Nimak Sayar Mehal were not rights of this precarious character. That the Nimak Sayar Mehal was no part of the assets of the zamindari, and that the zamindari and the Nimak Sayar Mehal were separately settled by the Government, as it was English real property ejus est solum ejus est usque ad colant ad sajeros *Goonoo Prasad Bhow v. Bhow Chandra Bhow, 1 Sel. Rep. 337 (All. L.J. 1911, and Byram v. Deo Dyal 2 Sel. Rep. 133, referred to, The Bengal Government v. Bhow Chandra Bhow, 5 Mo. 1 A. 437, distinguished. That the grant of the Nimak Sayar Mehal carried with it the means reasonably necessary for its enjoyment. Precedence of Saltpetre, 12 Cal. Rep. 12, referred to. That by virtue of plaintiff's rights as owner of the Nimak Sayar Mehal, she, her agents, servants and workmen, licensees and licensees were entitled to enter on the land of the village and to exercise an exclusive right to dig for saltpetre, but so that this be done with as little inconvenience and prejudice as possible

NIMAK SAYAR MEHAL—contd

to the defendant as the owner of the village and that the ground be made and left as commodious to the defendant as it was before Plaintiff whose claim of exclusive right to work saltpetre was erroneously described in the plaint as a monopoly, was allowed in Second Appeal to amend her plaint and formulate her claim in happier and more precise language. As the plaint in its original form occasioned the prolongation of the suit the plaintiff, though successful, was ordered to pay costs throughout. GOLAP CHAND v JANZI KUAR (1913) . . . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 286
17 C. W. N. 1195

NOABAD.

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT, 1894

18 C. W. N. 531

Khas Mehal—Taluk, a tenure—Non permanent taluk—Sale for arrears of revenue—Purchaser's title—Beng Act VII of 1863, s 12—Cause of action A Noabad taluk is a tenure, the land being khas mehal land of Government. Where it was found that the tenure in question was not a permanent tenure, the purchaser thereof at sale under Act XI of 1859 acquired it in the same estate in which it was held at the time of the last settlement as provided by s 12 of Bengal Act VII of 1808. GANGADAS SHAH v THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1916) 20 C. W. N. 636

Whether a permanently by settled taluk A Noabad taluk may or may not be a permanently settled taluk. ASHRAF ALI v KARAM ALI (1918) 22 C. W. N. 1025

Noabad lands, settlement of—Right of Government in respect of such lands Settled, Government stands in the same position as an ordinary zamindar in respect of Noabad lands which it has a right to settle with whomsoever it likes. NAZIR AHAMAD CROWDHURY v SECRETARY OF STATE . 26 C. W. N. 913

NOLLE PROSEQUI.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 437
16 C. W. N. 983

See JURISDICTION OF CRIMINAL COURT—
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 71

NOMINATION OF JUNIOR OR SENIOR

See BARRISTER I. L. R. 44 Calc 741

NON-AGRICULTURAL LAND.

See RECORD OF RIGHTS
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 441

NON-AGRICULTURAL TENANCY.

Held that non agricultural tenancies created by the Dowry before the Transfer of Property Act are not heritable or transferable. MAHOMED AYE-JUDDIN MEA v PRODYOT KUMAR TAGORE 25 C. W. N. 13

NON-APPEALABLE CASE.

See SUMMARY TRIAL.
I. L. R. 43 Calc 260

NON-APPEARANCE.

Plaintiff—Non-appearance of one of the plaintiffs, effect of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O IX, rr 5, 10, 12

NON-APPEARANCE—contd

Reading together rr 8 and 10 of O. IX, Civil Procedure Code, it seems that r 8 provides for the case where a single plaintiff or all the plaintiffs, if there are more than one, do not appear and r 10 provides for a case when there are more plaintiffs than one and one or more of them appear and others do not appear. In a suit on a mortgage bond for sale where one of the two plaintiffs did not appear in person in spite of Court's order nor showed cause but the Court proceeded with the trial of the suit and decreed the claim in favour of both the plaintiffs. Held, that there was nothing illegal in the decree. KULVENDRA KISHORE ROY v RAI KISHORI SHARA (1920)
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 57

NON-COMPOUNDABLE OFFENCE.

Conveyance executed in consideration of complainant withdrawing prosecution Suit to set aside same after prosecution withdrawn if lies. BINDESHARI PRASAD v LEKH-RAJ SAHU (1916) 20 C. W. N. 760

NON-CONFESSIONAL STATEMENTS.

See MISDIRECTION I. L. R. 45 Calc. 557

NON-FEUDATORY ZAMINDARS OF CENTRAL PROVINCES.

See ACT OF STATE
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 615

NON-JOINDER.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, s 90, O I, RR 9 and 13

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 35 All. 247

See MORTGAGE SUIT 25 C. W. N. 594

See PARTIES I. L. R. 33 All. 272

See RIGHT OF WAY 25 C. W. N. 249

— of causes of action—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908),
O II, r 2 I. L. R. 41 All. 583

— of parties—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O
XXIV, r 1 I. L. R. 35 All. 484

Suit for rent—Heirs of the original tenant not in possession of the holding, if necessary parties Where, after the death of the original tenant a suit was brought against some of his men who were in possession of the holding and against whom a previous decree was obtained for arrears of rent accrued due during the period of latter's occupation: Held, that the suit was not defective by reason of the non joinder of the other heirs. MEERAN MAHDAL v JOGENDRA NATH DE (1920) . . . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 518

NON-JUDICIAL STAMP.

See STAMP ACT (II of 1899) s. 52
14 C. W. N. 1101

NON-OCCUPANCY HOLDING.

See NON OCCUPANCY RAIYAT

Non occupancy raiyats holding sale of, in execution of money decree— Raiyats' right to raise question of non transfer ability A non occupancy raiyat holding was sold in execution of a money decree whereupon the judgment-debtors objected on the ground of non

NON-OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

transferability. The patish of the land prohibited any kind of transfer without the consent of the landlord and gave the landlord the right of khaz possession in case any such transfer took place. Held that if the terms of the lease gives the landlord a right of re-entry in the case of a transfer without his consent that may raise a question between the purchaser, if any, at the Court sale and the landlord but does not clothe the raiyat with a right to object to the sale. LELOVA JEMIA v RAJANI KANTA CHOWDHURY (1913) 22 C. W. N. 792 heritability of.—In the absence of a custom to the contrary a non occupancy raiyat's interest is heritable. KALBU GARRI v JANGALI CHOUDBHARI 1 Pat. L. J. 273

NON-OCCUPANCY RAIYAT

See CHOTA NAAGUR LANDLORD AND TENANT PROCEDURE ACT s 6

14 C. W. N. 297

See EJECTMENT, I L. R. 40 Calc. 838

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
L. L. R. 37 Calc. 709

See NON OCCUPANCY HOLDING

See NON OCCUPANCY RIGHT

Under registered lease, if holds on from year to year.—Ejectment. Under the Bengal Tenancy Act there is no raiyat who holds from year to year and if the tenant is a non-occupancy raiyat who does not hold under a lease for a term, he cannot be ejected under the provisions of cl. (c) of s 44. JOTIRAM KHAN v JOXAMI NATH GHOSH (1914) 20 C. W. N. 258

Khairat land.—Statute.—Headings of Chapters.—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) Ch. XI, s 45 and Sch III, cl I (a). A tenant of a Khairat land is not a non occupancy raiyat. The heading of a chapter in a statute may be looked at for the purpose of interpreting a section in the statute. DWARKANATH CHAUDHURI v TAYALAR RAHAMAT SARKAR (1916) 21 C. W. N. 267

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 267
Under registered lease, eviction of.—"Jote," meaning of.—"Makal," meaning of. That a non occupancy raiyat who has been admitted to occupation of the land under a registered lease is liable to be ejected on the expiry of the term of his lease but it being found that the defendants were not admitted into occupation of the land by the kabulyats, it was necessary to determine whether the defendant in each case was in occupation as tenant of the particular lands in respect of which he subsequently executed his kabulyats. That the description in the kabulyats "without right jote makal" was not clear to show that the defendants admitted that the plaintiffs were raiyats. That the words "without right" standing alone might mean that the plaintiffs were owners of a non occupancy jote but the word "jote" does not necessarily mean the interest of a cultivator and the word "makal" is not used in connection with the interest of a raiyat. That the statement in the lease as to the purpose of the tenancy and the fact that the tenancy was treated all along by Government as non occupancy jote were in favour of the plaintiffs but not conclusive against the defendants. RAJANI KANTA MUKHERJEE v YUSUF ALI (1916) 21 C. W. N. 188

NON-OCCUPANCY RIGHT.

Heritability.—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss 5, cl (2), 20, cl (3), 44, 82. The holding of a non occupancy raiyat is heritable. AARIM CHOUDHURY v SUNDAR DEWA, I. L. R. 24 Calc. 207, overruled. Lakhan Narain Das v Jainsath Pandey, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 516, referred to. MIDNAPORE ZEMINDARY COMPANY, LD. v. HIRSHIKESH GHOSH (1912)

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1108

Acquisition of, in rural land.—Ejectment of tenant of rural land, limitation for.—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885)—ss 4, 5, 20, 44 45 and 116, 180 and Sch III, Art 1 (a).—Construction of Statutes, reference to heading of Chapter. Held, (CHAPMAN and JWALA PRASAD, JJ., dissenting), that a suit by a landlord to eject a tenant of rural lands on the ground of the expiration of the term of his lease is governed by Art 1 (a) of Sch III to the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, and the operation of Art 1 (a) is not excluded in such a case by s 110. Per CHAPMAN, C. J.—Chapter VI of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, applies to tenants of proprietors' private lands except where such land is held under a lease for a term of years, or where it is held under a lease from year to year, and such tenants may acquire non occupancy rights in the land within the meaning of the Act. Per CHAPMAN, J.—The classification of tenants in ss 4 and 5 is not intended to be scientific and precise. These sections should be applied with a reasonable amount of elasticity. A tenant of rural land may possibly be classified as a tenure holder, but he is not a non-occupancy raiyat. Rural land is not raiyat's land although the zamindar may lose his right in it by treating it as if it was raiyat's. But if he lets it for a term or from year to year it remains his own and the tenant of it is not a raiyat. Per MULLICK, J.—Although the definition of raiyat in the Act is not exhaustive yet the classification of the various classes of raiyats in s 6 is exhaustive. Both occupancy and non occupancy right can under certain circumstances be acquired in rural lands. A cultivator may be a settled raiyat of rural lands but as such he has no rights. The position of a tenant of proprietors' private lands under the present law is as follows.—The landlord can make successive enhancements of rent, but the tenant can no longer take advantage of s 13 of the Bengal Rent Act, 1850, or s 14 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1889, on the tenant's failure to pay an arrears of rent he can only be ejected after a decree although it was otherwise before the passing of the Bengal Tenancy Act 1885, and a suit for ejectment of the tenant on the expiry of his lease must now be brought within six months instead of twelve years as formerly. A non occupancy raiyat whose lease has expired is liable to ejectment under the general law as a trespasser. Art 1 (a) of Sch III is applicable to every suit in which it is sought to eject a non-occupancy raiyat and is not confined to suits under s 44. Per JWALA PRASAD, J.—The classification of tenants in s 4 is not exhaustive. The provisions of the Act barring the acquisition of non-occupancy rights in proprietors' private lands do not cease to apply when a tenant of such lands holds over after the expiry of his lease. S. 51 lays down that where a tenant holds over the conditions under which he held the land in the last preceding agricultural year shall be presumed to continue. Per CHAPMAN and JWALA PRASAD, JJ., (MULLICK, J., contra)—The

NON-OCCUPANCY RIGHT—contd.

Heading of a chapter of an Act may be used to extend the meaning of a section which follows it.
JAYKE SINGH v MAHATATH JAGANNATH DAS
 3 Pat. L. J. 1

NON-PERFORMANCE OF WORK.

See BARRISTER I. L. R. 44 Calc. 741

NON-RIPARIAN OWNER.

—right of, to the flow of river water—
 See ELEMENTS ACT (V of 1882), ss 2 (c) AND 17 (c) . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 288

NON-TRANSFERABLE HOLDING.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
 I. L. R. 43 Calc. 878
 See OCCUPANCY HOLDING }

1. ———— Question of transferability of araises between vendor and vendee and between vendee and co-sharer landlords Plaintiffs who had purchased certain shares in an alleged non transferable holding partly in execution of a mortgage decree against one tenant and the rest by private alienation from another, having sued for partition, the sons of one of the former opposed the suit on the ground that they had been recognised as tenants of the whole holding by some of the co sharer landlords, whilst the plaintiffs also were found to have obtained recognition from some of the co sharer landlords The District Judge gave the plaintiffs a decree for an interest proportionate to that of the co sharer landlords who had recognised them Held, that no question of transferability of the holding arose in the case and the plaintiffs in this suit were entitled to get all the interest they purchased from their vendors RAJAD ALI v DEVA NATH SHANA (1915)
 19 C. W. N. 1305

2. ———— Mortgage of—Purchase of holding by co-sharer landlord in execution of decree for his share of rent—Money-decree—Question of transferability, if arises In a suit to enforce his mortgage by the mortgagee of an occupancy holding against co sharer landlords, who since the date of the mortgage purchased the holding in execution of a decree for their share of the rent, the question of transferability does not arise CHANDI PRASANNO SINGH v GOUR CHANDRA DEB (1915) . . . 19 C. W. N. 1307

3. ———— Non transferable rayati holding—Sale in execution of money decree—Purchaser allowed by rayat to take a portion of the holding—Surrender by rayat of whole holding—Rayat continuing in occupation—Purchaser if may be ejected Where a purchaser (in execution of a money decree) of a non transferable rayati holding being resisted by the rayat, by arrangement with the latter, was given a portion of the holding, the rayat retaining the rest, and subsequently the rayat expressly surrendered the whole holding to his landlord, though it appeared that even after such surrender he went on occupying the portion retained by him under the arrangement. That the surrender being obviously illusory, the original tenancy subsisted and protected the purchaser from ejectment by the landlord. NOBO KRISHN SAMA v DHANANJOY SAMA (1916).
 20 C. W. N. 610

NORTHERN INDIA CANAL AND DRAINAGE ACT (VIII OF 1873).

— ss. 7, 70—Pennal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s 426—Cutting walls of canal—Mischief
 —Pennal Provisions of the Canal Act not exclusive of the Indian Penal Code Held, (i) that s. 70 of the Northern India Canal and Drainage Act, 1873, does not bar the prosecution of an accused person under any other law, for any offence punishable under the Canal Act; (ii) that it is an act of willful mischief punishable under the Indian Penal Code for any person to make a breach in the wall of a canal EUPHOR v BAYAT (1912)
 I. L. R. 34 All. 210

— s. 70—
 See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), s 430 . . . I. L. R. 41 All. 699

— s. 70 (4)—“Authorised distribution” —Whether it includes the internal distribution made by a village community One P S mortgaged 14 bighas of his land to B S According to arrangement in the village every man was allowed to use the water from the canal for a period of one ghora (24 minutes) for every seven bighas of land B S wanted to take his turn but P S prevented him. The former then presented a complaint and P S was convicted by a magistrate of an offence under s 70 (4) of the Canal and Drainage Act On appeal the District Magistrate acquitted P S holding that the distribution of water with which P S interfered was not an “authorised distribution” within the meaning of s 70 (1) of the Act The Government appealed to the High Court from the order of acquittal It was admitted that that Canal authorities distribute the water between the different villages, but that the internal distribution in any village was left to the proprietary body of that village and was accepted by the authorities. Held, that the internal distribution in the village was not an “authorised distribution” within the meaning of s 70 (4) of the Canal and Drainage Act, as it had never been formally approved or sanctioned by any Canal authority, the latter having merely accepted the distribution made by the villagers CHOW v PAKHAR SINGH
 I. L. R. 1 Lah. 604

NORTHERN INDIA FERRIES ACT (XVII OF 1878).

— s. 23—Ferry—Illegal toll taken by servants of lessee—Lessee himself not responsible. Held, that the lessees of a ferry could not be held responsible under s 29 of the Northern India Ferries Act, 1878, for the taking of unauthorised tolls by their servants when they were not present and took no part in the extortion Queen Empress v Tysb Ali, I. L. R. 24 Bom. 423, distinguished.
EMPEROR v BEHARY LAL (1911)
 I. L. R. 34 All. 146

NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH ACTS.

See ODH ACTS.
 See UNITED PROVINCES ACTS.

— 1867—III—
 See PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT.

— 1869—I—See ODH ESTATES ACT.

NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH ACTS—contd

1873—VIII—

See NORTHERN INDIA CANAL AND DRAINAGE ACT, XIX—

See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH LAND REVENUE ACT

1876—XVII—

See OUDH LAND REVENUE ACT

1876—XVIII—

See OUDH LAWS ACT

1878—XVII—

See NORTHERN INDIA FERRIES ACT

1881—XII—

See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES RENT ACT

1883—XV—

See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH MUNICIPALITIES ACT

1899—III—

See UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS ACT

1900—I—

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT

1901—II—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT

1901—III—

See UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT

1903—I—

See BONDDEKHAND EYENBERED ESTATES ACT

1904—I—

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT

1910—IV—

See UNITED PROVINCES EXCISE ACT

NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH LAND REVENUE ACT (XIX OF 1873).

ss. 148, 149, 187—"Proprietor"—Mortgage by muafidars—Sale of mahal for default in payment of Government Revenue—Rights of purchaser and mortgagees of muaf. Where certain muafidars, whose rights as such accrued before the year 1870, and were not shown to have been created by the zamindars of the mahal in which the muaf land in question was situate, executed a usufructuary mortgage of such land thereafter the mahal was sold for default in payment of Government revenue, it was held that the rights of the mortgagees were not extinguished in favour of the purchaser. KESWAN DAS v. JWALA PRASAD (1913). I L. R. 35 ALL 190

s. 194 (g)—Act (Local) No. III of 1839 (U. P. Court of Wards Act), ss. 2 (2), 8, 9 and 34—Act (Local) No. 11 of 1912 (U. P. Court of Wards Act), ss. 10 and 37 (c), proviso (2)—"Disqualified proprietor"—Competence of disqualified proprietor to make a will. A person who has been declared to be "a disqualified proprietor" on his own application under the provisions of s. 194 (g) of

NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH LAND REVENUE ACT (XIX OF 1873)—contd.

s. 194 (g)—contd

the North Western Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1873, is not disqualified thereby, at any rate after the passing of the United Provinces Court of Wards Act, 1899, from making a will. MUHAMMAD ISMAIL KHAN v. HAMIDA KHATUN.

I L. R. 42 AU 503

s. 205B—

See OUDH LAND REVENUE ACT (XVII OF 1876), ss. 173, 174

I L. R. 33 ALL 271

NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH MUNICIPALITIES ACT (XV OF 1883)

s. 10—United Provinces Municipalities Act (I of 1900), s. 187—Municipal Board—Election—Suit to set aside election—Jurisdiction of Civil Court—Simulation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. 1, Art. 120 Held, that an order of the Government directing that a particular municipal election held in the year 1911 should be conducted according to certain rules passed in 1884, and not according to the rules passed in pari mater in 1910, which superseded those of 1884, was ultra vires, and that inasmuch as the rules of 1884 did not apply and the election was not held under the rules of 1910 a suit would lie in a civil Court to contest the election, irrespective of anything contained in either set of rules, the period of limitation applicable to which was that prescribed by Art. 120 of the first Schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908. Our Charan Das v. Har Sarpur, I L. R. 31 AU 391, referred to. RAGHUNANDAN PRASAD v. SNEH PRASAD (1913)

I L. R. 35 ALL 338

s. 130—Breach of rule made under cl (e) of a 130—Notice. In order to render a person liable to punishment for breach of a rule made under cl (e) of s. 130 of the Municipalities Act (Local I of 1900), by reason of the continuance of sale or exposure for sale of certain specified articles upon any premises which were at the time of the making of such rules used for such purpose, it is necessary that six months' notice in writing should have been served upon him in the manner provided by law; and conviction in the absence of such notice is bad in law. EXPONER v. GHANMAN (1916)

I L. R. 33 ALL 455

NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES RENT ACT (XVIII OF 1873)

Held, that this Act and the succeeding Act XII of 1881 rendered void the terms of any will in existence on the date on which they were passed if contrary to the acts. MAHADYO MISER v. DIBOPAL PANDU

I L. R. 41 ALL 356

NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES RENT ACT (XII OF 1881).

Mortgage of occupancy holding—Relinquishment—Rights of mortgagee. An occupancy tenant mortgaged his occupancy holding at a time when the Rent Act of 1880 was in force. In the year 1911, he entered into an agreement with his samandars to relinquish his rights with the object of defeating the rights of the mortgagee. Held, that the relinquishment was ineffectual as against the mortgagee. Jangopal Narain Singh v Uman Dasi, 8 All L. J. R 695, approved Brij Kumar Lal v Sheo Kumar Misra (1915) . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 444

NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES RENT ACT (XII OF 1881)—contd

Sale of zamindari—
Agreement to relinquish ex-proprietory right in air lands—Void contract In 1899 one R. D., the widow of a Hindu who had died heavily in debt, sold most of her husband's property to his principal creditor D. S. By the terms of the sale deed the vendor agreed to file a relinquishment of her ex proprietary rights in the air lands and the vendee agreed to certify to the Civil Court full satisfaction of the claim under his decree. No thing, however, was done to carry out this agreement until 1901, when D. S. executed a document in favour of R. D., in which was stated that the parties had come to an agreement, that R. D. was to file her relinquishment and in consideration thereof D. S. would file his certificate of satisfaction of his Civil Court decree, and further bound himself to pay to R. D. a monthly allowance of Rs 5 for the rest of her life, which was to be a charge on the property transferred by the sale deed of 1899. Held, on suit by R. D. to recover arrears of her maintenance allowance from the transferee of the property which purported to have been charged with its payment, and from D. S. personally, that the arrangement between the parties was merely a device to get round the provisions of the Rent Law, and that the suit would not lie. Moti Chand v Ikram-ullah Khan, I L R 39 All 173, referred to Ratan Dei v Durga Shankar Bajpai (1917)

I. L. R. 39 All. 645

Occupancy holding—
Will—Attempt to dispose of occupancy holding by will Held that the North Western Provinces Rent Act No XVIII of 1873, and the succeeding Act No XII of 1881, rendered void the terms of any will in existence on the date on which they were passed, if those terms contravened the prohibition against transfer by will which was thereby enacted. MAHADEO MISIR v DINGPAL PANDU (1919) . . . I. L. R. 41 All. 358

Occupancy tenant—
Usufructuary mortgage of holding—Relinquishment by mortgagor in favour of zamindar Where a mortgage with possession of an occupancy holding had been made by the tenant before the coming into force of the Agra Tenancy Act, 1901. Held that the tenant mortgagor could not defeat the rights of the mortgagees by surrendering the holding to the zamindar. CHRIDDU v SNEO MANOAL SISON (1916) . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 188

NOTE OF EVIDENCE.

See SUMMARY TRIAL

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 280

NOTE OF HAND.

Where a hand note recited a loan and the liability of the executant to repay it, but there was no covenant that the re payment would be made to the plaintiff or to his order. Held, that it was not a negotiable instrument under the Negotiable Instruments Act; s. 4 or s. 23 of the Negotiable Instruments Act would not therefore apply to such a hand-note. Illustrations cannot control the plain meaning of the words of a statute. Illustration (b) of s. 4 of the Negotiable Instruments Act not relied on. SATTA PRITA GOSWAL v GOSINDO MONROY RAY CHOWDERY (1909).

NOTE OF HAND—contd

14 C. W. N. 414

NOTICE.

See AGREEMENT . . . I. L. R. 41 All. 417

See ARBITRATION.

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 29, 951

See ARREST OF SHIP

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 85

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (1888), ss 379, 379A I. L. R. 38 Bom. 81

See BOMBAY COURT OF WARDS ACT, 1905, s 14 . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 489

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1879, s 83 . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 303

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s 80.

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 541

s 437 . . . I. L. R. 40 All. 416

O VII, r 22 I. L. R. 43 All. 411

O XXI, r 16 I. L. R. 26 Bom. 88

O XXI, r 89 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 387

O XXXIII, r. 1

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 155

See COMPANY I. L. R. 36 Bom. 564

See CONSTRUCTIVE NOTICE.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 203 437 . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 78

s 437 . . . I. L. R. 40 All. 416

See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS, RELIEF ACT, 1879, s 10

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 87

See EJECTMENT I. L. R. 44 Calc. 272

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I. L. R. 33 Calc. 482

See HUNDI SHAH JAG

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 513

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 42 Calc. 72

See INSOLVENT I. L. R. 47 Calc. 254

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT (I of 1894), s 9 . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 534

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908)—

s 28, SCH. I ART. 47

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 432

SCH I, ART 12 A

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 45

SCH I, ART 182, CL (6)

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 558

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 599

See NOTICE OF DISHONOUR

See NOTICE TO QUIT

See NOTICE OF SUIT

See N. W. P. AND OUDH MUNICIPALITIES ACT (X of 1900), s 132

I. L. R. 38 All. 455

See PROSECUTION I. L. R. 37 Calc. 545

See PUNJAB DIAMOND RECOVERY ACT, ss 10, 31. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 498

NOTICE—contd.

- See PUTNI . . . 25 C. W. N. 106
- See RAILWAYS ACT (IX of 1890), s. 77
I. L. R. 33 All. 544
21 C. W. N. 751
- See REASONABLE NOTICE.
- See RESUMPTION.
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 279
- See REVIEW . . . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 178
- See REVIVOR . . . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 903
- See SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA
I. L. R. 35 Bom. 382
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 797
- See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 31
26 C. W. N. 26
- See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT ss. 3, 41
I. L. R. 35 Bom. 342
s. 40 . . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 493
- See TRUSTS ACT, s. 5.
I. L. R. 35 Bom. 396
- See UNDER-RAITAY.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 27
- See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES
ACT (I of 1900), s. 49
I. L. R. 33 All. 540
- See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES
ACT (II of 1916), s. 226 (4)
I. L. R. 41 All. 182
- See WASTE LANDS L. R. 43 I. A. 303
- See WITHDRAWAL OF SUIT
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 454
- constructive —————
- See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 139
- See REGISTRATION.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 170
- dismissal without, or opportunity for defence —————
- See MUTT . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 177
- disobedience of —————
- See CITY OF BOMBAY MUNICIPAL ACT
(Bom. Act III of 1888), s. 303
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 593
- form and method of —————
- See PUTNI SALE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 337
- imputed —————
- See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 139
- of order under Calcutta Police Act —————
- See PROCESSION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 470
- official assignee of suit against —————
- See PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY
ACT 1909, ss. 38 AND 52
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 535
- Receiver, suit against —————
- See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 80
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 895
- Service of —————
- See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O VII,
s. 22 . . . I. L. R. 43 All. 411

NOTICE—contd.

- Talukdar, suit against —————
- See COURT OF WARDER ACT (Bom.), 1903,
ss. 31 AND 32 I. L. R. 44 Bom. 936
- through Collector —————
- See RAILWAY ADMINISTRATION
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 16
- to co-sharers —————
- See PRE EMISSION I. L. R. 34 Bom. 567
- necessity of —————
- See FURTHER INQUIRY.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 233
- of charges, necessity for —————
- See MUTT . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 177
- of claim, to public officers —————
- See CANTONMENTS ACT (XIII of 1859),
s. 60 . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 583
- of oral unregistered sale —————
- See SALE . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 536
- of sale for arrears of road-tax —————
- See MUTT, HEAD OF
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 358
- Prosecution for non-compliance with —————
- See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (I of 1890), ss. 147, 152
I. L. R. 36 All. 185, 227
- Privileged occupant—Resignation of occupancy in favour of Khot—Adverse possession against —————
- See KHOTI SETTLEMENT ACT (Bom. Act
I of 1850), ss. 8 AND 10
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1001
- Sale-deed in the nature of mortgage —————
- See DEKKHAY AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF
ACT (XVII of 1879), s. 101
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 87
- Sale by Revenue Courts for arrears of revenue—Judgment-debtor disputing sale —Purchaser's plea of want of notice of judgment debtor's title —————
- See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908), ART
12A. . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 45
- Service of —————
- See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O
VII s. 22 . . . I. L. R. 43 All. 411
- State Railway—Before suit against See LOSS OF GOODS
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 16
- to government —————
- See LOSS OF GOODS.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 16
- See NOTICE (OF SUIT)
- See SECRETARY OF STATE.
- To Purchaser by Title deeds —————
- See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, s. 31
26 C. W. N. 26

NOTICE—could

—Terminating service agreement of school master—

See SCHOOL-MASTER.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 817

—under Public Demands Recoveries Act—

See SERVICE OF NOTICE

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 496

—whether amounts to prosecution—

See MALICIOUS PROSECUTION

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 181

1. —Secretary of State—Suit against notice by two out of six, three joint owners of land—Sufficiency of notice—Waiver—Estoppel—Objection taken at a late stage, if permissible—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 80 Under a 80 of the Code of Civil Procedure it is essential that the notice should state the names, descriptions and places of residence of all the plaintiffs. Where a suit was brought by sixty three plaintiffs against the Secretary of State for India in Council and others, and the notice of the suit contained the names, descriptions and places of residence of two out of the sixty three plaintiffs. Held, that such a notice was insufficient and did not fulfil the requirements of the statute. The Secretary of State for India v. Feranul Pillas, I. L. R. 24 Mad. 279, and Manindra Chandra Nandi v. The Secretary of State for India, 5 C. L. J. 148, referred to. It is competent to the Secretary of State to waive the notice, and he may be estopped by his conduct from pleading the want of notice at a late stage of the case. Manindra Chandra Nandi v. The Secretary of State for India, 5 C. L. J. 148, referred to. Where the written statement contained an object on as to the validity of the notice, but no objection was taken by the Secretary of State at any stage of the trial to its omission and it was the second defendant who prayed, just before the trial began, that an additional issue might be raised on this question: Held that it was not competent to the second defendant to raise this question. Bhola Nath Roy v. Secretary of State for India (1912)

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 503

2. —Search in the Registry Office—

—Failure to discover at—Misdirection as to evidence

—Second appeal—Finding of fact—Error of law—

Where the question was whether a purchaser for valuable consideration had notice, at the date of his purchase, of a registered instrument, dated the 20th Bhadra, 1300, when it was found that he, before the purchase, had caused a search to be made by his agent of the books in the Registry Office extending to the year 1300 in which the document was entered, and the agent had stated that he did not find the document in the book, and whereupon these facts the District Judge held that he had no notice of the registered instrument: Held, that there was a presumption of notice of the contents of the book and it could not be rebutted by the mere statement that though a search was made it was unsuccessful. Held, further, that although the question at issue was in essence a question of fact, yet the District Judge having misdirected himself in regard to the most important part of the evidence bearing upon the question and having approached the consideration of that evidence from a wrong standpoint, had committed an error of law. Bushell v. Bushell, 1 Sch. & Lef. 90, 9 R. R. 21, Hodgson v. Dean, 2 Sim. St. 221, 25 R. R. 188, Procter v. Cooper, 2 Drew, referred to. AKHOY KUMARI DEBI v. KANAI LAL KUNDU (1912)

NOTICE—could

17 C. W. N. 224

3. —of Appeal—Preliminary objection—Suit for possession of land by several plaintiffs —Decree for joint possession—Failure to serve notice on some of the plaintiffs respondents—Direction of Court dismissing appeal against them—Effect of such dismissal on the whole appeal. Where in an appeal by the defendants against a decree for joint possession of land passed in favour of five plaintiffs there was a failure to serve notices of the appeal on two of the plaintiffs respondents and the result was that the Court directed the appeal to be dismissed in so far as those two plaintiffs were concerned, and the appeal came on for disposal against the remaining plaintiffs respondents. Held, that the appeal could not proceed and it was accordingly dismissed. BABER SHEIKH S. FAZLE KARIM BISWAS (1914)

19 C. W. N. 290

4. —Service by registered post—Post mark, evidentiary value of, in absence of oral evidence as to date of posting and receipt at office of destination—Endorsement by post office returning registered cover as refused by addressee, admissibility of—Presumption of arises from such endorsement as to date of tender to addressee. That the preponderance of judicial authority is in favour of the view that what purports to be the impression of a post office seal on an envelope which has been posted may be presumed to be genuine, at any rate, when its genuineness is not expressly questioned, that the post mark when proved or assumed to be genuine implies an assertion that the date on the mark is the date of affixing it, that it is evidence that the place or office mentioned therein was actually the place where it was affixed and from the date in the post mark of the office of posting on the cover it might be inferred that the letter was posted at that office on that date and from the date in the post mark of the office of destination it might be inferred that the letter reached that office on that date, but the endorsement on the cover was not admissible in evidence in proof of the allegation that the cover was tendered to and refused by the addressee on the date of the endorsement and in the absence of any evidence on this point and the cover being addressed to the defendant 'at his place of business which there was nothing to show was his residence within the meaning of s. 106, the plaintiff failed to prove that the notice was duly served on the defendant. That proof of the fact that a letter correctly addressed has been posted and has not been received back through the Dead Letter Office may justify the presumption that it had been delivered in due course of mail to the addressee, but proof of the fact that a letter has been duly posted and has been returned by the Postal authorities does not justify the presumption that it has been so returned, because it has been refused by the addressee, much less is there a presumption that the cover has been tendered to the addressee on a particular date. The presumption mentioned in s. 114 of the Evidence Act is not a presumption of law but a presumption of fact and whereas in the present case the defendant pledges his oath that the cover was never tendered to him the Court could not treat the presumption of regularity of official business as conclusive against him GOMEDA CHANDRA SHANU v DWARAKA NATH PATTA (1914)

NOTICE—contd

19 C. W. N. 439

5. ——— Notice of lease—If notice of term of lease. A party having notice of a lease must be taken to have notice of the terms of the lease SARAT CHANDRA MCKHOPADHYAY v RAJYNDRA LAL MITRA (1913)
18 C. W. N. 420

6. ——— Constructive notice—Possession
Mortgage with possession—Sale effected in favour of mortgagees who continued in possession—Subsequent sale to a stranger—Second vendee having knowledge of first vendee's possession—No enquiry made as to the nature of possession—But first vendee to get a sale deed executed—Second vendee must be held to have constructive notice of first vendee's title as purchaser. The plaintiff was in possession of the property as a mortgagee from defendant No. 1. On the 4th March 1917, defendant No. 1 agreed to sell the property to the plaintiff but subsequently refused to execute a sale deed in plaintiff's favour and sold the property to defendant No. 2 by a deed, dated the 19th January 1918. The plaintiff, therefore, sued to get a sale deed executed by the defendants. The defendant No. 2 relied upon the sale deed in his favour though he admitted that he knew that the plaintiff was in possession and that he made no inquiry as to the nature of plaintiff's possession. Both the lower Courts dismissed the suit on the ground that the second defendant had no notice actual or constructive of the contract of sale between the first defendant and the plaintiff although defendant No. 2 might be fixed with notice of the plaintiff's possession as mortgagee. In second appeal Held, decreeing the suit that the second defendant having had knowledge of the plaintiff being in possession and having made no inquiry why the plaintiff was in possession, must be taken to have had constructive notice of all the equities in favour of the plaintiff Daniels v Davison (1809) 16 Ves (Jun.) 219 s. c. (1811) 17 Ves (Jun.) 433 relied on Sharfudin v Govind (1902) 27 Bom 432, referred to. FAKI IBRAHIM v. FAKI GULAM (1920)
1 L. R. 45 Bom. 810

7. ——— Registration—Whether by itself amounts to notice. Held, that whether registration is or is not notice in itself depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case upon the degree of care and caution which an ordinarily prudent man would necessarily take for the protection of his own interest by search into the registers kept under the Registration Act. TILAKDHAR LAL AND ANOTHER v KHEDAR LAL AND OTHERS
25 C. W. N. 49

8. ——— Bengal Municipal Act—(Beng. III of 1881), s. 363—Anything done under this Act. In a suit for damages against the Vice Chairman of a municipality for having issued a warrant wrongfully Held that the action of the Vice-Chairman was in pursuance of the Act and a notice under s. 363 of the Bengal Municipal Act (Beng. III of 1881) was necessary. Water house v Aew, 4 B and C 250 Selmes v Judge, L. R. 6 Q. B. 724 Midland Railway Co. v Wittington Local Board 11 Q. B. 783 Cress v St Pancras Vestry [1899] 1 Q. B. 693 Haseldine v Orose, 3 Q. B. 297, Lea v Facey 19 Q. B. D 332, Agnew v Johnson, 47 L. J. M. C. 87, Heath v

NOTICE—contd

*Brewer, 9 L. T. 533 Darling v Harley 3 H. and N. 271, Booth v Clive, 20 L. J. C. P. 151, Richard Spooner v Juddow, 4 Moo 1 A 333, 6 Moo P. C. 237, Chunder Bikhar v Oikhy Churn, 1 L. R. 6 Calc. 3, Shyamsingh Bhawan v Drjoy Kabi, 3 C. L. J. 376, Shama Ebee v Baranagore Municipality, 12 C. L. J. 410, Scouder Lall v Baillie, 24 W. R. 237, Gopee Aishen Gossain v Ryland, 9 W. R. 279, referred to. SASANKA SAKHAR BAIKARJEE v SUDHANUSU MOHAY GANGULI (1920)
1 L. R. 43 Calc. 45*

NOTICE OF ARRIVAL

See CARRIERS . 1 L. R. 41 Calc. 703

NOTICE OF DISHONOUR

See BILLS OF EXCHANGE.
1 L. R. 46 Calc. 584,
See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT, 1881.
s. 98 1 L. R. 33 All. 4

NOTICE OF EXECUTION.

See EXECUTION OF DECREES.
1 L. R. 40 Calc. 45

NOTICE OF LOSS.

See COMMON CARRIERS
1 L. R. 38 Calc. 50

NOTICE OF SUIT.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 60 1 L. R. 40 Bom 392
See MADRAS COURT OF WARDS ACT, 1902
s. 29 1 L. R. 87 Mad. 283
See NOTICE
See SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.
1 L. R. 38 Calc. 797
1 L. R. 35 Bom. 362
See UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS ACT (III OF 1899) s. 48.
1 L. R. 36 AU. 331
1 L. R. 37 All. 13

NOTICE TO QUIT.

See EVIDENCE, ACT s. 114
23 C. W. N. 319
See LANDLORD AND TENANT

*Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1855), ss. 42, 167—Annulment of sub-tenancies, when necessary—Last of an oral and sub-lease—Purchase at a sale for arrears of rent and a purchaser under a conveyance distinction between—The provisions of s. 167 of the Bengal Tenancy Act for annulment of sub-tenancies and the provisions of s. 49 of the Act which require notice to quit to be served on the under-tenant, have reference to cases where there is a subsisting tenancy which stands good against the landlord unless put an end to in the manner provided in those sections. They have no application to a case where the sub-lease is invalid from the beginning as against the landlord. *Peary Mohun Mondaljee v Badal Chandra Bagdi, 1 L. R. 28 Calc. 205, and Gangadhar Mandal v Rajendra Nath Ghosh, 17 C. W. N. 360, followed. Amirullah Mahomed v Na v Mahomed 1 L. R. 31 Calc. 932, and Lal Mahomed Sarkar v Jagur Sheikh 13 C. W. N. 913, distinguished. There is a distinction between a purchaser at a sale for arrears of rent and a purchaser under a con-

NOTICE TO QUIT—could

veyance Lal Mahomed Sarkar v Jager Sheikh, 13 C. W. N. 213, referred to BHUBAN MORAN
GCHA v SHEIKH BADAN (1919)

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 766

NOTIFICATION.

See FORFEITURE I. L. R. 41 Calc. 466

See REVENUE SALE L. R. 45 I. A. 205 defect in—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 897

publication of—

See REVENUE SALE.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 276

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 255

By decree holder to the Court of payment—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 207

NOTIFIED AREA.Leases of Government land in—

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI of 1903).
ss. 17, 90 . I. L. R. 36 ALL 178

NOVATION.

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 62

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 323

See LIMITATION, ACT, 1908, Art. 95

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 159

NOVELTY.

See DESIGN . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 608

NUISANCE.

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT, 1838—
s. 377 . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 346
ss. 379 AND 370A.

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 81

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITY
ACT, 1901, s. 151

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 738

See CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 3

15 C. W. N. 100

See EASEMENT . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 89

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 46

See PENAL CODE, s. 114, 263

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 368

See RAILWAYS ACT, s. 120

25 C. W. N. 603

Hindus making noises to interfere with worship of Muhammadans—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877 s. 65
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 140

Calcutta Municipal Act, s. 632—“Nuisance.” Building sanctioned by Municipality if may be—Nuisance if must be public—Building in contravention of regulations if to be proceeded against only under s. 412—Partition decree, effect of.

NUISANCE—could

The term “nuisance” in s. 632 of the Calcutta Municipal Act does not refer only to nuisance affecting the public generally. It applies as well to nuisances affecting an individual. The mere fact that the Municipality could have proceeded against a building erected contrary to the building regulations under s. 449 of the Act does not preclude the Municipal Magistrate from interfering with it under s. 632 at the instance of the person whose house has been deprived of light and air by the building. If a building is a nuisance, it is no answer in a proceeding under s. 632 to say that the Corporation had sanctioned it. Whether erected with or without sanction, or in contravention of the building regulations or not, any person residing in Calcutta affected by it can move the Magistrate and it is within the jurisdiction of the Magistrate to pass an order under s. 632, if in his discretion he is so advised. A partition decree previously passed which purported to specify the easements reserved to the portion which fell to the complainant, cannot be held to override the provisions of the Calcutta Municipal Act, which is directed to provide for public sanitation among other public conservations. BHAGWAN DAS v RASH BEHARI MULLICK (1909)

14 C. W. N. 637

Public and private nuisance—

Erection of a high wall on ones own land very close to another’s dwelling house—Likelihood of injury to the health of the inmates of the adjoining tenements and of the public inhabiting the neighbourhood by the propagation of disease—Propriety of order of partial demolition—Feasibility of other remedial measures—Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng. III of 1899) s. 632. The words “any nuisance” in s. 632 of the Calcutta Municipal Act mean any nuisance as defined in s. 3 (29) thereof. The definition, though wider than that of a “public nuisance” at the common law, does not extend to the inclusion of all private nuisances. Elogow Das v Rash Behari Mullick, 14 C. W. N. 637, explained. The erection of a wall, however high, on ones own land very close to the dwelling-house of a neighbour, in order to prevent him from acquiring a right of easement, is not in itself a nuisance under the Calcutta Municipal Act, but where the evidence shows that it is, or is likely to be injurious to the health of the residents of the adjoining tenements and of the public inhabiting the neighbourhood, by propagating the seeds of consumption and typhoid, it becomes a nuisance under the Act. Where, however, the only matter which causes a wall to be a nuisance is not its height but the accumulation of filth at the bottom and want of space to clear the drainage between it and the adjacent house, the Magistrate, instead of ordering its reduction in height, should consider whether the nuisance cannot be abated by the adoption of other remedial measures. The use of the Act for the purpose of interfering in any way with the rights of private ownership beyond the limited powers given to the Corporation by it for the necessary protection of the public and the enforcement of proper sanitation, is much to be deprecated. KHAGESDRA NATH MITTER v BUDHESDRA NARAIN DEB (1910).

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 296

Legal nuisance—Erection of horse stables, when a nuisance—Easements Act (I of 1882), s. 15—Degree of nuisance—Value of expert medical evidence in a case of nuisance—Consideration of policy or abstract public rights, outside the scope of inquiry—License from the Municipal Sanitary authorities for erection of stables, no defence in an action for nuisance—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877)—Relief by injunction as well as damages—Plaintiffs suing as trustees interested in reversion and as residents—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O I, r 1. Prior to the year 1903, the first plaintiff was absolutely entitled to, and possessed of, a piece of land with a house standing thereon situate at Thakurwar Road, Bombay. By an Indenture of Settlement, dated the 12th of January 1903, the first plaintiff conveyed the said property to herself and her husband, the second plaintiff, upon trusts for the benefit of herself and her husband and their issue. The defendant was the lessee for a period of 21 years commencing from 1st of January 1911, of an open piece of land adjoining the property of the plaintiffs and situate on the eastern side thereof. The said piece of land was formerly used for many years, and, as the defendant alleged, for nearly a century, for tethering bullocks and keeping bullock carts, up to the year 1908 when such user terminated. In October 1913, the defendant erected a block of stables, parallel to the length of the plaintiff's house and at a distance of about 20 to 35 feet therefrom for the accommodation of 75 horses, to which was added another block for the accommodation of 35 hack carriages. The plaintiffs complained that the stables erected by the defendant rendered their house uncomfortable and unhealthy and constituted a serious nuisance. They also alleged that in consequence of the nuisance, the tenant on the first floor vacated the same and that the plaintiffs and their family suffered in health and were obliged to remove to another house. The plaintiffs sued in their double capacity as trustees interested in the reversion and as actual residents, praying for a perpetual injunction to restrain the defendant from the continuance or repetition of the said nuisance and for damages in the sum of Rs 1,221 for nuisance caused up to the date of the suit, or in the alternative for a sum of Rs 15,000 as damages for the depreciation in value of the plaintiff's property, by reason of the said nuisance. The defendant denied that the stables were a nuisance in law and pleaded without prejudice to his afore said contention—(a) that the nuisance complained of had been acquired by him as an easement, (b) that the stables were erected in accordance with the Bye laws of the Bombay Municipality, and the license of using them as stables was granted to him after the said premises were inspected and due inquiries made by the Municipal Commissioner and the Health Officer of Bombay, and (c) that the plaintiffs were not entitled to sue in their double capacity. Held, (i) that under the Indian Easements Act, whatever easement may have been acquired by the owners of the land to cause a nuisance to the adjacent servient tenement by the tethering of bullocks on the vacant land admittedly came to an end in the year 1908, i.e., considerably more than two years before the nuisance complained of came into existence and before the date of the suit; (ii) that the nuisance complained of by the plaintiffs was totally different from the nuisance which previously existed, and on general principle, the defence of easement could not be sustained; (iii) that if the nuisance existed, it was no answer to say that the defendant had conformed to the latest requirements of the Municipal Sanitary authorities, and had done everything in his power and taken all reasonable precautions to prevent its existence; (iv) that the stables erected by the defendant, having regard to their size and their distance from their dwelling house of the plaintiffs constituted a nuisance; (v) that having regard to the comprehensive language of O I, r 1, of the Civil Procedure Code of 1908, there could not be any objection to the plaintiffs suing in their double capacity, and that the plaintiffs were entitled to obtain relief by way of injunction and damages. A legal nuisance is rather an evasive shifting and intangible thing hard to be pinned down by a verbal definition. It must always be conditioned by time and place and circumstances and the Court shall have regard to the station in life of the plaintiff and his family, and the locality and the nature of the nuisance complained of. Waller v Selfe, 4 De G & Sm. 315, 322, and Sturges v Bridgman, 11 Ch. D 552, referred to. Where the nuisance was of the kind to injure the health or seriously imperil the life of those complaining of it, the Court would not hesitate to prevent it by way of injunction; but where the nuisance went no further than to diminish the comforts of human life, there would always be a question whether the Court would proceed against him who causes that nuisance by injunction, or compensate the sufferer in damages. In the absence of statutory enactments, no general considerations of mere policy, or rather abstract public rights, can be allowed to prevail against what the law recognises, and always has recognised, as the legal rights of the individual. The Attorney General v. The Town Council of the Borough of Birmingham, 6 W. R. 811, referred to. Bai Brichaji v. Purnushaw Jivaji (1915). . . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 401 —Sale of fish in railway shed—and its precincts in prohibited quantities resulting in attraction of crowds, impeding of business, and rendering the place offensive—Railways Act (IX of 1890), s 127 (b). Where the Railway authorities prohibited the sale in their special delivery shed and its precincts of fish below certain quantities, but the unauthorized sales went on and attracted large crowds, obstructed the transaction of business for which the shed was intended, impeded the removal of fish therefrom, and more particularly rendered the place offensive. Held, that such sales amounted to a nuisance, and that the petitioners having persisted in contributing to it were guilty under s 120 (b) of the Railways Act (IX of 1890). DROU SHA v. EMPEROR, (1921)

NUISANCE—contd

NUISANCE—contd

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 1043

NULLITY OF DECREE.

See DECREE. . . . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 34

NULLITY OF MARRIAGE.

See DIVORCE. . . . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 283

NUMBERS.

See TRADE MARK, INFRINGEMENT OF.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 49

NUNC PRO TUNC.

See ARBITRATION. . . . 14 C.W. N. 759

O

OATH.

See OATHS ACT

Prescription as to due administration—

See UNITED PROVINCES EVIDENCE ACT (IV of 1910), s. 60

I. L. R. 23 All. 573

OATHS ACT (IV OF 1840).

See OATHS ACT (XIV of 1841), s. 3, s. 14

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 115

OATHS ACT (X OF 1873).

See HIS HONOUR

I. L. R. 26 Mad. 237

s. 4—

See OATHS ACT XIX OF 1841

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 115

See JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS

I. L. R. 37 Cal. 52

s. 5—

See WITNESS I. L. R. 45 Cal. 723

ss. 5, 6, 13—

See APPEAL I. L. R. 41 Cal. 493

Evidence Act II of 1872, s. 115—Evidence—Statement of witness not recorded on oath—Capacity of child of tender years to testify. The fact that a Court has advisedly refrained from administering an oath to a witness is not sufficient in itself to render the statement of such witness inadmissible. But a Court should only examine a child of tender years as a witness after it has satisfied itself that the child is sufficiently developed intellectually to understand what it has seen and to afterwards inform the Court thereof, and if the Court is so satisfied it is best that the Court should comply with the provisions of s. 6 of the Indian Oaths Act in the case of a child, just as in the case of any other witness.

Queen Empress v. Mary, I. L. R. 16 All. 207 disapproved from EMPEROR v. BHANI RAM (1915)

I. L. R. 38 All. 49

When in a trial for murder the Sessions Judge deliberately abstained from administering an oath or affirmation to the only eye witness to the murder on the ground that she was only 6 or 7 years of age held that the evidence was admissible. Queen Empress v. Mary, I. L. R. 10 All. 207, Queen Empress v. Lal Sahai, I. L. R. 11 All. 133 and Queen Empress v. Virapornum, I. L. R. 16 Mad. 103, disapproved from. In every case where a witness is competent within the meaning of s. 113 of the Evidence Act 1872 the provisions of ss. 5 and 6 of the Oaths Act 1873 should be complied with. The omission of the Judge to examine accused under s. 342 of the Criminal Procedure Code after the witnesses for the prosecution have been examined and before he is called on vitiate the trial. PATU SAKTAL v. THE KING EMPRESS, 6 Pat. L. J. 145 ss. 5 and 13—Evidence, admissibility of where witness not sworn. The evidence of two children aged eight and six years was admitted against an accused person without the children having been sworn or affirmed. Held, that in view of s. 13, Indian Oaths Act, the failure to

OATHS ACT (X OF 1873)—contd

ss. 5 and 13—contd

administer oath or affirmation did not render the evidence inadmissible. Queen Empress v. Virapornum, I. L. R. 16 Mad. 103 (PARKER, J.), followed. Queen Empress v. Mary, I. L. R. 10 All. 207, disapproved from. Per CRANFORD, S. C. of the Oaths Act is imperative and if a Court holds that a person may lawfully give evidence, it is the duty of the Court to administer oath or affirmation to that witness. De OLIVERA v. KRISHNA (1913)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 550

ss. 8, 9, 10—Principal and agent—Agent holding power of attorney to conduct suit for principal—Power of agent to agree to suit being decided according to statement on oath of defendant. A lady who was plaintiff in a suit gave to her husband a special power of attorney to conduct the case in her behalf "as he should deem fit". He was authorized to compromise or withdraw the suit, to refer it to arbitration and to nominate arbitrators, and finally the plaintiff said that every step that he might take in the conduct of the case was to be considered as having been taken by herself. Held, that the husband had power to take action under ss. 8, 9, and 10 of the Oaths Act, 1873. Nafisur Raza v. Maruthi Vithal, I. L. R. 14 Bom. 455, disapproved from. WASI CRAMAN KHAN v. FAIZA BINTI (1915)

I. L. R. 33 All. 131

ss. 9, 11—Special oath—Inadmissibility of special oath in proceedings under ss. 14 and 15 of the Village Police Act (Bombay Act VIII of 1867). ss. 9 to 11 of the Indian Oaths Act, 1873, are not applicable to proceedings before a Village Police Panch under ss. 14 and 15 of the Bombay Village Police Act, 1867. Queen Empress v. Maruys Gokuldas (1883) 13 Bom. 339, followed. Per BHANU, J. The proceedings before the Police Panch under ss. 14 and 15 of the Village Police Act (VIII of 1867) are essentially criminal proceedings and the same rule which applies to criminal proceedings ought to apply on general grounds to proceedings before the Village Panch so far as the effect of any special oath is concerned. EMPEROR v. CHUKAS (1820)

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 96

s. 13—

See APPEAL I. L. R. 41 Cal. 493

See UNITED PROVINCES EVIDENCE ACT (IV of 1910) s. 60

I. L. R. 23 All. 573

Omission to administer oath or affirmation. Where in a case under s. 304, Indian Penal Code, a girl was examined as a witness without oath or affirmation, the trial Judge being of opinion that she was too young to take oath or give affirmation. Held, that on the authority of the full Bench in Queen v. Sewa Bhagya, 11 B. L. R. 294 (F.B.) (1874), the omission to administer an oath or affirmation even if intentional would be cured by s. 13 of the Oaths Act and the evidence of the child was admissible. KING EMPRESS v. SASHI DEEVA MAITY

24 C. W. N. 767

OBJECTION.

See ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT

I. L. R. 38 Cal. 443

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O. XXI, s. 22

I. L. R. 34 All. 140

See CROSS OBJECTIONS

OBLIGATION

See Gift with Obligation

I L R. 42 Bom. 83

OBSCENE PUBLICATION

— — — — — I have power of my own mind and a general character based on an incident which is a sacred book of great antiquity and dignity and the title of obscene language—Work and what it is a piece of corrupt morals—Final Code I L R. 137 (1) 9. Finding of facts. The court observed that the tenor of the matter charged as obscene is to deprave and corrupt the mind and is open to such immoral influences and into which lands such a publication must fall. If in fact the work is one which would certainly suggest to the minds of the young of either sex or even to persons of more advanced years the rights of a man's impure and lascivious character its publication is an offence, though the accused has in view an ulterior object such as innocent or even laudable. Reg. v. Hichin, L. R. 3 Q. B. 349. Archie v. Lumsden, L. R. 7 T. P. 251. Queen Empress v. Lumsden, Trial, L. R. P. 22 Bom. 191, Emperor v. Hari Singh I L R. 25 All. 103. Emperor v. Indramani, I L R. 3 All. 437 followed. A religious or classical work does not become obscene within s. 292 of the Penal Code simply on account of its containing some objectionable passages because the tenor of such publications is not to deprave or corrupt morals. If objectionable passages in a religious book are extracted and printed separately and they deal with matters which are to be judged by the standard of human conduct, as where they relate to immoral acts of human beings, and the tenor of such publication is to deprave and corrupt those whose minds are open to immoral influences the publication may not be justified though the passages form part of a religious book. Where, however, a story which appears objectionable is taken from a religious book and printed separately, but it relates to beings whose conduct is not to be judged by the standard of human beings, it is not an obscene publication, as it would not, on account of its religious character, raise immoral thoughts in the minds of persons who believe in the divinity of beings whose acts and conduct are described in the story. Where a poem was published in the Uriya language containing a story, complete in itself so far as it goes, of the dalliance of Radha and Krishna, who were described as divine personages and their acts as supernatural, the latter being represented to be a boy of five, taken from the Uriya Haribans, a very sacred book of the Uriyas, the incidents and sentiments being the same as and the language not more objectionable than, that of the original and it was in itself an old religious book of a spiritual and allegorical character which had often been published and registered without exception taken and which was apparently intended for Hindus who form the vast majority of the Uriyas and I believe in the divinity of Radha and Krishna, and I do not consider their doings as immoral. Held, that the publication was not obscene within the meaning of s. 292 of the Penal Code. KHENDRA CHANDRA ROY CROWDERY v. EMPEROR (1911) I L R. 39 Calc. 377

OBSTRUCTION—contd.

See FETTER, I L R. 48 Calc. 202

See MEDICAL COUNCIL

I L R. 39 Mad. 6

See PENAL CODE—

ss. 114, 243 I L R. 35 Bom. 205

s. 243 I L R. 33 Mad. 305

— of Pathway—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss. 131

135 139 14 C. W. N. 546

See PUBLIC HIGHWAY

I L R. 41 Calc. 61

OCCUPANCY.

See LAND REVENUE CODE, BOMBAY—

ss. 26, 214 I L R. 55 Bom. 81

s. 24 I L R. 41 Bom. 170

OCCUPANCY HOLDING

See ABANDONMENT 2 Pat. L. J. 225

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)—

ss. 11 et seq. I L R. 25 All. 474

R. 20 I L R. 22 All. 623

I L R. 25 All. 475

I L R. 40 All. 214

I L R. 43 All. 547

s. 20 (2) I L R. 32 All. 136

I L R. 37 All. 278

I L R. 43 All. 547

s. 21 I L R. 33 All. 799

s. 22 I L R. 22 All. 314

I L R. 34 All. 419

I L R. 37 All. 7, 658

I L R. 38 All. 225

I L R. 42 All. 668

R. 24 I L R. 40 All. 300

ss. 79 AND 85 I L R. 35 All. 299

ss. 95, 107 I L R. 36 All. 48

See CIVIL AND REVENUE COURTS.

I L R. 33 All. 464

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE O. XX.

R. 18 I L R. 36 All. 461

See FETTER I L R. 24 All. 528

I L R. 39 Calc. 513

See JURISDICTION (CIVIL AND REVENUE COURTS).

I L R. 42 All. 64

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R. 43 Calc. 166

See MANDARIN TENURE.

I L R. 34 All. 155

See MORTGAGE I L R. 39 All. 539

See N W P RENT ACT (XVIII OF 1873).

I L R. 41 All. 356

See N W P RENT ACT (XII OF 1881).

I L R. 37 All. 444

s. 6 I L R. 36 All. 166

See OBIWA TENANCY ACT, 1893

ss. 31, 250 3 Pat. L. J. 351

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907), ss. 16, 30, 43

I L R. 39 All. 120

ss. 16 AND 18 I L R. 43 Calc. 510

OBSTRUCTION

See CALCUTTA POLICE ACT (ENG. IV OF 1866) s. 64 (f) 22 C. W. N. 455

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

See RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY

See SUIT FOR CANCELLATION OF DOCUMENTS. I. L. R. 38 All. 232

Occupant's right to cut trees.

See FOREST CUT 1878

s 75. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 111

transfer what amounts to recognition of—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1885, s. 86
1 Pat. L. J. 414

transfer of a portion of—

See ENCUMBRANCE
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 891See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 878

transfer of whole—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1885 s 161
1 Pat. L. J. 403

transfer of a portion without landlord's consent and subsequent surrender—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885 s 23
25 C. W. N. 717

position of insolvent tenant—

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT 1907
s 16 & 56 I. L. R. 43 All. 510

1. Mortgage—Suit by mortgagee—

Co-sharer landlord who has purchased in execution of money decree if may question transferability of holding. A co-sharer landlord who has purchased an occupancy holding in execution of a decree of his own, cannot resist a mortgagee's suit to enforce his mortgage on the holding on the ground that the holding was non transferable, he himself being a purchaser without the landlord's consent, taking the word landlord in its proper signification of the whole body of landlords. Ayazuddin Vayya v. Sush Chandra Danerji, 11 C. W. N. 76 followed. Achanulla Sarkar v. Solemnassa Bibi, 9 C. W. N. 210, not followed. HARO CHANDRA POPDEY v. UMESH CHANDRA BHATTACHARJEE (1909)

14 C. W. N. 71

2. Transfer—Recognition by landlord—

Receipt of rent from transferee as agent of transferor—Acquisition of occupancy right by adverse possession. The receipt by the landlord of rent from a transferee of a holding not on his own account but as an agent of the transferor is not a recognition of the transfer. Balakumari Debi v. Babur Lal Sen, 11 C. W. N. 385 & 1 J. L. R. 34 Calc. 902, distinguished. Rhodesram Chatterjee v. Poolkines Dasgupta, 15 W. R. 197, and Rasamoy Purkait v. Srinath Moyra, 7 C. W. N. 132, referred to. Case remanded for trial of the question whether the transferee had acquired the right to hold the land as an occupancy raiyat by possession as a raiyat for a period of 12 years and by assertion of his title as such. DENYARAIN DUTT v. RAIDYA NATK (MADAG) 14 PTT (1909)

14 C. W. N. 69

3. Non-transferability. Question

if, may be raised by assignee of holding pending mortgage suit—Consent of landlord obtained subsequent to filing written statement. A purchaser of an occupancy holding from the raiyat after a decree for sale has been passed in favour of a mortgagee of the holding but before sale thereof is bound by the sale both because a mortgagor and consequently an assignee from him cannot be allowed to deny the mortgagee's title and also by reason of the operation of the rule of lis pendens. The rule of lis pendens is applicable to proceedings to realise the mortgage after the decree for sale. The purchaser cannot be allowed to raise the question of non transferability of the holding when in his written statement he stated that his purchase had not been recognised by the landlord, by showing that such recognition on the part of the landlord, has been subsequently obtained. An occupancy raiyat is estopped from setting up as between himself and a mortgagee of the holding, the invalidity of the mortgage. SHATAMA CHARAN BHATTACHARYA v. MOHUNDA SUNDARI DEBI (1911)

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

15 C. W. N. 703

4. Transferability—Usage of, how established—Usage should be grown up and not grown up—Usage after it has grown up may apply to pre-existing tenancies—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s 50—Presumption if applies to suit to eject transferee of holding—Misconstruction of written evidence—Second appeal—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), s 100. In order to prove a custom or usage of transferability of occupancy holdings, what is necessary to prove is that such transfers have been made to the knowledge and without the consent of the landlord and that they have been recognised by him either without the payment of nazar or upon payment of a nazar also fixed by custom. It is not necessary to prove that the landlord has actually made an objection to a transfer and has been unsuccessful. The usage to be effective must not be a growing usage but one which has already grown up. A usage of transferability, after it has grown up, affects not merely tenancies created thereafter but also existing tenancies. S 80 of the Bengal Tenancy Act has no application in a suit for ejectment by the landlord on the allegation that the tenant of a non transferable holding has sold it to the defendant and has abandoned the land as such a suit is obviously not a suit or proceeding under the Bengal Tenancy Act. But even in cases where the section is not directly applicable, the Court may act on a similar presumption if the facts justify the necessary inference. Although the misconstruction of a document which is the foundation of the suit or which is in the nature of a contract or a document of title is a ground for second appeal, such appeal does not lie because some portion of the evidence is in writing and the Judge in the Court below makes a mistake as to the meaning of it. BELLE KARIM v. BATEA CHAN RA GINI (1911)

15 C. W. N. 722

5. Usufructuary mortgage by tenant—Tenant remaining on land as sub-lessee of portion of holding and paying rent—Abandonment—Ejectment. The execution by a tenant of a mortgage of his non transferable occupancy holding does not by itself amount to an abandonment of the holding because it is only on the assumption that the tenancy continues in operation that the mortgagee can have any subsisting interest in the land. Krishna Chandra Dutta v. Mirza Fajala, 10 C. W. N. 492 and Bank Ltd. Dutt v. Bidkumari Das, 10 C. W. N. 719, & L. J. 368, referred to. Where an occupancy raiyat executed a usufructuary mortgage of his holding, but continued to pay rent to the landlord and remained in possession of a portion of the holding as a sub-tenant

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

under the mortgagor Held, that the landlord was not entitled to treat the raiyat as a trespasser and sue him in ejectment. CHOWDHURY MAHADEO PERSHAD v. SURESH PACHARI (1911)

18 C. W. N. 322

6. ——— Disposition by landlord of raiyat for two years.—If extinguishes tenant's title—Limitation Act, 1777 (XV of 1877), s. 25—Regal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), Sch. III, Art. 3—Mortgage of holding to Government for agricultural loan—Sale under Public Demands Recovery Act (Beng. I of 1895)—Interest which passes—Adverse possession against mortgagor of adverse to mortgagor. An occupancy raiyat borrowed money from Government for agricultural purposes on the security of his holding, but having failed to pay up a certificate, under the provisions of the Public Demands Recovery Act, was sued for the realization of his debt and the holding was sold. Held, that only the right, title and interest of the raiyat passed under the sale, as the Secretary of State for India in Council in adopting the procedure of the Public Demands Recovery Act, which does not contemplate the realization of a security, must be taken to have abandoned the security. That the Secretary of State for India in Council could enforce the security only by a regular suit. NANDA KUMAR DUTTA v. AJAY K. SARKAR (1911)

18 C. W. N. 351

7. ——— Sale in execution of decree—Consent of fractional landlord.—Sale of legal. Where a decree-holder's application for sale of an occupancy holding was granted to the extent of a 15 annas share upon the finding that co-sharer landlords to that extent had consented to the sale. Held, that in the present state of authorities the order should be maintained, the purchaser purchasing at his peril. SHAKARUDDIN CHOWDURY v. RAJ KUMAR DAS (1911)

18 C. W. N. 420

But see Post

10 C. W. N. 814

2 Pat. L. J. 630

8. ——— Mortgage by raiyat.—Subsequent transfer to stranger—Collusive suit by landlord for ejectment and recovery of possession—Landlord if in possession under paramount title—Suit on mortgage—Landlord if necessary party—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 35. When it is found that a landlord obtained possession of an occupancy holding, alleged to be non transferable, by bringing a collusive suit for ejectment against a transferee from the raiyat. Held, that in a suit by a mortgagor of the holding on his mortgage, the landlord would be a proper party, his possession of the holding resting on acquisition from the transferee and not on a paramount title. JOGENDER DUTTA v. BHUBAN MOHAN MITRA, I. L. R. 33 Cal. 425, distinguished. PANCHANAN GHOSE v. MIN ABDEL MOLIK (1912)

15 C. W. N. 820

9. ——— Transferability—Bengal Tenancy Act—(VIII of 1885)—Custom and usage, proof of—Sale in execution of decree—Landlord's consent on receipt of nazaranam. Where nazars were as a rule paid to the zemindar and on payment of the note the purchaser was usually recognised by the landlord. Held, that it was not evidence of any custom or usage by which an unwilling landlord was bound, or evidence that the landlord was compelled, to recognise the purchaser on payment of nazars whether he wished to do so or not.

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd.

BRUGIRATH CHANDRA MANDAI v. SITAL CHANDRA SIKAR (1912)

16 C. W. N. 955

10. ——— Mortgage taken by landlord, if evidence of transferability.—Assignment of mortgage by landlord to another, effect of—Assignment to purchaser of holding, if recognition of the purchaser's tenancy. The fact of a landlord himself taking a mortgage of a non transferable holding is by itself no evidence of its transferability. Where, however, the landlord allowed a purchaser of the holding to take an assignment of his mortgage from him. Held, that he was stopped from denying that the purchaser had acquired a valid title by his purchase. A mere assignment of the mortgage by the landlord to a third person by itself would not amount to anything more than a representation that the mortgage was valid and could be enforced against the sole. MAHESH NARAIN ROY v. MAHARAJA BAHADUR SYON (1912)

17 C. W. N. 70

11. ——— Transfer—Acceptance of rent from transferee—if evidence of validity of transfer—Peculiar, scope of authority of. The acceptance of rent from the transferee of a non-transferable occupancy holding, not as transferee but as the agent or representative of the original tenant, does not amount to a recognition of the validity of the transfer. KHOODERAM CHATTERJEE v. RULHINE DASGUPTA, 15 W. R. 127, Gour. Lab. v. Rameshwar, 6 B. L. R. App. 82, Wilson v. Radhakrishnan, 2 C. W. N. 63, Rameshwar Purkait v. Srinath Moyn, 7 C. W. N. 132, relied on Kuran Das v. Begun Kanti, 12 C. W. N. 539, referred to Baroda Churn Dutt v. Hemlata Das, 15 C. W. N. 833, Thomas Dorelay v. Hossain Ali Khan, 6 C. L. J. 601, Naba Kumar v. Behary Lal, 11 C. W. N. 565; 1 L. R. 34 Cal. 802, distinguished. DIMANJOY ROY v. ATA RAHMAN (1911)*

17 C. W. N. 156

12. ——— Transfer contrary to local usage of portion of holding, if constitutes forfeiture of tenancy.—Surrender of portion of holding—Landlord's right to re-enter that portion—Encumbrance created prior to surrender, effect of. Where the entire holding of an occupancy raiyat has not been transferred contrary to local usage and custom, it cannot be said that there has been a forfeiture of the tenancy. Ras Kamalchandra Persad Singh Bahadur v. Maharaja Harbulla Singh Narain Singh Bahadur, 2 C. L. J. 569, followed. Where a raiyat surrenders a portion of his holding to the landlord, the landlord is entitled to re-enter the portion notwithstanding any subordinate rights which the raiyat may have created upon the particular portion, and the mere fact that the landlord was aware of the encumbrance created by the raiyat, can not take away his right of re-entry. Baldev Chandra Das v. Rajeswar Dey, 2 C. L. J. 570 and Rajendra Kishore Adhikari v. Chandra Nath Datta, 12 C. W. N. 578, referred to. GAGAN CHANDRA CHOWDURY v. ATUL CHAND SANA (1913)

17 C. W. N. 698

13. ——— Abandonment.—If question of fact—Unfructuary mortgage—Raiyat if necessary party in suit to recover from transferee. Where an occupancy raiyat mortgaged his non transferable occupancy holding by way of an unfructuary mortgage for a certain number of years and the mortgagee continued in possession of the land through their burgadar even after the expiry of the term, and the lower Appellate Court found that the raiyat did not live in the village and had cut off connection with the holding. Held, that these findings amounted to holding that the raiyat had abandoned the jama. The mere execution of an usufructuary mortgage might not be sufficient to establish abandonment; whether there has been abandonment of a holding or not is principally a question of fact. The conditions prescribed by s. 87 of the Bengal Tenancy Act do not preclude a landlord from entering upon a land abandoned by tenant. The raiyat was not a necessary party to a suit to recover a non transferable holding from the transferees thereof, nor would he be bound by the decree in the suit. MOCHAB PAL v ANANTA MOYEE DASSEE (1913). 17 C. W. N. 802

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

14. ———— Transfer of portion without landlord's consent—Surrender by original raiyat to landlord—Landlord if may eject transferee—Abandonment. After the sale by an occupancy raiyat of a portion of his holding, the raiyat may surrender that portion or the whole of the holding to his landlord, and s. 87, cl. (7) of the Bengal Tenancy Act is no bar to the landlord accepting the surrender, as the interest, if any, of the transferee which the landlord is not bound to recognise, is not an incumbrance. Upon such surrender, the landlord may sue to eject the transferee as a trespasser. Aabli Sardar v Chandra Nath, 1 L. R. 20 Calc 599, distinguished. The remedy of the transferee, if any, is against his vendor. RAMONI MOHAN RAY v SURESH KALIMUDDI (1912).

17 C. W. N. 1101

15. ———— Transfer by tenant of whole—Landlord's right to eject transferee—Disclaimer by original tenant if must be proved—Original tenant if necessary party—Custom of transferability—Nazar, payment of. In order to entitle a landlord to eject a transferee of the whole of a non transferable raiyati holding, it is not necessary for him to prove as a fact that the raiyat has left the holding and disclaims any interest in it. It is a direct inference from the fact that he has sold the entire holding and given possession of it to the purchaser and distinct repudiation or refusal to pay rent need not be proved. Unless the nazar is fixed by custom, the landlord is not bound to recognise a transfer upon payment of nazar. Bazul Karim v. Sahib Chandra Gari, 15 C. W. N. 752, 756, referred to. In a suit by the landlord to eject a transferee of a non transferable holding the transferor is not a necessary party. CHAND PRASANTIK v ROMONY MOHAN RAY (1912).

17 C. W. N. 1105

16. ———— Non-transferable occupancy holding, whether devisable by will—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss. 26, 178, sub s. (3) of (d)—How, if estopped by testator's act from claiming inheritance under the statute. A non transferable occupancy holding cannot be the subject of a valid testamentary disposition. In the case of a testamentary devise of such a holding, the heir at law is not debarred by the doctrine of estoppel from questioning its validity. Hari Das Barrai v. Ladoy Chandra Das, 12 C. W. N. 1036, 8 C. L. J. 261, not followed. ANULTA PATAN SIKAR v. TARINI NATH DEY (1914).

I. L. R. 42 Calc 254

18 C. W. N. 1290

17. ———— Not transferable by custom or local usage, if can be sold wholly or partially, in execution by co-sharer landlord—If ten raiyat objects to sale. A co-sharer landlord is not entitled to sell the whole or part of an occupancy holding not transferable by custom or local usage in execution of a decree obtained for his share of rent, when the raiyat objects to the sale. The Full Bench decision in Dayamoyi Das v Annada Mohan Roy, 18 C. W. N. 971, by implication holds that the raiyat is entitled to have a sale of the holding in execution of a money decree set aside after it takes place and that the holding cannot be sold in execution of such a decree when the raiyat objects to the sale before it takes place. This view is in accord with the cases of Durga Churn Mondul v Kals Prasanna Sircar, 1 L. R. 26 Calc 727, s. c. 3 C. W. N. 536, Sadagar Sircar v Krishna Chandra Nath, 3 C. W. N. 742, and Sheikh Jarp v Ram Kumar De, 3 C. W. N. 747. The principle deducible from the Full Bench decision is applicable to an involuntary transfer of the whole as well as of a part of the holding. BADRAK-NESSA CHOUDHURANI v ALAN GAZI (1915).

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

19 C. W. N. 814

18. ———— Revenue Sale Law, 1859, s. 37—Occupancy raiyats at fixed rates—Purchaser—Doctrine of Protection—Its extension. The protection of occupancy raiyats at fixed rates, referred to in s. 37 of the Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859) is not one of the ordinary exceptions in that section. It is a proviso expressing the determination of the Legislature that no purchaser shall disturb any of the permanent tenants on the land who are in actual occupation of the soil and are cultivating it. This doctrine of protection has recently been extended to ordinary occupancy raiyats. Sarat Chandra Roy v Asman Bibi, 1 L. R. 31 Calc 725, referred to. Bhus Nath Naskar v Surendra Nath Dutt, 13 C. W. N. 1025, distinguished. ANULU GANI CHOWDHURY v MAH BUL ALI (1914).

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 745

19. ———— Transferability of part or whole—Consent of landlord—Operation of transfer as against raiyat landlord and other persons—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 244—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 87. In transfers, for value, of occupancy holdings, apart from custom or local usage: (i) The transfer of the whole or a part is operative against the raiyat—(a) Where it is made voluntarily, (b) where it is made involuntarily and the raiyat with knowledge fails or omits to have the sale set aside. A sale is made involuntarily, where it is in execution of a money decree, but not of a decree founded on a mortgage or charge voluntarily made. (ii) The transfer is operative as against the landlord in all cases in which it is operative against the raiyat, provided the landlord has given his previous or subsequent consent. Where the transfer is a sale of the whole holding, the landlord, in the absence of his consent, is ordinarily entitled to enter on the holding; but where the transfer is of a part only of the holding, or not by way of sale, the landlord though he has not consented, is not ordinarily entitled to recover possession of the holding unless there has been (a) an abandonment within the meaning of s. 87 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, or (b) a relinquishment of the holding, or (c) a repudiation of the tenancy. Whether there has been a relinquishment or repudiation or not depends on the substantial effect of what has been done in each case. (iii) The transfer of the whole or a part is operative as against all other persons where it is operative against the raiyat. DAYAMATYI ANNADA MOHAN ROY CHOWDHURY (1914).

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 172

18 C. W. N. 971

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

19 (a) ——— Ejectment—Notice to quit—The rayats of certain lands in dispute executed a mortgage of these lands, and put the mortgagee in possession. Subsequently the mortgagee settled the land with the under rayats. The superior landlord then brought a suit for rent against his rayats and purchased the holding at a sale for arrears of rent. Thereafter the landlord sold permanent rayats to one Moajan who after having taken a lease from the landlord and redeemed the mortgage sold the same to the present Plaintiffs who brought a suit to eject the under rayats. Held, that the occupancy still continued to exist after the sale but there had been due notice to quit given. YAKUB ALI v MEASAN

I. L. R. 41 Calc 164

20. ——— Receipt of rent by landlord from mortgagee of—Effect of—Recognition. Receipt by the landlord of an occupancy holding, with or without protest, of rent deposited by the mortgagee as such is a recognition of the rights of the mortgagee and the landlord cannot evict the mortgagee as a trespasser. MATOOKDHARI SINGH v JUGDIS NARAIN SINGH (1914)

19 C. W. N. 1319

21. ——— Non-transferable—Purchaser of share—Rights of, as to possession against landlord. Plaintiffs Nos. 2 and 3 were tenants in respect of one half only of an occupancy holding which was not transferable and the plaintiff No. 1 purchased their interest. Held, that the plaintiff as purchaser of a share of an occupancy holding was entitled to possession even as against the landlord who had no right to take possession of the property. PURNA CHANDRA TRIVEDI v CHANDRA MOHINI DAS (1916)

20 C. W. N. 586

22. ——— Non-transferable—Sale, by landlord in execution of rent-decree—Under Civil Procedure Code, prevented by deposit by purchaser from registered tenant—Withdrawal of deposit by landlord, if amount to recognition of purchaser's interest. Prior to the passing of the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act of 1907, a co-sharer landlord obtained a decree for rent against the registered tenant of a non-transferable occupancy holding in favour of himself and his other co-sharer. He took out execution under the Civil Procedure Code and not under the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act. The plaintiff who had purchased the holding in execution of a money decree against the registered tenant deposited the decretal amount in Court for payment to the decree holder landlord alleging in his petition that he had acquired a right to the hold by purchase and that he made the deposit to protect his right and reserved his right to realise the amount deposited by him from the former tenant or his heir as the tenants of the holding. The decree was thereupon treated as satisfied and the attachment was withdrawn, and the amount deposited was withdrawn by the landlord. Held, that upon such deposit the landlord could not as in a case under the Bengal Tenancy Act, contest the right of the purchaser to make the deposit, and the withdrawal of the deposit did not amount to a recognition of the purchaser by the landlord. Thomas Barclay v Sayal Hossain Ali Khan 6 C. L. J. 691, and Behary Ray v Fulman Das 14 C. L. J. 333, 391, distinguished. SURENDRA NARAIN MAHATA v JERAL KISHORE GHOSH (1916)

20 C. W. N. 849

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

23. ——— Non-transferable—Whether fresh settlement holder required to serve notice on under-ryat after ejectment of transferee—By landlord—Notice—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s. 49, cl. (b). Where a person has obtained settlement of a holding from the superior landlord after the latter had ejected the transferee of the occupancy rayat from the said holding as it was not transferable, he is not required to serve a notice to quit on the under rayat under s. 49 of the Bengal Tenancy Act in his suit for ejectment. Nilkanta Chaki v Ghalos Shaha 4 C. W. N. 667, and Badan v Rayeswari, 2 C. L. J. 570 followed. Lal Mahomed Sarkar v Jagu Sheikh 13 C. W. N. 913, Amirullah Mahomed v Aziz Mahomed, 1 I. L. R. 31 Calc 932, Amirullah Mahomed v Aziz Mahomed 1 I. L. R. 31 Calc 191 and Eyymath Singh v William Cox, 19 C. W. N. 263 distinguished. JADAN SARDAR v GORINDA CHANDRA MANDAL (1916)

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 272

24. ——— Hindu Joint Family—Occupancy holding held under joint family, not transferable without landlord's consent—Transfer of karta to recognise transfer. The karta of a joint Hindu family has authority to consent on behalf of the joint family to the transfer of an occupancy holding held by the tenants under the joint family as landlords and not transferable without their consent duly given by themselves or on their behalf. GOLATDI MEAH v PURNO CHANDRA DUTTA (1917)

21 C. W. N. 774

25. ——— Attachment—Objection of rayats—Consent of landlords. A non-transferable occupancy holding or a part of it cannot be sold in execution of a decree for money obtained against the rayat when the rayat objects to the sale on the ground of non-transferability, even if the landlords give their consent to the sale. The above rule does not, as expressly laid down by the Full Bench in Dagmays v Ananda Mohan Roy Chaudhuri, 1 I. L. R. 42 Calc 172, 18 C. W. N. 971, apply to a sale held in execution of a decree founded on a mortgage or charge voluntarily made by the rayat. Badrinassa Choudhroni v Alam Gari, 19 C. W. N. 814 referred to Ananda Das v Rainsakar Panda 7 C. W. N. 572 Shalaruddin Choudhry v Rani Hemangini Das, 16 C. W. N. 420, commented on. NARAYAN v NARIN CHANDRA CHAUDHURI (1916)

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 720

26. ——— Gift, validity of—Revocation of gift—Transfer of property Act (I of 1882), ss. 122, 123, 126. In cases of transfer by gift of occupancy holdings, the question of transferability cannot be raised by the heir of the donor to the prejudice of the donee or his representative in interest. Rahim Jan Dibi v Imam Jan, 17 C. L. J. 173, referred to. Where a gift duly registered and executed is not suspended or made revocable on the happening of any specified event or in any of the cases (save want or failure of consideration) in which, if it were a contract, it might be rescinded as provided for in s. 126 of the Transfer of Property Act, it cannot be maintained that the property comprised in such gift continued to form part of the estate of the donor. The property ceased to be part of the donor's estate and the heir did not succeed thereto by right of inheritance. In cases of transfers for value, the title passes from the transferor to the transferee, although the validity of the transfer is liable to be questioned by the landlord who is not a party to the transaction and may possibly refuse to recognise the transfer. Dayamayi v. Ananda Mohan Roy Chowdhury, 1. L. R. 42 Cal. 172, followed. Yellers v. Beaumont, 1 Vern 191, referred to. Misroy v. Lord, 4 D. G. F. & J. 251, Richards v. Delbridge, 1 L. R. 18 Er. 11, Amalysa Ratan Sircar v. Tarani Nath Dey, 1. L. R. 42 Cal. 251, distinguished. BEHARI LAL GOSWAMI v. SINDHUBALA DAS (1917)

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

1. L. R. 45 Cal. 431

27. ——— Part of holding, bequest of—If valid—Principle of estoppel and waiver or acquiescence, if applies. The testamentary disposition of a part of a non transferable occupancy holding like that of the whole holding is invalid, and it was so held in a suit by the devisee against the rayat's heir at law. UMESH CHANDRA DUTTA v. JOY NATH DAS (1917) . 22 C. W. N. 474

28. ——— Custom of payment of nazar—In order to establish a custom of transferability subject to the payment of a customary nazar, the evidence must show that the landlord is bound to recognise when nazar of the amount, or at the rate determined by custom is tendered to him. A practice or course of business in a zemindary office according to which a transferee is recognised provided that the amount of the nazar is satisfactory to the landlord is not sufficient. The payment of nazar without more is an indication that the jois are not transferable without the landlord's consent given on receipt of the nazar. A custom which leaves the amount or rate of nazar indefinite must be void for uncertainty. MINA KUMARI v. ICHHARMOYEE CHAUDHRY RAY (1918) . 22 C. W. N. 829

29. ——— Gomasta's power to sanction transfer—In order to rely on a receipt granted by a landlord's Gomasta as evidence of recognition by the landlord of a transfer of a holding it is necessary for the transferee to show that the Gomasta's duties actually or ostensibly included at least some of the duties of management. JAYKI SARK v. THAKUR RAO BANAHUR SINGH

2 Pat. L. J. 231

30. ——— Purchaser of non-transferable occupancy holding, whether entitled to object to sale of holding—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s. 47 and O. XXI, r. 100. The purchaser of the whole or part of an occupancy holding not transferable by custom is a representative of the judgment-debtor and entitled to object under s. 47 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, to a sale of the holding in execution of a decree for rent. He is, therefore, not entitled to maintain proceedings under O. XXI, r. 100. PANCHABATAN KOPPAL v. RAM SARKAT SINGH

3 Pat. L. J. 579

31. ——— Transferability—A 10 anna landlord cannot sell his rayat's occupancy holding in execution of a money decree unless the rayat's occupancy holding is transferable by usage. MIC PHANSON v. DESHABHAI LAL

2 Pat. L. J. 539

32. ——— Transferability of, in execution of money decree—Bengal Tenancy Act (B. & O. Act II of 1913), s. 31 (1). An occupancy tenant in possession is entitled to object to the sale of his holding in execution of a money decree on the ground that the holding is not transferable without the consent of the landlord. MADHU PADHAN v. JAGU JAY . 4 Pat. L. J. 294

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

33. ——— Transfer of portion of non-transferable—Collusive rent suit between landlord and transferee—Deposit of transferee—Suit to set aside fraudulent decree and for recovery of deposit—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1935), s. 170 (3)—Principles governing transfers of non-transferable holdings—Fraud. The recorded tenant of a non transferable occupancy holding sold a portion of his holding. Subsequently the landlord brought a collusive suit for rent against the transferee and obtained a decree. The transferee deposited the decretal amount and cost under s. 170 (3) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and the deposit was withdrawn by the landlord. In a suit by the transferee to set aside the decree and for recovery of the amount withdrawn. Held, (1) that as, at the time of the deposit, it had not been finally decided that the transferee of a portion of a non transferable occupancy holding is not entitled to make deposit under s. 170 (3), the plaintiff was justified in adopting the only course at that time open to him to save the holding from sale and the suit was maintainable although there was no privity of contract between the parties. (2) That the deposit should be considered as money paid under terror of inceptive legal proceedings fraudulently directed against the transferee and as such recoverable. (3) That the decree obtained against the recorded tenant was void not only against the latter, but was a nullity. (4) That in such a case, irrespective of a deposit, if the transferee has suffered actual damage by an unlawful infraction of his legal rights, the suit would be maintainable. The following principles govern the transfer of the whole or a portion of a non transferable occupancy holding—(i) Where the transfer is a sale of the whole holding, the landlord is ordinarily entitled to enter on the holding. (ii) (a) Where the transfer is otherwise than by sale of the whole holding, and (b) Where the transfer is a part only of the holding, whether by sale or otherwise, the landlord is not ordinarily entitled to recover possession, unless there has been an abandonment within the meaning of s. 87 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, or a repudiation of the tenancy. (iii) The transferee of a portion of a non transferable occupancy holding has certain interests and legal rights which for certain purposes are limited by the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act, read with the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. (iv) All such transferees have, irrespective of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and altogether dehors that Act, certain legal right which if infringed the Common Law of the land will not be powerless to protect in appropriate cases. (v) One of such rights is the right to possession which the transferee has even against the landlord until abandonment, relinquishment or repudiation takes place. (vi) The Common Law imposes an obligation on the landlord to refrain from extinguishing the right of the transferee by committing a tortious act in conspiracy with a third person. If this obligation is not observed, and damage to the transferee results, the Common Law may be invoked to vindicate the latter's rights. (vii) The period at which damage accrues may vary in different cases, but as soon as it does accrue the transferee may immediately institute a suit to attack all fraudulent proceedings between the landlord and the recorded tenant. Where a person or body of persons inflicts actual damage upon another by the intentional employment of unlawful means, even though such unlawful means may not comprise an act which is per se actionable, then such person or body of persons commits an actionable wrong. Even honest or disinterested motives cannot justify the employment of illegal means. A fortiori, where it is found that the motives were dishonest and fraudulent the wrong is actionable.

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

ASAFI SINGH v. RAMKELAWAN SINGH

4 Pat. L. J. 115

34. — Purchase of, by thikedar, effect of—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s. 22 (3)—Mesne profits power of court to reduce rate agreed upon by parties. A thikedar was not debarred from acquiring occupancy rights by purchase during the period of his thika prior to the amendment of s. 22 (3) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, and that section does not prevent him from acquiring occupancy rights by purchase after the period of his lease has expired. Where a thikedar purchases an occupancy holding during the period of his lease he becomes a non-occupancy raiyat in respect to the holding purchased and a suit to eject him must be brought within the period of limitation prescribed by sch. III to the Bengal Tenancy Act 1885. Where a lease contains a stipulation that the lessee shall pay mesne profits at a particular rate on failure to give up the lands which form the subject matter of the lease on the expiry of the period for which it is granted the court has power to alter the rate agreed upon.

JOHN PIERPONT MORGAN v. BABU RAMJEE RAM

5 Pat. L. J. 302

35. — Transferability—Custom of—An occupancy raiyat in a village where no custom of transferability without consent of landlord exists can object to the sale of his holding by an execution creditor who is not his landlord. On an execution sale of portion of holding remainder becomes an entire holding and on its sale it is the sale of an entire holding not a portion only. Where a portion of a holding has been sold in execution of a mortgage decree the tenant is not estopped from denying the existence of the custom of transferability in the case of a sale of the remainder under a money decree.

DEWAN RAM CHOUDHURY v. ATUL MUKHERJEE

6 Pat. L. J. 203

36. — Abandonment—what amounts to—Where a tenant having a non-transferable right of occupancy sells such right to a third person and having obtained a sub-lease from the purchaser remains in possession of the land and cultivates it, the landlord (in the absence of repudiation by the tenant of his relation to the landlord as such) is not entitled to recover possession inasmuch as it does not amount to abandonment.

SURESHCHANDRA BISHY v. RAMDEB PAI

24 C. W. N. 117

37. — Transferability—Whether occupancy holding not transferable by usage or custom can be sold in execution of sole landlord's money-decree—Share durum apli c tion and limitations of. The sole landlord of a raiyat is competent to sell, in execution of a money decree against the raiyat, his occupancy holding even though the holding may be non-transferable by usage or custom.

BHARAM ALI SHAH SHALDAR v.

OCCUPANCY HOLDING—contd

Gopi Kanth Shaha, 1 L. R. 24 Cal. 355, overruled. Durga Charan Mandal v. Kala Prasanna Sarkar, 1 L. R. 26 Cal. 727, Sadugar Sircar v. Krishna Chandra Nath, 1 L. R. 26 Cal. 937, Majed Hossain v. Baghubur Chowdhury, 1 L. R. 27 Cal. 187, Cakar Khalipa Biswas v. Kasi Mudli Jomadar, 1 L. R. 27 Cal. 415, Sita Nath Chatterjee v. Almasam Kar, 4 C. W. N. 671, Murulla v. Burulla, 9 C. W. N. 972 and Khoda Bux v. Sada Pramanick, 14 C. L. J. 620, commented on. Macpherson v. Debibhawan Lal, 2 P. L. J. 530, discredited from. Narayani v. Nabin Chandra Chaudhuri, 1 L. R. 44 Cal. 720, referred to. Ananda Das v. Rinkar Pandit, 7 C. W. N. 572, Shakeruddin Chatterjee v. Hemangini Das, 16 C. W. N. 420 and Dwarikanath Pal v. Tarani Sankar Ray, 1 L. R. 24 Cal. 199, approved. The transfer for value of the whole or a part of an occupancy holding apart from cushm or local usage is operative as against the raiya, whether it is made voluntarily or involuntarily. Authorities reviewed at length. CHANDRA PINGOY KENDU v. ALA BUX DEWAN (1920)

1 L. R. 48 Cal. 184

24 C. W. N. 818

38. — Mortgage—Collateral covenant for the protection of a mortgage of occupancy holdings not enforceable. Certain occupancy holdings were mortgaged usufructually with a covenant that if the mortgagor failed to pay, or if the mortgagees were dispossessed from the property mortgaged, they would be entitled to recover the mortgage money by sale of certain other property of the mortgagor. Held on suit brought on this covenant by the mortgagees after dispossession, that the mortgage of the occupancy holdings being itself illegal the covenant fell with it, and the plaintiffs could not recover. Ram Prasad Rai v. Ram Phul Teli, 13 Indian Cases, 9 and Pooran Singh v. Jas Singh, 17 Indian Cases, 522, referred to. Dayram Lal v. Ghara Rai, 1 L. R. 34 All. 232 and Fayendra Prasad v. Ram Jatan Pasi, 1 L. R. 39 All. 29, distinguished. TULSI RAM v. SAT NARAYAN

1 L. R. 63 All. 81

OCCUPANCY RAIYAT

See CENTRAL PROVINCES TENANCY ACT, 1898, s. 35. 3 Pat. L. J. 88

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT (I of 1894) ss. 23, 40. 1 L. R. 40 All. 367

See LANDLORD AND TENANT. 1 L. R. 37 Cal. 742

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING

See OCCUPANCY RIGHT

See SURRENDER. 1 L. R. 43 Cal. 605

— at fixed rates—

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING

1 L. R. 42 Cal. 745

— suit for declaration of status as—

See COURT FEES ACT (VII of 1870) Sch. II Art. 5, s. 7 xi

1 L. R. 40 All. 358

1. — Appointed iyar

dar, if loses occupancy right. The mere fact that a raiya who has a right of occupancy in his agricultural lands is at the same time a rent collector of

OCCUPANCY RAIYAT—contd

the village and is remunerated as such does not deprive him of his right of occupancy. Durga Prosad Singh v Hari Ram Mahto (1914)

19 C. W. N. 578

2. ——— Mortgage of part of occupancy holding—Subsequent lease of same while mortgage was yet unregistered—Rights of mortgagees and lessee. An occupancy tenant made a usufructuary mortgage of certain plots of land comprised in his occupancy holding. He apparently gave the mortgagees possession but refused to get the mortgage duly registered, and in consequence the mortgagees were obliged to bring a suit to compel registration. Whilst this suit was pending, the occupancy tenant leased certain plots covered by the mortgage at a yearly rent for a period of five years. Held, on suit by the lessee for possession, that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree, and that he was not bound, as a condition precedent to pay off the mortgagees. Baharan Upadhyay v Utamgarh, 1 L. R. 33 All. 779, referred to. Haris Ullah v Manrup (1917) L. L. R. 40 All. 223

3. ——— Settlement, whether of raiyat holding or of tenure—Statutory presumption—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 5 sub-s. (5)—Suit under s. 104 II—Incidents of tenancy. In a suit under a 104 II of the Bengal Tenancy Act the plaintiff sued for a declaration that he was an occupancy raiyat in respect of certain lands. He based his title on two documents: one was an amalnama granted to his predecessor in 1808 which recited that certain mouzahs were allotted with the grantees for bringing them under cultivation and directed the grantee to extirpate wild beasts, clear jungles, raise embankments at his own expense, carry on cultivation and enjoy the crops thereof, and the other document, which fixed the rent, was executed in 1869 and recited that on the strength of the aforesaid amalnama, the grantee took possession and had commenced to reclaim jungles, raise embankments and cultivate lands. The grantee was further authorised to make settlements with tenants. Held, that the settlement was of a raiyat holding and not of a tenure. The amalnama was expressly granted for the purpose of reclamation and cultivation by the grantee and the regular lease which followed did not indicate any intention to alter the nature of the tenancy. Held, also, that the mere fact that the tenant had sublet his land did not by itself establish conclusively that this status was that of a tenure holder and not that of a raiyat. The test to be applied to determine his status was the intention of the contracting parties. Where the terms of the original grant were known, the statutory presumption in s. 5, sub-s. (5) of the Bengal Tenancy Act did not apply, where the origin of the tenancy was unknown, the mode of user of the land might furnish a valuable clue to determine its original purpose, and where it was ambiguous, evidence of subsequent conduct of parties might be admissible. Prometho Nath Kumar v Nilmani Kumar, 14 C. L. J. 35, 15 C. W. N. 802. Prometho Nath Roy v Anuradha Mandal 15 C. W. N. 826. Dama pata Roy v Madnapore Zemindary Co., 15 C. L. J. 322, referred to. Held, further that in a suit under a 104 II of the Bengal Tenancy Act it was not sufficient for the Court to hold that the entry in the Settlement Fall as to the status of rent was erroneous. The Court must affirmatively determine the exact conditions and incidents of the tenancy as also the rent to be settled on such basis. Secretary of State for India v Digam Bar Nanda (1917) L. L. R. 46 Cal. 160

OCCUPANCY RAIYAT—contd

4. ——— Suit for settlement of equitable rent, whether less—Enhancement of rent—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss. 46 and 158, Chapters V and X. Defendant was a non occupancy raiyat under a lease for 9 years ending on the 1st Assin, 1319. On the expiry of that period, the defendant having held over, the plaintiff sued for khas possession or, in the alternative, for fair and equitable rent for the years 1319 to 1322 inclusive. Held (1) that so far as the years 1319 to 1321 were concerned during which the defendant was a non occupancy raiyat the plaintiff, not having availed himself of the procedure laid down in s. 46 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, was entitled to rent at the rate provided in the lease only and (2) that so far as the year 1322 was concerned, by which time the defendant had become an occupancy raiyat, the provisions of Chapter X and s. 158 not being applicable to the case, the plaintiff was entitled to sue for enhancement of rent under Chapter V but could not recover rent at an enhanced rate in the present suit. Per Dawson Miller, C.J. Even had the present suit been one for the enhancement of rent it would not have been within the competence of the court to award rent at an enhanced rate for previous years. Dnyal Kundu v Mahib Pathan 5 Pat. L. J. 406

OCCUPANCY RIGHT

See BENGAL TENANCY

1 L. R. 48 Cal. 460

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1885, s. 180

2 Pat. L. J. 48

See CHOTA NAAGPUR LANDLORD AND TENANT PROCEDURE ACT s. 6

14 C. W. N. 297

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

See LAND TENURE IN MADRAS

L. R. 46 L. A. 33

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING

See OCCUPANCY RAIYAT

— acquisition of, by a firm—

See ENDOWMENT 4 Pat. L. J. 533

— acquisition of, by joint family—

See HINDU LAW (JOINT FAMILIES)

4 Pat. L. J. 354

— acquisition of, by landholder—

See MADRAS ESTATE LAND ACT (I OF 1904) s. 4 SUB-S. (6) AND A 8

L. L. R. 39 Mad. 944

— extinguishment of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

1 L. R. 37 Cal. 709

— Purchaser of—

See MADRAS ESTATE LANDS ACT, 1903, ss. 54 AND 146.

L. L. R. 44 Mad. 43

OCCUPANCY RIGHT—contdtransfer of—

See CENTRAL PROVINCES TENANCY ACT
(XI of 1898) s 45

I L R 48 Calc 78

1. _____ Mokurandur cult valuing land for more than 12 years—Protection from ejecton. Where a mokurandur tenure was created in 1890 by an under-tenure-holder in favour of a tenant who went on cultivating the land for 12 years. Held in a suit by a purchaser of the under tenure under Act VIII of 1865 that the tenant acquired an occupancy right and retained it even though the mokurandur right which he had also obtained was extinguished by operation of s 16 of Act VIII of 1865 and the tenant was not liable to be ejected. Nirmalchandra v Shibu 13 W P 430 and Enam Ali v Ator Ali 22 H R 133 followed.
Jogeshwar Marumdar v Ibad Mahomed Serkar
3 C W N 13 distinguished. BAMA CHARAN
CORAI v RAM KANAI DUBEY (1914)

19 C W N 858

2. _____ Incidents of an other tenancy under the same landlord but in different localities as to occupation of the occupancy right—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s 182. The provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act are applicable to a tenancy for building a shop in a market in which the tenant afterwards came to reside where the tenant has occupancy right on certain jamas under the same landlord in a different village from before the acquisition of the tenancy for building the shop. Gulam Moola v Abdul Sower
Mundul 13 C L J 255. Protap Chandra Das v
Biswasnath Pramanick 9 C W N 416. Kripa Nath Chakroborty v Sheikh Anwar 10 C W N 944 and Norihar Chatterji v Dinu Bera 14 C L J 170 referred to. BHAKTARAM BHAGAT v MAHARAJ
BARADUR SINGH (1915) I L R 43 Calc 185

3. _____ Under-tenancy— Ejectment—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) ss 49 (b) 113 183—Usage or custom. An under-tenant may by usage or custom obtain a right of occupancy and he is not then liable to ejectment after notice to quit under s 49 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Akhil Chandra Bhow v Hasan
Ali Sadagar 19 C W N 246 referred to. GORAL
MONDAL v TAPAI SAKSEHARI (1918)

I L R 46 Calc 43

4. _____ If may be acquired by skilled raiyat as a protected interest. A Raiyat holding at a fixed rent from the inception of the tenancy may subsequently acquire a right of occupancy (s 9) by continuous occupancy for 12 years so as to be protected by s 160 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Bhat Nath Naskar v Surendra Nath
Dutt 13 C W N 1025 considered. SARASWAT
PATRA v MAHARAJA SIR BHOJO CHAND MONATAP

25 C W N 15

5. _____ Transferability of in Orissa—Sale in execution of mortgage—procedure for. In Orissa occupancy rights are transferable without the landlord's consent unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Collector that the landlord has good reason for his objection. The correct procedure in cases in which it is desired to put up for sale an occupancy right in execution of a decree on a mortgage is to allow the sale to go through and then for the purchaser to apply to the landlord under s 31 of the Orissa Tenancy Act 1915 for registration of the transfer. If the landlord accepts

OCCUPANCY RIGHT—contd

the fee authorised the sale will hold good. If he refuses to do so the purchaser should apply to the Collector and the Collector will decide whether there is good and sufficient reason for the landlord's objection. CHANDHARI NAIK v KASBI TENDI

2 Pat. L J 478

OCCUPANCY TENANT

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II of 1901)
s 16 I L R 41 All 223

ss 18 AND 89

I L R 43 All 606

See KUCHI SETTLEMENT ACT (BOM I of 1890)—

ss 9 AND 10 I L R 44 Bom 257

ss 33 (c) 40 (a) R. I 111 VIII

I L R 3 Bom 284

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I L R 33 All 335

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING

See SURRENDER I L R 48 Calc 605

OCCUPANT

—Growth of sandalwood trees on occupancy lands subsequent to survey settlement—

See FOREST ACT (VII of 1885) s 75
CL (c) R 2 I L R 45 Bom 110

OCTROI DUTY

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (I of 1904)
s 74 I L R 40 All 105

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES
ACT 1916 s 306

I L R 42 All 207.

—suit for refund of—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) SCH I ARTS * 82 190

I L R 28 All 555

OFFENCE

See HIGH COURT JURISDICTION OF
I L R 37 Calc 287

See ROTTING I L R 39 Calc 781

See WORKMEN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT
ACT 1859 s * 1 I L R 43 All 281

—brought to the notice of Court in the course of judicial proceeding—

See COURT MEANING OF
I L R 37 Calc 642

—committed in respect of different persons—

See JOINDER OF CHARGES
I L R 28 All 457

—compounding of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
of 1898) s 345

I L R 39 Mat 946

—Whether it can be spoken of as a surely personal one—

See PENAL CODE 1860 s * 4 AND
373 I L R 2 Lah. 27

OFFENCE—concl'd

Whether omission to give rent rece pt amounts to—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 188 , s 58
1 Pat L J 143

Triable with the aid of assessors—
Conviction o' accused of minor offence triable by a jury—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s 238
I L. R. 45 Bom. 619

Committed at Sea.

See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF
I L. R. 39 Calc. 457

OFFENDING MATTER.

proof of—

See PRINTING PRESS, FOPPLITURE OF
I L. R. 38 Calc. 202

OFFER AND ACCEPTANCE

See CONTRACT I L. R. 42 All 167
See CONTRACT ACT 1872, s. 2

See LAND ACQUISITION

I L. R. 44 Bom. 797
See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, ss 17 AND 19 . I L. R. 45 Bom. 8

Counter-proposal does not amount to—

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908), ss. 17 & 19 . I L. R. 45 Bom. 8

OFFERINGS.

See SEBASTY I L. R. 41 L. A. 267

permanent alienation of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 92 I L. R. 40 Mad. 212

Suit by pujari against guravs to recover offerings—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss 9 AND 92
I L. R. 45 Bom. 683

to a temple—Transferability—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 6, cl (a) There are certain rights that cannot be transferred They are res extra commercium, for instance, sacerdotal office which belongs to the priest of a particular class Similarly a right to receive offerings from pilgrims, resorting to a temple or shrine, is inalienable The chance that future worshippers will give offerings is a mere possibility and as such it cannot be transferred. Lakshmanaswami Nadu v Rangamma, 1 L R 28 Mad 31; Rashi Chandra v Kailash Chandra, 1 L R 26 Calc 356, Dano Nath Chuckerbutty v Pratap Chandra Goucoms, 1 L R 27 Calc 30, referred to PUNCHA THAKUR v BINDRESWARY THAKUR (1915)

I L. R. 43 Calc. 28

to deity—Dispute concerning the possession of a temple and its offerings—Offerings not "profits" arising out of a temple—Jurisdiction of Magistrate—Apportionment of the offerings—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 145 S 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code includes within its scope a dispute concerning the actual possession of a temple and the land on which it stands, but not one relating to the right to, and apportionment of, the offerings given by the worshippers Such offerings are not "profits" arising out of the temple within the meaning of s. 145 (2) An order made under s 145 declaring a party entitled to the actual possession of a temple, and its offerings is, therefore, in rem as to the temple, but not as to the offerings Gusram Ghosal v Lal Behari Das, 1 L R 37 Calc 378, referred to RAM SAKAN PATHAK v RAJHU NANDAN GH (1911)

OFFERINGS—concl'd

I L. R. 33 Calc. 387

OFFICER.

in the Army—

See ATTACHMENT I L. R. 43 Bom. 718

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s 60, cl (2) (b)
I L. R. 37 Bom. 26

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

S. 80 I L. R. 37 Bom 243

O XXII, s 10

I L. R. 39 Bom. 588

See INSOLVENCY I L. R. 37 Calc 418

See INSOLVENT I L. R. 43 Bom. 690

See LIQUIDATOR I L. R. 43 Calc. 688

See PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT, 1909—

Ss 7 & 86 I L. R. 35 Bom. 473

Ss 38 AND 52 I L. R. 44 Bom 555

—duties and rights of—

See SALE OF GOODS

I L. R. 40 Calc 523

—prospect of litigation with—

See INSOLVENCY I L. R. 44 Calc. 374

—right of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XXVIII, s 5
I L. R. 39 Mad 903

—sale by—

See INSOLVENCY I L. R. 42 Calc. 72

—title of—

See INSOLVENCY I L. R. 40 Calc. 78
I L. R. 42 Calc. 72

—verbal orders by—

See INSOLVENCY I L. R. 47 Calc. 56

OFFICIAL CORRUPTION

See CONTRACT I L. R. 43 Calc 115

OFFICIAL RECEIVER.

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENT ACT (III OF 1907), ss. 20 AND 22
I L. R. 39 Mad. 479

See RECEIVER.

—order of—

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENT ACT (III OF 1907), ss 15 TO 22, 46, 52
I L. R. 33 Mad. 15

OFFICIAL RECEIVER—concl'd

— order to, without notice—

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907) s 46 cl (3)
I L R 39 Mad. 593

— whether a Court—

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907) ss 2 (c) AND (g) 2^o 46 5^o
I L R. 40 Mad. 752

— Insolvency—Convey

ance if necessary to perfect title to land purchased at auction at the instance of Official Receiver—

Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 54 There is nothing to exempt a conveyance by an Official Receiver in Insolvency from the operation of s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 ABDUL HASHIM v ALIA KRISHNA SAMA (1919)
I L R 46 Calc 887

OFFICIAL RECORD

See TRISHKANA PAPER
I L R. 39 Calc 995

OFFICIAL TRUSTEE

See PROBATE I L R. 37 Calc 387

— Probate—Official Trustee s Act (XII of 1884) ss 8 10 3^o The official Trustee as constituted by Act XVII of 1884 is not entitled by virtue of his office and in his character as Official Trustee and in the name of Official Trustee to obtain a grant of probate Aashbury Pulver Co v Age and Iron Co v Bickel L R 7 H L 653 referred to GREY v CHARUSILA DASI (1910)
I L R. 38 Calc 53

OFFICIAL TRUSTEE'S ACT (XVII OF 1884)

See PROBATE I L R 37 Calc 387

— ss. 8, 10 32—

See OFFICIAL TRUSTEE
I L R. 38 Calc. 53

OFFICIAL WITNESS

— privilege of—

See CHARGE I L R. 42 Calc 957

OLD WASTE GROUNDS

— ejectment from—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) ss 3 (7) 153 AND 157
I L R 38 Mad. 163

OMISSION

See CHARGE
I L R 40 Calc. 168

— by mistake—

See POWER OF ATTORNEY
I L R. 37 Calc. 399

— to serve notice—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE
I L R. 40 Calc 45

ONUS OF PROOF

See AGREEMENT TO SELL
I L R 36 Bom 448

See DEMANI 25 C W N 409

See BURDEN OF PROOF

See CARRIERS I L R. 40 Calc 716

ONUS OF PROOF—concl'd

See CHAUHDARI CHAKHAN JANDS
I L R. 42 Calc 710

See CONSIGNMENT LOSS OF
I L R 41 Calc 576

See DEATH PRESUMPTION OF
I L R 37 Calc 103

See EJECTMENT I L R 42 Bom 357

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—

S 92 I L R 39 Bom. 399

S 110 I L R 45 Bom 789

See EXECUTOR, SALE BY
I L R 36 Mad 575

See FORFEITURE I L R 41 Calc. 466

See FRAUD I L R 41 Calc 990
I L R 37 All. 837

See HINDU LAW—MOTOR
I L R 38 Mad 166

See JURY 24 C W N 619

See LEASEHOLD I L R. 39 Bom. 625

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I L R. 37 Calc 723

See LEGAL INCAPACITY
I L R 43 Calc 417

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s 11
I Arts 140 141

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION
I L R 47 Calc 524

See NEGLIGENCE I L R 48 Calc. 757

See POSSESSION 23 C W N 593

See PRESS ACT (I OF 1910) ss 3 (1)
4 (1) 17 19 20 AND 22

See PATRI I L R. 39 Mad 1085
25 C W N 106

See RAILWAY COMPANY
I L R 37 Bom. 1

See RENT SUIT
I L R 43 Calc. 554

See SECOND APPEAL
I L R 2 Lah 249

See WILL I L R 47 Calc 1043
I L R. 43 Bom 845

— placed on wrong party—

See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT 1881 s 118 I L R. 1 Lah. 429

— In a suit for succession—

See CUSTOMS (SUCCESSION)
I L R. 1 Lah. 434

— Presumption in favour of continuance of life—

See HINDU LAW (SUCCESSION)
I L R 1 Lah 554

— Hindu Joint Family on member of, to show that his raising was not at the expense of the Joint Family—

See HINDU LAW (JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY)
I L R. 2 Lah 40

— In endow case—second appeal—

See PUNJAB COURTS ACT 1918 s 41
See JURISDICTION I L R 2 Lah. 187

ONUS OF PROOF—concl'd

That suit not within cognizance of Court

See JURISDICTION I L. R. 2 Lah. 302

Unoccupied village site—Presumption of title vesting in Government—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872), s 110

I L. R. 45 Bom 789

Suit by Government paltadar to eject tenants—Claim by tenants to right of occupancy—Facts establishing rights of occupancy—Title of plaintiff and service of notices to quit undisturbed—Onus on defendants to prove claim, how satisfied—Second appeal—Jurisdiction of High Court on second appeal to deal with facts, Civil Procedure Code (1908) s 103 In suits brought by the appellant as Government paltadar against the respondent after due service of notice to quit, to eject them from agricultural land in a ryotwari village, the respondents pleaded that they had a permanent tenancy or right of occupancy, and the appellant's title and the notices purporting to determine the tenancy were not disputed. Held, that the onus was on the respondents to prove the existence of their right of permanent occupancy, but that it had been established by the evidence that they had been immemorially in possession of the lands, and that they had not been proved to have been ever let into occupation by the appellant, that they had been paying uniform rate of rent, that the lands were reclaimed and brought under cultivation by them, that they had made great improvements and carried on cultivation either of dry or garden crops of their own choice without any interference or objection, and that they had for a very long time been sometimes making alienations of wells and lands, and the onus of proof had been thereby satisfied. The District Judge had passed decrees in the appellant's favour for possession of all the lands in suit. The High Court was of opinion that the District Court had omitted to determine a question of fact which was essential to the right decision of the suit on the merits, and framed issues which it asked the District Judge to decide as to whether the respondents were yearly tenants or had a permanent right of occupancy. These the District Court returned without dealing with them in a satisfactory manner. The High Court on second appeal drew an inference of the respondents' occupancy rights, and decided the appeal (dealing with it under s 103 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908) in favour of the respondents. Held, that the inference not being contradictory to any finding of fact by the District Court, and there being materials from which such inference could be drawn, the High Court had jurisdiction under the circumstances to deal with the case under s 103 and make a decree as it had done. SURENDRAM AYYAR v. VENKATACHALA GOUDAN (1920).

I L. R. 93 Mad. (P. C.) 587

OPIMUM

See OPIMUM ACT

See OPIMUM ACT (I of 1878) s 5, 9

I L. R. 34 All. 219

1. —Illicit sale of—Proof of the factum of the sale—Presumption from inability to account satisfactorily for opium in absence of evidence of any sale—Opium Act (I of 1878) s 9, 10 The effect of ss 9 and 10 of the Opium Act, 1878,

OPIMUM—concl'd is that, when once it is proved that the accused has dealt with opium in one of the ways described in s 9, the onus of showing that he had a right so to deal with it is placed on him by s 10. But the commission of the act, which is the foundation of the particular offence charged under s 9 must be proved before the presumption raised by s 10 comes into operation at all, and the presumption cannot be used to establish such act. Where, therefore, there is no evidence to prove the fact of any sale of opium by a person accused of illicit sale, the deficiency is not supplied by the statutory presumption and a conviction of illicit sale is bad. ISHWAR CHANDRA SENGH v. EMPEROR (1910)

I L. R. 37 Cal. 581

2. —Illegal possession of—Opium Act (I of 1878), s 9 (c) 10—Mere possession contrary to the Act without guilty frame of mind—Respective liabilities of owner of boat and crew—Presumption of commission of offence under the Act—“Conveyance”—Boat. Under ss 9 (c) and 10 of the Opium Act (I of 1878), mere possession of opium without being able to account for it satisfactorily, apart from any frame of mind is an offence. The owner of a boat in which opium found is in possession of it, but not the crew when they are neither owners nor jointly interested with him in any venture as an incident of which possession might be attributed to them. Where the owner of a boat alleged that opium was carried on board by a passenger without his knowledge, but there were circumstances disproving his story. Held, that as he had not satisfactorily accounted for its possession it must be presumed under s 10, that it was opium in respect of which he had committed an offence under the Act. Quare Whether a boat in which opium is carried is a “conveyance” used in carrying it so as to be liable to confiscation on conviction of the owner under the Act. EMPEROR v. HAMID ALI (1909)

I L. R. 37 Cal. 24

3. —Possession by consignee of railway receipt covering contraband opium—Lying undelivered in a railway office—Expiry of interference on revision when accused guilty of importing such opium—Opium Act (I of 1878), s 9, cl. (c) and (e). Per RICHARDSON J. Possession by the consignee of a railway receipt covering a parcel of contraband opium lying undelivered in the railway office under circumstances showing knowledge of its contents, constitutes possession of the opium within s 9 (c) of the Opium Act though, after its arrival, the police tied up the parcel with tape and instructed the Parcels Clerk not to part with it in order to prevent delivery without their cognizance. KASHI DASH DANIYA v. EMPEROR I L. R. 32 Cal. 557, and ASHRAF ALI v. EMPEROR, I L. R. 35 Cal. 1016 followed. Kali Charan Mukherjee v. EMPEROR, I L. R. 41 Cal. 637, referred to. Per SHANKAR LAL HUDA J. It is very doubtful whether under the circumstances the accused was in possession of the opium within s 9 (c) of the Act. Per GHAZALI. The accused was guilty under s 9 (c) of importing opium and the case was not therefore, a fit one for interference on revision. FOSSA KUN v. FARRUKH (1919). I L. R. 45 Cal. 820

OPIMUM ACT (I OF 1878).

—ss. 3 and 9—

Morphium—whether included in the term “Opium” Held, that morphia

OPIUM ACT (I OF 1878)—*contd—ss. 2 and 9—*contd

is not included in the term "Opium" as defined in the Opium Act; it being only one of the many ingredients of opium and not a preparation or admixture of opium or a drug prepared from the poppy. Punjab Government Notification No 951 of 15th October 1916, as amended by Notification No 6333 C. and I., dated 27th March 1917 (page 78 of volume II of the Punjab Excise Manual), referred to SITA RAM v THE CROWN

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 443

—ss. 4, 5, and 9—

Contract by which person without license is enabled to sell opium void A and B were farmers of opium revenue under Government. They obtained a license from the Collector for the sale of opium, subject to the condition, among others, that they should not sell, transfer or sub-rent their privileges without the permission of the Collector. A and B, without the sanction of the Collector, entered into an agreement with C, by which they admitted him as a partner in the opium business. C brought a suit for dissolution and winding up of the business. Held, that the agreement was void and the suit was not maintainable. The effect of the agreement between A and B on the one hand and C on the other was to enable C to sell opium without a license, an act directly forbidden by s. 4 of the Opium Act and made penal by s. 9. The contract being intended to enable C to do what was forbidden by law was unlawful and void. The provisions of the Abkari and Opium Acts are not intended merely to protect public revenue but the prohibitions contained in them are based on public policy. The agreement was also illegal as it amounted to a transfer by A and B of their privilege to C, in violation of the condition against transfer subject to which the license was granted. The combined effect of s. 4, 5 and 9 of the Opium Act is to make the transfer in violation of the conditions in the license, illegal. NALAY PADMANABHAN v SAIY BADEENADH SAEDA (1912) I. L. R. 35 Mad. 532

—ss. 5, 9—

Master and servant—Liability of master for act of servant Where the servant of a licensed vendor of opium, in the course of his employment as such servant, sold opium to a person under the age of fourteen years, it was held that the licensed vendor also was liable under s. 9 of the Opium Act even though he might not have been aware of the sale. Queen Empress v. Tyab Ali, I. L. R. 24 Bom. 423, followed. EMPEROR v. BABU LAL (1912) I. L. R. 34 All. 319

—s. 9—See OPIUM.*OPIUM ACT (I OF 1878)—*contd—s. 9—*contd.

could not be sustained. MAHOMED KAZI v KING-EMPEROR (1916) 20 C. W. N. 1209

Possession of Railway receipt relating to an undelivered parcel of contraband opium The possession of a railway receipt relating to an undelivered parcel of contraband opium lying in a railway office under circumstances showing knowledge of its contents, constitutes possession of the opium within s. 9, cl. (c) of the Opium Act. KANSHI NATH BANIA v EMPEROR (1) dismissed and followed I. L. R. 26 Calc. 1016

—ss. 9 and 10—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 235

3 Pat. L. J. 433

See OPIUM I. L. R. 37 Calc. 24 & 581
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 820

Sale of morphia by medical practitioner There is a clear distinction between use of morphia in practice by an approved medical practitioner and sale to his patients and such sale is punishable under s. 9 of the Opium Act. JOSEPH CHANDRA LAHRI v KING EMPEROR 24 C. W. N. 343

s. 11—Boat, unlawful user by hire—Confiscation, without hearing owner An order of the Magistrate confiscating a boat under s. 11 of the Opium Act was set aside when such order was passed without giving the owner of the boat an opportunity of being heard. S. 11 of the Opium Act does not seem to contemplate that every receptacle in the nature of a ship or a house or a carriage in which a small quantity of opium may happen to be found is liable to confiscation, the liability arises from the owner of such conveyance using the conveyance for the purpose of transporting opium. ABDUL RAHAMAN v EMPEROR (1910) 15 C. W. N. 296

—s. 15—

See RESCUE FROM LAWFUL CUSTODY.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1161

OPTION OF PURCHASE.

See LEASE I. L. R. 42 Bom. 103

ORAL AGREEMENT

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 92
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 59

S. 92 AND PROV. (2)
I. L. R. 33 Bom. 399

See LANDLORD AND TENANT (INTEREST)
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1079

See LEASE I. L. R. 29 Calc. 663

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), ss. 54, 118

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 423

ORAL EVIDENCE.

See CONTRACT FOR SALE
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 431

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT, s. 10A I. L. R. 36 Bom. 305

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 91
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 486

See PINT I. L. R. 41 Calc. 347

Illicit possession of opium—Possession of substance unfit for use as opium and containing only traces of opium The accused were convicted under s. 9 (c) of the Opium Act for being in illicit possession of two and a half seers of opium. The substance seized from the possession of the accused was, on chemical analysis, found to contain traces of opium amounting to less than one per cent. and to be unfit for use as opium. There was no evidence as to whether the traces of opium could be extracted from the mass and used as opium: Held, that the conviction

ORAL EVIDENCE—conold

By Magistrate as to unrecorded statement of accused

See EVIDENCE ACT, s 27

25 C. W. N. 738

of agreement preceding a written agreement, whether admissible—

See REGISTRATION I. L. R. 1 Lah. 438

to vary terms of a written document—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—

S 92

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 512

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 710

ORAL SALE.

See SALE I. L. R. 44 Bom. 586

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), SS 4 AND 64

I. L. R. 33 Mad 1158

ORAL SURRENDER.

See RAYAT I. L. R. 47 Calc. 129

ORDER.

appeal from—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, ss 47

AND 104

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 472

granting leave to sue Receiver for negligence—not appealable—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XLIII, R 1

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 93

For compensation without examining all complainant's witnesses.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1898, s 250

I. L. R. 44 Mad 51

ORDER ABSOLUTE

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 47 Calc. 746

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 37 Calc. 796

15 C. W. N. 337

See MORTGAGE DECREE

I. L. R. 39 Mad 544

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O

XLV, R 15

1 Pat. L. J. 385

2 Pat. L. J. 496

See LETTER PATENT (PAT'AL), CL 39

2 Pat. L. J. 684

of 21st December 1903 and Paper Book—

See PRIVY COUNCIL, APPEAL TO

6 Pat. L. J. 114

Construction—Interest, from what date payable—Life's profits—Compensation for improvements—Excessive time taken by litigation in India, commented upon. An order in Council directed that on payment by the Appellant of certain sums of money, due in respect of mortgage, and interest thereon at 6 per cent., the Appellant should recover possession of the property together with means profits. Held—That interest should run concurrently with the means profits, that being the construction which the Board had placed upon the order upon an application for review. Held, also—That part of the means profits having been due to permanent improvements made by the dissensor, a deduction of 10 per cent. was properly allowed by the High Court in respect thereof. Held, further—That the increased rents that could be properly attributable to the improvements could be properly set off against the means profits even though they were not actually executed by the persons in possession of the date of the decree, but by persons from whom they had purchased the property. RAJA RAJ BRAGHAT DAYAL SINGH v. RAM RATAN SAHA (P. C.)

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL—conold

26 C. W. N. 258

ORDINANCE.

1914—III—

See HABEAS CORPUS

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 459

VI—

See COMMERCIAL INTERCOURSE WITH ENEMIES ORDINANCE

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1094

1919—I—

See COURT MARTIAL. 15 C. W. N. 701

See CRIMINAL LAW

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 34

I & IV—

Trial of offences by special Commission—

See GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 326

ORIGIN

See CUSTOM I. L. R. 45 Calc. 835

ORIGINAL COURT

competency of, to entertain application—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XLV, RR 10 AND 16

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 832

ORIGINAL SIDE, HIGH COURT.

See CONTEMPT OF COURT

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 173

Decision of Judge of, if binding on another Judge on Original Side. A Judge on the Original Side of the High Court should follow the decision of another Judge sitting on the same side, but such decision is not binding on the Judges hearing appeals from the Original Side. CHAITRAM RAMBILAS v. PRINCE CHAND KESHU CHAND (1015)

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1140

19 C. W. N. 820

ORISSA.*

See SALE I. L. R. 46 Calc. 811

ORISSA ZAMINDARI.

estates in—

See CHAKRABARTI CHAKRABARTI

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 710

OPIUM ACT (I OF 1878)—contd— ss 3 and 9—concl'd

is not included in the term "Opium" as defined in the Opium Act, it being only one of the many ingredients of opium and not a preparation or admixture of opium or a drug prepared from the poppy Punjab Government Notification No 954 of 19th October 1916, as amended by Notification No 6083 C and I, dated 27th March 1917 (page 79 of volume II of the Punjab Excise Manual), referred to SITA RAM v TAX CHOWK

I L R 1 Lah. 443

— ss. 4, 5, and 9—

Contract by which person without license is enabled to sell opium sold A and B were farmers of opium revenue under Government. They obtained a license from the Collector for the sale of opium, subject to the condition among others, that they should not sell, transfer or sub-rent their privileges without the permission of the Collector. A and B, without the sanction of the Collector, entered into an agreement with C, by which they admitted him as a partner in the opium business. C brought a suit for dissolution and winding up of the business. Held, that the agreement was void and the suit was not maintainable. The effect of the agreement between A and B on the one hand and C on the other, was to enable C to sell opium without a license, an act directly forbidden by s 4 of the Opium Act and made penal by s 9. The contract being intended to enable C to do what was forbidden by law was unlawful and void. The provisions of the Abkari and Opium Acts are not intended merely to protect public revenue but the prohibitions contained in them are based on public policy. The agreement was also illegal as it amounted to a transfer by A and B of their privilege to C, in violation of the condition against transfer subject to which the license was granted. The combined effect of s 4, 5 and 9 of the Opium Act is to make the transfer in violation of the conditions in the license, illegal NALAY PADMANABHAN v SAIT BADRINATH SARDAS (1912)

I L R. 35 Mad. 582

— ss. 5, 9—

Master and servant—

Liability of master for act of servant Where the servant of a licensed vendor of opium, in the course of his employment as such servant, sold opium to a person under the age of fourteen years it was held that the licensed vendor also was liable under s 9 of the Opium Act even though he might not have been aware of the sale. Queen-Empress v Tyab Ali, I L R 34 Bom. 423, followed EMPHOR v BABU LAL (1912)

I L R. 34 All. 319

— s. 9—

See OPIUMIllicit possession of opium—Possession of substance unfit for use as opium and containing only traces of opium The accused were convicted under s. 9 (c) of the Opium Act for being in illicit possession of two and a half seers of opium. The substance seized from the possession of the accused was, on chemical analysis, found to contain traces of opium amounting to less than one per cent and to be unfit for use as opium. There was no evidence as to whether the traces of opium could be extracted from the mass and used as opium: Held, that the conviction

OPIUM ACT (I OF 1878)—concl'd— s. 9—concl'd.

could not be sustained MAHOMED KAZI v KING-EMPEROR (1916)

20 C W. N. 1206

Possession of Railway receipt relating to an undelivered parcel of contraband opium The possession of a railway receipt relating to an undelivered parcel of contraband opium lying in a railway office under circumstances showing knowledge of its contents, constitutes possession of the opium within s. 9, cl. (c) of the Opium Act. KANSHI NATH BANIA v EMPEROR (1) discussed and followed

I L R. 36 Calc. 1016

— ss. 9 and 10—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 235
3 Pat. L J 433

See OPIUM I L R 37 Calc 24 & 581
I L R 46 Calc 820

Sale of morphia by medical practitioner There is a clear distinction between use of morphia in practice by an approved medical practitioner and sale to his patients and such sale is punishable under s. 9 of the Opium Act. JOGESH CHANDRA LAMBI v KING EMPEROR

24 C W. N. 343

s. 11—Boat, unlawful user by hire—Confiscation, without hearing owner An order of the Magistrate confiscating a boat under s. 11 of the Opium Act was set aside when such order was passed without giving the owner of the boat an opportunity of being heard. S. 11 of the Opium Act does not seem to contemplate that every receipt in the nature of a ship or a house or a cart age in which a small quantity of opium may happen to be found is liable to confiscation, the liability arises from the owner of such conveyance using the conveyance for the purpose of transporting opium. ABDUL RAHAMAN v EMPEROR (1910)

15 C W. N. 296

— s. 15—

See RESCUE FROM LAWFUL CUSTODY,
I L R. 43 Calc 1161

OPTION OF PURCHASE

See LEASE I L R. 42 Bom. 103

ORAL AGREEMENT.

See EVIDENCE ACT 1872 s 92
I L R 34 Bom 59

S 92 AND PROV (2)—
I L R 39 Bom 399

See LANDLORD AND TENANT (INTEREST)
I L R. 46 Calc 1079

See LEASE I L R. 39 Calc. 683

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), ss 54, 118
I L R. 37 Mad. 423

ORAL EVIDENCE

See CONTRACT FOR SALE
I L R. 45 Calc. 481

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT, s 10A I L R. 38 Bom 305

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872) s 91
I L R 41 Bom. 486

See FIRST I L R 41 Calc. 347

ORAL EVIDENCE—could

By Magistrate as to unrecorded statement of accused.

See EVIDENCE ACT, s. 27.

25 C. W. N. 788

of agreement preceding a written agreement, whether admissible—

See REGISTRATION I. L. R. 1 Lah. 436

to vary terms of a written document—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—

S 92 I. L. R. 42 Bom. 512

O I. L. R. 44 Bom. 710

ORAL SALE.

See SALE I. L. R. 44 Bom. 586

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), ss 4 AND 64

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1158

ORAL SURRENDER.

See RAJYAT I. L. R. 47 Calc. 129

ORDER.

appeal from—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, ss 47 AND 104 I. L. R. 44 Bom. 472

granting leave to sue Receiver for negligence—not appealable—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XLIII, R. 1

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 99

For compensation without examining all complainant's witnesses.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1898, s 250 I. L. R. 44 Mad. 51

ORDER ABSOLUTE.

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 47 Calc. 746

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 37 Calc. 786

15 C. W. N. 337

See MORTGAGE DECREE

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 544

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O XLV, R 15 I Pat. L. J. 385

2 Pat. L. J. 496

See LETTER PATENT (PATNA), CL. 39

2 Pat. L. J. 684

of 21st December 1908 and Paper Book—

See PRIVY COUNCIL, APPEAL TO 6 Pat. L. J. 114 from that date payable—Mesne profits—Compensation for improvements—Excessive time taken by litigation in India, commented upon An order in Council directed that on payment by the Appellant of certain sums of money, due in respect of mortgage, and interest thereon at 6 per cent., the Appellant should recover possession of the property together with mesne profits Held—That interest should run concurrently with the mesne profits, that being the construction which the Board had placed upon the order upon an application for review. Held, also—That part of the mesne profits having been due to permanent improvements made by the disseisor, a deduction of 10 per cent. was properly allowed by the High Court in respect thereof Held, further—That the increased rents that could be properly attributable to the improvements could be properly set off against the mesne profits even though they were not actually executed by the persons in possession of the date of the decree, but by persons from whom they had purchased the property RAJA RAI BHAGWAT DAYAL SINGH v. RAS RATAN SAMA (P. C.)

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL—could

26 C. W. N. 258

ORDINANCE.

1914—III—

See HABEAS CORPUS

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 459

VI—

See COMMERCIAL INTERCOURSE WITH ENEMIES ORDINANCE

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1094

1919—I—

See COURT MARTIAL 15 C. W. N. 701

See CRIMINAL LAW

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 34

I & IV—

Trial of offences by special Commission—

See GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 326

ORIGIN.

See CUSTOM I. L. R. 45 Calc. 835

ORIGINAL COURT

competency of, to entertain application—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XLV, R 15 AND 16

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 532

ORIGINAL SIDE, HIGH COURT.

See CONTENTY OF COURT

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 173

Decision of Judge of, if binding on another Judge on Original Side A Judge on the Original Side of the High Court should follow the decision of another Judge sitting on the same side, but such decision is not binding on the Judges hearing appeals from the Original Side CHAITRAM RAMBULAS v. BHIDRI CHAND KESRI CHAND (1915) I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1140

19 C. W. N. 520

ORISSA.*

See SALE I. L. R. 48 Calc. 811

ORISSA ZAMINDARI

restates in—

See CHAUKHATI CHAKRAN LAXI*

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 710*

ORISSA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1913).

ss. 3 (4) and (6) and 31—

Madri Sarbarkari tenure, transfer of—Landlord's consent, what amounts to—Notification conferring powers of a Deputy Collector, effect of—Cause of action, whether can arise from pleadings If a landlord refuses to register the transfer of a non transferable tenure registration cannot be enforced against him under s. 16 (3) of the Orissa Tenancy Act, 1913. A landlord is not entitled to claim the mutation fee under s. 16, until he has registered the transfer. The institution of a suit for recovery of the mutation fee under s. 16 does not amount to a consent to the transfer. Held, therefore, that where the landlord had not consented to the transfer before the institution of a suit to recover the mutation fee there was at the time the suit was instituted no cause of action. Held, that a mere request by the landlord's servants (who were not shown to have authority to sanction a transfer) to the transferee for payment of the mutation fee did not constitute a consent to the transfer on the part of the landlord and the latter was not, therefore, entitled to maintain a suit for recovery of the mutation fee. Where a person has been empowered by notification to discharge any of the functions of a Deputy Collector under the Act, such person is a Deputy Collector within the meaning of s. 3 (4) and (6) and is therefore a Collector within the meaning of that section and has jurisdiction to try a suit for recovery of a mutation fee. A cause of action must be antecedent to the institution of a suit and cannot arise from the pleadings themselves. MAHANT GOBIND RAMANUJ DAS v RANI DEBENDRABALA DAS

4 Pat. L. J. 337

s. 31—

See S. 3 . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 337

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING

4 Pat. L. J. 294

See OCCUPANCY RIGHTS

2 Pat. L. J. 476

Transfer of occupancy holding, whether fee for registration is payable when landlord's consent is not necessary Whenever an occupancy holding in Orissa is transferred, whether the transfer be with or without the consent of the landlord the transferee must apply for registration of the transfer and is bound to pay a fee for such registration. BALMUKUND KARANDEO v MAITEWJOY PAHARAJ

5 Pat. L. J. 357

ss. 31 and 250—Transfer of occupancy holding non payment of registration fee on—Suit for registration fee—Second Appeal The transferee of an occupancy holding is bound to deposit the registration fee prescribed by s. 31 of the Orissa Tenancy Act 1913, and if he fails to do so the landlord may sue for it. In such a suit a second appeal lies to the High Court from the order of the lower appellate Court. MAHANT GOBIND RAMANUJ DAS v JAGANNATH JEU

3 Pat. L. J. 351

ss. 57, 235, 220 and 221—Incumbrance whether the interest of an under riyat is—Ejection of under riyat by auction purchaser, procedure for An under riyat in occupation of land is an incumbrance within the meaning of s. 215 of the Orissa Tenancy Act, 1913, and, therefore, ss. 220 and 221 regulate the manner in which the incumbrance can ORISSA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1913)—contd.

ss. 57, 235, 220 and 221—contd

be annulled by an auction purchaser. Where the procedure for the annulment of incumbrances provided by s. 221 is not followed and a year is allowed to elapse by the purchaser without taking steps to annul the incumbrance he is not entitled to eject the under riyat under s. 57. But if the purchaser takes the prescribed steps to annul the incumbrance and the under riyat refuses to give up possession the latter can be ejected under s. 57. SIDA DAS v GAJENDRA NATH DAS

3 Pat. L. J. 112

ss. 154 and 332—Nij chas land, acquisition of occupancy rights in—Bengal Tenancy Act VIII of 1885, ss. 20 and 21—Bengal Rent Act X of 1859, s. 7 S. 154 of the Orissa Tenancy Act, 1913, does not entitle a landlord to a declaration that lands are nij chas or proprietor's private lands unless the land was recorded as nij chas not only in the Provincial Settlement but also in the settlement between the years 1906 and 1912. That section makes a distinction between the expressions nij chas and nij jote. Where lessees were introduced on to certain land and executed labzhyats in May and June, 1906, stipulating that in the expiry of the term of their lease, they would leave the lands to the thas possession of the lessors: Held, that this stipulation amounted to a contract by the lessees that they should not acquire occupancy rights in the land, and was binding on them, as at that time there was no provision in force in Orissa which prevented a tenant from contracting himself out of the provisions of ss. 20 and 21 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, which were then in force there. The provisions of s. 232 (2) of the Orissa Tenancy Act, 1913, make it clear that the Legislature, when they enacted that Act, meant to give effect to contracts made between landlords and tenants under which the tenants could be prevented from acquiring occupancy rights in land, provided the contracts had been made more than six years before the commencement of the Act. SHEIKH AKBAR ALI v GOTAL PRASAD CHOLE

3 Pat. L. J. 475

ss. 193 and 210—"Court having jurisdiction to determine a suit"—whether Civil Court is—Application to determine rent payable by tenant, whether Civil Court has jurisdiction to entertain An ordinary suit for possession of land is not a suit under any part of the Orissa Tenancy Act, 1913. The words "the Court having jurisdiction to determine a suit for the possession of land" in s. 210, include the Civil Court, and therefore, such a Court has jurisdiction to determine, under sub-s. 1 (d) of that section, the rent payable by the tenant. KANAKALI SATKATHI v CHOUDEHRI ARJUN MAHAPATRA

4 Pat. L. J. 72

s. 204 (2) and (3)—Decision deciding no rent is payable, whether appealable to Collector or District Judge—Tenants whether person released from payment of rent ceases to be Where in a suit for arrears of rent the Deputy Collector decided that no rent was payable by the defendant for a sarbarkari tenure held by the latter, held, that under s. 204 (3) of the Orissa Tenancy Act, 1908, the plaintiff should have appealed not to the Collector of the district but to the District Judge. PER CHAPMAN J A person does not cease to be a tenant merely because by an arrangement with his ORISSA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1913)—*concl'd.*s. 204 (2) and (3)—*concl'd*landlord he is released from the payment of rent.

GOPI BISWAL v. RAM CHANDRA SAHU

2 Pat. L. J. 46

ORPHAN ADOPTION.See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION

1 L. R. 37 Mad. 529

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I,
ART. 18. 1 L. R. 37 Bom. 513OSTENSIBLE MEANS OF SUBSISTENCE.See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR*

1 L. R. 39 Calc. 458

—Conducting the play of “ring” game—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1893), s. 109 The conducting of the “ring” game is an ostensible means of subsistence within the meaning of s. 109 of the Criminal Procedure Code. HARI SING v. KING EMPEROR, 6 C L J 708, referred to BANGALI SHAH v. EMPEROR (1913)

1 L. R. 40 Calc. 702

OSTENSIBLE OWNER*See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 41* 1 L. R. 34 All. 22

1 L. R. 43 All. 263

OTTI-DEED.See MALABAR TARWAD

1 L. R. 39 Mad. 918

ODDH ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869).

—Will of Taluqdar—A Taluqdar in 1862 in compliance with the directions issued by the Government made a declaration that “I wish to file this application that after my death Umrao Singh the eldest son (sic) my estate should continue to my family undivided in accordance with the custom of the ‘Rajgaddi’ and that the youngest brothers shall be entitled to maintenance from the Oaddi Nashan. Held, that this was a valid testamentary disposition in favour of the eldest son UMRAO SINGH v. LACHMAN SINGH

1 L. R. 33 All. 344

—ss. 2, 3, 8, 10, 22—Summary and regular settlements of Odh—Villages settled on grantee whose name was entered as owner in Lists I and 2 of those prepared under s. 8—“Taluqdar” —“Estate” under s. 2—Impartible property—Kabusat executed by grantee after the time limit specified in s. 3—Suit for partition—After acquired properties held to be partible, there being no intention shown to incorporate them with the impartible property At the summary settlement of Odh, an order was made on the 5th of October, 1859, for the settlement of certain villages with the ancestor of the parties to these appeals who, however, did not execute his kabusat until the 13th of October, 1859, and so not within the time limit specified in s. 3 of the Odh Estates Act (I of 1869) namely, “between the 1st of April, 1858, and the 10th of October 1859.” At the regular settlement, shortly afterwards, the grantee recovered decrees for possession of other villages and subsequently acquired other properties by purchase. In respect of all the settled villages his name was entered in Lists I and 2 prepared under the statutory provisions of s. 8 of the Act. In a suit for partition to which the defence was that all the property was impartible. Held, (affirming the decisions of the Courts in India), that the grantee

ODDH ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869)—cont'd—ss. 2, 3, 8, 10, 22—concl'd

(the defendant) was on the construction of the provisions of Act I of 1869 relating thereto, a “taluqdar,” and the villages so settled with him formed, within the meaning of the Act, an “estate” which was impartible and descendible to a single heir. On a question whether the delay in executing the kabusat deprived the taluqa of the character of an “estate” defined in s. 2 of the Act, the Judges of the Judicial Commissioner’s Court differed in opinion. Held, in the absence of an express declaration that non execution within the time specified would be fatal to the right given to the grantee by s. 3, that no such construction could be put on that section, but the execution of the kabusat related back to the date of the settlement, namely, the 5th of October 1859. As to the after acquired properties the defendant contended that by the custom of the family they became part of the original estate and were therefore not subject to the ordinary Hindu law of inheritance. Held, (affirming the decisions of both the Courts below), that the evidence was insufficient to establish that custom, that no intention of the taluqdar was shown to incorporate the subsequently acquired properties with the taluqa, as was necessary on the authority of the case of Parbati Kumari Devi v. Jagadai Chandra Dhabal, 1 L. R. 29 Calc. 433, 453, 1 L. R. 29 I. A. 82, 98, and that the plaintiff was therefore entitled to a decree for his share (one half) of such properties as being partible. JAYKEE PRASAD SINGH v. DWARKEE PRASAD SINGH (1916)

1 L. R. 35 All. 391

—ss. 2, 13 and 16—Transfer by taluqdar of part of taluq—Transferee a title based on will of deceased taluqdar—Transfer in accordance with will—Absence of registration under Act These appeals, related to lands owned by the taluqdar of Dhan garh, whose name was one of those entered in the 4th list prepared under s. 8 of the Odh Estates Act (I of 1869). He died in 1890, leaving a great grandson the appellant, and three grandsons (uncles of the appellant) the respondents, and having made a will, dated the 30th of August 1892, and registered under s. 13 of the Act, by which he devised the taluq to the appellant a minor, and appointed the mother of the boy to be his guardian and the first respondent to be manager of the estate during his minority. The will also provided that in case the respondents separated from the appellant, they should receive a maintenance allowance in the form of grants of taluqdar villages to be selected by the appellant. On the death of the testator the first respondent entered on the management of the estate, in accordance with the directions of the will, until 1908, when the appellant attained his majority and assumed possession and control of it, the respondents continuing to reside with him. But in 1910 they separated from the appellant and he made grants to them of villages of which mutation of names took place in 1911, the villages declared to be held by the several respondents “for generation after generation without right of transfer.” S. 16 of Act I of 1869 enacts that no “transfer otherwise than by gift of any estate or any portion thereof, or of any interest therein made by a taluqdar . . . under the provisions of this Act shall be valid unless made by a registered instrument signed by the transferor, and attested by two or more witnesses.” By s. 2 of the Act “transfer” is defined as meaning “an alienation.

ODDH ESTATES ACT (1 OF 1889)—contd

ss. 2, 13 and 15—contd

Inter vivos—In suits brought by the appellant to recover possession of the villages granted to the respondents on the ground (among others) that the grants were invalid as not having been made by a registered and attested deed as required by s. 15 of the Act, that the respondents' right to maintenance out of the estate was conferred by the will, which imposed on the taluqdar the duty of selecting the villages from which the maintenance should be derived. In making the selection the taluqdar imposed no additional burden on the estate but limited and defined in accordance with the will, the burden thereby imposed. The selection once made and accepted could not be disturbed either by the taluqdar or the guzara holders and no registered and attested deed was required. The provisions of the will followed by the appropriation of villages and delivery of possession vesting in the guzara holders a good and sufficient title. S. 15 of Act was therefore not applicable. LAL JAGDISH BANARJEE SINGH v. MAHARAJ PRASAD SINGH

L. L. R. 42 All. 422

s. 6—

See MORTGAGE L. L. R. 34 All. 620

See TALUQDAR L. L. R. 33 All. 125

United Provinces

Municipalities Act (1 of 1900) as 87 (5) 147 152—Municipal Board—Order for demolition of building—Order ultra vires—Revision—Jurisdiction Held,

(1) that s. 152 of the Municipalities Act 1900 does not apply where the prohibition, notice or order issued by the Board is ultra vires and (2) that s. 87 (5) of the Act applies only to buildings of the kind referred to in the preceding sub-sections that is new buildings in respect of which notice should have been given under sub-s. (1) Alopi Das v. The Municipal Board of Allahabad All Weekly Notes (1907) 2 and Hymn v. The Calcutta Corporation, 10 C 19 N 1921 referred to EXPRESS v. RAM DIAL (1910) L. L. R. 33 All. 147

ss. 7, 8, 10, 22—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

L. L. R. 40 All. 470

ss. 8, 10, 22—

See S. 21 L. L. R. 35 All. 391

Sanad granted by Government and death of grantee before Act passed into law—Status and rights of grantee—Name of grantee entered in lists 1 and 2 after his death—Descent by primogeniture—Custom of descent of non-taluqdars' property acquired by taluqdar, a Mahomedan—Burden of proof—Presumption of pre-existing custom—Wajih-ul-azras value of—On the 17th of October, 1811, J., a Mahomedan and the ancestor of the parties to this appeal, received from the British Government a sanad conferring on him the full proprietary right, title and possession of the taluqa of Dooqoon, with a condition that in the event "of you or any of your successors dying intestate, the estate shall descend to the nearest male heir, i.e., sons, nephews, etc., according to the rule of primogeniture. He died in 1865, but his name was entered in lists 1 and 2 of those prepared under s. 3 of the Oudd Estates Act (1 of 1889). Held that J. had acquired, as declared by s. 3 of the Act, a "permanent, heritable and transferable right" in his estate, and was unquestion-

ODDH ESTATES ACT (1 OF 1839)—contd

ss. 8, 10, 22—contd

ably a "taluqdar" within the meaning of the Act. His death before the Act was passed into the law made no difference in his status or in his rights. The provision in s. 8 that the lists should be prepared "within six months after the passing of the Act" was clearly meant as a limit for their completion, and not for the initiation. Descent by primogeniture was not confined to cases coming under list 3. The provision in s. 10 that "the Courts shall take judicial notice of the said list and shall regard them as conclusive evidence that the persons named therein are taluqdars" does not mean that they shall be conclusive merely as to the fact that the persons entered therein are taluqdars as entered in s. 2 but also that the Courts shall regard the insertion of the names in those lists as conclusive evidence of the fact on which is based the status assigned to the persons named in the different lists. Achal Pam v. Udas Pratab Adhya Das Singh, 1 L. R. 10 Cal. 511 L. R. 11 I. A. 1, and Phakur Isher Singh v. Phakur Baldeo Singh, 1 L. R. 10 Cal. 792, 1 L. R. 11 I. A. 135, discussed and explained. A name could therefore only have been included in list 2 by virtue of a pre-existing custom governing the devolution of the estate to a single heir, and s. 10 made that entry conclusive evidence of that fact. The present suit related to property acquired by the son of J. who succeeded him, which it was contended by the appellant (plaintiff), descended not by the custom of local primogeniture set up by the respondent (defendant) but in accordance with the ordinary Mahomedan law. Held that the provision as to conclusiveness in s. 10 is confined to estates "within the meaning of the Act," and does not apply to non-taluqdars' property, but the existence of the pre-existing custom gives rise to a presumption in the case of a family governed by Mahomedan law, which makes no distinction between ancestral and self-acquired property, that if a custom governs the succession to the taluqa, it attaches also to the personal acquisitions of the last owner left by him on his death, and it is for the person who asserts that these properties follow a line of devolution different from that of the taluqa to establish it. Janki Prasad Singh v. Dwarka Prasad Singh, 1 L. R. 35 All. 391, L. R. 40 I. A. 170, Maharajah Perib Narayan Singh v. Maharajah Subhao Koor 1 L. R. 3 Cal. 626; L. R. 4 I. A. 223, and Parbati Kumari Devi v. Jagatis Chander Dhabal, 1 L. R. 29 Cal. 431, L. R. 29 I. A. 80, distinguished as being cases governed by the Hindu law of the Mitakshara which recognizes different courses of devolution for ancestral and self-acquired properties. Wajih-ul-azras which merely narrated traditions and purported to give the history of devolutions in certain families, not even of the narrator, were held to be not sufficient to rebut the presumption of pre-existing custom. MURATA HOSAIN KHAN v. MUHAMMAD YASIN KHAN (1918)

FL. L. R. 38 All. 552

ss. 8, 22, sub-s. (11)—Succession to estate of taluqdar dying intestate whose name is entered in lists 1 and 2—Impartible estate—Primogeniture—Meaning of "sanad granted by British Government in 1850"—Effect of passing of Act No. 1 of 1869—Lineal primogeniture and not nearest of degree. A sanad granted to a taluqdar in 1850 contained the condition that "in the event of your

ODDH ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869)—contd

—ss. 8, 22, sub-s (II)—concld dying intestate the estate shall descend to the nearest male heir according to the rule of primogeniture." After the passing of the Oudd Estates Act (I of 1869), his name was entered as a "taluqdar" in list 1, and in list 5, which was a list "of the grantees to whom sanads or grants may have been or may be given or made by the British Government up to the date fixed for the closing of the list, declaring that the succession to the estates comprised in such sanads or grants shall thereafter be regulated by the rule of primogeniture." Held, that the meaning of the word "primogeniture" in the sanad was the ordinary meaning of the same word in the law of England. On the death of the taluqdar's widow the succession to his estate was contested by his cousin the respondent, who would be the heir if the succession was governed by the rule of lineal primogeniture and his uncle, who would succeed if it was regulated by nearness of degree. Held, that the question whether the estates of taluqdars for the purposes of intestate succession must be treated as impartible, is settled by authority in the affirmative, Raja Bijay Bahadur Singh v Jagajpal Singh 1 L R 18 Cal 111, L E 17 I A 173 and Jaykish Bahadur v Sheo Parab Singh, 1 L R 23 All 369; L E 23 I A 100. The succession therefore to a taluq must be to an impartible estate, whether the estate "ordinarily devolved upon a single heir" as in list 2 of s 3, or whether the succession was to be regulated by the rule of primogeniture as in lists 3 and 5 of s 8. S 22, in so far as it describes in the first ten of its sub sections the specific order of heirs preferred to the succession, must have force given to it to the effect of standing as a statutory substitute for any law of succession set forth in the sanad. Where sub s 11 of s 22, coming as it does at the close of the long list of specific stages of prescribed succession sets up the rule that in default of any one taking under the previous sub sections there should be preferred "such persons as would have been entitled to succeed to the estate under the ordinary law to which persons of the religion and tribe of such taluqdar etc., are subject" it must be construed as being a general relegation of parties to the situation in which they would have been found apart from the Act. In the present case that situation was found in the sanad itself, and was also contained either by way of affirmation or at least by way of narrative in list 5 of s 8 of the Act. While the specific rules of succession in Act I of 1869 must be held to displace this, the general reference to what is not covered by those specific rules must include a reference to the rights of parties ascertained in the sanad which was the original title to the property. On these principles and this construction. Held, (affirming the decision of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner) that the succession should be regulated by the rule of lineal primogeniture and not by nearness of degree and that the respondent was entitled to succeed. DEBI BAKSH SINGH v CHANDRABHAY SINGH (1910) . . . 1 L R 32 All 599

—ss 8, 22, cls 11, 14, 15—Succession to taluqdar in list 3 under s 8 when specified heir fails —Bill—Limitation Cl. 11 to s 22 of the Act which provides that in default of any descendants specified in the previous ten clauses as heirs upon intestate to taluqdars or grantees whose names have been inserted in the second or third lists pro-

ODDH ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869)—contd

—ss 8, 22, cls. 11, 14, 15—concld

vided for in cl 8 of the Act the estate is to descend to such persons as would have been entitled to succeed under the ordinary law provides special limitations. When the succession is regulated by cl. 11 the simple heir in cases coming under list 2 is the one nearest in succession and may be male or female but under list 3 primogeniture applies. THAKUR SITLA BAKSH SINGH v THAKUR SITLA SINGH . . . 25 C W N 721

—s 13—

See S 2 . . . I L R. 42 All 422

—ss. 13, 16 and 17—Transfer of immovable property in Oudd—Oral gift inter vivos—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 123—Deed, construction of—Whether testamentary or deed of gift inter vivos—Legatee per decreasing testator Under the Oudd Estates Act (I of 1869) immovable property is not transferable by gift inter vivos otherwise than by registered deed. Although an adopted son is exempt from the operation of s 13, as being one of the special class therein designated a gift to him to be abrid must comply with the provisions of ss 16 and 17 of the Act, the two acts of sections not being contradictory of each other. By a deed dated the 6th May, 1887, executed by a taluqdar in favour of his adopted son the predecessor in title of the appellant the executant (after stating that he had by a deed of will on 26th May 1883, appointed his adopted son as his successor to the whole of the property and that it had become necessary to alter some of the provisions of that deed) declared that it was written "by way of deed of adoption and codicil to a will, and that he had made over the whole of the property in suit to his adopted son and had absolutely and unconditionally relinquished all right and proprietorship as well as ceased interference with the property. In a subsequent clause he described the person in whose favour the deed was made as 'my adopted son and donee and legatee under the deed, dated the 26th May, 1883 as well as under this deed in respect of all my moveable and immovable property which has already been acquired, or which may be acquired hereafter during my lifetime or which may come to me by inheritance, or to which I may become entitled." Held, (affirming the decision of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner), that on a consideration of the provisions of the deed and of the circumstances which led up to its execution, it was testamentary in character and could not be construed as a gift inter vivos to the appellant's predecessor in title, who predeceased his adoptive father. In styling him "donee" the donor intended simply to what was given him by the deed and codicil. UPATI RAJ SINGH v BHAGWAT BAKSH (1910) . . . I L R. 32 All 422

—ss. 14, 15 and 23—Oudd taluqdar's estates—Succession Primogeniture sanad—Treating the line of succession The predecessor of a Hindu Oudd taluqdar was included in list 3 made under the Oudd Estates Act (I of 1869), s 8 as a taluqdar to whom the British Government had granted a primogeniture sanad. The taluqdar died in 1899, having by his will bequeathed the taluq to his mother. Held the taluqdar died intestate the taluq would have descended under s 22, cl. (11), of the Act to "such persons as would have been entitled to succeed to the estate under the ordinary law to which persons of the religion and tribe"

ODDH ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869)—concl'd

—ss. 14, 15 and 22—concl'd of the taluqdar were subject. Upon the death of the widow in 1906 a dispute arose whether the succession was according to primogeniture or according to the ordinary rule of Hindu law. Held, that as the taluqdar's mother would not have been the successor under s. 22, cl. (11) if the taluqdar had died intestate the succession upon her death was by virtue of s. 15 governed by the ordinary rule of Hindu law. Seem that s. 22, cl. (11) does not in the cases in which it applies simply remit the succession to the ordinary law of the religion and tribe unqualified by the limitations in the Act. Review of the authorities as to the succession to taluqdari estates in lists 2 and 3. Judgment of court of the Judicial Commissioner affirmed. SITLA BAKSH SINGH v. SITLA SINGH

I. L. R. 43 All. 245

—ss. 16 and 17—

See S. 13 I. L. R. 32 All. 227

—s. 22—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I. L. R. 40 All. 470

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT

I. L. R. 38 All. 627

See PRA EMPLOY

I. L. R. 32 All. 301

ODDH LAND REVENUE ACT (XVII OF 1876)

—s. 74—Suit to dispute title and recover possession of shares to which plaintiff was entitled by Hindu Law—Estoppel—Suit is a Civil Court on title after partition. The plaintiff and defendants were claimants to the estate consisting of 30 villages of a deceased Hindu and though by the ordinary Hindu law the plaintiff as brother of the deceased, was entitled to the whole property as against the defendants, who were nephews (son, of a deceased brother) the three claimants in the mutation proceeding signed in 1896 a document which stated that the property was held one moiety by the plaintiff and the other moiety by the defendants, and that "there is no other legal heir, except the deponents the mutation in respect of the deceased's share in all the villages should be allowed and nobody has any objection thereto" and the revenue authorities effected mutation of names in that way. In 1902 partition which left the parties in the same date as to possession was effected in accordance with the provisions of the Odh Land Revenue Act (XVII of 1876) in a suit brought in 1904 to recover possession as heir of the deceased of the half share held by the defendants, the latter pleaded (inter alia) that their possession was the result of a compromise come to between the parties in the mutation proceedings which was evidenced by the document of 1896 and that the plaintiff was estopped by such mutual agreement from asserting his present claim. Held, by the Judicial Committee (affirming the concurrent decision of both the Courts in India on the evidence) that there was no proof of any compromise as the mutation of names by itself created no proprietary title. The document of 1896 contained no words that could be constructed as amounting to an abandonment by the plaintiff of his legal rights. It was merely a statement of the facts as they existed as to the possession of the property, and by its silence as to a compromise

ODDH LAND REVENUE ACT (XVII OF 1876)

—concl'd

—s. 74—concl'd

tended to support the conclusion that no compromise was ever made. In the partition proceedings the plaintiff made no objection to the defendants' title under s. 74 of Act XVII of 1876, but he filed an application in which he asked that "the share of Munnu Singh (the deceased) should be decided at present according to possession and a separate suit will be filed in a competent court as regards the title in respect of the property of Munnu Singh. Both the courts in India concurred in decreeing to the plaintiff the shares of the deceased in 29 of the villages but as to one village they differed, the Judicial Commissioner, holding that the plaintiff was not entitled to recover the share in it because the partition in regard to that village had dealt with the shares of other persons beside the parties to the present suit and also because the plaintiff should have raised the question of the defendants' title in the partition proceedings and was now estopped from recovering the share which had been allotted to the defendants at the partition. Held by the Judicial Committee that the order of the Revenue Officer in the partition proceedings should that the shares of no other parties than the parties to this suit were affected by the partition of the shares in the one village as to which the courts differed. The Revenue Court has clearly given effect to the plaintiff's application as to the question of title, for no inquiry under s. 74 of Act XVII of 1876 was made and the question of title was left to be decided by the Civil Court. The grounds of estoppel therefore failed and the plaintiff was entitled to the shares in all the villages sued for.

I. L. R. 31 All. 73

—ss. 173, 174—*Contract entered into by disqualified proprietor creating charge on his property whilst under superintendence of Court of Wards—Liability of property in execution of decree obtained in respect of such contract after property has been released—N. W. P. Land Revenue Act (XIX of 1873) s. 205B, as amended by United Provinces Court of Wards Act (LII of 1899) s. 174 of the Odh Land Revenue Act (XVII of 1876) enacts, with respect of persons whose property is under the superintendence of the Court of Wards, that, "no such property shall be liable to be taken in execution of a decree made in respect of any contract entered into by any such person while his property is under such superintendence. Held that the phrase, "while his property is under such superintendence" was annexed to and elucidative of the verbal expression "contract entered into by such person". Where, therefore a contract has been made during such period of time, the effect of the section is to protect the property against attachment in execution of the decree, even after the property has been released from superintendence of the Court of Wards. The dictum to the contrary in Pamashur Baksh Singh v. Dhanpal Das 11 Odh Cases 6, overruled. DEVI BAKSH SINGH v. SHADI LAL (1910) I. L. R. 38 All. 271*

ODDH LAWS ACT (XVIII OF 1876)

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT

I. L. R. 38 All. 627

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE

I. L. R. 22 All. 477

OUDH LAWS ACT (XVII OF 1876)—contd

—s. 2, cl. (1), (2)—

See PRE EMPTION I. L. R. 32 ALL 351

OUDH RENT ACT (XIX OF 1868).

Under propri etor, status of, distinguished from that of tenant—Under proprietor declared by decree to be without right of transfer—Effect—Status of under-proprietor not affected Under a compromise agreed to in 1867 between an Oudh talukdar and a relation of his who had been claiming a half share in the taluk, the former agreed to grant to the latter the under proprietary right in village D The Settlement Officer before whom the matter came up for orders on 8th June 1869 ex abundanti cautela sent for the grantor to ascertain whether he intended to confer on the grantee the right to transfer The grantor did not appear but the grantee to avoid further harassment agreed to the passing of a decree declaring his status to be that of an under proprietor without right of transfer Held, that the Settlement Officer's order involved a contradiction in terms That the law attaches certain rights to the status of an under proprietor, which by the decree the grantee was declared to be, in accordance with the terms of the compromise, and so long as he retained that status he remained clothed with those rights and he could not be divested of them unless and until he lost that status and the words "without right of transfer" in the decree did not affect his rights as under proprietor The position of a gajiz darman or "under proprietor," was fully understood in Oudh before the passing of Act XIX of 1868 which definitely crystallized and gave statutory recognition to his rights and status That Act draws a sharp distinction between an "under proprietor" and a tenant. SARFAT SINGH v. BASANT SINGH (1918)

22 C. W. N. 935

OUDH RENT ACT (XXII OF 1886).

Civil and Revenue Courts, respective jurisdictions of, in zamindar's suit against holders of land—Suit for ejectment in Revenue Court—Defence that defendant proprietor or under-proprietor—Zamindar's suit for declaration in Civil Court—Right to sue In Oudh in cases in which Act III of 1901 applies, the Court of Revenue has the exclusive jurisdiction to determine what is the status of a tenant of lands and what are the special or other terms upon which such tenant holds, and the Civil Courts have the exclusive jurisdiction to decide whether or not a person in possession of lands holds a proprietary or under proprietary right in the lands The question whether the person in possession holds a proprietary or under proprietary right when raised and persisted in that Court and the only remedy of the zamindar is a suit in the Civil Court for a declaration that the defendant has no such right, and when in such a suit the latter fails to prove such a right, the Court cannot refuse to make such a declaration ABUL HUSAIN v. PRAD (1916) 21 C. W. N. 882

As amended by U. P. Act IV of 1901—"Tenant" and "thikadar," definition of, in s. 3 (10), if governs CH VII [A] subsequently added—Object of CH. VII [A]—Enhancement of rent in respect of a lease given by way of maintenance—"favourable rate of rent"

OUDH RENT ACT (XXII OF 1886)—contd

—Reg. XIX of 1793—Act XVII of 1876—Act XXII of 1886, ss 107A to 107H. The specific enactments of Chap VII [A] of Act XXII of 1886, which was added to that Act by the amending Act, U. P. Act IV of 1901, are not limited in their application by the definition of "tenant" and "thikadar" in s. 3 (10) of the Act which was part of Act XXII of 1886 as it was passed in 1886. The object of enacting Chapter VII [A] was the protection of the Government revenue assessed upon agricultural lands and as far as possible to maintain proprietors of lands in a position to enable them to pay the Government revenue and the local rates assessed upon their lands and thus to avoid losing their lands by making default in payment of revenue due to the State The question being whether the rent at which mauza Bandhwa halon was held by the defendant or the plaintiff at the date of the suit was or was not liable to be enhanced Held, upon a construction of the lease creating the tenancy and on a review of the relevant provisions of Reg. XIX of 1793, Act XXII of 1876 and Act XXII of 1886 that the mauza not being liable to resumption under s. 107E of Act XXII of 1886 and the provisions of s. 107H thereof not applying to the case, s. 107G applied, and not the mauza having been found to be held by the defendant at "a favourable rate of rent" within the meaning of Chapter VII [A] of the Act, the decree of the Board of Revenue for enhancement of the rent of the mauza was correct LAKSHMI KUDWAL v. THE DEPUTY COMMISSIONER OF DHANU (1915)

23 C. W. N. 125

—s. 3 (10), Ch. VII-A.—Enhancement of rent—Lease by talukdar for collection of rents of a mauza to a thikadar—Amendment of Act by Union Provinces Act (I) of 1901 (Oudh Rent, Act 1886, Amendment Act) since the addition to the Oudh Rent Act (XXII of 1886) by the amending Act (Oudh Rent Amendment Act, 1901) of Chap VIIA which deals (inter alia) with the enhancement of the rent of land held at a favourable rent, and contains ss 107A to 107H, the specific enactments of Chap VIIA are not limited in their application by s. 3, sub-s. (10), which must be regarded as a mere glossary defining the terms "tenant" and "thikadar" as those terms are employed in Act XXII of 1886 as it stood when it was passed. Held, therefore, where the defendant (applicant) was a thikadar or person to whom the collection of the rents of a mauza belonging to a talukdar had been leased in 1881 by the then talukdar at a "favourable rate of rent, the rent was liable to enhancement under Chap VIIA of Act XXII of 1886 in accordance with the provisions, and on the conditions of that Chapter suitable to the circumstances of the case LAKSHMI KUDWAL v. DEPUTY COMMISSIONER OF DHANU (1915).

I. L. R. 40 ALL 541

OUDH TALUKDARS.

See TALUKDAR

I. L. R. 22 ALL 92

OUSTER.

See JOINT OWNERS

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 182

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 45 L. K. 285

Joint owner—Conditions necessary for cause of action Each joint owner has the right to the possession of all the property held in common equal to the right of each of his copartners in interest and superior to that of all other persons. He has the same right to the use and enjoyment of the common property that he has to his sole property except in so far as it is limited by the equal right of his co-sharers. Each co-owner may at all times reasonably enjoy every part of the common property. It necessarily follows that one co-owner has no right to the exclusive possession and use of any particular portion of joint property and if he exercises such rights and excludes his co-sharers from participation in the possession, he must account to his co-sharer for his interest in the part from which he is ousted even though he takes no more than his just share. But the co-sharer out of possession cannot complain if the mere possession of the co-owner so long as he refrains from setting up any claim to share in that possession. Hence in order to give rise to a cause of action against the co-sharer it must be proved that his act has amounted to ouster or exclusion. Where there is an actual turning out or keeping excluded the party entitled to the possession there is an ouster. Any restriction preventing a co-sharer from obtaining effective possession is an actual ouster. Such a restriction must be clearly and affirmatively shown and is not presumed from equivocal facts which may or may not have been designed to operate as an exclusion. A tenant in common cannot be held liable to his co-tenant for damages for use and occupation of the joint property unless there has been an ouster. Where one tenant in common occupies part of the joint property without assertion of hostile or exclusive title and without claim by his co-tenant to be admitted into possession he is under no obligation even to account for he has a right to such occupancy. DEVEDRA NARAYAN SINGHA v NARENDRA NARAYAN SINGHA (1910)

COUSTER—contd

23 C. W. N. 800

OUTCASTE.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 334

OVERCROWDING OF HOUSE.

See BOMBAY MUNICIPAL ACT NO. 378

379A I. L. R. 36 Bom. 81

OVER HEAD TANK.

See MACHINERY I. L. R. 46 Calc. 910

OWNER

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT NO. 378

379A I. L. R. 36 Bom. 81

See MADRAS LAND REVENUE ASSASSMENT ACT (I OF 1876) s. 2

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1128

——— liability of—

See BURDEN LAND

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 164

See MOTOR VEHICLES

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 430

See RIGGING I. L. R. 39 Calc. 834

——— rights of—

See PUBLIC DRAIN

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 680

OWNERSHIP

——— dispute as to—

See WATERSHED

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 793

——— entry of, in record-of rights—

See MAMONDHAR LAW—TAKHOWNY

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 227

——— public assertion of—

See LIMITATION.

I. L. R. 45 I. A. 197

PPACHETE RAJ

*Khorsesh grant resumption of—Custom—Grant of patta by Raja after Khorsesh grant in grantee's lifetime—Death of Raja if entitles patta dar to resume in grantee's lifetime—On death of grantee to resume in grantee's lifetime—Law as to—Transfer of Property Act (24 of 1882) s. 43. On the civil side that the Plaintiff had failed to establish that by custom a Khorsesh grant on her title Pachete Raj lapses in the grantee's lifetime upon the death of the grantor and the land reverts forthwith to the Raj but that there was good grounds for the view that a maintenance grant in the Pachete Raj is for the life of the grantee, but is liable to be resumed by the successor of the grantor should the latter die during the lifetime of the grantee. The cases in Pancham Kumari v Gurnara v U. O. M. S. L. P. 156 Gurnara v U. O. M. S. L. P. 156 G. M. S. L. P. 51 and Anand Lal Singh v Choudhary Narayan S. M. S. L. P. 182 do not establish the custom as alleged by the plaintiff. Where the grantor of a Khorsesh grant purported to resume the grant in the lifetime of the grantee and then granted a patta in respect of the subject matter to another person and on the grantor's death the patta dar sued to resume the subject matter of the grant from the grantee. Held that it was not a case where s. 43 of the Transfer of Property Act could apply since the heir of the grantor was still free to exercise his option to resume or not. If a transferor without title has once become entitled to a valid estate in the land, the transferee's equity would attach upon it in the hands of all persons claiming under the transferor other than for a legal interest by purchase for value without notice—the latter included. A suit by the patta dar brought in the lifetime of both grantor and grantee for recovery of the property was dismissed the Court expressing the opinion that the Khorsesh grant was not resumable in the grantee's lifetime. Held that the defendant did not bar the patta dar's suit to recover possession brought after the donor's death. CHETIA BANINA SINGHA v PURVA CHANDRA CHODHURI (1914) 19 C. W. N. 1272*

PADDY

See APPRAISEMENT

I. L. R. 48 Cal. 1036

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 125

——— suit to recover value of

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 48 Calc. 625

PAIK.

—suit to eject—

See RYMUND I. L. R. 43 Cal 1104

PAKKI ADAT TRANSACTIONS.

—dis'inguished from kachchi adat—

See *CONTRACT I L. R. 42 Bom. 224*See WAGERING CONTRACTS

I. L. R. 42 Bom 373

Incidents of—Wager

ing, defence of From about the end of June 1903 the defendant, a young man, without much experience of business, entered into pakki adat transactions for the sale of linseed with the plaintiffs who were a firm of Marwari shroffs and merchants, in a large way of business dealing as merchants and commission agents, largely in cotton and to a small extent in linseed. There was one transaction in cotton between the parties and the defendant entered into transactions in linseed to the extent of 4,000 tons in all with the plaintiffs, which transactions the plaintiffs passed on to various purchasers, 39 in all, between which purchasers and the defendant there was no privity whatever. In the contract made by the plaintiffs with each of the said purchasers there was a term that delivery should not be given to the firm of Narraoias Rajaram & Co., a Marwari firm, who were in the habit of insisting on delivery and of refusing to settle contracts by the payment or receipt of differences. The plaintiffs subsequently attempted to secure evidence to show that the transactions between themselves and the defendant were genuine transactions and not wagers. They endeavoured to induce the defendant to sign a draft letter prepared by the plaintiffs' attorneys in which instructions were given for the purchase of a small part of the 4,000 tons of linseed for the sale of which the defendant had entered into transactions with the plaintiffs and ultimately induced the defendant to sign a draft letter acknowledging the correctness of the statements made in a letter of the plaintiffs' attorneys to the defendant setting out the plaintiffs' version of the transactions between the parties. The plaintiffs further purchased and delivered 300 tons of linseed in part fulfilment of their contracts with the 39 purchasers, and as to the balance of 3,700 tons the contracts with these purchasers were settled by the payment of differences. It appeared, however, that the purchase of 300 tons had been effected by the plaintiffs with the view to influence the result of litigation. Held, that in view of the fact that the pakki adat was not a disinterested broker but a party to the contract whose intention to gamble or otherwise might well be known at the inception of the contract, and that there was no privity between the defendant and the 39 buyers from the plaintiffs, the existence of such purchases was only relevant as affording an indication of the plaintiffs' intention at the time of their contracts with the defendant, but in view of the condition that delivery should not be given to Narraoias Rajaram & Co. it appeared that it was not intended that delivery should be given to the 39 purchasers by the plaintiffs and accordingly the said 39 contracts were not a sufficient indication of an intention on the part of the plaintiffs to call for delivery from the defendant.

PAKKI ADAT TRANSACTIONS—contd.

Held, further, that on an examination of the business of the contracting parties and of the surrounding circumstances of the case it appeared that the common intention of the parties was that the plaintiffs and the defendant should deal in differences and settle that way and that accordingly the suit must fail. Bhagwandas v. Kany, I L. R. 30 Bom. 205, discussed. BURJORI RUTTONJI v. BHAGWANDAS PARASHRAM (1913). I. L. R. 33 Bom. 204

—Wager, intention to, not negatived—Pakka adatia, position of qua client—Transactions by Munim—Costs The existence of the pakki adat relationship does not of itself negative the existence of an understanding between the adatia and his constituent that no delivery should be given or taken under forward contracts and that only differences should be recovered. Ques the client the pakka adatia a principal and not a disinterested middleman bringing two principals together. The question which has to be decided is what on the evidence was the common intention of the parties with regard to the settlement or completion of the transactions in dispute. A defendant who has successfully pleaded a lawful defence is entitled to his costs. Burjori Ruttonji v. Bhagwandas Parashram, I L. R. 33 Bom. 204 followed. CHHOOGMAL-BALAKISSONDAS v. JAINA-RATAN KANAYALAL (1913)

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 1

—PAKKA broker—

Wagering contracts—Forward contracts of sale and purchase of cotton between a PAKKA Adatia and up-country constituents—Whether such contracts are contracts of employment or as between principal and principal—Evidence showing differences only to be paid and delivery not to be given or taken—Evidence showing PAKKA ADATIA contracting to enter into wagering transactions on behalf of constituents—Difference between a PAKKA ADATIA and an ordinary broker—Proper issues in a suit between a PAKKA ADATIA and constituent—Bombay Act III of 1935, ss 30-35 and 35 Vic. Chap. 9, s 1 The plaintiffs alleged that they were employed in Bombay as 'Pakka brokers' (i.e. Pakka Adatias) by the defendants doing business in the Berars to enter into forward contracts of sale and purchase of cotton. Under instructions of the defendants who were advised by the plaintiffs about the state of the market from time to time the plaintiffs entered into a number of transactions of sale and purchase of cotton on defendants' behalf. The accounts between the plaintiffs and the defendants were adjusted from time to time, and according to the plaintiffs the defendants' losses at the date of the suit amounted to Rs. 20,272 7 3, the greater portion of the same relating to differences which resulted from cross-contracts. The plaintiffs having sued to recover the said amount, the defendants contended, inter alia that the transactions in which they employed the plaintiffs were gambling and wagering transactions and that it was well understood between the parties that no delivery was ever to be given or taken in respect of them and that the plaintiffs were to enter into such transactions only. In support of the said contention the defendants relied upon the surrounding circumstances and in particular upon the correspondence between the parties and the actual course of dealing which showed that the transactions were not intended to be anything more than mere debit and credit entries and were to be settled by payment of differences only. The trial court (HARMAN J.) decreed the plaintiffs to sue and directed an account to be taken holding that the transactions were not wagering contracts and that the plaintiffs merely occupied the position of middlemen or ordinary brokers. The defendants having appealed it was urged on their behalf that the trial court erroneously allowed the plaintiffs in the course of their reply to alter their case which was that of a pakkia broker (which is the same thing as a pakkia adat) into one of an ordinary broker. The appellants accordingly asked that they should be allowed inspection of the plaintiffs' ledger and to call for further evidence by cross-examining the plaintiffs' witnesses to prove that the plaintiffs in their dealings with third parties were acting as principals and not as middlemen. The appellate court (SCOTT C. J. and HEATON J.) came to the conclusion that in the interest of justice and having regard to the facts brought to their notice further evidence should be taken in the case. On fresh evidence being recorded and on further hearing of the appeal—Held (reversing the decision of the trial court) by MACLEOD C. J. and HANFORD J.—(1) that the correspondence between the parties in which the plaintiffs frequently referred to adats dealings and the need of hedging as the market turned against the defendants, and the actual course of dealings between the parties, established beyond doubt that not only the plaintiffs knew that the defendants were gambling and not speculating but that there was a secret understanding that there was to be no actual delivery of cotton and that all transactions were to be adjusted by paying and receiving differences only; (2) that the evidence in the case further established that a similar understanding prevailed between the plaintiffs and third parties (with whom the plaintiffs dealt for the same valda and for amounts of produce corresponding with those for which the defendants entered into contracts) that the transactions between them should be closed either before or at the valda by the payment of differences only; (3) that if the plaintiffs were to be regarded as employed for labour, the evidence showed that the parties had entered into transactions knowingly to further or assist the entering into or carrying out agreements by way of wager within the meaning of Bombay Act III of 1905, inasmuch as the plaintiffs were in effect employed by the defendants to make bets on the rise and fall of the cotton market and the plaintiffs having that knowledge encouraged the defendants to give them orders for bets with the result that the plaintiffs made bets in consequence of those orders with the third parties who also knew that in their own transactions they were betting with the plaintiffs; (4) that the mere circumstance that the greater part of the plaintiffs' claim related to differences resulting from cross contracts did not make the contracts less the wagering transactions, for where the Court found that when the contracts were entered into there was a secret understanding that only differences were to be paid and received, it did not matter much if the parties before the valda agreed to fix their losses or gains then wait till the valda. The proper issue in a suit by a pakkia adat against its constituent are—(1) If the contract between the parties is one of employment for reward was it lawfully made to further or assist the entering into of agreements by way of gaming or wagering? (2) If the contract between the parties was as principal and principal was it by way of wagering or gaming? In order to win on the 1st issue, the defendants must prove that there was an understanding between them and plaintiffs (i) that they were not only speculating but gambling, (ii) that if they ordered the plaintiffs to buy they would never call upon them to give delivery (iii) that if the plaintiffs incurred losses in carrying out the orders, they would indemnify them and (iv) that even if the plaintiffs did not contract with third parties in pursuance of their orders differences would be received and paid exactly as if they had. Incidentally it might be arranged that plaintiffs should only enter into wagering contracts with third parties and that would be sufficient to vitiate the contract of employment, though it might not be possible to prove that those third parties with whom the plaintiffs contracted were also wagering. On the 2nd issue the defendants would have to prove that there was a common intention only to pay differences. Per Macleod, C. J.—The only difference between the relationship of a pakkia adat and his constituent on the one hand, and that of a broker personally liable on the contract he enters into on orders received and his client on the other, is that in the latter case the broker enters into the contract as agent for the client, he being personally liable to the person with whom he contracts, while the adat does not make the contracts with third parties as agent, but as principal, the constituent having no right to be brought into contact with the third parties. Bhagwandas Pararam v. Burjora Bhatnagar Bhatnagar (1917) L. R. 45 J. A. 29, 42 Bom. 373, distinguished. Bhagwandas v. Hanji (1905) 30 Bom. 205, discussed. The Universal Stock Exchange Company v. Sivasankar [1856] 1 C. 168, in re Ouse [1893] 1 Q. B. 734 and Tharler v. Hardy (1878) 4 Q. B. D. 685, referred to. MAHALAL RACHUVATH v. RADHAKRISHN RAMJIWAS (1920).

PAKKI ADAT TRANSACTIONS—contd.

PAKKI ADAT TRANSACTIONS—contd.

L. L. R. 45 Bom. 386

“PALA” OR TURN OF WORSHIP.

See LIMITATION. L. L. R. 46 Calc. 455

*Mortgage—Transcribability of palm—Custom—Eligible Temple—Estoppel of mortgagor, even if trustee—Essential attributes of valid custom—Public policy, contravention of—Usus probans—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXVII—Chattel—Imaginable property, foreclosure of mortgage of—Pledge. Per MOOREHEAD J. (BENCHURCH J. reserving opinion.) A mortgagor, even when acting in a public capacity and not for his own benefit, is estopped to deny his title, and cannot set up as a defence for himself against the mortgagee that the property so mortgaged is trust property which he had no right to mortgage. Doe v. Horne, L. R. 3 Q. B. 760, 61 B. R. 337, followed. This principle is inapplicable where the mortgage is void as contrary to Statute. Barrow v. Case, 14 Ch. D. 432, followed.*

"PALA" OR TURN OF WORSHIP—contd

Trustees for a public purpose are not, by the nature of their office, protected from the operation of estoppel as against the assignees of the original parties to the deed in question. Doe v Horne L. P. 3 Q. D. 769, 61 P. R. 327, Webb v Herns, L. R. 5 Q. B. 612 and Higgs v Asiam Tea Co., L. R. 41 r. 337, referred to. [View in Heated by BANFEE J in Mall ka v Ratanam, 10 W. N. 493 not accepted.] Per MOORE J and BEACH J. A custom to be valid must have four essential attributes: (i) it must be immemorial, (ii) it must be reasonable; (iii) it must have continued without interruption since its immemorial origin, and (iv) it must be certain in respect of its nature generally, as well as in respect of the locality where it is alleged to obtain and the persons whom it is alleged to affect. Tysoe v Smith 9 Ad. & El. 406 followed. A custom cannot be enlarged by parity of reasoning. Arthur v Bokenham 11 Mod. 143. Pratipati v Gopi Krishna J. L. R. 37 Cal. 322, referred to. A custom originating within time of memory even though existing in fact, is void at law. Mayor of London v Cor. L. R. 2 H. L. 239, followed. Evidence showing exercise of a right in accordance with an alleged custom as far back as living testimony can go, raises the presumption, though only a rebuttable one, as to the immemorial existence of the custom. Richard v Smith 2 Moo. & R. 129, Mercer v Denno, [1904] 2 C. 331, followed. If the existence of the custom has been proved for a long period the onus lies on the person seeking to disprove the custom to demonstrate its impossibility. If a custom be against reason (i.e., artificial and legal reason warranted by authority of law) it has no force in law. When a custom is said to be void as being unreasonable the unreasonable character of the alleged custom conclusively proves that the usage even though it may have existed from time immemorial, must have resulted from accident or indulgence and not from any rights conferred in ancient times. Salsbery v Gladstone 9 H. L. C. 692, followed. The period for ascertaining whether a particular custom is reasonable or not, is the time of its possible inception. The Tanistry Case, (1838) 10 Ir. 29, followed. In practice, the Kalghat temple palas have been transferred during at least 90 years though in a limited market which those alone can enter who are qualified to become shetit by birth or marriage, the time when this custom originated being unknown. Proof of the existence of a custom need not be carried back by direct evidence to the year 1773 when the Supreme Court was established, or even to 1793 when the first Regulations were passed by the Indian Legislature. The customary right to make a shetit mortgage, gift or loan of a pala in favour of persons within a limited circle (the transferee being under precisely the same obligation to the endowment as the transferor himself) is closely associated with and possibly developed out of the hantable, devisable, and partible character of a pala. Janokee v Gopaul 1 L. R. 2 Cal. 365 referred to. A custom of this description clearly cannot be characterised on any rational grounds as unreasonable or opposed to public policy. Foreclosure, as a remedy of the mortgagee, is not confined to mortgages of land, it is equally applicable to mortgages of chattels. Harris v Hart, 1 Com. 393 2 Eq. Cas. Abr. 6 followed. A mortgage of intangible property is entitled to foreclose the mortgagor quite as much as a mortgage of chattels. MAHAMATA DEBI v HARIDAS HALDER, (1914) 1 L. R. 42 Cal. 455

"PALA" OR TURN OF WORSHIP—contd

—Pala of worship p. who ther immovable property—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Art 130 whether governs suit to enforce mortgage of pala. A turn of worship is not an interest in immovable property. Consequently a suit to enforce a mortgage of a turn of worship is not governed by Art 132 but by Art 120 of the Limitation Act. MAHAMATA DEBI v HARIDAS HALDER (1914) 22 C. W. N. 994

—Pala alienation of, apart from the debtor's land—Islam, proof and validity of—Submission of pala validity of—Objection taken in second appeal Where there was an alienation of a pala or turn of worship only, apart from the debtor's land and evidence was adduced of instances of alienations along with the debtor's land—Held that no custom of alienating the pala or turn of worship, apart from the debtor's land, was established and that such an alienation was unreasonable. MAHAMATA DEBI v HARIDAS HALDER 1 L. R. 42 Cal. 455 20 C. I. J. 183, distinguished. The transfer by a shetit of his turn of worship to two persons in different shares, is unreasonable and objection to such a division may be taken for the first time in second appeal; it being a point of law and the respondent not being taken by surprise. NITYA GOZAL BAYERJEE v NANI LAL MEKHERJEE (1919)

1 L. R. 47 Cal. 990

PALAYAM.

See UNSETTLED PALAYAM

1 L. R. 41 Mad. 749

—Unsettled palayam—Alienability—Land held on service tenure—Abolition of service—Palas duties of land owner—Effect of sanads A palayam in the Madras district was held originally on military service tenure and subject to the payment of a tribute to the paramount power. It was contended that it was also held on condition of rendering police service to the State. In support of that contention reliance was placed upon sanads granted in 1797 and 1800, by which the palayagar was bound to protect the inhabitants from robbers and to deliver up murderers and deserters. In 1897 the palayagar mortgaged villages of the palayam for debts incurred by him prior to that date and in 1909 the villages were bought by the mortgagees at a sale under a mortgage decree. No permanent settlement had been made with the palayagar, but in 1900 one was made with the alienees. Held, that the palayam was not by reason of its tenure inalienable, since military service was abolished in the Madras district by a proclamation in 1801, and since even if it could be inferred from the sanads that the palayam was held on a tenure of rendering police service to the State (which it could not) such police duties by land holders were abolished before the alienation, and that the alienees obtained a good title [Judgment of the High Court approved.] APPATASAMI NAICKER v MADHARAO ZAMINDARI COMPANY, LTD (1921)

1 L. R. 48 I. A. 100

1 L. R. 44 Mad. (P. C.) 175

PALMYRA JUICE

lease of, whether lease of the moveable property—

See REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877)
s 17 (1) (c) AND (d)

I L R 38 Mad. 883

PANCHAYAT

See LIBEL

I L R 39 All. 561

PANDARASANNADHI

See MORT

I L R. 40 Mad. 177

PAPER CURRENCY ACT (II OF 1910)

s. 26—

From money note payable to a person or order or bearer legality of—Right of suit on the note. A promissory note payable to a person or order or bearer is illegal and void under s 26 of the (Indian) Paper Currency Act (II of 1910) and a bearer cannot be given any decree for money in a suit on such a note. Jetha Parkha v Ramchandra Vithoba I L R 16 Bom. 659 referred to. Obiter. If there is an obligation apart from the one under the note it may be enforced and the fact that the loan and the note are contemporaneous is not conclusive of the non-existence of such an obligation. Shankmuganatha Chettiar v Srinivasa Ayyar & N L W 27, and 31 Mad. L J 138 referred to. CHIDAMBARAM CHETTIAR v ATYASANNI THEVAR (1916) I L R. 40 Mad. 585

Hundi payable to bearer, validity of—Bona fide customer drawing hundi on a bank without money to his credit effect of. Where a hundi though drawn in favour of a specified person is made payable to bearer it is void as being obnoxious to s. 26 of the Indian Paper Currency Act (II of 1910) unless the hundi comes within the proviso to the section. The object of the proviso being to enable bona fide customers to operate on actual or intended deposits the fact that the drawer of the hundi had actually no money in the bank does not take the hundi out of the proviso if as a fact he intended to deposit money before presentation. ARUVACHALAM CHETTIAR v NARAYANAN CHETTIAR (1918) I L R. 42 Mad. 470

Hundi payable to bearer—Suit by endorsee not endorser—Invalidity of hundi—Estoppel if any. The endorsee of a hundi which was drawn payable to bearer and which was not saved by the proviso to s 26 of the Paper Currency Act sued to enforce it as against the endorser. Held that the hundi was invalid according to the section and that the endorser was not estopped from denying the validity of the hundi. Chidambaram Chettiar v Ayyasanni Thevar (1917) I L R 40 Mad 585 followed. The observations of SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J., to the contrary in Aruvachalam Chettiar v Narayanann Chettiar (1919) I L R. 42 Mad. 470 held obiter and not followed. The mere fact that a hundi is drawn on a certain person and that he endorses it to another does not make the drawer a banker within the proviso to the section. ALAGAPPA CHETTI v ALAGAPPA CHETTI (1921) I L R. 44 Mad. 157

PARALYSIS.

Testator suffering with—

See WILL. I L R. I Lah. 173

PARDANASHIN LADY

See ATTESTATION I L R 37 Calc 526

See CIFT I L R 39 Calc. 933

See GUARTEY I L R 38 Calc. 783

See MORTGAGE I L R 45 Calc 748

L R 48 I A 270

I L R 47 Calc 175

24 C W N 977

See PRESENTATION OF COMPLAINT

I L R 42 Calc 19

See PLOTTING I L R 39 Calc 834

See SUCCESSION ACT 1863 ss 2 AND 311

I L R 43 All. 525

examination of—

See COMPLAINT I L R. 42 Calc. 19

See EXAMINATION ON COMMISSION

I L R 45 Calc 492, 697

I L R. 43 Calc 448

execution by—necessity for—contention—

See MORTGAGE 25 C W N 265, 942

hability of—

See MORTGAGE I L R 40 Calc 378

I Mortgage by, in favour of her legal adviser—Transaction to be closely scrutinised—Onus—Proof—that deed was explained to executant and she understood it—Relations cognate of execution—Inference that deed properly explained if follow—Stipulation in deed to substitute for properties mortgaged portioned share of estate under partition if inoperative—Pleader and client relationship if ceases on, passing of judgment when the time for appealing has not expired. 2 a pardanashin lady, and S her brother who had been parties in a partition suit with members of their family were represented in that suit by one R as their pleader. The suit terminated in their favour; but before the time for appeal had expired property belonging wholly to T was mortgaged in favour of R to secure an advance of Rs. 8000 of which Rs. 473 was said to have been cash and the balance went mainly if not entirely in the discharge of moneys due from S. A clause was inserted in the bond to the effect that after the partition should have been effected the property awarded to T should be substituted for the mortgaged properties and it was admitted that the effect of it would be to quadruple the amount of property. There were concurrent findings that this clause was not properly explained to the lady but the Trial Court held it to be of no consequence as the clause was inoperative. The Trial Judge upheld the deed subject to a reduction of the stipulated interest which he held to be unconscionable, being mainly influenced by the consideration that the relatives of the lady must have been aware of the transaction because her brother was a co-signatory of the deed and two of her relatives were the identifying witnesses but the brother was personally interested in carrying through the transaction by which he derived advantage at the expense of the lady and the other relatives generally were taking gross advantage of her unprotected state. Held, that this was a case of the legal adviser to a pardanashin woman acting the part of money lender to her and procuring the execution by her of a mortgage-bond to secure its repayment and it was difficult to conceive a case in which the Court would be entitled, and indeed obliged, to examine the transaction with closer scrutiny or to insist more sternly on the mortgagee supporting the heavy onus of showing that the client was fully aware of the meaning and effect of the deed, and that the transaction was a fair and honest one. That the Trial Judge was in error in holding that in the mortgage-bond, if otherwise valid, the clause which was clear in its language stipulating for the substitution of T's partitioned properties for the property mortgaged would be inoperative. That in the circumstances, the relatives of T should in no way have been regarded as the defenders of her interests. MAHABIR PRASAD v. TAJ BEGAM (1914) 19 C. W. N. 162

PARDANASHIN LADY—contd.

2. ———— Execution of mortgage by—Attestation by witnesses. A mortgage executed by a pardanashin lady was attested by her husband and another witness. The husband actually saw the signature being made and the other witness was outside the screen in the same room with the lady and he knew her voice and heard her say "yes" when the document was explained to her. Held, that the document was duly attested in accordance with law. RURMINI KOERI v. NULMONI BANDAPADHYAYA (1915) 19 C. W. N. 1809

3. ———— Illiterate document executed by and drawn up under her instruction. Document is to be explained—Presumption of knowledge—Registration—Power of attorney, scope of. Where a pardanashin lady took a loan from another pardanashin lady on a mortgage security, had the deed drawn up by her own men under her own instruction and then got it registered through her mukhtar and husband authorised to act on her behalf by a general power of attorney. Held, that it was not necessary that the contents of the document should have been explained to her after the draft was made, but knowledge of the contents was to be presumed specially as the document came from the side of the executant. Held, also, that in second appeal, the High Court can make deductions from acts without disturbing the findings of the lower Appellate Court. Held, also, that authority to appear in the Registration office implied authority to appear for all purposes authorised by the Registration Act. BRUBAV MOHINI DASIE v. GAZALAKSHMI DEBI (1915) 19 C. W. N. 1330

4. ———— Plea that promisor was not raised—Decree for specific performance—Court of law to raise the plea. In a suit for specific performance of a contract of sale by the widow of a deceased Hindu and his executor, there were no pleas taken in defence other than the price agreed upon was inadequate or that one of the promisors was a pardanashin lady and no issue was raised or tried on either of these points. Held, that neither of these points could be allowed to be raised by them on appeal. The High Court having reversed the decision of the Subordinate Judge on an issue as to payment by the purchaser of a sum of Rs. 1,500 to the vendors. Held on the evidence that the decision of the Subordinate Judge was correct and should be restored. NAROTTAM DAS v. KEDAR NATH SAMANTA (1916) 21 C. W. N. 665

5. ———— Execution of deed depriving herself of nearly all her property—Burden

PARDANASHIN LADY—contd.

of proof—Requisites to be proved—Concurrent findings on facts that burden had not been discharged—First Court's decision on that point affirmed by Appellate Court—Finding sufficient to dispose of case. A pardanashin lady, separated from her husband unable to read or write, and without independent legal advice, created an endowment of practically her whole property by a deed of which she appointed the appellants (plaintiffs) trustees. In a suit for a declaration that the property was wagf and for possession of it. Held, that, as they relied upon the deed, the onus was on the appellants to show that the nature and effect of it had, at the time of its execution, been explained to and understood by the executant. Shambati Koeri v. Jago Bibi, I L R 29 Cal 749, L R 29 I A 127, followed. Upon the question whether that onus had been discharged, the Appellate Court in India affirmed the decision of the first Court to the effect that it had not, but nevertheless allowed an appeal to His Majesty in Council under s. 596 of the Civil Procedure Code (XIV of 1822) on the ground that the judgment of the lower Court had not been wholly affirmed. Held, that the findings of the Courts below amounted to concurrent findings of fact which could not be disturbed on appeal, and there being no "substantial question of law" the appeal must be dismissed. Karuppanan Serrai v. Srinivasan Chetti, I L R 25 Mad 215, L R 29 I A 38, followed. SAJJAD HUSSAIN v. WAZIR ALI KHAN (1912) [I L R 34 All 455]

6. ———— Execution of mortgage by—A mortgage deed was executed by a Pardanashin lady the attesting witness being on one side of the parda and the lady on the other. Her son took the deed to the lady behind the parda and came back with it signed after which it was attested. Held the deed was properly attested. ISRI PRASAD v. PAI GUNGA PRASAD 14 C. W. N. 165

7. ———— Suit for cancellation of deed—Nature of proof required—Independent advice not absolutely necessary—Lady of strong will and in the habit of managing her affairs with considerable capacity for business—Undue influence—Natural affection. In the case of a deed executed by a pardanashin lady the law protects her by demanding that the burden of proof shall in such case rest not with those who attack, but with those who rely upon, the deed, and it must be proved affirmatively and conclusively that the deed was not only executed by, but was explained to, and really understood by, the grantor. It must also be established that it was not signed under duress, but by the free and independent exercise of her will. Sayad Hussain v. Nazir Khan, I L R 31 All 440, L R 39 I A 156, followed. There is no absolute rule that a deed executed by a pardanashin lady cannot stand unless it is proved that she had independent advice. The possession of absence of independent advice is a fact to be taken into consideration and well weighed on a review of the whole circumstances relevant to the issue of whether the grantor thoroughly comprehended, and deliberately and of her own free will carried out, the transaction, and if, upon such a review of the facts—which include the nature of the thing done, and the training and habit of mind of the grantor, as well as the proximate circumstances affecting the execution—the conclusion is reached that the obtaining of independent advice would not really have made any difference in the result then the deed ought to stand. In a suit for cancellation of gift executed by a pardanashin lady the facts were that her husband had long before, and her property (consisting of shares in a large number of villages) was managed by the mukhtar with whom she had formed an intimacy the result of which was the birth of two illegitimate daughters one of whom was alive at the date of the deed. The donee was the legitimate son of her mukhtar. The deed was found to be duly executed attested by just the persons who would naturally be called upon for such a purpose, and registered in the usual way by the proper officers. The property given was about one half of her estate and there was no question of her being impoverished by giving it. No undue influence was affirmatively proved. It appeared in evidence that the lady was strong minded and had long in the habit for many years of managing her affairs of entering up her accounts and of attending to business matters. Hell (reversing the decision of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner) that the evidence as to her strength of will and business capacity and the fact that the deed was not in the circumstances of her life in any way an unnatural disposition of her property went far, taken together with the other evidence in the case to make it conclusive that the deed was granted by her as the expression of her deliberate mind and apart from any undue influence exerted upon it and that had independent advice been obtained the lady would have acted just as she did. Mahomed Baksh Khan v. Hossains Bibi I L R 15 Cal 631 L R 15 I A 31 referred to Kali Bakhsh Singh v. Ram Gopal Singh (1913) . L. L. R. 36 All 481

PARDANASHIN LADY—contd.

8 ——— Executing mortgage for husband's benefit—Proof of intelligent execution—Explanation—Independent advice—Under a Sharia—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872) s 16. Where a pardanashin lady was induced by her husband to give a mortgage by way of security at a time when she was living with her husband and the evidence was that the document was read and explained to her by the husband in the presence of the mortgagees. Hell that the Court would not be justified in holding that the mortgage was fairly taken or that the lady executing it was a free agent duly informed of what she was about; and the mortgage must be taken to have been aware of the influences under which the lady came to execute the document. Hell (without expressing any opinion as to whether s. 16 of the Contract Act requires the undue influence to proceed from a party to the suit) that the undue influence which may affect a pardanashin lady's understanding of a document may proceed from a third party. Threeah Ch. Laborey v. Bhoolabhai Dhol s 13 Mo I A 419 Bank of Montreal v. St art (1911) A C 120, Jayr Coomber, [1911] I Ch 723 730 Kashappa Lal v. The National Bank of India L R 17 C N 511, referred to Badiatnnessa Binte F America Chaman Ghosh (1914) 18 C. W. N 1133

9. ——— Deed of trust executed by—Independent advice, absence of, if invalidates deed—Free agent intelligent apprehension, nature of transaction—Bengali deed containing English words not explained. The Courts should be careful to see that deeds taken from pardanashin women have been fairly taken that the party executing them has been a free agent and duly informed as to what she was about. It cannot be accepted as a formula conclusive of every case of a deed taken from a pardanashin woman that the absence of advice vitiates the transaction. Advice is not in itself essential. It is merely a means to secure that which is essential, an intelligent apprehension of the transaction. The first and practically perhaps the most important question is was the transaction a righteous transaction, i.e., was it a thing which a right minded person might be expected to do? Mahomed Baksh Khan v. Hossains Bibi I P 15 I A 31 92 followed. Where an illiterate pardanashin woman transferred her property to her brother and his family by a deed of trust and there was evidence that the idea had originated with her that the draft was prepared according to her instructions and that the deed which was in her vernacular was read over to her and she admitted execution before the Registrar, the fact that there was no evidence as to what advice she had had in the matter was not in itself sufficient to invalidate the deed. Where the said vernacular deed contained some English words such as "trust", "commitment", "revocable" and there was no evidence that these words were explained to her. Hell, that though it is an infirmity in the case of those claiming under the instrument it is not destructive of their claim under the instrument. Krishna Lall Pyar v. Ranna Ramay Nundy (1912) 17 C. W. N 991

PARDANASHIN LADY—contd

10 ——— Document executed by—Suit for cancellation on the ground of fraud. The plaintiff a pardanashin lady executed a conveyance in favour of the defendant the consideration for which consisted of money due on a mortgage bond previously given by her to the purchaser and an additional sum paid at the time of sale. It appeared that on the mortgage bond she wrote with her own hand "this bond executed by me is correct" and then signed her name. Similarly on the conveyance she wrote "this deed of sale which I have executed is true and correct and is admitted and ratified by me," and then affixed her signature. She brought a suit for cancellation of the conveyance on the ground of fraud. In the plaint it was alleged that the defendants who were agents of the plaintiff got the mortgage bond and the deed of sale signed by her without the document being read out and explained to her that she did not get any independent legal advice in connection with the documents and did not get any consideration for them. In her deposition the plaintiff stated that she had put her signature on blank sheets which had subsequently been filled up without her knowledge or consent by the defendant and turned into the mortgage bond and the sale deed. Hell that as the documents undoubtedly bore the plaintiff's signature the burden was upon her to establish that the recitals contained therein were untrue. Bansram v. Panchami Dast (1914) 20 C. W. N 833

11 ——— Person trusted by as manager and managing her properties—but acting adversely to her interests acts of if find her fiduciary relationship—Deferral of trust—Fraud by fiduciary when may be condoned—Nullity—Sham arbitration proceedings and award—Limitation if applies to defence—Time for recovery to run from termination of relationship—Award if may be upheld

PARDANASHIN LADY—contd.

as family arrangement II, a Hindu, who had separated from his brothers, acquired considerable property by money lending and died in 1892 leaving a widow A and several daughters and a daughter's son P by a predeceased wife K, who was not a woman of business came under the influence of F, a separated brother of II, and F managed her properties and K believed that he was acting as her manager until he died in 1903. Shortly after II's death, F in collusion with P got up a sham arbitration proceeding which resulted in an award by which the properties left by II were divided up amongst the various members of the family, K receiving only a share. The true nature and effect of the proceedings were concealed from her and she was misled and betrayed by F and P both of whom had interests adverse to her and were acting in their own interests. In a suit by another member of the family to enforce in his right under the award a mortgage effected by F from advances made out of properties left by II, K denied the plaintiff's title altogether and claimed the entire mortgage money in her right as the widow of II. The High Court held that the arbitration was a sham, that it had not been shown that A had any independent advice or understood the effect of the so-called award on her interests and believing that she never knowingly consented to the division of her husband's estate dismissed the suit. Held, by the Judicial Committee (without dissenting from the conclusions of the High Court) that from the death of K's husband F stood to her in a fiduciary relationship which continued till he died and she was entitled to receive from him a full disclosure of all the affairs which concerned her. That F having betrayed the confidence K reposed in him, the question in the case was not whether K knew what she was doing had done or proposed to do but how her intention to act was produced, whether all that care and providence was placed round her as against those who advised her, which from their situation and relation with respect to her they were bound to exert on her behalf. That fraud, such as there was in this case could not be condoned unless there was full knowledge of the facts and of the rights arising out of those facts and the parties were at arm's length. Huguenin v Dastley 14 Ves Jun 273, and Moxon v Paime, 8 Ch App 851 referred to. That the Indian Imitation Act was no bar to her defence and even if she were suing to recover property of which she was deprived by the award, time would not run under the circumstances of the case begin to run against her until F died. That the award regarded as an award or as a document embodying a family arrangement was a nullity. SRI KRISHN LAL v KASHMIRI (1916). 20 C W. N. 957

12. — Deed executed by—what is proper explanation. Where in the case of a pardanashin lady the draft of a deed of English mortgage was interpreted in Bengalee to her by her legal adviser by reading two to four lines at a time and it took about three hours to do so, and ten or twelve days afterwards it was executed by her when it was again explained to her by giving out the substance it was held that the deed was duly executed. SHYAMPARK DASIA v THE EASTERN MORTGAGE AND AGENCY CO. LD (1917). 22 C W. N. 226

13. — Execution of document by—Lack of independent advice, effect of—Where

PARDANASHIN LADY—contd.

a deed executed by a pardanashin lady is challenged on the ground that she had no independent advice if it found that the obtaining of independent advice would not have made any difference to the result the deed ought to stand. Kali Baksh Singh v Ram Gopal Singh, 18 C W N 279, referred to. This is a question of fact and in deciding it the nature of the thing done and training and habits of mind of the executant and the proximate circumstances affecting the execution should be taken into consideration. MRSAMMAT HIRA DEVI v RAMDHAN LAL. 6 Pat L J 465

14. — Duty of disclosure of donee to donor of character of transaction—Failure operates to nullify transaction, apart from fraud—Indian Succession Act (2 of 1905) sec 2 331—Person dying a Christian, succession to, if governed by Hindu law when he lived like a Hindu. The parties to a contract may stand in such a relation as (apart from fraud or of conduct partaking of the quality of fraud) may give rise to an obligation on the part of one towards the other, failure to fulfil which will be a ground for rescission of the contract and for the consequent remedies. Victor v Ashburton 1911 A C 932, referred to. The donee from a pardanashin lady stands towards her in such a relation that it is his duty to see that she fully understands the transaction. The release in question in this case was set aside as the duty of disclosure resting upon the donee had not been discharged. Succession to the estate of a person who died a Christian is governed by the Indian Succession Act, and cases such as Abraham v Abraham (9 M L J 195) and Radhika Patta Maha Devi Caru v Nilamani Patta Maha Devi Caru (14 B P P C 33) which preceded the Act cannot be relied on to modify or interpret it. MRSAMMAT RAMALWATI v Kunwar Dighaj Singh (P C) 28 C W. N. 490

15. — Rules by which court should be guided to determine validity of document—Rule that case of fraud must depend strictly on proof of fraud alleged, how far applicable to action brought by pardanashin lady. The plaintiff, a pardanashin lady, sought to have a deed of partition executed by her in favour of her husband's brother immediately after her husband's death cancelled. Held that it is well settled that the Court when called upon to deal with a deed executed by a pardanashin lady must satisfy itself upon the evidence first that the deed was actually executed by her or by some person duly authorised by her with a full understanding of what she was about to do, secondly that she had full knowledge of the nature and effect of the transaction into which she is said to have entered and thirdly that she had independent and disinterested advice in the matter. In cases where the person who seeks to hold the lady to the terms of her deed is one who stood towards her in a fiduciary character or in some relation of personal confidence the Court will act with great caution and will presume confidence put and influence, exerted and in cases where the person who seeks to enforce the deed was an absolute stranger and dealt with her at arm's length, the Court will require the confidence and influence to be proved intrinsically. In the former class of cases, the principle formulated in sec 111 of the Indian Evidence Act applies. SATISH CHANDRA GHOSH v KALIDASI DAS. 26 C. W. N 177

PARDANASHIN LADY—contd

16 ———— Principles which should guide court—Independent and competent advice meaning of—Necessity of greater caution in cases where person described holds fiduciary position—Misrepresentation or fraud proofs, not essential—Joint family—Survivor, if effected by deed of settlement by widow entitling reservation with management for a term—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art 91, applicability of, when Hindu seek possession on declaration that defendant's document of title wholly void—Time from which limitation runs when deed voidable—Hindu joint Hindu family nature and extent of its co-ownership. On the death of a member of a Hindu joint family a deed of settlement was executed by the guardian of the widow who was at the time a minor, the effect of which was to place the properties of the minor estate in her from her husband in charge of her husband's brother who was the reversioner on certain terms. After the widow had attained majority a deed of settlement for the life of the widow was executed by her in favour of the sons of her husband's brother who was now dead. The widow brought a suit for partition of the joint family properties and for other incidental reliefs on a declaration that the last deed of settlement was void and inoperative. Held that it is well settled that the Court when called upon to deal with a deed executed by a pardanashin lady must act of itself upon the evidence, first, that the deed was actually executed by her or by some person duly authorised by her with a full understanding of what she was about to do secondly that she had full knowledge of the nature and effect of the transaction into which she is said to have entered and thirdly that she had independent and disinterested advice in the matter. NEERAN CHANDRA MEHERJI v. NITU PAMA DEUL. 28 C. W. N. 517

PARDON.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1893) a 337 to 339

See KING'S PREROGATIVE OF PARDON

—By Crown—If a bar to appeal.

S. C. COURT MARTIAL.

23 C W N 701

—of appellant pending appeal—

See CRIMINAL LAW I. L. R. 2 Lah. 31

1. ———— Forfeiture of pardon—Proper Court to determine the question of forfeiture—If withdrawal of pardon by the Court granting it—Power of the Special Bench to re-open the question on a plea of pardon taken at the trial for the original offence in respect of which it was granted—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1923) ss 337, 339. Where an approver, to whom a pardon was granted under s 337 of the Criminal Procedure Code by the committing Magistrate, resiles, at the hearing of the case before the Special Bench, from his deposition given before such Magistrate the Special Bench can only discharge him, but cannot take any action against him for the offence in respect of which he was accorded the pardon. If he proceeded against for the original offence, the committing Magistrate who granted the pardon must determine whether he has complied with its terms or not, and thereby forfeited the same, and the question cannot be re-opened at his trial before the Special Bench for such offence. Queen Empress v. Manik Chandra Sarkar, 1 L. P. 34 Case 492, approved of Emperor v. Kothia, 1 L. R. 30 Bom. 611, and Kallan v. Emperor, 1 L. J. 32 Mad 173, referred to. Fing Emperor v. Lala, 1 L. P. 251 Com. 675, distinguished. Emperor v. Asani Bhatnagar Chatterbatty (1910) 1 L. R. 27 Cal. 845

PARDON—contd

2. ———— Withdrawal by Magistrate not granting the pardon—Omission to state grounds of forfeiture—Necessity of formal withdrawal or declaration of forfeiture—Plea of pardon to be raised at the trial—Trial of accused of forfeiture of pardon and guilt of offence—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1923) ss 337, 339. Under the present law no formal withdrawal of pardon nor formal declaration of its forfeiture are required. If the approver be subsequently proceeded against, it is open to him to plea at his trial that the pardon has not, in fact, been forfeited, that is, that he has not violated its conditions. The two questions of forfeiture of pardon and of his guilt of the offence in respect of which he received the same, may be heard and determined together, under the circumstances. Emperor v. Kallan, 1 L. R. 30 Bom. 611, Kallan v. Emperor, 1 L. J. 32 Mad 173, and Emperor v. Asani Bhatnagar Chatterbatty, 1 L. R. 27 Cal. 845, referred to. Emperor v. Sarak Azeem (1914) 1 L. R. 42 Cal. 768

3. ———— Failure of approver to comply with terms of the pardon on examination at the preliminary enquiry—Forfeiture of pardon—Commitment of approver along with other accused—Joint trial of approver and others—Plea of pardon taken in the Sessions Court—Proper procedure thereon—Trial of question of forfeiture as a preliminary issue—Power of Jury to determine the point—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1923), ss 293 (1)(c), 337. Where an approver has forfeited his pardon, on his examination at the preliminary enquiry, the Magistrate may put him in the dock, recommence the enquiry and commit him for trial along with the other accused. Queen Empress v. Nala 1 L. P. 27 Cal. 137, disapproved. Queen Empress v. Brij Saran Man, 1 L. R. 20 All. 523, Emperor v. Budhan, 1 L. P. 29 All. 261, Sultan Khan v. King Emperor, 6 All. L. J. 961, and King Emperor v. Lala, 1 L. R. 25 Bom. 675, followed. When an approver has been committed to the Court of Sessions as an accused he may plead his pardon in bar at the trial and the Judge must first try the issue of forfeiture and take the verdict of the Jury thereon and then proceed with the trial of accused for the offences charged. Emperor v. Asani Bhatnagar Chatterbatty, 1 L. R. 27 Cal. 845, disapproved. Kallan v. Emperor, 1 L. J. 32 Mad 173, Diagunam Sankar v. Emperor, 1 L. P. 33 Mad 614, King Emperor v. Lala, 1 L. P. 25 Bom. 675, Emperor v. Asani, 1 L. R. 20 Bom. 611, and Emperor v. Nala, 31 Law. Rec. 1564, approved. PER DRACHBERRY J. Under the old law the pardon remained in force until its withdrawal by the authority granting it, in consequence of the approver failing to observe the conditions of the pardon, but under the present law the result of such failure is that the approver may be put on trial without any formal order of withdrawal or cancellation of the pardon. The plea should be taken at the commencement of the preliminary enquiry and considered by the Magistrate. If he decides against it or it is not taken before him, the approver er may raise the plea in the Sessions Court. The Judge ought to try the question of forfeiture as a preliminary issue, on evidence limited to the point and take the verdict of the Jury on it before proceeding to try the general issue of the guilt of the accused. The onus of proof of forfeiture is on the Crown. Queen Empress v. Manik Chandra Sarkar, 1 L. R. 21 Cal. 492, declared obsolete. Where, however, the Judge tried the question of forfeiture with the Jury after some evidence on the general issue had been recorded—Held, that the irregularity had not prejudiced the approver of the other accused. Semble. When the approver deviates from the conditions of his pardon in the Sessions Court, he cannot be removed from the witness box and placed in the dock as an accused. SHASHI RAJBANSHI v. EMPEROR (1914)

PARDON—could

I. L. R. 42, Cal. 858

PARLIAMENT, MEMBER OF.

*Making contract with Secretary of State for India in Council, if forfeits seat—Public service, for or on account of which such contract made, if comprises public service of the Crown anywhere—Place where such contract made if material—22 Geo. III, c. 45 (1782), s. 1—41 Geo. III, c. 52 (1801), s. 4—Secretary of State for India, if a British Officer and if may discharge duties of His Majesty's other Secretaries of State—21 & 22 Vict., c. 106, Government of India Act, 1858, s. 65—Secretary of State in Council, if a corporation or a legal personality—3 & 4 Will. IV, c. 41 Judicial Committee Act, 1833, s. 4—Construction of Statute ejusdem generis, latter Act if a surplage or ex abundante cautela—Sir Stuart Samuel, being a member of the House of Commons, was partner of a firm which made contracts with the Secretary of State for India in Council for borrowing money on short loans, for purchasing India Council Bills and India Treasury Bills, for subscribing to India Government loans and for purchasing silver for the purposes of the Indian currency. Held, that Sir Stuart Samuel forfeited his seat in the House of Commons, the contract having been made for the public service of the Crown in India and with one of His Majesty's Secretaries of State. S. 1 of 22 Geo. III, c. 45, must be taken to extend to such service and to the Secretary of State for India. The public service required by the Statute need not be either executed or required within Great Britain or paid for out of any particular fund. The Secretary of State for India is in the fullest sense an officer of British Government. A contract is none the less made with the Secretary of State for India and he does to obtain the concurrence of his Council before making it and that he and his Council are designated by s. 65 of the Government of India Act of 1858 (21 & 22 Vict., c. 105) as liable to be sued or to sue on it as a corporate body. Neither the personality of the Secretary of State nor that of his Council is merged in any Corporation by the Statute. Their responsibilities and duties there under are separate and sometimes conflicting, and it is only for purposes of litigation that they can be treated as though they were but one legal personality. In the matter of Sir Stuart Samuel (1913) . . . 17 C. W. N. 735*

PARLIAMENT, PROCEEDINGS IN

See LABEL . . . I. L. R. 37 Cal. 760

PAROL ACCEPTANCE.

See STAMP ACT (II of 1850), s. 57

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 349

PARSI MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE ACT (XV OF 1865).

— ss. 3, 8, 9, 14—

See PARSIS . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 146

— s. 31—

See PARSIS . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 615

PARSIS.

*Maintenance—The Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act (X) of 1865, s. 31—Suit by a Parsi wife for permanent maintenance without claim for judicial separation—The High Court on its Original Side has no jurisdiction in such suit to pass an order for maintenance. The Bombay High Court on its Original Side has no jurisdiction in a suit between a Parsi husband and a Parsi wife to make an order for permanent alimony whether accompanied or not by any order for judicial separation. The only way in which a Parsi wife is entitled to get a decree for permanent alimony is to file a petition in the Parsi Matrimonial Court and there establish facts coming within s. 31 of the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act. GOOLBAI v. BEHRANSHA (1914) . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 615* *— Requires to validity of a Parsi marriage—Certificate not a requisite of the marriage—Entry of certificate in the marriage register is merely for securing record of marriages duly solemnized—Absence of entry in the register does not affect validity of marriage—Proof of factum of marriage by any relevant evidence in the absence of entry of certificate in the register—Admission of secondary evidence. S. 3 of the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act exhausts all requisites to the validity of a Parsi marriage. The certificate which is to be given under s. 6 of the Act by the Officiating Priest after the marriage has been contracted and solemnized is not in itself one of the requisites for a valid marriage under the Act. The provisions about entering the certificate in the marriage register being merely intended to secure a proper record of marriages duly solemnized between the Parsees, the absence of any entry in register would not affect the validity of the marriage. Where there is no certificate and no entry in the register any other relevant evidence is admissible to prove the factum of marriage. BAI AWARAI v. KESHPAD ARIKSHER (1920) . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 146*

PART-HEARD SUIT.

See PART DEGREE.

I. L. R. 41 Cal. 656

See TRANSFER . . . I. L. R. 39 Cal. 146

PART-PAYMENT.

See CHEQUE, PAYMENT BY

I. L. R. 42 Cal. 1043

— In satisfaction of decree—

See LIMITATION . . . I. L. R. 46 Cal. 22

PARTIAL DECREE.

See REFUND OF COURT FEE

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 365

PARTIES—contd

order granting or refusing applications for adding parties. Held, that the High Court ought to set aside the order in the present case refusing the transferor's application to be made a party, as otherwise the result would be a needless multiplicity of suits and possible injustice to the petitioner. Scope and operation of s. 115, Civil Procedure Code considered with reference to authorities. DWARAK NATH SINGH v KESORY LAL GOSWAMY (1910) 14 C. W. N. 703

3 ————— Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XXIII r 1—Suit allowed to be withdrawn, with liberty to bring fresh suit on payment of defendant's costs added plaintiff's if found by order—Deposit of costs after institution but before trial of fresh suit if valid. Where the Judge having held that the plaintiff who was a member of a joint Hindu family should have joined all the other members also as co plaintiffs the plaintiff asked for and was allowed leave to withdraw from the suit with liberty to bring a fresh suit subject to limitation and on condition that he must pay or deposit the defendant's costs before bringing a fresh suit or else the suit shall stand dismissed with costs* and the coparceners together instituted a fresh suit but did not deposit the defendant's costs till some time afterwards. Held that the suit was not liable to be dismissed so far as any rate as the added plaintiffs were concerned. That as regards the original plaintiff the suit should have been treated as instituted on the date on which the costs were deposited. That the deposit of the costs before the trial of the suit was sufficient compliance with the order in this case. Add: AIR v Ebrahim I L R 31 Cal. 985 followed. Harekath v Syed Hossain I O C W N 8 distinguished. Gori Lal v Lala Nagov Lal (1911) 15 C W N 993

4. ————— Manager, Joint Hindu Family —Managing members—Suit to recover debt due to members of family in family business—Power of managers to sue alone—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s. 22—Part set added after expiry of period of limitation. Where a joint family business has to be carried on in the interests of the joint family as a whole, the managing members may properly be entrusted with the power of making contracts, giving receipts, and compromising or discharging claims ordinarily incidental to the business, and where they are so entrusted and empowered they are entitled as the sole managers of the family business to make in their own names contracts in the course of that business, and to maintain suits brought to enforce those contracts without joining in the suit with them either as plaintiffs or defendants the other members of the family. Arumachala Pillai v Vythialingam Mudaliar, I L R 6 Mad 27, approved. R P Kanna Piskorody v M Narayanan Samayyappad, I L R 3 Mad. 234, Pamechuk v Ramallu Nondan, I L R 6 Cal. 315, Imamuddin v Laladhar, I L R 14 All 524, and Alagappa Chetti v Velhan Chetti, I L R 13 Mad 33, distinguished. In this case the original plaintiffs were the managing members of a joint family business of money lending, entrusted with the regular exercise of the power of doing everything necessary to carry on the business. In the course of such business they contracted in their own names with the defendants for a loan, and on the account a balance was struck between the parties on the 9th August 1901. In a suit brought by the managing members on the

PARTIES—contd

3rd June 1904 and therefore within the period of limitation, to recover the amount due, the other members of the family were, on an objection by the defendants that the suit was improperly constituted joined as plaintiffs on the 22nd August 1904 after the period of limitation for the suit had expired and the defence was set up that under s. 22 of the Limitation Act (XV of 1877) the whole suit was barred. Held (reversing the decision of the High Court), that the suit as originally brought was properly constituted that the members of the family subsequently added were unnecessary parties, and that the suit was consequently not barred. KISHAN PRASAD v HAN NARAY SINGH (1911) I L R. 23 All. 272

5 ————— Execution sale—Reversal of sale—Execution purchaser—Transfers from the purchaser—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 311 A transferee from the execution purchaser is a necessary party to a proceeding for reversal of the execution sale, when such proceeding is commenced after the transfer has been effected. Bibi Sharfin v Mahomed Habibuddin I O L J 533 and In re Hausermanth Rent charge 4 Erch. 87, referred to. MEVAJUDDI BISWAS v TOAM MANDAL (1911) I L R. 39 Cal. 831

6 ————— Religious Endowment—Suit against the sole surviving member of the committee and the superintendent of a temple—Death of the sole surviving member—Substitution of the adopted son—New committee added as party—Cause of action, abatement of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XLI r 20 O XVII, r 10, O I, r 10 Religious Endowments Act (XX of 1863), s. 14 A suit brought against the sole surviving members of a committee of management appointed under s. 3 of the Religious Endowments Act, 1863, and against the superintendent of a temple for their removal from the committee and from the office of superintendent respectively, was dismissed by the District Judge. Pending the appeal, the 1st defendant died, and his adopted son was brought on the record as a party by the plaintiffs. Subsequently, a new committee was appointed and added also as a party, and the appeal was proceeded with against the adopted son, the superintendent and the new committee. Held, that the relief against the 1st defendant was purely personal, and that the cause of action did not survive against his adopted son. Held, also, that the members of the new committee should not have been added as parties respondents. Kashi v Sadash Sakharam Shet, I L R 21 Bom. 229, referred to. Held further, that the suit could not be maintained as against the 2nd defendant alone, and that the appeal as now constituted, was incompetent. DEENA ROU v DABARATY DASS (1912) I L R. 40 Cal. 323

7. ————— Suit to Recover Trust Property—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s. 92 O I r 3—Public Religious Trust—Suit to remove a trustee and to recover possession of trust property in the hands of a third party—Joinder of parties—Alienation of trustee. Where in a suit under s. 92 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), the second defendant who was the alienee of the trust property, the subject of the suit, contended that the suit should be dismissed as against him on the ground that he was not a necessary party to it—Held, that there is no reason why having regard to the provisions of

PARTIES—contd

O. I. r. 3 of the Civil Procedure Code, the second defendant should not be made a party to the suit nor why. If the decision of the Court is against him he should not be declared to be a trustee of the trust property and be directed to convey the property. Bidh Singh Dhilloria v. Nandran Roy, 2 C. L. J. 471, and Bidra Das Mokim v. Channy Lal Joharry, I L. R. 15 Cal. 739, distinguished—Compania Sannassa de Cornes Congeladas v. Houlder Brothers [1910] 2 R. B. 351, referred to. ALI HAFIZ v. ABDUR RAHMAN (1915) . . . I L. R. 42 Cal. 1135

8. — Admission of one of the parties to a suit—When such admission is receivable against other defendants—Identity—A document put so not inadmissible—Objection to its admission in appeal for the first time. When several persons are jointly interested in the subject matter of a suit, an admission of any one of these persons is receivable not only against himself but also against the other defendants, whether they be all jointly suing or sued, provided that the admission relates to the subject matter in dispute and be made by the declarant in his character of a person jointly interested with the party against whom the evidence is tendered. The requirement of the identity in the legal interest between the joint owners is of fundamental importance. Kanakkiah Sundari v. Malia Sundari, I L. R. 11 Cal. 558. Chaita Singh v. Jhara Singh, I L. R. 19 Cal. 995. Meeyan Maiba v. Alimuddi, I L. R. 44 Cal. 130, Blenkinsopp v. Blenkinsopp, 11 Nev. 151. 2 Phillip 607 referred to. The admission of one co-plaintiff or co-defendant is not receivable against another merely by virtue of his position as a co-party in the litigation. If the rule were otherwise it would in practice permit a litigant to discredit an opponent's claim merely, by joining any person as the opponent's co-party, and then employing that person's statements as admissions. Consequently, it is not by virtue of the person's relation to the litigation that the admission of one can be used against the other, it must be because of some priority of title or of obligation. Morse v. Royal, 12 Ves. 355. King v. the Inhabitants of Hardwick, 11 East. 578 referred to. The Court will not entertain for the first time, in appeal an objection that a document which per se is not inadmissible in evidence has been improperly admitted in evidence. Girivada Chandra Ganguli v. Rajendra Nath Chatterjee, 1 C. W. N. 530, Preonath Macumdar v. Durga Tarini Bhoor, 14 C. L. J. 578, referred to. AMBAR ALI v. LUTFE ALI (1917)

I L. R. 45 Cal. 159

B. — Her or Residuary legatee—Right to sue—Cause of action, survival of—Abatement of suit—Letters of Administration, application by residuary legatee, for grant of—Death of residuary legatee—Substitution of heir of residuary legatee—Contentious matter—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O. XXI. The right to a grant of administration is a personal right derived from the Court. If on the death of the testatrix, the residuary legatee under her will had obtained a grant of administration to her estate with a copy of the will annexed, his title would have been derived from the Court and would not devolve on his heir. The heir of the residuary legatee may be the proper person to obtain a grant of administration with a copy of the will annexed but this is not by virtue of any right to administration which he inherited from the residuary legatee, but by virtue of the fact that as heir of the residuary legatee, he is the person most interested in the estate of the testatrix. Sarat Chandra Banerjee v. Dasi Mohan Banerjee, I L. R. 36 Cal. 799 referred to. HANISHYAN DATTA v. MANMATHA NATH DATTA (1918)

PARTIES—contd

I L. R. 45 Cal. 862

10. — Tenants-in-common—Lands in possession of 1 acres—Sue by a tenant in common to recover his share by partition from the lessees direct—Other tenants-in-common not necessary parties. A piece of land was held in common by several persons, of whom those owning 11 12ths share leased out their share to defendants Nos. 1 and 2 on permanent tenure. The plaintiff and defendants Nos. 3 and 4 who owned the remaining 1 12th share leased their share to the same defendants on a yearly tenancy. The plaintiff sued defendants Nos. 1 and 2 to recover the 1 12th share by partition and also to recover its rent, without making the other tenants-in-common parties to the suit. Held, that the tenants in common were not necessary parties and that the plaintiff was entitled to recover by partition the 1 12th share and also the rent. NARAYAN BALKRISHNA v. FAKRU MOU (1917)

I L. R. 42 Bom. 87

11. — Procedure and Practice—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s. 128 (2) (c), O. I. r. 10 (2). The second defendant in a suit applied for leave to add a third party as defendant. The plaintiff objected—Held, that the power to add a third party is discretionary, but is widely exercised even though the addition may add new issues if however, serious embarrassment or inconvenience be caused to the plaintiff the addition is not effected. Held, also, that although in this case new issues arose between the added defendant and the original defendants, serious inconvenience would not be caused to the plaintiff if his position was safeguarded by the following provisions—(i) that the issues between the plaintiff and the original defendant should be tried first, (ii) that no delay should take place in the determination of those issues, (iii) that if the plaintiff succeeded in obtaining a decree against the original defendants such decree was not to be stayed pending the determination of the issues between the defendants. BATMURUN ROJA v. BISSENDOLAL (1918)

I L. R. 46 Cal. 48

12. — Shibahi, suit against—Duty, if always a necessary party—co-shibahis, if and when all of them necessary parties in a suit under O. XXI, r. 65, Civil Procedure Code—Former addition of—Limitation—Civil Procedure Code (V of 1908), O. VII, r. 9, sub r. (2). A suit can be properly maintained in the name of the shibahi only, without making the duty a party thereto, where the right to sue is vested in the shibahi and it is clear on the plaint that the shibahi is sued in his representative capacity. Jagadindra Nath Roy v. Hemanta Kumari Devi, I L. R. 32 Cal. 129, I L. R. 31 I. A. 203, and Aswamoni Singh Mandhata v. Wanji Ali Meera, 19 C. W. N. 1193, referred to. In such a case, the failure to make a statement that the defendant was being sued as shibahi would not be a defect of party, but would merely be a matter which the Court might amend by adding a statement to the plaint that the defendant was being sued in that parti-ular capacity. It would not be adding a new party. It would be merely rectifying a simple omission to state the representative character of the defendant Jodai Ba v. Bando Prasad I L R 33 All 35 referred to. Where one of several shetis is preferred a claim and Order XXI r 58 of the Code without any mention of the other co-shetis is and succeeded in it, all the co-shetis are not necessary parties defendants in a suit under Order XXI r 53 to set aside the order in the claim case Biddu Sekhar Baverjee v. Kuladhrasud Debnoria (1919) I L R 46 Cal. 877

PARTIES—contd

PARTITION

See ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATE—LIFE.
I L R 41 Cal. 771

See DARUANA UPATY.
I L R 42 Cal. 582

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1859 s 396.
I L R 30 All 370

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908

s 47 I L R 35 All 243

ss 96-97 I L R 39 All 532

s 141 I L R 42 All 568

O II s 2 I L R 38 All 217

O VII s 7 I L R 43 All 318

O XX s 18 I L R 35 All 159

I L R 38 All 481

O XLV s 13 I L R 42 All 170

See COMMISSIONER OF PARTITION
13 C W N 221

See COSTS I L R 42 Cal. 451

See DECREE I L R 40 Bom. 118

See ESTATES PARTITION ACT (BENGAL OF 1897) s 7 14 C W N 632

See EVIDENCE ACT (1 of 1872)—
s 44 I L R 33 All 143

s 91 I L P 41 Bom 466

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.
I L R 37 All 120

See HINDU LAW—ALLEGATION
I L R 40 Cal. 966

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
14 C W N 221

I L R 35 All 543

I L R 43 Cal. 1021

I L R 39 Mad 169

I L R 45 Cal. 723

I L R 43 Bom 17

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION
I L R 32 All 305

See HINDU LAW—SELF ACQUISITION
I L R 33 All 443

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW
I L R 34 All 113

See LIMITATION
I L R 42 Cal. 776

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) Sch.,
I Arts 6^o 1^o
I L R 37 All 318

PARTITION—contd

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT
I L R 36 All 333

See MALABAR LAW
I L R 42 Mad 232

See MORTGAGE I L R 35 Bom 371
I L R 42 All 596

See PARTITION BY COLLECTOR.
See PARTITION ACT (11 of 1893)

See PARTITION AND POSSESSION
See PRE-EMPTION I L R 32 All 567

I L R 33 All 23

I L R 37 All 123

I L R 41 All 426

See PERS JUDICATA
I L R 36 Bom 127

See STAMP ACT (11 of 1899), s 2(15)
Sch I Art 45 (c)
I L R 36 All 137

See TITLE SUIT FOR
I L R 37 Cal. 662

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (11 of 1882), s 62 I L R 37 Bom. 427

See UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT III of 1901—

s 4 I L R 43 All 45

ss 106 AND 233 I L R 43 All 454

ss 107 111 I L R 35 All 527

ss 107 111 112 I L R 35 All 548

ss 110 111 112 I L R 38 All 115

ss 111 112 I L R 32 All 523

ss 111 (1) (b) I L R 38 All 70

I L R 41 All 211

ss 111 112 113 (1) I L R 35 All 126

I L R 38 All 302

s 118 I L R 39 All 707

s 233 I L R 42 All 309

I L R 43 All 88

s 113 (1) I L R 33 All 169 440

I L R 39 All 243

I L R 39 All 469

I L R 41 All 626

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER
I L R 42 Cal. 56

— between an adopted son and an aurasa son of a Sudra—
See HINDU LAW—PARTITION
I L R 40 Mad. 632

— by Collector—See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT 1 of 1908) s 54 I L R 42 Bom. 689

See PARTITION BY COLLECTOR.
— by grandsons—
See HINDU LAW—PARTITION
I L R 39 Bom 373

— Conversion of suit for ejectment into one for Partition—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I L R 33 Mad 52

PARTITION—contd

not in accordance with decree—mistake—

See DECREE

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 118

mother's share on partition after father's death—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I. L. R. 34 All. 234

of Mines and Minerals—Lease

See LEASE . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 441

of Tenancy—

See ESTATES PARTITION ACT, 1870.

1 Pat. L. J. 270

of Joint Family Property—Manager's liability to account for mesne profits—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 179

of Joint Family Property purchased from a co-partner—Part profits not allowable—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 621

of Joint Family Property of Sudras—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 166

Oral Evidence—when admissible to prove—

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s 91

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 488

subsequent suit for entire estate—
whether barred—

See SANTAL PARAGANAS SETTLEMENT

REGULATION, 1872

6 Pat. L. J. 373

unregistered receipts acknowledging acceptance of shares—admissibility of, to prove partition—

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908 ss 17 AND 49 . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 881

right to—

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1118

See MALABAR LAW

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 317

Right to water and wells—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 275

subsequent suit for entire estate—

See SANTAL PARAGANAS SETTLEMENT REGU-LATION, 1872 . . . 6 Pat. L. J. 373

Property left undivided at the time of partition—Presumption that there has been a complete partition—

See HINDU LAW . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 614

suit for—

See REVAMANDAR I. L. R. 43 Calc. 504

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, ACT V OF
1908, s 11 . . . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 307

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1870),
SCH. II, ART 17 (iv)

I. L. R. 34 All. 182

PARTITION—contd

suit for—contd

See HUSBAND AND WIFE

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 629

See PARTITION SUIT

See U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT, s 273 (1)

I. L. R. 41 All. 182

suit for, on behalf of a minor—

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 442

Whether widow of a Joint Owner can claim—

See SECOND APPEAL

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 348

Appeal—Appeal against preliminary decree after passing of the final decree. After the passing of the final decree in a suit for partition, no appeal will lie which does not challenge the final as well as the preliminary decree. MacKenzie v Nar Singh Sahai, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 762, followed.
Uman Kuntari v Jarandhan, I. L. R. 30 All.
479, distinguished. KCHIA MAL v BISHAMBHAR
Das (1910) . . . I. L. R. 32 All. 225

BUT SEE CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 ss 96
AND 97 . . . I. L. R. 38 All. 532

Right to—Partition between owner of fractional share in zemindari interest, and mokararidars in joint possession—Interest not less permanent because the mokarars lease was liable, in certain events, to forfeiture. The right of partition exists when two parties are in joint possession of land under permanent titles, although their titles may not be identical. Hemadri
Nath Khan v Ramans Kanta Roy, I. L. R. 24 Calc.
575, cited with approval. The appellants, plaintiffs in a suit for partition, were proprietors of a mokarars interest in the property, partition of which was sought, and the respondents, defendants in the suit, were owners of a fractional share in the zemindari interest in the same property. The mokarars lease was, in certain contingencies, liable to forfeiture, and the High Court held that the appellants' tenure was on that account not sufficiently permanent to support their claim to partition to which they would otherwise have been entitled. —Held, by the Judicial Committee (reversing that decision), that the distinction drawn by the High Court could not be supported. The appellants' title was a permanent one though liable to forfeiture in events which had not occurred and the rights incidental to that title must be those that attached to it as it existed, without reference to what might be lost in the future under changed circumstances. BHAGWAT SAHAJ v BIPIN BEHARI MITTAR (1910) . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 918

Res Judicata. Where a suit for partition, to which all the members of the family are parties, has once been finally decided, it is not competent to a party defendant to such suit to re-open the questions thereby determined in a fresh suit for a declaration of right as against a co-defendant. Sheikh Khoorshed Hossein v Nab- bee Fatima, I. L. R. 3 Calc. 651, Dost Muhammad Khan v Sant Begum, I. L. R. 20 All. 31, Assan
v Pathumma, I. L. R. 22 Mad. 491, and Ashidha
v Abdulla Haj, Mahomed I. L. R. 31 Bom. 271, referred to. PARSOTAM RAO TANTIA v RADHA
BAI (1910) . . . I. L. R. 32 All. 469

PARTITION—contd.

a stranger and owned only a $\frac{1}{4}$ th share in it and in an adjoining plot of 1 bigha 8 cottahs. The lower Appellate Court finding that it would be very inconvenient for all parties concerned if these plots were divided by metes and bounds allowed the defendants to buy up the plaintiff's shares at a proper valuation. Held, that whether s. 4 of Act IV of 1893 applied to the case or not it is a well known principle of equity which must be adopted in all partition cases that when it is inconvenient to divide a property that property must be left in the possession of the person in occupation and the other person who cannot conveniently get actual possession, compensated. A tank covering one bigha in which plaintiff owned a $\frac{1}{4}$ th share was left joint the lower Appellate Court holding that it was not convenient to divide it. The High Court affirmed that decision. BASUNTA KUMAR GHOSH v MOTI LAL GHOSH (1907)

15 C. W. N. 555

Private partition—Estate
Partition Act (Beng V of 1897), s. 99—Private partition amongst proprietors—Tenancy in common—Cessation of—Putnadar of separated share, if bound by subsequent butwara by Collector S. 99 of the Estates Partition Act (Beng V of 1897) does not apply when the estate partitioned by the Collector had already been privately partitioned amongst the proprietors and the proprietors were holding their shares of the lands in severalty and not in common tenancy as contemplated in that section. A putnadar in possession of a separately allotted portion of such estate is not therefore affected by the subsequent partition by the Collector. Hriday Nath Saha v Mohabattannessa Bibee, 1 L R 20 Cal 235, applied. The fact that the Government was not bound to recognise the private partition for purposes of revenue does not affect the question. ABDUL LATIF MIAN v AMANUDDIN PATWARI (1911) 15 C. W. N. 428

Appeal—Appeal against preliminary decree—Final decree passed since the appeal—No appeal against final decree Held, that an appeal against the preliminary decree in a suit for partition cannot be heard if after the filing of such appeal the final decree has been passed and no appeal is preferred against that decree. Kuriya Mal v Bishambar Das, 1 L R 33 All 225, referred to. NARAIN DAS v. BALGOOND (1911)

I. L. R. 33 All. 528

See ALSO DECREE I. L. R. 37 All. 29

Partition suit, abatement of Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. 1, r. 10—Limitation (Act IX of 1908), Art. 112—Death of a party—Abatement—Application to set aside the abatement—Limitation of sixty days—In a partition suit all parties should be before the Court—Inherent power of the Court to add a party at any stage of the suit for the ends of justice On the 6th April 1892 the plaintiff obtained a decree for partition and died in October 1893, leaving him surviving a minor son, who attained majority in February 1907. At a very late stage of the execution proceedings, the son made an application on the 16th April 1910 for the issue of a commission to effect partition according to the rights declared in the partition decree. Held that as soon as the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) came into force the suit abated so far as regarded the applicant's father who was a party, and the application to set aside the abatement by adding the applicant as the legal representative of the deceased not having been made within sixty days under Art. 171 of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908), the application was time barred. Held, further, that in a partition suit all the parties should be before the Court, and that there was nothing in the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) limiting or affecting the inherent power of the Court to make such orders as might be necessary for the ends of justice. LAHMICHAND REXA-CHAND v. KACHUBHAI GYADCHAND (1911)

PARTITION—contd

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 393

"Instruments of partition," meaning of—Undivided brothers—Instruments whereby co-owners divide property in severalty—Release—Partition—Stamp Instruments whereby co-owners of any property divide or agree to divide it in severalty are instruments of partition. One of three undivided brothers agreed to take from the eldest brother, the manager of the family, as his share in the family property, moveable and immovable, a certain cash and bonds for debts due to the family and passed to the eldest brother a document in the form of a release. Subsequently one of the two brothers passed to the eldest brother a document in the form of a release whereby he and the eldest brother divided the remaining family property by the latter handing over to the former securities for money. A question having arisen as to whether for the purpose of stamp duty, the said two documents were to be treated as releases or instruments of partition. Held, that the documents were instruments of partition. In re GOVIND PANDURANG KAMAT (1910)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 75

Final decree passed during pendency of appeal—Cross object ons filed against final decree—Appeal against preliminary decree maintainable Where the plaintiffs in a suit for partition had preferred an appeal from the preliminary decree, and had also, in the defendant's appeal from the final decree, filed cross objections, it was held that there was no bar to the hearing of the plaintiffs' appeal against the preliminary decree. Kuriya Mal v Bishambar Das, 1 L R 33 All 225, and Narain Das v Balgoond, 8 All L J 604, distinguished. MURAHMAD AHMED v HUSAIN KHAN v TASHADDUQ HUSAIN (1912)

I. L. R. 34 All. 493

Decree awarding shares, effect of Appeal—Death of a sharer leaving daughters—Decree for partition final—Severance effected by the decree can be displaced only by a legal decree in appeal. In a suit for partition the first Court passed a decree awarding to the sharers their respective shares. While an appeal against the decree was pending, one of the sharers died leaving two daughters. Thereupon a question having arisen as to whether the shares of the surviving sharers were liable to be increased owing to the death of the sharer pending the appeal. Held, that the pendency of the undecided appeal did not detract anything from the vitality or the force of the existing decree. Although the decree was under appeal, it was not the less a final decree of a competent Court. The decree, once made, there and then determined the legal status or relation of the parties and the severance of interest so effected by the decree at the moment it was pronounced could be displaced only by a legal decision in appeal. Salkaram Mahadev Dange v Hari Krishna Dange, 1 L R 6 Bom 113, explained. MAHADEV LAXMAN v GOVIND PARASH RAM (1912) 1 L R. 36 Bom. 550

PARTITION—contd

Agreement for — Consideration—
Dand fide claim for separate allotment for marriages of one brother's daughters—Agreement at or before partition to allot—Execution of promissory notes by each brother for his share of the amount—Previous suit for partition—Subsequent suit on promissory notes—S 43 Civil Procedure Code (Act VII of 1852), no bar—Cause of action distinct An agreement made between parties to a partition by which one brother was to pay money for the marriages of his brothers' daughters: whether it is made before the partition and subsequently embodied in the deed of partition or made at the time of partition is an enforceable contract as the agreement by the father of the daughters to other terms of the partition is sufficient consideration. A claim at the time of partition for the allotment of a separate sum of money out of the general funds for the performance of marriages of the daughters of one of the brothers to a partition is not altogether unfounded according to Hindu law. Even otherwise an agreement so to allot would be binding on the persons agreeing as one of the terms of a bond fide compromise constituting a settlement between the members of a family if there was a bond fide claim for the same at the time of partition. If an agreement so to pay a certain sum made by the other brothers at the time of partition becomes split up into various agreements by the execution of separate promissory notes by the other brothers, each for his share the obligation to pay the amounts of the promissory notes is distinct from the obligation to observe the other terms of the partition, so that a suit first brought for partition against all the brothers (s. 43, Civil Procedure Code Act XIV of 1852), does not bar the institution of a subsequent suit for the sum due from one of the brothers under the promissory note. "Cause of action," meaning of, explained. Venu v Raman, 1 L R 16 Mad 335, Seetha Ayyar v Krishna Ayyangar, 1 L R 24 Mad 96, Unad Dholechind v Pir Sahib Jinn Mijra 1 L R 7 Bom 131, Sunder Singh v. Bhola, 1 L R 29 All 323 and Moro Raghunath v Balaji Trimbal, 1 L R 17 Pom. 45, followed. Apparant v Ramasami, 1 L R 9 Mad 279, and Sakrangan Pillai v Syed Gulam Ghos, 1 L R 27 Mad 118, distinguished. Pranath Haskery v Bhadrath Prasad 1 L R 27 All 255 distinguished from. Per Curiam: If several promissory notes are executed for portions of the same debt, each promissory note creates a cause of action, and this would be as even if it be assumed that a suit might be instituted for the whole debt on the original cause of action. ANANTASARATHA IYER v SAVITHRI AMMAL (1913) 1 L R. 36 Mad. 151

Partition suit—Misjoinder of causes of action and parties—Prejudice—Res judicata amongst co-defendants—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s. 11 A suit for partition determines the shares of the co-sharers amongst themselves, and each co-sharer whether plaintiff or defendant, demanding a separate block for himself may prove his share and get a block for himself. Where the causes of action in respect of different items of property, the subject-matter of a suit for partition, appeared to be different, and the parties concerned in the claim to one such item appeared to be less numerous than those concerned in the claim for the other item the joining of them in one suit caused misjoinder of parties and causes of action. But such misjoinder of causes of action and parties did not entitle the appellant (who raised this point in his written statement) to have the decree set aside, particularly as the misjoinder had not prejudiced him and as, if the two separate suits had been brought on the separate causes of action, they would probably have had to be tried together. Where a co-sharer of the present plaintiff had sued to have his title declared to a taluk and the plaintiff and the defendant appellants had been made co-defendants, and the decision was that there had been a binding private partition confining the interests of each co-sharer to the allotment received by his or her predecessor and that that was not merely an informal division for convenience of possession. Held that, though the question of a previous partition was one which not only might and ought to have been, but actually was made the ground of defence in the former suit within the meaning of s. 11, Explan. IV, Civil Procedure Code, and though the present plaintiff was acting in that suit in the same interest as her cousin, it was impossible to hold that in the suit in which she and the appellants were co-defendants there was a conflict of interest between them, and that the judgment defined their rights and obligation inter se. The case accordingly did not come under the rule relating to res judicata among the defendants as laid down in Gurdeo Singh v Chandrika Singh, 1 L R 38 Calc. 193. SARODA PRASAD ROY CHAUDHURY v KAILASH BASHINI GUHA (1912)

PARTITION—contd

17 C. W. K. 123

Leasehold interest purchased in execution, allotted to one co-owner—Tenancy of the others, if subtenants—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 12—Registration and notice if necessary Where, upon partition amongst co-owners, a share of a taluk purchased in execution on behalf of all the co-owners fell into the share of one of them. Held, that the liability of the other co-owners to pay rent to the landlord of the taluk ceased. Prasanna Coomra Sinka v Ram Coomra Ghose, 1 L R 16 Calc. 610, R D Mehla v Godadkar Rai, 1 L R 37 Calc. 633; 14 C W N 83, Pranatha Nath v Kall Prasnana, 1 L R 25 Calc. 711, referred to. S. 12 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, the operation of which is confined to transfers by sale, gift, or mortgage, does not apply to a case of transfer by partition which does not therefore require to be registered and notified as contemplated by s. 12. RAM DROVE DHUK v SARDI CHANDRA SET (1912)

17 C. W. N. 313

Intrusion with for partition no bar to a second suit for the same purpose—In the year 1903 the plaintiff brought a suit for partition of a house held in joint tenancy. The suit was compromised, the defendant agreeing to transfer his rights to the plaintiff for a consideration, and was accordingly dismissed. The compromise, however, was not given effect to, and thereafter the plaintiff brought a second suit for partition. Held, that as soon as the defendant failed to carry out the compromise, the parties were relegated to their rights as they existed prior to the compromise. The right to bring a suit for partition, unlike other suits, is a continuing right incidental to the ownership of joint property and the second suit was, therefore, not barred. Nasratullah v Mujib-ullah, 1 L. R. 13 All 369, Bahadur Das v Lam Prasad 1 L. R. 28 All 627, and Mada v Mohan Mondul v Baidania Nath Mondul, 19 C. W. N. 539 followed. Gullandi Lal v Manna Lal, 1 L. R. 23 All 219 not followed. MURKHI v ARZAL Beg (1914). I. L. R. 37 All 155

PARTITION—contd.

Suit for, if lies without including the whole of the joint properties in the suit—Principle for Courts to follow in such cases—Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act (VII of 1887), s. 37 The plaintiffs and the defendants were the joint proprietors of a certain pargana which was partitioned by the Collector. At the time of the partition certain lands which were jungle or submerged were excluded from the partition, and kept joint. The plaintiff brought three suits to have the joint lands partitioned. Held, that it cannot be said that the general rule is that a joint owner cannot claim a partition of the joint property without bringing the whole of it under partition. The rule to be applied is much more elastic and what the Court has to consider in cases of this kind under s. 37 of the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887, is justice, equity and good conscience. HEM CHANDRA CHOWDHURY v HEMANTA KUMARI DEBI (1914)

19 C. W. N. 356

Suit for—If maintainable, without proof of actual or constructive possession—Possession by co-sharer when may be adverse—

Evidence necessary to establish adverse possession by co-tenant—Ouster of co-tenant how may be effected to create adverse possession—Land Registration Act, registration of name under effect of, if necessarily implies possession—Partition as distinguished from ejectment—Costs in partition suit before preliminary decree when defendant successfully contends plaintiff's claim for partition The plaintiff sought partition of an estate of which he claimed to own one anna share by purchase. He alleged that after his purchase he had his name registered under the Land Acquisition Act in place of his vendor and was in possession since the date of his purchase. The lower Court found that the plaintiff was in possession of his share and made a preliminary decree for partition. The defendants appealed. Held that although as a general rule the possession of one co-tenant is not deemed adverse to the other co-tenants the existence of the relation of co-tenancy does not preclude one co-tenant from establishing an adverse possession in fact as against the other co-tenants and though the co-tenant enters in the first instance without claiming adversely his possession afterwards may become adverse. In order to render the possession of one co-tenant adverse to the others not only must the occupancy be under an exclusive claim of ownership in denial of the rights of the other co-tenants but such occupancy must have been made known to the other co-tenants either by express notice or by such open and notorious acts as must have brought home to the other co-tenants knowledge of the denial of their rights. The evidence to show adverse possession by one co-tenant must be much clearer than between strangers to the title and the hostile intent of the co-tenant in possession must be shown by unequivocal conduct. The ouster of the other co-tenants in order to render the possession adverse need not be by violent or intimidating expulsion or repulsion, nor need notice of the adverse holding be actually brought home to the other co-tenant by personal or formal communication, but it is sufficient, if the contrary is not proved, that the circumstances show that such knowledge may reasonably be presumed. Held, that the registration of the name of a person under the Land Registration Act is some evidence of possession but the weight to be attached to this fact must depend upon the circumstances of each case. The fact that the plaintiff was able to get his name substituted in the place of his vendor does not necessarily show that he is in possession of any share of the estate. That the plaintiff having failed to prove that he had possession actual or constructive of any share of the disputed property was not entitled to maintain a suit for partition. That the remedy of the plaintiff was by a suit for joint possession and partition and on the plaintiff in a suit so framed court fees must be paid ad valorem. That partition is not a substitute for ejectment because partition implies an existing joint possession and enjoyment to be converted into possession in severalty. That although ordinarily in a suit for partition pure and simple the parties have to bear their own costs of the suit up to the stage of the preliminary decree, the plaintiff must in this case pay the costs of the defendants who have successfully contested his claim for partition. LOKE NATH SINGH v DHAKESWAR PRASAD NARAIN SINGH (1914)

PARTITION—contd.

20 C. W. N. 51

Suit for, if maintainable by a lessee of mining rights against lessor's co-owners—Partition of underground Mines and minerals if possible—Partition (Act IV of 1893), s. 2 According to the English authorities, it is clear that a lessee for a term of years must maintain a claim for partition. There is no reason for holding that a different rule prevails in India. The authority of Mulunda Lal Pal Chaudhary v Lekhwaraz, 1 L. R. 20 Cal 379, has been much shaken by the decision of the Full Bench in Hemadri Nath Thakur v Ramana Kanta Roy, 1 L. R. 24 Cal 575, s. c. 1 C. W. N. 406, Heaton v Dearden, 21 Bea 147 Bhagwat Sahai v Bepin Behari Mitter, 1 L. R. 37 Cal 318, s. c. 14 C. W. N. 962, and Baring v Vash 1 V & B 551 referred to. There may be no special difficulty in effecting a partition of the underground mines and minerals but in case any such difficulty arises the power to order a sale of under s. 2 of the Partition Act of 1893 may be exercised. LALIT KISHORE MITRA v THAKUR GIRDHARI SINGH (1916)

20 C. W. N. 1308

Previous partition suit instituted by third parties against present defendants and the vendor of the plaintiff—Issue regarding the share of the plaintiff's vendor being subject to other defendants' mokurari raised but expunged—Final decree in the previous partition suit passed on the basis of the mokurari interest and allocation made thereunder—Bar of res judicata to present suit—Explanation IV of s. 11, Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) In a previous partition suit instituted by Y against the present plaintiff's vendor T and the present defendants, an issue was raised as to the share of T being subject to the mokurars' interest of the other defendants but was expunged by the order of the Court. But when the partition was actually carried into effect the present defendants were allotted possession not only of their proprietary share but also the mokurars of the share which they claimed to hold under the daughter of T. In a subsequent partition suit instituted by the vendees of T against the defendants for a declaration that T's share was not subject to any mokurars and for allotting to the plaintiffs a separate takha out of the takha which was allotted to the defendants in the previous suit, Held that the question was not expressly decided in the previous suit and it was impossible to hold that a decision might and ought to have been obtained in the previous partition suit by T or the present plaintiffs, and that the defendants failed to make out that the plaintiffs were barred by the rule of res judicata. LATIF MUHAMMAD & BASDOK SINGH (1916).

PARTITION—contd

20 C W N 1177

Partition suit—Preliminary decree appeal preferred against, after final decree passed if lies. Where a preliminary decree for partition passed by a Munsif who affirmed by the Subordinate Judge and a second appeal therefrom was not filed until after the first Court had passed the final decree for partition and no appeal was preferred against this latter decree Held that the preliminary decree having been affirmed by the final decree and the final decree itself not being the subject of any appeal, no second appeal lay against the preliminary decree. Khirodamoyi Das v Adhar Chandra Ghose, 18 C L J 321, followed. Pam Nath Singh v Basanta Narain Singh, 17 C W N 858, distinguished. SADHU CHARAN DUTTA v HARANATH DUTTA (1914).

20 C W N 281

Partition suit—Preliminary decree, appeal against—Final decree passed pending the appeal against preliminary decree—No appeal filed against final decree—Whether appeal against preliminary decree can proceed. Where in a partition suit a preliminary decree was passed on 29th May 1913 and an appeal was filed against it on 3rd July 1913, but a final decree was passed on 27th September 1913 despite the objection of the appellant that the final decree should not be passed until the appeal has been disposed of, and no appeal was filed against the final decree and the hearing of the appeal against the preliminary decree was objected to on the ground that the appeal could not proceed inasmuch as a final decree had been passed in the case and no appeal had been preferred against that decree Held on a review authority, that the preliminary objection should be overruled. The appeal could be heard although a final decree had been passed in the case and no appeal had been filed against that decree. Kanahya Lal v Turben Sahai, 1 L P 36 All 639, Pam Nath Singh v Basanta Narain Singh, 17 C W N 858 n. c 13 C L J 209, Anisatini Deb v Rai Mohun Bhowas 18 C L J 214, Abdul Jalil v Amar Chand Paul, 13 C L J 223, Atul Chandra Singh v Kunja Behari Singh, 22 C L J 98, and Lakshmi v Marna Devi, 1 L B 27, Mad. 29 followed. Khirodamoyi Das v Adhar Chandra Ghose 18 C L J 321, Sadhu Charan Dutta v Hara Nath Dutta, 27 I. C 135,

PARTITION—contd

distinguished. WANDUCKINA v DEEP NARAIN PRASAD (1916)

20 C W N 1174

1 Pat. L. J. 405

Temple—Rights of management of—Joint Hindu family Held, that no suit will lie by a member of a joint Hindu family for partition of the right of management and superintendence of worship in a temple, such right, being in respect of property with regard to which none of the parties claim to have any personal pecuniary interest. Sri Ram Lalji Maharaj v Sri Gopal Lalji Maharaj, 1 L. R. 19 All 428, and Ramasathan Chetty v Marugappa Chetty 1 I R 27 Mad 192, and, in appeal, 1 L R 29 Mad 253, referred to. PURAN MAL v BIRJ LAL (1917).

1 L. R. 39 All 651

Jurisdiction—Partition Act (IV of 1893), s. 4—"Court"—"dwelling-house." A, B and C were the joint owners of a property. A sold his share to Z, Z instituted a suit for partition. B and C claimed to purchase Z's share under s. 4 of the Partition Act. The Court of first instance made a preliminary decree and appointed a Commissioner and subsequently made a final decree. B and C appealed. The Lower Appellate Court remanded the case for the determination of the suit under s. 4 of the said Act. Held, that the word 'Court' in s. 4 of the Partition Act included the Appellate Court. The latter like the trial Court was bound upon any member of the family who was a shareholder undertaking to buy the share of the transferee to make an appropriate order in pursuance of which the steps necessary to carry out the provisions of the section would be taken either in the one Court or in the other. Held, also, that in connection with a conveyance or a partition of a "dwelling house" the word would generally mean not only the house itself but also the land and appurtenances which were ordinarily and reasonably necessary for its enjoyment. Kehrodar Chander Ghosal v Sarada Prasad Mitra, 12 C L J 525, referred to. PRAN KRISHNA BHASDARI v SURATH CHANDRA ROY (1918).

1 L. R. 45 Cal. 873

Talukhs situate in different mousahs—Separation of interest in lands of a taluk appertaining to one mousah—"Imperfect" partition—Proceedings in Revenue Court—Jurisdiction of Civil Court—Assam Land and Revenue Regulation (I of 1886), ss. 96, 97, 154 (c). The plaintiffs brought a suit for declaration that certain partition proceedings instituted in the Revenue Court were ultra vires and contrary to the provisions of the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation. The defendant, who was the applicant in those proceedings had applied for partition of his 5 annas 15 gandas share in the lands of a certain taluk named Alam Raja, to which a 6 annas 15 gandas share was specifically allotted, as appertaining to mousah Dhal. This mousah also comprised 5 other talukhs. Besides the lands contained in mousah Dhal, these 5 talukhs had also lands situate in various other mousahs. Plaintiff No. 1 was the owner of 1 anna share in the said taluk Alam Raja in respect of the abovementioned specifically allotted share and he, together with plaintiffs Nos. 2, 3 and 4, was co-sharer in the other 5 talukhs in mousah Dhal. Held that the defendant was entitled to obtain from the Revenue Authorities the separation and allotment to his estate of its proportionate share in lands common to that estate and the 5 other estates Abdul Khaliq Ahmed v Abdul Khaliq Chowdhury, 1 L. R. 23 Calc 514, and Sarat Chandra Purkayastha v. Prokash Chandra Das, 1 L. J. 24 Calc 751, referred to Held, also, that s 97 (1) (b) of the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation did not appear to require that the applicant and those consenting to his application should have a preponderating interest in each parcel of land sought to be divided, and it seemed sufficient that the applicant should hold, as he did, a share which was more than half of the estate Alam Raja, whose proportionate share in the common lands was to be carved out Per TRIVON J The special objection taken here by the plaintiff No 1 (that the defendant could not obtain a partition of the lands appertaining to taluk Alam Raja in mouza Dhal, without partitioning the lands of that estate in other mouzas) may be taken before them (the Revenue Authorities) and will doubtless be decided with due regard to the provisions contained, for instance, in ss 100 and ss 105 to 109 BRJENDRA KISHORE ROY CHOWDHURY v HARI KUMAR CHOWDHURY (1915)

PARTITION—contd

L. L. R. 46 Calc 236

Property assessed for Revenue—Civil Procedure Code (1908), O XX, r 18 (1), s 54—Suit for declaration of share in family property, being immoveable property assessed to land revenue—Specific Relief Act (1 of 1877), s 42—Consequential relief Where the whole of the property which is the subject matter of a suit for partition consists of landed property assessed to revenue, the suit would be governed by the provisions of O XX, r 18, cl (1) and s 54 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and all that a Civil Court can do is to give a decree declaring the amount of the plaintiff's share as against the defendant and leaving the plaintiff to take any steps he may think proper for the actual partition of his share in the Revenue Court RUFAN RAI v SUBH KARAN RAI (1918)

L. L. R. 41 All. 207

Mesne Profits—Suit for partition—Preliminary decree—Omission to direct an inquiry as to—Final decree, whether can award or direct inquiry—Civil Procedure Code (Act 1 of 1908), O XX, rr 12 and 20 Where a preliminary decree in a partition suit has either intentionally or inadvertently omitted to direct an inquiry into mesne profits the final decree cannot award mesne profits or direct an inquiry regarding the same Rules 12 and 18 of O XX of the Civil Procedure Code, compared Venkameswari Maha Lalakumamma v Venkameswari Rajamma, 43 I C 453, and Maimod Routh v Duraisami Natchai (A. A. O 277 of 1917—unreported), dissenting from Duraisami v Subramania 1 L R 41 Mad. 188 referred to GUGULAM BIVIA AHAMAD SA FOWLER (1918) . 1 L R 42 Mad. 296

Private partition, whether a bar to subsequent revenue partition—Suit for declaration that order of Board of Revenue directing revenue partition is bad, maintainability of—Private partition proceedings lost in antiquity, effect of—Devolution of interest of original partitioners—Estates Partition Act (Ben Act V of 1897) ss 15 and 22 The existence of a private partition is a bar to the re partition of property s 25 of the Estates Partition Act, 1897, does not bar a suit for a declaration that by reason of a former partition an order of the Board of Revenue directing a revenue partition to proceed is bad, and for an injunction restraining the defendants from proceeding further with the partition on the strength of that order Where parties have for a number of years acquiesced in the result of a partition it must be presumed that they or their predecessors in interest were parties to the original partition It must also be presumed that all interests created subsequently to the original partition amount merely to devolutions of the interests of the parties who made the original partition, and that the holders of the new interests are representatives of the original partitioners and are bound by their acts MAHMO CHAUDHRY v MUKESI CHAUDHRY

PARTITION—contd

3 Pat. L. J. 183

Res judicata—Whether partition effected by a Civil Court decree can be re opened in a subsequent suit—Estates Partition Act (Ben Act V of 1897), s 12 A partition effected by Civil Court decree cannot be re opened in a subsequent suit in a Civil Court The law does not provide for a suit in a Civil Court in which separated estates can be divested and a co tenancy re created for the purpose of making a fresh partition s 12 of the Estates Partition Act, 1897, confirms the view that existed previous to that enactment that a Civil Court has jurisdiction to execute a decree for partition of a revenue paying estate, provided that it does not assume jurisdiction to partition the liability for the land revenue Smble that in the event of a party applying to the Collector for a partition of the land revenue after partition has been effected by the Civil Court it would be open to the Collector to reconsider the allotment of the shares granted in Civil Court proceedings DEVI SARAN SINGH v RAJAKAN NATH DUFFY

4 Pat. L. J. 19

“Imperfect” partition—Civil Court, jurisdiction of—Assam Land and Revenue Regulation (1 of 1888), ss 3 (b) 86, 87, 154—Regulation VIII of 1890, s 11—Regulation XIX of 1814, s 4—Ben Act VIII of 1876 s 112—Ben Act V of 1897, s 24 The Revenue Court has jurisdiction under the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation of 1888 to effect partition of an estate even when the lands of that estate, in whole or in part are joint within the lands of other estates Abdul Khaliq Ahmed v Abdul Khaliq Chowdhury, 1 L. R. 23 Calc 514, and Sarat Chandra Purkayastha v Prokash Chandra Das Chowdhury, 1 L. J. 24 Calc 751, approved Cowri Krishna v Sabananda Sarma, 1 L. R. 32 Calc 1036, and Brjendra Kishore Roy Chowdhury v Koli Kumar Chowdhury 1 L R 46 Calc 236 commented on Doorga Kant Lakshy v Radha Mohan Choh Neogy, 7 W P 51, and Oomah Chunder Shaha v Manik Bonick 8 W R 128, referred to YASIN ALI MIRDHA v RADHAGOBINDA CHAUDHRY (1910) 1 L R 47 Calc 354

PARTITION ACT (IV OF 1893).

ss 1, 2, 3—Partition—Mortgagee rights in a revenue paying mahal—Application for sale by owners of less than 1 moiety—United Provinces Land Revenue Act (111 of 1907), s 107 Mortgagee rights merely in a revenue paying mahal do not fall within the jurisdiction of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901, for the purposes of partition consequently the provisions of the Partition Act, 1893, apply to the partition amongst co-owners of such rights. But an order for sale of the mortgage rights under s. 2 of the Partition Act will not be valid unless based upon the request of a party or parties interested to the extent of one moiety or upwards. HANU LAL v. BHANTI PRASAD (1913)

PARTITION ACT (IV OF 1893)—contd.—ss. 1, 2, 3—contd.

I. L. R. 35 All. 337

—s. 4—

See PARTITION I. L. R. 45 Calc. 873

Suit for partition—Undertaking by defendants to purchase plaintiff's share in the subject matter of the suit. Where the defendant to a suit for partition by metes and bounds has definitely undertaken, according to the provisions of s. 4 of the Partition Act, 1893, to purchase the share of the plaintiffs in the property sought to be partitioned, he cannot be permitted to rescind from his undertaking, and the court is bound to direct a sale. ILIAS AHMAD v. BELAQI CHAND (1917)

I. L. R. 39 All. 672

PARTITION AND POSSESSION.—suit for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. V, R. 3

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 365

PARTITION BY COLLECTOR.

See JOINT ESTATE I. L. R. 43 Calc. 103

See PARTITION

PARTITION DECREE.

See NUISANCE 14 C. W. N. 637

PARTITION DEED.

See STAMP ACT (II OF 1899), SCH. I, ART. 53 I. L. R. 38 All. 58

PARTITION SUIT.

See COSTS FEES

3 Pat. L. J. 863

See PARTITION

See PRACITION (23) I. L. R. 44 Calc. 28

—claim for future profits—

See MENS PROFITS

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 954

Plaintiff a purchaser from minor co-parcener—Fresh sale-deed subsequently obtained after attainment of majority—Whether defect is title cured—Practice and procedure. The plaintiff who was a purchaser from a minor co-parcener, sued for partition of the family property. The minor co-parcener, who was made a party defendant after the attainment of his majority, passed a fresh sale-deed in plaintiff's favour during the progress of the suit. It was contended that the plaintiff, being a purchaser from a minor, had no right to sue and that the defect in title was not cured by the new sale-deed obtained. Held, the suit was maintainable. PER MACLEOD, C. J. "It seems to me, therefore, this is purely a matter of form which could have been cured equally well by the trial Judge by making Waman [See the minor] a party plaintiff instead of continuing him as a defendant, and by then directing partition of the property. VISHNU NARAYAN v. SHIVRAM RAONCHWAT (1920)

PARTITION SUIT—contd.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 883

PARTNER.—Death of—

See PARTNERSHIP BUSINESS

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 906

—Liability of incoming partner—

See TRADE MARK I. L. R. 40 Calc. 814

—Payment by—

See LIMITATION ACT (1908), ss. 19 AND

20 I. L. R. 37 Mad. 146

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 427

—Suit by for partial settlement of accounts—

See PARTNERSHIP

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 331

PARTNERSHIP.

See ANSARI ACT (BOM. V OF 1878) s. 16, 43 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 320

See APPEAL

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 914

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), O. XVII, R. 4 I. L. R. 39 All. 531

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872)—

s. 47 I. L. R. 32 All. 638

s. 261, 263 I. L. R. 42 Mad. 15

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I. L. R. 43 All. 116

See PARTNERSHIP ACT

—acknowledgment of liability or payment by partner—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), ss. 21, (2), 19 AND 20 I. L. R. 37 Mad. 146

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 427

—agreement to enter into—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 23

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 64

—dissolution of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), s. 16 (a), (d) I. L. R. 41 All. 513

See COSTS FEES ACT (VII OF 1870), s. 7, SCH. II, CLS. 3, 4

I. L. R. 32 All. 517

See MINOR I. L. R. 42 Calc. 225

See SOLICITOR'S LIEN FOR COSTS

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 434

—Suit for dissolution in British Indian Courts—Partnership business carried on outside Jurisdiction of court—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 20 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 128

—Suit for dissolution of, by a partner who has been guilty of misconduct—

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 254

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 3

PARTNERSHIP—contd.winding-up of—See APPEAL . I. L. R. 42 Cal. 914

1. — Arbitration—Accounts—Managing partners, liability of—Onus—Reference to arbitration of claim of firm against customers by one partner, when binds firm—Reference after suit for dissolution One partner is not competent without special authority to bind the firm by a submission to arbitration Administrator General v. Official Assignee, I. L. R. 32 Mad 462, distinguished. Rambharose v. Kallu Mal, I. L. R. 22 All 135, Duttachoy v. Vallu, 1 Bom. L. R. 528, approved. The liability of co partners to account, and how and to what extent it arises, discussed. HAKI MAHAMMAD AKBAR v. DWARKA NATH SIKHAR (1910) 14 C. W. N. 1108

ON APPEAL, 18 C. W. N. 1025

2. — Accounts—Money received after dissolution—Partner whose remedy for general account is barred may sue to recover share of item received after dissolution A partner whose remedy against his co partner for a general account is barred, can recover his share of a particular item of assets received after the dissolution of the partnership, if it be open to the defendant co partner to ask the Court to take accounts with a view to show that the plaintiff had received more than his share in the partnership assets. Sokkanadha Vanni Mundar v. Sokkanadha Vanni Mundar, I. L. R. 23 Mad 344, followed. THIRUVENGADA MEDALIAR v. SADAGORA MEDALIAR (1910) . . . I. L. R. 34 Mad. 112

3. — Adjusted account—Settlement of basis of account—Final adjustment not signed—Pleadings, want of precision in, if material—Limitation—Cross demands in partnership account—New cause of action from adjustment—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sec. 1, Arts. 64, 115 and 120 When parties had agreed on the 2nd April 1905 that a settlement of partnership accounts between them should be made upon a certain basis and the final adjustment took place on the 20th August 1906 and entries to that effect were made in the books on that date but not signed by the parties, in a suit brought on the 16th April to recover the amount due on such adjustment—Held, that it was an adjustment which gave rise to a fresh cause of action as from date, and whether it was Art. 115 or Art. 120 of the Limitation Act that applied, the suit was not barred. When the plaint did not specify the day on which the adjustment took place but approximately indicated the time and proof was furnished of exact date at the hearing—Held, that there was nothing in the pleadings which should prevent the Judge from arriving at any conclusion on the evidence adduced as to the date. JALIM SINGH SRIMAL v. CROOKER LALL JOURNEY (1911) . . . 15 C. W. N. 882

4. — Representative carrying after partner's death—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 253 (10)—Partnership business carried on after death of partner on the assumption of representative continuing as partner—Widow of deceased, a pardawashin lady, not taking any part in business and not examining accounts—Accountability of working partners—Accounts to commence from beginning of partnership, if accounts not settled—Partnership money, diversion of—Accounting with interest or profits—Remuneration to working

PARTNERSHIP—contd

partner—Balancing of accounts, effect of. Where on the death of a partner the business was carried on on the assumption that his widow was a partner: Held, that the conduct of the parties showed that there must have been a contract between the original parties that the partnership would not be dissolved by the death of a partner within the meaning of cl. (10) of s. 253 of the Indian Contract Act, but should be continued with the representative of the deceased as a partner. The mere balancing of account in a book of account does not itself constitute an account stated, much less does it constitute an account settled which the parties cannot reopen. In a general account of partnership dealings, the time from which the account is to be in the commencement of the partnership unless some account has since that time been settled by the partners in which case the last settled account will be the point of departure. Where one of the partners having the right to examine the partnership accounts did not for a long time exercise the right. Held, that unless fraud was established purchases and sales in respect of the business by the working partners should not be challenged, but they were bound to account for sums withdrawn from the partnership business and applied for purposes unconnected therewith with the profits realised therefrom or with interest at the option of the partner demanding the account. Where one of the partners wilfully leaves the others to carry on the partnership business unaided, the Court may upon dissolution decree an allowance in favour of the partner who had carried on the business alone. GOKUL KRISHNA DAS v. SASHIMUKHI DAS (1911)

16 C. W. N. 299

5. — Accounts—Partnership accounts—Banking concern, joint—Deposit by a partner payable with interest—Suit to recover deposit if maintainable—Suit if maintainable when suit for dissolution and accounts previously instituted—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 10 Where it was arranged between the mortgagor and guardian of plaintiff, a minor partner of a banking concern, and his co partners that each of the partners would be entitled to draw a certain fixed monthly allowance from the bank for personal expenses, but the minor's allowance was by arrangement not taken out but permitted to accumulate with interest in the bank, and in a suit for dissolution and accounts by the plaintiff he applied for an order on the Receiver appointed in the suit to pay the amount of the deposit with interest, but the decision of the Court being adverse, he instituted a fresh suit for the recovery of deposits with interest less one third, the proportion recoverable from himself as a partner, but the suit was dismissed, and pending an appeal from the order of dismissal the plaintiff obtained an order of the High Court in revision directing an account to be taken of the amount alleged to be in deposit if plaintiff's appeal should fail. Held, that the suit was rightly dismissed as barred by the provisions of s. 10 of the Civil Procedure Code, as the matter in issue in the suit was directly and substantially in issue in the previously instituted suit. To stay the suit according to the strict language of s. 10 until by the decision of the previous suit the matter would be res judicata was needless. Obiter—Though, in general principle, the claim of a partner against a joint banking

PARTNERSHIP—contd.

concern must, in course of winding up proceedings, be postponed to those of outsiders, there may be cases in which the complete solvency of the bank is admitted and a partner might sue, like any other customer, for the taking separately of his private account as a customer and for the recovery of the balance found standing to his credit. Relief in such a case will only be refused when a partial account will work in justice to the other partners. Landlay on Partnership, p 532 and Karris Venkata Reddy v Kollu Narasayya, 7 L R 32 Mad. 76, 80, relied on. MONADEO PRASAD SAHU v GADADHAR PRASAD SAHU (1912)

16 C. W. N. 887

6. ——— Novation—Suit for an account on the footing of continuance of original partnership—Suit not maintainable. A testator appointed his widow as the guardian of his minor children and executrix (by tenor) of his will. On his death the widow consented to the retention of the testator's share in a partnership business by the surviving partners and subsequently to a transfer of the same to another business. In an action brought by one of the testator's sons as administrator against the surviving partners for an account of all the assets of the testator at the time of his death retained, and employed by the defendants in their business. Held dismissing the suit that the testator's widow was perfectly competent as his executrix to enter into the arrangement, which was a novation with the surviving partners so as to bind the estate, and the suit against the partners on the footing of a continuance of the original partnership was not maintainable. JAMNATHJI NARAYANJI v HIRJIJIJI NAOROLI (1912)

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 158

7. ——— Accounts—Suit for accounts of—Necessary parties—Representative of deceased partner, admission of one after period of limitation—Whole suit, if barred—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) s 22. Art 106. The plaintiff brought a suit for the accounts of a partnership making parties thereto his other partners and one only of the two sons of a deceased partner who died after the partnership business came to an end but before the suit was instituted. On the objection being taken the other son of the deceased partner was brought on the record after the expiration of the period of limitation. Held, that inasmuch as all the partners or their representatives were necessary parties and inasmuch as under s 22 of the Limitation Act the suit must as regards the added defendant, be deemed to have been instituted when he was made a party the whole suit was barred by limitation. That in a partnership suit the partners must be made parties or the suit will fail. AMBIKA CHABAN GUHA v. TAJIB CHABAN CHANDA (1913)

18 C. W. N. 464

8. ——— What constitutes—Agreement for joint venture in business—Contract Act (IX of 1872) s 239, illustration (a) 249, 251, 252—Liability of co-adventurers against whom there is no document of debt binding on its face—Operations of buying and selling natural to a partnership, and for the partnership—Liability of both defendants on hundis drawn separately by each for payment of his own share of goods—Criterion as to transaction being or not being a partnership transaction. The respondents carrying on business in Mauritius and having separate offices in Bombay made an agreement for one year "for the purpose of doing business

PARTNERSHIP—contd.

in partnership" in brown sugar to be shipped from Mauritius to Hongkong and there disposed of on commission sale by the appellant, a Bombay merchant with an agency at Hongkong, the profits of the joint venture to be shared by the respondents equally. The shipments were to be made jointly in Mauritius, a half share by each of the respondents, each one drawing hundis against his own half share, and separate account sales of their respective shares to be rendered to them by the appellant who undertook to arrange for the necessary credit if the Banks in Mauritius would not discount the hundis drawn by the respondents, and an endorsement to that effect was made on the agreement and signed by the appellant. The terms of the agreement were carried out and shipments of sugar were made, but in respect of the hundis drawn by each respondent against his half share recourse was not had first to the Banks in Mauritius, but the hundis were at once drawn on and accepted by the appellant at Bombay. The shipments resulted in a loss. The first respondent had, when the hundis drawn by him became due, retired them, but the second respondent who had become insolvent, had not retired the hundis of which he was the drawer with the result that the appellant whose name was on the hundis as acceptor had to retire them. In a suit by the appellant against the respondents and the Official Assignee for the money advanced to pay the hundis, the first respondent alone defended it, his defence being that he had paid all the hundis drawn by him, and was not liable for those drawn by the second respondent. Held (reversing the decision of the Court of Appeal in India), that the agreement created a "partnership" between the respondents within the definition in s 239 of the Contract Act (IX of 1872) which governed the case. But it was a partnership of a limited character, and consequently liability to be enforced against one partner, when there was no document of debt which on its face bound him, could only be justified if it was shown that what he did was within the operations natural to the partnership and for the partnership. On the terms of the agreement the purchase of the sugar under it became a purchase for the partnership and any one who sold the sugar or advanced money by which the sugar was bought was crediting the partnership with goods or money. If either party in the case bought sugar and then re-sold it under the provision in the agreement for re-sale in Mauritius he could not refuse his co-adventurer a share of the profit he made. The joint adventure began not when the goods were shipped, but from the moment the sugar was bought. The appellants too was acquainted with the whole terms and conditions of the agreement, and knew therefore that by advance of credit he was helping the partnership in its purchase of sugar. That credit was not given in the precise way contemplated by the agreement; but that the respondents availed themselves of the appellant's credit appeared on the hundis themselves. When a drawer discounts an acceptance which is given at a time when the acceptor owes no money to the drawer, it is idle to say that the drawer does not avail himself of the acceptor's credit. Moreover on the evidence of the first respondent himself in cross examination "the sugar purchased was all paid for by the hundis accepted by the appellant." As to the criterion to be applied to the particular facts of

PARTNERSHIP—contd.

each case in order to see whether the transaction is or is not a partnership transaction, the cases of Gouthwaite v Duckworth, 12 East 421, 426, Saville v. Robertson, 4 T. R 720, and Heap v Dobson, 15 C. B. N. S. 469, in the English Courts; and Cunningham v. Kinnear, 2 Pat. App. Cas 114, British Linen Company v. Alexander, 15 D 277, and White v. McIntyre, 3 D 334, in the Scottish Courts; and Bell's Commentaries on the Principles of Mercantile Jurisprudence, s. 395, were referred to. KARMALI ABDULLA v KARANJI JIWANJI (1914)

L. L. R. 39 Bom. 281

9. ——— Partition on dissolution—Disputes as to whether a mortgage bound one or both partners—Compromise admitting debt to be in part payable by each—Suit by Mortgagee decreed against one partner only—Other partner if relieved from paying his admitted share of debt—Payment of whole debt by other partner—Contribution. Following on a dissolution of partnership between L and B L sued B for partition, and one of the questions in dispute was whether a mortgage of the partnership property by B in favour of N was payable by B alone or by both partners equally. A decree was passed on compromise by which L undertook to pay Rs 8,200 to the mortgagee and B that he should free L's portion of the property from the mortgage. L paid only Rs 200 to N, who thereafter to enforce his mortgage brought a suit in which it was eventually decided that the mortgage bound only B's share, and N was paid off by sale of B's share. B's representatives then sued L for Rs 8,000. Held, that by the compromise L admitted that the debt due to N was a partnership debt whereof L was liable to pay Rs 8,200, and from that moment Rs 8,200 became a debt due by L to N for the purpose of adjustment between the ex partners, and it was not open to L's representatives to get out of the compromise by which L was bound, by saying that if N's suit had been then decided, L would have found himself free of the liability without entering into the undertaking to pay Rs 8,200. B having had to pay what L should have, to make good the terms of the compromise L was bound to pay it too. PAMMAL V NARSING DAS (1914)

19 C. W. N. 193

10. ——— Contribution—In satisfaction of debt incurred jointly for partnership purposes, if lies. The plaintiff and the defendants borrowed money for carrying on a joint business. The creditor obtained a decree against them but executed it against the plaintiff alone and realised the entire amount from him. The plaintiff brought a suit for contribution against each of the defendants for the sum payable by him in respect of the debt. The finding was that the money was borrowed by the plaintiff and the defendants jointly and was applied for the partnership business that there had been no adjustment of accounts as alleged by the defendants and the plaintiff had not been paid the sum due to him. Held, that a suit for contribution was obviously maintainable. That s. 43 of the Contract Act in the absence of a contrary intention appearing from the contract between the parties did not stand in the way of the plaintiff. LABAN SARKAR v CHOYEN MALLIK (1914) . 19 C. W. N. 783

11. ——— Suit against other partners for damages for use of partnership property—maintainability of G, the owner of a mill, entered into a partnership agreement with two other persons in respect of the mill business. The mill was placed at the disposal of and used by the firm thus constituted. Cash was to be supplied by one of the partners and the profits were to be distributed in certain proportions. A suit for dissolution of partnership was instituted, and while this was pending the plaintiff purchased the right, title and interest of G in the mill and subsequently sued the members of the partnership firm for recovery of damages for use and occupation of the mill. Held, that whether the mill became part of the partnership assets by the deed of partnership, or continued to be the private property of G, the plaintiff's suit was in either case not maintainable. MAHENDRAN v JAYAKANDAR NATH RAO (1914) . L. L. R. 42 Calc. 1179

PARTNERSHIP—contd.

19 C. W. N. 1115

12. ——— What constitutes—Partner purchasing partnership property—When permissible—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 180—Bailor and bailee—Either may maintain an action against a wrong doer—What constitutes partnership—Partner entitled to purchase partnership property—Action for settled account. A partnership is constituted whenever the parties have agreed to carry on business or to share the profits in some way in common. Mellors, March v Court of Wards, 10 B. L. R. 312, Poolley v Druer, 5 C. B. D. 458 referred to. A partner is entitled to purchase partnership property provided there is full disclosure and the parties are at arm's length. It is only where the real truth is concealed and the facts are not disclosed that one partner has legitimate grievance against another. Dunne v English, L. R. 18 Eq. 524 Imperial Mercantile Credit Association v Coleman, L. R. 6 H. L. 182, referred to. An action for the balance of a settled account would not be restrained merely because there were other unsettled accounts between the parties. Hawson v Samuel, (1833) Cr. & Ph. 161 Preston v Strutton, 1 Anst. 50, referred to. S. 180 of the Contract Act provides that if a third person deprives the bailee of the use or possession of the goods bailed or does them any injury, the bailee is entitled to use such remedies as the owner might have used in the like case, if no bailment had been made, and either the bailor or the bailee may bring a suit against a third person for such deprivation or injury. Giles v Grover, 6 Blyth N. S. 277, Jefferies v G. W. Railway Co., 5 El. & Bl. 802, Manders v Williams, 4 Exch. 339, referred to. RAMNATH GAGOI v PITAMBAR DEB GOSWAMI (1915) . L. L. R. 43 Calc. 733

13. ——— Partner, if entitled to interest on advance made. The appellant and the respondent were partners who agreed to contribute an equal amount of capital but in fact the appellant contributed a much larger amount than the respondent. Held (in a suit for dissolution of partnership and adjustment of accounts), that, upon the general rule that interest between partners is not allowed unless there is express stipulation or a particular course of dealing between the parties as shown by the partnership books or a trade custom to the contrary, has been engrafted an important qualification, namely, that an advance by a partner to the firm is treated not as an increase of its capital but rather as a loan on which interest should be paid and that subject to any agreement between the parties interest is payable on money paid or advanced by one partner for partnership purposes beyond the amount of capital which he had agreed to subscribe. That the respondent who claimed the benefit of the profits which accrued from the sums advanced to the partnership business by the defendant was bound in justice to make an allowance for interest on those sums to the partner.

PARTNERSHIP—cont'd

GOBINDA CHANDRA BASAK v HARIDAS BASAK (1915) 20 C. W. N. 634

14. — Partner borrowing for partnership purposes.—Promissory note, executed by two of three partners—No indication in promissory note of execution on behalf of partnership—Liability of the partner who was not a party to the note. A promissory note was executed by two out of three partners of a firm for money then advanced to the executants for purposes of the firm. The promissory note did not contain any indication that it was executed on behalf of the firm. In a suit on the note by the promisee. Held, that even the third partner who did not execute the note was liable. Per SRIVATSA AYYANGAR, J. (dissent). An endorsee of the note cannot recover against the partner not executing the note. As-mah Abdulla v Karimji Jitaji, 1 L. R. 39 Bom. 261 followed. Somasundaram v Krishnamurthi, 17 Mad. L. J. 126, and Muthu Sastry v Viswanatha Pandhara Sannadhi, 26 Mad. L. J. 79, distinguished.

SHANMUGAYYA CHETTIAR v SRIVATSA AYYAR (1916) I. L. R. 40 Mad. 727

15. — By manager of joint Hindu family with strangers.—Right of other members of family to institute suits in respect of partnership. A contract of partnership entered into by the manager of a joint Hindu family with strangers does not ipso facto make the other members of the family partners, and not being partners, the other members whether divided or undivided cannot institute any suit in respect of partnership (e. g.) a suit for dissolution of partnership. Sokkanadha Vennimundar v Sollenadha Vennimundar, 1 L. R. 28 Mad. 344, and Ramanathan Chetty v Yegappa Chetty, 30 Mad. L. J. 211, applied. Jacpoody Sarayya v Lakshmanaswamy, 1 L. R. 36 Mad. 135, distinguished. GARGATTA v VEN. KATARAMAN (1917) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 454

16. — Boat-co-owners of—Employment of boat to earn freight—Partnership in freight.—Suit for dissolution, whether maintainable. S. 329, Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872). Where the co-owners of a boat employ it to earn freight, they become partners in respect of such earnings and a suit for dissolution of such partnership is maintainable although the plaintiff being only a co-owner is not entitled to a decree for the sale of the boat employed by the partnership. VARADATI SATTIRAJU v BOLLAPRAGADA PALLAN (1913) I. L. R. 42 Mad. 693

17. — Death of one partner leaving a minor son.—Suit by surviving partner against minor for rendition of accounts—Procedure. One of two partners in a specific business who was alleged to have been the managing partner, died, leaving him surviving a minor son. The other partner used the minor, as his father's representative, for rendition of accounts and for payment of what might be found due to him (the plaintiff). Held, that suit was maintainable, but the proper procedure was for the Court to direct both sides to produce their accounts and thereafter to pass a decree for whatever sum might appear to be due from one party to the other. SHANKAR LAL v RAM BABU (1918) I. L. R. 40 All. 448

PARTNERSHIP—cont'd

18. — Dissolution—Right to sue for where it cannot be carried on except at a loss.—Clause in partnership agreement stating date agreed upon for termination of partnership—Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 252, 254, sub s. (6)—Right to protection of Court on equitable grounds—Discretion of Court to grant dissolution. The defendants (respondents) a firm of contractors had undertaken the construction of the new Alexandra Dock in Bombay and they required for the work a large supply of granite and other stone. For that purpose they formed a partnership with the plaintiff (now represented by the appellants) for the quarrying and supplying the required materials. By cl. 4 of the deed of partnership it was agreed that "the working of the quarries, and the partnership should continue until the supply of granite or other stone for the construction of the dock was completed, and that the partnership should then terminate and be wound up." The plaintiff, finding after a time that the partnership could not be carried on except at a loss brought a suit for its dissolution and for an account before the supply of granite and stone had been completed, and the defendants contended that the suit was premature. Held (reversing on this point the decision of the appellate High Court which had set aside that of the trial Judge), that, notwithstanding the terms of cl. 4, the plaintiff was entitled on the ground alleged, and under the circumstances of the case, to have a dissolution under sub s. (6) of s. 254 of the Contract Act (IX of 1872). There was nothing in s. 252 of that Act to constitute a bar to such a suit. A partner's claim to a decree for dissolution rested, in its origin not on contract, but on his inherent right to invoke the Court's protection on equitable grounds, in spite of the terms on which the rights and obligations of the partners might have been regulated and defined by the partnership contract. There was no ground for questioning or disturbing the discretion given by the Act and exercised by the original Court in making a decree for dissolution in the plaintiff's favour. REINMATHCHESIA BEGLI v PRICE (1917) I. L. R. 42 Bom. 330

19. — Contract whether one of partnership or service—Grounds for dissolution.—Accounts. Upon the construction of the document in question the relation between the parties was held to be that of partners and not master and servants. Refusal and neglect on the part of any one to perform the duties undertaken by him would give to any other partner the right to apply for dissolution but for dissolution by agreement the consent of all is necessary. The fact however that certain partners deliberately ceased to perform their duties would be taken into consideration in taking accounts. W. KRISHNAYA CHARIAR v. A. SANKARA SAH I. L. R. 25 C. W. N. 314

20. — Death of one partner—Liability of surviving Partner for profits made in the business subsequent to the death of the deceased partner. Where on the death of one partner, the surviving partner continued the business. Held, that he was liable to give to the representative of the deceased partner a share in the profits of the business which may have accrued subsequent to the death of the deceased partner Brown v Tastet, (1521) Jacob 281 late v Finn, 13 Ch D 829 Crawley v Collins, 15 Ves 218 1 Jac & Wa 267, Heathcote v Hulme, 1 Jac & Wa 122, Ahmed Musaj, Salehy v Hashim Ebrahim Salehy, 1 L R 42 Cal 914, referred to MAHOMED KAMEL v HAJI HEDAS ETYLA, (1921) 1 L R 48 Cal. 808

PARTNERSHIP—concl'd

21. — Suit by a partner for a partial settlement of account during the continuance of the partnership Plaintiff, one of the partners of a press pool, entered into on 20th October 1913 for 3 years, sued on 13th October 1915 for a settlement of the partnership accounts from 15th June 1914 to the 15th June 1915, alleging that the partnership had been put an end to on the latter date by defendant's conduct. It was found by the High Court that the partnership had not been dissolved and the question was whether the plaintiff was competent to sue for a partial settlement of accounts for the season 1914-15. Held, that the general rule, as applied in India, is that if the account is sought in respect of a matter which, though arising out of a partnership business or connected with it, does not involve the taking of general accounts the Court will, as a rule, give the relief applied for. It will be for the Court to determine under what circumstances it will be equitable to order a partial account having regard to the rights of the parties under the contract Fairthorne v Weston (3 Hares Report 387) followed Korrs Venkata Reddi v Kollu Narasayya (1 L R 32 Mad 76), Raghubar Dayal v Sheoram Das (1 All L J R 94) and J P Singhal's Law of Partnership in British India, pages 344-346, referred to. Held also, that considering that prior to the 15th June 1914 the accounts were rendered daily and dividends distributed daily but after that date the defendant's agent stopped giving of the accounts daily and the payment of dividends, and that written demands sent by plaintiff to the latter were left unheeded the plaintiff was justified in bringing the present suit for partial settlement of accounts. HARJI MAL MEELA RAM v KIRPA RAM BIRJ LAL.
 1 L R. 2 Lah. 351

22. — Limitation—Dis-solution—Assets received by partner—Right to sue for share—Taking accounts—Indian Limitation Act (XI of 1903) Sch. I, art 106—Indian Contract Act (I.A. of 1872), sec 265 If a partnership has been dissolved and accounts have been wound up, the mutual rights and obligations of the partners therein being discharged, and an asset which has been forgotten or treated as valueless afterwards falls in it ought to be divided between the partners in proportion to their shares in the partnership. But if no account has been taken, the proper remedy of a partner in respect of an asset so received is to have an account taken if his right to sue for an account is barred by limitation, he cannot sue the partner who has received the asset for a share of it. Murwanji Hormusji v Rudonji Burjorji (1882) 1 L R, 6 Bom., 628 Sokkanadha Vannamundar v Soklanadha Vannamundar (1903) 1 L R. 28 Mad. 344 and decisions following them, disapproved. Observations in Knox v Gye (1871) L R. 5 H. L. 650, explained. GOPIALA CHETTY v V. VIJAYANATHACHARIAR (1922) 1 L R. 45 Mad. (F.C.), 378

PARTNERSHIP ACCOUNT*See PARTNERSHIP*— suit for —See LIMITATION ACT (XV of 1877)

1 L R. 39 Mad. 185

Duty of each partner to discover all documents—Arbitration, reference of dispute with customer to, by one partner—Others, if bound—Question of one of law—Agreement to refer not originally binding becoming binding by acquiescence or acceptance of benefit—Question if should be allowed to be taken for the first time on appeal—Partner charged with entering into agreement to refer negligently and improperly—Measure of damages—Onus of proof For the purpose of working out a partnership decree, each party to the action is bound to produce and discover all documents in his possession relating to the partnership and an application by the plaintiff for discovery of documents in the possession of a defendant in such an action ought not to have been refused. Held, that the decision of the High Court in so far as it was of opinion that the accounts taken by the Commissioner (and affirmed by the trying Court) were not properly taken or supported by evidence and must be investigated afresh was correct. A sum of money, paid by a customer as the result of a reference to arbitration in which the legal personal representatives of a deceased partner were parties, having been brought into the partnership accounts the latter who did not dispute the item in the first Court for the first time on appeal contended that not being parties to the reference they were not bound by it. Held that the question whether the legal personal representatives of the deceased partner were bound by the agreement to refer and by the award was not a simple question of law to be decided without reference to the facts of the case or any evidence which might have been available if it had been raised at the proper time, and the contention should have been rejected as having been put forward at too late a stage. An agreement to refer not originally binding might become binding later on by the acquiescence of the party or his acceptance of benefits thereunder. Held further, that if the legal personal representatives of the deceased partner were not bound by the award they would not be entitled to relief on the footing that it was binding but had been negligently and improperly entered into. That if relief could be given on this footing the difference between the amount originally claimed against the customer and the amount paid by him under the award would not necessarily be the measure of damages, nor could the onus of proving that it was any less sum be thrown on the person accused of negligent and improper conduct. Haji Mahomed Akbar v Diwana Nath Sarkar, 14 C W N 1106, reversed in part. DWANKA NATH SARKAR v HAJI MAHOMED AKBAR (1914) 18 C. W. N. 1025

Suit for partnership accounts—Limitation Act (IX of 1903) Art 106—Specific assets realised within period of limitation If a suit for general partnership accounts and a share in partnership profits is itself barred, the plaintiff in such a suit cannot be allowed to proceed speculatively against any and every partner ship asset which may have been realised by the defendant after dissolution and within the period of limitation. Murwanji Hormusji v Rudonji PARTNERSHIP ACCOUNT—contd.

Burjori, I L R 6 Bom. 823, distinguished. ANNEK SOLEMAN v BHAGWANDAS VISRAM AND CO. (1909)
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 515

Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art 106—Money received by partner after dissolution of partnership—Suit by other partner for recovery of share therein, if maintainable after suit for general accounts barred—Position where an item falls in after accounts squared off—Fresh cause of action It is contrary to the policy of the Legislature to allow a partner, whose right to sue for a general partnership accounts has been barred by limitation, to sue for his share of specific payments received from debtors by one partner subsequently to the dissolution of the partnership, permitting the latter by way of set off to claim what may be found due to him upon taking the partnership accounts. If a partnership has been dissolved and the accounts have been wound up and each partner has paid what he has to contribute to the debts of the partnership and received his share of the profits the mutual rights and obligations having been thus all discharged, and then it turns out afterwards that there was some item to the credit of the partnership which was either forgotten or treated as valueless by reason of the supposed insolvency of the debtor or for any other cause, which item afterwards becomes of value and falls in, it ought to be divided between the partners in proportion to their shares in the original partnership. If on the other hand no accounts have been taken and there is no constant that the partners have squared up then the proper remedy when such an item falls in is to have the accounts of the partnership taken, and if it is too late to have recourse to this remedy then it is also too late to claim a share in an item as part of the partnership assets. K GOPALA CHETTI v T G VINAYAGRA ACHARYAR

26 C. W. N. 977

PARTNERSHIP PROPERTY.

See PARTNERSHIP I L R. 43 Cal. 733

PARTY.

See RES JUDICATA

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 189

PART-PAYMENT.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) s. 20

PART PERFORMANCE

See AGREEMENT TO TRANSFER

24 C. W. N. 463

See COMPROMISE I. L. R. 42 Cal. 801

See ESTOPPEL

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882, ss. 54 and 48 I. L. R. 40 All. 197

See UNIVERSITY LECTURESHIP

I. L. R. 41 Cal. 518

Doctrine of applicability of. Plaintiff sued for joint possession of land on declaration of her title. She claimed it as heir to her father. The defence to the effect that the Plaintiff's father had exchanged the land in suit for some other land with the defendant's vendor was found to be established. Held, that on the equitable doctrine of part performance the Plaintiff could not question the validity of the exchange on the ground that it had not been effected by a registered document. That this doctrine has been applied by the Courts in recent judicial decisions without reference to the question whether the right to claim specific performance was or was not subsisting. 23 C. W. N. 905

PART PERFORMANCE—contd.

PASSENGER.

See CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 427

PASSING-OFF ACTION.

See TRADE MARK I. L. R. 37 Cal. 204

PASTURE LAND.

See Pasturage

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I of 1908), s. 3 I. L. R. 33 Mad. 733

Tenancy if permanent—Character: hold ngn—Occupancy right, acquisition of, in—Using land for purposes of cultivation, if waste—Remedy of landlord—Forfeiture—Landlord and Tenant Act (X of 1859) s. 6—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s. 5 (2)—Notice—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (II of 1882), ss. 106, 108 (c) 111 (g). The question being whether certain holdings situated in the tract known as charuvaras or pasture lands in Mouzah Bassant par in Zillah Purnea were permanent tenancies, it was proved that sales by private treaty and by auction through Court of such holdings were frequent, that cases of ejectment were uncommon, that such holdings frequently passed to the heirs of the deceased tenants and that mutation of names in the zamindars sharia had been frequently allowed sometimes on payment of nazrana and sometimes without: Held, that the proper inference to be drawn from these circumstances was that the tenants had a permanent right in the holdings and were not liable to ejectment on notice. Per Doss, J.—That assuming that the lands were settled with the tenants only for the purpose of grazing cattle, the tenants had acquired a right of occupancy in the lands before the Bengal Tenancy Act came into force under s. 6 of Act X of 1859, Fitz Patrick v Wallace, 11 W. R. 231, followed.

That it was not reasonable to hold that at the inception of the tenancies it was intended by the parties that the lands were never to be used for cultivation, and the tenants were ryots within the meaning of s. 5, sub-a. (2) of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Per RICHARDSON J.—The tenants had failed to prove that the lands were left for purposes of cultivation or that they had acquired occupancy right therein. That by using the lands intended for grazing for purposes of cultivation the tenants did not incur forfeiture. SHIEKH LATIFAR HANAMAN v. A H FORBES (1909) 14 C. W. N. 372

PASTURE RENT.

—recovery of—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I of 1908) s. 3 I. L. R. 33 Mad. 733

PASTURAGE.

—Right of—Unassessed Government Waste—Right of pasture on, not to exclude owner's right to possession—Acts necessary to obtain prescriptive title. There are no statutory provisions in the Madras Presidency as in Bombay with reference to the grazing rights of villagers over adjoining Government waste. The right of pasture on unenclosed waste cannot exclude the owner's right to possession and enjoyment of the property over which such a right may exist. Ram Saran Singh v. Birga Singh, 1 L. R. 19 All. 172, referred to. Secretary of State for India v. Mahababhai, 1 L. R. 14 Bom. 213, 221, distinguished. GORJALA PICHU NAIDU v. VALLUR VENERIAN (1910) . . . 1 L. R. 31 Mad. 68 — Suit for declaration of, and for injunction—Here thirty years' uninterrupted user, if enough—Presumption of right In a suit for declaration that the plaintiffs who were cultivating tenants had a right of pasturage over certain lands and for an injunction on the landlord to remove fences, etc., therefrom, the finding of the lower Appellate Court in decreeing the suit was: "The land has been lying unoccupied from time immemorial and the villagers have been grazing their cattle here for more than 30 years. Their user was open and peaceful, without interruption and should be, in the circumstances of this case, presumed to be as of right also." Held, that this finding was not sufficient to establish the plaintiffs' right of pasturage over the land in suit. It being a customary right, it must be reasonable, and it would be unreasonable to hold that no land over which cattle had grazed should ever be brought under the plough. SYED ALI v. SARAY ALI (1913) 18 C. W. N. 735

PASTURAGE—contd.

PATELKI SERVICE.

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V OF 1879), s. 202
1 L. R. 45 Bom. 894

PATENT.

See INVENTION: AND DESIGNS ACT (V OF 1889), s. 29 . . . 1 L. R. 41 All. 68

PATENTS AND DESIGNS ACT (II OF 1911).

See INVENTIONS AND DESIGNS ACT See PATENT . . .

— ss. 62, 64, 67—

See DESIGN . . . 1 L. R. 45 Calc. 606

PATERNAL AUNT.

See HINDU LAW—GUARDIAN
1 L. R. 38 Mad. 1123

PATILKI VATAN.

See VATAN . . . 1 L. R. 37 Bom. 81

PATRUM PARGANAS—

See BENJADI PATTA
6 Pat. L. J. 687

PATNA HIGH COURT.

— Calcutta High Court, decision of, binding upon Patna High Court, until disented from by Full Bench. The decision by a Divisional Bench of the Calcutta High Court is binding upon the Patna High Court until disented from by a Full Bench. HANMAN MISHRA v. SYED MOHAMED (1916) . . . 20 C. W. N. 583

PATNA HIGH COURT RULES.

See HIGH COURT RULES AND ORDERS
— Legality of—Letters Patent of the Patna High Court, ch. 29—Code of

PATNA HIGH COURT RULES—contd.

Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), ss. 122, 123, 124 and 125—Failure to furnish list of papers to be inserted in paper book, whether order dismissing appeal for default is appealable to His Majesty in Council. The rules of the Patna High Court, 1916, are not ultra vires. No appeal lies to His Majesty in Council from an order of the High Court dismissing an appeal on failure of the appellant to prepare and deliver a list of the papers to be inserted in the paper book in accordance with rule 8 of Chapter IX of the Patna High Court Rules, 1916. RAJENDRA KISHORE v. RAJKUMAR KAMAKHTA NARAIN SINGH 5 Pat. L. J. 719

— CH. IV, r. 15—

See PRIVY COUNCIL, APPEAL TO
6 Pat. L. J. 114

— CH. V, r. 3—Held that a question as to convenience of procedure is not a question of law within the meaning of this rule. HITENDRA SINGH v. MAHARAJA SRI RAMESHWAR SINGH

6 Pat. L. J. 293

— CH. VI, rr. 2 and 16—

See LETTER PATENT 4 Pat. L. J. 695

— CH. VI, r. 5—

See SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES
5 Pat. L. J. 256

— Appeal by person not a party to the suit. Held that r. 5 applied only to a person who seeks to appeal in order to establish his claim as a Beneficiary and not to any other claim. SYED AHMAD NAVAT v. SYED ABAS HUSSAIN . . . 8 Pat. L. J. 43

— CH. VII, r. 2—Limitation, extension of time—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 12. An absolute period of limitation of 30 days having been prescribed by Ch. VII, r. 2, of the Patna High Court Rules, 1916, that period cannot be extended by virtue of any of the provisions of the Limitation Act, 1908, relating to the extension of the periods of limitation prescribed by that Act. DEDEKI LAL v. RAMACHAND LAL

6 Pat. L. J. 701

— CH. VIII, rr. 34—

See LETTER PATENT (PAT)
4 Pat. L. J. 693

— CH. IX, r. 8—

See ANNE . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 719

PATNI.

See PATNI.

PATNI LEASE.

See PATNI.

PATNI TALUQ.

See PATNI TALUQ.

— Patni Tenure—

See PATNI TENURE.

— Patnidar—

See PUTNIDAR

PATTA.

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1909), ss. 54 AND 78, CL. (2)
1 L. R. 39 Mad. 626

PATTA—contd.

See UNDER RAIYAT

I. L. R. 39 Calc 278

—tender of—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908)

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 540

—Suit to enforce acceptance of—Zamindari land converted into wet with Government water—Consideration, failure of—Enhancement—Rent Recovery Act (VIII of 1865), s 11 Certain dry zamindari lands were converted into wet by the use of water from a channel constructed and maintained solely by Government. Held that there was no consideration for the zamindar to levy enhanced rent notwithstanding a stipulation for enhancement, should the land be cultivated as wet. The conditions laid down in the Rent Recovery Act (Mad. VIII of 1865), s 11, not being present, the zamindar was precluded from levying enhanced rent. Srinivas Rajan Mallikarjuna Prasada Naidu v Subbatta (1913)

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 4

PAUPER.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 SCH. I

O XXV, R 1 I. L. R. 36 Bom 415

See PAUPER SUIT

—appeal by—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O 44, R 1

—suit by—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 R. 47, AND O XXX. 4 Pat. L. J. 166

—Next friend of a pauper minor, if to prove his own pauperism. Amirson v Secretary of State (1919)

23 C. W. N. 935

PAUPER PLAINT.

See STAMP DUTY I. L. R. 38 All. 469

PAUPER SUIT.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1882), s 411. I. L. R. 34 All. 223

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

s 115 I. L. R. 32 All. 623

O, XXXIII

—Second application—where the previous one was rejected for want of schedule of property—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O 33 R. 25 AND 155 I. L. R. 1 Lah. 151

—Application to sue as—Disqualification—Subject matter of suit—Cause of action—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXXIII, rr 1, 2 and 6 A mortgagor applied for permission to institute a suit as a pauper for the setting aside of a sale of the mortgaged property by the mortgagee, with an alternative claim for damages. The mortgagee admitting there was a surplus due to the applicant after the mortgage-debt had been satisfied, paid Rs. 101 into Court, and contended that the applicant was not a pauper, and further that the applicant disclosed no cause of action. Held, that the applicant was a "pauper" within the meaning of the Explanation to PAUPER SUIT—contd.

O XXXIII r 1, of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), but that the allegations contained in the application did not disclose a cause of action. Durakanath v Madhucray I. L. R. 10 Bom. 207, not followed. Fatmabai v Dossa Broty Rustumji Umrekar (1909)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 638

—Application for leave to sue in forma pauperis—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XXXIII, rr 4 5, 7—Scope of enquiry—Power of the Court under r 4—If it seems to be examined on the question of pauperism only—No evidence, except evidence of the applicant on the merits of the claim permissible. In an enquiry under O XXXIII of the Civil Procedure Code, the Court cannot take evidence (except the evidence of the applicant himself) on the merits of the claim. R. 4 expressly gives power to the Court to examine the applicant regarding the merits of the claim and the property of the applicant so that there is no doubt that the applicant himself can be examined not only with reference to the question of his pauperism but also with reference to the merits of his claim. It is open to the Court to consider not only the statements made in the plaint but also the statements made in his examination by the applicant before determining whether his allegations disclose a cause of action as laid down in cl (d) of r 5 of O XXXIII. But the Court cannot examine other witnesses for deciding the question of limitation or any other question than the pauperism of the applicant. The evidence to be taken under r 7 is confined to the evidence which may be adduced by the applicant in proof of his pauperism and any evidence which may be adduced in disprof thereof as laid down in r 6. Kamraji Nath v Sunder Nath I. L. R. 20 All. 229, Dulari v Vallabhadra Pragn, I. L. R. 13 Bom. 126, and Nawab Bahadur of Moorsheedabad v Harish Chandra Acharye 13 C. L. J. 593, followed. Jogendra Narain Ray v Durga Charan Guha Thakurta (1918)

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 651

PAY AND PENSION.

See SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 378

PAYMENT.

See BILL OF COSTS

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 817

See SALE OF GOODS.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 28

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 16

—By Debtor—

See ACCOUNT—

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 839

—plea of—

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 37 All. 426

—to some only of the Trustees—

See TRUST I. L. R. 38 Mad. 597

—under compulsion of law—

See DEPOSIT IN COURT

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 299

PAYMENT INTO COURT.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

ss. 47, 73, O XXI R 55

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 156

PAYMENT INTO COURT—contd

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1902—
O XXI, BB 80 AND 82

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1034

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s 83 . I. L. R. 32 ALL 142

*Sale—Suit to set aside sale—Suit decreed on plaintiff paying into Court certain amount—Mortgagee from plaintiff paying the money to save the suit from being dismissed—Assignment of plaintiff's interest—Mortgagee paid off—Application by mortgagee to withdraw the money paid into Court—Mortgagee cannot be allowed to withdraw unless on an application by one of the parties One Banubai for herself and as guardian of her son Banemiya and daughter Pullabai sold the property in suit to one Mahomed Banemiya and Pullabai brought a suit to set aside the sale and it was decreed that the plaintiffs should on paying into Court a certain sum of money within six months, take into possession their shares of the property on partition and that in default of payment the suit should be dismissed One Dattatraya, who was a mortgagee from Banemiya, paid the decretal amount into Court on the 22nd August 1918 to save the suit from being dismissed On the 16th September 1918 Banemiya sold the remaining interest in the property to one Ismail. Subsequently, on the 3rd October 1918 Dattatraya's mortgage was redeemed and on the 4th October 1918 he applied to the Court to withdraw the amount This application was opposed by Ismail. The Subordinate Judge made an order allowing Dattatraya to withdraw the money paid into Court Held, setting aside the order, that though the money was produced by Dattatraya, it was paid into the credit of the proceedings and could only be dealt with an application made in the regular course by one of the parties and that Ismail could be heard as he was the person in whose favour interest was created by the plaintiffs ESMAIL ALLARAKHIA v. DATTATRAYA RAMCHANDRA (1920) . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 967*

PAYMENT TOWARDS DEBT

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 44 Calc. 567

PECUNIARY SUFFICIENCY.

See SURETY . I. L. R. 44 Calc 737

PEDIGREE.

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s 32

I. L. R. 37 ALL 600

Question of pedigree—Plaintiff and his witnesses, not directly cross examined on the case raised by defendant—Court is should accept each case—Plaintiff's case believed by trial Court—Reversed by High Court on such basis, if correct. Where the question was whether plaintiff A was the legitimate son of Muhammad Sher Khan by his wife Musammatt Munne, and A himself and his witnesses gave evidence that he was, but the only question put to them in cross-examination was whether Muhammad Sher Khan had a woman named Sundara in his keeping as a mistress, and when witnesses for the defendants were being examined, some attempt was made to prove that A was the son of another person of the name of Muhammad Sher Khan who had a mistress named Sundara, and the trial Court believed A's case which was supported by strong and straightforward evidence on the record, and as to the case of the defendants held "that the whole story was a pure concoction and was unworthy of credit." Held, agreeing with the trial Court, that the High Court on appeal was not justified in dismissing the plaintiff's suit on the view that "it was quite possible that the real truth was that the claimant was the son of Musammatt Sundara who was kept by Muhammad Sher Khan," having been influenced thereby by the fact that the suit was being financed by a co-plaintiff in whose favour A had executed a deed of sale in respect of a property of the property claimed and in accordance with which the litigation was being financed ABUL AZIZ v. TASADDUQ HUSSAIN (1917)

PEDIGREE—contd

21 C. W. N. 873

PENAL ASSESSMENT.

levy of—

See MADRAS LAND ENCROACHMENT ACT (III OF 1904), ss 3 & 14

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 674

Right of Government to levy—Interference with possession—Possession short of the statutory period is sufficient basis for a suit for a declaration of title—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s 42 Per CRANIN The Government has no right to collect penal assessment from a person in possession of land simply on the ground that he is not the legal owner of the land, but such right is conditional on the land being communal Per ABDUL RAHIM, J (ALYING, J dissentante)—A person in possession of land even though for less than 12 years would, under s 42 of the Specific Relief Act, be entitled to a declaration that he is in lawful possession as against a wrong doer who interferes with his possession ISMAIL AHY v. MAHOMED GHOS, I L R 20 Cal 834, applied Hanmantara v Secretary of State for India, I L R 25 Bom 237, distinguished Rasonada Rayar v Sitharama, Pillai, 2 Mad II C 171, referred to The levying of penal assessment on land if not justified amounts to unlawful interference with possession ATYAPARAJU v SECRETARY OF STATE (1912)

I L. R. 37 Mad 298

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)

Effect of on previous Penal Laws

See CONTEMPT OF COURT

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 173

Preamble and ss 1, 2, 3, 499—

See DEFAMATION I. L. R. 43 Calc 338

Chaps XII and XVII—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s 318

I L. R. 38 Mad. 552

ss. 7, 27, 243—

See COUNTERFEIT COIN

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 477

s 8—

See PLEADER . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 290

s. 21—Illegal gratification, taking of by a public servant—Public servant, unpaid apprentice of. An unpaid apprentice of Government is not a public servant within the meaning of s. 21 of the Indian Penal Code MAHENDRA PRASAD v. EMPEROR (1910) . 15 C. W. N. 319

ss. 22, 403—Criminal misappropriation—"Movable property"—Letter addressed to one person retained by another. A letter addressed to H was handed by a postman to H, who was at the time in a room in the occupation of H. W read the letter and put it on a table in the room and left it there. H took the letter and subsequently attempted to file it as an exhibit attached to an affidavit made by him in a suit for judicial separation between H and his wife, for the purpose as he afterwards stated of strengthening his case and of improving his own position. The Court however refused to receive the letter: Held that in the circumstances H could not be convicted of dishonest misappropriation of property with respect to his retention of the letter. Quare Whether the letter could be regarded as movable property within the meaning of s. 22 of the Indian Penal Code. EMERSON v. HARRIS (1917) I L R. 40 All 119

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV 1860)—*contd*ss. 22, 403—contd

ss. 23, 24, 463 to 465—

See FORGERY I L R. 43 Calc. 421

ss. 24, 25, 463, 464, 471—

See FORGERY I L R. 38 Calc. 75

s. 27—

See COUNTERFEIT COIN

I L R. 44 Calc. 477

ss. 29, 30, 464, 467 and 474—Forgery—Document, meaning of—Valuable security—In complete document—Material alteration of incomplete document—*Effect of an agreement in writing which purported to be entered into between five persons, was signed by only two of them, it was altered by the addition of some material terms by the accused who was one of the two executants without the consent or knowledge of the other executant and was not signed by the other parties to the agreement. The accused was in possession of the instrument which was altered by him. Held by OLIVER J. (on a reference under s. 420 Criminal Procedure Code, owing to difference of opinion between SADASIVA AYYAR and PHILLIPS JJ.) that the accused was guilty of the offence of forgery of a valuable security under s. 467 or of being in possession of a forged document under s. 474 of the Indian Penal Code. The instrument, though not signed by all the parties thereto, fulfilled the requirements of the definition of a 'document' in s. 29 of the Code. The document was a valuable security because it imposed an obligation on the actual executants and an option on the others and there was no express or implied condition precedent to be found in the document or established by independent evidence that the document was to be inoperative against the executants until all the parties executed it. It is open to the accused to plead and to prove that the alterations were not made fraudulently or dishonestly because they represented what occurred in good faith believed to be the truth and intended to be used to support what in good faith he claimed or might claim. Queen Empress v. Syed Hussain, I L R. 7 All 403. Queen Empress v. Sheo Dyal, I L R. 7 All 459. Queen v. Arjun Pershad, 2 N. W. P. H. C. R. 297. and Manicko Achar v. Emperor (1915) Mad W. V. 273 referred to. Reg. v. Turpin, 2 C. & K. 870 disapproved. R. v. Rangley (1932) R. & R. 419, referred to. R. v. Ler, 3 Cox 89 and Reg. v. Harper, 7 Q. B. D. 78 followed. RAMASWAMI AYYAR v. THE KING EMERSON (1917) I L R. 41 Mad 589*

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

s. 30—

See MAGISTRATE POWER OF

I L R. 33 Calc. 58

ss. 30, 467—Valuable security—Forgery—Incomplete documents bearing forged signature of executant—Two documents were found in the possession of the accused each bearing a signature which purported to be that of one Bindhyachal but which in fact was a forged signature. One document was intended to be filled up as a promissory note, the other as a receipt, but the spaces for particulars of the amount, the name of the person in whose favour the document was executed, the date and place of execution and the rate of interest were not filled in. An anna stamp was affixed to each but it was not cancelled in any way. Held that these documents nevertheless purported to be valuable securities within the meaning of the definition contained in s. 30 of the Indian Penal Code. Queen Empress v. Ramaswami, I L R. 12 Mad 49 referred to. EMERSON v. JAWAHIR THAKUR (1916) I L R. 33 All 430

ss. 30 and 471—Forged document—

User whether filing with plaintiff amounts to—Valuable security whether paper on which an account is written—The filing of forged documents with a plaintiff is user of them within the meaning of s. 471 of the Penal Code. A document whereby a person acknowledges himself to be under a legal liability is a valuable security within the meaning of s. 31. Indu Lalaha v. THE GOVT. 3 Pat. L. J. 385

s. 34—Several persons acting with a common intention—S. 34 does not create a distinct offence but lays down a principle of liability and when two or more persons join act rely in and assault on a 3rd person they are jointly responsible for the injuries caused to the extent to which they had a common intention to cause those injuries and what their common intention was must be gathered from the circumstances. FOR ELLAN v. THE KING EMERSON

25 C. W. N. 24

ss. 34, 109, 114—

See ACCUSED'S ACCUSEE

I L R. 41 Calc. 1072

ss. 34, 109, 467—Forgery—Abetment of forgery—Abetment by conspiracy—Conspiracy at Calcutta foreign territory—Consequent forgery committed in British India—Trial in British India of the fore-jury who conspired to forge at Calcutta and who was in Calcutta when the forgery was committed in British India—Jurisdiction—The accused was a subject of the Calcutta State. He lived there and traded with his business partner A. He conspired with A at Calcutta and sent A to a professional forger at Umreth (a place in British India) with instructions to instigate the latter to forge a valuable security. To facilitate the forgery the accused sent his khata book with him. In pursuance of A's instigation the forgery was committed at Umreth. On these facts the accused was charged in a Court in British India, with the offence of abetment of forgery under ss. 467 and 109 of the Indian Penal Code. The trying Judge referred to the High Court the question whether the accused not being a British subject was amenable to the jurisdiction of his Court. Held that the Court in British India had jurisdiction to try the accused for the accused's offence was not wholly complete.

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*ss. 34, 109, 487—contd.

within Cambay limits, but having been initiated there, was conditioned and completed within the British territory of Unreth. Where a foreigner strikes the train of his crime in foreign territory, and perfects and completes his offence within British limits, he is triable by the British Court when found within its jurisdiction. S. 31 of the Indian Penal Code provides not only for liability to punishment but also for subjection of a conspirator to the jurisdiction of a Court, though he conspires at a place beyond the jurisdiction. EMPEROR v. CHHOTALAL BABA (1912).

I. L. R. 36 Bom 524

ss. 37, 302, 304—

1. — Murder—Culpable homicide not amounting to murder—Fatal assault with lathis by three persons acting in concert. Three persons, brothers, attacked with lathis a fourth against whom they bore a grudge, and beat him with great severity, so that he died shortly afterwards. His skull was badly fractured, and numerous other injuries were inflicted upon him. It did not appear which injuries were caused by which of the assailants, but the evidence showed that they were acting in concert and intended to cause such bodily injury as was likely to cause death. Held, that all three assailants were guilty of murder. King Emperor v. Subbappa Channappa, 15 Bom. L. R. 303, and King Emperor v. Kanhas 7 L. R. 35 42 329; followed Emperor v. Dhana Singh, 1 L. R. 29 All 282 Queen Empress v. Bhoja Baidya, 1 L. R. 19 Mad 493, Gowindas Namastubai v. Emperor, 1 L. R. 38 Cal 652, Emperor v. Dharam Rai, 18 Weekly Notes, (1937), 236, Dhans Singh v. King Emperor, 9 All L. J. 180, distinguished. EMPEROR v. RAM NEWAZ (1913). I. L. R. 35 All. 506

2. — Murder—Culpable homicide not amounting to murder—Fatal assault with lathis by several persons acting in concert. Five men—members of the same family—assaulted an unarmed man and beat him with their lathis. They knocked him down and continued beating him, with the result that he died then and there. Another man, who came to the rescue of the first, was also knocked down and beaten by the same five men with a similar result. Held, that all five men were in each case guilty of the offence of murder. Dhans Singh v. King Emperor, 9 All L. J. 180, dissenting from EMPEROR v. HANUMAN (1913).

I. L. R. 35 All. 560

s. 39—

See s. 290. I. L. R. 34 Mad 82

ss. 40 and 79—Madras Forest Act (V of 1882), offence under—Justification, plea of, not available. The plea of justification provided by s. 79 of the Indian Penal Code (XLV of 1860) is available only for an offence punishable by the Penal Code and not for offences punishable by any special or local law and hence the belief of the accused that he was justified in his act does not exculpate him from punishment for his guilt under s. 21 of the Madras Forest Act. Emperor v. Ananias, 14 Bom. L. R. 365, dissenting from In re Penchul Reddy, 9 Mad. J. T. 218 followed Re Lewis (1913). I. L. R. 38 Mad. 773 ss. 52, 191, 193—Perjury—Verification of application for execution containing statements in fact untrue—"Good faith." A man cannot be convicted of perjury under s. 193 of the Indian Penal Code for having acted rashly, or for having failed to make reasonable inquiry with regard to the facts alleged by him to be true. It must be found that he made some statement which he knew to be false, or which he believed to be false, or which he did not believe to be true and this finding should be arrived at independently of the definition of "good faith" in s. 52 of the Code. EMPEROR v. MENAMAD INAQ (1914). I. L. R. 36 All. 362 ss. 58, 304 (1)—Culpable homicide not amounting to murder—Sentence of transportation for fourteen years, if legal—Sentence by High Court—Interference by Privy Council—Substantial injustice. Whilst s. 304 (1) and s. 59 of the Indian Penal Code authorise a sentence of transportation for life, they do not empower a Court to impose a sentence of transportation for a term of years exceeding the maximum term for which a sentence of imprisonment can be imposed, namely, ten years. Where the High Court passed a sentence of transportation for fourteen years upon the accused who had been convicted under s. 304 (1) of the Penal Code. Held, that the sentence not being authorised by law, the Privy Council must hold that there was substantial injustice, for the sentence might involve the incarceration of the accused during many years without legal authority. Re Dillet L. R. 12 App. Cas. 459 467 (1837), referred to SAYYAPUREDDI CHIVVAYTA DHORA v. THE KING EMPEROR 25 C. W. N. 514

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV 1860)—*contd.*ss. 52, 191, 193—contd.

s. 62—Sentence—Forfeiture of property—Offences in respect of which forfeiture is a suitable penalty. Held that s. 62 of the Indian Penal Code which empowers a Court to order in certain cases the property of a convicted person to be forfeited to the Crown should ordinarily be applied in cases of crimes against the State or affecting the safety of the public generally. EMPEROR v. GAYA PRASAD (1914).

I. L. R. 36 All. 395

See ACT XVI OF 1921, s. 4

s. 64—

See CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL ACT, ss. 374 376 15 C. W. N. 906

ss. 71, 147, 149 and 325—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 106(3)

I. L. R. 33 All. 48

ss. 71, 147, 149 and 325—

See SENTENCE 3 Pat. L. J. 641

ss. 71, 353—

one act constituting two offences—

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT, 1897, s. 26

1 Pat. L. J. 373

ss. 71, 147, 321—Criminal Procedure Code, ss. 35 and 235—Separate convictions for rioting and causing hurt. Where, several persons being on their trial on a charge of rioting, it appears that some of them have also committed the offence of causing simple hurt under s. 323 of the Indian Penal Code, there is no legal objection to charging each person under that section and convicting them of, and sentencing them for such offence as well as for the offence of rioting. EMPEROR v. KATWARDI RAI (1917). I. L. R. 39 All. 623

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV 1860)—contd.

s. 75—

See PRACTICE I. L. R. 24 Bom. 325

Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 565—Whipping Act (IV of 1903), s. 3—Sentence of whipping only passed on accused—Order to accused to notify his residence—Validity of the order S. 363 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) must be strictly construed. The order contemplated by the section can only be made at the time of passing sentence of transportation or imprisonment upon a convict. It cannot be made where the Court instead of passing that sentence, passes a sentence of whipping. EMPEROR v. FULAI DITTA (1910)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 137

Previous conviction on by a court in a Native State Held that the provisions of s. 75 of the Indian Penal Code cannot be applied when the previous conviction is one passed by a Criminal Court in a Native State. Bahawal v. King Emperor 45 Punjab Rec. 61 Cr. J., followed. EMPEROR v. BILAWAR I. L. R. 42 All. 136

s. 76—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 105—Question whether act done by accused falls within general exceptions—Evidence—Presumption—Pleading. Where an accused person has raised a plea in consistent with a defence which would bring his case within one of the general exceptions in the Indian Penal Code he cannot, in appeal set up a case, based upon the evidence taken at his trial, that his act came within such general exception. Circumstances which would bring the case of an accused person within any of the general exceptions in the Indian Penal Code, can and may be proved from the evidence given for the prosecution or to be found elsewhere in the record, but there must be evidence upon which such circumstances can be found to exist, and when they are not shown to exist, the Court is not competent to assume, more particularly when the plea taken are inconsistent with such assumption, that such circumstances might have existed or that doubt may arise in consequence of such assumption and the accused ought to be given the benefit of the doubt. Queen Empress v. Tammal, I. L. R. 21 All. 122, referred to. EMPEROR v. WAJID HUSSAIN (1910)

I. L. R. 32 All. 451

ss. 78, 79, 342—

See WRONGFUL CONFINEMENT

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 818

s. 79—

See s. 40 I. L. R. 33 Mad. 773

See s. 107 I. L. R. 5 Pat. L. J. 129

See WRONGFUL CONFINEMENT

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 818

ss. 79, 141, 147, 342—

See RIOTING I. L. R. 43 Calc. 78

s. 80—Plan of accident—Onus pro accused—Criminal case—Motive for committing offence—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 342—Written statement filed by accused—Examination of accused by Court Per CURRIE J. If the accused puts forward a substantive defence of accident within the purview of s. 80, Indian Penal Code, it is incumbent upon him to prove it. Where the evidence as to the deed is sufficiently convincing, it is immaterial to consider with what motive it was done. Per BRACKENRIDGE, J. There is no provision in the Code of Criminal Procedure for the making of a written statement by an accused in the Sessions Court and the practice of refusing to answer questions and of putting in a written statement is a pernicious one. HARJO EMPEROR v. DWILENDRA CHANDRA MUKHERJEE (1915)

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV 1860)—*contd.*s. 80—contd.

19 C. W. N. 1043

ss. 82, 83—Offence of rape committed by a boy under fourteen—Presumption Held, that the presumption of English law against the possibility of the commission of the offence of rape by a boy under the age of years 14 has no application to India. EMPEROR v. PARAS RAM DUBE (1915)

I. L. R. 37 All. 197

s. 84—Exemption from criminal responsibility on account of unsoundness of mind A person whose cognitive faculties are not so impaired as to make it impossible for him to know the nature of his act or that he was doing what was wrong or contrary to law is not exempted from Criminal responsibility under s. 84 Indian Penal Code. Queen Empress v. Aader Nasser Khan, I. L. R. 23 Cal. 604, referred to. The burden of proving unsoundness of mind rests on the accused. KING EMPEROR v. RAM SUNDAR DAS (1919)

23 C. W. N. 621

s. 86—Interpretation of—Drunkenness—Knowledge and intent Per AYLING, J. Ordinary drunkenness makes no difference to the knowledge with which a man is credited and if an accused knew what the natural consequences of his act were he must be presumed to have intended to cause them. Per TRAYN, J.—S. 86, Indian Penal Code, must be construed strictly. It provides that the intoxicated person shall be dealt with as if he had the same knowledge as he would have had if he had not been intoxicated, but it does not provide that he shall be dealt with as if he had the same intent. Re BHANDRU QANARA (1914)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 479

s. 90—

See s. 360

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 391

'Consent' obtained on misrepresentation, illegal—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 366—Kidnapping a girl with such consent obtained from guardian. The offence of kidnapping consists in taking or enticing a minor out of the keeping of the lawful guardian of such minor without the consent of such guardian. If a minor is taken with the consent of the guardian and subsequently married improperly without the consent of the guardian to any person, such improper marriage would not by itself amount to kidnapping. A consent given on a misrepresentation of a fact is one given under a misconception of fact within the meaning of s. 90, Indian Penal Code, and as such is not useful as a consent under the Penal Code. A misrepresentation as to intention of a person (in stating the purpose on which the consent is asked) is a misrepresentation of a 'fact' within the meaning of s. 3 of the Evidence Act. Per CURRIE, J. Equally useless as a defence is a consent obtained by a fraud or coercion. R v. Hopkins, Car & Star 214 followed. Re JALABADDU (1913)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 453

s. 95—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss. 433

AND 439

I. L. R. 43 All. 497

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV 1860)—cont'd

s. 97—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 105
I L. R. 40 ALL 284

ss 97, 99—House search by Police officer—General search—Search for specific article—Criminal trespass—Right of private defence—Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1893), ss 433, 437, 165 and 94—District Magistrate, power of, to order further enquiry after discharge. Every person has a right subject to the restrictions contained in s 99 of the Indian Penal Code to defend property, whether moveable or immoveable, of himself or of any other person against any act which is an offence falling within the definition of criminal trespass. The law does not empower a police officer to search an accused person's house for anything but the specific article which have been or can be made the subject of summons or warrant to produce. A general search for stolen property is not authorised and the law cannot be got over by using such an expression as "stolen property relevant to the case" as the law requires the mention of specific things. Where one of the accused in resisting such a search pushed the Sub Inspector and the latter ordered two constables to climb on his roof and break into the house, whereupon the villagers assumed a threatening attitude and threatened to cut them to pieces if they entered the house and thus empty threat was sufficient to prevent the Police from committing the trespass. Held, that the accused had not exceeded the right of private defence and were rightly discharged and there was no ground for further enquiry. FRANKHO v KING EMPEROR (1912) 18 C. W. N 1078

See SEARCH BY POLICE OFFICERS

I L. R. 41 Calc 261

ss 93, 147—Right of private defence—Rioting—Trespass—Wrongful possession for 14 hours—Repelling trespass by force if any offence. Where the opposite party erected some huts stealthily at night on a plot of land of which the petitioners were in peaceful possession and it was alleged that the opposite party were in possession of the land for about 14 hours and the petitioners at break of day on coming to know of this took the earliest opportunity to exercise their own right of private defence and came to the spot armed to turn out the opposite party who were found by them still engaged in erecting more huts and there was a free fight between the parties and the petitioners did not inflict more hurt than was necessary for defending themselves. Held, that the petitioners were not guilty of rioting and that in the circumstances of the case the petitioners had no time to have recourse to the public authorities, and they were entitled to their right of private defence. CHANDULLA SINGH v THE KING EMPEROR (1912) 18 C. W. N. 275

ss. 99, 147, 148 and 323—

See PRIVATE DEFENCE.

3 Pat. L. J. 653

ss. 99, 103—

See PRIVATE DEFENCE—RIGHT OF

The resistance must only be sufficient to overcome the force employed by the attacker. PAM PRASAD MATHUR v KING EMPEROR. 4 Pat. L. J. 259

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—cont'd.

ss. 99, 147, 323—

See RIOTING. I. L. R. 39 Calc. 896

ss 99, 147, 323, 353—

See SEARCH WITHOUT WARRANT

I L. R. 38 Calc 304

ss 99, 353—Assault—Public servant acting under colour of office and in good faith—Right of private defence. Where the petitioner was convicted under s 353 of the Penal Code, of having assaulted a Civil Court peon when executing a writ of delivery of possession of a share in a tank by ordering some fishermen to cast their nets in the tank and catch fish for the decree-holder as provided in the writ. Held, that whatever mistake there might be in the procedure of the Munsif in giving the direction in the writ, the petitioner had no right of private defence under s 99 of the Penal Code, against the peon who was a public servant acting under colour of his office and in good faith. PRHO LAL MUKHERJI v THE KING EMPEROR (1913) 18 C. W. N. 543 ss 100, 325—Grievous hurt—Private defence—Plea cannot be set up in cases of deliberate fight. The right of private defence cannot be successfully invoked by men who voluntarily and deliberately engage in fighting with their enemies for the sake of fighting, as opposed to the case where men are reluctantly forced to use violence in order to protect themselves from violence offered to them. EMPEROR v BACHUR ANOR (1915) I L. R. 40 Bom 105

ss 107, 108, 109, 116, 161—

See ABETMENT OF AN ABETMENT

I L. R. 46 Calc 607

ss 107, 108, 121, 124A—Waging of war, abetment of—Sedition. The accused published a book containing eighteen poems, of which four were the subject matter of the charge. The general trend of the poems charged, as well as the remaining ones in the book evinced a spirit of blood thirstiness and murderous eagerness directed against the Government, conveyed the urgency of taking up the sword and made an appeal of blood thirsty incitement to the people to take up the sword, form secret societies, and adopt guerilla warfare for the purpose of rooting out the British rule. Held, that the accused committed the offence of abetting the waging of war (s 121 of the Indian Penal Code) by the publication of the poems charged. Held further, that the Court was not tied to look into the poems other than those forming the subject matter of the charge for the purpose of finding out the intention of a writer and the design of the publication. Per CHANDAVAKAR, J. Under the Indian Penal Code, the waging or levying of war and the abetting of it are put upon the same footing by s 121; that is, the abetting of waging of war is under the Code as much an offence of treason as the waging of war itself. The word "abetment" is defined in s 107 of the Code and one of its meanings, as given there, is "instigating any person to do anything". This meaning is not excluded by anything that occurs in s 121. The general law is laid down in ss 107-120 of the Code. According to it, "to constitute the offence of abetment it is not necessary that the act abetted should be committed, or that the effect requisite to constitute the offence should be caused". This applies to the abetment of the waging of war against the King as much as to the abetment of any other offence under the Code. The only difference created between the former offence and other offences is that, while under the general law as to abetment a distinction is made for the purposes of punishment between abetment which has succeeded and abetment which has failed s 121 does away with that distinction so far as the offence of waging war is concerned and deals equally with an abettor whose instigation has led to a war and one whose instigation has taken no effect whatever. And that for this simple reason that such a crime more than any other must be sharply and severely dealt with at its very first appearance and nipped in the bud with a strong hand. Per HEATON, J Under s 107 of the Indian Penal Code there may be an instigation of an unknown person. The word abet as used in s 121 of the Code has the same meaning as is given to it by s 107. The abetment meant by s 121 is not necessarily confined to abetment of some war in progress. There may be and usually is, instigation of rebellion before rebellion actually begins that kind of instigation is under the Code abetting waging war against the King. So long as a man only tries to inflame feeling to excite a state of mind he is not guilty of anything more than sedition. It is only when he definitely and clearly incites to action that he is guilty of instigating and therefore abetting the waging of war. EMPEROR v GANESH DAMODAR SAVARKAR (1910) I L R 34 Bom. 294 — ss. 107, 342 and 79.—*Wrongful confinement—Abetment whether advice amounts to—Code of Criminal Procedure (Act I of 1893) s 53—bona fide arrest by private person—Prisoner not taken to nearest police station effect of Advice per se does not necessarily amount to instigation within the meaning of the first clause to s 107 of the Penal Code. Instigation necessarily connotes some active suggestion or support or stimulation to the commission of the act itself. Advice amounts to instigation only if it was meant actively to suggest or stimulate the commission of an offence. A bare finding that the accused "must have advised the arrest" of the complainant is not sufficient to support a conviction for abetting the offence of wrongful confinement. Where a constable went into a shop and demanded the loans of a certain cooking utensil and, on being refused, beat the shopkeeper and another constable stood outside throughout the proceeding and shouted "maro, maro" held that the latter was guilty of abetting not only the beating but also the attempt to extort and was therefore liable to arrest under s 59 of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1898. Where a private person bona fide makes an arrest under s 59 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 but takes the prisoner to the Magistrate instead of to the nearest police station he is protected from a charge of wrongful confinement by the provisions of s 79 of the Penal Code. *RAGHUVATH DAS v THE KING EMPEROR

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd— ss 107, 108, 121, 124A.—contd

5 Pat L. J. 129

— ss. 103—

Ses B 107 . I L R 34 Bom. 394
I L R 48 Cal. 607

— s. 103, Expl. 4, ss. 109 and 116—

Abetment of an abetment—Instigating another to en-

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd— s 103, Expl 4, ss 109, and 116—contd

instigate a Magistrate to accept a bribe—s 161 The words when the abetment of an offence is an offence in Expl. 4 s. 103 Ind an Penal Code, do not mean when an abetment of an offence is actually committed. They mean when the abetment of an offence is by definition or description an offence under the Code that is when an abetment of an offence is punishable under s 109 or s 116 or some other provision of the Code then the abetment of such abetment is also an offence. SHILAI (HAMARIA v KING EMPEROR) (1918)

22 C W N 1045

— s. 109—

Ses S 34 I L R 36 Bom. 524
Ses S 341 I L R 43 Bom. 531
Ses S 361 I L R 83 All. 664
Ses S 494 I L R 39 Cal. 409

See ARREST BY PRIVATE PERSON
I L R 41 Cal. 17

See AUTREFOIS ACQUIT
I L R 41 Cal. 1072

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 403.
I L R 40 Bom. 97

— ss 109, 116, 120B—

See MISJOINDER OF CHARGES
I L R 42 Cal. 1153

— ss. 109, 120B, 420.—Abetment by conspiracy—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 16 The accused M was a leader of the E I Railway Company. The case for the prosecution was that when making out the weights in the consignment notes he entered a weight less than the actual with the result that the railway company received a sum less than they were entitled to and the other accused who were a firm of merchants paid, as consignees of goods, illegal gratification to M for this fraudulent work. It appeared that the name of M signed by himself appeared in one of the note books of the firm of D and J and the jama-kharach of the firm showed the payment of certain sums to accused M. The accused were tried and convicted by the Deputy Magistrate under ss 120B 420 109 101, 101 109 Ind an Penal Code but the Sessions Judge in appeal being of opinion that the conviction under s 120B could not stand on the ground that the offences were committed before that section came into force took into consideration only the direct evidence against M of making the enforcement of false weight and finding this to be insufficient acquitted all the accused. Held, that the Sessions Judge rightly held that the conviction under s 120B Ind an Penal Code, could not stand by reason of the fact that the offences were committed before that section came into force but he entirely overlooked to notice that this was immaterial as the law of abetment includes abetment by conspiracy which was distinctly charged before the Magistrate under ss 420 109 Ind an Penal Code. That being so the circumstantial evidence of conspiracy to defraud the railway company was to be considered. That under s 10 of the Evidence Act the note books and jama-kharach of the firm of D and J could be used as evidence of abetment by conspiracy against M. KING EMPEROR v MANMOHAN ROY (1916) . 20 C W. N. 292

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.

s. 114—

See S 233 . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 368

See S 494 . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 287

See AUTREVOIS ACQUIT

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1072

See PUBLIC PROSECUTOR, DUTY OF.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 422

ss. 114, 148, 328 and 379—

See PRIVATE DEFENCE

4 Pat. L. J. 230

ss. 114, 328—Grievous hurt—Abetment by conspiracy Held, that when the evidence against the co accused was that they themselves came with the first accused and joined in beating the deceased, they could not be convicted of abetting the causing of grievous hurt by their presence because they would have been guilty of abetment had they been absent. If it be found that they all joined in the beating and that the specific act which caused the grievous hurt was not brought home to any particular individual, they would be held liable under s. 34 of the Indian Penal Code, if they aided and abetted or abetted by intentionally aiding the first accused in beating the deceased, then they would be liable under s. 326 read with s. 109 of the Indian Penal Code. JAMIR UDDI BISWAS v KING EMPEROR (1912)

16 C. W. N. 909

s. 116—

See S 109 . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1153

See ABETMENT OF AN AGREEMENT

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 607

ss. 120, 120A, 120B, 121A—

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

s. 120B—

1. Conspiracy FLETCHER, J. In cases of conspiracy the agreement between the conspirators cannot generally be directly proved but only inferred from other facts proved in the case. BEACHROFF, J. That on a conviction under s. 120B, Indian Penal Code, if an offence has been committed the punishment is provided by s. 109, Indian Penal Code, and if an offence has not been committed the punishment is limited to the extent provided by s. 116. Semble. Strictly speaking in cases where an offence has been committed in pursuance of a conspiracy there should not be any conviction for conspiracy but for abetment of the offence; for conspiracy followed by an act done to carry out the purpose of conspiracy amounts to abetment. KHAGENDRA NATH CHAUDHURI v. KING EMPEROR (1914)

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1153

19 C. W. N. 706

2. Criminal Procedure Code, s. 196A—Conspiracy—Authority for prosecution for conspiracy—Complaint S 196A of the Criminal Procedure Code provides that no Court shall take cognizance of the offence of criminal conspiracy punishable under s. 120B of the Indian Penal Code "in a case where the object of the conspiracy is to commit any non-cognizable offence, or a cognizable offence not punishable with death, transportation or rigorous imprisonment for a term of two years or upwards unless the Local Government or a Chief Presidency Magistrate or District Magistrate empowered in this behalf by the PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 120B—contd.

Local Government has, by order in writing, consented to the initiation of the proceedings" Held, that the words "not punishable with death, etc.", relate only to the term "cognizable offence". Three persons presented a petition to the Magistrate and Collector of a district stating that a tahsildar was guilty of various offences under the Indian Penal Code, the principle offence being one under s. 181. The Magistrate treated the petition as a complaint, took the evidence of the person presenting it, and finally dismissed it under s. 203 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and gave sanction for the prosecution of the persons responsible for the petition. Held that the Magistrate's procedure was not open to objection. EMPEROR v. THAKUR DAS (1917) . I. L. R. 40 All. 41

ss. 120B, 420—

See WITNESS . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 700

See S 109 . 20 C. W. N. 292

ss. 121, 121A—

See JURY, RIGHT OF TRIAL BY

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467

s. 121A—

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957See CONSPIRACY TO WAGE WAR

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 169, 559

15 C. W. N. 646

1. Conspiracy—Abandonment of charge of duceity, if a bar to trial for conspiracy Association in lathi play of evidence of intention to wage war. The fact that proceedings for participation in a duceity against certain individuals were dropped owing to insufficiency of evidence, does not preclude a charge for conspiracy in respect of that duceity from being brought against the same persons and others, for the criminality of a conspiracy is distinct from and independent of the criminality of overt acts. Emperor v. Nani Gopal, 15 C. W. N. 593, distinguished. Lathi play by itself is perfectly harmless, and standing alone cannot be treated as evidence of a conspiracy to wage war. To attach sinister significance to the mere association in play or pastime of those that live in the same village or attend the same school would be dangerous especially when those exercises were undertaken with a complete absence of secrecy and rather with a covering of publicity. Emperor v. Nani Gopal, 15 C. W. N. 593, followed. PERMOORE, J. Intention of a joint design a joint combination "are association could not be held to be a branch of another association proved to have had revolutionary designs. PULIN BEHARI DAS v. KING EMPEROR (1911) . 16 C. W. N. 1105

2. Letter written by a stranger to a conspirator is sufficient to establish former's connection with conspiracy. A letter written by a stranger to a conspirator which is not shown to have been received or replied to or otherwise acted upon by the latter is not sufficient to establish the former's connection with the conspiracy so as to make his acts done in pursuance of the conspiracy. R. v. Doulton, 12 Cor. C. C. 87, 92, relied on. PULIN BEHARI DAS v. KING EMPEROR (1911) . 16 C. W. N. 1105

3. Conspiracy crime of, essence of—Overt acts, bearing of—Proof of

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s 121A—contd.

conspiracy indirect—Acts of co-conspirators before and after entry into conspiracy if admissible and for what purpose—Members of revolutionary society not a guarantee with its real object if guilty of conspiracy—Arms, find of, after arrest and pending prosecution of conspirator, if evidence Overt acts may properly be looked at as evidence of the existence of a concerted intention and in many cases it is only by means of overt acts that the existence of the conspiracy can be made out. But the criminality of the conspiracy is independent of the criminality of the overt act. Heymann v R, L R 8 Q B 302, 12 Cox, C C 353; O'Connell v R, 11 Cl & F 155, 1 Cox C C 413, and R v Duffield, 5 Cox, C C 404, 431, referred to. The prosecution is not obliged to prove a conspiracy by direct evidence of the agreement to do an unlawful act. If the facts proved are such that the jury, as reasonable men can say that there was a common design and the prisoners were acting in concert to do what is wrong, that is evidence from which the jury may suppose that a conspiracy was actually formed. R v Brown, 7 Cox, C C 412, followed. Where it appeared that certain members of a society found to be revolutionary were not acquainted with the real object of the society, not having been admitted to its secrets it was held that it would not be proper to convict such members under s 121A of the Indian Penal Code. The criminality of a conspiracy lying in the concerted intention, once reasonable grounds are made out for belief in the existence of the conspiracy amongst the accused, the acts of each conspirator in furtherance of the object are evidence against each of the others, and this whether such acts were done before or after his entry into the combination, in his presence or in his absence. Conspirators are not thereby necessarily subjected to punishment for everything done by their fellows, but acts done prior to the entry of a particular person into the combination are evidence to show the nature of the concert to which he becomes a party, whilst subsequent acts of the other members would indicate further the character of the common design in which all are presumed to be equally concerned. R v Murphy, 8 C & P 297, 310, R v Reads 6 Cox, C C 131; R v Stenson, 12 Cox, C C 111, O'Keefe v Walsh, 2 I R 681, relied on. If arms were collected and secreted in furtherance of a conspiracy before the activities of the associates had been brought to an end by their arrest, the fact that they were discovered after the arrest and after prosecution had been started against them would not make the evidence of the find inadmissible at the trial. PULIN BEHARY DAS v KING EMPEROR (1911)

18 C. W. N. 1105

4. Position of objectionable books if proof of guilty intention. The mere circumstances that a book of an objectionable character is present in the library of an individual or an association does not justify the inference that the teachings of the books are approved and adopted by persons who have access to it. The mere fact that books of a distinctly revolutionary character were found in the library of an association and were now and then read by some of its members, would not conclusively show that the object of the society was revolutionary. Emperor v. Nani Gopal, 18 C W N 394, followed.

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s 121A—contd.

R v Watson, 2 Clarke 116, 147, 32 Howell St Tr. 351, East on pleas of the Crown, p 119, referred to. The presence of seditious literature of this description written by members of the society would however, be an important element in furnishing a clue to their tendencies and designs. Per HARRINGTON, J. The utmost that can be said of persons in whose library are found books which are calculated to excite hatred against the English is that they approved of literature of that nature and even that assumption would not in all cases be a just one. But the presence in the library of a Society of violently revolutionary literature (some of them written in the hands of a member of the Society) urging the destruction of the English and exulting persons who had murdered English people justified the inference that the members of the Society were imbued with the sentiments those documents expressed. PULIN BEHARY DAS v KING EMPEROR (1911)

18 C. W. N. 1105

s. 121A, 123—Conspiracy to wage war against the King and concealing existence of conspiracy in furtherance thereof—Joint trial for both offences if legal. Per CURRIE. When persons, engaged in a conspiracy within the meaning of s 121A of the Penal Code, in furtherance of their object conceal the existence of the conspiracy from the authorities a charge under s 123 of the Penal Code may be legally joined with one under s 121A. Barindra Kumar Ghose v King Emperor, 1 L R 37 Cal 467, 14 C W N 1114, followed. PULIN BEHARY DAS v KING EMPEROR (1911)

18 C. W. N. 1105

ss. 121 and 124A—

See S 107 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 373, 394

s. 124A—

See S 511 F. I. L. R. 34 Bom. 373

See CRIMINAL LAW I L. R. 2 Lab 31

See PRESS ACT, 1910 s 3

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 143

See SEDITION I L. R. 38 Cal 214, 253

I. L. R. 39 Cal. 522, 606

Press Act (XXV of 1867), ss 4 and 5—Declaration made by owner who took no part in managing a printing press—Publication of a seditious book at the press—Sedition—Intention. The accused made a declaration under Act XXV of 1867, s 4, that he was the owner of a press called "The Atmaram Press." Beyond this, he took no part in the management of the press, which was carried on by another person. A book styled "Ek Shloki Gita" was printed at this press. It was a book that dealt to a large extent with metaphysics, philosophy and religion. It also contained seditious passages scattered among discussions of religious matters. It was not shown that the accused ever read the book or was aware of the seditious passages it contained. The accused was convicted of the offence punishable under s 124A of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 as publisher of the book. On appeal Held, by CHANDAVARAN, J., that the cumulative effect of the surrounding circumstances was such as to make it improbable that the accused had read the book or that he had known its seditious object; and that the evidence having thus been evenly balanced and equivocal, reasonable doubt arose as to the guilt of the accused, the benefit of which should be given to PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd—s. 124A—contd.

Hum v. Held, by HEATON, J., that before the accused could be convicted under s. 124A of the Indian Penal Code it must be found that he had an intention of exciting disaffection, and that the evidence fell very short of proving the intention. Per CHANDAVAREKAR, J. A declaration made under s. 4 of the Press Act is intended by the legislature to have a certain effect, namely, that of fastening responsibility for the conduct of the press on a person declaring in respect of matters where public interests are involved. Hence where a book complained of as seditious or libellous is printed in a press, the Court performing the functions of a jury may presume that the owner had a hand in the printing and was aware of the contents and character of the book. But whether such a presumption is warranted in any individual case must depend upon its own facts and circumstances. The presumption, however, is not conclusive, it is not one of law, but of fact, and it is open to the accused to rebut it. EMPEROR v. SHANKAR SHRIKRISHNA DEV (1910)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 55

—s. 141—

See RIOTING . I. L. R. 43 Cal. 78

—ss. 141, 143, 148, 326—Rioting—Maintaining a right, lawful common object—Enforcing a right, meaning of The complainant's party without the permission of the petitioners constructed a dam across a pyne exclusively belonging to the petitioners who had obtained an injunction from the Civil Court restraining the complainant's party from interfering with the petitioners in their use and occupation of the pyne. The petitioners in attempting to cut the dam were opposed by the complainant's party two of whom were struck by the petitioners, and the petitioners were convicted of rioting and of causing grievous hurt. Held, that after the Civil Court decree and injunction the petitioners could not be held to be enforcing a right within the meaning of s. 141 (f) and the presence of the complainant's party in opposing the petitioners, was a criminal trespass which entitled the petitioners to a right of private defence. The phrase 'to enforce a right' can only apply when the party claiming the right has not possession over the subject of the right and therein lies the distinction between 'enforcing a right' and 'maintaining a right'. A party in possession is entitled to resist and repel an aggression and his action in so doing would be in the maintenance of his right. RAMNANDAN PROSAD SINGH v. THE EMPEROR (1913)

17 C. W. N. 1132

—ss. 141, 147 and 148—

See PRIVATE DEFENCE

3 Pat. L. J. 653

—s. 143, conviction under—

See SECURITY TO KEEP THE PEACE.

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 671

—ss. 143, 148, 447—Unlawful assembly and criminal trespass—Lone side belief in the existence of right to land and assertion of such right In consequence of a dispute between two landlords, the disputed property was attached under s. 148, Criminal Procedure Code, in a proceeding under s. 145, Criminal Procedure Code, and a receiver appointed, but the Magistrate appointing the Receiver omitted to give any direction as regards

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd—ss. 143, 148, 447—contd

the management of the property. There was a dispute between the tenants on both sides as regards the grazing rights over the property, but it appeared that the zemindar of the petitioners gave them the grazing rights over the land and they objected to a tenant of the rival zemindar ploughing up a portion of the land over which they alleged they had grazing rights under colour of a lease from the Receiver. The petitioners were convicted under ss. 143, 147 of the Penal Code. Held, that the petitioners could not be convicted of criminal trespass when they were asserting a right which had never been declared against them, which they bona fide believed they had, and for the same reason they could not be said to have formed an unlawful assembly because they went and protested against the land being ploughed up. REAJUPPUN MOLLA v. KING EMPEROR (1914)

18 C. W. N. 1245

—s. 148—Rioting—Dispute regarding possession of land—Title with accused—Lawful common object—Propriety of conviction—Right by private defence—Hurt Where the petitioners were convicted under ss. 148, 323, 326, 329 149, Penal Code, some under one, some under all of the sections, the riot relating to a dispute in respect of possession of a plot of land, and the Sessions Judge in appeal found that the occurrence did take place on the land in dispute and the accused took part in it, but that they were in fact entitled to harvest and remove the crops grown on the disputed land, but the District Magistrate in his explanation pointed out that the findings of the Judge were not in accordance with the weight of the evidence, the High Court refused to go behind the findings of the Sessions Judge, and held that the conviction under ss. 148, 326 149, Penal Code, could not stand and so far as the offence under s. 323 was concerned the accused did not in the circumstances of the case exceed their right of private defence. JHALKY TEWARI v. KING EMPEROR (1913)

17 C. W. N. 1091

—ss. 146, 147—

See JURY, TRIAL BY

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 367

—s. 147—

See S. 71 . I. L. R. 39 All. 623

See S. 99 . 18 C. W. N. 275

See S. 143 . 18 C. W. N. 1245

See ATTACHMENT.

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 549

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 106

I. L. R. 33 All. 48

See CUMULATIVE SENTENCE.

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 511

See JURY, TRIAL BY

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 367

See RIOTING . I. L. R. 43 Cal. 78

—Right of Private Defence—

See ASSESSORS, EXAMINATION OF.

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 183

—Rioting There may be an unlawful assembly and riot in respect of a right which the rioters desire to enforce. DEPUTY LEGAL REMEMBRANCER, BHAR AND ORISA v. MATKEDHARI SINGH (1915)

20 C. W. N. 123

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

Out of six accused persons three found to have a common object different from that set out in the charge—Legality of conviction of any of the six accused—Court's duty in cases where near relatives want to compound cases Six accused persons were convicted under s 147, Indian Penal Code and sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment. In the charge the common object was stated to be to assault the complainant. During the pendency of the case the complainant wanted to compound the case but the Magistrate did not allow him to do so. In his judgment he found that three of the accused assaulted the complainant and the other three accused went to snatch away the cattle of the complainant in common object with that of the other accused persons. Held, that there being a difference between the common object found by the Magistrate in the case of three of the accused persons, there were not five persons that shared in the common object set out in the charge and the ingredient of an offence under s 147 I P C was wanting. Therefore the conviction under s 147 against all the accused must fail. ANIVULLA v FRYER 28 C. W. N 534 ss. 147, 148—Rioting with common object of obstructing measurement of khas mahal land—Acquittal in the absence of affirmative proof of Government's possession of the disputed land—Onus of proof of prosecution in criminal case The petitioners were convicted of rioting with the common object of causing obstruction to measurement and demarcation of khas mahal land by a Kanungo and a khas mahal Tahsildar. Held (on a consideration of the evidence) that the question of possession of the disputed land was not one upon which a definite opinion could be expressed on the materials on the record but was eminently one for the Civil Court to determine. That the burden of proving the charge substantially as drawn lay on the prosecution and if it was not established affirmatively that the land on which the alleged riot took place was in the actual possession of the Government, the charge as alleged was not proved and the petitioners were not guilty of rioting with the common object stated in the charge. PANCHANAN BOSE v KING EMPEROR (1919)

23 C. W. N 693

ss. 147, 149 and 353—

See BENGAL SURVEY ACT, 1875

2 Pat. L. J. 18

ss. 147, 323—

See APPELLATE COURT

I L. R. 33 Calc. 293

See CUMULATIVE SENTENCES.

I L. R. 40 Calc. 511

ss. 147, 323 and 353—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898, s 423 . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 565

ss. 147, 323 and 149—

See RIOTING . I L. R. 41 Calc. 43

ss. 147, 332—

See MAGISTRATE, JURISDICTION OF
I L. R. 39 Calc. 377PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

ss. 147, 353—

See RIOTING . I L. R. 41 Calc. 636

ss. 147, 426, 447—Obstruction to public way by building a wall—Pulling down the wall in bona fide exercise of the right of public way, no offence The complainant built a wall obstructing a public way. Immediately after this, the accused, who were members of the public, in the bona fide exercise of their right of way, pulled down the wall. Held, that the accused were not guilty either of rioting, or of mischief, or of criminal trespass (ss. 147, 426 and 447 of the Penal Code). Re DHARMALINGA MUDALI (1914)

I L. R. 39 Mad. 57

ss. 147, 447—Rioting—Criminal trespass—Charge of rioting with common object of taking forcible possession of complainant's land and assaulting him—Absence of charge under s 447 of the Penal Code—Conviction of criminal trespass, propriety of—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895), s 235 When the petitioners who were charged under s 147 of the Penal Code, with rioting with the common object of taking forcible possession of complainant's land and of assaulting him and others were convicted of criminal trespass under s 447 of the Penal Code, without any charge being framed against them or without being called upon to plead to a case of trespass. Held, that the conviction was illegal. If the common object had been to commit criminal trespass, the conviction under s 447 of the Penal Code, without a charge having been framed against the accused might have been legally valid but the common object stated in the charge did not make out a case of trespass. In a case of trespass, before a conviction is obtained, the prosecution must establish on the part of the trespasser an intention to commit an offence or to intimidate, insult or annoy any person in possession of the property on which trespass has been committed. QUEEN v SALAMATI (1913) 23 W. R. 59, referred to. ASAF MUHAMMAD EMPEROR (1913).

13 C. W. N. 992

s. 148—

See s. 141 . . . 17 C. W. N. 1132

See s. 147 . . . 18 C. W. N. 275

23 C. W. N. 693

See PRIVATE DEFENCE.

3 Pat. L. J. 653

4 Pat. L. J. 299

ss. 148, 149, 304, 326

See CRIMINAL TRESPASS.

I L. R. 41 Calc. 682

ss. 148, 324 and 326—

See COMMON OBJECT . 2 Pat. L. J. 541

s. 149—

See s. 71 . . . I L. R. 33 All. 49

See BENGAL SURVEY ACT, 1875

2 Pat. L. J. 18

See CRIMINAL TRESPASS.

I L. R. 41 Calc. 682

See RIOTING . I L. R. 41 Calc. 43

See SENTENCE . 3 Pat. L. J. 641

1. ———— Charge under s. 325, read with s. 149 Conviction under s. 325 of legal—S. 35, when applicable Where the accused were charged and convicted by the Magistrate

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

under s 147, Indian Penal Code, and s 300 read with s 149, Indian Penal Code, and the Sessions Judge in appeal set aside the conviction under s 147, Indian Penal Code, and altered the conviction under s 325 read with s 149, Indian Penal Code, to one under s 305 Indian Penal Code. Held, when a person is charged by implication under s 149 Indian Penal Code, he cannot be convicted of the substantive offence. When a Court draws up a charge under s 325 read with s 149, Indian Penal Code, it clearly intimates to the accused persons that they did not cause grievous hurt to anybody themselves but that they are guilty by implication of such offence inasmuch as somebody else in prosecution of the common object of the riot in which they were engaged did cause such grievous hurt. When these accused persons are acquitted of rioting obviously all the offences which they are said to have committed by implication disappear, and the defence cannot be called upon to answer to the specific act of causing grievous hurt simply because it may have appeared in the evidence. S 34 Indian Penal Code can only come into operation when there is a substantive charge. The considerations which govern s 34 Indian Penal Code are entirely different from and in many respects the opposite of those which govern s 149 Indian Penal Code. REAZUDDIN v KING EMPEROR (1912) 18 C W N 1077

2. Existence of common object before commencement of fight not necessary to constitute offence—Criminal Procedure Code ss 237, 238, 423 (b)—Appellate Court has power to convict accused of an offence of which he is acquitted in cases not falling under ss 237, 238. To constitute an offence under s 149 the existence of a common object before the commencement of the fight is not necessary. It is enough if the common object is adopted by all the accused. The power of an Appellate Court under s 423 (b) of the Criminal Procedure Code to alter the finding while maintaining the sentence is not confined to cases falling under ss 237 and 238 of the Code. The finding which an Appellate Court may alter under s 423 (b) may relate either to an offence with which the accused is apparently charged in the lower Court, or to one of which he might be convicted under ss 237 and 238 without a distinct charge. In cases not falling under ss 237 and 238, he cannot be convicted of an offence with which he was not charged in the lower Court. Where, however, he has been charged and the lower Court has recorded a finding on such charge the Appellate Court can alter the finding. COLLA HANUMAPPA v EMPEROR (1911) 1 L R 35 Mad. 243

s. 183A—

See SEDITION. 1 L R 38 Cal. 214

See FORFEITURE 1 L R 41 Cal. 466

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR
1 L R. 43 Cal. 591

s. 154—

See PLOTTING 1 L R. 39 Cal. 834

ss. 154 and 155—The accused was convicted under ss 154 and 155 of the Penal Code in respect of a riot which took place in his dhanyan. It was found that the riot took place not in respect of the dhanyan itself but with respect to the right to collect rent from the tenants. Held, that the

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd*ss 154 and 155—contd accused had been rightly convicted under ss 154 and 155. DOMA SARTU v THE KING EMPEROR

2 Pat. L. J. 83

s. 155—

See S 154

2 Pat. L. J. 83

Person not having property in land not claiming interest therein if liable—Record of riot case if admissible. Where the petitioners were convicted under s 155 Penal Code, and they had admittedly no property in the land in respect of which the riot took place, but their mother and the wife of one of them had interest therein, and the Sessions Judge in appeal relying on the evidence that the petitioners demanded kobutiyats from tenants, found that they were claiming an interest in the land although there was no evidence to prove that the petitioners demanded the kobutiyats for themselves. Held, that the finding that the petitioners were claiming an interest in the land could not be supported and the conviction under s 155 Penal Code must be set aside. That in the case under s 155 Penal Code, the Magistrate should have excluded the record of the riot case. PRANOTHA NATH PATEL CROWDERY v KING EMPEROR (1913)

17 C W N 1247

s. 161—

See ARRESTMENT OF ABETMENT

1 L R 46 Cal. 607

Illegal gratification to a public servant—Elements necessary for conviction. It is not enough for a conviction under s 161 Indian Penal Code that the accused merely took a certain sum of money but it must be proved that he took the amount as a motive or reward for any of the purposes mentioned in the section. UPAS DRA NATH CHOWDHURY v KING EMPEROR (1916)

21 C. W. N. 552

s. 170—The mere assumption of a false character without any attempt to do an official act is not sufficient to bring the offender within the section. SANDEO PATHAK v KING EMPEROR
3 Pat. L. J. 339

s. 173—Summons—Refusal to receive summons when tendered no offence. Under the Code of Criminal Procedure the mere tender to a person of a summons is sufficient and a refusal by him to receive it does not constitute the offence of intentionally preventing service thereof on himself under s 173 of the Indian Penal Code. 173 EMPEROR v SANDEO RAI (1918) 1 L. R. 40 All. 577

s. 176—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT I OF 1898) s. 56.

1 L. R. 40 Mad. 789

s. 180—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 361
1 L. R. 39 All. 399

s. 182—

See S 211 1 L. R. 39 All. 715

See ACQUITTAL 1 L. R. 37 Cal. 604

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), ss 63 AND 70, SCR. 111

1 L. R. 37 All. 334

See FALSE INFORMATION

14 C. W. N. 765

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s 182—contd.

1. — Transfer—Unfounded allegations against the trying Magistrate made by an accused person in an application for transfer of his case—Held that an accused person, who in support of an application for the transfer of the case against him to some other Magistrate makes unfounded and defamatory allegations against the trying Magistrate cannot be prosecuted in respect of such allegations under s 182 of the Indian Penal Code. Queen v Daria Khan 2 N W P H C Rep 128 and Queen Empress v Subbaya 1 L R 12 Mad 451, referred to. PEROOR v MATAN (1910) 1 L R 33 All 167

Information to police that informant suspected the persons named as offenders, of amounts to giving false information. Where a person in whose house a theft took place informed the police that he suspected two persons whom he named as the perpetrators of the crime. Held that it did not amount to giving false information within the meaning of a 182 Indian Penal Code. ASANGA MOHAN DUTTA v KING FARRER (1917) 22 C W N 478

3. — Giving false information to the Deputy Superintendent of Police in the course of a departmental inquiry in reply to questions—The petitioner sent a letter to the Deputy Inspector-General of Police alleging that the Sub Inspector of Sadlaura and other persons were looting the people and that he was ready to prove it. This was sent on to the Superintendent of Police for recording the petitioner's statement and for necessary action, and the Superintendent passed it on to the Deputy Superintendent for taking statements. The latter recorded the statement of the petitioner, who made allegations as to bribes having been taken by the Sub Inspector and mentioned among others a bribe of Rs 500 taken from one M. S. In respect of this statement the petitioner was convicted by the Lower Courts of an offence under s 182 of the Penal Code. Held that the statement of the petitioner to the Deputy Superintendent of Police in the departmental inquiry was information within the meaning of s 182 of the Penal Code notwithstanding that it was made in answer to questions. Queen-Empress v Ramji Soybarao (1 L P 10 Bom 124), followed. Mangru v Crown (227 P L R 1914) distinguished and partly disapproved. Chinna Ramana v Emperor (1 L R 31 Mad 506) distinguished. Rayon Kuit v Emperor (1 L R 28 Mad 640) referred to. Held also that as the Deputy Superintendent of Police was competent to make an inquiry into the petitioner's allegations against the Sub Inspector and the petitioner knew that his allegations were likely to lead the Deputy Superintendent to make such an inquiry which would be calculated to cause annoyance to the Sub Inspector, his conviction under s 182 was justified. Queen v Perannan (1 L P 4 Mad 241) distinguished. PANNA LAL v CROWN 1 L R 1 Lah 410 ss. 182, 193—Complaint—Statement made to the Magistrate as head of the police and not as a Magistrate—P appeared before a District Magistrate and made a statement in which he accused a certain police officer of having beaten him, demanded a bribe of him and locked him up in the police lockup. He stated however that he did not wish to make a complaint but only desired that an inquiry should be made. Never theless the Magistrate examined P on oath, and subsequently the charge having been found to be baseless, P was convicted under ss 182 and 193 of the Indian Penal Code. Held, that inasmuch as P had expressly stated that he did not wish to make a complaint the statement must be taken to have been made to the District Magistrate not as Magistrate but as head of the district police and the conviction under s 193 of the Code could not be upheld. PEROOR v PUTHAL (1912) 1 L R 35 All 102

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*ss 182, 193—contd.

ss. 182, 211—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898) s 403(1)

1 L R 36 Mad 309

1. — Sanction to prosecute—Criminal Procedure Code s 195—H made a report against several persons; including one S, at a police station charging them with robbing and voluntarily causing hurt. The police made inquiry and sent up several persons for trial, but not S. Some of these were convicted by the Magistrate but acquitted by the Sessions Judge. Thereupon S made a complaint to the Magistrate charging H with having made a false report in respect of himself to the police. The Magistrate took cognizance of the complaint. Held that the Magistrate had no power to take cognizance of the complaint by reason of the absence of sanction. EMPEROR v HARDWAN PAL (1912) 1 L R 31 All 522

2. — Sanction to prosecute—Jurisdiction—Application by insolvent to District Judge alleging misappropriation of property of insolvent—A person who had been declared an insolvent and in respect of whose property a Receiver had been appointed by the District Judge, applied to the Court representing that one Bhikhi Ram had misappropriated certain property belonging to him and asking that Bhikhi Ram's house might be searched. The District Judge forwarded this application to the Magistrate and Bhikhi Ram was arrested and his house searched. Subsequently however proceedings against Bhikhi Ram were dropped there being no evidence against him. Bhikhi Ram then applied to the District Judge for sanction to prosecute the applicant under ss 182 and 211 of the Indian Penal Code. The sanction asked for was granted. Held that as regards s 182 there was no objection to the order; but as regards s 211 the criminal proceedings taken against Bhikhi Ram were not taken in the Court of the District Judge and it was at any rate doubtful whether it could be said that the offence committed by the applicant was committed in relation to any proceeding pending in that Court. MUHAMMAD FAHAR UD DIN v BHUKHT RAM (1914) 1 L R 38 All 212

ss. 183, 186 and 353—Resistance to execution of warrant—no duty specified for arrestant—Resistance to Nazir executing warrant addressed to peon—Resistance to the execution of a warrant directing the attachment of property, where the warrant does not specify the date on, or before which it is to be executed is not illegal. Where such a warrant was addressed to a peon of the court for execution. Held that resistance to the war who endeavoured to execute it was not illegal. MONTVI MOHAN BAYARJI v KING EMPEROR 1 Pat. L J 550

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.

— s. 185—"Property"—Exclusion right to sell drugs Held, that a person who bid at an auction of the right to sell drugs within a certain area under a false name, and when the sale was confirmed in his favour, denied that he had ever made any bids at all, was rightly convicted of an offence under s. 185 of the Indian Penal Code Queen v. Resooddeen, 3 W. R. Cr. R. 31, referred to EMPEROR v. BISHAN PRASAD (1914)
I L. R. 37 ALL. 123

— s. 186—

See S. 193 . . . I Pat. L. J. 550

1 ———— Voluntarily obstructing Public Servants in the discharge of their public functions—Releasing property attached by Civil Court pawns under distress warrants issued under the Public Demands Recovery Act (Peng. I of 1895) and the Village Chaudhari Act (Peng. I of 1879), s. 45—Legality of Warrant—Omission to specify date of extension on the face of it—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r. 21(2)—Execution by person not named in the warrant—Delegation of powers by Nazir A distress warrant issued under the Public Demands Recovery Act which has been extended beyond the original date of return, but does not bear on the face of it the altered date, is not a legal warrant under O XXI, r. 21(2) of the Civil Procedure Code. A warrant under s. 45 of the Village Chaudhari Act must contain the name of the person charged with the execution thereof and cannot be legally executed by any other person delegated by the former for that purpose. Where the accused released certain buffaloes attached by the Civil Court pawns, on the 2nd August, under two warrants addressed to the nazir, but endorsed by him to them, the one issued under the Public Demands Recovery Act, which was originally returnable by the 26th July but had been extended to the 8th August, without the alteration of the date appearing thereon, and the other under s. 45 of the Village Chaudhari Act directed to the nazir but without naming any person therein as charged with the execution of it. Held, that they were not guilty of an offence under s. 186 of the Penal Code, as the pawns were not lawfully executing the warrants. SURESH NATH v. EMPEROR (1900) . . . I L. R. 37 CALC. 122

2. ———— Obstructing a public servant in the discharge of his public functions—Local inspection by Munsif—Water-ways In a suit in which a public right of way was claimed there was a dispute not only as to whether the public right of way claimed existed but also as to whether there were not certain other public ways the existence of which would discredit the plaintiffs' allegations in the suit. The Munsif trying the case went to the spot to hold a local inspection; he wanted to pass in a boat along a water way but was not allowed to do so by the petitioners who claimed it as their private property. It was found that it was a water way used at least by the people of a particular locality. None of the petitioners were parties to the suit pending before the Munsif in which the local inspection was held. The petitioners were convicted under s. 146, Indian Penal Code. Held, that no offence under s. 186, Indian Penal Code, was committed. NIHAI DAS v. PATIL v. EMPEROR (1916)
20 C. W. N. 837

3. ———— Obstruction to public servant—Devotee, form of—Execution—Warr.

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.— s. 186—contd.

rant, not in form, validity of—Execution of invalid warrant of arrest, obstruction to, effect of—Procedure In an application for execution of a decree for restitution of conjugal rights a warrant was issued directing the executing peon to seize the wife and deliver her bodily to her husband, failing which to bring her under arrest before the executing Court. The peon seized the woman in execution of the warrant but he was resisted and the woman was snatched away. Held, that the warrant, the execution of which was resisted, was illegal and therefore no offence was committed under s. 186 of the Penal Code. GAHAR MUHAMMAD SARKAR v. PITAM BAP DAS (1918) . . . 22 C. W. N. 814 — ss. 186 and 225B—Obstructing public servant—Penal Code—Failure to obey order to furnish accounts—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r. 30—'injunction' Where in a suit for an account a preliminary decree was passed ordering the defendant to furnish an account within a specified time, and he failed to do so and together with two companions resisted a peon sent by the Court to arrest him under the provisions of O XXI, r. 32, of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908. Held, that the defendant's arrest was unlawful, and that the conviction of himself and his two companions of offences under ss. 186 and 225B of the Penal Code could not stand. Held, also, that the order to furnish an account, which was contained in a preliminary decree was not an injunction within the meaning of O XXI, r. 32. The word "injunction" as used in O XXI, r. 32 has a more extended meaning than it has in the Specific Relief Act 1877. The decisions in Deviander Majumdar v. Auloyanath Roy and Rajlu Nath v. Gangpat, on the effect of s. 260 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1882 have been overruled by the provisions of O XXI, r. 32, of the Code of 1908. It is not every order of a Court directing a person to do a certain act that is an injunction. In its essence an injunction is a rel of consequential upon an infringement of a legal right. ANURUP SUTR v. KINU EMPEROR . . . 8 Pat. L. J. 106

— s. 187—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 42.
I L. R. 42 ALL. 314

— s. 188—

See APPREHENSION
I L. R. 43 CALC. 1086See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
14 C. W. N. 234
I L. R. 41 CALC. 144

1 ———— Order duly promulgated by public servant—Order of public servant to enter railway premises except for travelling Held, that the public servant has a right to enter upon railway premises for many purposes other than travelling, and an order forbidding persons to enter a railway station except for bona fide purposes of travelling would be an illegal order. In the particular instance, however, it did not appear that the order in question was issued by any authority to which, supposing it to be otherwise legal, would have had power to issue it. EMPEROR v. PANA (1913)
I L. R. 33 ALL. 139

2. ———— 'Promulgated,' meaning of—Injunction, double case law—offence under Penal Code The word "promulgated"

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd*s. 188—contd

under s. 188 of the Penal Code refers to orders issued under the Code of Criminal Procedure and not to judgments and orders of Civil Courts. MAHABALI v KUTTI AMMU (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 543

3. ————— Prohibition order under s. 144 Criminal Procedure Code, passed without any evidence—Prosecution for disobedience of order not properly passed—Cognizance of case under s. 188 by the same Magistrate who passed the order disobeyed A servant of the first party filed a petition before the Sub divisional Magistrate complaining that the second party were about to construct a drain and if the first party opposed them there was a likelihood of a breach of the peace, whereupon the Magistrate without taking any evidence issued an injunction under s. 144, Criminal Procedure Code against the second party. On the next day on the complaint of the same man the Magistrate summoned the second party under s. 188, Indian Penal Code. Subsequently he transferred the case to a Magistrate with second class powers and again withdrew it from his file and sent it to the Additional District Magistrate. Held that the proceedings were wholly irregular. That the order under s. 144, Criminal Procedure Code, should never have been made. That in summoning the second party under s. 188, Indian Penal Code, the Sub-divisional Magistrate was taking cognizance of the offence under s. 188, Indian Penal Code, which he had no power to do. Further action by the Magistrate under s. 476, Criminal Procedure Code, or an application for sanction under s. 195, Criminal Procedure Code, was necessary. The High Court quashed the proceedings under s. 188, Indian Penal Code, and also set aside the order under s. 144 Criminal Procedure Code, which was the foundation of those proceedings although that order had expired. CHANDRA KANTO KANJILAL v KING EMPEROR (1916)

20 C. W. N. 981

4. ————— Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 144—Prosecution for disobedience of order prohibiting disturbance By an order under s. 144, Criminal Procedure Code, the petitioners were directed not to make any disturbance over a certain person's rights of a ferry and thereafter the petitioners being found plying another ferry at the site in question but not causing any disturbance were ordered to be prosecuted under s. 188, Indian Penal Code. Held that the order for prosecution was infructuous. SOJAL BISWAS v SAMIRUDDIN MANDAL (1917)

22 C. W. N. 599

5. ————— Disobedience of order under s. 144, Criminal Procedure Code—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) s. 195, 497 Cognizance of a case under s. 188, Indian Penal Code, cannot be taken except in accordance with the provisions of s. 195, Criminal Procedure Code, and under s. 487, Criminal Procedure Code, the Magistrate whose order is disobeyed is not competent to try the case. BRITANNIC GOV v CHRISTIAN MULLICK (1919) 23 C. W. N. 520

— ss. 188, 209—Epizootic Diseases Act (1911 of 1917), sec. 2 and 3—Local Government—Delegation of powers to—Regulations under the Act—R 104 of the Regulations ultra vires of the Local Government A delegation under r 104 by the

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*ss. 188, 209—contd

Collector to a Divisional Officer of the power to call upon people to evacuate houses is illegal and an omission to comply with the order of such officer acting under such delegated authority is not an illegal omission. Re NAGAPPA TATVAN (1913)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 602

s. 189—

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE. s. 435

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 561

— ss. 191, 193—

See s. 52. I. L. R. 36 All. 362

See FALSE EVIDENCE

I. L. R. 83 Calc. 363

— s. 192—“Fabricating false evidence”

— Document helping Court to form a correct opinion Certain cattle were sold in a market on the 21st of March, 1917. A clerk whose duty it was to register sales of cattle held at that market and give receipts to the purchasers, gave a receipt on the 27th March, most probably, and dated it the 27th March, 1917, but subsequently altered the date to the 21st, the actual date of sale. Held, that there was no case of fabricating false evidence, for the alteration of the date was not intended to lead anyone to form an erroneous opinion touching the date of sale, but the contrary. EMPEROR v BADEE PRASAD (1917)

I. L. R. 40 All. 35

— ss. 192 and 193—False evidence—

Fabrication—Judicial proceedings—Execution proceedings—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 195 (b)—Sanction to prosecute—Pending proceedings For the purpose of ss. 192 and 193 of the Indian Penal Code 1860, execution proceedings are judicial proceedings. It is not essential for the purpose of these sections that the judicial proceedings in which the person intends to use the false evidence must be pending at the date of the fabrication. In the absence of any proceeding pending or disposed of, in which or in relation to which the offence under s. 193 of the Indian Penal Code is said to have been committed, no sanction under s. 195 (b) of the Criminal Procedure Code is necessary. In re GOVIND PANDURANG (1920)

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 668

— ss. 192, 193, 423—

See FABRICATING FALSE EVIDENCE.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 986

— s. 193—

See S 182. I. L. R. 35 All. 102

See S 102. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 168

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 996

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

Ss. 157, 159, 476.

I. L. R. 32 All. 30

S 105. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 677

5 Pat. L. J. 23

Ss. 236, 195, 537

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 834

S. 239. I. L. R. 42 Mad. 561

See JUDICIAL PROCEEDING

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 52

See TRUCE IMPRESSION

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 348

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

Perjury arising from contradictory statements—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), ss 236, 193, 537 (b) AND 184

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 834

1. Order to prosecute
—Case pending before Court of S. M. on—Alleged perjury—Property of prosecution by Committing Magistrate Where a Committing Magistrate had ordered the prosecution of a witness under s 193 of the Penal Code, while the case in which he had deposed was pending before the Court of Sessions, the High Court set aside the order. The impropriety of taking proceedings against a witness while the case is still pending, commented on BURENDRA NATH DAS GUPTA v THE EMPEROR (1914) 18 C. W. N. 1342

2. Perjury in a deposition before a Civil Court, not read out to the deponent —Civil Procedure Code Act I of 1908, O 18, r 5—whether secondary evidence is admissible to prove the deposition—Indian Evidence Act, I of 1872, s 91 The petitioner was accused of having made a false statement on oath in the Court of a Munsif. The Munsif stated in evidence in the present trial that this statement was not read out to the witness. The question before this Court was whether secondary evidence could be admitted to prove the making of the statement. Held, that secondary evidence cannot be admitted in the trial of the petitioner for perjury to prove the making of the statement in the Munsif's Court. Empress v Mayadeb Goswami (1 L. R. 6 Calc 762), Mohendra Nath v Emperor (12 Calc. W. N. 845, 847), Kamatchinathan Chetty v Emperor (1 L. R. 28 Mad 308 (310)), and Nalluri Chunchab v Emperor (1 L. R. 42 Mad. 561) followed. Ramesh Chandra Das v Emperor (23 Calc. W. N. 661) and Crown v Jagat Ram (23 P. R. (Cr) 1918), distinguished. Kahn Singh v Empress (25 P. R. (Cr) 1890), not followed. IMAN DIT v NIAMAT ULLAH

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 361

ss. 192, 196, 199, 471—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s 192, cls. (b) AND (c)

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 642

ss. 193 and 210—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

2 Pat. L. J. 688

ss. 193, 471—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 584

ss. 193 and 423—

See FABRICATING FALSE DOCUMENT,

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 911

ss. 193, 511—Court—District Judge hearing election petition under s 22 of the Bombay District Municipalities Act (Bom. Act III of 1901) is a Court—False evidence before the District Judge —Sanction for prosecution—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) s 195 A District Judge hearing an election petition under the provisions of s. 22 of the Bombay District Municipalities Act (Bombay Act III of 1901) is a "Court" within the meaning of s. 193 cl. (b) of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1898. No prosecution for attempting to fabricate false evidence (ss. 193 and 11 of the Indian Penal Code) before the District Judge can be instituted without having obtained sanction as required by s. 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1898. Raghuburn Sahay v Kold Singh, 1 L. R. 17 Calc. 872, followed. In re NANCHAND SHIVCHAND (1912) I. L. R. 37 Bom. 365

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1830)—contd

ss 193, 511—contd

s. 196—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1898, s 193 I. L. R. 38 Bom. 642

ss. 197, 198—Issuing or signing a false certificate—“Certificate” meaning of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r 2—Petition in Court stating satisfaction of decree, if a certificate within the meaning of the sections The two petitioners were convicted under ss 197 and 198 and ss 197 109 and 198 109, respectively, the charge being that one of the petitioners purporting to represent the decree holder in a certain suit signed and filed a petition in the Court of the Subordinate Judge stating contrary to fact, that the other petitioner who was the judgment debtor had paid off the decretal amount to the decree holder through him. Her Ammuktcar Held, that the petition in question filed before the Subordinate Judge was not a certificate within the purview of ss. 197 and 198 Indian Penal Code, neither of the requirements of a "certificate" within the meaning of the sections being satisfied in the case. That there is no provision of law which requires a decree holder or his agent to give or sign a certificate of payment or adjustment, nor is there any provision of law which makes the statement of the decree holder or his agent as to payment or satisfaction admissible in evidence as such certificate that is, without further proof. That the word "certificate" may be used as synonymous with certification but that is clearly not its meaning in ss 197 and 198 of the Penal Code. MAHABIR THAKUR v KING EMPEROR (1916)

20 C. W. N. 520

s 199—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 193
I. L. R. 38 Bom. 642
23 C. W. N. 886

Sanction to prosecute—

Prosecution based on alleged false declaration—Declaration inadmissible in evidence A declaration, before it can be made the foundation of a prosecution under s. 199 of the Indian Penal Code, must be one which is admissible in evidence and which the Court before which it is filed is bound or authorized by law to receive in evidence. EMPEROR v RAM PRASAD (1912)

I. L. R. 35 All. 88

ss. 201, 203—

See FALSE INFORMATION
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 427

ss. 201, 202—Murder—Causing evidence of murder to disappear—Property of alternative indictments—Principal and accessory after the fact—Principal, if can be convicted under s. 201.
The accused were committed to the Court of Sessions under ss. 302 and 201, Indian Penal Code. In that Court the charge under s. 201, Indian Penal Code, was first investigated, the other charge being postponed for future consideration. The Sessions Judge found that the accused had a sufficient motive for committing murder, that they disposed of the body of the deceased and were loitering near his house at the exact hour of murder. On these facts the accused were convicted under s. 201, Indian Penal Code. Held, that s. 201 Indian Penal Code, is an attempt to define the position known in England as that of an accessory after the fact. It is settled law that a principal cannot be convicted as an accessory. Where it is impossible to say definitely however strongly it might be suspected, that an accused was guilty of murder, mere suspicion is no bar to a conviction under s. 201. But if it be accepted as a proved fact that the accused before the Court disposed of a dead body and if the acceptance of that fact completes the chain of circumstantial evidence which proves beyond doubt that the accused were actual principals present at the murder and taking part in the murder, they cannot be convicted of the minor offence of causing evidence of the murder to disappear even though by an error of the Judge or by a misconception of the position by the Public Prosecutor the charge of murder is subsequently withdrawn. That on the facts found the accused were principals and the conviction under s. 201 could not stand. Per CHAPMAN J. It is unsatisfactory to have an alternative indictment one count charging the accused as principal and the other as accessory after the fact. Queen Empress v. Lamba, unreported Criminal Case, Bom. H. C. 1895 at page 799, and Torap Ali v. Queen Empress, 1 L. R. 22 Cal. 635, relied on. SUMANTA DRUPA v. KING EMPEROR (1915). 20 C. W. N. 186

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1890)—*contd*ss. 201, 302—contd.

s. 203—

See FALSE INFORMATION

I. L. R. 46 Cal. 427

s. 210—

See SANCTION TO PROSECUTE.

2 Pat. L. J. 683

s. 211—

See s. 183. I. L. R. 34 All. 522

I. L. R. 38 All. 212

See COMPLAINT, DISMISSAL OF

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 444

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

ss. 4 AND 476 I. L. R. 33 All. 32

S. 250. I. L. R. 37 Bom. 376

S. 493. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 308

See JURISDICTION OF CRIMINAL COURT

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 360

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

4 Pat. L. J. 374

I. — Laying false information before police—Duty of prosecution—Onus of proof—Elements necessary to be proved—Failure of defence to examine witness, effect of. Where the petitioner was convicted under s. 211 of the Penal Code of having laid a false information of theft before the police, and the petitioner's case was that he had heard from his wife that the persons named in the information had disappeared and the properties named therein were missing, and his information was based on this statement of the wife, and the prosecution did not prove that there was no such statement by the wife who was not examined as a witness for the prosecution nor did the petitioner examine her as a witness on his side. Held, that the duty of the prosecution in a case under s. 211 of the Penal Code, is to prove by satisfactory evidence that the charge was wilfully false to the knowledge of the maker of the charge. That it is for the prosecution to establish their case and if they fail to supply that proof which is required to secure the conviction of the accused, the failure on the part of the latter to examine any particular witness or witnesses will not imply the guilt of the accused. That the case against the petitioner being that no theft took place, the obligation of proving it rested on the prosecution. In the present case the prosecution not having established that there was, as a matter of fact, no theft and the petitioner knew that there was no theft, the High Court set aside the conviction and sentence under s. 211 of the Penal Code. HASSAN MIRZA v. MAHMOUD (1913). 18 C. W. N. 391

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1890)—*contd.*s. 211—contd.

2. — False charge—

Necessary constituents of offence under s. 211—Report to a police officer causing suspicion on certain persons. In order to constitute an offence defined by s. 211 of the Indian Penal Code, the "charge" therein alluded to must be made to an officer or to a court who has power to investigate and send it for trial, and must be an accusation made, with the intention to set the law in motion. Chenna Malli Gowda v. Emperor, 1 L. R. 27 Mad. 129, Chinna Ramana Goud v. Emperor, 1 L. R. 31 Mad. 506, and Zorawar Singh v. King Emperor, 11 All. L. J. 1109, followed. The following statement was made to a police officer:—"I find there has been a theft. I suspect the persons named and I want an inquiry to be made." Held, that if the statement was false, the offence committed fell under s. 183 of the Indian Penal Code and not under s. 211. EMPEROR v. MATHURA PRASAD (1917). I. L. R. 39 All. 715

3. — Complaint, under

s. 1 of the Breach of Contract Act (XIII of 1859), withdrawn before passing of any order under a 2—Whether a 'criminal proceeding' within s. 211, Indian Penal Code. A complaint under s. 1 of the Breach of Contract Act (XIII of 1859) which is withdrawn before any order is made by the Magistrate under s. 2 of the Act, either for a refund of the advances paid or for specific performance of the contract, is not a "criminal proceeding" within the meaning of s. 211, Indian Penal Code. In the matter of Anusoori Sanyasi (1905) 1 L. R. 28 Mad. 37, and Derby Corporation v. Derbyshire County Council (1897) A. C. 550, referred to HUSSAINA BEXARI v. KING-EMPEROR (1920).

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 443

s. 211, 500—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I. L. R. 44 Cal. 870

s. 213, 214—Screening offence—Res- titution of property for screening offence—The offence screened must be shown to have been committed before the screening could be punished. G gave certain jewellery to M by way of jagad. M pledged the same with A under circumstances which constituted such pledging an offence of criminal breach of trust. The jewellery was later returned by S to O on the latter undertaking not to prosecute M for the offence of criminal breach of trust. M was tried for the offence of criminal breach of trust with regard to the jewellery and was acquitted. S and O were next tried for offences under ss 213 and 214 of the Indian Penal Code, in that they offered and took restitution of property in consideration of screening an offence. The trying Magistrate convicted them of the offences charged, holding that for the purposes of their case M must be deemed to be guilty of the offence of criminal breach of trust. On appeal—Held, acquitting the accused, that they could not be convicted of screening of the offence of criminal breach of trust, when the offence of criminal breach of trust had not been proved. Held, also, that under the circumstances the trying Magistrate was bound to proceed on the footing that no criminal breach of trust had been committed. EMPEROR v SANJAL LALLUBHAI (1913)

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*ss 213, 214—contd.

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 658

s. 216—Harbouring an offender—

"Assistance" coming within meaning of the section, nature of. To the knowledge of the petitioner warrants for the arrest of the petitioner's brother and a proclamation under s. 87, Criminal Procedure Code, were issued the proclamation being duly published at the house in which the two brothers as joint owners used to reside. On information received the police interviewed the petitioner at his house and in answer to enquiries he replied that his brother was in the house and promised to produce him. He then went inside the house and after some delay returned with his brother's son and said that he had made a mistake and that it was the son who had come to the house the preceding evening. On search the petitioner's brother was found hiding in the house. The petitioner was convicted under s. 216, Indian Penal Code. Held, that the petitioner was rightly convicted. The ways in which assistance may be rendered need not for the purposes of s. 216 be restricted to methods which may properly be regarded as evadendi generis or of a like nature with supplies of food or of other necessary articles. MUCHI MIYAN v EMPEROR (1917)

21 C. W. N 1082

s. 222—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 214

I. L. R. 41 All. 454

s. 224—Village Chowkidar if a police officer—Escape from custody—Abetment. A Chowkidar cannot be properly regarded as a police officer within the terms of s. 59, Criminal Procedure Code, and escape from his custody is not an offence under s. 224, Penal Code. PURNA CHANDRA KUNDU v HACHANALI CHOWKIDAR

17 C. W. N. 978

ss. 224, 109—

See ARREST BY PRIVATE PERSON

I. L. R. 41 Calo. 17

ss. 224, 225—

See RESCUE FROM LAWFUL CUSTODY

I. L. R. 43 Calo. 1161

ss. 224, 225 and 353—

See WARRANT . 3 Pat. L. J. 493

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.

ss. 225, 332—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s 54

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1028

s. 225B—

See s 186

3 Pat. L. J. 103

See WARRANT . I. L. R. 38 Calo. 789

I. L. R. 42 Calo. 709

1. Escape from lawful custody—Defaulting co-sharer arrested under warrant of Tahsildar—Rules of Board of Revenue, r 9 cl (2) Act (Local) No. 111 of 1901 (United Provinces Land Revenue Act), ss 142, 143, 146. Where a Tahsildar issued a warrant under s. 146 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act against certain defaulting co-sharers, and they were arrested, but subsequently escaped from detention. Held, that this was an escape from lawful custody within the meaning of s. 225B of the Indian Penal Code. The Tahsildar's warrant was not illegal because the Board had directed that process should 'ordinarily' issue in the first instance against the landholder. EMPEROR v GULAB SINGH (1909)

I. L. R. 32 All. 118

2. Warrant of arrest—Actual resistance necessary. In order to constitute an offence under s. 225B of the Indian Penal Code, something more is required than an evasion of arrest or a mere assertion by the person sought to be arrested that he would not like to be arrested or that a fight would be the result of such arrest. There must be positive evidence to show that the officer armed with a warrant of arrest produced the warrant and that the person sought to be arrested resisted such arrest. EMPEROR v AJAZ HUSAIN (1916)

I. L. R. 38 All. 506

3. Escape from jail of a person imprisoned for failure to furnish security to be of good behaviour. Where a person escapes from jail in which he was confined, under s. 123 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, by reason of his having failed to furnish security to be of good behaviour, his conviction should be recorded under s. 225B, and not under s. 224 of the Indian Penal Code. Queen Empress v Kandhala I L R 7 All 67, referred to. EMPEROR v MULI

I. L. R. 43 All. 185

4. Execution of warrant of Civil Court and resistance thereto. It is not necessary that a bailiff executing a Civil Court warrant should in the first instance show the warrant. It is sufficient that he should apprise the person to be arrested of the contents of the warrant and show it if desired. THE SUPERINTENDENT AND REMEMBRANCE OF LEGAL AFFAIRS v. BARODA KANTA MAJUMDAR

25 C. W. N. 815

s. 223—

Insult to Court—Exact words to be given—

See JUDGMENT I. L. R. 2 Lah. 308

Intentional insult to an officer sitting judicially—Application for transfer. An accused person in an application for transfer of the case pending against him made an assertion to the effect that the persons who caused the proceedings to be instituted were on terms of intimacy with the officer trying the case and that therefore he did not expect a fair and impartial trial. Held, that there being no intention on the part of the applicant to insult the Court but merely to procure a transfer of his case he was not guilty of an offence under s. 228 of the Indian Penal Code. Queen-Empress v Abdulla Khan, 1398, II A 115 followed. EMERSON v MORLI DASS (1916)

2 M

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 228—contd.

I L. R. 33 ALL 284

—s. 235 and 243—Counterfeit coins—Father and son presumption as to possession. It is not essential for coins to be counterfeit that they should be exact resemblances of genuine coins. It is sufficient that they are such as to cause deception and may be passed for genuine. Where father and son were accused of being in possession of moulds for the purpose of using the same for making counterfeit coins and of being in possession of such coins and there was evidence to show that the father looked after the family cultivation while the son exclusively attended to the shop in the verandah of which the moulds and coins were discovered and it was also shown that the father was never seen in possession of the moulds or of the counterfeit coins. Held, that the ordinary presumption that the things in the house of a joint Hindu family were in the possession of or under the control of the manager member had been rebutted. AMRIT SONAR v KINO EMERSON

4 Pat. L. J. 525

s. 243—

See s. 235. 4 Pat. L. J. 525

See COUNTERFEIT COIN

{I L. R. 44 Calc. 477

—s. 268—Possession of false measure—Intent—Acquittal—Criminal Procedure Code s. 438—Practice. It being in evidence that in the village where accused carried on the business of a cloth seller the usual standard of measurement was 35½ inches it was held, that a conviction under s. 268 of the Indian Penal Code in respect of the possession of such a measure of length could not be sustained. Held, also that the High Court will not as a rule entertain a reference by a Sessions Judge having for its object the reversal of an acquittal, when the Government has right of appeal, more particularly when the matter is one, such as a question of correct weights and measures, in which the Government may be considered to be particularly interested. EMERSON v HARAK CHAND MARWARI (1917).

I L. R. 49 ALL 84

s. 268, 290—

See PUBLIC NUISANCE.

I L. R. 46 Calc. 515

s. 280—

See s. 188. I L. R. 33 Mad 602

See MADRAS CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (III of 1904), s. 386. I L. R. 43 Mad. 344

—s. 280—Rash and negligent act proof and degree of—Contributory negligence, how far is an element for consideration—Evidence, consideration of— by the High Court in revision. The accused was in charge of a steam launch which was coming up the river in a moonlight night. In the river at deep water some country boats were moored having no lights in them. The accused on account of mist could not make out whether boats were stationary or moving but he thought they were moving. He gave whistles but before he could stop the launch, it came into collision with two of the boats with the result that the launch almost immediately sank. The accused then in a jolly boat to rescue the drowning passengers of the sunken boats. Held, that under the circumstances of the case the accused was not guilty of the offence under s. 280 Indian Penal Code, as conduct was not rash or negligent within the meaning of that section. To support conviction under s. 280 Indian Penal Code it must be proved that the immediate cause of the accident was rashness or negligence on the part of the navigator considering the question of degree, the question contributory negligence has also to be taken in account not as a defence to the indictment, but for the purpose of determining causation and fix a measure of the liability of the navigator. When the accused navigator did all he could to save the situation but could not avoid the collision would not be guilty under s. 280, Indian Penal Code. The High Court in revision went through the evidence to decide whether the rashness or negligence was proved. KAMDAR ALI SERANI EMERSON (1911).

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 280—contd.

15 C. W. N. 8

—s. 233—Obstruction, causing of— If the necessary to prove any particular individuals obstructed. Where the evidence showed that an obstruction placed on a road must necessarily prevent vehicles from passing at all and foot passengers from passing without inconvenience. Held, that it is a necessary inference that persons were obstructed and that it is not necessary to express prove that any specific individual was actually obstructed. The Queen v Khadr Moidin I L. 4 Mad 235 not followed. Queen-Empress v Verrappa Chetti I L. R. 20 Mad 413 comment on. Re VENKATPA (1913) I L. R. 33 Mad. 31 —ss. 283, 114—Obstruction in public way—Toy shop on a street—Exhibition of toys in the shop windows—Collection of crowd of persons in street—Obstruction. The accused who had a toy shop in a public street exhibited in the window the shop overlooking the street certain clockwork toys during a Diwali festival. The result of the exhibition was that thousands of people collected on the road to witness the toys; there were dangerous rushes in consequence people were knocked down and great obstruction and damage were caused to those using the road. On the facts the accused were convicted of offences punishable under ss. 283 and 114 of the Indian Penal Code. Held, upholding the conviction, that the mere obstruction, danger and injury to the persons using the public way which amounted to a public nuisance, and that the efficient cause of the nuisance was the act of the accused. Ordinarily, every shopkeeper has a right to exhibit his wares in any way he likes in this shop but he must exercise this right so as not to cause annoyance or nuisance to the public. Attorney General v Brighton and Hove Co-operative Supply Association [1909] 1 C. 27 followed. EMERSON v NOON MAHOMED (1911).

I L. R. 35 Bom 36

s. 290—

See s. 268. I L. R. 43 Calc. 515

Public nuisance—Liability of principal for act of agent. The propri-

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 293—contd.

tors and the manager of a mill were prosecuted and convicted under s. 290, Indian Penal Code, on a complaint that the working of the mill was a nuisance. It appeared that the proprietors were not residents in the locality and there was no allegation of any abatement by them. Held, that the general rule is that a principal is not criminally answerable for the acts of his agent. Speaking generally the person liable where the user of premises gives rise to a nuisance is the occupier for the time being whoever he may be and the conviction of the proprietors was bad in law. BRUNTI BHUBAN BISWAS v. BRUNYAN PAM (1918)

22 C. W. N. 1032

s. 292—

See ORSCHEVE PUBLICATION

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 377

s. 295—"Defile" meaning of—Moothans, presence of, inside a temple, whether defilement. The presence of Moothans, a sub caste of Sudras, whose status is equal to if not higher than, that of Nairs, in such portions of a Hindu temple as are open to non Brahmins, is not a "defilement" within s. 295, Indian Penal Code. KUTTICHAMI MOOTHAN v. RAMA PATTAR (1918)

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 980

s. 296—Disturbing a religious assembly

—Religious procession on a highway—Carrying of flags to a temple. Where certain Lodhas, who, with the sanction of the public authorities, had been carrying flags to a temple in procession through a public street, were attacked by persons who objected to the procession. Held, that such attack constituted a disturbance of the performance of a religious ceremony punishable under s. 296 of the Penal Code. EMPEROR v. MASRI (1911) . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 78

s. 296, 39—Public worship, disturbance of—"Voluntarily," meaning of. It is not necessary for the purpose of s. 296 Indian Penal Code, that the accused should have an active intention to disturb religious worship. It is sufficient, if knowing they were likely to disturb it by their music they took the risk and did actually cause disturbance. It is an offence under s. 296, Indian Penal Code, to pass a mosque with music so as to disturb religious worship carried on during hours notified therefor. S. 79, Penal Code, cannot be pleaded in such a case. MUTHIAL CHETTI v. HANAN SAIB, I. L. P. 2 Mad. 140, followed. Sundaram v. The Queen and Ponnusawmy v. The Queen, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 203, followed. PUBLIC PROSECUTOR v. SANKU SETHUAN (1910) I. L. R. 34 Mad. 92

s. 297—

See GRAVE YARD.

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 548

—Trespass on a burial ground—Ploughing up burial ground—Joint owner. Where a person entered upon a grove for the purpose of demarcating his share therein and in doing so dug up certain graves and exposed the bones of the persons buried there in spite of the remonstrances of the relations of the buried persons. Held, that he was properly convicted of an offence under s. 297 of the Penal Code, and none the less because he happened to be part owner of the grove.

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 297—contd.

Queen-Empress v. Subhan, I. L. R. 15 All. 395, referred to. EMPEROR v. RAM PRASAD (1911)

I. L. R. 33 All. 773

s. 299—

See s. 304 . I. L. R. 42 All. 302

s. 299, 300—Grievous hurt causing unconsciousness—Hanging an unconscious person believing him to be dead to screen an offence—Death in consequence, whether culpable homicide. Where an accused struck his wife a blow on her head with a ploughshare which, though not shown to be a blow likely to cause death, did in fact render her unconscious and believing her to be dead in order to lay the foundation of a false defence of suicide by hanging the accused hanged her on a beam by a rope and thereby caused her death by strangulation. Held by the Full Bench, that the accused was not guilty either of murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder. The Emperor v. Datt Sardar 15 C. W. N. 1279, followed. PALANI GOUNDAN v. EMPEROR (1919)

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 547

s. 299, 301—Murder—Intention to kill one person, but death of another actually caused. Where a person intending to kill one person kills another person by mistake, he is as much guilty of murder as if he had killed the person whom he intended to kill. Public Prosecutor v. Muthumoru Suryanarayana Moorthy 13 Indian Cases 533, and Agnes Gore v. Caesar 77 English Rep. 553 referred to. EMPEROR v. JZOLI (1916) I. L. R. 39 All. 161

s. 300—

See s. 299 I. L. R. 42 Mad. 547

s. 300(3)—Causing death—Single blow by an iron shod stick—Culpable homicide not amounting to murder. The accused and the deceased having quarrelled, the accused took an iron shod stick and struck one blow on the head of the deceased which caused his death. The accused having been convicted of murder, appealed to the High Court. Held that the offence committed by the accused was not murder but culpable homicide not amounting to murder, because it was possible that the blow he struck exceeded in violence the injury he had in view at the moment of striking it. EMPEROR v. SARDARHAN (1910)

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 27

s. 300 (1), 302—

See MURDER I. L. R. 37 Calc. 315

s. 300 and 325—

—Grievous Hurt—Murder—Culpable homicide not amounting to murder—Fatal assault committed by three persons acting in concert. A dispute having suddenly arisen concerning the cutting of a sugarcane crop, three men armed with lathis attacked one of the men who was engaged in cutting the crop and beat him so severely that he died, his skull being broken in three places. A nephew of the man attacked, having his lathi with him attempted to rescue his uncle, and also received considerable injuries. Held, that the offence of which the assailants were guilty was not the mere causing of grievous hurt, but culpable homicide, which, however, might in the circumstances be considered as not amounting to murder by the application of excep. 4 of s. 300 of the Indian Penal Code. EMPEROR v. Chandu Singh, otherwise, do not terminate or abate merely by reason of the death of the complainant or the person injured. S. 89 of the Probate and Administration Act has no application to a criminal prosecution and there is nothing in the Criminal Procedure Code in support of the proposition that the death of the person injured or of the complainant of itself causes the proceedings to abate. It is a mistake to speak of an offence as a purely personal one. Emperor v. Sultan Singh (I L R 31 All 606) and Arakha Pehru Sen v. Corporation of Calcutta (I L R 31 Cal 993 (F B)) referred to, also Halsbury's Laws of England, Volume IX, page 232. HAZARA SINGH v. CROW I L R. 2 Lah. 27 ss. 304, 323—Assault committed by three persons armed with lathis—Intention—Culpable homicide—(recounts hurt) Three persons attacked a fourth with lathis and death ensued through a fracture of the skull of the person so attacked. There was, however, no evidence to show that the common intention of the assailants was to cause death or which of them actually struck the blow which fractured the skull of the deceased. Held that the offence of which the assailants were guilty was that of causing grievous hurt and not that of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Emperor v. Holi Singh, I L R 29 All 282, followed. EMPEROR v. CHANDAN SINGH (1917) I L R. 40 All 103

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*ss. 304 and 323—contd.

s. 304A—

See CAUSING DEATH BY PISH OR VELLI-GENT ACT I L R 39 Cal 855

Criminal negligence

Carelessness of compounder in dealing with poisonous drug An unqualified person who was in charge of a dispensary attached to a mill at Agra had to make up a quantity of quinine mixture for cases of fever. He went to a cupboard where non-poisonous medicines were supposed to be kept and took therefrom a bottle with an orange wrapper marked "poison". This wrapper he took off and threw away. The bottle itself was labelled "strychnine hydrochloride" but without regard to this and apparently because there was a resemblance between this bottle and another in which quinine hydrochloride was kept he made up the entire contents of the bottle as if it had been quinine. The result was that seven patients died. Held, that the compounder was rightly convicted under s. 304A of the Indian Penal Code. EMPEROR v. IMBOLZA I L R. 42 All 272

s. 300—Attempt of suicide—Falsely

Held, that persons actively assisting a Hindu widow in becoming a sati are guilty of the offence of abetment of suicide as defined in s. 300 of the Indian Penal Code. EMPEROR v. LAM DATAL (1913)

I L R. 35 All 28

s. 317—Exposure or abandonment of a child by a person having care of it—Person entrusted with a child for abandonment has the care of it Accused No. 1, having given birth to an illegitimate child, gave it to her mother, accused No. 2, with a view to dispose of it secretly. Accused No. 2 accordingly carried it by a railway train and abandoned it in a second class compartment. On these facts accused No. 2 was charged with an offence under s. 317 of the Indian Penal Code; and accused No. 1 with having abetted the offence under ss. 317 and 109 of the Code. The Sessions Judge acquitted them both, the accused No. 2 on the ground that she had not the care of the child, and accused No. 1 on the ground that as no principal offence had been committed she would not be guilty of abetment. The Government having appealed, Held, reversing the order of acquittal that both the accused had committed the offences with which they had been charged. EMPEROR v. CHITTS (1916) I L R. 41 Bom. 152

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 317—contd.

s. 323—

See s. 71 I L R. 39 All 623

See s. 304 I L R. 2 Lah. 27

See s. 332 I L R. 37 All 353

See BAILIFF I L R. 42 Cal 313

See APPELLATE COURT

I L R. 33 Cal 293

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1899,

s. 423 S Pat. L. J. 585

Death of person injured—Statement of proceedings—Probate and Administration Act (of 1881), s. 89 A criminal prosecution under s. 323 of the Indian Penal Code does not abate by reason of the death of the person injured. The words to prosecute any proceeding in s. 89 of the Probate and Administration Act do not refer to criminal prosecutions but to civil actions only. Rama Nand v. Emperor (1917) 40 I L R 1008 (Punjab) and Laldu v. Emperor (1919) 52 I L R 797 (Punjab), dissented from. MUHAMMAD IBRAHIM SANI v. SHAIK DAVOOD (1921) I L R. 44 Mad 417

The petitioner, a Bailiff of the Small Cause Court Calcutta, was entrusted with the execution of a writ of possession which required and authorized him to give possession to the decree holder of certain premises in the occupation of the judgment debtor. On the complaint of the judgment debtor's wife the petitioner was placed on his trial on the allegation that he had held her by the hand, roughly dragged her out of the house and pushed her and when in consequence of the push she fell the petitioner kicked her. Sometime after the occurrence the complainant sent through her husband a letter of complaint to the thana and subsequently a complaint made either by the complainant or her husband was lodged against the petitioner at the thana. The Magistrate in convicting the petitioner under s. 323, Indian Penal Code, found that in pulling or dragging the complainant out of the house, he pushed or jerked her from him in such a manner as to cause her to fall and to receive the injuries found on her elbows and knee. He further found that the petitioner did not deliberately kick the complainant but nevertheless held as follows:—"I think it quite possible that on seeing her fall, he went up to ascertain what had happened to her and pushed her more than once with his foot to make her rise. Held (without deciding whether the provisions of the English Common Law or the Code of Civil Procedure were applicable to the writ in question)—That under the provisions of either law in the execution of a writ of possession a reasonable degree of force may be used in order to effect the removal of persons bound by the decree and refusing to vacate. That on the Magistrate's own finding the petitioner should not have been convicted. That is to say that a thing may possibly have happened is not to find that it did happen, and there was no finding by the Magistrate that after the complainant had fallen the petitioner touched or pushed her with his foot. That the Magistrate should not have relied on the letter sent by the complainant to the thana previous to the lodging of the complaint. That the witnesses having been disbelieved with regard to the graver charges brought against the petitioner could not be safely believed with regard to the small residuum of what the Magistrate conceived to be truth. H. MURKUTHU v. SANKARAN DAS. 19 C. W. N. 273

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd— s 323—contd

— s 323, 332—Criminal Procedure Code s 144—Public servant in the execution of his duty as such—Police constable assaulted whilst attempting to enforce an order which in fact had become obsolete. A police constable was assaulted whilst endeavouring to enforce an order passed by the District Magistrate as to the carrying of lathis by Pragwals which order, if originally lawful had in any case become obsolete. Held, that in the circumstances the persons who assaulted the constable could not be convicted under s 332 of the Indian Penal Code, but they were liable to conviction under s 323. Queen Empress v. Dalip I. L. R. 18 All 246, referred to. EMPEROR v. MADHO (1917).

I. L. R. 40 All. 28

— s 324—

See COMMON OBJECT 2 Pat. L. J. 541

— s 325—

See s 114 16 C. W. N. 809

See s 300 I. L. R. 35 All. 329

I. L. R. 40 All. 686

18 C. W. N. 1279

See s 304 I. L. R. 42 All. 302

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 106

I. L. R. 33 All. 48

See REVENUE I. L. R. 41 Cris. 43

See SENTENCE 3 Pat. L. J. 641

— s 326—

See s 114 4 Pat. L. J. 239

See s 141 17 C. W. N. 1132

See COMMON OBJECT 2 Pat. L. J. 541

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 307

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 236

See CRIMINAL TRAFFIC

I. L. R. 41 Cal. 662

See PRIVATE DEFENCE 3 Pat. L. J. 653

4 Pat. L. J. 283

— s 329—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 109, 123, 397 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 328

— s 332—

See s 323 I. L. R. 40 All. 28

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 54

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1028

See MAGISTRATE, JURISDICTION OF

I. L. R. 39 Cal. 377

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

— ss 332, 323—Public servant in the execution of his duty as such—House search by Excise Inspector without a warrant—Assault on Inspector. An Excise Inspector in searching the house of a person, under the suspicion that he would find cocaine there, committed many irregularities. He had no warrant authorising him to make the search, he had brought only one search witness and he directed a constable to scale the outer wall of the house. The accused assaulted and beat him. Held, that the Inspector and the constables were not acting in the discharge of their duties as public servants and the accused were not guilty of an offence under s 332 of the Indian Penal Code, but were guilty of an offence punishable under s 323 of the said Code. Queen Empress v. Dalip I. L. R. 18 All 246, followed. EMPEROR v. MUKHTAR AHMAD (1917) I. L. R. 37 All. 353

— ss 332 and 503—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 103

I. L. R. 42 All. 67

— s 336—

1. — Doing an act endangering human life or the safety of others—Temple resorted to by pilgrims on festive occasions—Duty of person in charge to ensure safety of pilgrims attending by license and invitation. The petitioner was the lessee of a certain temple from some of the st-chans and was the general manager of all of them. It appeared that on a certain day in the year pilgrims and others in large numbers visited this temple. Close by the gate, leading from an outer courtyard into the inner temple, there was a well which was surrounded by a masonry platform 1½ to 2 feet high and the ring or parapet of the well stood again about 1 foot above the platform. Early at night on the day of the congregation of pilgrims, an accident having occurred the petitioner at the instance of the Police Officer in charge had a light placed on or near the one foot parapet, but at a later hour the petitioner, had the light removed and thereafter between 1 and 2 A.M., while the people were again entering into the inner temple a boy who had no previous knowledge of the well and in the darkness could not see it fell into it. Held that the facts constituted an offence within the meaning of s 336 of the Penal Code. That on the occasion of the festival in question the temple becomes a place of public resort, and it was the bounden duty of the petitioner as the person in charge to take all reasonable precautions necessary to ensure the safety of those crowding thither by his license and invitation. NARAYAN CHARAN MAHAPATRA v. KING EMPEROR (1914).

18 C. W. N. 1178

2. — Doing a rash or negligent act endangering human life or personal safety of others—Licensed taxi-cab driver asked to wear spectacles at the time of driving—Driver using no spectacles at the time of driving—Liability. The accused was at the time he took out a license to drive taxi-cabs, asked to use spectacles at the time of driving owing to his defective eyesight. Still, he was one night driving his taxi-cab without wearing spectacles, when his car collided with another car, but it appeared that he was not liable for the accident. He was tried for an offence punishable under s 336 of the Indian Penal Code, for doing an act so rashly or negligently as to endanger human life or the personal safety of others. The medical evidence adduced at the trial showed that the defect in the eyesight of the accused was not very much and that it would not appreciably interfere with his efficiency as a driver. The Magistrate having convicted him of the offence charged the accused applied to the High Court. Held setting aside the conviction and sentence that it was not made out that the accused if he drove his car without wearing spectacles would be acting so rashly or negligently as to endanger human life or the personal safety of others. EMPEROR v ABAS MINZA (1918) L L R 42 Bom 396

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1830)—*contd*s 336—contd.

s 337, 338—Hurt caused by rashness or negligence—Hakim—Performance of eye operation with ordinary scissors—Neglect of ordinary precautions—Partial loss of eye-sight The accused a Hakim performed an operation with an ordinary pair of scissors on the outer side of the upper lid of the complainant's right eye. The operation was needless and performed in a primitive way, the most ordinary precautions being entirely neglected. The wound was sutured with an ordinary thread. The result was that the complainant's eye sight was permanently damaged to a certain extent. The accused was on these facts convicted of an offence punishable under s 338 of the Indian Penal Code. He having applied to the High Court. Held that the accused had acted rashly and negligently so as to endanger human life or the personal safety of others. Held also that the act of the accused amounted to an offence punishable under s 337 of the Indian Penal Code since there was no permanent privation of the sight of either eye in consequence of the operation. Where a Hakim gives out that he is a skilled operator and charges considerable fees the public are entitled to the ordinary precautions which surgical knowledge regards as imperative. To neglect such precautions and rely in negligence such as is contemplated by the criminal law. EMPEROR v GULAM HYDER PUJARI (1915) I L R 39 Bom 523

s 339—Wrongful restraint what necessary to constitute The accused placed a lock on the outer door of complainant's house intending to prevent and thereby prevent his ingress. Held that the offence of wrongful restraint was established although the accused were not physically present to enforce the obstruction. There is nothing in s 339, Criminal Procedure Code which requires the physical presence of the obstructor at the moment of prevention. ABIMUGAKADAE v EMPEROR (1910) I L R 34 Mad. 547

s 341—Restraint upon a drunken and disorderly person—Common Law of England—Applicability to India A private citizen has the right to arrest under the Common Law any person as to whom there is reasonable apprehension that he will commit a breach of the peace. Timothy v Simpson, (1835), s L J (Ex), 81 and Queen v Light (1857) 27 L J (M C), 1 referred to. In re RAMASWAMI AYYAR (1921)

I L R 44 Mad. 913

s 341, 109—Wrongful restraint—Tenant holding over—Landlord preventing the tenant from going to the demised premises The accused having prevented a tenant of his who was holding over from entering the demised premises, was convicted of wrongful restraint (s 341

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1830)—*contd*s 341, 109—contd

and 109 of the Indian Penal Code). On application to the High Court under criminal revisional jurisdiction. Held that the accused was rightly convicted inasmuch as the tenant holding over had, in India a position recognised by the law and had a right to retain possession of the premises he occupied even against the landlord himself until dispossessed in due course of law. EMPEROR v HAJI GULAM MAHOMED (1918)

L L R 43 Bom 531

s 342—

See s 107 5 Pat L J 129

See RIOTING L L R 43 Calc 78

See WRONGFUL CONFINEMENT
L L R 47 Calc 818

s 343—Wrongful confinement—Detention of prostitutes in brothel Accused No 1 who had a woman in his keeping at Kolhapur brought her from Kolhapur to Bombay where he kept her in the brothel of accused No 2. There she led the life of a prostitute her movements were watched and a guard was kept at the entrance of the house. She was occasionally allowed to go out of the house under surveillance. It appeared that accused No 1 had on previous occasions supplied women to accused No 2. Held that on these facts accused Nos 1 and 2 were both guilty of the offence of wrongfully confining the woman. EMPEROR v BAYDU EBBANIM (1917) I L R 42 Bom 181

s 353—

See s 99 18 C W N 543

See s 183 1 Pat L J 550

See BENGAL SURVEY ACT 1873
2 Pat. L J 18

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

s 54 (1) 1 L R 36 All. 6

s 70 2 Pat L J 487

See PIOTING L L R 41 Calc 836

See SEARCH BY POLICE OFFICERS
I L R 41 Calc 261See WARRANT OF ARREST
3 Pat L J 493

one act constituting two offences—

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT 1897, s 20

1 Pat L J 373

s 360—

See s 368 I L R 42 Bom. 391

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898) s 423 439

L L R 37 Mad. 119

s 361—Law of guardians—Hindu law—Nearest major male relative is not necessarily the lawful guardian of a female minor The only persons having an absolute right to the custody of a Hindu minor are the father and the mother of the minor. No such right exists in the person who happens to be the nearest major male relative of the minor and such a relationship would not in law be a defence to a charge of kidnapping a minor from the custody of a de facto guardian. EMPEROR v SITAI PRASAD

I L R 42 All. 146

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

ss. 368, 368—Kidnapping—Lawful guardianship A Jat girl under the age of 16 years was sent by her father to carry food to the bullocks. She never returned home. Shortly afterwards she was found in a village not far from her home in the company of two men of the same caste. She was then dressed in boy's clothes and had her hair cut short. The two men offered no explanation as to how the girl came to be with them or why she was disguised. Held, that both the men in whose custody the girl was found were properly convicted under s. 360 of the Indian Penal Code. Emperor v. Jetha Nathoo, 6 Bom. L. R. 785, followed. EMPEROR v. HABKEEN (1918).

I L. R. 40 All. 507

ss. 366, 372—Kidnapping—Buying or selling minor girls for the purpose of prostitution A low caste girl left her lawful guardian of her own free will and subsequently met the accused Ewaz Ali and lived with him for some time. Later he made her over to certain persons who, representing that she was a member of a higher caste, induced a member of such higher caste to take her in marriage and to pay money for her in full belief that such representation was true. Held, that Ewaz Ali was neither guilty of an offence under s. 366 of the Indian Penal Code inasmuch as he did not take or entice her away from her legal custody nor of an offence under s. 372 of the said Code. King Emperor v. Ram Chander, 12 All. J. 265, Empress of India v. Sri Lal, 1 L. R. 2 All. 694, followed. King Emperor v. Jetha Nathoo, 6 Bom. L. R. 785, referred to. EMPEROR v. EWAZ ALI (1915). I L. R. 37 All. 624

s. 370—Buying and selling as a slave, what amounts to The appellants in these cases were convicted by Sessions Court of North Malabar under a 370, Penal Code, the second appellant having been found to have sold, and the first to have bought, a Pulayan named Vellian as a slave. The document recording the above transaction ran as follows:—'I execute to you and give you this day this jennam deed giving you Velandia a son Pulayan Vellian with his heirs. The sum that I received from you in cash to day is ten rupees. For this sum of ten rupees you should get work done for you by the said Vellian and his offspring that may come into being as your jennam, and act as you please.' On a difference of opinion between ABOLAH RAHM and NAIR JJ., as to whether the said transaction amounted to an offence under s. 370, Indian Penal Code. Held, by AYLING, J., that the transaction in question was a sale of Vellian and his offspring as mere chattels and that the appellants were guilty of an offence under s. 370 Penal Code. Empress of India v. Ram Awar, 1 L. R. 2 All. 723, and Amaru v. Queen-Empress 1 L. R. 1 Mad. 277, referred to. KOROTH MAMMAD v. THE KING EMPEROR (1917). I L. R. 41 Mad. 334

s. 372—

See s. 300. I L. R. 37 All. 621

s. 373—Obtaining possession of a minor girl for purposes of prostitution—Third party need not necessarily dispose of a minor girl To constitute an offence punishable under s. 373 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, it is not necessary that the possession of the minor should be obtained from a third person. It is enough if it is established that the accused in fact obtained possession of the minor with intent that the minor shall be used for

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

s. 373—contd

the purpose of prostitution. Queen Empress v. Shaikh Ali (1870), 5 Mad. H. C. 473, referred to. EMPEROR v. SHAMSUNDARBAI.

I L. R. 45 Bom. 529

ss. 378, 380, 411—

See CONVICTION 3 Pat. L. J. 354

s. 379—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1910), s. 124. I L. R. 38 All. 40See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, s. 71

1 Pat. L. J. 230

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1860), ss. 397, 123

I L. R. 37 Bom. 178

1. Servant's removal of things at master's bidding when theft In order to convict a servant of theft under s. 379, Indian Penal Code, for having cut away some bamboos at the order of his master, it must be clearly shown that he (the servant) knew of the dishonest intention of his master. Hare Bhainsmal v. The Emperor, 9 C. W. N. 974, followed. RADHA MADHAB PARAKI v. THE KING EMPEROR (1910) 15 C. W. N. 414

2. Theft—Removal of goods from a person's custody—Larceny In order to constitute larceny there must be an intention to take entire dominion over the property i.e., the taker must intend to appropriate the property to his own use, but there may be theft without an intention to deprive the owner of the property permanently. Hence, where a person snatched away some books from a boy as he came out of school and told him that they would be returned when he came to his house. Held that the offence of theft had been committed. R. v. Dickinson, 1 R. & R. 420. Prossono Kumar Patra v. Uday Sanki, 1 L. R. 22 Cal. 663, and Queen Empress v. Akha Muhammad Feroz 1 L. R. 18 All. 88, referred to. EMPEROR v. NAUREE ALI KHAN (1911). I L. R. 34 All. 89

3. Theft—Elements necessary to constitute offence—Removal of property in assertion of bona fide claim of right To sustain a conviction under s. 379 it is necessary to prove dishonest intention to take property out of the possession of another person. Consequently when property is removed in the assertion of a bona fide claim of right the removal does not constitute theft. The claim of right must be an honest one though it may be unfounded in law or in fact. If the claim is not made in good faith but is a mere colourable pretence to obtain or to keep possession, it is of no avail as a defence. ANWAR ALI v. KING EMPEROR (1916). I L. R. 44 Cal. 66

20 C. W. N. 1270

4. Theft—Bombay Land Revenue Code (Bombay Act 1 of 1879), s. 154—Attachment of buffaloes for non payment of land revenue—No actual seizure of buffaloes—Removal of buffaloes by their owners—Offence On default in the payment of land revenue by accused Nos. 2 and 3, the Mamlatdar went to their houses, made a panchnama, declared that their buffaloes were attached, and forbade the accused to remove them. Notwithstanding this, accused Nos. 2 and 3 removed the buffaloes at the instigation of accused No. 1. For this act, accused Nos. 2 and 3 were convicted.

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 223—contd.

officer trying the case and that therefore he did not expect a fair and impartial trial. Held, that there being no intention on the part of the applicant to insult the Court but merely to procure a transfer of his case, he was not guilty of an offence under s. 223 of the Indian Penal Code. Queen-Empress v Abdulla Khan, 1898, 17 N 145, followed EMPEROR v MURLI DHAR (1916)

I. L. R. 38 ALL. 284

ss 225 and 243—Counterfeit coins—

Father and son, presumption as to possession. It is not essential for coins to be counterfeit that they should be exact resemblances of genuine coins. It is sufficient that they are such as to cause deception and may be passed for genuine. Where father and son were accused of being in possession of moulds for the purpose of using the same for making counterfeit coins and of being in possession of such coins, and there was evidence to show that the father looked after the family cultivation while the son exclusively attended to the shop, in the verandah of which the moulds and coins were discovered, and it was also shown that the father was never seen in possession of the moulds or of the counterfeit coins. Held, that the ordinary presumption that the things in the house of a joint Hindu family were in the possession of, or under the control of the managing member, had been rebutted. AMRIT SOVAR v KING EMPEROR

4 PA. L. J. 525

s. 243—

See s. 235 . . . 4 PA. L. J. 525

See COUNTERFEIT COIN

{I. L. R. 44 CALC. 477

s. 266—Possession of false measures—

Intent—Acquittal—Criminal Procedure Code, s. 435—Fraud. It being in evidence that in the village where accused carried on the business of a cloth seller the usual standard of measurement was 3½ inches, it was held, that a conviction under s. 266 of the Indian Penal Code in respect of the possession of such a measure of length could not be sustained. Held, also, that the High Court will not as a rule entertain a reference by a Sessions Judge having for its object the reversal of an acquittal, when the Government has right of appeal, more particularly when the matter is one, such as a question of correct weights and measures, in which the Government may be considered to be peculiarly interested. EMPEROR v. HARAR CHAND MAHWARI (1917) . . . I. L. R. 40 ALL. 84

ss. 268, 290—

See PUBLIC NUISANCE.

I. L. R. 746 CALC. 515

s. 280—

See s. 183 . . . I. L. R. 33 MAD. 602

See MADRAS CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (111 of 1904), s. 306 I. L. R. 43 MAD. 344

s. 280—Rash and negligent act, proof and degree of—Contributory negligence, how far is an element for consideration—Evidence, consideration of, by the High Court in revision. The accused was in charge of a steam launch which was coming up the river in a moonlight night. In the river at deep water some country boats were moored having no lights in them. The accused on account of mist could not make out whether the boats were stationary or moving but he thought they were moving. He gave whistles but before he could stop the launch, it came into collision with two of the boats with the result that they sank almost immediately. The accused then sent a jolly-boat to rescue the drowning passengers of the sunken boats. Held, that under the circumstances of the case the accused was not guilty of the offence under s. 280, Indian Penal Code, as his conduct was not rash or negligent within the meaning of that section. To support conviction under s. 280, Indian Penal Code, it must be proved that the immediate cause of the accident was rashness, or negligence on the part of the navigator. In considering the question of degree, the question of contributory negligence has also to be taken into account, not as a defence to the indictment, but for the purpose of determining causation and fixing a measure of the liability of the navigator. When the accused navigator did all he could to save the situation but could not avoid the collision, he would not be guilty under s. 280, Indian Penal Code. The High Court in revision went through the evidence to decide whether the rashness or negligence was proved. KAMDAR ALI SERRAO v. EMPEROR (1911) . . . 15 C. W. N. 835

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 280—contd.

s. 283—Obstruction, causing of—Whether necessary to prove any particular individual obstructed. Where the evidence showed that an obstruction placed on a road must necessarily prevent vehicles from passing at all and foot passengers from passing without inconvenience. Held, that it is a necessary inference that persons were obstructed and that it is not necessary to expressly prove that any specific individual was actually obstructed. The Queen v. Khader Moidin, 1 L. R. 4 Mad. 235 not followed. Queen-Empress v. Veerappa Chetti, 1 L. R. 20 Mad. 433 commented on. RE VENKATAPPA (1913) I. L. R. 38 MAD. 305 ss 283, 114—Obstruction in public way—Toy shop on a street—Exhibition of toys in the shop window—Collection of crowd of persons in street—Obstruction. The accused who had a toy shop in a public street, exhibited in the window of the shop overlooking the street certain clockwork toys during a Diwali festival. The result of the exhibition was that thousands of people collected on the road to witness the toys; there were dangerous rushes in consequence, people were knocked down and great obstruction and danger were caused to those using the road. On these facts the accused were convicted of offences punishable under ss. 283 and 114 of the Indian Penal Code. Held, upholding the conviction, that there was obstruction, danger and injury to the persons using the public way, which amounted to a public nuisance, and that the efficient cause of the nuisance was the act of the accused. Ordinarily, every shop keeper has a right to exhibit his wares in any way he likes in his shop, but he must exercise the right so as not to cause annoyance or nuisance to the public. Attorney General v. Brighton and Hove Co-operative Supply Association, [1900] 1 CA. 276, followed. EMPEROR v. NOOS MANOHAR (1911)

I. L. R. 35 BOM. 388

s. 290—

See s. 268 . . . I. L. R. 46 CALC. 515

Public nuisance—

Liability of principal for act of agent. The principal.

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 293—contd.

tors and the manager of a mill were prosecuted and convicted under s. 290, Indian Penal Code, on a complaint that the working of the mill was a nuisance. It appeared that the proprietors were not residents in the locality and there was no allegation of any abetment by them. Held, that the general rule is that a principal is not criminally answerable for the acts of his agent. Speaking generally the person liable where the user of premises gives rise to a nuisance is the occupier for the time being whoever he may be and the conviction of the proprietors was bad in law. BIRCHIT BACHAN v BISWAS v BACHAN RAM (1918)

22 C. W. N. 1062

s. 292—

See OBSCENE PUBLICATION

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 377

s. 295—"Defile" meaning of—Moothas presence of, inside a temple, whether defilement. The presence of Moothans, a sub-caste of Sudras, whose status is equal to, if not higher than, that of Nairs, in such portions of a Hindu temple as are open to non Brahmins, is not a 'defilement' within s. 293, Indian Penal Code. KUTTICHAMI MOOTHAN v RAMA PATTAN (1918)

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 980

s. 296—Disturbing a religious assembly—Religious procession on a highway—Carrying of flags to a temple. Where certain Lodhas, who, with the sanction of the public authorities, had been carrying flags to a temple in procession through a public street, were attacked by persons who objected to the procession. Held, that such attack constituted a disturbance of the performance of a religious ceremony punishable under s. 296 of the Penal Code. EMPEROR v MASIR (1911)

I. L. R. 34 All. 78

s. 296, 39—Public worship disturb—ance of—"Voluntarily," meaning of. It is not necessary for the purpose of s. 296, Indian Penal Code, that the accused should have an active intention to disturb religious worship. It is sufficient, if knowing they were likely to disturb it by their music they took the risk and did actually cause disturbance. It is an offence under s. 296, Indian Penal Code, to pass a mosque with music so as to disturb religious worship carried on during hours notified therefor. S. 79, Penal Code, cannot be pleaded in such a case. Muthial Chetti v Bapan Saib, I. L. R. 2 Mad. 140, followed. Sundaram v The Queen and Ponnusamy v The Queen, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 203, followed. PUBLIC PROSECUTOR v SANKU SEETHIAN (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 92

s. 297—

See GRAVE YARD

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 543

Trespass on a burial ground—Ploughing up burial ground—Joint owner. Where a person entered upon a grove for the purpose of demarcating his share therein and in doing so dug up certain graves and exposed the bones of the persons buried there in spite of the remonstrances of the relations of the buried persons. Held, that he was properly convicted of an offence under s. 297 of the Penal Code, and none the less because he happened to be part owner of the grove.

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 297—contd.

Queen-Empress v Subhan, I. L. R. 18 All. 395, referred to. EMPEROR v RAM PRASAD (1911)

I. L. R. 33 All. 773

s. 299—

See s. 304 I. L. R. 42 All. 302

ss. 299, 300—Grievous hurt causing unconsciousness—Hanging an unconscious person believing him to be dead to screen an offence—Death in consequence, whether culpable homicide. Where an accused struck his wife a blow on her head with a ploughshare which, though not shown to be a blow likely to cause death, did in fact render her unconscious and, believing her to be dead, in order to lay the foundation of a false defence of suicide by hanging, the accused hanged her on a beam by a rope and thereby caused her death by strangulation. Held by the Full Bench, that the accused was not guilty either of murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder. The Emperor v Dalu Sardar, 13 C. W. N. 1273, followed. PALANI GOVINDAN v EMPEROR (1919)

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 547

ss. 299, 301—Murder—Intention to kill one person but death of another actually caused. Where a person intending to kill one person kills another person by mistake, he is as much guilty of murder as if he had killed the person whom he intended to kill. Public Prosecutor v Mushunooru Suryanarayana Moorty, 13 Indian Cases 833, and Agnes Gore v Case, 77 English Rep. 853 referred to. EMPEROR v JEOLI (1916)

I. L. R. 39 All. 161

s. 300—

* See s. 299 I. L. R. 42 Mad. 547

s. 300(3)—Causing death—Single blow by an iron-shod stick—Culpable homicide not amounting to murder. The accused and the deceased having quarrelled, the accused took an iron shod stick, and struck one blow on the head of the deceased which caused his death. The accused having been convicted of murder, appealed to the High Court. Held, that the offence committed by the accused was not murder but culpable homicide not amounting to murder because it was possible that the blow he struck exceeded in violence the injury he had in view at the moment of striking it. EMPEROR v SARDAR KHAN (1910)

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 27

ss. 300 (1), 302—

See MURDER I. L. R. 37 Calc. 315

ss. 300 and 325—

Grievous hurt—Murder—Culpable homicide not amounting to murder—Fatal assault committed by three persons acting in concert. A dispute having suddenly arisen concerning the cutting of a sugarcane crop three men armed with lathis attacked one of the men who was engaged in cutting the crop and beat him so severely that he died, his skull being broken in three places. A nephew of the man attacked, having his lathi with him, attempted to rescue his uncle, and also received considerable injuries. Held, that the offence of which the assailants were guilty was not the mere causing of grievous hurt, but culpable homicide, which, however, might in the circumstances, be considered as not amounting to murder by the application of excep. 4 of s. 309 of the Indian Penal Code. Emperor v Chandan Singh,

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd*ss. 300 and 325—contd

I L R 40 All 103, disarmed from King Emperor v Hanuman I L R 35 All 590, and Emperor v Pam Nawa. I L R 35 All 506, referred to. EMPEROR v GULAB (1918)

I L R 40 All 636

Murder—Grievous hurt

Common intention—Deadly assault with lathis on an unarmed person—Presumption Four persons armed with lathis attacked and severely beat a fifth, who was unarmed over a dispute about irrigation. The person attacked died in consequence of this beating and it was found that he had received several severe blows on the head, the result of which was that the bones of the skull were broken to pieces and also other injuries about the body, most of the injuries having probably been inflicted whilst the person attacked was on the ground, but the evidence did not disclose which of the assailants caused which of the injuries. Held that all four assailants were properly convicted of murder under the fourth clause of s. 300 of the Indian Penal Code, and that the inference was not justified that the common intention of the assailants was not more than the causing of grievous hurt. EMPEROR v KASHAL (1912)

I L R 35 All 329

Murder—Grievous hurt

Hanging a human body believing the person to be dead and thereby causing death, if murder—Intention to kill The accused assaulted his wife and gave her kicks, blows and slaps. The kicks were given below the navel. The woman fell down and became unconscious. In order to create an appearance that the woman had committed suicide, the accused took up the unconscious body of his wife thinking it to be a dead body and hung it by a rope. The post mortem examination showed that death was due to hanging. Held, that the accused could not have intended to kill his wife if he thought that she was already dead and he could not be convicted of murder. The offence that the accused committed was an offence under s. 325 of the Penal Code for having given her kicks, blows and slaps before she fell down. EMPEROR v DALL SIKHAN (1914)

18 C. W. N. 1279

s. 301—

See s. 293 I L R. 39 All 161

s. 302—

See s. 37 I L R. 35 All 506 and 560

See s. 201 20 C. W. N. 186

See MURPHY I L R. 37 Calc. 315

I L R. 44 Mad. 443

Criminal Procedure

Code (Act I of 1898), ss 374-376—Accused charged with murder—Duty of presiding Judge as to emergency for his defence—Trial on the same charge The accused who was undertried in the Sessions Court was convicted under s. 302 Indian Penal Code. The case came up to the High Court for confirmation of the sentence of death under s. 374, Criminal Procedure Code, and also on appeal. Held that accused persons charged with murder should not go undertried. The respective duties of the Judge and the Bar as to the defence of such accused persons pointed out. The High Court held that on the evidence as it stood the sentence of death could not be confirmed and directed under

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd*s. 302—contd

s. 376, cl. (5), a re-trial of the accused on the same charge after arrangement being made for his defence KING EMPEROR v MOHAR ALT SIKHAN (1915)

19 C. W. N. 556

Murder—Poisoning by arsenic—Intention—Knowledge A person who administers a well known poison like arsenic to another must be taken to know that his act is so imminently dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death and if death ensue he is guilty of murder, notwithstanding that his intention may not have been to cause death. QUEEN EMPRESS v TALHA, I L R 20 All 113, KING EMPEROR v BHAWANA DIX I L R 30 All 508, and KING EMPEROR v GULABI, I L R 31 All 148, referred to. EMPEROR v GAURI SHANKAR (1918) I L R 40 All 360

s. 304—

See s. 37 I L R. 35 All 506 and 560

See s. 59 25 C. W. N. 514

See CRIMINAL TRIALS

I L R 41 Calc 662

Offering a child to crocodiles in the superstitious belief of ultimate good to the child The accused who were husband and wife had lost several children and they offered their next born to the crocodiles to a particular tank on the belief that the child's life would be ultimately saved but it was decreed the parents were convicted under this section KING EMPEROR v BHARAT DEPAUL AND ANOTHER

25 C. W. N. 678

ss. 304, 325 and 299—Culpable homicide—Grievous hurt—Injury caused by a lathi resulting in death from gangrene A struck G three blows with a lathi. One blow fractured the bones of the left forearm, another fractured a bone in the right hand while the third fractured both bones of the left leg. In the case of the third injury gangrene supervened and G died in consequence. Held that R was guilty of either culpable homicide not amounting to murder under s. 304 of the Indian Penal Code or causing of grievous hurt under s. 325 of the Code. EMPEROR v PAMA BIVON

I L R. 42 All 302

ss. 304 and 323—Accused challenged under a 301 convicted under s. 323—whether proceedings abate on account of death of person assaulted—Probate and Administration Act, V of 1891, s. 89 The 2 petitioners and 2 other persons were challenged by the police under s. 304, Penal Code for causing the death of one J. S. The trial Court convicted the 2 latter under s. 304 and the 2 petitioners under s. 325. They appealed to the Sessions Judge, who altered the conviction of all 4 accused to s. 323 under s. 323. The two petitioners then filed a revision in the High Court and urged inter alia that as the Appellate Court had held that only an offence under s. 323 had been committed, and as the person injured had died, the proceedings abated and the accused should have been acquitted. The Single Judge, who heard the revision, referred this point for consideration to a Division Bench. The bench, for the causing of which the petitioners were convicted, did not cause the death of J. S. Held, by the Division Bench, that criminal proceedings once legally instituted, whether upon a complaint or otherwise, do not terminate or abate merely by reason of the death of the complainant or the person injured. S. 89 of the Probate and Administration Act has no application to a criminal prosecution and there is nothing in the Criminal Procedure Code in support of the proposition that the death of the person injured or of the complainant of itself causes the proceedings to abate. It is a mistake to speak of an offence as a purely personal one. Emperor v. Sultan Singh (I. L. R. 31 All. 806) and Krishna Behari Sen v. Corporation of Calcutta (I. L. R. 31 Cal. 993 (F.B.) referred to, also Halsbury's Laws of England, Volume IX, page 232. HAZARA SINGH v. CROWN I. L. R. 2 Lah. 27 — ss. 304, 325—Assault committed by three persons armed with lathis—Intention—Culpable homicide—Grievous hurt Three persons attacked a fourth with lathis and death ensued through a fracture of the skull of the person so attacked. There was, however, no evidence to show that the common intention of the assailants was to cause death, or which of them actually struck the blow which fractured the skull of the deceased. Held, that the offence of which the assailants were guilty was that of causing grievous hurt and not that of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Emperor v. Lila Singh, I. L. R. 29 All. 282, followed. EMPEROR v. CHANDAN SINGH (1917) I. L. R. 40 All. 103

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd— ss. 304 and 323—contd

— s. 304A—

See CAUSING DEATH BY RASH OR NEGLIGENT ACT I. L. R. 39 Calc. 855

— Criminal negligence—

Carelessness of compounder in dealing with poisonous drug An unqualified person who was in charge of a dispensary attached to a mill at Agra had to make up a quantity of quinine mixture for cases of fever. He went to a cupboard where non-poisonous medicines were supposed to be kept and took therefrom a bottle with an outside wrapper marked "poison." This wrapper he tore off and threw away. The bottle itself was labelled "strychnine hydrochloride" but without regarding this, and apparently because there was a resemblance between this bottle and another in which quinine hydrochloride was kept, he made up the entire contents of the bottle as if it had been quinine. The result was that seven patients died. Held, that the compounder was rightly convicted under s. 304A of the Indian Penal Code. EMPEROR v. DE SOUZA I. L. R. 42 All. 272

— s. 306—Abetment of suicide—Sati Held, that persons actively assisting a Hindu widow in becoming a sati are guilty of the offence of abetment of suicide as defined in s. 306 of the Indian Penal Code. EMPEROR v. RAM DAYAL (1913) I. L. R. 36 All. 26

— s. 317—Exposure or abandonment of a child by a person having care of it—Person entrusted with a child for abandoning it has the care of it Accused No. 1 having given birth to an illegitimate child gave it to her sister, accused No. 2, with a view to dispose of it secretly. Accused No. 2 accordingly carried it by a railway train and abandoned it in a second class compartment. On these facts, accused No. 2 was charged with an offence under s. 317 of the Indian Penal Code; and accused No. 1 with having abetted the offence

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd— s. 317—contd

under ss. 317 and 109 of the Code. The Sessions Judge acquitted them both, the accused No. 2 on the ground that she had not the care of the child, and accused No. 1 on the ground that as no principal offence had been committed she would not be guilty of abetment. The Government having appealed. Held, reversing the order of acquittal that both the accused had committed the offences with which they had been charged. EMPEROR v. CRIPPS (1916) I. L. R. 41 Bom. 152

— s. 323—

See s. 71 I. L. R. 39 All. 623

See s. 304 I. L. R. 2 Lah. 27

See s. 332 I. L. R. 37 All. 353

See BAILIFF I. L. R. 42 Calc. 313

See APPELLATE COURT

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 293

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1896,

s. 423 3 Pat. L. J. 565

— Death of person injured — Statement of proceedings—Probate and Administration Act (of 1881), s. 89 A criminal prosecution under s. 323 of the Indian Penal Code does not abate by reason of the death of the person injured. The words "to prosecute" any proceeding in s. 89 of the Probate and Administration Act do not refer to criminal prosecutions but to civil actions only. Rama Nand v. Emperor (1917), 40 I. C. 1003 (Punjab) and Lobhu v. Emperor (1919), 52 I. C. 797 (Punjab), dissented from. MHAMMAD IBRAHIM SAHIB v. SHAIK DAWOOD (1921) I. L. R. 44 Mad. 417

— The petitioner, a Bailiff of the Small Cause Court, Calcutta, was entrusted with the execution of a writ of possession which required and authorised him to give possession to the decree holder of certain premises in the occupation of the judgment debtor. On the complaint of the judgment debtor's wife the petitioner was placed on his trial on the allegation that he caught hold of her by the hand, forcibly dragged her out of the house and pushed her and when, in consequence of the push, she fell, the petitioner kicked her. Sometime after the occurrence the complainant sent through her husband a letter of complaint to the thana and subsequently a complaint made either by the complainant or her husband was lodged against the petitioner at the thana. The Magistrate in convicting the petitioner under s. 323, Indian Penal Code, found that in pulling or dragging the complainant out of the house, he pushed or jerked her from him in such a manner as to cause her to fall and to receive the injuries found on her elbows and knee. He further found that the petitioner did not deliberately kick the complainant, but nevertheless held as follows:—"I think it quite possible that on seeing her fall, he went up to ascertain what had happened to her and pushed her more than once with his foot to make her rise." Held (without deciding whether the provisions of the English Common Law or the Code of Civil Procedure were applicable to the writ in question)—That under the provisions of either law in the execution of a writ of possession a reasonable degree of force may be used in order to effect the removal of persons bound by the decree and refusing to vacate. That on the Magistrate's own finding the petitioner should not have been convicted. That is to say that a thing may possibly have happened is not to find that it did happen, and there was no finding by the Magistrate that after the complainant had fallen the petitioner touched or pushed her with his foot. That the Magistrate should not have relied on the letter sent by the complainant to the thana previous to the lodging of the complaint. That the witnesses having been disbelieved with regard to the graver charges brought against the petitioner could not be safely believed with regard to the small residuum of what the Magistrate conceived to be truth. H. MENDITH v. SANJIBANI DAS. 19 C. W. N. 273

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1880)—*contd*s. 323—contd.

s. 323, 332—Criminal Procedure Code, s. 144—Public servant in the execution of his duty as such—Police constable assaulted whilst attempting to enforce an order which in fact had become obsolete. A police constable was assaulted whilst endeavouring to enforce an order passed by the District Magistrate as to the carrying of dhais by Pragwals which order, if originally lawful, had in any case become obsolete. Held, that in the circumstances the persons who assaulted the constable could not be convicted under s. 332 of the Indian Penal Code, but they were liable to conviction under s. 323. Queen-Emperor v. Dalip I. L. R. 18 All 246. referred to. FARROW v. MADHO (1917). I. L. R. 40 All. 23

s. 324—

See COMMON OBJECT 2 Pat. L. J. 541

s. 325—

See s. 114 . . . 16 C. W. N. 909

See s. 300 . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 329

I. L. R. 40 All. 630

18 C. W. N. 1279

See s. 331 . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 302

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 106

I. L. R. 33 All. 48

See RIOTING I. L. R. 41 Calc. 43

See SENTENCE . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 641

s. 326—

See s. 114 . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 233

See s. 111 . . . 17 C. W. N. 1132

See COMMON OBJECT 2 Pat. L. J. 541

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 307.

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 230

See CRIMINAL TRIALS

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 682

See PRIVATE DEFENCE 3 Pat. L. J. 653

4 Pat. L. J. 623

s. 329—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 109-123, 397 . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 326

s. 332—

See s. 323 . . . I. L. R. 40 All. 28

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 54

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1023

See MAGISTRATE, JURISDICTION OF

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 377

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1880)—contd

s. 332, 323—Public servant in the execution of his duty as such—House search by Excise Inspector without a warrant—Assault on Inspector. An Excise Inspector in searching the house of a person, under the suspicion that he would find cocaine there, committed many irregularities. He had no warrant authorising him to make the search, he had brought only one search witness and he directed a constable to scale the outer wall of the house. The accused assaulted and beat him. Held, that the Inspector and the constables were not acting in the discharge of their duties as public servants and the accused were not guilty of an offence under s. 332 of the Indian Penal Code, but were guilty of an offence punishable under s. 323 of the said Code. Queen-Emperor v. Dalip, I. L. R. 18 All. 246. followed. EMPEROR v. MUKHTAR AHMAD (1915) . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 353

s. 332 and 503—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 103

I. L. R. 42 All. 67

s. 336—

1. —Doing an act endangering human life or the safety of others—Temple resorted to by pilgrims on festive occasions—Duty of person in charge to ensure safety of pilgrims attending by license and invitation. The petitioner was the lessee of a certain temple from some of the shikats and was the general manager of all of them. It appeared that on a certain day in the year pilgrims and others in large numbers visited this temple. Close by the gate, leading from an outer courtyard into the inner temple, there was a well which was surrounded by a masonry platform 1½ to 2 feet high and the ring or parapet of the well stood again about 1 foot above the platform. Early at night on the day of the congregation of pilgrims, an accident having occurred, the petitioner at the instance of the Police Officer in charge had a light placed on or near the one-foot parapet, but at a later hour the petitioner, had the light removed and thereafter between 1 and 2 A.M., while the people were again entering into the inner temple, a boy who had no previous knowledge of the well and in the darkness could not see it fell into it. Held, that the facts constituted an offence within the meaning of s. 336 of the Penal Code. That on the occasion of the festival in question, the temple becomes a place of public resort, and it was the bounden duty of the petitioner as the person in charge to take all reasonable precautions necessary to ensure the safety of those crowding thither by his license and invitation. NARISING CHARAY MANAPATRA v. KING-EMPEROR (1914). 18 C. W. N. 1176

2. —Doing a rash or negligent act endangering human life or personal safety of others—Licensed taxi-cab driver asked to wear spectacles at the time of driving—Driver using no spectacles at the time of driving—Liability. The accused was, at the time he took out a license to drive taxi cabs, asked to use spectacles at the time of driving owing to his defective eyesight. Still, he was one night driving his taxi-cab without wearing spectacles, when his car collided with another car, but it appeared that he was not liable for the accident. He was tried for an offence punishable under s. 336 of the Indian Penal Code, for doing an act so rashly or negligently as to endanger human life or the personal safety of others. The medical evidence adduced at the trial showed that the defect in the eyesight of the accused was not very much, and that it would not appreciably interfere with his efficiency as a driver. The Magistrate having convicted him of the offence charged, the accused applied to the High Court. Held, setting aside the conviction and sentence, that it was not made out that the accused if he drove his car without wearing spectacles would be acting so rashly or negligently as to endanger human life or the personal safety of others. EMPEROR v. ABAY MIRZA (1918) . . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 396

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1850)—*contd*s. 336—contd.

s. 337, 338—Hurt caused by rashness or negligence—Hakim—Performance of eye operation with ordinary scissors—Neglect of ordinary precautions—Partial loss of eye-sight. The accused, a Hakim, performed an operation with an ordinary pair of scissors, on the outer side of the upper lid of the complainant's right eye. The operation was needless and performed in a primitive way, the most ordinary precautions being entirely neglected. The wound was sutured with an ordinary thread. The result was that the complainant's eye sight was permanently damaged to a certain extent. The accused was on these facts convicted of an offence punishable under s. 333 of the Indian Penal Code. He having applied to the High Court. Held, that the accused had acted rashly and negligently so as to endanger human life or the personal safety of others. Held, also, that the act of the accused amounted to an offence punishable under s. 337 of the Indian Penal Code, since there was no permanent privation of the sight of either eye in consequence of the operation. Where a Hakim gives out that he is a skilled operator and charges considerable fees, the public are entitled to the ordinary precautions which surgical knowledge regards as imperative. To neglect such precautions entirely is negligence such as is contemplated by the criminal law. EMPEROR v. GULAM HYDER PUNJANI (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 523

s. 339—Wrongful restraint, what necessary to constitute. The accused placed a lock on the outer door of complainant's house intending to prevent and thereby preventing his ingress. Held, that the offence of wrongful restraint was established although the accused were not physically present to enforce the obstruction. There is nothing in s. 339, Criminal Procedure Code, which requires the physical presence of the obstructor at the moment of prevention. ABULGAKAR v. EMPEROR (1910) . . . I. L. R. 34 Mad. 547

s. 341—Restraint upon a drunken and disorderly person—Common Law of England—Applicability to India. A private citizen has the right to arrest under the Common Law any person as to whom there is reasonable apprehension that he will commit a breach of the peace. Timothy v. Simpson, (1833), 5 L. J. (12), 81, and Queen v. Light, (1857), 27 L. J. (3), 1 referred to. In re RAMASWAMI AYYAR (1921)

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 913

s. 341, 109—Wrongful restraint—Tenant holding over—Landlord preventing the tenant from going to the demised premises. The accused having prevented a tenant of his who was holding over from entering the demised premises, was convicted of wrongful restraint (s. 341

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1850)—*contd*s. 341, 109—contd

and 109 of the Indian Penal Code). On application to the High Court under criminal revisional jurisdiction. Held, that the accused was rightly convicted inasmuch as the tenant holding over had, in India, a position recognised by the law and had a right to retain possession of the premises he occupied even against the landlord himself until dispossessed in due course of law. EMPEROR v. HAJI GULAM MAHOMED (1918)

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 531

s. 342—

See s. 107 . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 129

See RIOTING . . . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 78

See WRONGFUL CONFINEMENT

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 818

s. 343—Wrongful confinement—Detention of prostitutes in brothel. Accused No 1, who had a woman in his keeping at Kolhapur, brought her from Kolhapur to Bombay where he kept her in the brothel of accused No 2. There she led the life of a prostitute, her movements were watched, and a guard was kept at the entrance of the house. She was occasionally allowed to go out of the house under surveillance. It appeared that accused No 1 had on previous occasions supplied women to accused No 2. Held, that on these facts accused Nos 1 and 2 were both guilty of the offence of wrongfully confining the woman. EMPEROR v. BANDU EBRARIM (1917) . . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 181

s. 353—

See s. 99 . . . 18 C. W. N. 543

See s. 183 . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 559

See BENGAL SUPPLY ACT, 1875

2 Pat. L. J. 18

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

s. 54 (1) . . . I. L. R. 36 All. 6

s. 75 . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 487

See RIOTING . . . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 838

See SEARCH BY POLICE OFFICERS

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 281

See WARRANT OF ARREST

3 Pat. L. J. 493

— one act constituting two offences—

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT, 1897, s. 26

1 Pat. L. J. 373

s. 360—

See s. 360 . . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 391

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), ss. 423, 439

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 119

s. 361—"Lawful guardian"—Hindu law—Arrest major male relative not necessarily the lawful guardian of a female minor. The only persons having an absolute right to the custody of a Hindu minor are the father and the mother of the minor. No such right exists in the person who happens to be the nearest major male relative of the minor, and such a relationship would not in law be a defence to a charge of kidnapping a minor from the custody of a de facto guardian. EMPEROR v. SITAL PRASAD

I. L. R. 42 All. 146

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.

— ss. 361, 368, 109—Kidnapping from lawful guardianship—Completion of offence—Continuous offence—Abetment The offence of kidnapping is completed the moment a girl under sixteen years of age is taken out of the custody of her lawful guardian and is not an offence continuing as long as the minor is kept out of such guardianship. There can be no abetment of the offence by conduct which commences only after the minor has once been completely taken out of the keeping of the guardian and the guardian's keeping of the minor is completely at an end. Pegana v Samia Raundan, I L R 1 Mad 173, Queen Empress v Ram Das, I L R 18 All 350, Queen Empress v Ram Sundar, I L R 19 All 109, Chakrity v Emperor, I L R 26 Mad 451, Nemas Chatteraj v Queen Empress, I L R 27, Cal 1911, Chanda v Queen Empress (1904), Punj Rec Cr J 19, referred to EMPEROR v. ANAND RAYMAV (1916) I L R 38 All 664

— ss. 361, 366 and 368—Abduction and kidnapping—Lawful guardian—Lawfully entrusted—Evidence, duty of Crown to produce the best available—Charge, necessity for precision as—Guardianship, proof of—Construction of Statutes In s. 361 of the Indian Penal Code the word "lawful" does not necessarily mean that the person who entrusts a minor to the care or custody of another must stand in the position of a person having a legal duty or obligation to the minor. It is a sufficient compliance with the section and its Explanation if the entrusting of the minor to the care or custody of another is effected without illegality or the commission of any unlawful act by a person legally competent to do so. Entrusted means the giving, handing over or confiding of something by one person to another. It involves the idea of active power and motive by the person reposing the confidence towards the person in whom the confidence is reposed. For an entrusting, within the meaning of the Explanation to s. 361, there must be necessarily three persons viz., (1) the person imposing the confidence or trust, (2) the person in whom the trust is imposed, and (3) the person constituting the subject matter of the trust. The Explanation contemplates a declaration of trust by a person competent to make such a declaration, conveying, handing over and confiding a minor to the care and custody of another in whom a confidence and trust is imposed. It is necessary for the person accepting the trust to do so either by express assent, or by necessary implication arising from tacit acquiescence in the performance of the trust. Neither the declaration of trust nor its acceptance need be necessarily in writing. It is sufficient if the declaration is verbally made and given, or if it arises from a course of conduct consistent only with the existence of such antecedent declaration, and accepted verbally or by necessary implication arising from the conduct of the person so entrusted with the duty imposed. In a criminal trial the onus is upon the Crown to prove by the best evidence procurable the guilt of the accused. Where, therefore, it was alleged that a girl had been abducted from the guardianship of a certain person, and that person was not called to prove the guardianship, held, that the Crown had not tendered the best available evidence of the guardianship. Courts of Law ought not lightly to infer that a person is a lawful guardian for one purpose only, and not for all purposes, if the obligation of guardianship is once established, whether expressly or by inference. The mere relationship per se of master and servant does not constitute a master the lawful guardian of a minor servant within the meaning of s. 361, nor can such master, in the absence of proper proof, be deemed a person lawfully entrusted with the care and custody of such minor. It is the duty of a Sessions Court, in framing charges, to see that they are precise in their scope and particular in their details. Held, therefore, that in a case under s. 366 of the Indian Penal Code the charge should state the time at, and date on, which the alleged kidnapping or abduction took place. The words of a statute must be construed in their ordinary grammatical and natural sense, and not in a forced and artificial sense, unless such conclusion would give rise to an obvious absurdity which could never have been contemplated. A court of justice is not permitted to relax the construction of a statute in a manner at variance with its express provisions and which might operate unfairly to the prejudice of an accused person. No court in the administration of criminal justice, ought to dispense with the statutory requirements of the law as to the proof necessary to establish a fact. MUSAMMAR HESSAN v THE KING-EMPEROR 4 Pat. L. J. 74

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.

— ss. 361, 366 and 368—contd.

— s. 363—
See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 183.
I L R. 41 Cal 452
See KIDNAPPING I L R. 49 Cal. 714

— Kidnapping from lawful guardianship—Minority of Mahomedan, when to cease for the purpose of s. 363—Majority Act (IX of 1875), s. 3 According to Mahomedan Law the occurrence of puberty determines minority and the mother's right to custody, but for the purpose of s. 363 of the Penal Code, regard must be had only to the definition of minority in s. 3, of the Majority Act (IX of 1875). In the matter of Khatija Bibi, 5 B L R 557, distinguished Re Metab Ismail (1913) I L R. 37 Mad. 587

— s. 368—
See s. 361 I L R. 33 All. 634
4 Pat. L. J. 74
See ABDUCTION I L R. 45 Cal. 641

— Kidnapping—Taking out of custody Where two girls under the age of 16 years ran away from their houses and remained for nearly one or two days in the house of a woman, who belonged to the cast of Joaks in human and no report was made to the padan or the patwari. Held, that the woman in whose house the girls stayed was properly convicted of an offence under s. 366 of the Penal Code. Queen v Gundur Singh, 17 R Cr G, dismissed from FURENDA JAALI (1912) I L R. 34 All 340

— ss. 366, 360, 90—Kidnapping a girl out of British India to seduce her to illicit intercourse—Consent of the girl aged fifteen years The accused kidnapped a girl fifteen years of age out of British India, with her consent, in order that she might be seduced to illicit intercourse. He was convicted of an offence under s. 366 of the Indian Penal Code. On appeal Held, reversing the conviction, that the accused had committed no offence under s. 366 of the Indian Penal Code, inasmuch as the girl who was over twelve years of age was kidnapped with her consent. EMPEROR v HANUMAI (1915) I L R. 42 Bom. 331

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

— ss. 366, 368—Kidnapping—Lawful guardianship A Jat girl under the age of 16 years was sent by her father to carry food to the bullocks. She never returned home. Shortly afterwards she was found in a village not far from her home in the company of two men of the same caste. She was then dressed in boy's clothes and had her hair cut short. The two men offered no explanation as to how the girl came to be with them or why she was disguised. Held, that both the men in whose custody the girl was found were properly convicted under s. 366 of the Indian Penal Code. Emperor v. Jetha Nathoo, 6 Bom. L. R. 785, followed. EMPEROR v. HARKESH (1918)

I. L. R. 40 All. 507

— ss. 366, 372—Kidnapping—Buying or selling minor girls for the purpose of prostitution A low caste girl left her lawful guardian of her own free will and subsequently met the accused Ewaz Ali and lived with him for some time. Later he made her over to certain persons who, representing that she was a member of a higher caste, induced a member of such higher caste to take her in marriage and to pay money for her in full belief that such representation was true. Held, that Ewaz Ali was neither guilty of an offence under s. 366 of the Indian Penal Code inasmuch as he did not take or entice her away from her legal custody nor of an offence under s. 372 of the said Code. King Emperor v. Ram Chander, 12 All. L. J. 265, Empress of India v. Sri Lal, 1 L. R. 2 All. 694, followed. Anna Emperor v. Jetha Nathoo, 6 Bom. L. R. 785 referred to. EMPEROR v. EWAZ ALI (1915)

I. L. R. 37 All. 624

— s. 370—Buying and selling as a slave, what amounts to The appellants in these cases were convicted by Sessions Court of North Malabar under s. 370, Penal Code, the second appellant having been found to have sold, and the first to have bought a Pulayan named Vellan as a slave. The document recording the above transaction ran as follows:— 'I execute to you and give you this day this jennam deed giving you Vellanda's son Pulayan Vellan with his heirs. The sum that I received from you in cash to-day is ten rupees. For this sum of ten rupees, you should get work done for you by the said Vellan and his offspring that may come into being as your jennam, and act as you please.' On a difference of opinion between ABDEL RAHIM and NAPIER, JJ., as to whether the said transaction amounted to an offence under s. 370, Indian Penal Code. Held, by AYLING, J., that the transaction in question was a sale of Vellan and his offspring as mere chatties and that the appellants were guilty of an offence under s. 370, Penal Code. Empress of India v. Ram Anar, 1 L. R. 2 All. 723, and Amiya v. Queen Empress 1 L. R. 7 Mad. 277, referred to. KOBOTH MAHMAD v. THE KING EMPEROR (1917)

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 334

— s. 372—

See s. 368. I. L. R. 37 All. 624

— s. 373—Obtaining possession of a minor girl for purposes of prostitution—Third party need not necessarily dispose of a minor girl To constitute an offence punishable under s. 373 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, it is not necessary that the possession of the minor should be obtained from a third person. It is enough if it is established that the accused in fact obtained possession of the minor with intent that the minor shall be used for

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd— s. 373—contd.

the purpose of prostitution. Queen Empress v. Shaikh Ali (1870), 5 Mad. H. C. 473, referred to. EMPEROR v. SHAMSUNDARBAI

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 529

— ss. 378, 380, 411—

See CONVICTION 3 Pat. L. J. 354

— s. 379—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1910),

s. 124. I. L. R. 38 All. 40

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, s. 71

1 Pat. L. J. 230

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), ss. 397, 123

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 178

1 ———— Servant's removing things at master's bidding when theft In order to convict a servant of theft under s. 379, Indian Penal Code, for having cut away some bamboos at the order of his master, it must be clearly shown that he (the servant) knew of the dishonest intention of his master. Hari Bhushan v. The Emperor, 9 C. W. N. 974, followed. RADHA MADHAB PARAKI v. THE KING EMPEROR (1910) 15 C. W. N. 414

2 ———— Theft—Removal of goods from a person's custody—Larceny In order to constitute larceny there must be an intention to take entire dominion over the property, i. e., the taker must intend to appropriate the property to his own use but there may be theft without an intention to deprive the owner of the property permanently. Hence, where a person snatched away some books from a boy as he came out of school and told him that they would be returned when he came to his house. Held, that the offence of theft had been committed. R v. Dickinson, R. & R. 420, Prosonno Kumar Patra v. Ldoy Sant, 1 L. R. 22 Cal. 669 and Queen Empress v. Agha Muhammad Yusuf, 1 L. R. 18 All. 88, referred to. EMPEROR v. NARSHE ALI KHAN (1911) I. L. R. 34 All. 89

3. ———— Theft—Elements necessary to constitute offence—Removal of property in assertion of bona fide claim of right To sustain a conviction under s. 379 it is necessary to prove dishonest intention to take property out of the possession of another person. Consequently when property is removed in the assertion of a bona fide claim of right the removal does not constitute theft. The claim of right must be an honest one though it may be unfounded in law or in fact. If the claim is not made in good faith but is a mere colourable pretence to obtain or to keep possession, it is of no avail as a defence. ANAN ALI v. KING EMPEROR (1916) I. L. R. 44 Cal. 66

20 C. W. N. 1270

4 ———— Theft—Bombay

Land Revenue Code (Bombay Act 3 of 1879) s. 154—Attachment of buffaloes for non payment of land revenue—No actual seizure of buffaloes—Removal of buffaloes by their owners—Offence On default in the payment of land revenue by accused Nos. 2 and 3, the Mamlatdar went to their houses, made a panchnama, declared that their buffaloes were attached, and forbade the accused to remove them. Notwithstanding this, accused Nos. 2 and 3 removed the buffaloes at the instigation of accused No. 1. For this act, accused Nos. 2 and 3 were convicted of the offence of theft and accused No. 1 of abetment of the same. The Sessions Judge was of opinion that inasmuch as the Mamlatdar had not taken actual possession of the buffaloes nor seized them the accused had committed no offence in removing them. He therefore referred the case to the High Court. Held, that the offence of theft was constituted by the removal of buffaloes inasmuch as on the proved facts the Mamlatdar was in possession of them. EMPEROR v. ILLU WAGHJI (1918) I L R 43 Bom 550

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

— s. 379—

5 — Removal of paddy grown by trespasser from land in which in possession of rightful owner of theft. A person who grows paddy on lands as trespasser has no right to go upon the land after the rightful owner has obtained possession and remove the paddy and a plea of bona fide civil dispute cannot be successfully raised on such facts in answer to a charge of theft. ABINASH CHANDRA BARKAN v. KING EMPEROR (1918) 23 C W N 385

6 — Theft—Appropriation on by tenant of fallen trees belong to the zamindar. Certain trees the property of the zamindar of the village in which they were situated were blown down bodily by a dust storm. Some of the tenants of the village thereupon removed and appropriated the trees. The zamindar laid a complaint against the tenants charging them with theft. The tenants pleaded but were unable to substantiate the plea that they had a customary right to trees thus uprooted by a storm. Held, that the action of the tenants in appropriating the trees prima facie amounted to the offence of theft. It lays on them to establish the title which they set up and in the circumstances their conviction was right. EMPEROR v. DUNJAVAT

I L R 42 All 53

— ss. 379 to 381—

See THEFT

— ss. 379 and 457—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s. 200 3 Pat. L. J 346

— s. 380—

See CONVICTION 3 Pat. L. J 354

See LURKING HOUSE TRESPASS

I L R 44 Cal 358

Circumstantial evidence necessary for conviction—nature and character of. The petitioner was convicted under s. 380 of the Penal Code for theft of a number of currency notes and the findings were that he as well as five other persons entered the room at or about the time the notes were stolen that his brother-in-law was present when two of the stolen notes were cashed in Calcutta that shortly after the theft he was in possession of a large sum of money for which he could not satisfactorily account. Held, that circumstantial evidence must be exhaustive and exclude the possibility of guilt of any other person, or must point conclusively to the complicity of the accused. That in the present case the evidence did not fulfil the conditions of circumstantial proof at all. CHIRAGUDIN v. EMPEROR (1914)

18 C. W. N 1144

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

— ss. 391, 396—Dacoity—one of the dacoits killing two persons while the dacoits made good their escape with their booty—whether his comrades liable for the consequences of his act. The house of one K. was raided by a gang of five dacoits, one of whom was armed with a gun and the rest with chhalas. The dacoits ransacked the house and made good their escape with their booty. A number of villagers had assembled outside the house and in fighting their way through the crowd one of the dacoits shot one man dead and inflicted fatal wounds upon another who died shortly afterwards. The question before the Court was whether under these circumstances every dacoit was equally liable for the consequences of this act of one of them. Held, that murder committed by dacoits while carrying away the stolen property is murder committed in the commission of dacoity, vide s. 399 of the Indian Penal Code, and every offender was therefore liable for the murder committed by one of them. Queen Empress v. Sallaram Khandu (2 Bori, L. R. 395) and Litt. Theeran v. Litt. Theeran (11 Mad. L. J 118) followed. Ex parte v. Chandor (1900, 44 W. N. 47), distinguished. LASHKAR v. CROWN

I L R. 2 Lah 274

— s. 392—Charge, amended by Sessions Judge before hearing evidence—Criminal Procedure Code, s. 227. Where the appellants were committed to the Court of Sessions on a charge of dacoity and the Sessions Judge will not assign any reason at the commencement of the trial amended the charge to one of robbery. Held, that it was improper for the Sessions Judge to thus alter the character of the charge before hearing evidence. That under the circumstances of the case the fact that the appellants pointed out the places where some of the articles stolen in a robbery were found was not sufficient evidence to convict them under s. 392. Ind. and Penal Code or even under s. 411 Indian Penal Code. Queen Empress v. Gobinda I L R 17 All 576 followed. PAIMULLAN v. KING EMPEROR (1911)

16 C. W. N. 238

— s. 395—

See DACOITY 15 C. W. N. 434

— s. 399—

See MAGISTRATE I L R 39 Cal 119

— ss. 399, 402—

See DACOITY I L R. 41 Cal 350

— s. 400—Section to be strictly construed—Association for dacoity—List of offence—Kind of evidence sufficient to convict—Appraiser's testimony—Corroboration—Proof that accused members of a criminal tribe—Previous conviction—Value of when no association established—Accusatorial effect of. The offence contemplated in s. 400 of the Penal Code is one of a very special character and entirely the creature of statute and should therefore be strictly construed. The Queen v. Mooktarom Sirdar 23 W. R. Cr 13 referred to Association for the habitual pursuit of dacoity is the gist of the offence punishable under the section. Although the evidence need not show the same degree of particularity as to the commission of each dacoity as is required to support a substantive charge of that crime it must be established for the purpose of conviction under the section that the accused belong to a gang whose business is the habitual commission of dacoity. The special conspiracy must be proved Empress v. Kure, All W. N. (1886) 65, 66, King Emperor v. Tirumal Reddi, 1 L. R. 24 Mad 523, The Public Prosecutor v. Doragiri Poltagadu, 1 L. R. 32 Mad 179, referred to. Corroboration of the testimony of an approver in a trial under s. 400, must connect the accused with the offence, viz, the association of a gang or persons for the business of habitually committing dacoity. The general criminality of a tribe or caste cannot be imputed to individual members operating in gangs where the prosecution is under s. 400, and the fact that members of the tribe generally were alleged to have been implicated in several dacoities within a period of ten years preceding the trial was not sufficient proof against the persons under trial when it appeared that the tribe contained within it thousands of human beings. Where association for the purpose of habitually committing dacoity had not been made out, the mere fact that some of the accused had been previously convicted of dacoity or theft or had been bound down to be of good behaviour under s. 110, Criminal Procedure Code, was of no consequence. The fact that some of the persons undergoing trial for an offence under s. 400 had once been sent up on a charge of dacoity of which they were acquitted, could not be relied on to prove that they were habitual dacoits. No adverse inference can be drawn against accused persons after their acquittal. The Emperor v. Nani Gopal Gupta, 15 C. W. N. 593, Rex v. Plumber [1902] 2 K. B. 339, followed. Bonas v. The King Emperor, 15 C. W. N. 461, distinguished. KADER SUNDAR v. THE EMPEROR (1911)

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd*s. 400—contd

18 C. W. N. 69

s. 401—

See CHARGE. I. L. R. 47 Calc. 154

See PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS, EVIDENCE OF. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 408

s. 402—

See DACOITY. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 350

s. 403—

See s. 22. I. L. R. 40 All. 119

s. 405—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 179 and 182—Criminal breach of trust—Hundis sent from Dharaparam—Cashied in Bombay—Jurisdiction. The offence of criminal breach of trust is completed by the misappropriation or the conversion of the property dishonestly. It is only the intention which is essential whether wrongful gain or loss actually results is immaterial, it is a consequence, but no essential part of the offence, and a person is not accused of the offence by reason of it. Where, therefore, the accused, brokers in Bombay, were charged in the Court of the Sub-Divisional Magistrate of Erode with the offence of having committed criminal breach of trust in respect of the proceeds of certain hundis, entrusted to them by the complainants merchants at Dharaparam, for encashment at Bombay. Held, that the hundis having been cashied and the proceeds misappropriated by the accused in Bombay the Erode Court had no jurisdiction to try the case. Ganeshi Lal v. Nand Kishore, 1 L. R. 34 All. 487, approved. Assistant Sessions Judge of North Arcot v. Ramaswami Asari, 26 Mad. L. J. 235, distinguished. Queen Empress v. O'Brien, 1 L. R. 19 All. 111, and Emperor v. Mahadeo, 1 L. R. 32 All. 397, commented on. Held, also, that, where, as in this case, the complaint clearly charged dishonest misappropriation to accused's own use and not use or disposal in violation of law or contract, the offence fell under the first part of s. 405 of the Indian Penal Code and not under the second. And secondly, if it were otherwise, the offence would be committed where the dishonest use or disposal took place, not where the contract was made, or should have been performed. PER RANDELLS (1914) 1 L. R. 38 Mad. 639

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd*s. 405—contd

ss. 405, 409—

See CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 844

s. 406—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 179. I. L. R. 35 All. 29

See RECEIVER. I. L. R. 46 Calc. 432

1. —Criminal breach of trust—Necessary elements to constitute the offence. The complainant owed money to the accused on a mortgage bond and on a certain day went to their house and paid the amount settled as due in full satisfaction of the bond. An endorsement of payment was made on the back of the bond by one of the witnesses for the prosecution and the accused went inside their house with the bond and the money saying that they would keep the money and return the bond, but they did not come back that day and afterwards denied the receipt of the money. Held, that on the facts there was no trust which could bring the case within the terms of s. 406, Indian Penal Code. GOLAM HOSSAIN v. EMPEROR (1917)

22 C. W. N. 1005

2. —Criminal breach of trust—Prosecution bound to prove entrusting. In a case of criminal breach of trust if the prosecution could not prove how the accused came by the money they did not establish one of the first essentials of the offence charged, viz, that accused was entrusted with the money. GOURI NARAYAN BARRUA v. TILKIPAN CHETRI

25 C. W. N. 838

ss. 406, 408—Criminal breach of trust—

Water works inspector misappropriating water—Money realized as water tax not credited to the municipality. Where a municipal water works inspector being the lessor of a house within municipal limits had such house connected with a municipal water main and accepted a yearly payment as water tax from his tenants, but neither informed the municipal board that the connection had been made nor credited to the board the money which he received as water tax from his tenants, it was held that he was properly convicted under ss. 406 and 408 of the Indian Penal Code, whether or not he might have been punishable under the United Provinces Water Works Act, 1891. EMPEROR v. BIMALA CHARAN POI (1913)

I. L. R. 35 All. 361

s. 408—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

ss. 182 AND 531

I. L. R. 32 All. 397

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s 408—contd.

ss 233, 230, 239

1 L. R. 32 All. 219

Lal Bahadur Sahai v. The State—A station master on the East Indian Railway, under an arrangement with the Company received a fixed allowance in respect of the marking, loading and unloading work at his station and used to engage his own men for that purpose. One of such men engaged as a markman was first allowed to keep certain registers, which it was the duty of the station master to maintain and next allowed to receive cash payments and make entries in the cash register. Whilst so employed he received a sum of Rs 5 10 as an over-hire or demurrage in respect of certain goods which passed through his hands, and appropriated the same. To allow him to recover the Railway Company made a claim. He was also alleged to have received and appropriated to his own use two other sums of money, under a somewhat similar circumstance. In respect of these three sums he was tried and convicted in three counts under s 408 of the Indian Penal Code. Held that the offence of an offence committed with regard to the sum of Rs 5 10 did not fall within s 408 at all, and this being so the jointer of the three clauses in one trial was illegal. Emperor v. Harnilal Dix (1918) 1 L. R. 40 All. 685

ss 408, 477A—

See Chandra 1 L. R. 40 Cal. 318

s 409—

s 409—CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST

1 L. R. 41 Cal. 344

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

s 223 and 231

1 L. R. 33 All. 42

ss 233, 234

3 Pat. L. J. 124

1. Criminal misappropriation—Proven—If it is proven that a person has taken a charge under s 409 of the Indian Penal Code it is not necessary for the prosecution to prove in what manner or for what purpose the property has actually been disposed of by the accused. It is shown that money entrusted to the accused was not accounted for nor returned by him in accordance with his duty. It is up to the accused to prove his defence. Emperor v. Kadir Hussain (1910) 1 L. R. 33 All. 249

2. Criminal breach of trust—

Charge—Criminal Procedure Code s 232 (3). An accused person was charged under s 409 of the Indian Penal Code with having embezzled an aggregate sum of Rs 208 12 0 in various dates between the 1st July and the 1st November 1909. Held, that the charge so framed was not open to objection, notwithstanding that evidence was available as to the various items of which the aggregate sum charged was composed. Emperor v. Gulam Lal 1 L. R. 24 All. 251, Emperor v. Ishak Ali 1 L. R. 28 All. 63, Samirul Haq Sarkar v. Ashraf Chandra Ghose, 1 L. R. 31 Cal. 924, Raj Narain Tewari v. Emperor 1 L. R. 32 Cal. 1055, and Thomas v. Emperor, 1 L. R. 29 Mad. 555, followed. Subramanyam Ayyar v. King Emperor, 1 L. R. 23 Mad. 61 distinguished. Emperor v. Ibrahim Khan (1910)

1 L. R. 33 All. 38

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s 409—contd.

3

A Postmaster whose duty it was to pay over to the holders of certain cash certificates the money due thereon at a certain rate in fact paid the holders at a lower rate and misappropriated the difference. Held, that he thereby committed an offence of criminal breach of trust by a Public Servant. Emperor v. Sita Ram 1 L. R. 42 All. 201

s 411—

See CONVICTION

3 Pat. L. J. 105

See DISTRICT RECYCLING STORES

PROPERTY 1 L. R. 40 Cal. 990

See JURY, TRIAL BY

24 C. W. N. 619

Presumption as to knowledge of property in whose possession stolen property found after certain lapse of time—Criminal Procedure Code (Act 5 of 1908) s 45—Concurrent sentences—Where in a case under s 411 and an offence of the stolen property was found in the possession of the accused more than three months after the theft, Held, that having regard to the length of time there was no presumption that the accused knew or had reason to believe the property to be stolen. An order directing sentences passed in two separate trials against the same accused to run concurrently is illegal. Joshi v. State 1 L. R. 40 Cal. 990 ss 411, 414—Disonestly receiving stolen property—Assaulting in the concealment of stolen property—Government currency note received in the course of business—Sanctioned—Where a Government currency note (the value of Rs 1000) was traced seven months after the loss to a shroff who carried on business in Bombay and through whose hands the currency notes would find their way in the course of business though he could not name the person from whom he had received the currency note. Held on a complaint under ss 411, 414 of the Indian Penal Code, that the Chief District Magistrate was right in refusing to issue process. 1st Chandra Sahu v. Haji Mehar Haji Abdulhamid (1917)

17 C. W. N. 1129

s 415—

See EVIDENCE ACT (1 of 1872), ss. 14

15

1 L. R. 34 All. 93

Cheating—Deceit—Shopkeeper receiving currency notes in exchange for goods sold—Intention by shopkeeper of small amount from change on ground that not worth face value—Intention of guilty—The accused who had sold goods worth Rs 2 13 0 to a customer, received from him two currency notes, one of Rs 2 8 0 and the other of Rs 1, but tendered as change only Rs 0 9 3 saying that the notes were not worth their face value, and that Rs 0 1 9 were charged on that account. The accused pleaded guilty and was convicted of the offence of cheating. On application to the High Court: Held, (i) that whether on the admitted facts the accused ought to be held to have committed the offence of cheating was a question of law, as to which the plea of the accused was immaterial, (ii) that he had not committed the offence of cheating, for there was no deceit at all, since the customer was not induced to hand over the notes by any representation on the part of the shopkeeper that he would get change calculated on the face value of the notes, but handed them to the accused in the ordinary course of the sale and purchase transaction. EMERSON v. MURARI RAOHICATHI (1919). . . . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 842

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd*s. 415—contd

ss. 415, 417—

1. Attempt to cheat—Dishonest intention—Facts proved not sufficient to support conviction—Evidence gone into in revision. Where according to the Rules regulating the levy of octroi on certain goods brought within the Sambalpur Municipality, the goods had to be presented in bulk at the exit station out post with an application for a pass in a prescribed form, such application being in the ordinary course handed by the applicant or his agent to the out post mohurer who made it over to the daroga whose duty it was to check the application and to certify the description and quantity of the goods actually presented and then to make out the chalan or pass which had to be signed by the mohurer, and one of the Rules provided that a municipal member must attest the check at the exit station out post and in the absence of such attestation the exit mohurer shall not sign the chalan, and another Rule provided that the absence of the mohurer's signature on the chalan is one of the reasons for which an application for a refund of duty allowed in certain cases should be rejected; and where on a certain day the petitioner at the request of the daroga consented to act as Municipal member at the out post in respect of goods brought there to be passed through and among such goods brought to the out post were some cartloads of goods belonging to the petitioner's firm, and in the application for a pass in respect of these goods which was not signed by the petitioner himself but in which his name was written by a gomasta (which application according to the case for the prosecution the petitioner himself handed to the daroga with whom he was in collusion), the goods were entered as 460 bags of linseed and 40 bags of rice but as a matter of fact only 230 bags of linseed were actually brought to the out post and according to the evidence of the daroga the petitioner assured him that he would make good the deficiency on the following day, and it was found that the petitioner was cognisant of the application, of the details therein entered and of the number of bags brought to and passed through the out post but the petitioner did not attest the check in respect of his own goods and did not attempt to induce the mohurer to sign the chalan (which the mohurer in fact did never sign), nor did he do anything further to carry out the purpose imputed to him, and made no attempt to obtain a receipt for 500 bags as representing the number actually passed through the out-post, and on the next day when he tried to send goods to the railway station some of his carts were intercepted and prevented from reaching the railway station by the municipal authorities. Held, that the facts proved were not sufficient to support the conviction of the petitioner for an offence of cheating. The evidence on the record fell short of the evidence required to prove dishonest mind or dishonest purpose on the part of the petitioner. BRUNJA MAHWAR v. THE KING-EMERSON (1912). . . . 17 C. W. N. 294

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd*ss. 415, 417—contd

2. Cheating. The petitioner proposed to the father of a girl for the hand of his daughter and obtained his consent and was admitted into his house. Subsequently, information was received by the father that the petitioner was a married man, thus the petitioner admitted to be true. Shortly after the daughter who was major left the father's protection of her own accord and went to the petitioner. On the complaint of the parents the petitioner was convicted of cheating under s. 417, Indian Penal Code. Held, that the facts did not bring the case within s. 417 read with s. 415, Indian Penal Code. That looking at the natural result of the deception that had been undoubtedly practised and that only, between the date the father gave his consent and the date when it became known to him that the petitioner was a married man, and on the facts and circumstances of the case, it could not be said that any damage or harm was done to the mind or reputation of the parents and consequently the charge failed. MILTON v. SHYAMAN (1918).

22 C. W. N. 1001

3. Cheating complaint of—Proceeding quashed as prima facie case not made out—Pleader a promise to persuade client to give undertaking—Undertaking not given—Pleader, if may be proceeded against for cheating. In a proceeding under s. 197, Criminal Procedure Code, the opposite party undertook not to go to the property, the subject matter in dispute, or to do any act that was likely to involve a breach of the peace, on the pleader for the complainant agreeing to persuade complainant's master to file an undertaking that he would protect the property from sale. The undertaking which the latter offered to file, not having been approved of by the opposite party, was not filed whereupon the opposite party started proceedings against the pleader under s. 417 of the Penal Code. Held, that the proceedings should be quashed as no prima facie case of cheating had been made out. KRISHNA KUMAR MUKERJI v. KENDRANT MUKERJI (1916).

20 C. W. N. 1112

ss. 417, 420 and 511—

See FOROZAY . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 16

"Valuable security", whether acknowledgment of receipt of insured parcel is. Where the accused, in order to create false evidence that he had paid off a sum of Rs. 650 which he owed to complainant, filed a registered envelope with blank sheets of paper and posted it to the complainant after insuring it for Rs. 650 and the complainant gave an acknowledgment of receipt of the parcel to the Post Office on receiving the same. Held, that these facts amounted to an attempt to cheat. An acknowledgment of receipt of an insured parcel is not a 'valuable security'. It is merely evidence that a parcel of some sort was delivered to the addressee and it cannot operate as a discharge of any liability. Under s. 237 (2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure an accused who is charged with an offence may be convicted of having attempted to commit that offence, although the attempt is not separately charged. SABHO LALL v. KIVO EMERSON . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 391

s. 420—

See s. 120B . . . 20 C. W. N. 292

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.

s. 420—contd.

See s. 417 1 Pat. L. J. 331

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ACT (V OF 1898) s. 562

1 L. R. 41 Mad. 533

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872) ss. 11, 14, 15

1 L. R. 39 All. 273

Chao ag arising out of a tempt to enforce all pd unfulfilled contract
Two contracts were entered into between the complainant and accused, one for sale by the complainant of a certain number of shares of a particular kind and the other for the purchase by the complainant of another kind. Subsequently when the purchase by the complainant was disputed a civil suit induced complainant to part with shares promising to give him back cash for it but instead offered to credit the value against the share due to him under the other contract and subsequently tendered the amount less the loss sustained by him by the non fulfilment of the other contract. Held that the action of the accused was fraudulent and he was rightly convicted under s. 470. ASWINI KUMAR CHATTERJEE v THE KING EMPEROR 25 C. W. N. 818

Whether contract can be made under a 56th Criminal Procedure Code?
It was contended by a first class Magistrate under s. 470 Indian Penal Code that his call of acting him to impoundment the Magistrate issued an order against him under s. 56th Criminal Procedure Code releasing him on probation of good conduct. Held that s. 56th Criminal Procedure Code applies only to a case of simple default and not s. 417 Indian Penal Code and not to aggravated form of cheating falling under ss. 418 to 420. The Crown v A. K. Ram (J. P. W. R.) 1903 followed. THE CROWN v RAB NAWAS 1 L. R. 1 Lahore. 812

s. 421—Criminal proceedings against insolvent—Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1900) ss. 17, 103 and 104—Adj. dpt insolvent—Sanction of insolvent's Court not obtained—Sanction of Magistrate—Suit or other legal proceeding started on of a person insolvent—A remittance applied to the Insolvent Debtors Court at Bombay for relief under the provisions of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act 1900 and was adjudged an insolvent. Ten days later a creditor of the insolvent without having obtained any sanction from the Insolvent Debtors Court filed a complaint against the insolvent in the Presidency Magistrate's Court for an offence punishable under s. 421 of the Indian Penal Code 1860. It was contended that the Magistrate had no jurisdiction to entertain the complaint. Held that the Magistrate jurisdiction to try the insolvent for an offence under s. 421 of the Indian Penal Code 1860 was not taken away by anything contained in the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act 1900. The expression or other legal proceeding in s. 17 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act 1900 coming after the word suit, a word of more limited application, must be construed on the principle of ejusdem generis. It, therefore, includes only proceedings of a civil nature. EMPEROR v MULSHANKAR HARTMUND BHAT (1910)

1 L. R. 35 Bom. 63

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.

s. 423—

See FABRICATING FALSE EVIDENCE

1 L. R. 48 Cal. 986

Consideration means
The word consideration in s. 423 of the Penal Code cannot mean the property transferred. Therefore an untrue statement in a transfer deed that the whole of a plot of land belonged to the transferor is not a statement relating to the consideration for the transfer and is not an offence under the section. MARIA GOUDAN v R (1911)

1 L. R. 37 Mad. 47

s. 424—

s. 5 BENGAL TENANT ACT 1885

1 Pat. L. J. 353

See s. 71

See s. 121

25 C. W. N. 209

Conversion of a ryot and Madras Estate Land Act (I of 1904) for dishonest concealment and removal of crops & quality of—Madras Estates Land Act (I of 1901) ss. 73 and 712, no bar to conviction
The accused who was a ryot under the Madras Estates Land Act and who was bound under the conditions of his tenure to share the produce of his land with the landholder in a certain proportion dishonestly concealed and removed the produce thus preventing the landholder from taking his due share. Held that the provisions of ss. 73 and 212 of the Madras Estates Land Act were no bar to a conviction of a ryot under s. 474, Indian Penal Code for the dishonest concealment and removal. PERUVANPANDIA THEVAR (1914)

1 L. R. 38 Mad. 793

s. 426—

See s. 147

1 L. R. 39 Mad. 57

See NORTHERN INDIA CANAL AND DRAINAGE ACT (VIII OF 1833) ss. 7 AND 9.

1 L. R. 34 All. 210

ss. 476 417—

s. 427 CRIMINAL TRESPASS.

1 L. R. 38 Cal. 180

Where the accused a peash of one R. acting solely in the interests of his Master removed and damaged some bamboos and the Estate was under Court of Wards. Held no offence was committed. PURANDEVI SINGH v KING EMPEROR

25 C. W. N. 224

Cutting off the ears of a horse is maiming as well as laceration. The cutting off the ears of a horse is maiming as well as the meaning of s. 473 of the Indian Penal Code. MARIKOWDA v KRIVIVARA RANGAPPAH (1911)

1 L. R. 35 Mad. 594

s. 430—If act of injury to works of art go on There cannot be a conviction under s. 430 of the Penal Code where there is a right or a bona fide claim of right. DEPUTY LEGAL MEMBERSHAWER, BILAL AND ORS. v MATTEDHARI SINGH (1913)

20 C. W. N. 128

s. 430—Much of Northern India Canal and Drainage Act (VIII of 1873), s. 70
Where the foundation of the charge against an accused person is that he cut the bank of a canal for the purpose of unlawfully obtaining water for his own field in order to sustain a con-violation under s. 430 of the Indian Penal Code, it is necessary for the prosecution to show that the act of the accused in fact caused, or, but for prompt intervention, would have caused diminution in the ordinary supply of water for agricultural purposes. If this cannot be shown, the accused should be convicted under s. 70 of the Northern India Canal and Drainage Act, 1873. Taj ud din v. Emperor, 5 A L J 159, followed. EMPEROR v. HAN NARAIN (1919). I. L. R. 41 All. 599

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 430—contd.

s. 434—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 106
I. L. R. 33 All. 771

s. 436—Arson—Evidence of previous fires unconnected with the charge under enquiry—Conviction on inadmissible evidence. The accused was convicted of arson. During the trial, the Sessions Judge admitted the evidence of previous fires in the locality with which, however, there was nothing to connect the accused and relying amongst others on that evidence convicted the accused. Held that the Sessions Judge was wrong in admitting the evidence in question. The High Court set aside the conviction and sentence. ABDUL KADIR v. KING EMPEROR (1916). 20 C. W. N. 1267

s. 441—

1. Distinguished from civil trespass—Placing hay-stacks and manure on another man's land—Intention to cause annoyance, must be found. The placing of hay stacks and manure on another man's land may be civil trespass. It may cause annoyance in fact, but the act cannot be treated as criminal trespass unless it is found that it was intended by the accused to be annoyance. The distinction between civil and criminal trespass is one which is lost sight of by too many of the Subordinate Magistrates. MEJAN v. SHARAFULLAH KHAN (1912). 18 C. W. N. 1007

2. Placing on another man's land. A man may be guilty of criminal trespass on the land of another without ever personally setting foot on the land. If, for example, he causes others to build on the land against the wishes and in spite of the protest of the owner of the land. EMPEROR v. GHAST (1917). I. L. R. 39 All. 722

3. Necessary constituents of offence. Where a person is found in the house of another in circumstances which would prima facie indicate that the offence of criminal trespass as defined in s. 441 of the Indian Penal Code had been committed and sets up the defence that he did not enter the house with any of the intents referred to in the section but in pursuance of an intrigue with a female living there, it is the duty of the trying Court to give accused an opportunity of substantiating such defence. If the accused succeeds in showing that his presence in the house was in consequence of an invitation from or by the connivance of a female living in the house with whom he was carrying on an intrigue, and that he desired that his presence there should not be known to the person in possession, then he cannot be convicted of criminal trespass. If, however, it is shown that the person in possession of the house has expressly prohibited the accused from coming to the house, an intent to annoy may be legitimately inferred. The following cases were referred to. Balmakand Ram v. Ghansamram, I L R 22 Cal. 391, Premarundo Shaha v. Brindaban Chug, I L R 22 Cal. 944, Emperor v. Lakhman Raghunath, I J R 26 Bom 553, Emperor v. Mulla I L R 37 All. 395, Emperor v. Gaya Bhar, I L R 38 All. 517, EMPEROR v. CHROTE LAL (1917). I. L. R. 40 All. 221

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 441—contd.

ss. 441 and 442—

See CRIMINAL TRESPASS

ss. 441, 447—

See CRIMINAL TRESPASS.

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 1143

ss. 441, 448—Criminal Trespass—Finding that the trespass was committed with one of the intents specified in the section, whether necessary—Knowledge of the consequences of the trespass, whether sufficient to inculpate. Held, by the Full Bench (ATLING J., dissenting)—Trespass is an offence under s. 441 Indian Penal Code, only if it is committed with one of the intents specified in the section and proof that a trespass committed with some other object was known to the accused to be likely or certain to cause insult or annoyance is insufficient to sustain a conviction under s. 418, Indian Penal Code. Distinction between 'intention' and 'knowledge of likelihood' pointed out. Queen-Emperor v. Rajapadayachi I L R 19 Mad 404 followed. Emperor v. Lakhman, I L R 26 Bom 553 and the view of BERTON, J. in Sella mulhu Serimgaru v. Pollamulhu Karuppan, I L R 35 Mad. 156 not followed. Per ATLING J. A mere knowledge that the trespass is likely to cause insult or annoyance does not amount to an intent to insult or annoy within s. 441, Indian Penal Code but where the trespasser knows that his trespass is practically certain in the natural course of events to cause insult or annoyance it is open to the court to infer an intent to insult or annoy. It is a question of fact whether this presumption of intent is displaced by proof of any independent object of the trespass. VULLAPPA v. BREEMA RAO (1917). I. L. R. 41 Mad. 156

Criminal trespass—Proceedings if he on the complaint of some one other than the person in possession. 'Any person in possession,' meaning of The petitioner was convicted under s. 448, Indian Penal Code, for having broken into a house belonging to the complainant but actually in the possession of her tenant with the object of causing annoyance to the tenant. Held, that the proceedings were properly instituted on the complaint of the landlady. That the words 'any person in possession' in s. 441 Indian Penal Code, do not mean only complainant in possession there being no authority for taking the offences of mischief and criminal trespass out of the general rule which allows any person to complain of a criminal act. Chandi Prasad v. Evans I L R 22 Cal. 122 (1894) followed. Imperatrix v. Keshavlal, I. L. R. 21, Bom. 536 (1896), distinguished. RAYAT SINGH v. MRS. MORGAN. 25 C. W. N. 425

ss. 443 and 444—

See LURKING HOUSE TRESPASS.

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.

s. 447—

See s. 147 . I. L. R. 29 Mad. 57

See CRIMINAL TRESPASS.

I. L. R. 33 Cal. 180

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 1143

Criminal trespass—

One co-sharer building on common land without the consent of the other co-sharer. Where one co-sharer built upon a piece of common land against the will of the other co-sharer, whose consent had been previously asked and had been refused it was held that the circumstance alone was not sufficient to render the co-sharer so building guilty of criminal trespass. In the matter of the petition of Gobind Prasad, I. L. R. 2 All. 465 and Emperor v. Lakshman Raghunath I. L. R. 26 Bom. 553, referred to. EMPEROR v. RAM SARUP (1914) I. L. R. 38 All. 474

ss. 447, 379—

See THEFT I. L. R. 44 Cal. 66

s. 448—

See s. 441 I. L. R. 48 Mad. 156

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898, s. 145 3 Pat. L. J. 147

s. 456—Lurking house trespass—Intent—Burden of proof. The accused was found inside the complainant's house at 2 a.m., and when arrested made no statement as to his reasons for being there. On being sent up for trial he stated, but could not prove to the satisfaction of the Court, that he had an intimacy with a widow living in the house. Held, that the presence of the accused in the house at that hour pointed to a guilty intent and it was for him to rebut that presumption. Emperor v. Ishra, I. L. R. 29 All. 46, followed. Emperor v. Jang Singh, I. L. R. 26 All. 194, Sella Matha Srivastava and Matayan v. Palla Matha Koriyaan, 21 Mad. L. J. 161, Queen Empress v. Rayapadayachi, I. L. R. 19 Mad. 240, and Premamunda Shaha v. Brindaban Chaudhary, I. L. R. 22 Cal. 393; referred to. EMPEROR v. MULLA (1915) . I. L. R. 37 All. 395

Lurking house trespass

—Entering a house with intent to have illicit intercourse with a widow of full age no offence. An accused person, though he may have known that, if discovered, his act would be likely to cause annoyance to the owner of a house, cannot be said to have intended either actually or constructively to cause such annoyance. Where, therefore, it was proved that a person entered a house with intent to have illicit intercourse with a woman who was a widow and of age: Held, that he was guilty of no offence. Jivan Singh v. King Emperor, 1903, Pat. Cr. J. 54, dissented from. Emperor v. Mulla, I. L. R. 37 All. 393 referred to. Queen Empress v. Rayapadayachi, I. L. R. 19 Mad. 240, followed. EMPEROR v. GAYA DHAN (1916) . I. L. R. 38 All. 517

ss. 456, 457—

Charge of house-breaking to commit theft—Conviction under s. 456, if proper—Mistake of charges—Charge under s. 457, conviction under s. 538, illegality of. An accused person who was being tried on a charge under s. 457 for house-breaking with intent to commit theft, could not be convicted under s. 456, Indian PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*456, 457—contd.

Penal Code, without amendment of the original charge. Although it is not necessary under s. 456, Indian Penal Code, to specify any particular offences intended to be committed, when a particular offence is specified under s. 457, Indian Penal Code, it is incompetent for the Court to convict the accused of house breaking with some other intent. JHARU SKEKH v. THE KING EMPEROR (1912) . 18 C. W. N. 698

See LURKING HOUSE TRESPASS.

I. L. R. 44 Cal. 353

Criminal Procedure

Code, s. 238—Conviction under s. 456 when charged under s. 457, propriety of—Criminal intention if should be specified in the charge in a case under s. 456—Intention of accused, how may be determined by Court. The view that under no circumstances can a conviction be made under s. 456 of the Penal Code, when the accused has been charged with the commission of an offence under s. 457, cannot be maintained. The accused in the middle of the night entered the house of the complainant while she was asleep, was caught but ultimately ran away. The motive alleged by the prosecution was to commit theft of the complainant's ornaments. The accused was summarily tried for offences under ss. 457 and 399 of the Penal Code, and the trying Magistrate finding that the intention of the accused was really to make immoral proposals to the complainant and thus to annoy her convicted him under s. 456 of the Penal Code. Held, that although the specific intent, namely, the intent to commit theft was not established, yet it was competent to the Court to convict the accused under s. 456 of the Penal Code, s. 238, Criminal Procedure Code, being clearly applicable to a case of this character, and the accused not having in any way been prejudiced by such conviction. Jharu Sheikh v. King Emperor, 18 C. W. N. 698, distinguished. That it is well settled that to sustain a conviction under s. 456 it is not necessary to specify the criminal intention in the charge, it is sufficient if a guilty intention is proved such as is contemplated by s. 441 of the Penal Code. That the intention may be determined as well from direct evidence as from the conduct of the party concerned and the attendant circumstances and in the circumstances of the case the Court could presume that the accused effected the entry with an intent such as is provided for by s. 441 of the Penal Code. ABALI PRASAD v. KING EMPEROR (1916) . 20 C. W. N. 1075

s. 457—

See s. 379 . 3 Pat. L. J. 348

"Intent to annoy," what amounts to A with a view to support a fraudulent claim of title to a house, broke into it during the temporary absence of the owner, assaulted the owner's servant who was in charge of the house and took forcible possession of it. Held, that A was rightly convicted of the offence of house-breaking under s. 457, Indian Penal Code. Per BENSON, J.—That an intent to annoy under s. 457 is established if annoyance in the ordinary course of events is known by the person committing the act to be the natural consequence of such act. A man must in law be held to intend the natural and ordinary consequences of his acts, irrespective of what his object was at the time of doing such acts if at such time he knows what the ordinary and natural consequences will be. If he does an act which is illegal, it does not make it legal that he did it with some other object unless the object was such as would under the circumstances render the particular act lawful. Per SANKARAY NAIK, J.—That although the act complained of necessarily involved annoyance, yet, unless the intention of the accused was to annoy, it may be that the act cannot be said to have been committed with intent to annoy. Emperor v. Baid, I L R, 27 All 293, referred to Queen Empress v. Rayapadayachi, I L R 19 Mad. 219, referred to. A., however, in doing the act complained of intended to use criminal force to the servant in possession and therefore intended to commit an offence. SEELAMUTHU SERVAIGARAN v. PALAMUTHU KARUPPAN (1911)

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 457—contd.

I L R. 35 Mad. 186

See s. 411 . I L R. 41 Mad. 156

ss. 457, 511—House breaking—

Attempt—Burglars digging a hole in a wall but not boring it through owing to interruption by third persons. The accused dug a hole in the wall of the complainant's dwelling house, during the night, with intent to complete that hole in order to make their entry into the house through it, and, having so entered, to commit a theft in the house. In fact, the hole was not completed in the sense that it did not completely penetrate from one side of the wall to the other, as the accused were interrupted before they could complete it. The accused were on these facts convicted by the trying Magistrate of the offence of attempting to commit house breaking by night. On appeal, the Sessions Judge reversed the conviction and acquitted the accused on the ground that the accused's acts did not amount to an attempt to commit house-breaking, but only to a preparation. The Government of Bombay having appealed against the order of acquittal. Held, setting aside the order of acquittal, that the accused's acts did in law amount to an attempt, for the actual transaction, the distinct overt act, was begun and carried through to a certain point but was not completed by reason of the accused's being interrupted. EMPEROR v. CHANDKHA SALABATKHA (1911)

I L R. 37 Bom. 553

ss. 457, 380, 456—

See LURKING HOUSE TRESPASS

I L R. 44 Calc. 358

s. 460—Whether applicable where death was caused by some of the companions of the accused while running away after committing house trespass by night. The accused appellant was one of a party of 4 men who broke into the house of the complainant by night and, being discovered, were running away when a neighbour caught hold of the accused, whereupon some of his companions inflicted certain injuries upon the neighbour of which he died on the spot. Held, that s. 460 of the Penal Code was not applicable as the expression "at the time of the committing of house breaking at night" must be limited to the time during which the criminal trespass continues which forms an element in house trespass, which is itself essential to house-breaking, and can not be extended so as to include any prior or subsequent time. Jaffir v. Empress

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 460—contd.

(2 P. R. (Cr.) 1832) per Plowden, J., followed MUHAMMAD v. CROWN. I L R. 2 Lah. 342

ss. 463-465—

See s. 417 . 4 Pat. L. J. 16

See FORGERY . I L R. 43 Calc. 421
I L R. 38 Calc. 75

ss. 463, 467—Forgery—Forgery committed to conceal fraud already committed. A Kulkarni misappropriated certain moneys which the rayats had paid to him as irrigation cesses. Some time afterwards, he forged certain receipts purporting to come from the Government treasury for those moneys, with the object of concealing the misappropriation. The accused helped the Kulkarni in the forgery, by forging the signatures on the receipts. He was paid Rs 25 for the work. The accused was, on these facts, charged with the offence of forgery. The Sessions Judge acquitted the accused on the ground that s. 463 of the Indian Penal Code penalised the making of a false document, only if it was made (inter alia) with intent to commit fraud or that fraud may be committed, whereas no such intent could be ascribed where the fraud had already been fully committed. The Government of Bombay appealed against the order of acquittal. Held, setting aside the order of acquittal, that the accused had committed forgery, although it was effected in order to conceal an already completed fraud. Lalit Mohan Borkar v. Queen-Empress, I L R 22 Calc 313, Emperor v. Rash Behari Das, I L R 35 Calc 450, and Queen Empress v. Sabapati, I L R 11 Mad. 411, followed. Empress of India v. Jivanand, I L R 5 All 221, Empress v. Mazhar Hussain, I L R 5 All 553, and Queen-Empress v. Gurdhari Lal, I L R 8 All 653, dissented from. EMPEROR v. BALKRISHNA WAMAN (1913)

I L R. 37 Bom. 666

ss. 463, 471—"Using" definition of—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 17 and 531—Jurisdiction—Commitment to Court, not possessing jurisdiction, bad—Transfer. A forged document was produced in Court in obedience to an order of the Court. Held that the production did not amount to using the document as genuine. An involuntary production of a document in Court cannot be said to amount to a use of it. The expression "using a document" is apparently used in the sense of its being put forward in some way for one of the purposes mentioned in s. 463, Indian Penal Code. Although by virtue of s. 531, Criminal Procedure Code, an order in an inquiry made by a Magistrate not having local jurisdiction, will not be set aside unless there is in fact a failure of justice, yet when a commitment is made by such a Magistrate to a Court of Session which has no jurisdiction to try the case under s. 177, Criminal Procedure Code, such commitment is illegal. The High Court has no power to transfer a case thus committed to a Court not having jurisdiction to another Court having jurisdiction. The commitment must be quashed. ASSISTANT SESSIONS JUDGE, NORTH ARCOT v. RAMAMMAL (1913)

I L R. 36 Mad. 387

s. 464—

See s. 29 . I L R. 41 Mad. 599

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.— ss. 464—contd.

Forgery—Document made to screen a previous offence, whether made fraudulently. An attack made by a process-server with false signatures in order to defraud a District Munsif into excusing his delay in returning process and his absence from duty is made fraudulently and is a forged document within s. 464 of the Indian Penal Code. Empress v. Salaspathi, 1 L. R. 11 Mad. 411, Emperor v. Rishi Echors Das, 1 L. R. 35 Cal. 459, and Kotamraja Venkatarajulu v. Emperor, 1 L. R. 23 Mad. 90, followed. Emperor of India v. Wassand, 1 L. R. 5 All. 221, and Queen-Empress v. Girdhars Lal, 1 L. R. 8 All. 633, doubted. KANATCHINATHA PILLAI v. EMPEROR (1919).

1 L. R. 42 Mad. 553

— ss. 461, 465, 467—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1933) ss. 221, 222, 223, 312.—Making a false document—Forgery of valuable security—Falsification of part of a document which is surplusage—Evidence—Onus—Defect in charge—Omission to set out intention in charge. Where the accused was convicted of having forged a khabalat executed by himself in favour of his landlord C B whose name appeared on the document as a witness and there were two other witnesses to the document, and it was admitted that the accused who was an illiterate man did not "make the false document" himself, and it was not established that the intention of the accused was to fraudulently bind the landlord by his alleged signature as witness, and the case for the defence was that it was not the landlord C B who signed the name as witness but another person of the same name, and the Sessions Judge held that the onus was on the defence of showing that this C B, whose name appeared on the document, was a real person and signed the deed, and where the Sub-Registrar who registered the document and he'd an inquiry in connection therewith and saw with his own eyes that the accused was in possession of the land covered by the document gave evidence of that fact, but the Sessions Judge held that his statement was not evidence. Held, that a charge of forgery cannot lie against a person who was not the writer of the forged document or who did not sign the forged name. Making a false document is one thing and causing a false document to be made is another. One is an offence under s. 465, Penal Code, the other is an act, at most, of abetment. The part of a document in order to come within the definition of false document must be dishonestly or fraudulently made, signed, sealed or executed by the person who is charged, and it must be made with the intention of causing it to be believed that such document or part of a document was made, signed, sealed, and executed by or by the authority of a person by whom or by whose authority, he knows that it was not made, signed, sealed or executed. Even supposing that part of a document is false that part must have some material effect on the transaction. A mere surplusage would not invalidate a document. In the present case even admitting that the name of C B was a fictitious name it would not make the document a false document. There being two other witnesses to the document besides C B, it could have no effect on the validity of the document whether the name was or was not fictitious. If it was the intention of the accused that the document should be used in future as evidence that the landlord himself was a witness to it that might bring the case within the definition of fabricating false evidence for the purpose of being used in a judicial proceeding, or it might be a preparation for the offence of cheating but certainly does not amount to forgery. Held, further that the Sessions Judge was wrong in throwing the onus on the defence and in holding that the statement of the Sub-Registrar was not evidence. HAIDER ALI PRADHANIA v. THE EMPEROR (1912).

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.— ss. 464, 465, 467—contd.

17 C. W. N. 354

— ss. 465, 471—Forgery—"Dishonestly"—Forging a receipt for a debt which has been written off by the creditor for the purpose of obtaining a certificate of insolvency and indirectly in order to secure a contract—Wrongful gain or loss. A, in order that he might obtain the annulment of an order adjudicating him an insolvent and thereafter that he might be in a position to tender for municipal contracts, produced before the receiver in insolvency a document which purported to be a receipt from a creditor for payment of debt which the creditor had in fact written off as irrecoverable. Held, that in respect of the use of this receipt A was properly convicted under s. 465 read with s. 471 of the Indian Penal Code. Queen-Empress v. Muhammad Saeed Khan 1 L. R. 21 All. 113, and Queen-Empress v. Soohi Phookar, 1 L. R. 15 All. 210, referred to. EMPEROR v. ABDUL GHAFUR 1 L. R. 43 All. 225

— ss. 465, 471, 477A—

See MISAPPROPRIATION

1 L. R. 36 Cal. 955

— ss. 466, 471—

See FORGERY

1 L. R. 43 Cal. 783

— s. 467—

See s. 29 1 L. R. 41 Mad. 539

See s. 30 1 L. R. 33 All. 420

See s. 31 1 L. R. 36 Bom. 524

See s. 463 1 L. R. 37 Bom. 666

— s. 467—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss. 233, 239, 239 1 L. R. 32 All. 219

— Witness proving forged document. If a witness swears that it is doubtful whether a witness who swears to the truth of a document in Court can be said to swear its use. Anumudda v. King-Emperor, 11 C. W. N. 835, s. c. & U. L. J. 454, referred to. DEVI LIT v. DRABHARTI GANNAI (1911) 15 C. W. N. 565

— ss. 467, 109, 471—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 403.

1 L. R. 40 Bom. 97

— s. 471—

See s. 30 3 Pat. L. J. 236

See s. 463 1 L. R. 36 Mad. 237

See s. 463 1 L. R. 43 All. 223

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

s. 193 1 L. R. 23 Bom. 642

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 471—contd.

- s. 403 . . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 97
See FORGERY . . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 75
 I. L. R. 43 Calc. 753
See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
 I. L. R. 40 Cal. 584

"Using" definition of The mere production of a document in obedience to the summons of a Court cannot amount to "using" within the meaning of s. 471, Indian Penal Code Assistant Sessions Judge, North Arcot v Ramammal I L R 36 Mad. 337, followed. Where a document having been produced upon an order of the Court the witness gives false evidence regarding it, such giving of false evidence cannot by itself be considered a fraudulent user of the document within the meaning of s. 471, Indian Penal Code. A mere statement that a document is genuine does not amount to using it as genuine Re MUTHIAN CHETTI (1913)

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 392

ss. 471, 474—Whether convictions under, can stand together—Forgery—User, whether mere filing in Court—Guilty knowledge, presumption of, if rises from mere filing of a document, being interested in establishing its contents The mere fact that a litigant is interested in establishing the contents of a forged document filed by him in support of his case, does not raise the presumption that he filed it knowing it to be forged. Where, however, the accused filed a forged document in support of his case but when the forgery was discovered he fled away without prosecuting his case and without attempting to offer any explanation Held, that his conduct was not consistent with his innocence and want of guilty knowledge. The filing of a forged document as the basis of a plaint or as a necessary sequel to the pleas in the plaint, constitutes an user of it within s. 471, Penal Code, and it is incumbent on the person using it to show that he filed the document in all good faith believing it to be genuine. Ambika Prasad Singh v Emperor, I L R 35 Calc 320, referred to and explained. Convictions of offences under s. 471 and 474, Penal Code, in respect of the same document cannot stand together. The two offences must be charged in the alternative. Queen v Nurur Ali, 6 N W P. 39, followed. MORARAJ ALI v THE KING EMPEROR (1912) 17 C. W. N. 94

s. 474—

See s. 20 . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 589

s. 477A—

See CHARGE . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc 318
See COURT FOR STAMPS.

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 71

• See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

ss. 222 (2), 233

I. L. R. 38 All. 42

ss. 235, 537 I. L. R. 32 All. 57

Replacing stamps on documents by used up stamps, if offence under The accused was placed on his trial on a charge under s. 477A of the Penal Code on the allegation that he as clerk in the Certificate Department had tampered with requisitions filed under the

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*s. 477A—contd.

Public Demands Recovery Act on behalf of an estate under the management of the Court of Wards by replacing the stamps on those documents and on the accompanying rakalatnamas by others taken from other papers Held, that the acts, alleged did not come within the scope of s. 477A, Indian Penal Code KING EMPEROR v BIRHUNDANANDA (1919) 23 C. W. N. 935 ss. 478, 482—"Trademark"—Importer using a distinctive mark has property in it as against the rest of the world. A distinctive mark may be adopted by a person who is not the manufacturer but the importer of goods, and he will acquire the property in that mark as indicating that all goods which bear it have been imported by him. Palls v Fleming, I L R 3 Calc 417, and Laverne v Hooper, I L R 8 Mad 149, referred to. In this case merchants, selectors and importers of hand made sugar, used a distinctive mark denoting that the sugar contained in the bags so marked had been selected and imported by them, and their customers accepted the mark as a guarantee that the sugar was hand made. Held, that the mark so used was a "trade mark" as defined in s. 478 of the Indian Penal Code EMPEROR v LATIF (1916)

I. L. R. 30 All. 123

ss. 478, 488—Trade mark, meaning of—s. 28—Counterfeiting, what amounts to The trade mark alleged to be counterfeited was that of a company who were the manufacturers of a kind of tooth powder sold in boxes. It appeared that apart from two points of difference the imitation of the whole design was most marked and complete. Held, that the expression "trade mark" as defined in s. 478 must not be confined to the trade mark of the complainants registered in England but must include the whole design on the top of the box and the black label pasted round the side. That the case clearly came within the definition of "counterfeit" in s. 28, Indian Penal Code. NILMONEY NAO v DURGA PADA BANERJEE (1915) 19 C. W. N. 957

s. 482—

See s. 478 . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 123

ss. 482, 485, 486—

See TRADE MARK I. L. R. 40 Calc. 281

s. 486—

See s. 478 . . . 19 C. W. N. 957

s. 494—

Bigamy In a case of bigamy the person aggrieved is either the first husband or the second husband and not the father. Where a complaint was preferred by the father of the first husband, which resulted in a commitment on a charge under s. 494 of the Indian Penal Code, it was held that the commitment was bad. EMPEROR v LALA (1909)

I. L. R. 32 All. 78

A Hindu convert to Christianity married a Christian woman according to the rites of the Roman Catholic religion. Subsequently, and during the lifetime of his Christian wife, he reverted to Hinduism and married a Hindu woman in accordance with the rites of the class to which the parties belonged. Held, the offence of bigamy was not committed. EMERSON v ANTOY (1910). I L R. Mad. 371

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*ss. 494—contd.

*Offence triable by Court of Session—Accused discharged—Order directing complainant to pay compensation—Criminal Procedure Code, s. 250—Judgment written by Magistrate S. 250 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is not applicable where the charge which is being inquired into by a Magistrate is one which is exclusively triable by a Court of Session. Neither in such a case is the Magistrate empowered to write a judgment, all that he is empowered to do is to record reasons for a discharge. If he make such an order, and to pass the order of discharge. Fattu v Fatu, I L R 25 All 551, referred to. *HET RAM v GANGA SAHAI (1918)

I L R. 40 All. 615

*Accused, the wife of a Chamar, becoming a Mussalman and marrying a Mussalman during the life of her Chamar husband—Punishment—Ignorance of law. The accused, Mussamat Nandi, alias Zainab, the wife of the complainant, a Chamar, changed her religion and became a Mussalman, and a month and four days later married a Mussalman named Nukan Din. She was charged with an offence under s. 494 of the Penal Code. Held, that the mere fact of her conversion to Islam did not dissolve the accused's marriage with complainant which could only be dissolved by a decree of a Court, and that consequently she was guilty of an offence under s. 494 of the Penal Code. In the matter of Ram Kumari, (I L R 18 Cal 264), and Ameer Ali's Muhammadan Law v Vol II p. 437, followed. The Government of Bombay v Gangs (I L R 4 Bom. 330), Jumna Devi v Mul Raj (19 P P 1907) The Crown v Mussamat Rari (5 P R (Cr) 1913), and The Crown v Ghulam Fatima (32 P R (Cr) 18'9) referred to. Held also, that the accused's ignorance of the law could be taken into account in extenuation of the punishment. *MUSAMMAT NANDI v THE CROWN

I L R. 1 Lah. 440

ss. 494, 109—

See MAHOMMEDALY LAW—BIGAMY

I L R. 39 Cal. 409

ss. 494 and 114—

*Abetment of Bigamy—Hindu father marrying his minor daughter to a man after she had been married by her mother to some one else—Validity of former marriage—Hindu Law. Mussamat D, the wife of Ganga Nand, one of the petitioners, having left her husband's house with her minor daughter, performed the marriage of the daughter with one P. The father hearing of this applied to a Magistrate for a warrant under s. 109, Criminal Procedure Code, and thereon the girl was handed over to him, and a few months later she was married by him to one Kirpa Ram, the second petitioner. The father and Kirpa Ram were then prosecuted for abetting the offence of bigamy and convicted. Held that although a Hindu father is the proper person to give his daughter in marriage, the rule is now firmly established that a marriage, which is duly solemnized and is otherwise valid, is not rendered void because it* was brought about without the consent of the guardian in marriage or even in contravention of an express order of the Court. Mussamat Maya Devi v Ram Chand (20 P. R 1916), followed. Held also, that even if the marriage was brought about by fraud and might on that account be declared invalid, it was not a nullity and is binding until it is set aside by a competent Court, and that unless it is declared to be invalid it can sustain an indictment for bigamy and the Petitioners were therefore rightly convicted. GAJJA NAND v CROWN. I L R. 2 Lah. 288

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—*contd.*ss. 494 and 114—contd.

s. 498—Enticing away a married woman—Marriage—Hindu law—Whether marriage legal between a Bania and the illegitimate daughter of a Brahman and a Danya woman. Held, that there was no reason why a marriage between a Banya and the illegitimate daughter of a Brahman father and Banya mother should not be valid according to Hindu law, especially when the marriage was recognized by the caste to which the husband belonged. Padam Kumari v Suraj Kumari, I L R 28 All 453, and In the matter of Ram Kumari, I L R 16 Cal 264, referred to. EMERSON v MADAN GOPAL (1912)

(I L R. 24 All. 589

*Criminal Procedure Code, ss. 4, 193, 238 (3) Complaint—Statement made in Court as witness. Where in a proceeding instituted by the police under s. 366 of the Indian Penal Code, the husband of the woman appeared as a witness and asked the Magistrate trying the case to drop the proceedings under s. 366 as he intended to prosecute the accused under s. 498 of the said Code. Held, that the statement made by the husband, as a witness fell within the definition of complaint as defined in s. 4 cl (A) of the Code of Criminal Procedure and therefore a conviction under s. 498 treating the statement made by the husband as a complaint, was legal. In the matter of Upala Beva, I C L R 523, Queen-Empress v Kangla, I L R 23 All 72, referred to. *EMERSON v BRAHMAN DAS (1913)

I L R. 33 All. 276

*Enticing away a married woman—Quantum of evidence necessary to prove the marriage. The fact and the legality of the marriage are material elements in a case of enticing or taking away or detaining with criminal intent a married woman and must be proved as strictly as any other material facts, but it is not necessary that they should be proved in any particular way. Queen-Empress v Subbarayan, I L R 9 Mad 9, Empress v Pitambar Singh, I L R 5 Cal. 556, Empress of India v Kallu, I L R 5 All. 233, Queen-Empress v Santok Singh, All Weekly Notes, (1895) 156, and Queen-Empress v Dal Singh, I L R 20 All 166 referred to. *EMERSON v NAZIR KHAN (1913)

I L R. 36 All. 1

*To support a conviction under s. 498 strict proof of the marriage is necessary. The mere statement of complainant that he was married to the woman said to have been enticed away is not sufficient. *EMERSON v BODDHY. I L R. 42 All. 401

— s. 499—

See s. 1. I L R. 46 Cal. 388

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.— s 499—contd.

See s 435 . . . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 497

See DEFAMATION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 433

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s 132

I. L. R. 40 All 271

See LIBEL . . . 15 C. W. N. 993

See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1023

See MAGISTRATE, POWER OF

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 68

Defamation—Absolute privilege, doctrine of, applicable under s 499—Accused, statement of, in course of judicial proceedings A person charged with an offence was, on his trial, asked by the Magistrate what he had to say and in reply made a statement defamatory of one of the prosecution witnesses. Held, that the statement was absolutely privileged and that he was not liable to be punished in respect thereof for an offence under s 499, Indian Penal Code. Although the English doctrine of absolute privilege is not expressly recognized in the section it does not necessarily follow that it was the intention of the Legislature to exclude its application from the law of this country. In re VENKATA REDDY (1913) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 216

Defamation—Absolute privilege for statement in complaint to Magistrate A defamatory statement in a complaint to a Magistrate is absolutely privileged. MUTHUSAMI NAIDU, Re (1912) . . . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 110

Defamation—Statement made to the police—Criminal Procedure Code, ss 154 and 155 Statements made to the Police as the result of action taken under s 154 or s 155 of the Code of Criminal Procedure are privileged statements, and as such, cannot be used as evidence or made the foundation of a charge of defamation. Manjaya v Sesha Shetti I. L. R. 11 Mad 427, and Queen Empress v Govinda Pillai, I. L. R. 18 Mad 236, referred to. Further, inasmuch as a statement, in order to be defamatory within the meaning of s 499 of the Indian Penal Code, must be made with a certain intention, a statement made primarily with the object that the person making it should escape from a difficulty cannot be made the subject of a criminal charge merely because it contains matter which may be harmful to the reputation of other people or hurtful to their feelings. FURBER v PARWARI (1919) . . . I. L. R. 41 All 311

Defamation—Absolute privilege, if can be claimed by party to judicial proceeding in respect of statements made in petition filed in Court—Different rules applicable to civil and criminal proceedings—Construction of statute—Illustrations, legitimate use of—Reference to history of legislation how far proper—Dismissal of application for sanction to prosecute for false statements on oath is bar to prosecution for defamation—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss 195, 493 In this country, questions of civil liability for damages for defamation and questions of liability to criminal prosecution do not, for purpose of adjudication stand on the same basis. If a party to a judicial proceeding is prosecuted for defamation in respect of a statement made therein on oath or otherwise, his liability must be determined by reference to the provisions of s. 499, Indian Penal Code. Under the Letters Patent the question must be solved by the application of the provisions of the Indian Penal Code and not otherwise, the Court cannot engraft thereupon exceptions derived from the common law of England or based on grounds of public policy. Consequently a person in such a position is entitled only to the benefit of the qualified privilege mentioned in s 499, Indian Penal Code. If a party to a judicial proceeding is sued in a Civil Court for damages for defamation in respect of a statement made therein on oath or otherwise, his liability in the absence of a statutory rule applicable to the subject must be determined with reference to principles of justice, equity and good conscience. There is a large preponderance of judicial opinion in favour of the view that the principles of justice, equity and good conscience applicable in such circumstances should be identical with the corresponding relevant rules of the Common Law of England. A small minority favours the view that the principles of justice, equity and good conscience should be identical with the rules embodied in the Indian Penal Code. In order to take a case out of the primary rule enunciated in s 499 of the Penal Code and to bring it within either exception 8 or 9 good faith on the part of the person who makes or publishes the imputation must be established. An illustration to a section is useful so far as it helps to furnish some indication of the presumable intention of the legislature and does not bind the Courts to place a meaning on the section which is inconsistent with the language. The Court is bound to administer the law as enunciated by the legislature and neither to enlarge nor to restrict the sphere of its application. Reference to history of legislation can only be legitimately made when reasonable doubt is entertained as to the construction of a statute. The proper course is in the first instance to examine the language of the statute, to interpret it, to ask what is its natural meaning, uninfluenced by any considerations derived from the previous state of the law, to begin with an examination of the previous state of the law on the point is to attack the problem on the wrong end, and it is a grave error to force upon the plain language of the section an interpretation which the words will not bear on the assumption of a supposed policy on the part of the legislature not to depart from the rules of the English law on the subject. The dismissal of an application by a party to a judicial proceeding for sanction to prosecute the Opposite Party under ss 181 and 193 of the Penal Code for statements made by the latter on oath was no bar to the prosecution for the same statements under s 500 of the Penal Code, the prosecution having been started prior to the application for sanction, and its dismissal further not attracting the operation of s 463, Criminal Procedure Code. SATISH CHANDRA CHAKRAVARTI v RAM DAYAL DE (SPE B)

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd.— s 499—contd.

24 C. W. N. 982

— s. 499, Excep. 1, 2, 9 ; s 52—

See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1023

— s. 499, Excep. 9—

See DEFAMATION I. L. R. 41 Calc. 514

PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—contd

ss. 499, 505—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 33
435 AND 439 I L R. 43 All. 497

s. 500—

See SANCTION for PROSECUTION
I L R. 44 Calc. 970

s. 503—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 103.
I L R. 43 All. 67

s. 504—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 106
I L R. 43 Bom 554See PRESS ACT, 1910, s 3
I L R. 39 Mad. 561

Insult intended to provoke breach of the peace—Necessary elements constituting offence—S 95, act causing harm so slight that no person of ordinary sense and temper would complain of such harm A Deputy Magistrate went to a locality to enquire into a petition made by the residents for funds to enable them to dig a well and in the course of a discussion with the people assembled the Deputy Magistrate remarked that as some of the residents were well to-do, they must make the well themselves whereupon the accused who were present there said to the Deputy Magistrate "Then why do you make an enquiry, go away quietly." The accused were convicted under s 504 Indian Penal Code. Held that the ingredients essential for a conviction under s 504 are threefold, first, intentional insult, secondly, provocation therefrom and thirdly intention that such provocation should cause or knowledge that such provocation was likely to cause the person so insulted to break the public peace or to commit any other offence. Held on a consideration of the circumstances of the case that it was completely covered by the salutary provisions of s. 95 Indian Penal Code. JOT KRISHNA SAMAYTA v KING EMPEROR (1916)
21 C. W. N. 95

s 511—

See s 193 . I L R. 37 Bom. 285

See s 417 . I Pat. L. J. 391
4 Pat. L. J. 16

See s 457 I L R. 37 Bom 553

s 511, 124A—Attempt to commit offences—Attempt to commit the offence of sedition—Intention a question of fact Under the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) all that is necessary to constitute an attempt to commit an offence is some external act, something tangible and ostensible of which the law can take hold as an act showing progress towards the actual commission of the offence. It does not matter that the progress was interrupted. An attempt to publish sedition is complete as soon as the accused knowingly sells a copy containing the seditious article. It is now the less an attempt because something external to himself happens which prevents a perusal of the article by the buyers or any other member of the public. In cases of sedition the question of intention is one of fact. EMPEROR v GANESH BALYANT MODAK (1909)
s. L. R. 84 Bom. 378

PENAL PROVISIONS.

—construction of—

See TENANTS IN COMMON
I L R. 39 Mad. 1049PENAL STATUTES

—generally not retrospective—

See TRADING WITH THE ENEMY
I L R. 40 Mad. 34PENALTY.

See APPEAL

I L R. 43 Calc. 1036

See COMPANIES ACT (VI OF 1882), s 74

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s 74

See INTEREST

I L R. 42 Calc. 652, 690

See THEATRICAL PERFORMANCE.

I L R. 44 Calc 1025

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s 83 I L R. 39 Mad. 579

—Penalty Clause not becoming operative—

See INSTALLMENT BYDEED

I L R. 42 Bom. 304

—Security bond—Breach of conditions—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s 74
I L R. 45 Bom. 1213

Court Fees Act (VII of 1870), s 19E—Scope of the section—Suit to recover penalty by Secretary of State, maintainability of—Decision of Revenue authority—Jurisdiction of Civil Court. Unless there is a statutory bar, a suit is maintainable by the Secretary of State for India in Council for recovery of a penalty lawfully imposed. A Civil Court has no jurisdiction to review the decision of Revenue authority on the ground that the valuation had been incorrectly made or that the discretion in the imposition of the penalty had been erroneously exercised. But the position is different when the order for imposition of penalty is assailed on the ground that it has not been made in accordance with the statute. If the action of the Revenue authority is ultra vires, if he has not followed the procedure described by the statute which is the source of his authority, there is no enforceable claim which a Civil Court is bound to recognize. Manekji v Secretary of State for India, (1896). Bom P J 629, followed. S. 19E of the Court Fees Act, 1870 contemplates an application on the part of the person who has taken out probate and produces the same to be duly stamped. It further contemplates that the estimated value of the estate is less than what the value has after wards proved to be. A G v Fraser 21 Price 253, Bradlaugh v Clarke, L R 3 A C 351, Conthorne v Campbell, 1 And 221, In the goods of Emily Biber, 1 L R 26 Calc 407, In the goods of Stevenson, 6 C W N 397, referred to NIKENJA PARI CHOWDHURANI v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1915)
I L R. 43 Calc 230

Interest, exorbitant rate of—Inference by Court—Court's power to reduce rate of interest—Mortgage—Release of one joint mortgagor, effect of—Contract Act (IX of 1872) ss 44, 74 It is competent to a Court to grant relief whenever the stipulation for payment of interest

PENALTY—contd.

at a specified rate appears to the Court to be a stipulation by way of penalty. What constitutes a stipulation by way of penalty must be determined in each individual case upon its own special circumstances. Welsler v Boenguet, [1912] 4 G 391, Khagaram Das v. Ramsankar Das Promank, 1 L R 42 Calc. 652, Bowang Raj Chellaphroo Chowdhuri v Banga Behari Sen, 20 G W N 403, Abdul Majeed v Khrode Chandra Pal, 1 L R 42 Calc 690, and Gopeshwar Saha v Jadav Chandra Chanda, 1 L R 43 Calc. 632, referred to Per SANDERSON, C. J. The release of one of several joint mortgagors with no express reservation of the mortgagee's remedy against the other mortgagors, does not ipso facto release the other mortgagors. KRISHNA CHARAN BARMAN v SANAT KUMAR DAS (1016). 1 L R. 44 Calc. 162

COMPARE HINDU LAW (MINOR)

2 Pat. L. J. 212

PENSION.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s 10

4 Pat. L. J. 557

See PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871)

PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871).

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s 9, SCH II, s 20

1 L. E. 37 Bom. 442

ss. 3, 4, 6, 8—Pension—Definition—Grant of village by Government revenue free—Wajid-ul-az—Construction of document—Condition purporting to restrain alienation. Held, that a grant of zamindari, the revenue of which is remitted by the Government, is not a pension within the meaning of s 3 of the Pensions Act, 1871, and no certificate is necessary under s 6 to institute a suit with respect to it. Nor can an entry in the wajid-ul-az to the effect that "no co sharer is competent to transfer property" standing by itself, have the effect of making such property untransferable. Ganpat Rao v Anand Rao, 1 L R 23 All 104, 32 All. 148, and Lockam Narayan v Makund Singh, 1 L R 26 All 617, referred to. MANNU LAL v FAZI, IMAM (1911). 1 L. R. 33 All. 580

— s. 4—

See SARANJAM 1 L. R. 41 Bom. 403

See SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA

1 L. R. 38 Calc. 378

Collector—Certificate of Collector—Civil Court—Jurisdiction—Suit for declaration for share in cash allowance—Deshpande Kulkarni v Vatan. The plaintiffs sued for a declaration that they were owners of a share in the Deshpande Kulkarni Vatan which consisted of a cash allowance paid annually from the Government Treasury. They did not produce a certificate from the Collector as required by s 4 of the Pensions Act (XXIII of 1871). Held, that the suit in the absence of a certificate from the Collector could not be entertained in a Civil Court owing to the provisions of s 4 of the Pensions Act, 1871, inasmuch as the suit was clearly one relating to a pension or grant of money conferred by the British Government. Babaji Hari v Rajaram Balkal, 1 L R 1 Bom 75, followed. Gorind Sit-

PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871)—contd.

— s. 4—contd.

ram v. Bapuji Mahadeo, 1 L R 18 Bom 516, distinguished. DWARAKANATH AMRIT v MAHADEO BALEKRISHNA (1912). 1 L. R. 37 Bom. 91

Kulkarni vatan—Land revenue assigned for the office of Kulkarni—Suit for a share in the revenue—Civil Court—Jurisdiction. A suit by a member of a Vatan family for a declaration of his right as owner of a certain share in the land revenue assigned for the purpose of supporting the office of Kulkarni, is a suit falling within the purview of s 4 of the Pensions Act, 1871, and is not maintainable without a certificate from the Collector. BALEKRISHNA SANDHAI v DATTA TRAYA MAHADEV (1917). 1 L. R. 42 Bom. 257

No distinct grant of land revenue—Section, no bar—Hereditary Village Offices Act (Mad Act III of 1895), s 21, in "any claim to recover emoluments of an office," meaning of—Regulation VI of 1831—No jurisdiction for Revenue Courts to decide what are emoluments or to decree possession—Res judicata S 4 of the Pensions Act (XXIII of 1871) is a bar to a civil suit only where the Court is able to hold that there was distinct grant of the land revenue itself, and where there is nothing to show that in the hands of Government before the grant of the inam, the land was treated as liable for the payment of land revenue or that the Government intended to split up its ownership into mekaram and kudiram or to make a distinct grant of the land revenue, s 4 of the Pensions Act cannot have any application with reference to a suit for the recovery of such land alleged to have been granted as inam. Her Highness Mathu Sri Jijamba Bai Sahib v Secretary of State (Appeal No 10 of 1903) explained and followed. The words "any claim to recover the emoluments of an office." The Madras Hereditary Village Offices Act (Mad Act III of 1895), s 21, can only mean a claim to recover what in fact are the emoluments of an office or possibly what are claimed by the plaintiff to be the emoluments of an office, and cannot by any rule of construction be extended to include a claim to recover what the plaintiff denies to be the emoluments of an office but what the defendant alleges to be such emoluments. Kottaram Narasimhulu v Narasimhulu Patnaidu, 1 L. R. 39 Mad 126, explained and distinguished. Under Madras Regulation VI of 1831, which was repealed by Madras Act III of 1895, the Revenue Courts had no jurisdiction to decide what were the emoluments of an office or to declare possession against a person alleged to be a trespasser. Hence neither s 21 of Act III of 1895 nor Regulation VI of 1831 is bar to the suit. Ravutha Aowdan v Muthu Koundan, 1 L R 13 Mad 41, referred to. Therefore a decision under the Regulation VI of 1831 cannot operate as res judicata with reference to a suit for lands in a civil Court. SECRETARY OF STATE v DUDARAYUDU (1913), 1 L. R. 36 Mad. 559

ss. 4, 5, 6—Suit for a declaration affecting the liability of Government—Jurisdiction of civil Court. The plaintiff came into Court claiming in effect a declaration that he was entitled to be considered as the assignee of the Government revenue payable in respect of certain property as being the reversioner to one Dalpat Rai, who was the last assignee. He produced a certificate purporting to be a certificate under s 6 of the Pensions Act, 1871, but it was a certificate granted in respect of some former litigation between the plaintiff and a rival claimant to the property held, that the suit as framed could not be entered without the production of a certificate in conformity with s 6 of Act No. XXIII of 1871, that the certificate produced was not in conformity with s 6 of the said Act, and that in any case it would be impossible to pass a decree in favour of the plaintiff without affecting the liability of Government to pay such grant within the meaning of the section. The Secretary of State for India v Momant 1 L R 49 Cal 331 distinguished. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v JAWAHIR LAL (1915) . 1 L R 37 All 333

PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871)—contd.— ss 4, 5, 6—contd.

Suit to recover Sardeshmukhi Haq—Pensions and grants in Ratnagiri District—Pensions Act whether ultra vires—Bombay Regulation (XXIX of 1827), s 6—Civil Court—Jurisdiction. Plaintiff filed a suit against Government to recover two per cent Sardeshmukhi Haq on certain villages in Ratnagiri District not on the old Jambhandi but on survey assessment. The District Judge held that the suit was barred under s 4 of the Pensions Act, 1871. On appeal it was contended that the Pensions Act so far as it dealt with pensions and grants of land revenue in Ratnagiri District was ultra vires. Held that the Pensions Act was not ultra vires and that the suit was barred under s 4 of the Act. Secretary of State for India v Momant, (1912) L R 40 I A 45, distinguished. Varadw Salaslu Modak v Collector of Ratnagiri (1877) L R 4 I A 112 relied on. The Pensions Act could not be ultra vires unless it was established that a suit would have lain against the East India Company on a grant of land revenue. But such a suit would not lie inasmuch as the East India Company exercised sovereign rights in collecting land revenue. If they chose to grant any share of that land revenue to individuals, they did so, not as a mere matter of contract in the ordinary affairs of life, but in the exercise of sovereign rights. MADHAVRAO MORESHWAR v THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1920) 1 L R 45 Bom. 198

— s. 6—

Sanad, construction of—Certificate giving Court jurisdiction to try suit—Grant of soil of village not a grant of land revenue—Non production of certificate at time of institution of suit—Grant on payment of quit rent. A village, portion of the subject of a suit for partition, was granted to the ancestor of the parties by Maharaja Scindia of Gwalior in 1801 and the grant was confirmed in 1869 by the British Government in a sanad which declared that the village in question "shall be continued to the grantee and his heirs inclusive of all lands, allowances and rights belonging to others so long as he and his heirs shall continue loyal to the British Government, and shall pay Rs. 800 to Government as a quit rent." In a later portion of the sanad there was a guarantee against any further payment by the holder "on account of Imperial Land Revenue beyond the amount specified" and a declaration that the village and its holder shall be liable for any local taxation which may be imposed on the district generally. Held (affirming the decision of the High Court) that the sanad was not a grant of Land Revenue but of the soil of the village itself, and therefore the Pensions Act (XXIII of 1871) did not apply; but, even if it did, the Subordinate Judge had rightly held that an order made by the Revenue Court referring the plaintiff (respondent) to a suit in the Civil Court was equivalent to a certificate under s 6. Semle. The non production of a certificate under s 6 of the Pensions Act at the time of the institution of a suit for which such a certificate is necessary, is not a bar to the maintenance of the suit, but is a defect which may be cured by obtaining the certificate at a later stage of the proceedings. GARNEY RAO v ANANT RAO (1909) . 1 L R 32 All 148

PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871)—contd.— s. 6—contd.

Saranjam—Grant of land revenue—Suit to recover—Collector's certificate—Admission of pleader binding on client—Preliminary decree—Appeal—Remand—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r 23. The grantee of a Saranjam filed a suit for the recovery thereof and at the trial a preliminary issue was raised as to the maintainability of the suit without the certificate provided for by s 6 of the Pensions Act. The grantee's pleader admitted a certificate was necessary but after several adjournments for the purpose failed to produce a certificate. A decree was thereupon passed on the preliminary issue dismissing the suit. On appeal by the grantee it was contended that he was not bound by the admission of the pleader and it was stated that such evidence could be produced as would render a certificate unnecessary. Held, that the grantee was bound by the admission of his pleader and that even if he was not so bound there was no material before the Court to justify a reversal of the decree and therefore a remand under O XXI, r 23 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) was impossible. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the grant of a Saranjam must be presumed to be a grant of land revenue and not of the soil. Bamchandra v Venkatarao, 1 L R 6 Bom 593, and Raja Bommadetara Venkata Narasimha Aidi v Raja Bommadetara Eshwara Kuria Naidu, L R 29 I A 76 referred to. DATTATRAYA GHOPADE v NILKANTHAO (1914) 1 L R 39 Bom. 352

— ss 6, 8—

See s 3 . 1 L R 33 All 580

— ss. 6, 8, 11—Toda grant allowance—Purchase of the rights to receive allowance at a Court-sale—The allowance entered in the name of the purchaser—Application by heirs of the purchaser to receive arrears of allowance—Certificate of Collector. It was directed by a decree that the purchaser at a Court sale of a Toda grant allowance should recover from the Collector the amount due for arrears of the allowance from the date of his purchase. An application to execute this decree was made in 1864, in consequence of which the decree holder's name was entered in the Collector's books as the person entitled to the allowance in question, and the arrears up to 1864 were paid. In 1903, the decree holder's heirs applied to the Court to recover the arrears of allowance that had remained unpaid since 1868. The Collector contended that the application could not be entertained in the absence of a certificate from the Collector under the provisions of s. 6

PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871)—contd.

ss. 6, 8, 11—contd.

of the Pensions Act, 1871. Held, overruling the contention, that the power of the Collector under the Act had been exhausted and there was no discretion for that officer to exercise either under the Act or the rules, so far as the applicant's right to recover the arrears that had become due in the life-time of the last holder, was concerned. Held, further, that if those amounts remained unpaid, the Collector held them for and on behalf of the last holder, as moneys due to him, and as moneys therefore recoverable on his death by his heirs independently of any question which might arise under the Pensions Act, 1871, or the rules framed thereunder. CHHAGANLAL v. PRANJIVAN (1909) . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 154

s. 11—Pension—Grant of land by Government—Construction of document—Execution of decree—Civil Procedure Code (1908), s. 60(g). The Government "for political considerations" granted certain property to the original grantee for life and to his descendants as an absolute estate. Held, that such grant did not constitute a political pension within the meaning of s. 60 (g) of the Code of Civil Procedure, and that the land so granted was not exempt from attachment and sale in execution of a decree. Held, also, that the rights of the parties to whom the grant had been made by the Government must be determined by reference to the original sanad conferring title on the grantee and his descendants, and the opinions expressed by certain Revenue Officers as to its meaning were irrelevant on a question of the construction of the document. Lachmi Narain v. Makund Singh, I L R 36 All 617, and Anna Bai v. Najm un nissa, I L R 31 All 332, followed. KANIZ FATIMA BEGAM v. SARINA BEGUM (1914) . . . I. L. R. 36 All. 318

PERFORMANCE.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XXIII, R 3

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 959

Time for—

See PROCEDURE.

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 832

PERGANA REGISTER.

See LAKHURAJ LAL.

I. L. R. 45 Cal. 574

PERILS OF THE SEA.

See INSURANCE . 16 C. W. N. 891

PERIOD.

expiry of the—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, s. 67

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 462

PERJURY.

See DEPOSITION I L R. 46 Cal. 895

See BENGAL EVIDENCE ACT, s. 16.

15 C. W. N. 169

See FRAUD . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 203

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1960), ss. 52, 191, 193

I. L. R. 38 All. 382

PERJURY—contd.

abatement of, before Magistrate—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 195 I. L. R. 42 Bom. 190

Arising from contradictory statements—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), ss. 236, 195, 537 (b) AND 164
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 834

sanction to prosecute for, not deniable in public interests—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 195
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 564

In deposition before Civil Court, not read out to deponent—

See PENAL CODE, 1860, s. 193

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 361

Sanction for prosecution—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 195—Conditional sanction. A sanction to prosecute for perjury given under s. 195, Criminal Procedure Code, cannot be conditional. RE MUNEYIA (1913) . . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 471

Witness—Deposition not read over to witness in the hearing of accused or his pleader but read by witness himself—Inadmissibility of deposition in subsequent trial for giving false evidence—Proceeding against witness—Preliminary inquiry—Omission to record statements of witnesses examined thereat—Order for prosecution not containing assignment of the false statements—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) ss. 360 (1), 476—Practice. S. 360 (1) of the Criminal Procedure Code requires the evidence of a witness to be read over to him in the hearing of the accused or his pleader, so as to enable the latter to correct any mistakes in it. The reading of the deposition by the witness himself is not a compliance with the section, and renders the record of it inadmissible in a subsequent trial against him under s. 193 of the Penal Code. Mahendra Nath Musur v. Emperor, 12 C. W. N. 815, and Jyotish Chandra Mukerjee v. Emperor, I L R 36 Cal. 955, followed. Although s. 476 of the Criminal Procedure Code does not expressly provide for the manner in which the preliminary enquiry thereunder is to be recorded, a summary of the statements of the witnesses examined thereat should be made. An order under the same section, directing the prosecution of a person for giving false evidence, should set out the statements alleged to be false. EMPEROR v. JOGENDRA NATH GHOSH (1914) . . . I. L. R. 42 Cal. 240

Power of High Court to direct prosecution when false evidence given before the committing Magistrate in the Mofussil—Nearest first class Magistrate—Presidency Magistrate—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 476—Practice. Where a witness examined during the trial of a prisoner at the Original Criminal Sessions of the High Court has intentionally made false statements before the committing officer at B in the district of Alipore, the High Court has jurisdiction, under s. 476 of the Criminal Procedure Code, to send the case of the witness for inquiry or trial to the District Magistrate of Alipore as the nearest Magistrate of the first class. Kedar Nath Kar v. King Emperor, 3 C.

PERJURY—cond.

Emperor distinguished Emperor & Trustees
Shankar Sarkar 1 L. R. 37 Calc 618 L. J. 357
 DONALDSON (1910) 1 L. R. 43 Calc 642

PERMANENCY OF RENT

— presumption of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
 1 L. R. 44 Calc 930

PERMANENT AGRICULTURAL TENURE

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
 1 L. R. 37 Calc 723

PERMANENT HEREDITARY TENURE

See MINES AND MINERALS
 1 L. R. 44 Calc 583

PERMANENT IMPROVEMENTS

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER
 1 L. R. 37 Calc 362

PERMANENT LEASE

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION
 1 L. R. 43 Calc 1118

See HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT
 1 L. R. 42 Calc 536

See LEASE 1 L. R. 43 Calc 332

See LIMITATION 1 L. R. 43 Calc 34

PERMANENT RIGHT OF OCCUPANCY

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT 1908
 1 L. R. 44 Mad. 856

PERMANENT SETTLEMENT

See CHAUVIDARI CHAKKAN LANDS
 1 L. R. 44 Calc 841

See FISHERY 1 L. R. 42 Calc 489

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (VII of 1865) s. 1 1 L. R. 38 Mad. 997
 s. 14 PROS. 1 AND 2.

1 L. R. 40 Mad. 893

See MADRAS REGULATION XAV OF 1900
 1 L. R. 44 Mad. 864

See REGULATION I OF 1793
 15 C. W. N. 300

PERMANENT TENANCY

See BHAGDARI ACT (BOM. ACT V OF 1900) s. 3
 1 L. R. 23 Bom. 679

See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM. ACT V OF 1879) s. 83
 1 L. R. 38 Bom. 716

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
 1 L. R. 47 Calc 1 and 280

See LEASE 1 L. R. 43 Calc. 332

See SUB LEASE
 1 L. R. 48 Calc 783

See TITLE SUIT FOR
 1 L. R. 37 Calc. 602

— by occupancy raiyat—
See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1885 s. 85
 25 C. W. N. 4

PERMANENT TENANCY—cond.

— if may be granted by raiyat at fixed rent—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1885 ss. 11
 12 18 AND 85 25 C. W. N. 9

— power of head of moul to grant—

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT
 1 L. R. 40 Mad. 745

— Adverse possession—Necessity of notice to the landlord—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
 1 L. R. 45 Bom. 503

— Adverse possession of tenant against mortgagee—Whether can run adversely against mortgagor—

See ADVERSE POSSESSION
 1 L. R. 45 Bom. 681

1 — Building lease—Lease construction of—Permanency inference as to—Dwelling house—Long possess on The mere facts that a lease of land was for dwelling purposes and that the lessee have been allowed to remain in possession of the land on payment of rent for a long period would not in themselves be sufficient to establish the permanent nature of the tenancy where there is nothing to show that the building was contemplated to be or in fact was a masonry building BARADA PRASAD BARNAL & PRANAKO KUMAR DAS (1912) 16 C. W. N. 564

2 — Lease—Presumption of permanency—Lease for building purpose—Long possession—Uniform rent—Permanency question of mixed law and fact—Second appeal Where the origin of a tenancy was unknown and it was established (i) that the original tenant and his successor had been in occupation of the land for over a xty years, (i) that the rent had never been varied (ii) that the tenancy had been treated by the landlord as heritable and (v) that the land was let out for residential purposes the inference was held to be legitimate that the tenancy at its inception was permanent. The question of the nature of the tenancy is a mixed question of fact and law the inference as to the nature of the tenancy from the facts found is a question of law which can be gone into on second appeal MONA RAM CHATRAJI & TELAMUDDIN BHAK (1911) 16 C. W. N. 567

PERMANENTLY SETTLED ESTATE

See BENGAL TENANCY
 1 L. R. 48 Calc 473

See LAND TENURE IN MADRAS
 1 L. R. 46 I. A. 38

See RESERVED FOREST
 1 L. R. 47 Calc 839

PERPETUAL INJUNCTION

See INJUNCTION 1 L. R. 37 Calc. 781

See TRUST 1 L. R. 41 Calc. 19

PERPETUITIES

See CHARITABLE TRUST
 1 L. R. 49 Calc. 124

See PRESCRIPTION
 1 L. R. 38 Mad 114

PERPETUITIES—couldSee PUTTEE LEASE

14 C. W. N. 601

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV of 1882), s 54 I. L. R. 39 Mad. 492*See* WILL . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 199

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 192

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 485

— applicable to Hindu Law—

See PRE EMPTION I. L. R. 38 Mad. 114*See* HINDU LAW 25 C. W. N. 148*Rule against—Covenant* to run with the land An agreement to grant at an indefinite time in the future whatever land might be required by the other party to the agreement is void as offending the rule against perpetuities MAHARAJ BAHADUR SINGH v BALCHAND CHOWDHURY L. R. 48 I. A. 376

6 Pat. L. J. 163

PERSONÆ INCERTÆ.See HINDU LAW—WILL

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 87

15 C. W. N. 945

PERSONAL ACTION.

— whether criminal proceedings abate on death of person assaulted—

See PENAL CODE, 1860, ss 304 AND 323

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 27

Abatement—Death of plaintiff after obtaining a decree in his favour—Whether his legal representatives can carry on an appeal. One D R sold his land in 1908 P, a collateral of D R, brought the present suit for possession on the allegation that the sale was without consideration and necessity. The first Court decreed plaintiff's claim on payment of Rs 830, being the part of the consideration which it held to have been legally proved. Both parties appealed. During pendency of the appeals P died leaving no heirs except his two widows, whose names were brought on the record as legal representatives of the deceased. The lower Appellate Court was of opinion that the right of P, being personal, his widows could not carry on the appeal which was therefore held to have abated and was dismissed. The Court also held that the vendee's appeal must under the circumstances succeed. The widows appealed to the High Court. Held, that judgment having been obtained before plaintiff's death the benefit of it survived to his legal representatives and that the lower Appellate Court must therefore hear the appeals on their merits. Muhammad Hussain v Aluchala, (I. L. R. 9 All 131, F B) Subbaraya Mudali v Manika Mudali, (I. L. R. 19 Mad 345) and Gopal Ganesh v Pam Chandra, (I. L. R. 26 Bom 597), followed. MUSAMMAT RAN KAU v JIWAN SINGH

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 189

PERSONAL COVENANT.See LIMITATION. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 234PERSONAL DEBT.See* PUTTEE TRUST

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 747

PERSONAL DECREE.See CHARGE . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 493*See* DECREE HOLDER

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 677

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV of 1882), s 90. I. L. R. 34 Bom. 540

— against sub-mortgagee—

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 45 Calc. 702PERSONA DESIGNATA.See* NAIKINS I. L. R. 37 Bom. 116PERSONAL INAM.See* MADRAS FOREST ACT (XXI of 1882), ss 6, 10, 16, 17

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 494

PERSONAL LIABILITY.See EXECUTOR I. L. R. 45 Calc. 538*See* FOREIGN JUDGMENT

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 414

PESHKOSH.

1. ———— Abwab—Antiquity and purpose of payment—Contractual foundation—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss 74, 30 (c)—Public Demands Recovery Act (Beng I of 1895) Where the Collector in execution of a certificate issued under the Public Demands Recovery Act, realised from the plaintiffs certain charges described as peshkosh levied on two estates from time immemorial, and the plaintiff sued for a declaration that it was illegal and prayed for the cancellation of the certificate for the refund of the amount thereunder, and for a perpetual injunction restraining the defendant from levying the peshkosh in future. Held, that peshkosh could not be regarded as an imposition in the nature of an abwab within the meaning of the various provisions enacted on that subject. Such payment came out of the land and the right thereto was an interest in the land to which a title might be made by prescription. Held, also, that the peculiar situation and character of the land and antiquity and purpose of the payment all pointed to a legitimate, contractual foundation. Uday Narain Jana v The Secretary of State for India in Council, (1915) S A No 44 of 1912 (unreported) referred to. LAKSHMI NARAYAN ROY v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1918) I. L. R. 45 Calc. 666

2. ———— Peshkosh or an annual sum levied by Government for upkeep of embankment, if abwab An annual sum levied by Government for the upkeep of embankments is not an abwab. Long continued payment from time immemorial which in itself is a title in the recipient of the payment is a good and sufficient basis of the claim. UDAY NARAIN JANA v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1915) 22 C. W. N. 823

PETITION.

— delay in filing divorce—

See DIVORCE ACT (IV of 1869), s 14.

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 38

— for winding up Company—

See COMPANY . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 16, 47PETITION OF COMPROMISE.See* COMPROMISE I. L. R. 45 Calc. 616

PETROLEUM ACT (VIII OF 1899).

ss. 11 and 15—Keeping in possession a quantity exceeding the maximum allowed by law—Liability of a licensee for the acts of his servant or agent in the absence of finding of guilty knowledge on his own part—Petroleum Act (VIII of 1899), ss. 11 and 15 (a) A licensee is not, in the absence of a finding by the Court that he knew that more than 500 gallons of petroleum were being transported at one time on his license, and that he allowed the same to take place with such knowledge by his servant, criminally liable, under s. 11 and 15 (a) of the Indian Petroleum Act (VIII of 1899), for the acts of the latter done in contravention of the law. Though the Act provides a personal penalty the only person that can be punished is the one who keeps petroleum or carries it about or puts more than 500 gallons at one place. GANPAT RAI v. EMERSON (1912)
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 359

PIAL.

over a drain, right to—

See MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 6

PICKETING

See MARKET FRANCHISE

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1079

PIECEMEAL ACQUISITION.

See LAND ACQUISITION

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 892

PIECEMEAL TRIAL.

See RAILWAY . . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 313

PILGRIM BUSINESS.

profits from—

See RECEIVER . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 678

PILGRIMAGE.

See HINDU LAW—LEGAL NECESSITY

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 88

PITRAI CHELA.

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 188

PLACE OF EXAMINATION—

See EXAMINATION ON COMMISSION

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 448

PLACE OF SUING.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s. 20.

I. L. R. 42 All. 480, 619

PLAINT.

See AMENDMENT OF PLAINT

I. L. R. 36 All. 370

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O VI and VII

See COURT FEE . . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 370

See PLEADINGS . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 856

See PRACTICE . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 244

amendment of—

See APPEAL . . . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 95

See CAUSE OF ACTION

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 787

PLAINT—could amendment of—could.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 250

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1903—

s. 9 . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 690

s. 92 . . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 168

O VI, r. 17 . . . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 378

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 515

See CONTRACT . . . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 458

See COURT FEE . . . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 352

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION

5 Pat. L. J. 164

See IDOL . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 735

See LIMITATION, ACT, 1877, s. 8

14 C. W. N. 123

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s. 3

I. L. R. 33 All. 616

See LIS PENDENS

I. L. R. 41 All. 534

See PARTIES . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 229

See PARTITION, SUIT FOR.

I. L. R. 33 Calc. 681

See PRE EMPTION I. L. R. 38 All. 573

See PROCEDURE I. L. R. 48 Calc. 832

See REMAND . . . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 938

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, s. 42

25 C. W. N. 552

See U. P. COURT OF WARDS ACT (III OF

1890), s. 48 . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 13

authority to file—

See PRACTICE . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 343

construction of—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877),

s. 9 . . . I. L. R. 40 All. 637

order returning—for presentation in

Proper Court—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s. 104,

O XLIII, r. 1 . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 74

s. 115 I. L. R. 43 All. 324

presentation of—

See MADRAS ESTATES' LAND ACT (I OF

1908), s. 192 . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 295

rejection of—

See COURT FEE . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 615

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 352

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURT

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 267

See JUDICIAL OFFICERS' PROTECTION ACT

(XVIII OF 1850), s. 1

I. L. R. 39 All. 516

Return of for presentation in proper

Court—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 104,

O XLIII, r. 10 I. L. R. 36 All. 53

I. L. R. 43 All. 334

See LIMITATION ACT (IV OF 1908), s. 14

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 443

suit against Receiver—

See HIGH COURT, I. L. R. 44 Bom. 903

PLAINT—contd.

Verification of —

See EX PARTE DECREE

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 1001

Amendment—Plaint, amendment of. by party to whom it is returned for proper valuation A plaintiff, to whom a plaint was returned for properly valuing the properties claimed therein, altered the valuation as directed therein and struck out some of the properties to bring the suit within the jurisdiction of the Court. Held, that there was nothing illegal in the amendment and that it was competent to the Court to accept such amended plaint. KARUMBAYIRA PONNA FUNDAN v. AUTHIMOOLA PONNAPUNDAN (1909)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 282

Leave to file—given by Registrar—Representation—Limitation, error of procedure, rectification within time, delay in completion of order and recording the representation of plaint. Where on leave being asked for in the plaint under cl. 12 of the Charter the Registrar on the Original Side of the High Court, under a misapprehension of the change in procedure with regard to the filing of plaints, gave such leave but on discovery of the fact that the Registrar had no authority to grant such leave, the plaint was withdrawn on the 15th August 1907 and was immediately after presented before a Judge sitting on the Original Side who gave the leave and endorsed on the plaint "presented 15th August 1907," but there was delay in the office in completing the order, and stamps were supplied upon requisition from the office on the 14th December 1907, and it was recorded in the office and also re-endorsed on the plaint that the plaint was re-registered and filed on the 18th December 1907, on objection being taken by the defendant that the suit was barred by limitation. Held (by CHAUDHURI, J.), that the 15th of August 1907, as recorded by the Judge on the plaint, was the date of its presentation and the suit was not barred by limitation. OSMOND DEEZY v. KSHITISH CHANDRA ACHARYA CHAUDHURI (1914) . . . 18 C. W. N. 631

Form of plaint—Suit against Corporations—Defendant, misdescription of—Service on Corporations—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XXIX, rr 1 and 2—Practice. In a plaint filed against two companies, the defendant companies were described as "the India General Steam Navigation and Railway Company, Limited, and the Rivers Steam Navigation Company, Limited by their joint agent A. E. Rogers" and notice was served on Mr. Rogers. Subsequently Mr. Rogers retired from the service of companies and left the country. At the trial of this suit the plaint was amended and Mr. Rogers' name was omitted from the title of the suit which was proceeded with against the two companies. Held, that the plaint as originally framed was in contravention of O XXIX, r 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Ram Das Sain v. Stephenson & W. R. 356, Aubergh Chunder Paul v. Stephenson, 15 W. R. 534, and Campbell v. Jackson, 1 L. R. 12 Cal. 41, referred to. Held, also, that the amendment might stand but the plaintiffs were bound to serve notices of the suit in the manner provided in O XXIX, r 2, after the amendment had been made and the suit properly constituted. INDIA GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION AND RAILWAY COMPANY, LD v. LAL MOHAN SAHA (1915) . . . I. L. R. 43 Cal. 441

PLAINT—concl.

Amendment of plaint—Procedure—Suit barred by limitation when change in its nature is made by amendment—Discretion to allow amendment—Valuation of suit—Judicial Committee, practice of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O VI, r 17. Where there is admittedly a power to allow an amendment of the plaint, though such power should not as a rule be exercised where its effect is to take away from a defendant a legal right which has accrued to him by lapse of time, yet there are cases where such considerations are outweighed by the special circumstances of the case. Mohammad Zahoor Ali Khan v. Rutia Aker, 11 Moo 1 A 463, referred to. The suits which gave rise to the present appeals were instituted by the three first respondents claiming a declaration that they were entitled to certain right of pre-emption against the several appellants (defendants) who were vendees of certain shares and interests in the properties to which the suits related, but none of the plaintiffs claimed possession of the property sold and the usual consequential relief. The defendants in their defence admitted the plaintiffs' right to pre-emption, but objected that a mere claim to such a right was not a claim to any right of property within the meaning of s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) and that the right to pre-emption could not be enforced by a mere declaratory decree. The Subordinate Judge and the first Appellate Court refused to permit an amendment to the plaints by adding a claim for possession after pre-emption on the ground that a suit to enforce a right to pre-emption was barred by lapse of time. The Court of the Judicial Commissioner on second appeal allowed the amendment to be made, there being no reason to suppose that the plaintiffs had acted otherwise than bona fide, and the amendment not making any alteration in the nature of the relief prayed for. Held, that the discretion exercised in allowing the amendment should not be interfered with. Held, also, that the Board will not interfere with any question of valuation unless it can be shown that some items has been improperly made the subject of valuation or excluded therefrom or that there is some fundamental principle affecting the valuation which renders it unsound. On the mere question of the value of admitted items their Lordships will not interfere. Nor will they allow an argument based upon an assertion that the valuation has proceeded on an erroneous footing to be raised on appeal to the Board unless it was raised before the Judicial Commissioner, and if it were so raised the fact that it is not referred to in the written statement of the party raising it, is a good and sufficient reason why it should not be introduced at this late stage of the proceedings. CHARAN DAS v. AMIR KHAN (1920)

I. L. R. 48 Cal. 110

PLAINTIFF

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1908), O XXII, rr 3, 6

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 168

See INSOLVENT PLAINTIFF

—death of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1908), s 92. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 110

PLAINTIFF—contd—non-appearance of—

See APPEAL I. L. R. 27 Calc. 426

See NON APPEARANCE

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 57

—substitution of—

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 43 I. A. 113

20 C. W. N. 833

PLANTERS LABOUR ACT (MAD. I OF 1903)

See MADRAS PLANTERS LABOUR ACT 1903.

—s 24, 35—Imprisonment for refusal to perform contract, extent of Prosecutions and punishments under the Planters' Labour Act (Mad Act I of 1903) cannot continue indefinitely. Only two terms of imprisonment may be awarded once under s 24 and again once under s 35. The refusal of a mistry or a labourer under s 35 to perform his contract cannot be treated as a temporary refusal. Re PANGA MAISTRY (1913) I. L. R. 36 Mad. 497

FLEA OF GUILTY.

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860).

s 415

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 842

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 867

PLEADER

See BOMBAY REGULATION II OF 1827,

s 59

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 354

See DEFAMATION I. L. R. 41 Calc. 514

See LEGAL PRACTITIONER.

14 C. W. N. 521

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT

See PRACTICE I. L. R. 34 Bom. 408

See UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

—admission by—

See PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871)

s 6

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 352

—as Diligent—

See UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 885

—contempt of Court, by—

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT (XVIII

OF 1879), s 14

I. L. R. 39 Mad 1045

—defamatory statement by Judge—

See JUDICIAL OFFICERS PROTECTION

ACT 1850

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1089

—duty of—

See CONTEMPT OF COURT

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 443

—status and duty of—

See HIGH COURT I. L. R. 44 Bom. 418

—engaging in trade without intimating to Court—

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS' ACT (XVIII

OF 1879), s 13

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 233

1. —Pleader, right of retainer of—Has no right to retain moneys in one cause for*—due in another cause. A pleader in India has no*PLEADER—contd.

right of retainer in moneys realised by him in one cause for his dues in other causes conducted by him. NARAYANASWAMI NAIDU v. CHELLAPALLI KANUMALLU (1909) I. L. R. 33 Mad. 255

2. —Pleader's authority to compromise—Dewan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879), s 12—Compromise of the case—Court's duty to record the compromise—Pleader's compromising without authority from his client—client to apply to cancel the compromise. Where a party complains that compromise effected in his name was unauthorized, he must move the Court to cancel all that has been done and to revive the suit. PERAJI v. GANAPATI (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 502

3. —Duty towards client—Pleader in the mofussil—Winding up proceedings—Pleader must not represent part to whose interest are conflicting—Bombay Regulation II of 1827, s 59. By the custom of the mofussil a pleader employed by a party to a proceeding before a Court is bound faithfully and exclusively to serve that party throughout the whole proceeding. The pleader in the mofussil is not merely an advocate—he is the confidential legal adviser of his client and does for him those things which in the presidency towns are often done by solicitors. For legal advice, for the prosecution of legal proceedings in all their stages the client depends on the pleader. This dependence makes the position of the pleader peculiarly onerous and binds him to give exclusive attention to the interest of the client throughout any proceedings in which he is engaged. In winding up proceedings, a single pleader must not represent two different creditors whose interests are known to conflict. A pleader must not accept a vakalatnama when he knows that he cannot act for his client throughout the proceedings. A pleader in defending himself against charges of professional misconduct made certain statements. He was dealt with under the disciplinary jurisdiction for making them. It was contended in his behalf that the statements made by him in defence must be regarded as having been made by an accused and were therefore protected. Held overruling the contention, that the pleader was writing to the Court as a pleader and was responsible as such for the statements made by him. GOVERNMENT PLEADER v. BHAGURAT DAYANATH (1912) I. L. R. 38 Bom. 606.

4. —Suspension of vakil. Under s 95 of the Appellate S. des rule of the Madras High Court, pleaders 'are responsible to the Registrar for all translations and printing charges incurred by him on their behalf'. To that extent therefore, the vakil must co-operate in the conduct of the suit with the Registrar, and with the Court under those regulations, and vakils have also the general function applicable not only to the bar in general but also to solicitors at large, that they must in the conduct of all suits entrusted to them co-operate with the Court in the orderly and pure administration of justice. In a proceeding in the High Court to restore an appeal which had been struck off for non-payment of the printing charges, it appeared that the vakil for the appellant, though the money for that specific purpose had been received in his office from his client, had omitted to pay it to the Registrar, had not made any true and proper explanation to his client of the cause of the appeal being struck off but had allowed letters written by his clerks to go from his office to the client, and had even written one himself, which would lead him to believe that the appeal had been heard and dismissed in due course, and had also not given the Court, on the earliest possible opportunity any reason for his absence when the appeal was called on, except that other professional engagements had prevented him from being present, nor had he ever offered to the Court any explanation or apology concerning his conduct of the case nor expressed to the Court any regret for its effect. The vakil after being called on to show cause why he should not be punished under the Letters Patent of the High Court, or the Legal Practitioners Act (XVIII of 1879) for professional misconduct, was, whilst personally acquitted of any fraudulent or criminal act, suspended from practising for six months. Held, on an appeal to the Judicial Committee, that the vakil had in his acts and omissions to explain, regret, or apologise for them, utterly failed to perform what his honour and duty to his client and to the Court made it incumbent upon him to do, and their Lordships while not interfering with his acquittance of direct and personal fraud, did not see their way to acquit him of conduct in the management of the appeal, and of his client's affairs, which caused the procedure of the Court to be the very opposite of what it should be, namely, responsible, orderly, and pure, and they were of opinion that there was "reasonable cause" under s 10 of the Letters Patent, for the sentence pronounced by the High Court, which was justified both in its pronouncement, and the extent of the suspension. In the matter of RAJNARAYAN ATYAN 1912)

PLEADER cond

I. L. R. 35 Mad. 543

5. — Compromise of suit by—Unless authorised by client—Scope of authority of. Although a pleader has no power to compromise a suit unless he is specially authorised in that behalf, he can bind his client by an admission upon a question of fact, provided that such question falls within the scope of the suit in which he has been retained. Rhuthiah v Pambal, 6 C W N 82, Jagopah v Elambaram, I L R 21 Mad. 274, followed. Kowar Narain v Sreenath, 9 W R 435, Rajender v Bijas Govind, 2 Moo. I A 253, Hinga Lal v Manas Ram, I L R 18, All 334, Tenkala Nara Simha v Bhaskara Karim, I L R 22 Mad. 538, Nando Lal v Narayan I L R 27 Cal. 428, Srinivas v Chelmsford I F and F 619, 27 L J Pz. 352, referred to. Dhondhor Ray v Sathar Ata Rahaman (1911).

17 C. W. N. 158

6. — Admission of women as pleaders—Disqualification—Constant Tradition—Regulation of 1871 for the Administration of Justice—Regulation 111 of 1793 (Vakil), Preamble—Regulation (XXII of 1914 (Vakils), Preamble at 4, 5, 10 to 14, 18, 20 to 22, 30, 35, 37—Legal Practitioners Act (I of 1846), s 4, 12—Pleaders of Lower Provinces Act (XVIII of 1852)—Legal Practitioners Act (X of 1853)—Calcutta University Act (II of 1857)—Local Code (XXI of 1870), s 8—Succession Act (X of 1865), s 3—Mofussil Small Cause Courts Act (XI of 1865), s 1—Pleaders Muzdars and Revenue Agents Act (X of 1865), s 2, 6, Sch II—The Punjab Chief Courts Act (XXIII of 1865), s 1—Pleaders, Multahars and Revenue Agents Act (XXIII of 1865), s 1—Pleaders

PLEADER cond

Amending Act (XXIX of 1865)—General clauses Act (I of 1868), s 2 (2)—Legal Practitioners Act XVIII of 1879) s 6, High Court rules thereunder General Clauses Act (X of 1877), s 13 As the law now stands, women are not entitled to be enrolled as pleaders of Courts subordinate to the High Court. The Rules of the High Court were made in accordance with, and for the purpose of carrying out, the intention of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, and are not ultra vires. Per MOORE, J. It is improper to give an extended construction of a statute, in the absence of an intention on the part of the Legislature, to reverse the established policy or to introduce a fundamental change in long established principles of law. Where it appears that a change of such a policy is desirable, the proper remedy is legislation and not an alteration of the law in the disguise of judicial exposition of the existing law. Case law on the subject referred to. Per CHITTY J. In framing rules under an Act of the Legislature, the Court should not use any particular expression or word in a different sense to be applied to the particular expression or word by the Act itself. But it is doubtful whether the General Clauses Act applies to rules framed by the High Court under the Legal Practitioners Act 1879. RENTA GUHA, J. re (1916) I. L. R. 44 Cal. 290

7. — Professional misconduct—Disciplinary action—Legal Practitioners Act (XVIII of 1879), s 14—Criminal offence—Suspicion. The District Judge of Rangpur made a reference under s 14 of the Legal Practitioners Act against C, a pleader, on three charges formulating strong suspicion that he offered to bribe the record room keeper and attempted to have certain words removed from a document. Held, where the misconduct alleged has no direct connection with the conduct of the pleader in his practical and immediate relation to the Court ordinarily, there should be a trial and conviction for criminal misconduct before disbarment will be ordered. In the matter of an attorney, I L R 41 Cal. 113, In the matter of Nil Kant Biswas, 9 W R Cr 29, In the matter of the second grade Pleaders, I L R 34 Mad. 29. In the matter of S B and A D 1053, In re 3 Nw and Per 383, Ex parte 2 Dowd P C 110, Stephens v Hill, 10 M and W 28, Ex parte Wall, 107 U S 265, referred to. CHANDI CHARAN MITTER, A. PLEADER J. re (1920)

I. L. R. 47 Cal. 1115

PLEADER'S FEES.

See DOWRY REGULATION II of 1827, s. 52 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 303

See COSTS I. L. R. 40 All 515

See HIGH COURT, GENERAL RULES OF, FOR CIVIL COURTS, CHAPTER XXI, s 1 I. L. R. 41 All 245

— Rules of Court of the 4th April 1891, r 80 (1), proviso—Pleader's fees—Fee certificate not filed at or before the hearing—Fee not paid before hearing—Inaction of Court. Held, on a construction of r 80 (1) of the rules of Court of the 4th April 1891, that the proviso to r 39 only gives a court a discretion to accept a certificate for fees filed after the commencement of the hearing, but, whatever might have been intended, leaves no discretion as to the allowance, on taxation, of a fee, which in fact was not paid on or before the first hearing BANK OF BENGAL, CANNING v KALKA DAS (1911).

PLEADER'S FEES—contd.

I. L. R. 33 All 374

Practice—Costs, scale of—Taxation—Probate proceedings—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), s. 83—General Rules and Circular Orders of the High Court Calcutta VI, rr 36 (a) and 42 (a) and Chapter X, r 26 In a contested probate proceeding in which letters of administration and costs are granted, the pleader's fee can only be assessed under Chapter VI, r 42 (a) of the General Rules and Circular Orders of the High Court Rule 36 (a) and Chapter VI of the Rules and Orders has no application. BAIJNATH PRASAD SINGH v SHAM SUNDAR KHAR (1913).

I. L. R. 41 Cal. 637

PLEADER'S ACT (I of 1846)—

See REGULATION II OF 1827 (Box)

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 503

PLEADERS, MUKHTARS AND REVENUE AGENTS ACT (XX OF 1865).

See PLEADER. I. L. R. 44 Cal. 290

PLEADERSHIP EXAMINATION.

Pledership Examination—Candidate—Examiners—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), ss. 45, 46—Mandamus—Discretion In making an application under s. 45 of the Specific Relief Act, the provisions of s. 46 must be strictly observed, and in dealing with such an application the principles applicable to a writ of mandamus should generally be followed. Bank of Bombay v Suleman Sami, I. L. R. 32 Bom. 166, referred to PROVAS CHANDRA ROY, In the matter of (1913).

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 588

PLEADERS OF LOWER PROVINCES ACT (XVIII OF 1852).

See PLEADER. I. L. R. 44 Cal. 290

PLEADINGS.

See ABANDONMENT 22 C. W. N. 853

See ARREST OF SUIT

I. L. R. 42 Cal. 85

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, Os VI, VII, & VIII

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 105.

I. L. R. 40 All 284

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.

I. L. R. 35 All 228

See ORISSA TENANCY ACT, 1913

4 Pat L. J. 287

See PRE EMPTION I. L. R. 36 All 456, 476, 573

See SPECIFIC MOVEABLE PROPERTY

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1

—mistake of law of liquidator—

See CONTRACT WITH ENEMY

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 631

—whether a plea of jurisdiction can be raised on appeal—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT, 1901 s. 177

I. L. R. 43 All 18

PLEADINGS—contd

—whether a plea of jurisdiction can be raised on appeal—contd.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 52 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 427

1. Quere. Whether a defendant who puts the plaintiffs to proof of a family usage alleged by them is precluded at a later stage from saying that he will not insist on the proof of usage but will accept the plaintiff's case on the point. HAZARI MALL BABU v ABANATH ADHURJA (1912).

17 C. W. N. 280

2. Plaint, amendment of, when should be allowed. Amendment of a plaintiff for a claim should be allowed only where the claim has been omitted by a mistake in inadvertence or for similar reasons and not deliberately. BHUKT KOER v RAM KHELWAN PERSHAD (1912).

17 C. W. N. 311

3. Change of case—Issues—Suit to set aside a deed of gift as fraudulent, failing, claim for accounts of a share as from agent Where on the eve of a contemplated pilgrimage to Mecca, M transferred her property to her nephew E by a deed of gift, and on the same date the latter executed a deed which provided that a fourth share of the properties thus conveyed should remain in her possession during her life-time, and on her death should come into E's possession. Held, that the fact that in a suit to set aside the deed of gift on the ground of fraud and misrepresentation which failed, a general issue as to whether E was liable to render an account to M was raised with reference to the whole property, would not justify the Court in passing a decree directing E to account for the profits of a four annas share, on the footing of his being M's agent in respect of that share. VAHNUDI AHA TUN CHOWDHURANI v MOHAMMED FAKHRAH KHAN PARI (1912).

17 C. W. N. 427

4. Facts in plaintiff not traversed in written statement or put in issue—Court not entitled to decide otherwise. Where a statement of fact in the plaintiff was not traversed in the written statement or put in issue, the Court is not entitled to decide it against the pleadings. RAM LAL MODDAL v KHIRODA MOHINI DAS (1913).

18 C. W. N. 113

5. Variance between Plaintiff's allegation and proof, when ground for dismissal of suit—True rule—its object—Suit for recovery of possession—Mode of ouster and time thereof, allegation as to, if material. Where an order having been passed in favour of the defendant under s. 335 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1892, the decree holder (now plaintiff) sued for recovery of possession upon declaration of his title, alleging that the order itself deprived him of possession, but the Courts below dismissed the suit without trial on the merits on the ground that the order under s. 335, Criminal Procedure Code, had not that effect. Held, that the suit should have been tried on the merits, as the particular mode in which or the point of time at which the ouster of the plaintiff took place was not so material that a variance between pleading and proof on such matters would alone be considered a sufficient ground for dismissing the suit. The determination in a case should be founded upon a case either to be found in the pleadings or in evidence in or consistent with the case made thereby.

PLEADINGS—contd

It does not follow from this that every variance between pleading and proof is material and justifies a dismissal of the claim. The rule that the allegations and the proof must correspond is intended to serve a double purpose, viz., first, to apprise the defendant distinctly and specifically of the case he is called upon to answer, so that he may properly make his defence and may not be taken by surprise; and, secondly, to preserve an accurate record of the cause of action as a protection against a second proceeding founded upon the same allegations. NARADIPYDRA MUKERJEE v MADHU SUDAN MONDAL (1912)

18 C. W. N. 473

6. ——— Change of case—Suit on hatchitta—Suit on account stated—Alteration of suit on account stated to suit on account stated in previous year when account stated found to be forgery. The plaintiffs sued to recover the principal and interest due on a certain hatchitta. The plaintiffs alleged that they were the proprietors of a joint bank, that the father of the defendants used to borrow money on hatchittas from their bank, that accounts were adjusted up to 1308 and the father of the defendants signed the hatchittas for 1308 on which the suit was brought. The lower Court found this hatchitta to be a forgery, but gave the plaintiffs a decree on the hatchitta for 1307. Held, that the suit being on an account stated and not on an open account and the account stated, sued on, being found to be a forgery, the suit could not be altered to one on an account stated in a previous year. In any case it ought not to have been done with retrospective effect. BRATEO PROSAD v GOJADRAR PROSAD SAHU (1914) . 19 C. W. N. 170

7. ——— Issues not expressly framed when may and when should not be determined. Where the parties have gone to trial, knowing what the real question between them was, the evidence has been adduced and discussed and the Court has decided the point as if there was an issue framed on it, the decision will not be set aside in appeal simply on the ground that no issue was framed on the point. Where the failure to frame the issue has led to an unfair trial or miscarriage of justice the case will be remanded for retrial. MOHIUDDIN v PRITHI CHAND LAL CHOWDHURY (1914) . 19 C. W. N. 1159

8. ——— Fraud, sole ground of relief—Alteration of ground of relief by picking out facts from allegations in the plaint—Defendant's duty in cases based on fraud. Where pleadings are so framed as to rest the claim for relief solely on the ground of fraud it is not open to the plaintiff, if he fails in establishing the fraud, to pick out from the allegations in the plaint facts which might, if not put forward as proofs of fraud, have yet warranted the plaintiff in asking for relief. A defendant, in answering a case founded on fraud, is not bound to do more than answer the case in the mode in which it is put forward. Hickson v. Lombard L. R. 1 H. L. 324, and Guthrie v. Abouf Mozuffer Nooroodin Ahmed, 15 W. R. P. C. 50, referred to. RAJENDRA KUMAR BOSE v GANGARAM KOTVAL (1910) 1 L. R. 37 Cal. 856

9. ——— Variance between pleading and proof—Where plaintiff sues in effect

PLEADINGS—contd.

ment on the ground of exclusive title, he cannot be given a decree for partition when the claim set up is found to be barred. Where a plaintiff sues the defendant in ejectment on the ground that he and defendant were separately enjoying properties, he cannot, when such claim is found to be barred by limitation, rely on a tenancy in common not alleged in the plaint and claim a decree for partition. CHIDAMBARAM PILLAI v MUTHU PILLAI (1909) . 1 L. R. 33 Mad. 359

10. ——— Suit for cancellation of father's will brought by daughters—Plea of custom excluding daughters from inheritance—Custom not allowed to be raised in this suit. On suit by the daughters of the testator for a declaration that a will alleged to have been executed by their father was a false and fraudulent document and not binding on them, the defendants set up a custom by virtue of which the daughters, but not apparently daughter's sons, were excluded from inheritance to their father's property. Held, that, as members of their father's family, the daughters, who, but for the will, on the death of their mother, would take the property of their father, had a cause of action which entitled them to bring the suit, and the issue whether or not a custom existed excluding them from inheritance was not a fit and proper issue to be determined in the present suit. RISALI v BALAK RAM (1912)

1 L. R. 34 All. 351

11. ——— Defendant admitting plaintiff's title in written statement though claim notified before suit—Suit if may be dismissed for want of cause of action. The fact that the defendant does not in his written statement deny the plaintiff's title to land of which plaintiff had sued for recovery does not show that the plaintiff had no cause of action. Where, therefore, it appeared that the defendant did not at any time before the institution of the suit admit the plaintiff's title to the lands in suit, although plaintiff served him with notice of his claim. Held, that this Court was not justified in dismissing the suit on the ground of want of cause of action merely because the defendant in his written statement admitted plaintiff's title. GANGADAS SRI v THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1916)

20 C. W. N. 638

12. ——— Plaint, what should state—Omission to state facts necessary for defendant to meet at the trial, effect of—Reliance by plaintiff on inconsistent rights alternately—Plaintiff, if can allege facts destructive of each other—Partition suit—Preliminary decree—Costs. The plaintiff commenced an action for partition on the allegation that he was entitled to fourteen and a half annas share of the property in suit while the defendants contended that they had acquired a good title to a two annas share. The plaintiff did not narrate the history of the title of the plaintiff nor did it mention the needs whereby the title had devolved on him. The plaintiff did not make a definite case in plaint but sought at the trial to develop two inconsistent cases on the testimony of two different sets of witnesses. Objection was taken by the defendants on the ground of defect in the plaint but the Subordinate Judge proceeded with the trial. He found in favour of

PLEADINGS—contd.

the defendants and allowed them the full amount of costs on the value of the suit. Against the preliminary decree the plaintiff appealed. Held, that in the plaint the plaintiff was bound to state the nature of the deeds on which he relied in deducing his title from the person under whom he claimed and to show the devolution of the estate to himself. Philippa v Philippa 4 Q B D 127, Derbyshire v Leigh (1856) 1 Q B 551, and Davis v James 26 Ch D 778. It is absolutely essential that the pleading not to be embarrassing to the defendants should state those facts which will put the defendants on their guard and tell them what they will have to meet when the case comes on for trial. Thus much the plaintiff is bound to do though he need not set out the evidence whereby he proposes to prove the facts which give him the title. Williams v Wilcox, 8 A and E 331, and Gautrel v Egerton, L R 2 C P 371. A plaintiff may in certain circumstances rely upon several different rights alternatively though they may be inconsistent. Narendra Nath v Abhay Churn, 1 L R 34 Cal. 51 & c. 11 C W N 20 & C L J 437, Phillips v Phillips, 4 Q B D 127, Bradan v Greenwood 3 Ez. D 255 Haukeley v Bradshaw 5 Q B D 303 and In re Morgan, 34 Ch D 498. But the plaintiff cannot be permitted to allege two absolutely inconsistent states of facts each of which is destructive of the other. Mahmud Bux v Hossein Bibi, 1 L R 15 Cal. 683. That in the present case the plaintiff should not have been allowed to proceed on the plaint as framed but should have been called upon to specify in his statement of claim the nature of the deeds and transactions from which he deduced his title. That the order for costs on the full value of the suit could not properly be made at the stage of the preliminary enquiry when the matter is controversy related only to a half anna share in the property. MORI LAL PODDAR v JUDHISTER DAS TEOR (1915)

20 C. W. N. 310

13. — Necessity of particularising fraud in plaint discussed. ANAND CHANDRA MONDAL v ATUL CHANDRA MULLIK (1919) 23 C. W. N. 1045

14. — Pleading and proof variance between, when fatal to suit—Variance not affecting cardinal points in issue—Nature of the principle—Question one of circumstances rather than of law—Application of the principle in an abstract way leading to error of decision on the merits—Trial Judge's appreciation of witnesses examined in his presence, value of. When a sum of money due by A to B was entered in B's account book as having been paid on 5th November 1907 in cash but B's case was that it was liquidated by a promissory note which however bore date the 7th November 1907, and whilst A alleged that the payment was in fact made on 5th November in cash and the note of 7th November was a forgery, B and his witnesses throughout the trial insisted that the date of the transaction was the 7th and the note was signed then but the evidence and circumstances of the case showed that there was no payment in cash and that the promissory note was genuine, but had been executed not on the 7th but on the 5th—the entry in the account-book to the effect that the payment was in cash

PLEADINGS—contd.

being satisfactorily explained by the practice of entering payments by promissory notes as payments in "cash": Held that the variance of the case established from the case pleaded in the plaint (as to the date of the note) was not fatal to B's suit to enforce the promissory note, in which the cardinal points to be decided were whether the debt had been paid in cash and whether the note was a forgery. That the High Court in relying for the dismissal of the suit on, amongst other grounds, that of variance between pleading and proof had applied that principle in an abstract and unsatisfactory way which had misled them in estimating the merits of the case. That the question in ultimate analysis, was one of circumstances and not of law. That the evidence adduced in support of the transaction having been effected on the 7th November was not necessarily perjured or fabricated when it appeared that the statements of witnesses and entries in account books might be due to bona fide mistake. ABDUL RAHIMAN v GUSTADJI MUNCHERJI COOPER (1915)

20 C. W. N. 297

15. — Inconsistent material facts in pleadings—Relief in the alternative whether may be claimed—Alternative cases how to be pleaded. Either party to a litigation may in a proper case include in his pleading two or more inconsistent sets of material facts and claim relief thereunder in the alternative but whenever such alternative cases are alleged the facts belonging to them respectively should not be mixed up but should be stated separately so as to show on what facts each alternative relief is claimed. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF BENGAL v BIDYASUNDARI DAS 24 C. W. N. 145

16. — Variance between allegations and proof. Every variance between pleading and proof is not fatal, the Court must carefully consider whether the objection is one of form or of substance, having in view the purpose which the rule that allegation and proof must correspond is intended to serve, viz., first to apprise the defendant distinctly and specifically of the case he is called upon to answer, so that he may properly make a defence and not be taken by surprise, and, secondly, to preserve an accurate record of the cause of action as a protection against a second proceeding founded upon the same allegations. KUMAR SATISH KANTO RAI v SATISH CHANDRA CHATTAPADHYA 24 C. W. N. 682

17. — Change of case at a late stage, if should be permitted. Where the plaintiff sued for recovery of certain jewels upon the allegation that the predecessors in title of the defendants had made a gift of the same to plaintiff and it was not until the appeal to the Privy Council that it was suggested the claim arose not upon gift but upon contract, a case of which there was no trace in the pleadings issues evidence or judgment in India: Held that the argument now advanced was contradictory of the case made and involved a line of attack that the defendants had no opportunity to meet while the litigation was in the lower Courts and the change of front could not be permitted at the late stage. MALABARU LAKSHMI VENKAYYAMMA ROW v VENKA TADRI APPA ROW 25 C. W. N. 654

PLEADINGS—concl'd.

18. ——— It is absolutely necessary that the determination in a cause should be founded upon a case either to be found in the pleadings or involved in or consistent with the case thereby made. The fundamental principle that the plaintiff cannot be permitted to follow a line of attack which the defendant had no opportunity to meet is of special importance in collision cases when the accident very often happens in an entirely unexpected manner and short time W. J. REES v. JOHN YOUNG. 25 C. W. N. 519

19. Court not to entertain a question not raised in—Reason of the rule explained—Test. Neither party to a litigation can be allowed to set up at the hearing an entirely new and inconsistent case. The reason for the rule is that the plaintiff might have received no notice that the point would be raised by the defendant and would presumably be not prepared with the necessary evidence, and conversely, the defendant might be seriously embarrassed if the plaintiff were permitted to spring a surprise upon him in the shape of a new case. The test to be applied is whether the party aggrieved has really been taken by surprise. So, where the plaintiff sought to eject the defendant on the ground that he was a trespasser and the defendant answered that he was a tenant at money rent, but the Court determined the nature of the alleged tenancy and came to a conclusion which was not the case of either party GONDLI BIR v. JOTVAL ABDIN. . . . 26 C. W. N. 294

PLEDGE.

See BAILMENT I. L. R. 37 Bom. 122

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872)—

s 103 . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 164

s 176 . I. L. R. 40 All. 522

ss 178, 179 I. L. R. 42 Bom. 205

See PALAS OR TURNS OF WORSHIP

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 455

See RES JUDICATA

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 189

— of shares in a company—

See COMPANY I. L. R. 42 Bom. 159

POLICE.

— custody—confession—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s 26

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 1

— powers of, to forbid a certain class to enter a certain place—

See POLICE ACT (V OF 1861), ss 31 32

I. L. R. 39 All. 131

— powers of, to require assistance from public—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 42

I. L. R. 42 All. 314

— report to—

See BAILABLE OFFENCE

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1003

POLICE ACT (V OF 1861).

See ACT OF STATE

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 615

— s. 15, cl. (4)—

See PUNITIVE POLICE.

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 452

— ss. 17, 18—

See SPECIAL CONSTABLES

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 277

— s. 29—Police constable—Failure to return to duty. A police constable having failed to return to duty at the expiry of casual leave was convicted and fined under s 29 of the Indian Police Act. During his trial he was under suspension. Subsequently he was reinstated and ordered to return to duty. He failed to do so. Held, that this second disobedience of orders was a separate offence entirely from that in respect of which he had been tried and convicted and that his conviction and sentence in respect thereof were legal EMPEROR v. NUR UL HASAN

I. L. R. 42 All. 22

— Overstaying leave by a Police officer—Contention, propriety of, when there was reasonable cause. The petitioner, a police officer, was convicted under s 29 of the Police Act for overstaying his leave. His defence was that he was detained by important private business of his own and therefore could not join in time. Held, that in the circumstances of the case it could not be said that the petitioner failed without reasonable cause to report himself to duty on the expiration of his leave and the conviction should be set aside JAGADISH CH. BOSE v. THE KING EMPEROR

25 C. W. N. 408

— ss 31 32—Jatrawals—Competence of police to issue general order for the control of the business of Jatrawals. Held, that it is not competent to a Superintendent of Police to issue a general order forbidding persons of a certain class to frequent certain specified places without having first obtained a license EMPEROR v. KRISHNA LAL (1916) . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 131

POLICE CONSTABLE.

See POLICE ACT, 1861, s. 29

I. L. R. 42 All. 22

POLICE DIARIES.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 110

4 Pat. L. J. 7

See POLICE REPORT.

See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 876

— Hostile Crown witness, use of police diaries against—Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898), s 162—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss 155 and 157. The police diary may be used to impeach the evidence of a hostile witness for the prosecution. Statements of witnesses made to the police should not be used to corroborate them except in very special circumstances. RAMCHARITRA SINGH v. KING EMPEROR

3 Pat. L. J. 568

POLICE JAGIRS.

— Police jagirs in the Pacht Zamindari—Liability of jagir to sale for arrears of rent—Whether successor bound by sale.

POLICE JAGIRS—contd

The decision of the Privy Council in the case of Nilmoney Singh Deo v Bakra Nath Singh, amounts to a decision that the police jagirs in the zamindari of Pachit are hereditary, subject to the condition that it is competent to the representative of Government to dismiss the heir of the last jagirdar and to appoint even an outsider, but that the customary rule of inheritance operates until the representative of Government exercises his option. Although in Nilmoney Singh Deo v Bakra Nath Singh, the Privy Council held that a jagir in the zamindari of Pachit is not liable to be sold for arrears of rent due from a previous jagirdar, yet where in fact such a jagir was sold in execution of a decree for arrears of rent previous to the decision of the Privy Council, held that the entire tenure passed at such sale and the subsequent decision of the Privy Council did not affect the rights of the parties because when a sale is held the rights of the parties are fixed with reference to the state of the law at that time, and any subsequent interpretation does not affect the results of that sale. JADAB LAL v SRI SRI DEVI LAL SINGH . 2 Pat. L. J. 725

POLICE OFFICER.

See FIXED OFFICER
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 411

— duties of—

See HERRAT CORPUS
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 78

— opinion of—

See SEARCH WARRANT
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 597

— statements made to—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898)—
s 162, 283 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 599
s 162 I. L. R. 39 Bom. 58

— Detention in custody of suspended police officer—Legality of detention—Police Circular Order No 1153—Legality of the Circular—Calcutta Police Act (Beng IV of 1866), s 13 The Commissioner of Police has no authority in law to order the detention of a police officer on suspension as he ceases to be a police officer thereafter, and the Police Circular Order No 1153, published in the Calcutta Police Gazette, dated the 8th June, 1917, empowering him to do so is illegal. PRAMATHA NATH BARAT v P. C. ARIST (1919) . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 581

POLICE PATIL.

— arresting the accused—

See PRACTICE . I. L. R. 46 Bom. 220

POLICE REGULATIONS.

See PROCESSION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 470

OLICE REPORT.

See COGNIZANCE
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 854

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE, INSTITUTION OF
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 49

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—
s 4, 173. . 25 C. W. N. 357
s 110. . 4 Pat. L. J. 7

POLICE REPORT—contd

s 193 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1044

See FALSE INFORMATION
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 173
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 807

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 14

See SURETY
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 706
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1024

POLICY OF INSURANCE.

See INSURANCE

See LIFE INSURANCE

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882 AS AMENDED BY ACT II OF 1900).
s 130 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 198

— if creates trust—

See MARRIED WOMEN'S PROPERTY ACT (III OF 1874), s 6
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 493

POLITICAL AGENT

— certificate of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 189
I. L. R. 41 All. 452
I. L. R. 42 All. 89

POLITICAL AGENT AT SIKKIM, COURT OF.

— Execution of decree—Transfer of decree for execution—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) s 2294 (Act V of 1908), ss 43, 45 By the notifications of the 29th March, 1889, and 3rd October, 1907, the Governor General Council declared that s. 2294 of the Code of Civil Procedure of 1882 (s. 43 of the Code of 1908) should apply to the Court of the Political Agent at Sikkim. A decree obtained in the Court of the Political Agent at Sikkim and transferred for execution to a Court in British India, could therefore be executed within the jurisdiction of that Court. ZAMEL AHMED v THE MAHARAJAH OF SIKKIM (1911) . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 859

POLITICAL OFFICER.

— certificate of, for trial of offence—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 193, 227 I. L. R. 33 All. 514

POLITICAL RESIDENT AT ADEN.

See DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1907) s 3 (2)
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 57

POLYGAMY.

See BURMESE LAW—MARRIAGE
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 492

POOLBUNDI CHARGES.

See EMBARKMENT
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 130

POONA CANTONMENT.

See CANTONMENT PROPERTY
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 1

PORAMBOKE.

See MADRAS FOREST ACT (XXI OF 1882),
ss. 6, 10, 16, 17
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 494

PORT COMMISSIONERSLiability of—See* LOSS OF GOODS

I L. R. 46 Calc 56

POSSESSION*See* ADVERSE POSSESSION*See* ACQUIESCENCE

I L. R. 37 All. 412

See ARMS ACT s. 19 (f)

15 C. W. N. 440

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE s. 47

I L. R. 35 Bom. 432

O XVI BR 93 96

I L. R. 43 Bom. 559

See COCAINE I L. R. 41 Calc. 537*See* CONSCIOUS POSSESSION*See* COUNTERFEIT COIN

I L. R. 44 Calc. 477

See COURT FEES ACT (VII of 1870)

ss. ETC. I L. R. 38 Mad. 1184

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 143.

I L. R. 34 Mad. 138

See EJECTMENT SUIT FOR

I L. R. 38 Bom. 240

See FRAUD I L. R. 38 Bom. 185*See* INFUSION I L. R. 38 Calc. 791*See* LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V

OF 1879) ss. 63 66

I L. R. 39 Bom. 494

See LESSOR AND LESSEE

I L. R. 39 Mad. 1042

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER

I L. R. 38 Calc. 475

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

I L. R. 47 Calc. 886

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT

I L. R. 34 All. 465

See OILM I L. R. 43 Calc. 820

I L. R. 37 Calc. 24

See PETROLEUM ACT, ss. 11 15

I L. R. 40 Calc. 356

See POSSESSORY SUIT

I L. R. 41 All. 108

See RECEIVER I L. R. 47 Calc. 418*See* SALE I L. R. 41 Calc. 148*See* SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT s. 9

15 C. W. N. 294

I L. R. 33 All. 647

See TITLE I L. R. 41 Calc. 394*See* TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF

1887) ss. 4 AND 54

I L. R. 38 Mad. 1158

by agent—See LIMITATION ACT (XV of 1877) ARTS14^o AND 144 I L. R. 35 Bom. 78by person claiming as trustee—See* ADVERSE POSSESSION

I L. R. 37 Mad. 373

by servant—See ARMS I L. R. 41 Calc. 11POSSESSION—contd*by widow—See* HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE change of—See PARTITION I L. R. 44 Calc. 675confirmation—See* SURVEY ACT, ss. 41 62

I L. R. 38 Mad. 153

14 C. W. N. 366

Decree for partition—See ADVERSE POSSESSION

I L. R. 45 Bom. 843

Decree by Mamlatdar for—See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) ART delivery of—See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882,

47 I L. R. 45 Bom. 1135

s. 54 I L. R. 34 Bom. 139 delivery of, in execution—See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s. 47 O XVI BR 100 101

I L. R. 40 Mad. 964

length of—See MUNICIPAL COUNCIL,

I L. R. 38 Mad. 6

non-delivery of—See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L. R. 46 Calc. 956

presumption arising from—See LAKHERAJ LANDS

I L. R. 45 Calc. 574

protection of former possession asagainst Trespasser—See* TREE PATTA I L. R. 38 Mad. 148recovery of—See* TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF

1887) s. 54 I L. R. 39 Bom. 472

See TREE PATTA I L. R. 38 Mad. 148right to—See* HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT

I L. R. 45 I. A. 204

Right of Khot to forfeit occupancyrights—See* KNOTI SETTLEMENT ACT (BOM ACT

I OF 1880) ss. 9 AND 10

I L. R. 44 Bom. 267

suit for—See CHACKIDARI CHAKARAN LANDS.

I L. R. 45 Calc. 685

I L. R. 46 Calc. 173

See EX PARTE DECREE

I L. R. 45 Calc. 820

See GHATWALI TENURES

I L. R. 41 Calc. 812

See HINDU LAW—GUARDIAN

I L. R. 38 Mad. 1125

See LIMITATION

I L. R. 41 Calc. 52

I L. R. 43 Calc. 34

I L. R. 46 Calc. 694

POSSESSION—contd—suit for—contd

See LIMITATION ACT 1877, SCH. II, ART.
142 AND 144 I. L. R. 35 Bom. 79

SCH. II, ART. 91 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 321

See LIMITATION ACT 1908—

SCH. I, ART. 47

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1135

SCH. I, ARTS. 142, 144.

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 335

See MISSE PROFITS I. L. R. 40 Calc. 59

—transfer of—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 40 I. L. R. 40 Bom. 499

—will of—

See BARRIE I. L. R. 42 Calc. 313

1. ——— Nature of necessary to prove lost grant or title by adverse possession—*Madras Forest Act (I of 1882) at s. 3 16 25—Notification under s. 25 of reservation made before the Act extinguishes all rights existing at time of reservation. Whether enjoyment is set up as the basis of a title by prescription or as evidence on which a lost grant should be presumed the same characteristics will be necessary. Acts done on parts of a tract of land will only be evidence of possession of the whole where the said tract of land possesses a defined boundary. Sivasubramanya v. Secretary of State for India, I. L. R. 9 Mad. 285 at pp. 304 and 305 referred to. The intention of the legislature in enacting a 25 of the Madras Forest Act is to place all forests reserved by executive order prior to the introduction of the Act on precisely the same footing as reserves subsequently constituted in accordance with the provisions of the Act. The intention was that the notification under a 25 should operate in exactly the same manner as one under a 16 to which s. 17 is a mere corollary. The further inquiry provided for in a 25 is purely discretionary with Government. Where a reservation made prior to the Act is notified under a 25 of the Act, such notification extinguishes any right existing at the time of reservation whether the lands were within s. 3 of the Act, at the disposal of Government or not at the time of reservation. Where the reservation is made under a 16 the section provides a mode of redress to the party while a 25 gives none as the further inquiry provided therein is merely discretionary with the Government. SUBRAMANYA PILLAI v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1910).*

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 353

2. ——— Suit for, by proprietor of undivided half share—Nature of decree plaintiff entitled to—Proprietor of undivided half share if can eject any one on the land from the whole of it. The plaintiff brought a suit for recovery of possession of a plot of land to the extent of an eight annas share the plaintiff being the proprietor to the extent of eight annas and defendants Nos. 5 and 6 proprietors to the extent of the other eight annas. Defendants Nos. 1 to 3 were tenants of the land recognised by defendants Nos. 5 and 6. The plaintiff asked for joint possession with defendants Nos. 1 to 3, if joint possession with defendants Nos. 5 and 6 could not be granted. Held that all that the plaintiff could ask for was joint possession of an eight annas share. He could not in

POSSESSION—contd

this suit ask the Court to decide who was entitled to possess the of the other eight annas share of the land with which he had no concern. That a person entitled to an undivided half share of the land cannot sue to eject anybody from the whole of it and the defendants Nos. 1 to 3 who had been recognised as tenants by the co-sharer land-lords could not be ejected by the plaintiff from the whole of the land. That the plaintiff was entitled to a decree against all the defendants for recovery of joint possession of an eight annas share of the disputed property and he was entitled to enforce the right by a suit for partition if he was not satisfied with the delivery of possession of an undivided half share. GAJANATH ANTH v. BHUKARI LAL (1914) 18 C W N 1011

3. ——— Tenants in common—Presump- *tion—Possession of one co-owner the possession of all. Possession of one co-owner is in law the possession of all the co-owners and nothing short of ouster or something equivalent to ouster will put an end to that possession. Where a co-owner in possession did not deny the title of the other co-owners till shortly before the institution of the suit and never laid claim to more than his share, it was presumed that the co-owner in possession was in possession on his own behalf and as well as on behalf of his co-owner. Cores v. Appulamy, [1912] A. C. 230, followed. Jafar Hussain v. Masbub Ali, I. L. R. 14 All. 193, and Jogendra Nath Das v. Baladev Das, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 961, referred to. AKHAI KAZA KHAN v. RAM LAL (1914) I. L. R. 37 All. 203*

3a. ——— Suit to recover possession of land from an alleged licensee—*Act No. IX of 1903 (Limitation Act), Sch. I, Art. 144—Defence of title by adverse possession—Burden of proof. The plaintiff who was the zamindar, sued to eject the defendant from certain land, within the ambit of the plaintiff's zamindari, alleging that the defendant was in possession merely as a licensee. The defendant denied that he was a licensee and claimed that he had acquired a title to the land in suit by adverse possession. The defendant, however, failed to prove that he had been in adverse possession of the land for more than twelve years. Held that the plaintiff was entitled to succeed simply on the strength of his prima facie title as zamindar. It was not necessary for him to go further and prove that he had been in actual possession at some period within twelve years previous to the commencement of the suit. In cases to which Art. 144 of the first schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908 applies the defence being a title acquired by adverse possession for more than twelve years it is not necessary for the plaintiff, as in cases falling under Art. 142 to prove that he has been in possession at a period within twelve years from the commencement of the suit, it is sufficient if he establishes a prima facie title and it is then, for the defendant to make good his plea of adverse possession. *JAI CHAND BARADER v. GURWAR SINGH

I. L. R. 41 All. 669

4. ——— Possession and title—suit to establish—Whether suit for mere declaration—Maintainability—Whether catching fish in a stream amounts to dispossession. Where the plaintiffs in a suit establish their title to a village and also that they have been in possession of it and of a

POSSESSION—contd

streamlet which lies within it, but that the plaintiff's possession has been disturbed inasmuch as the defendants' people have caught fish in it. Held, that under such circumstances the plaintiffs' suit for a mere declaration is maintainable. Even if the defendants are found to have granted the right to catch fish in the streamlet to other persons not parties to the suit that act would not amount even to disturbance of possession still less to disposssession nor would the fact that some persons have at times caught fish in the streamlet show that the plaintiffs have been dispossessed. At most the catching of fish in the streamlet would be a disturbance of possession. SARDAR LAL v BHAGAT v KESHO MOHAN THAKUR (1916)

20 C. W. N. 1274

5. — Suit for recovery of, by purchaser at sale of land—Defendant, if can set up occupancy right after suffering it by conduct to merge in tenure right The plaintiffs brought a suit in 1909 to recover possession of land purchased at a sale in execution of a decree in 1893. After the sale the land remained vacant for ten years from 1895 and the defendants took possession in 1905. The plaintiffs case was that the defendants were in occupation after the sale without any right or title, the defence was that the plaintiffs purchased their right as tenure holders only and the defendants had also the occupancy right. Held, the defendants not having kept alive and distinct the two interests which they possessed but having by conduct treated the occupancy right as no longer existent, could not turn round and set up the latter right to the detriment of the execution purchaser. That the plaintiffs cause of action dated back to 1905 when the defendants took possession and the suit was not barred by limitation. PROMOTHA NATH ROY v KIRKON LAL SHARMA (1916)

21 C. W. N. 304

6. — Suit for recovery of, Reversal by Appellate Court on ground of limitation—necessary findings in—Entry in record of rights, presumption of possession arising from—Onus on defendant to prove plaintiffs dispossession—Judgment of Criminal Court in proceeding under s. 145, Cr. P. C., evidentiary value of—Statement of witnesses examined before Criminal Court but not in the suit if admissible—Previous statements in the Criminal Court of witnesses examined in the suit, proper use of—Decision of Appellate Court as to admissibility of a document solely on opinion of the Criminal Court in s. 145 proceeding propriety of The plaintiff sued for declaration of his title and recovery of possession. In a record of rights published in 1896 the plaintiff was recorded as an occupancy raiyat of the land in suit. By an order of the Magistrate under s. 145, Cr. P. C., dated the 27th September 1909 the defendants were declared to be in possession thereof. The plaintiff's case was that he was dispossessed on the 12th December 1909. The suit was brought on the 19th March 1910. The Munsif decreed the plaintiff's suit finding that he had been in possession within 12 years of the date of the suit. The District Judge in appeal without finding the date of the plaintiff's dispossession held that the suit was barred by limitation. Held, that it was necessary for the District Judge to find when the plaintiff was dispossessed. He must also clearly find under what law the plaintiff's suit was barred and whether the facts necessary for applying that law have been established. That in a suit for

POSSESSION—contd.

ejectment the plaintiff has to prove his possession within the statutory period but in the present case the record of rights raised a presumption in the plaintiff's favour and shifted the onus on the defendants to establish affirmatively that the plaintiff had been out of possession for more than the statutory period. That although the judgment of the Criminal Court in the case under s. 145, Cr. P. C., was evidence of possession, the statements of witnesses who were not examined in the present suit were wholly inadmissible. That if it was sought to use the previous statements of such witnesses as were examined in the present suit, then those statements must first be put to the witnesses and duly proved before they could be treated as evidence. BARKAT ALI v BASANT NUNIA (1915)

21 C. W. N. 175

7. — Involving boundary dispute—Onus of proof when one party in possession under order under s. 145 Criminal Procedure Code, Act V of 1898 The plaintiff sued for declaration of title and possession of certain lands lying on the boundary between their manza and that of the defendants. It appeared that the defendants were in possession for some years previous to the suit by virtue of an order of the Criminal Court under s. 145, Criminal Procedure Code. Held, that regard being had to the decision of the Privy Council in Dinamani Choudhuran v Brojo Mohan Choudhuran L. R. 29 I. A. 24 s. c. I. L. R. 29 Cal. 187 & C. W. N. 336 it seems clear that the principle stated in Lukhi Aarain Jagadeb v Maharaja Jadu Nath Deo, L. R. 21 I. A. 39, s. c. I. L. R. 21 Cal. 981, as to the shifting of onus from the plaintiff to the defendant in cases where scientific accuracy regarding boundaries cannot be attained and especially in cases where the disputed line of division runs between waste lands which have not been the subject of definite possession must yield to the circumstances of the present case and the onus was on the plaintiff to show that the persons in possession under the order of the Magistrate had no right to possession. MANINDRA CHANDRA NAYDI v SARADINDU ROY (1918)

23 C. W. N. 593

8. — Resistance to delivery of possession to decree-holder—Claim to be in possession of the property as a tenant under the judgment debtor—Sub tenancy—Civil Procedure Code, 1908, O. XXI, rr. 97, 99—Parties On the 7th July 1919 the plaintiff instituted a suit against his lessee for the recovery of possession of certain premises upon the determination of the term by forfeiture for breach of conditions in the lease. In that suit the plaintiff did not join as defendant, the respondent who was admittedly in possession of the said premises as under tenant of the lessee. On the 18th December 1919 an order was made for the recovery of possession in the said suit by which the lessee was given time until the 29th February, 1920, to make over possession. This not being done, an order, dated the 12th March 1920 was obtained by the plaintiff directing the Sheriff to put him into possession. The Sheriff on the 8th April, 1920, was obstructed in the execution of this order by the respondent and the plaintiff thereupon made this application before the sitting Judge in Chambers complaining of such obstruction under O. XXI, r. 97. The respondent was summoned to appear to answer the said complaint. Held, that the application must be dismissed and the plaintiff must be left to his remedy by suit against the respondent. An action for possession based upon forfeiture of a term should, for practical reasons, be brought against all persons in possession (including constructive possession) at the date of the suit, not that the suit is necessarily defective otherwise, but because the decree will be difficult to enforce under the Code. D E D J EZRA v J E. GUBRAY (1920) I. L. R. 47 Calc. 907

POSSESSION—contd.

9. — Onus probandi—conflicting evidence as to title—Presumption from possession. It is only when the evidence of possession is strong on both sides and is equally balanced that the presumption that possession goes with title should prevail. This principle does not apply to cases in which the evidence is equally unworthy of credit on both sides except in respect of land of a special character such as waste or jungle lands or lands under water. Arable land is not land of a special character. FAKIR LALL SAHU v MUNSHI RAMCHARAN LAL 1 Pat. L. J. 148

10. — Trespasser, suit against— by person in possession. Previous possession even for a period short of the statutory period of 12 years, entitles a plaintiff to a decree for possession in a suit against a trespasser. ELAJODRA KUR v GOBARDHAN TEWARI 2 Pat. L. J. 280

11. — When follows title—Said by auction purchaser against person claiming adversely to judgment-debtor—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Arts 133, 137 and 142. In suits for recovery of possession of land where no evidence of possession within twelve years prior to the institution of the suit has been given or where the evidence tendered is so unsatisfactory and weak on both sides as to leave the Court unable to determine which of the litigating parties is entitled to possession, the legal presumption that possession follows title may be resorted to. Art 138 of the Limitation Act, 1908 does not apply to a suit against a person claiming title by possession adverse to the judgment debtor. BIKRAM BHUWAN NARAIN TEWARI v UPENDRA NATH ROY 4 Pat. L. J. 463

12. — The plaintiffs were the owners of a muras tenure and under them was a darmiras tenure held by the defendants. This under tenure was sold in execution of a rent decree and purchased by a third party who never obtained possession and in execution of a rent decree obtained against the latter the under tenure was again sold more than twelve years after and purchased by the plaintiffs who used for possession. Per Walsmley, J (Woodroffe and Subrahwardy, JJ, contra).—That Art 137 of the Limitation Act applied to the case and the suit was barred. Per Subrahwardy, J.—Art 140 or Art 144 applied to the case. Per Woodroffe J (to whom the case was referred under sec 98 C P C).—That none of the articles of the Limitation Act applied to the case but the suit was barred under sec 167 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Where a rent decree has been properly obtained the tenure itself passes to the purchaser and not the right, title and interest of the judgment-debtor only and the rights of the purchaser must be determined by the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act under sec 158B and sec 159. The plain tiffs by their purchase acquired the under-tenure with power to annul encumbrances and the interest acquired by the defendants by adverse possession against the recorded tenants, of which the plaintiffs were aware, was an encumbrance which the plaintiffs could have and should have annulled under sec 167, Bengal Tenancy Act, within one year, and not having done so their right to recover possession was lost. The word encumbrance as used in secs 159 and 161 of the Bengal Tenancy Act includes a statutory title acquired by a trespasser by adverse possession. JAYANENDRA MONON DUTT v UMESH CHANDRA GUHA 26 C. W. N. 985

POSSESSION—contd

POSSESSION BY FRAUD.

See SHAKS I. L. R. 46 Calc. 331

POSSESSORY RIGHT.

See POSSESSION

— protection of, as against trespassers—

See TEEK PATTI I. L. R. 36 Mad. 148

POSSESSORY SUIT.

See MAHLATDAN'S COURTS ACT (BOM 11 of 1906)—

ss. 19, 23. I. L. R. 35 Bom. 487

s. 23. I. L. R. 36 Bom. 123

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 552

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I of 1877), s. 9 I. L. R. 41 ALL 108

Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) s. 9—Second appeal—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s. 102—Review. Where in a suit under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act, judgment was purported to be passed against five defendants but the decree was drawn up against one defendant only who alone contested the suit, and the decree holder applied for execution against all the defendants, the Court dismissed the application on the ground that decree was against one defendant only, on appeal the District Judge allowed execution to proceed against all the defendants but on a subsequent application for review he discharged his original order on the ground of jurisdiction under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act. Held that an application in execution proceedings was included in the term 'suit' in s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act and an appeal to the District Judge from an order of the Court of first instance was incompetent and the application for review equally so. Thomas Souza v Gulam Modin Beari, I L. R. 26 Mad. 438, Moufuz Ali v Burj Nand Arat (1915), P. L. R. 45 Anand Chunder Roy v Sidhy Gopal Meier & B. R. 112, Gora Chand Meier v Jagabansu Narayan Singh, 12 B. L. R. 261, Dnn Dayal v Patroikhan, I L. R. 13 All. 481, Narayan Parmanand v Nagandas Bhaidas, I L. R. 30 Bom. 113 Marula Ammol v Marula Maracor, I L. R. 30 Mad. 212, Shyama Charan Mitter v Debendra Nath Mukherjee I L. R. 27 Calc. 481, Minkashi Nanda v Subramanaya Sastri, I L. R. 11 Mad. 26, L. R. 111 A 169, Sami Hassan Mookerjee v Radha Nath Bose, 20 C. L. J. 433, and Profulla Krishna Deb v. Nambannera Bibi, 24 C. L. J. 331, referred to. KAKAI LAL GHOSH v JAYENDRA NATH CHANDRA (1917) I. L. R. 45 Calc. 519*

POSSESSORY TITLE.

See ESTOPPEL . I. L. R. 34 All. 538

See HINDU LAW (SUCCESSION)
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 588

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877),
s 9 . I. L. R. 36 All. 51

See TITLE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 394

POST-NUPTIAL GIFTS.

See HINDU LAW—GIFT.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 1

POST OFFICE ACT (VI OF 1898).

ss. 19, 61, 70—Offence—Cocaine—Transmission of, by post Held, that cocaine is not a substance which falls within the purview of s 19 of the Indian Post Office Act, 1898, and it is not an offence under that Act to transmit the same by post EMPEROR v ISMAIL KHAN (1915)
I. L. R. 37 All. 289

ss 35, 64, 74—Rules framed under Act, infringement of, falls within s 63—General power to frame rules conferred by s 74, cl (1) not confined to such rules as are contemplated by s 74, cl 2 Rules framed by the Governor General in Council under s 74, cl (1) of the Post Office Act regarding the declaration in the case of articles sent by value payable post form part of the Act under s. 74 (3) and infringement of such rules is punishable under s 64. s 35 also enables the Governor General in Council to make such rules. The general power to make rules conferred by s. 74, cl. (1), is not confined to making such rules as are contemplated by cl. 2 THE CROWN PROSECUTOR v KOTHANDARAMIAH (1910)
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 511

POSTING OF A DEMAND DRAFT.

See SALE OF GOODS
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 16

POSTPONEMENT.

See CROSS EXAMINATION
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 299

POUNDAGE.

Sheriff's right to poundage. The Sheriff is only entitled to poundage on sums levied so where a seizure is wrongful and is withdrawn by direction of law, the Sheriff receives no poundage MORTIMORE v CRAGG 3 C P D 216 In re Ludmore, 13 Q B D 415, and In re Thomas, [1899] 1 Q B 460, followed. BHIRATAN v JAYNARAIN (1910)
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 649

POWER OF ATTORNEY.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XLV, rr 15, 16, etc
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 832

See COMPLAINT . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 19

See ESTOPPEL . 2 Pat. L. J. 600

See MALABAR TARIWAD
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 918

See OATHS ACT (X OF 1873), ss 8, 9, 10
I. L. R. 38 All. 131

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 527

POWER-OF-ATTORNEY—contd.

See REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877)
s. 32 . 23 C. W. N. 73
s 33 . I. L. R. 32 All. 179

See STAMP ACT (II OF 1899), ss. 2 (21) AND 60; SCH I, ART 48 (g)
I. L. R. 33 All. 487

See VAKALATNAMA
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 884

— construction of—

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 74

Amendment of—Omission of name of mulhtar in the power, by mistake—Amendment of mistake by Court by allowing fresh power to be filed—Inherent jurisdiction of Court to allow amendment of mistake—Effect of amendment as to limitation—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) ss. 36, 37—Rules and Circular Orders, Ch XI, Art. 31 Where there is no doubt as to the fact that the mulhtar who filed an application for execution had in fact authority from the decree holder to do so, and that his name was omitted by mistake from the power of attorney the Court may, in its discretion, allow the power to be amended, upon proper application by the decree holder for the insertion of the name of the attorney. If such amendment is allowed, it takes effect from the date when the power of attorney was originally filed. CHHAYAMATNESSA BIBI v BASIRAB RAHMAN (1910)
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 399

Construction of general power-of-attorney—What is a—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) s 37 (a)—Stamp Act (II of 1889), Sch. I, Art 48—Single transaction, meaning of. A power of attorney which authorises a person to do all things and take all steps necessary to complete the execution of a decree is a general power-of-attorney within the meaning of s. 37 (a) of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882). Semble The expression "a single transaction," in the Stamp Act (II of 1889), Sch. I, Art 48, applies to a single act or acts so related to each other as to form one judicial transaction VENKATARAMANA IYER v NARASINGA RAO (1914)
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 134

Construction—Whether special or general—Agent's authorisation extending to all acts for one particular purpose—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O III, r 2 (a), High Court R 333 under s 322 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) A power of attorney was issued in plaintiff's favour in the following terms: "Accordingly I have become owner of the said mortgage bond. Out of the principal and interest due to me in respect of the said mortgage bond, nothing has been paid to me. As the time in respect of it is about to expire, and it is necessary for me to go to my native place, I have constituted and appointed the above named person my true and lawful attorney in this matter to recover all moneys due to me in respect of the principal and interest of the aforesaid mortgage bond by suing on my behalf in a civil Court or by coming to an amicable settlement, and to pass receipts for me, and on my behalf to sue and to receive process, and to do all such acts in this one matter as I, if present, would have done, or could have done or would have been permitted to do or would have been called upon

POWER-OF-ATTORNEY—could to do. The question being raised whether the power of attorney was a general power of attorney with the meaning of r III of the rules made by the High Court under s. 122 of the Civil Procedure Code 1908 or a special power of attorney held, that the power was a special power of attorney inasmuch as the agent's authorisation extended not to any class of business or employment, but was restricted to the doing of all necessary acts in the accomplishment of one particular purpose. Charles Palmer v Sorabji Jamshedji (1886) P J 63 applied. Venkataramana Iyer v Narasimha Rao I L R 33 Mad 131 not followed. VARDARI KANTURI v CHANDRAPPA (1916) I L R 41 Bom. 40

PRACTICE

See ACQUITTAL I L R 38 Cal. 788
I L R. 42 Cal. 612
I L R. 44 Cal. 703

See ADMINISTRATION SUIT
I L R 34 Bom. 423
I L R. 44 Cal. 890

See ADOPTION I L R. 37 Cal. 860
I L R. 32 All. 104

See AFFIDAVIT I L R 37 Cal. 259

See AMENDMENT OF PLEAD
I L R 45 Cal. 305

See APPEAL I L R 33 Cal. 307
I L R 42 Cal. 374 423
I L R 43 Cal. 833

See ARBITRATION
I L R 45 Bom. 1071

See ASSASSIN'S EXAMINATION OF
I L R. 40 Cal. 163

See ATTACHMENT I L R 40 Cal. 105

See ATTORNEY I L R. 43 Cal. 932

See ATTORNEY AND CLIENT
I L R 40 Cal. 336

See AWARD I L R 47 Cal. 806

See BAILIFF I L R. 42 Cal. 313

See BARRISTER I L R. 44 Cal. 741

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (LAW ACT III OF 1888) ss 140 (c) 143
(1) (a) AND (7) (d)
I L R 43 Bom. 231

See BOMBAY HIGH COURT RULES
I L R 36 Bom. 418

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE ACT 18 9
s. 65 I L R 45 Bom. 929

See BOMBAY REGULATION II OF 18 7
s. 52 I L R 37 Bom. 303

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT
1876 s 12 I L R 45 Bom. 1177

See BOOK OF REFERENCE
I L R 40 Cal. 898

See CHARGE I L R. 40 Cal. 163

See CHARGE CANCELLATION OF
I L R 39 Cal. 885

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 188 —
ss. 276 293 320 323A
I L R. 35 Bom. 516

PRACTICE—could

ss 321A 272, 285
I L R. 36 Bom. 519

s 539 I L R 35 Bom. 470

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—

s 10 I L R 44 Bom. 283

ss. 47 AND 104
I L R 44 Bom. 473

s 92 I L R. 40 Bom. 439

ss 86 100 I L R 36 Bom. 369

s 97 I L R 36 Bom. 536

I L R 37 Bom. 430

I L R 38 Bom. 531

I L R 45 Bom. 627

s 109 (c) I L R. 37 All. 124

s 115 I L R. 45 Bom. 832

O V s. 5 I L R. 38 Bom. 377

O V s. 15 23
I L R 33 All. 649

O VII s. 14 AND 18.
I L R 44 Bom. 625

O VIII s. 3 4 5
I L R 41 Bom. 89

O XVI s. 1 I L R 35 Bom. 35

O XVI s. 10 5 Pat. L. J 390

O XXI s. 35
I L R 34 All. 150

O XVI s. 60
I L R 44 Bom. 860

O XXII s. 10
I L R. 38 Bom. 668

O XXV s. 1 AND O XXVIII s. 1
I L R 36 Bom. 415

O XII s. 22
I L R 34 All. 140

O XLVII s. 1
I L R 38 Bom. 416

O XLVIII s. 9
I L R 38 All. 280

SCH. II PARA 10
I L R 45 Bom. 512

See COGNATE I L R 40 Cal. 854

See COMMISSION AGENT
I L R 45 Cal. 138

See COMPANIES ACT (VII OF 1913) s. 38.
I L R 41 Bom. 76

See COMPANY
I L R 47 Cal. 620 901

See COMPLAINT I L R 41 Cal. 1013

See CONSOLIDATION OF APPEAL
I L R 43 Cal. 95

See CONTEMPT OF COURT
15 C W N 771
I L R 42 Cal. 1169

See CONTRACT ACT 187 s. 10 AND 74
14 Pat. L. J 565

PRACTICE—contd

- See COSTS . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 190
 I. L. R. 46 Calc. 158, 795
 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1234
- See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898)—
 ss. 162, 283 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 699
 ss 197, 239, 532
 I. L. R. 43 Bom. 147
 s. 206 . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 355
 s 233 . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 619
 ss 248, 258, 315
 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 369
 s 263 . . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 931
 s 337, CL (3)
 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 146
 s 342 . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 672
 s 319 . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 719
 ss 397, 123 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 178
 s 435 . . . I. L. R. 43 All. 497
 s 437 . . . I. L. R. 40 All. 416
 s 438 . . . I. L. R. 36 All. 378
 s 476 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 267
 I. L. R. 38 All. 695
 I. L. R. 39 All. 367
 s. 520 . . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 253
 s 537 . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 110
- See CRIMINAL REVISIONAL JURISDICTION,
 I. L. R. 38 Calc. 933
 I. L. R. 40 Calc. 41
 I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1029
- See CROSS EXAMINATION
 I. L. R. 41 Calc. 299
 I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957
- See DAUGHTERS I. L. R. 34 Bom. 510
- See DECREE . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 627
 I. L. R. 38 Calc. 125
 I. L. R. 39 Bom. 80
 I. L. R. 37 Mad. 227
- See DEPOSITION I. L. R. 46 Calc. 895
- See DISCOVERY . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 428
 I. L. R. 41 Calc. 6
- See DIVORCE I. L. R. 41 Calc. 863
 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 547
- See DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1899)—
 s 23 . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 500
 s 37 . . . I. L. R. 38 All. 688
- See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 784
- See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)— ss 5, 32 AND 167 5 Pat. L. J. 410
 s. 30 . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 156
- See EXAMINATION ON COMMISSION
 I. L. R. 45 Calc. 697
- See EXECUTION OF DECREE
 I. L. R. 34 All. 518
 I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1072
 I. L. R. Calc. 515

PRACTICE—contd.

- See EX PARTE DECREE
 I. L. R. 41 Calc. 956
 I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1001
- See FRAUD . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 185
- See HABEAS CORPUS.
 I. L. R. 44 Calc. 76
- See HIGH COURT I. L. R. 34 Bom. 378
 I. L. R. 41 All. 587
 I. L. R. 37 Calc. 714
- See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
 I. L. R. 37 Mad. 435
- See HINDU LAW—WILL.
 I. L. R. 38 Calc. 188
- See IDOL I. L. R. 33 All. 735
- See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 42 Calc. 109
 I. L. R. 43 Calc. 243
 I. L. R. 44 Calc. 286
 I. L. R. 47 Calc. 56
- See INSOLVENT . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 550
- See INTERROGATORIES
 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 347
- See JOINDER OF CHARGES
 I. L. R. 43 Calc. 13
 I. L. R. 38 All. 457
- See JOINT ESTATE
 I. L. R. 43 Calc. 103
- See JURISDICTION I. L. R. 34 Bom. 13
 I. L. R. 35 All. 63
- See JURISDICTION OF CRIMINAL COURT
 FRESH PROCEEDINGS
 I. L. R. 40 Calc. 71
- See JURY, TRIAL BY
 I. L. R. 44 Calc. 723
- See LAND ACQUISITION
 I. L. R. 39 Calc. 33
 I. L. R. 43 Calc. 665
- See LAND ACQUISITION ACT (I OF 1894),
 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 486
- See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT (XVIII OF 1879), s 14 I. L. R. 38 All. 182
- See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION
 I. L. R. 40 Calc. 74
- See LETTERS PATENT, 1865, CL. 15
 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 423
- See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877)—
 ss 5 AND 7 . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 589
 s. 19, SCH. II, ART 148
 I. L. R. 35 All. 227
- See LOCAL INSPECTION
 I. L. R. 39 Calc. 476
 I. L. R. 44 Calc. 711
- See LOCAL INVESTIGATION
- See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE
 I. L. R. 42 Calc. 351
- See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WARP
 I. L. R. 37 Calc. 870
 I. L. R. 35 All. 63
- See MISJOINDER OF PARTIES.
 I. L. R. 45 Calc. 111

PRACTICE—contd.

- See MORTGAGE I L. R. 37 Calc. 907
I L. R. 38 Mad. 18
- See MURDER I L. R. 38 Calc. 488
- See MUNICIPAL ELECTION
I L. R. 39 Calc. 754
I L. R. 46 Calc. 119
- See MUNICIPALITY I L. R. 34 All. 649
- See NEW TRIAL, APPLICATION FOR
I L. R. 47 Calc. 763
- See PARTIES I L. R. 46 Calc. 48
- See PERJURY I L. R. 42 Calc. 240
I L. R. 43 Calc. 542
- See PLAINT I L. R. 43 Calc. 441
- See PLEADER & FEE
I L. R. 41 Calc. 637
- See PRE EMPTION
I L. R. 36 All. 476 514
- See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS
ACT (VI of 1882) ss 9 and 38
I L. R. 38 Mad. 823
- See PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT
(III of 1909) s 25
I L. R. 35 Bom. 47
- See PRIVY COUNCIL
I L. R. 40 All. 497
I L. R. 34 All. 57
- See PROBATE I L. R. 37 Calc. 224
I L. R. 39 Calc. 245
- See PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT
I L. R. 41 Calc. 113
- See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III of 190)—
s. 15 I L. R. 32 All. 645
ss 15 to 27 46 52
I L. R. 38 Mad. 15
- See PUBLIC PROSECUTOR
I L. R. 41 Calc. 425
I L. R. 42 Calc. 422
- See RECEIVER I L. R. 46 Calc. 352
- See RECORDS POWER TO CALL FOR
I L. R. 43 Calc. 239
- See RESCUE OF COURT FEE
I L. R. 40 Calc. 365
- See REMAND I L. R. 43 Calc. 1104
I L. R. 46 Calc. 733
- See REVIEW I L. R. 45 Calc. 80
I L. R. 35 Calc. 823
- See REVIVOR I L. R. 43 Calc. 903
- See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
I L. R. 44 Calc. 816
I L. R. 40 Calc. 423
- See SECURITY OF GOOD BEHAVIOUR.
I L. R. 41 Calc. 806
- See SOLICITORS LIEN FOR COSTS
I L. R. 34 Bom. 484
I L. R. 43 Calc. 676

PRACTICE—contd.

- See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I of 1877)—
s 9 I L. R. 40 All. 637
- See STAY OF EXECUTION
I L. R. 43 Calc. 796
- See SUMMONS SERVICE OF
I L. R. 43 Calc. 447
- See TITLE SUIT FOR DECLARATION OF
I L. R. 39 All. 440
- See TRANSFER OF APPEAL
I L. R. 40 Calc. 259
3 Pat. L. J 218
- See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT
s 52 I L. R. 37 Bom. 427
s 107 I L. R. 36 Bom. 500
- See VAKALATNAMA
I L. R. 43 Calc. 834
- See VALUATION OF SUIT
I L. R. 43 Calc. 225
- See WARRANT I L. R. 38 Calc. 769
- See WIFE'S COSTS I L. R. 44 Calc. 35
- See WINDING UP PETITION
I L. R. 34 Bom. 513
- See WITHDRAWAL OF SUIT
I L. R. 44 Calc. 454
- See WRITTEN STATEMENT
I L. R. 42 Calc. 957
- Assignment of decree—notice—adjournment (whether Court bound to grant)—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O
XXI s 16 5 Pat. L. J 390
- appeal Presentation of out of time—
See LIMITATION ACT 1908 SCH. I ART
15^o I L. R. 43 Bom. 376
- as to mode of proof—
See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872) ss. 4 90
I L. R. 37 Mad. 455
- award of Court—
See ANCIENT MONUMENTS PRESERVATION ACT (VII of 1904) ss 10 21
I L. R. 42 Bom. 100
- deaf and dumb accused—See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
of 1898) s 341
I L. R. 40 Bom. 598
- delay in filing process fees—
See LIMITATION 1 Pat. L. J 173
- appointment of guardian—Court's power to pass order regarding marriage pending appointment—
See GUARDIANS AND WARDEN ACT (VIII of 1890) ss 12 43 and 47
I L. R. 44 Bom. 690
- Order in personam against a party residing out of the Court's jurisdiction—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s. 10
I L. R. 44 Bom. 233
- documents relied on by plaintiff should be produced in Court along with the plaint—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O
VII s. 14 I L. R. 44 Bom. 625

PRACTICE—contd

Insolvency—Appearance of the insolvent to obtain a final order of discharge—

See PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III of 1909), ss 38 (b) AND 52 (2) (a)
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 555

Interest on overdraft—Implied contract to pay—

See BANKERS. I. L. R. 44 Bom. 474

Joint possession—Suit for recovery of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O XXI, r. 35. I. L. R. 34 All. 150

Execution of decree—Second Appeal—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, ss 47 AND 104 (2), O XXI, r. 80
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 472

Parties to appeal—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O XXI, r. 60. I. L. R. 44 Bom. 880

Publication of proceedings in pending cases—

See CONTEMPT OF COURT
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 443

Right to worship in a temple and to carry processions through public streets, suit whether of a civil nature—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, s. 9
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 410

Revision—Whether application should be to Sessions or District Judge—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 475.
I. L. R. 43 All. 497

Suit against a Receiver—application for leave—amendment of plaint—

See HIGH COURT I. L. R. 44 Bom. 903

Suit for possession—Conversion to suit for redemption—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O VI, r. 17. I. L. R. 44 Bom. 515

Commissioners appointed by Court to examine arbitration award—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, SCH. II, PARA 12 (f) AND (c)
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 512

Third party proceedings (Summons for directions)—

See LETTERS PATENT, 1861, cl. 15
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 428

Filing objections to arbitration award—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s. 115 SCH II PARA 16
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 832

Summary eviction for Breach of condition of the grant—

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM. ACT V OF 1879) ss. 68 79A
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 920

PRACTICE—contd

Reference to High Court under Bombay Revenue Jurisdiction Act—Taxation of Costs—Power of High Court to give direction as to how costs should be taxed—

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT (X OF 1876), s. 12
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1177

Minor—Purchase from—

See PARTITION SUIT
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 983

Reference to arbitration after suit without intervention of Court—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O XXIII r. 3, O VIII, RR 8 AND 9 AND SCH II, PARAS 1 to 17, 20 AND 21
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 245

Claim by a Parsi wife for Costs—

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (XV OF 1882)
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 318

Consent order for extension of time—

See ARBITRATION
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1071

Decree—Application to set aside sale by Collector—

See BOMBAY HIGH COURT CIVIL CIRCULARS, p. 106 n. 17
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1132

Inherent powers of Court to re-admit appeals—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 151, AND O XII r. 19
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 648

Mistake—Discovery of—when first Court's decree was passed—

See LIMITATION ACT 1908, SCH I, ART 96
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 582

Preliminary issue—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 ss 97 AND 2. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 827

Summons case—Magistrate to examine accused—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898) s. 342
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 872

Trial of an offence with the aid of assessors—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898) s. 234.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 619

1. Analogous appeals Two analogous appeals were preferred against the decisions of the Subordinate Judge and the District Judge respectively. In remanding the cases the High Court directed both cases to be tried by the District Judge. MAHJUDDIN SANDAS : ABTOOSH CHUKKIBUTTY (1910) 14 C. W. N. 352

2. Arbitration—Order of Judge refusing to decide whether arbitrators are going beyond scope of their authority—Judgment—Appeal—Construction of submission to arbitration—Insurance against fire—Liability of Company for further loss—Letters Patent 1865, cl. 15 The fact that a petition by nineteen different Companies was not signed by all the nineteen Companies and that the appeal from the order of the Judge dismissing the petition was by but one of the nineteen Companies, and the other Companies were not parties to it, would have required serious consideration if the Court had to revoke the submission to arbitration but when the order which the Court passes is only an intimation to the arbitrators of its opinion on the question of their jurisdiction it is immaterial whether all or some of the Companies are formally parties to the proceedings in appeal. As to the objection that even so far as the petition is by one Company, it is signed by one of its officers without any authorisation as required by law, the defect is a mere irregularity which can be cured, if necessary, by the Company putting in a power of attorney showing the authority given to a signatory ATLAS ASSURANCE COMPANY, LD v ARNESTHOF HARBOR (1908) L. L. R. 34 Bom. 1

PRACTICE—contd.

3. — Compromise—Court—Inherent powers—Compromise accepted by pleader not specially authorised in that behalf—Decree in terms of compromise—Decree set aside In the course of a suit, a compromise was presented which was signed by the defendants' pleader who was not specially authorised in that behalf. The Court passed a decree in terms of the compromise. The defendant then applied to the Court to set aside the decree on the ground that he did not engage the pleader and that he had not authorised the pleader to compromise the suit. The Court set aside the decree and set down the suit for hearing. Held that it is the inherent power of every Court to correct its own proceedings where it has been misled. Held also, that, under the circumstances, the compromise was not binding upon the defendant and the decree passed upon it was void as to him BASANDOWA v CHIRAKKIDOWA (1910) L. L. R. 24 Bom. 408

4. — Decree, amendment of—Decree not conformable to what the Court intended—Inherent power of Courts in India—Attachment, setting aside of—Sheriff's right to Poundage—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 152 The Courts in India have an inherent power to amend or vary decrees so as to bring them into accordance with the judgments, after they are signed by the Judges, even if they do not fall within s 152 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908). In re Swett, 29 Cal 2 239, referred to Ainsworth v Harding, [1898] 1 CA 673, distinguished. The Sheriff is only entitled to poundage on sums levied; so where a seizure is wrongful and is withdrawn by direction of law, the Sheriff receives no poundage. Mortimore v Cragg, 3 C. P. D 216. In re Ludmore, 13 Q B D 415, and In re Thomas, [1899] 1 Q B 460, followed. Prabhakar v Jayaraman (1910) L. L. R. 37 Cal. 643

5. — Decree, modification of the terms of, after appeal—Jurisdiction—Appellate Court, powers of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 113 S 148 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, cannot be taken to give any Court power to interfere with or modify its decree after there has been an appeal filed against the decree. The only Court that could, after an appeal had been preferred, modify the terms of the decrees, or extend the time fixed in the decree for its execution, or suspend the order made in

PRACTICE—contd.

the decrees, would be the Appellate Court. PARMA KAND DAS v KATRASINDHU ROR (1909) L. L. R. 37 Cal. 848

6. — Plaint, amendment of—Set against defendant on ground which failed not to be decreed on another ground—Application for leave to amend plaint after arguments heard in appeal disallowed—Res judicata A suit brought against the defendants on one ground which fails should not be decreed against them on another ground which they had no opportunity of meeting. After arguments in appeal have been heard, the Court will not allow an amendment of the plaint so as to convert a suit of one character into a suit of a substantially different character. If filed a suit in 1904 against A and J, the drawer and indorser respectively of two hundies. At the time of filing the suit J was ad. If obtained a decree against both defendants, which decree remained unsatisfied. In 1905 If filed a suit against the heirs of J on the same two hundies. Held, that the earlier suit having been filed against the firm of J and not against J personally, was a bar to the later suit. BAYARAI v HARI NOOK MAROMED (1908) L. L. R. 35 Bom. 244

7. — Reference under Legal Practitioners' Act—Jurisdiction—Legal Practitioners' Act (XI of 1879), ss 13, 14—Division Bench, jurisdiction of, to hear reference under the Act from subordinate Courts According to a long and undeviating course of practice, which may be regarded as the law of the Court, a Division Bench appointed to dispose of the civil business arising out of a particular group, has power to hear and dispose of a reference, under s 14 of the Legal Practitioners' Act, by the Presiding Officer of a Court within that Group. ANISAW CHANDRA MOTTRA, In re (1909) L. L. R. 37 Cal. 173

8. — "Same transaction"—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O 1, r 3, O 11, r 3—Grades of several defendants in one suit—"Same act or transaction"—"Series of acts or transactions" In reading O 1, r 3, of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), it seems quite obvious that the word "same" which precedes the words "acts or transaction" governs also the words "series of acts or transactions" and must be read before those words also. The first condition to be fulfilled before joining several persons as co-defendants in the same suit is that the right to relief sought in the suit must arise against all the defendants from the same act or transaction or from the same series of acts or transactions. The second condition to be fulfilled under the rule is that some common question either of fact or law should arise against the defendants if separate suits were brought against such persons. Before a plaintiff can join several defendants in the same suit both the conditions laid down in the rule must be fulfilled. First, the relief sought against the defendants whether jointly, severally or in the alternative, must arise from the same act or transaction or the same series of acts or transactions. And, secondly, there must arise between the plaintiff and all the defendants some common question of law or fact. The plaintiff may in one action unite several causes of action against several defendants provided that all such defendants are "jointly liable in respect of each and all of such causes of action" and that the condition precedent to the plaintiff being allowed to join several causes of action against several defendants is that such defendants must all "have a joint interest in the main question raised by the litigation" and that causes of action joined in one suit against several defendants must be causes of action in which "the defendants are all jointly interested." It is not necessary that every defendant should be interested as to all the reliefs claimed in the suit but it is necessary that there must be a cause of action in which all the defendants are more or less interested although the relief asked against them may vary UMRAI v BHAI BALWANT (1903)

PRACTICE—contd.

L. L. R. 34 Bom. 358

9. ——— Third-party procedure—Directions, refusal to give—Discretion The general principle on which a Court will issue third party directions is:—(i) that there must be a clear case of contribution or indemnity from the third party, (ii) that all the disputes arising out of a transaction as between the plaintiff and the defendant and between the defendant and a third party can be tried and settled in one suit, and (iii) that in cases of contract and sub-contract it must appear that the contract between the plaintiff and the defendant has been imported into the contract between the defendant and the third party. Under the rules now in force, the third party cannot be cited so as to be bound by the trial of one particular question which is identical as between the plaintiff and the defendant and as between the defendant and the third party Barter v France (No. 2), (1895) 1 Q B 591, followed. W & A. GRAHAM & Co., v CHUNILAL HANILAL & Co (1909)

L. L. R. 34 Bom. 423

10. ——— Vakil's right to appear before a Judge sitting on the Original Side of the High Court—Application to file warrant of attorney—Extraordinary Civil Jurisdiction—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 635—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s. 119, 129 A vakil of the High Court applied before a Judge sitting on the Original Side of the Court, claiming a right to file a warrant of attorney in respect of a suit pending before the Madras District Court, in which a rule had been issued calling upon the plaintiffs to show cause why the suit should not be transferred to the High Court in its Extraordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction. Held, that having regard to the long-continued course of practice during which vakils never appeared on the hearing of such applications, the present application should be refused. Held further, that the Civil Procedure Code of 1908 has nothing to do with a matter governed by old rules in force before 1909. JAY A VAKIL'S APPLICATION (1910)

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 853

11. ——— Raising of Issues. The practice of raising a number of issues which do not state the main questions in the suit but only various subsidiary matters of fact upon which there is not agreement between the parties is very embarrassing. Issues should be confined to questions of law arising on the pleadings and such questions of fact as it would be necessary for the Judge to frame for decision by the jury in a jury trial at nisi prius in England. WEST END WATCH COMPANY v BENSA WATCH COMPANY (1910)

L. L. R. 35 Bom. 425

12. ——— Redemption suit—Second suit an ejectment—Res judicata—Court—Discretion—

PRACTICE—contd.

ejectment suit a decree for redemption can be passed—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11 Expl. IV. It is the practice of the Bombay High Court to pass a decree for redemption in a case in which the plaintiff has sued in ejectment. That is purely in the exercise of the Court's discretionary power, and it can hardly be maintained that the plaintiff failing in an ejectment suit ought to pray for the alternative relief by way of redemption, when the Court is not bound to grant it as a matter of right. MAHOMED IERA HIM v SHEIKH HAMJA (1911)

L. L. R. 25 Bom. 507

13. ——— Local Inspection—Subordinate Judge—Personal view of disputed premises—Appreciation of evidence based on the personal view The plaintiff, in a suit to establish easement of passing his rain water over the defendant's field, tried to make out his right by the evidence of his witnesses who deposed that the passage for the rain water had all along existed and was still visible to the eye. The Subordinate Judge visited the spot in question at the request of both parties, to test the veracity of the witnesses, but, finding that there was no passage at the spot, he dismissed the witnesses and dismissed the suit. On appeal it was contended that the Subordinate Judge had wrongly decided the case, because he had disposed of it not by appreciating the evidence, but by the light of his own view of the passage. Held that there was no error in the procedure adopted by the Subordinate Judge. LAKMI DAS KHUSHAL v BHAIJI KHUSHAL (1911)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 31

14. ——— Security for cost—Infant plaintiff—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), Sec. 10 XXV r 1 It is not desirable to run any risk of stopping a suit filed on behalf of an infant, which may be a proper suit to bring merely because of some inability on the part of the next friend to give security for costs. BHAISHANKER AMBHASHANKER v MULJI ASHARAM (1910)

L. L. R. 35 Bom. 339

15. ——— Sentence—Magistrate passing non-appealable sentence—Adding to sentence to make it appealable—Appeal to Sessions Judge—The Sessions Judge to entertain the appeal and to decide it on merits—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898), s. 13 The Magistrate trying a case passed at first a non-appealable sentence on the accused, but at the request of the accused, made an addition to the sentence passed so as to make it appealable. When the accused appealed to the Sessions Judge his appeal was dismissed on the ground that no appeal lay inasmuch as the sentence first passed by the Magistrate was not appealable and the addition to the sentence could not be made legally. In revision. Held, that the Sessions Judge had committed an error in holding that he had no jurisdiction to hear the appeal, for though the Magistrate had no jurisdiction to alter the sentence once passed by him, yet for the purposes of the Sessions Judge's jurisdiction, so far as the appeal was concerned that was the very mistake which he was called upon to correct by way of appeal. When the appeal was heard again by the Sessions Judge he struck out the addition made by the Magistrate in the sentence, and having done that, dismissed the appeal on the ground that the sentence appealed from was not appealable. In revision. Held, that when the Magistrate had passed a sentence beyond one month, an appeal lay to the Sessions Judge, under s. 413 of the Criminal Procedure Code whether that sentence was passed legally or illegally. Held also, that the Sessions Judge being once seized of the appeal the whole appeal became open to his Court, even on merits. EMPEROR v KASHAVALL VIRCHAND (1911) I. L. R. 35 Bom. 418

PRACTICE—contd.

16. ———— Service of summons—Procedure—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O V r 25—Service of summons by registered post on defendant residing out of British India—Summons returned marked "Refused to take—General Clauses Act (V of 1897) s 27 A summons was sent by registered post addressed to the first defendant at Navalgur in the State of Jaipur and purported to be sent in accordance with the provisions of O V r 25 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908). The cover was returned with an endorsement in the vernacular which was translated as follows:— "Refused to take. The handwriting of Chunial, postman." Held, that, as it appeared that the cover was properly addressed to the first defendant and had been registered, duly stamped and posted the Court was entitled to draw the inference indicated in s. 27 of the General Clauses Act and to hold that there was sufficient service. Per Curiam. The only rule if it can be called a rule to be laid down, is that the Court must be guided in each case by its special circumstances as to how far it will give effect to a return of a cover enforced "refused" or words to the like effect. Jayant Nath Brakbhau v J E Sassoon I L R 18 Bom. 606 distinguished. BALRAM RAMKISSEY v HAI PANNABAI (1910) I. L. R. 35 Bom. 213

17. ———— Setting aside consent decree A consent decree once duly obtained cannot be set aside by a rule, but if it is sought to impeach it upon grounds of fraud, that must be done in a regular suit. The only alternative which the law allows is an application for review of judgment. FATKABAI v SONBAI (1911)

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 77

18. ———— Appellate Court, duty of—Defective judgment—Omission to consider the defence evidence in a bad livelihood case—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss 110 118 367 and 424 It is the duty of the Appellate Court, on an appeal from an order under ss 110 and 118 of the Criminal Procedure Code, to look into the evidence for the defence, and after dealing with it to come to a decision thereon, notwithstanding that the counsel for the appellant has practically ignored it during his arguments. TIPOT HOSSEIN v EMPEROR (1912) I. L. R. 40 Cal. 376

19. ———— Criminal Proceedings—Special Leave to Appeal—Limit of jurisdiction—Leave to appeal from convictions and sentences on the grounds of alleged irregular conduct of the proceedings misdirection to the jury, and misrecapitulation of evidence refused, the case not coming within the principle as laid down in Ja re Dillet, 12 App Cas, 439 CLIFFORD v KING EMPEROR (1913) I. L. R. 40 I. A. 241

20. ———— Magistrate cannot invite District Magistrate's opinion While a Magistrate was trying a case, a question arose whether the accused was amenable to his jurisdiction

PRACTICE—contd.

The Magistrate felt himself doubtful on the question and he referred it to the District Magistrate for opinion. On receipt of the opinion he directed the trial to proceed before him. Held, that it was not competent to the Magistrate to seek the opinion of the District Magistrate in the way he did, but that he should finish the inquiry and complete the record by the reception of all evidence of relevant facts including the facts which bear upon the question of the accused's amenability to a British Court's jurisdiction, and then consider for himself the question of law arising on those facts. EMPEROR v ABDUL RAHMAN (1912) I. L. R. 37 Bom. 144

21. ———— Evidence—Defendant's right to offer evidence Where the defendant appears and the plaintiff does not appear or offers no evidence when a suit is called on for hearing, the Court has no jurisdiction except to dismiss the suit for want of prosecution; the defendant is not entitled to have his evidence heard before the suit is dismissed. Ex parte Jacobson, L. R. 22, Ch. D 312, distinguished. KESHI CHAND v NATIONAL JUTE MILLS CO (1912) I. L. R. 40 Cal. 119

22. ———— Cause of action—Promissory Note—Consideration for Note—Separate Causes of Action—Ceylon Civil Procedure Code (Ordinance II of 1889), s 34 S 34 of the Ceylon Civil Procedure Code, 1889 (which is in the same terms as the Indian Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, O 2, r 2), provides that every action shall include the whole of the claim which the plaintiff is entitled to make in respect of the cause of action, and that a plaintiff cannot afterwards sue for a part of the claim omitted from an action, or (without leave) for another remedy for the same cause of action. The respondent sued upon promissory notes, but the action failed owing to a material alteration in the notes. He afterwards sued to recover a part of the consideration for which the promissory notes had been given. Held, that although the claims in the two actions arose out of the same transaction, they were in respect of different causes of action, and that, consequently, the second action was not brought contrary to s 34 of the Code and could be maintained. PATANA REXA SAMIYATHAN v PANA LANA PALANIAPPA (1913) L. R. 41 I. A. 142 18 C W N 617

23. ———— Withdrawal of suit—Material irregularity—Revision—High Court, power of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 115—High Courts Act, 1861, s 15 In a suit to set aside a revenue sale the evidence on both sides had been heard, the plaint amended during such evidence the arguments of both parties completed, the case closed and the judgment reserved. The plaintiffs then applied for leave to withdraw the suit with liberty to bring a fresh suit on the same cause of action. This application was granted on the ground of formal defects. The plaintiffs, subsequently, instituted a fresh suit. Thereupon, the defendant moved the High Court to set aside the order and obtained a Rule. Held, that the High Court had no power to deal with this case under s 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Kharda Co., Ltd. v Durga Charan Chandra, 11 C L J 45, Dick v Dick, 1 L R 15 All 169, and Tumpkin v Mutu 1 L. R. 11 Mod 322, distinguished. BANSI SINGH v KISHAN LALL THAKUR (1913) I. L. R. 41 Cal. 632

PRACTICE—contd

24. — Admission of fresh evidence—Appellate Court—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r 27 Where an Appellate Court desires to admit fresh papers in evidence, under r 27 of O XXI of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), it must record its reasons in writing for doing so and admit them formally in evidence. DAJI BABAJI v SAKHARAM KRISHNA (1914)

I L R. 38 Bom. 885

25. — Previous conviction—Relevancy of previous conviction for the purpose of determining extent of sentence—Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s 75—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s 54, 165 The proof of a previous conviction not contemplated by s 75 of the Indian Penal Code may be adduced after the accused is found guilty, as an element to be taken into consideration in awarding punishment. Per SMITH, J.—The proof of a previous conviction not contemplated by s 75 of the Indian Penal Code may be adduced provided the previous conviction is relevant under the Indian Evidence Act. The whole question, therefore, is whether the previous conviction in question is relevant under the Act. It is certainly relevant with reference to the question whether the provisions of s 562 of the Code of Criminal Procedure would apply to this case, and it seems to me to be otherwise relevant on the question of punishment. EMPEROR v ISMAIL ALI BHAI (1914) I L R. 39 Bom. 326

26. — Reference for Assessment of damages—A reference should be directed by the Court to assess damages only when the enquiry would involve questions of detail which it would be wasting the time of the Court to investigate. Wallis v Sayers, 6 T L R 356, referred to D N GHOSH & BROS v POPAT NARAYAN BROS (1915) I L R. 42 Calc. 819

27. — Execution of decrees—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XXI, r 41—Judgment-debtor, examination of—Application by judgment-debtor to have order for examination set aside. An application under O XXI, r 41, of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, made ex parte on a verified tabular statement, is in order. The judgment-debtor is entitled to be heard to have such order set aside, but he should apply on summons. The object of O XXI, r 41 is to obtain discovery for purposes of execution to avoid unnecessary trouble in obtaining satisfaction of money decrees. Although an order for personal examination is likely to operate harshly and cause unnecessary harassment and obviously ought not to be made unless the Court is satisfied about the bona fides of the application and its urgent necessity, still such applications may be usefully encouraged to prevent unduly dilatory, troublesome and expensive execution proceedings. In re Premji Trikumdas, I L P 11 Bom 514, referred to NATIONAL BANK OF INDIA, Ltd v A K. GRUVAYI (1915) I L R. 43 Calc 235

28. — Charge to jury—Misdirection—Omission to direct jury on points falling in accused's favour—High Court—Interference—Statements made by accused before Committing Magistrate—Admissibility—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 237—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s 24—Person in authority—Police Officer arresting the accused. The High Court will interfere in those cases where it is made to apear that the Sessions Judge has prejudiced the accused by omitting from his charge to the jury points of capital importance telling in accused's favour. The phrase "a person in authority" in s 24 of the Indian Evidence Act would include the Police Officer who arrests one of the persons accused of the offence. Quere Whether the statement made by an accused before the Committing Magistrate is governed by s 237 of the Criminal Procedure Code or by s 24 of the Indian Evidence Act. EMPEROR v FAKIRA APFYA (1915)

PRACTICE—contd

I L R. 40 Bom. 220

29. — Partition Suit—Parties—Review—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 152, O XLVII, r 1—Partition of undivided share—Fraudulent representation Where the mortgagees of the plaintiff's share in a partition suit applied (i) to be added as parties to the suit, and (ii) for revocation of an order made by another Judge directing a sale of the one-fourth share of certain premises which is one of the properties to be partitioned in the suit on the ground that the conduct of the mortgagors and their attorneys was fraudulent and that the said order was made without jurisdiction. Held, that one Judge cannot set aside an order made by another Judge, even though the order be wrong. The remedy lies in review on the ground set out in O XLVII, r 1. Sharup Chant Mala v Pat Dassee I L R 14 Calc 627, Jatra Mohun Sen v Aukhil Chandra Choudhury, I L R 24 Calc 331, referred to BASANTA KUMAR DAS v KUSUM KUMARI DAS (1916) I L R. 44 Calc 23

30. — Suit filed by an agent on behalf of an absent plaintiff—Objection raised as to authority of agent—Duty of Court in which plaint is presented. In the case of a suit filed by an agent on behalf of an absent plaintiff, where the authority of the plaintiff to have a suit brought at all and to allow his name to be used as a plaintiff in the case is seriously questioned, that is a matter of principle which it is a Court's duty to decide, and unless it is shown that the plaintiff has in fact authorized the suit, either expressly or impliedly, a Court ought not to grant a decree in his favour. But where authority has been given by the plaintiff in some form or another, and the question is whether the agent has complied with the rules as laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure, that is not a question of principle at all, but a question of practice and procedure. It is the first Court's business to see that the rules are complied with and it should not leave the investigation of that question to the Appellate Court. But a suit should not be dismissed without the party who has failed to comply with the rules of procedure being given an opportunity of correcting the defect in procedure, if there be any. RAMAN LALJI v GORUL NATHJI (1917)

I L R. 39 All 343

31. — Modification of Order—Order of Judge on Original Side of the High Court—Jurisdiction to modify order before formally drawing up the order. A Judge on the Original Side of the High Court has jurisdiction to modify the minutes of an order before the formal order is drawn up. MAHBOOB BI v SHERIFA BI (1918)

I L R. 42 Mad. 268

32. — Judgment containing remarks against a person who is neither party nor witness. It is very undesirable that a Judge

PRACTICE—contd

or Magistrate should make remarks which are prejudicial to the character of a person who is neither a party nor a witness in the proceeding before him, and who has therefore no opportunity of giving an explanation or defending himself against the remarks made by the Court. In re HOLIBASSARPA (1929) 1 L. R. 45 Bom 1127

33. ————— Probate and Administration proceedings—Appeals—Rules of the High Court 35, 36, 38—Fees payable to legal practitioners in appeals from orders granting or refusing probate or letters of administration: the fee allowable to a legal practitioner is regulated by rule 38 and not by rr. 35 and 36 of the Appellate Side Rules of the High Court. SIDHA CHETTY v VENKA SAKOTA CHETTY (1920) 1 L. R. 43 Mad. 232

34. ————— Revision—Application to the High Court to revise a proceeding under s. 131 Criminal Procedure Code without moving the Judge in the first instance—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) ss. 435, 438, 439. It is not the practice of the High Court to entertain an application in revision against an order made by a Magistrate in a proceeding under s. 133 of the Criminal Procedure Code unless the party aggrieved has first moved the Sessions Judge under ss. 430 and 434. RASH BEHARY SAHA v PHANI BURHAN HALDAR (1920) 1 L. R. 43 Calo. 534

35. ————— Judicial Committee—Compromise of Appeal—Parties not sub jure—Certificate of High Court. When a person not sub jure is a party to an appeal to His Majesty in Council and, an agreement by way of compromise having been made, it is desired to obtain leave to withdraw the appeal the regular and usual course is to obtain a certificate from the High Court from which the appeal is preferred that the agreement is for the benefit of that party. It is only in rare cases that the Judicial Committee will itself make the necessary inquiries and grant leave without a certificate, as was done in Salimbas v Shrinibas, 1 L. R. 47 I. A. 89. GORINDA CHANDRA PAL v KAILASH CHANDRA PAL (1921) 1 L. R. 48 Calo. 894

36. ————— Peremptory order dismissing action—Order dismissing action in default of condition precedent—Difference—Order not completed or filed, effect of, on suit. On the suit coming for hearing on the 10th April 1919 it was ordered that it be adjourned to the 1st June 1919 that the plaintiff was to pay to day's costs and was to pay Rs. 200 as a condition precedent before the 1st June to the defendant's attorney, refundable on taxation of bills, and that in default the suit would be dismissed with costs and no further adjournment would be granted. This order was never drawn up or filed. The suit came up again on the 25th June 1919, when it was adjourned though opposed on the ground that the suit could not proceed, on an application of the surviving plaintiff to enable substitution in respect of one of the plaintiffs, who had died on the 28th June 1919. On the 25th August 1919, the surviving plaintiff obtained an ex parte order recording the death of the deceased plaintiff. On the 13th January 1921, when the suit was on the Special List plaintiffs applied that it would be placed in the Prospective List. It was contended on behalf of the defendants that the suit was dead. Held that irrespective of subsequent proceedings or any question of drawing up of the order, and in the absence of any appeal from the order, the dismissal would be from the date of the order had it contained the words 'in default the suit will stand dismissed' but in the terms of the order of the 10th April 1919, continuing conditions precedent, a further order of the Court was necessary before the suit was dead. SENHATA v KRISTO MOHON SRAW (1921) 1 L. R. 48 Calo. 902

PRACTICE—contd

PRADHAN

————— Status of in Santal Parganas—tenants induced by pradhan, whether can set up adverse possession as against the landlord. Although a pradhan in the Santal Parganas is not a tenant holder as defined in the Bengal Tenancy Act he has all the attributes of a tenant holder and tenants induced on to the land by him cannot acquire title by adverse possession as against the landlord. RAM CHARAN SINGH v L. W. BERRY 5 Pat. L. J. 656 ————— pre-emption—mukar: interest sale of—whether right of pre-emption arises. The doctrine of pre-emption applied only to the sale of the proprietary interest and therefore, does not apply to the sale of the mukarrar interest. SHAHID MOHAMMAD JAMIL v KHUSAL RAUT 5 Pat. L. J. 740

PRAGWAL

————— Right of pragwal to exclusive use of a flag of a certain design—Suit for injunction—Birla jaymani. Held, that a pragwal may acquire a right to the use of a flag of a particular design so as to enable him to sue for an injunction against any other pragwal making use of a flag with a similar design for the purpose of diverting pilgrims from the original owner. Ganesh v Dabhi Ram 1 L. R. 37 All. 72 referred to. BENT MADHO PRAGWAL v JIMA LAL 1 L. R. 43 All. 20

PRAYERS

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, s. 92
1 L. R. 36 Bom. 168

PREAMBLE.

See CONSTRUCTION OF STATUTES
20 C. W. N. 1158

PRE-EMPTION

	Cols
CONTRACT	3333
CUSTOM	3333
FORMALITIES	3337
MORTGAGE	3338
POSSESSION	3338
PRE MORTGAGE	3339
PRICE	3340
RIGHT OF PRE-EMPTION	3340
WATER AND	3347
MISCELLANEOUS	3353

See BUNDELAH ALIENATION ACT (II OF 1903) s. 3 1 L. R. 37 All. 662

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, ss. 2, 104, 143 1 L. R. 35 All. 582

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O. XVI s. 88 1 L. R. 35 All. 296

PRE-EMPTION—contd.

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1870), s 7
CLS (v) and (vi)

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I L R. 35 ALL 564

See LETTERS PATENT, s 10
I L R. 34 ALL 13

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s. 4
I L R. 41 ALL 47

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE EMPTION

See PRADHAN
5 Pat. L. J. 740

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882
s 53 . . . I L R. 43 ALL 314

decree for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882 s. 368,
I L R. 32 ALL 301

— In respect of sale effected by compromise in a suit for land—

I L R. 1 Lab. 109

— Extension of time for payment of purchase money—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908,
ss 104 & 148

I L R. 35 ALL 582
O XX, N 14 . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 92

right of—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SEC I,
ART 120 I L R. 38 Mad. 67

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE EMPTION
I L R. 33 Bom. 183

Registration—Whether sale complete without—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882,
s 54 . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 174

suit for—

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1870)
s 7 (vi) I L R. 40 ALL 353

CONTRACT

— Rule against Perpetuities—Promisor, heirs of, not enforceable against—Perpetuities, rule of, applicable to Hindu law also A contract of pre-emption (with reference to sale of lands), which fixes no time within which the agreement to convey is to be performed cannot be enforced against the heirs of the person who entered into the contract as it infringes the rule against perpetuities The rule of perpetuities is applicable to Hindus also Nabin Chandra Soot v Nabin Chandra Sarna & C W N 343, followed KOLATHU
AYYAR v RANGA VADRYAN (1912)

I L R. 38 Mad. 114

— Held, that an option to arise on any intended sale or other alienation is subject to the rule against perpetuities NABIN CHANDRA SARMA v RAJANI CHANDRA CHAKRA PARTY . . . 25 C W. N. 902

CUSTOM

See PRE-EMPTION—WAJIB UL-AZAR

See CUSTOM

1. — Nature of evidence required to establish a custom of pre-emption The

PRE-EMPTION—contdCUSTOM—contd.

plaintiffs claimed a right, based upon contract or custom, to pre-empt a sale of zamindari property The property was situated in one of the three mahals of a village named Suram The plaintiffs were not co-sharers with the vendors in that mahal the vendees were strangers In 1873 the village Suram consisted of a single mahal and the village wajib ul arz of that date contained the following reference to pre-emption—
'In future if any patidar wishes to transfer his share by sale to a stranger first, the sharers in the patlikhas, then patidars in the thok, and then d gar patidarani deh shall have a right to purchase'

In 1883 perfect partition took place, and the village was divided into three separate mahals A fresh wajib ul arz was drawn up for each of the new mahals but in each the provisions regarding pre-emption were copied verbatim from the wajib ul arz of 1873 Held (i) that the plaintiffs had failed to establish any right of pre-emption based on contract, (ii) that the oral evidence was worthless as supporting the custom set up by the plaintiffs, and (iii) that the evidence afforded by the wajib ul arzes of 1873 and 1883 was quite insufficient to establish the right claimed by the plaintiffs if such right was to be regarded as one based on an alleged custom Dalgajyan Singh v Kalka Singh, I L R 22 All 1, referred to Auseri Lal v Ram Bhayan Lal I L R 27 All 602, and Sardar Singh v Iyaz Hussain
Khan I L R 28 All 614, discussed GANGA
SINGH v CHEDI LAL (1911)

I L R. 33 ALL 605

2. — Wajib ul arz—
Custom or contract—Construction of document—Regulation VII of 1832 In a suit for pre-emption wajib ul arzes of 1830 and 1869 were produced The preamble to the former was worded thus—'Having well understood the following matters we willingly accept them.
It then dealt with the right of pre-emption in the following terms—'Mode of sale or transfer of whole or part of share giving the right of pre-emption to co-sharers as against strangers and concluded with the words 'therefore we write this agarnama so that it may be of use in future' The wajib ul arz of 1869 provided that 'near co-sharers and other patidars would have the right of pre-emption Preference amongst them would be according to degree of nearness'—Held (STANLEY, C J, dissenting) that the wajib ul arzes contained the record of custom and not of contract Per STANLEY,
C J—A custom to be binding must be unaltered, uniform constant and definite If the settlement of 1833 recorded a custom then the co-sharers in the village at the time of the later settlement of 1869 must be deemed to have abrogated it and to have adopted by agreement the right of pre-emption which is recorded in the later wajib ul arz as more suitable to the then existing conditions The variance in the rights as defined in two wajib ul arzes leads to the conclusion that the right recorded in 1869, cannot be treated as a right existing by custom Per KNOX and CHAMBER JJ—The word agrar does not necessarily mean a contract It means ratification or assent RETURAJI DUBAIN, v PAHALWAN BHAGAT
(1910) . . . I L R. 33 ALL 198

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*CUSTOM—contd

3 ———— Custom—Wajib ul-urz—Owner of isolated revenue free plots—Evidence of custom The pre-emptive clause of a wajib ul-urz contained the following provisions:—

If the owner of a share wish to sell it he shall do so first to his near relation, who may be a co-sharer in the zamindari and in case of his refusal to anyone he likes" Held that this by itself was not sufficient evidence of a custom giving owners of isolated revenue free plots of land in the village a right to pre-empt. MAWASI v. MULL CHAND (1910) I L R. 34 ALL 434

4 ———— Evidence—Sales to strangers unchallenged as evidence negating custom—Mode in which such sales should be proved Where the Court is trying the issue of the existence or non-existence of a custom of pre-emption, every instance of a sale to a stranger is material evidence which the Court ought to take into consideration and weigh when coming to a conclusion on the issue. But a mere vague statement that there had been sales to strangers without the production of the sale deeds or certified copies thereof and without some further data is of the sale, is not sufficient to prove sales to strangers. Sewak Singh v. Gurja Pandit, 2 ALL L J 6 discussed. JAMAL MISHRA v. RAYGO SINGH (1913) I L R. 35 ALL 472

5 ———— Wajib ul-urz—Custom—Effect of perfect partition The wajib ul-urz of an undivided village supported a finding that there existed a custom of pre-emption amongst the co-sharers in the village. Subsequently to the framing of this wajib ul-urz a perfect partition of the village took place. Held that the basis of such a custom was the coparcenary relation and that after partition a co-sharer in one mahal could not claim pre-emption in respect of property sold in another mahal in which the pre-emptor was not a co-sharer. Dalgunjan Singh v. Kalita Singh, I L R 22 ALL 1 and Ganga Singh v. Cheli Lal I L R 33 ALL 695 referred to. MUHAMMAD MAHMOUD ALI KHAN v. RAJENDR NAR DATTAL (1915) I L R. 33 ALL 27

6 ———— Custom—Vendor bound to offer to co-sharers—Refusal to purchase—Refusal to give more than a fixed price The custom in pursuance of which a right of pre-emption was claimed being that the vendor was bound to offer the property for sale to his co-sharer and only in case of their refusal he could sell to a stranger the vendor offered the property in dispute to the pre-emptor who offered only Rs 160 for it and refused to give more. The vendor thereupon sold it for Rs. 235 to the defendants. Held that the conduct of the plaintiff amounted to a refusal to purchase the property and the vendor was not obliged to give him the option of taking up the contract which he subsequently made for Rs. 235. Keshal Lal v. Kalka Prasad, I L R 47 ALL 670 discussed. IRONAKI v. BANERJEE CHAKRABARTY (1915) I L R. 37 ALL 233

7 ———— Wajib ul-urz—Prevalence—Custom—Finding of fact—Second appeal In a suit for pre-empt on brought on the basis of custom if the Court considers the proper issue in the case namely whether the custom alleged does or does not exist, and on the evidence

PRE-EMPTION—*contd.*CUSTOM—contd

comes to the conclusion that it does not exist, the finding is one of fact and is binding on the High Court in second appeal. BABU MAL v. TANSEN RAI (1915) I L R. 37 ALL 524

8 ———— Custom—Effect on pre-existing custom of village coming to be owned by a single individual When a mahal in respect of which there exists a custom of pre-emption comes into the ownership of a single individual the effect is to put an end to the custom and not merely that the custom falls into abeyance. KANHUN NISSA BINI v. SUGRA BINI (1917) I L R. 39 ALL 450

9 ———— Wajib ul-urz—Custom—Property to be offered first to a co-sharer In a pre-emption suit the custom being that a co-sharer wishing to sell his property should first offer it to the other co-sharers, if the vendor goes to the other co-sharers and informs them of his desire to sell, and they decline to purchase on the ground that they have not the means or on any other similar ground, the vendor is at liberty, without violating the custom to sell to a stranger. If however a co-sharer offers to purchase at a particular value the vendor ought not to sell to a stranger at a lower price. NATURAL SINGH v. RAM PATAN (1916) I L R. 39 ALL 127

10 ———— Custom—Wajib ul-urz—Right of pre-emption acquired by means of imperfect partition of the village There being a pre-existing custom of pre-emption in a village, a right of pre-emption may arise in favour of an individual co-sharer just as much by the creation of a new partition by imperfect partition as by purchase by the co-sharer of a share in the patti. Mahadeo Prasad Sahu v. Jaipal Raut, 8 Indian Cases 587 dissented from. LALTA PRASAD CHAUDHARI v. GOKUL PRASAD (1918) I L R. 40 ALL 617

11 ———— Entry in Wajib ul-urz clear and unambiguous—Where there is an entry in the Wajib ul-urz as to the right of pre-emption which is clear and distinct and there is no evidence to the contrary the Court ought, having regard to the prevailing practice to hold that the custom of pre-emption exists. FAZAL HUSSAIN v. MUHAMMAD SHARIF I L R. 36 ALL 471

12 ———— Partition The Wajib ul-urz of an undivided village afforded evidence of the existence of a custom of pre-emption in the village between co-sharers. Subsequently the village was divided by perfect partition into several mahals each adopting the old custom. Held that no right of pre-emption survived as between the different mahals. I L R 33 ALL 605, referred to.

I L R. 41 ALL 426

13 ———— Hindus in Surat—Pre-emption of agricultural lands—Proof of custom Though the Hindus in Surat have adopted the Mahomedan law of pre-emption by a long established custom with regard to houses it is an open question whether they have adopted the law with regard to agricultural lands. JAGJIVAN HANIBHAI v. KALIDAS MEHTA (1920) I L R. 45 Bom. 604

14 ———— Held, that there was a custom of pre-emption existed amongst

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*CUSTOM—contd

Hindus in Ahmedabad. MOTILAL DAYANBHAI v HARILAL MAGANLAL. I L R 44 Bom. 696

15 ———— Held, that in the district of Bulsar when the Ilanah School of Mahomedan Law prevails, neighbours have equal right to pre-empt and there is nothing which is contrary to the principles of justice, equity and good conscience in allowing two neighbours who have equal rights of pre-emption to exercise them Gokaldas v Parlab (1916), 18, Bom L R 693, not followed VITKALDAS KAKHADAS v JANETRAM. I L R 44 Bom. 887

16 ———— Custom—Wajib ul arz—Partition of villages—Old custom adopted in new mahals—Right of pre-emption not surviving as between the new mahals The Wajib ul arz of an undivided village afforded evidence of the existence of a custom of pre-emption in the village between co-sharers Subsequently the village was divided by perfect partition into several mahals and each of the new mahals adopted the old custom Held, that no right of pre-emption survived as between the different new mahals Ganga Singh v Chedi Lal I L R 33 All 605, referred to DIXONNANDAN v MAHTAB PAI (1919) I L R 41 All 426

FORMALITIES.

1 ———— Mahomedan law—Talab-i-shahid Held, that a Mahomedan pre-emptor cannot validly make the talab-i-shahid by letter when he is in a position to do so in person MUHAMMAD KHALEEL v MUHAMMAD IBRAHIM (1916) I L R 38 All 201

2 ———— Suit by Hindu—Mahomedan law of sale whether applicable—Sale complete, when—Ceremonies necessary before pre-emption compliance with—S 37, Act XII of 1887 Per MULLICK, J There being special custom pleaded a case where pre-emption is claimed by a Hindu must be tried on the principles of justice equity and good conscience under s 37, Act XII of 1887 As a sale is not complete till legal ownership passes no matter whether there has been payment and delivery the pre-emptor's title in the case of a property worth more than Rs 100 does not accrue till after registration It would be against equity, justice and good conscience to apply in such a case the Mahomedan law of sale which is no longer in force and to attach to a mere contract for sale an incident which the Mahomedan lawyers intended to attach only to an actual sale The performance of the two formalities talab-i-mauzibat and talab-i-shahid can be combined but it is essential that the talab-i-shahid should refer expressly to the talab-i-mauzibat as having been duly made Yamun naran v Ajab Ali Khan I L R 22 All 343 Janki v Gajadai, I L R 7 All 480 Begum v Muhammad Yakub I L R 16 All 544 Jadu Lal Sahu v Janki Koer, I L R 35 Cal 375 and Bulhas Sardar v Sonaulah Sardar 19 C L J 694, s c 18 C W N 899 referred to. Rox, J—The test to apply in these cases is was the sale in the eyes of the contracting parties and the pre-emptor, complete If it was it was not necessary for the pre-emptor to wait till

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*FORMALITIES—contd

registration before performing the ceremony of mauzibat KHETALI PRASAD v NAZARUL ALAM (1916) 20 C W. N. 1048

3 ———— Mahomedan law—Talab-i-shahid and talab-i-mauzibat—Observance of both talabs necessary Held, that the performance of the talab-i-shahid is an indispensable preliminary to the enforcement of a right of pre-emption according to the Mahomedan Law MUHAMMAD AHMAD SAID KHAN v MADHO PRASAD (1916) I L R 39 All 133

MORTGAGE

1 ———— Mortgage of property prior to the passing of Act No 21 of 1884—Government revenue paid by mortgagee—Liability of pre-emptor to pay the amount of the revenue as a condition precedent to obtaining possession of property Under a mortgage deed the mortgagor was liable to pay the Government revenue, and if he failed to do so, the mortgagee was to pay it and was entitled to recover the sum from the mortgagor and his other property The mortgagor failed to pay the revenue which accordingly was paid by the mortgagee Subsequently the property was sold to the mortgagee for the amount of the mortgage plus the amount of the revenue paid by the mortgagee In a suit to pre-empt this sale Held, that the pre-emptor was bound to pay the amount paid by the mortgagee for the revenue as a condition precedent to his obtaining possession of the property as well as the amount of the mortgage EMOR RAS v RAM NARAIN (1916) I L R 38 All 530

2 ———— Transfer—Mortgage—Use of the term malkuzat not sufficient to constitute a mortgage The material portion of a document executed by the borrowers to secure a loan was as follows—We agree that we shall pay annually the interest and in default of payment of interest for two years the creditors shall have the right without waiting for the expiry of the time fixed to file suit and to recover their dues from the property mortgaged (malkuzat) and if the creditors make delay in realizing the principal and interest then the aforesaid creditors shall not be entitled to recover their dues under the deed from any other property of myself excepting the property mortgaged (malkuzat) A claim for pre-emption was brought based upon this document which was claimed to be a sale or at least a mortgage Held, by PICKARDS C J, that it was very difficult to distinguish the transaction evidenced by the document in question from what is ordinarily called a simple mortgage On a construction however, of the wajib ul arz it was held not to include mortgages which did not involve a change of possession Held, by TRYPALL J, that the document under consideration did not amount to a mortgage, but at most constituted a charge on the property referred to there in Dalip Singh v Eshadur Ram, I L R 24 All 416 referred to KHETERNAD ALI v ABDUL MAJID (1916) I L R 38 All 361

POSSESSION.

—Purchaser's possession and right to rents and profits continue until full pre-emption price is PRE-EMPTION—*contd*POSSESSION—contd.

paid—Civil Procedure Code, 1882, s. 211—Mahomedan law of pre-emption—Change of possession under decree. If a claim to pre-emption be disputed, and a suit must be brought, the rights of the parties are regulated by s. 211 of the Code of Civil Procedure, which in this respect embodies the principle of the Mahomedan Law. That section enacts that "When the suit is to enforce a right of pre-emption in respect of a particular sale of property, and the Court finds for the plaintiff, if the amount of purchase money has not been paid into Court the decree shall specify a day on or before which it shall be so paid, and shall declare that on payment of such purchase money, together with the costs (if any) decreed against him the plaintiff shall obtain possession of the property, but that if such money and costs are not so paid the suit shall stand dismissed with costs." It is therefore only on payment of the purchase money on the specified date that the plaintiff obtains possession of the property, and until that time the original vendee retains possession, and is entitled to the rents and profits. Deokhandan v. Sri Ram, 1 L. R. 12 All. 236, approved. In the present case the decree under which possession was given to the pre-emptor (appellant) was made on 31st March 1900 by the Subordinate Judge who found that the pre-emptive price was Rs. 37,000 and on payment of that sum the pre-emptor was put into possession. The High Court reversed that decree and dismissed the suit but found that the price was Rs. 44,850 as stated in the deed of sale. On 2nd July 1904 the original purchaser was put into possession. On 25th January 1909 the Privy Council set aside the decree of the High Court and restored that of the Subordinate Judge except as to the pre-emptive price which was fixed as being Rs. 44,850 and the additional sum making up that amount having been deposited possession was again given to the pre-emptor on 19th January 1909. In proceedings in which each party claimed mesne profits from the other the original vendee from the pre-emptor from 1900 to 1904 and the pre-emptor from the vendee from 1904 to 1909: Held, that the possession of the vendee continued until 19th January 1909; and the pre-emptor only obtained possession on within the meaning of s. 211 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1882, on the date. No mesne profits thereafter were due to him but he was liable to the vendee for mesne profits from 1900 to 1904 for which period he was in possession without title. Deokhandan Prasad Singh v. Ramdhari Chowdhri (1916)

L. L. R. 44 Cal. 675

PRE MORTGAGE.

Pre-emption (pre-mortgage)—Joint usufructuary mortgage—Further simple mortgage on share of one mortgagor in favour of same mortgagees—What amount the claimants of the right to pre-mortgage are liable to pay. Certain persons made a joint usufructuary mortgage of their property. On the same day one of them executed a deed by way of a further charge, or simple mortgage, of his share in favour of the same mortgagees. In a suit for pre-mortgage of his share in this second mortgage it was held that the plaintiffs were not liable to pay the sum

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*PRE-MORTGAGE—contd, secured by the deed of further charge which was a separate and independent transaction, but were entitled to pre-mortgage upon paying such amount of the mortgage debt as was proportionate to the share of the said mortgagor. KALLA v. HARGIAN (1912)

L. L. R. 34 All. 416

PRICE

Decree for pre-emption—Price for pre-emption directed to be deposited within one month—Decree holder's application for extension of time granted—Deposit made within extended time—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XX, r. 14—S. 115, Civil Procedure Code—Court's jurisdiction—S. 115. On the last day fixed for the deposit of money by a decree of pre-emption, the decree holder applied for extension of time to make the deposit and he deposited the amount within the extended time granted to him (ex parte) by the Court. Held, that the Court had jurisdiction to extend the time. The High Court declined to interfere under s. 115 of the Civil Procedure Code. ABU MUHAMMAD MIAN v. MUKUT PRTAP NARAIN (1916)

20 C. W. N. 860

Payment of pre-emption price into Court—short by one rupee—decree holder entitled to Rs. 19 10-0 as costs—whether such payment is sufficient compliance with the terms of the decree. The appellants obtained a pre-emption decree in their favour by which they were entitled to get possession of the property on paying into Court the sum of Rs. 99, by the 30th of April 1918, and they were also entitled to Rs. 19 10 0 as cost of the suit. By the date fixed they paid into Court Rs. 98, i.e. one rupee short of Rs. 99. Subsequently they took possession of the property and realised the full amount of their costs. Held, that as the decree holders were entitled to deduct their costs from the decretal amount, the payment of Rs. 98 was really in excess of what they had to pay and the terms of the decree were therefore satisfied. It is immaterial what the decree holders intended to do, the only real test is whether they have sufficiently complied with the terms of the decree. Dechas Singh v. Ekams Aali (10 Indian cases 454), followed. KAPURIA MAL v. WALI MUHAMMAD. L. L. R. 2 Lah. 294

RIGHT OF PRE EMPTION

See PRE EMPTION—WALIN UL AZIZ

1. Mortgage—Pre-emption a right of substitution, not of re-purchase—Vendor not competent to mortgage property liable to pre-emption so as to bind pre-emptor. The right of pre-emption being a right of substitution rather than a right of re-purchase, the vendee of property which is subject to a right of pre-emption cannot defeat the pre-emptive right by subsequently mortgaging the property and thus force the pre-emptor to take the property subject to a mortgage so created. Gobind Dayal v. Inayatullah, 1 L. R. 7 All. 775, referred to. Sekh Mal v. Hukam Singh, 1 L. R. 20 All. 100, Naraya v. Parbat Singh, 1 L. R. 23 All. 247, and Dro Dutt v. Ram Aulor, 1 L. R. 8 All. 502, distinguished. KANTA PRASAD v. MOHAN BHAGAT (1900). L. L. R. 32 All. 45

PRE-EMPTION—contd

RIGHT OF PRE EMPTION—contd.

2. ——— Partition after sale but before decree—Muhammadan law—Effect on suit The plaintiff sued for pre-emption of zamindari property, basing his claim upon the Muhammadan law and the fact that he was a co-sharer in the property sold. After the suit, but before decree, the property was partitioned and the plaintiff and the vendors became owners of different Mahals. Held, that the plaintiff was no longer, after the partition had been completed, entitled to a decree for pre-emption. TAVAZUL HUSAIN v. THAN SINGH (1910). I. L. R. 32 All. 567

3. ——— Covenant in deed of partition—Proper sale price, meaning of A right of pre-emption reserved in a partition deed is valid as between the co-owners themselves. The ekramamah contained the following clause—Any one of the parties desirous of selling shall sell the same to the other party willing to buy the same at the proper sale price. Held, that the proper sale price would be the market value. KALIMUDDIN BHUXAN v. REAZUDDIN AHMED (1909). 14 C. W. N. 295

4. ——— Misjoinder—Civil Procedure Code, 1852, ss 41, 45—Two sales to same vendee—Suit in respect of both sales—Joinder of vendors as defendants Of the four owners of undivided shares in immovable property three sold their interest in the property, and the fourth sold his interest separately at a later date to the same vendee. A pre-emptor sued for pre-emption on the basis of both these transactions, impleading as defendants the vendors and rival pre-emptor as well as the vendee. Held, that the suit was not bad for misjoinder of either causes of action or parties. Bhogendra Prasad Gur v. Budeseshri Gur, I L R 6 All. 106 dissented from. Kallaian Singh v. Gur Dayal, I L R 4 All. 163, referred to. Held, also, that the vendor is not a necessary party to a suit for pre-emption. Hira Lal v. Ram Jas, I L R 6 All. 57, Lok Singh v. Balooan Singh, All. W. N. (1903) 239, and Ram Sarup v. Sial Prasad, I L R 26 All. 519 referred to. HANRAJ TIWARI v. TOTA SAKU (1903).

I L R 32 All. 14

5. ——— House of residence—Family property—Division under an award—Prohibition of sale by a co-sharer of his portion to an outsider—Pre-emption—Construction—Court sale—Prohibition not effective An award under which family property was divided among co-sharers provided that in case of a sale by any of the co-sharers of his portion of the house of residence he should sell it to his co-sharer for a certain sum and that he should not sell it to an outsider until the expiration of two months from the date of a notice in writing saying that they (co-sharers) were not willing to buy it. Subsequently a portion of the house belonging to one co-sharer having been sold in execution of a decree against him it was purchased by an outsider. The sons of one of the other co-sharers, thereupon having brought a suit for a declaration that the Court sale was not binding upon them. Held, that the term of pre-emption in the award was contemplated to attach to sales made privately and willingly and not to attachment and sales in execution. The judgment. delivered by VITHAL NARAYAN v. MARUTI NARAYAN (1910). I. L. R. 34 Bom. 567

PRE-EMPTION—contd

RIGHT OF PRE EMPTION—contd

6. ——— Suit instituted after decrees passed in favour of other pre-emptors—Plaintiff no party to former suits—Suit maintainable Held, that where a pre-emptor having a superior right of pre-emption brings his suit within limitation, the fact that decrees have been made in favour of other pre-emptors, the plaintiff not being a party to the suits in which such decrees were passed, will be no obstacle to the success of the suit. Abdur Razzak v. Mamluk Hussain, I L R 25 All. 334, distinguished. Serb Mal v. Hukum Singh, I L R 20 All. 100, Allahabad Khan v. Abdul Halim, S. A. No. 724 of 1906, decided April 12th, 1907, and Muhammad Latif v. Govind Singh, I L R 5 All. 332, referred to. RAJ NARAYAN RAI v. DULIA PANDE (1910).

I. L. R. 32 All. 340

7. ——— Suit for pre-emption—*Act No. XVIII of 1876 (Oudh Laws Act), s. 9, cl. (1) and (2) and proviso as to drawing lots—Act No. XVII of 1816 (Oudh Land Revenue Act)—'Mahal' definition of—'Co-sharer in subdivision of tenure in which property in suit was comprised'—'Co-sharer in whole mahal' At the summary settlement of Oudh the taluk in which the property in suit (three villages and two pattis or parts of villages) was comprised was settled with the father of the first respondent as taluqdar, but at the regular settlement in 1864 he came to a compromise with two other claimants by which he took half the taluk as superior proprietor, and the other half was assigned in equal shares to the other claimants, who were his relatives, in under proprietary right, they paying the Government revenue plus 10 per cent to the taluqdar and being jointly liable to him in respect of the same as rent. One of these two died childless and his share devolved upon the other one, and on the death of the latter both shares descended to the appellant (his son) and the second respondent (his grandson). Between these two in 1893 a partition took place under which the three villages and the two pattis were assigned to the second respondent, and a decree and mutation of names was made in accordance with the partition but no separate engagement was made for payment of the Government revenue in respect of the property so assigned. In 1902 the second respondent sold the property in question to the first respondent, who had succeeded his father as taluqdar. In a suit by the appellant against the respondents claiming the right of pre-emption under s. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876) Held (affirming the decision of the majority of the court of the Judicial Commissioner), that the meaning attributed to the term 'mahal' in the judgment of the officiating Judicial Commissioner (Mr. Chamber), namely, "any parcel or parcels of land which have been separately assessed to, or are held under a separate engagement for, the revenue, and for which a separate record or right has been prepared," was the proper meaning of the word in the Oudh Laws Act, and therefore, although the second respondent and the appellant may have been jointly liable to the first respondent for the Government revenue plus malikana as the rent of the villages and pattis assigned under the compromise of 1864, they were not at the date of the sale to the first respondent co-sharers in any sub-division* of the tenure in which the property in suit was comprised (under cl 1 of s 9), or the whole mahal (under cl 2 of that section). The Appellate Court in India found that the appellant and the first respondent had an equal right to pre-emption of the two pattis, and that under the proviso to s 9 they must draw lots to determine which of them should be entitled to exercise the right. This being done the right to purchase fell to the first respondent, and the appellant consequently lost the right to pre-empt. SHEORAJ KUNWAR v HARIBHAI BAKSHI SINGH (1910)

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*RIGHT OF PRE-EMPTION—contd

I. L. R. 32 ALL 351

8 ——— Wahib-ul-arz—Notice of sale given to member of a joint Hindu family—Effect of such notice—Effect of conditional reply disavowing amount of alleged consideration. Held, that a person having a right of pre-emption does not lose it by refusing to purchase the property at the price at which it is offered to him because he believes that such price is in excess of the real price, where such belief is entertained and expressed in good faith. Where the pre-emptor and his brothers were members of a joint Hindu family and the vendor addressed a notice to him and his brothers jointly, to which the pre-emptor's brother sent a reply. Held, that the plaintiff pre-emptor was entitled to claim the benefit of this reply as it had been sent by himself. Lajja Prasad v Debi Prasad, I. L. R. 3 ALL 236, Amir Chand v Ishar Das, All Weekly Notes (1882) 136, Ekadi Bibi v Fakhma Bibi, All Weekly Notes (1882) 46 and Karim Baksh v Khuda Baksh, I. L. R. 10 ALL 247, followed. Sri Krishna Singh v Bachcha Pandey (1911) I. L. R. 33 ALL 637

9 ——— Claim of pre-emptor based on purchase by him of another share in the same mahal—Claim made before confirmation of sale in plaintiff's favour—Civil Procedure Code, 1852, s 316. Held with reference to s 316 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1852, that a purchaser at auction sale in execution of a decree of a share in zamindari property does not become a co-sharer in the mahal in which such property is situate until the sale has been confirmed in his favour. HASAN ALI v MIAN JAN KHAN (1910)

I. L. R. 33 ALL 45

10 ——— Right—Personal—Transfer—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1852) s 6. The right of pre-emption is a purely personal right which cannot be transferred to any one except the owner of the property affected thereby. JAS UDIN v SAKHARAN GANESH (1911)

I. L. R. 36 Bom 139

11 ——— Mahomedan law—Demand made "on the premises"—Demand made in the abadi which was part of the premises sold. Where a person claiming pre-emption in respect of a certain zamindari share proved that he had made the demand with witnesses while sitting on his chabutra in the abadi which formed part of the premises sold, it was held that the demand of pre-emption was a good demand made "on the premises" within the meaning of the Mahomedan law. Kulsum Bibi v Faqir Mohammad Khan I. L. R. 13 ALL 293, followed. MUKAM MAD CHAN v MUHAMMAD ABDUL GHAFUR (1911)

I. L. R. 34 ALL 1

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*RIGHT OF PRE-EMPTION—contd

12 ——— Mahomedan law—Talab-i-mawasilat—Where a person immediately on hearing of the sale of a house exclaimed mera hak alafa hai and without any delay took the price and brought it to the vendee and claimed the house. Held, that the expressions used by him coupled with the circumstances constituted a sufficient first demand. Muhammed Abdul Rahman Khan v. Mahomed Khan, 8 ALL. L. J. 270, distinguished. MUHAMMAD NAZIR KHAN v. MAHMOUD BAKSHI (1911) I. L. R. 34 ALL 53

13 ——— Wazir-ul-arz—Custom—Effect of joining in the purchase a co-sharer having an inferior right. The vendee in a suit for pre-emption having equal rights with the pre-emptor, disables himself from resisting a suit for pre-emption as much by associating with himself in the purchase another co-sharer whose rights are inferior to those of the pre-emptor as by associating with himself a stranger. GUPTESWAY RAM v RATI KRISHNA RAM (1912)

I. L. R. 34 ALL 542

14 ——— Conditional decree—Decretal amount deposited in Court—Decree enhanced in appeal—Additional payment made not covering amount withdrawn as costs. A successful plaintiff pre-emptor deposited in Court the amount of the decree in his favour, but subsequently withdrew therefrom the amount of the costs decreed in his favour. On the amount payable being enhanced on appeal he paid into Court the difference between the original and appellate decrees. Held, that the decree had been fully complied with. Gopal Saran v Ishri, I. L. R. 6 ALL 353, Bolmunda v Pancham I. L. R. 10 ALL 400, Parmanand Rast v Gobardhan Sahai, I. L. R. 23 ALL 678, and Beekai Singh v Shamsi Nath, 3 ALL. L. J. Notes, p. 27, followed. ALI HUSSAIN v AMIN ULLAH (1912) I. L. R. 34 ALL 596

15 ——— Second sale—Subject-matter of suit re-sold at advanced price—Second sale subject to right of pre-emption in respect of the first. A house in the city of Benares subject to a customary right of pre-emption was sold for Rs. 1,150. The vendee resold it shortly afterwards to the defendant for Rs. 4,000. Held, on suit brought to pre-empt the property at the original price of Rs. 1,150, that the second sale was subject to the right of pre-emption and the pre-emptor was only bound to pre-empt the first sale, making the subsequent vendee a party to the suit so as to bind him by the proceedings. Kamla Prasad v Mohan Bhagat, I. L. R. 32 ALL 45, referred to. KHETTER CHANDRA BASU MALLIK v NARIN KALI DEBI (1913) I. L. R. 35 ALL 385

16 ——— Right of pre-emptor to put vendor to proof of title—Suit must be for entire property sold. Held, that a pre-emptor is not entitled in a pre-emption suit to put the vendor on proof of his title to the property which he purports to sell. The principle of pre-emption is substitution. A pre-emptor is therefore bound to take the title which the vendee was ready to take. Further, that a pre-emptor cannot sue to pre-empt only a portion of the property sold. SABODRA DEBI v BAGESHWARI SINGH (1910)

I. L. R. 37 ALL 529

17 ——— Effect of perfect partition on—No fresh waqf ul-arz prepared at or after

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*RIGHT OF PRE EMPTION—contd

partition—Right of a sharer in new mahal after partition to pre-empt property in another new mahal in which he was not a sharer at date of sale—Value of wajib ul arz as evidence—Prima facie evidence of custom of pre-emption without proof of instances of custom being enforced In this appeal, which was one arising out of a suit by the appellant, one of the co-sharers in a mauza, for pre-emption after there had been a partition of the mauza in which the land sold was situated, and no fresh wajib ul arz had been prepared after the partition had taken place, their Lordships of the Judicial Committee (affirming the decision of the High Court) were of opinion that the clauses relating to pre-emption contained in wajib ul arzes of 1863 and 1870 proved that prior to the partition the right of pre-emption had existed in the mauza, but that the appellant had not shown either on the construction of the wajib ul arzes, or by other evidence, that the custom of pre-emption which obtained in the unpartitioned mauza survived the partition, so as to give the appellant, a sharer in one of the new mahals, a right to pre-empt property in another of those mahals in which he was not a sharer at the date of the sale. Their Lordships did not dissent from the view expressed by BANERJI, J., in the full bench case of Dalganyan Singh v Aika Singh, 1 L R 22 AU 1, that "where a fresh wajib ul arz has not been prepared at partition, it does not follow as a matter of law or principle that the custom of contract in force before partition is no longer to have effect or operation," and were of opinion that the question must depend upon the circumstances of each case and the inferences which may legitimately be drawn from the evidence. A wajib ul arz is by itself good prima facie evidence of a custom of pre-emption stated in it without corroboration by evidence of instances in which the custom has been enforced. The evidence as to a custom of pre-emption afforded by a wajib ul arz may of course be rebutted by other evidence. DIGAMBAR SINGH v AHMED SYED KHAN (1914)

I. L. R. 37 ALL 129

18 ————— Wajib-ul-arz—Owners of resumed musaf land—Held, that the owners of a plot of resumed musaf land assessed to revenue separately from the rest of the village, which constituted one 16 anna mahal, was not a co-sharer with the owners of the mahal, so as to give him a right of pre-emption on sale of the mahal, under the terms of the wajib ul arz which declared a right of pre-emption to exist, on a sale by a co-sharer, in favour of other co-sharers in the village Kallian Mal v Modan Mohan, 1 L R 17 ALL 447, Narain Das v Ram Saran Das 1 L R 17 ALL 419, Rajbhawan Prasad v Konhaya Lal, ALL W N, 1902 63, Ahmad Ali v Nayam unnessa 2 ALL L J 145, and Dattu Lal v Bhole Nath 19 Indian Cases 119, referred to Narain Prasad v Munna Lal, 1 L R 30 ALL 329, not followed. MAHADEO PRASAD v JAGAR DEO GUR (1916)

I. L. R. 38 ALL 260

19. ————— Partition—after institution of suit but before decree—Plaintiff, if entitled to decree—Court, if should take notice of matters which come into existence after suit—Talab-i-musafidat erroneous statement as to price in if invalidates—Review on ground not before taken, when allowed—Suits

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*RIGHT OF PRE EMPTION—contd

Valuation Act (VII of 1887), s 11—Valuation—Appeal—Jurisdiction SANDERSON, C J, and MOOKERJEE, J.—The right of the plaintiff to get pre-emption must exist not only at the time of the sale, but also at the time of the institution of the suit, and finally up to and at the date of the decrees of the trial Court. A judgment passed by the High Court on second appeal was reviewed on a ground not taken at any previous stage of the proceeding, when the ground raised a quite question of law which did not depend for its determination upon the investigation of new facts and when the alleged error was apparent on the face of the record Connecticut Fire Insurance Co v Kavanagh, (1892) 4 O. 473 at p 480, referred to Per MOOKERJEE, J.—The decree in a suit should ordinarily conform to the rights of the parties as they stood at the date of its institution. But the same cases when it is incumbent upon a Court of Justice to take notice of events which have happened since the institution of the suit and to mould its decree according to the circumstances as they stand at the time the decree is made. This principle will be applied where it is shown that the original relief claimed has, by reason of subsequent change of circumstances, become inappropriate or that it is necessary to base the decision of the Court on the altered circumstances in order to shorten litigation or to do complete justice between the parties *Per SHABUDDIN and FOX JJ.—For the performance of the talab-i-musafidat what is necessary is an expression by the pre-emptor in clear and explicit terms that the demands to make the purchase and it is not necessary that he should, at the time of the performance of the ceremony, make any mention of the price. Where in performing the talab the claimant owing to mistaken information understated the price, though the ceremonies required by law were fully performed Held that the talab was validly performed. Plaintiff suing for pre-emption valued his suit at Rs 4000 the price for which, according to his information the property had been sold to the defendant. The suit was dismissed by the Subordinate Judge but decreed on appeal by the District Judge who however, found that the real value of the property was over Rs 6000. On second appeal it was urged that having regard to the value of property as found by the District Judge appeal lay to the High Court and not to the District Judge, but the point was not taken in the memorandum of appeal. Held per SHABUDDIN and FOX JJ. That this objection should be overruled in view of s 11 of the Suits Valuation Act, and that the decision in Pai Lakshmi Dasee v Kalyagani Dasee, 1 L R 38 Cal 63 was distinguishable from the present case as in that case the suit was intentionally and grossly undervalued. ACBI MIY v AMERICA SINGH (1916)*

10 C. W. N 1059

20 ————— Wajib ul arz—Intigual—Mortgage by conditional sale—Cause of action The wajib ul arz of a village in recording an entry as to the right of pre-emption referred to transfers (intigul) and provided for the mode in which the first offer was to be made. Held, that this provision applied to a mortgage by way of conditional sale and that the pre-emptor's cause of action arose upon the execution of the deed of

PRE-EMPTION—*could*RIGHT OF PRE-EMPTION—could mortgage and not when a foreclosure decree was passed or when the mortgagee obtained possession thereunder. Sharma Singh v Mahabir Singh (1917) I. L. R. 29 All. 244

21 ————Sale by co-sharer to Mahomedan a Hindu.—On the assumption that other co-sharers were to have the right to pre-emption, the right of pre-emption of latter Vendor if may prescribe special conditions not imposed by law.—Agreement of sale understood by parties as and represented to be sale.—Transfer of right of pre-emption.—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s. 54, if determines date of sale. Where in property owned by Mahomedans co-owners entitled to a fourth share agreed to sell their share to certain persons who were Hindus, and in pursuance of the agreement, the vendors intimated to the remaining co-sharer that they had sold their share as aforesaid and gave the latter two days' time within which to exercise his right of pre-emption. Held, that as all the parties had considered that there was a law of pre-emption which applied between the vendors and their co-sharer and that it was applicable to the purchasers, who too had assented to that view it was not necessary to enquire whether there was a local custom of pre-emption or whether it could be enforced by a Mahomedan against a Hindu purchaser. The Transfer of Property Act was not intended to alter to Mahomedan Law of pre-emption. SRYARAM BHAWRAO DESHMUKH v SYED JAUH HANAN KHAN (PC) 26 C. W. N. 221

WAJIB UL ARZ

See PRE-EMPTION—RIGHT OF AND CUSTOM OF

1 ————Custom or contract.—The wajib ul arz of a village in the Saharanpur district contained the following declaration on the part of the co-sharers:—Whereas a new settlement of our village from July 1860 to 1890 for a period of 30 years has been made on a revenue of Rs. 481 annually therefore the agreement of us, proprietors and landholders is that till the term of this settlement and in future till the completion of the next settlement we shall remain bound and carry out —, the reference intended being presumably to subsequent clauses of the document. In a later wajib ul arz of 1245 Fash the parties stated:—In regard to the remaining customs of the village the wajib ul arz of 1247 Fash should be referred to. Held, that the wajib ul arz of 1247 Fash recorded a contract and not a custom, and that contract had expired with the settlement for which it was entered into. Mahabir Hussain v Alam Ali, 40 B. N. (1907) 235 and Budd Singh v Gopal Rai, I. L. R. 30 All. 511, followed. Asa Ram v Kanyasree Lal (1910) I. L. R. 32 All. 399

2 ————Partition of village.—Separate wajib ul arzes.—Change in the language. A village originally undivided was first partitioned into several mahals with a separate settlement wajib ul arz for each. Subsequently one of these mahals was subdivided into two and fresh wajib ul arzes were framed for these two mahals. One of these new mahals was in turn divided into two, but no fresh wajib ul arzes were then framed. The wajib ul arzes framed at the first and second partitions differed inter se as to their condition relative to pre-emption. Held, that there was evidence only of a contract for pre-emption, which, so far as the two last formed mahals were concerned, had ceased to exist even before the expiry of the term of the settlement. Prasanna Ram v Balto Ram (1910) I. L. R. 32 All. 261

PRE-EMPTION—*could*WAJIB UL ARZ—could

3 ————Custom or Contract.—The wajib ul arz of an undivided village gave a right of pre-emption first to a rear co-sharer (Kissadar Karib) and then to a co-sharer in the village (Kissadar dik). Subsequently the village was divided by perfect partition. No new wajib ul arz was framed. Property situated in one of the new mahals was sold to a stranger and a suit for pre-emption was brought by sharers in one of the other mahals, claiming a Kissadar dik. Held, per STANLEY, J. that the plaintiff was entitled to pre-empt notwithstanding the partition, and that the words Kissadar dik, as used in the wajib ul arz, meant a sharer in the village. Durganjan Singh v Akko Singh, I. L. R. 22 All. 1, distinguished. Sukh Ali v Potha Bhai, I. L. R. 32, All. 63, Mishra Lal v Muhammad Ahmad Said Khan, All. B. N. (1899) 19. Abdul Hai v Nain Singh, I. L. R. 20 All. 92, Mateo Bah v Mussamat Collee, B. D. A. & W. P. Vol. I, 366. Lokul Singh v Minu Lal, I. L. R. 7 All. 772. Atena Ali v Ghulam Nafi, All. B. N. (1891) 137, Mela Dun v Mahesh Prasad, All. B. N. (1882) 100. Ram Dun v Pokhar Singh, I. L. R. 27 All. 533. Azari Lal v Ram Bhajan Lal, I. L. R. 27 All. 602 and Gorind Ram v Manish Khan, I. L. R. 29 All. 295, referred to. Held, per BANERJI, J., that the plaintiff pre-emptor could not pre-empt after the partition of the village as, although he was a sharer in the village, he was not a co-sharer of the vendor, and that the words Kissadar dik as used in the wajib ul arz meant a co-sharer of the undivided village for which the wajib ul arz had been prepared. Durganjan Singh v Akko Singh, I. L. R. 22 All. 1 followed. Janki v Ram Partap, I. L. R. 29 All. 263, and Abdul Hai v Nain Singh, I. L. R. 20 All. 92, referred to. Dona v Jwan Ram (1910) I. L. R. 32 All. 263

4 ————Custom or contract.—The pre-emptive clause of a wajib ul arz ran as follows:—Ayenda furi rakhsa rauaj shafa in ham ko man-ar hai. Held on a construction of the wajib ul arz, that it denoted a record of custom and not of contract. Tanadung Hussain Khan v Ali Hussain Khan 40 B. N. (1903) 121 distinguished. Hazari Lal v Durga Das (1900) I. L. R. 32 All. 187

5 ————Perfect partition.—"Malikan dhs.—The determination of an alleged right of pre-emption must depend upon the particular circumstances of each case and the evidence adduced in support of the pre-emptive right. A village was divided by perfect partition into several mahals, but no new wajib ul arz was prepared. The wajib ul arz framed before partition was headed "Hakik Kissadara Bahadur rights of co-sharers inter se" and gave the right of pre-emption (i) to co-sharers in the Ekota, (ii) to the proprietors of the path, and (iii) to the proprietors of the village (malikan dhs). Plaintiff was a co-sharer in a different mahal from that in which the vendor was a co-sharer. Held, that the heading of the wajib ul arz limited the mean ing of the expression maḥālan deh to proprietors who were co sharers with a vendor between whom and the vendor a common bond sub stituted and as the plaintiff was not a co sharer in the same mahal with the vendor she had no right of pre-emption Janki v Ram Partap Singh I L R

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*WAJIB UL ARZ—contd

28 All 286 Sardar Singh v Ijaz Hussain Khan
I L R 28 All 614 and Govind Ram v Maḥ
ḥ Khan I L R 29 All 295 distinguished Dalganjan Singh v Kalla Singh I L R 29 All
I followed SARIB ALI v FATIMA BIBI (1909)

I L R 31 All 63

6 ——— Partition of village—New wajib ul arzes prepared after partition The wajib ul arz of a village before partition provided for pre-emption in the following way — Rights of co sharers as among themselves on the basis of custom or agreement The custom of pre-emption obtains In case of sale of property by a co sharer another co sharer in the mauza can bring a suit for pre-emption If he offers a low price then the vendor can sell the property to a stranger
The village was divided by perfect partition into three mahals New wajib ul arzes were drawn up after partition and the condition as to pre-emption in each ran as follows — Rights of co sharers inter se based on custom or agreement The custom of pre-emption prevails
In this case one co sharer sells his share (hakikat) another co sharer in the village (hissdar sharik mauza) can claim pre-emption If he offers a smaller price the seller can sell it to a stranger
The plaintiff pre-emptor was a co sharer in a different mahal from that in which the property sold was situate The vendee was a stranger to the village The entire body of co sharers in the village were Muhammadans of the same stock and continued so up to the time of partition Held upon a construction of the language of the wajib ul arz and the circumstances of the case, that the pre-emptor must succeed as against the stranger vendee notwithstanding that a partition had taken place Janki v Ram Partap Singh I L R 28 All 286 referred to CHENNAI
v ABDUL HAKIM (1910) I L R 33 All 296

7 ——— Contract or custom—Presumption as absence of evidence that the record is one of custom Where it is not apparent either from the language of the wajib ul arz itself or from other evidence, that the pre-emption clause of a wajib ul arz is merely the record of a new contract between the co sharers the presumption is that it is the record of a pre-existing custom Majdan Eibi v Shakh Hajatan Ali Weekly
Notes (1897) 3 followed The pre-emption clause of a wajib ul arz was headed Pelating to the right of pre-emption and ran as follows — If a co sharer has to sell and mortgage his hagrat— then at the time of transfer it will be incumbent that he should after giving information sell and mortgage for a proper price etc etc Held, that this in the absence of evidence to the contrary indicated a pre-existing custom of pre-emption rather than a contract BHIM SEN V MORI RAM
(1910) I L R 33 All 85

8 ——— Initial—Perpetual lease Held that the word initial used in the pre-emption clause of a wajib ul arz was wide enough to include a perpetual lease Jagadam Sahay
v Mahabir Prasad, I I R 28 All 60, and Ahmad

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*WAJIB UL ARZ—contd

Ali Khan v Ahmad I A W P 101 referred to LALJI MISHR v JAGOO TEWARI (1910)

I L R 33 All 104

9 ——— “Apna shafi”—Mahomedan law
A wajib ul arz provided that if any co sharer of a patti in the Khalisa wished to sell his share, he would do so paying due respect to his own pre-emptor (apana shafi) and if the latter refused and all the other pre-emptors of the village (our sub shafian deh) refused then he might sell to a stranger Held, that the expression apna shafi connoted nearness in space and not a blood relationship and therefore where the vendor and preemptor were co sharers in the same patti the vendee being a co sharer in a different patti the co sharers in the same patti had a preferential right LAKHAN SENON v BISHAN NATH (1910)

I L R 33 All 299

10 ——— Partition of village into—several mahals—Dastar dehi relating to whole village—Suit by co sharer of one mahal against co sharer of another mahal on ground of nearness in relationship to vendor The dastar dehi of a village divided into several mahals but which nevertheless was held to be applicable to the whole village, and to represent an arrangement come to by the co sharers in the village amongst themselves provided as to pre-emption, as follows — If a co sharer wants to sell his share he must sell first to near co sharers then in the patti then in the mahal then in the village Held that the effect of this clause was to give to a co sharer in one mahal who was a relation of the vendor a preferential right of pre-emption over a co sharer in another mahal who was not a relation YAD RAM v CHEDA LAJ (1913)

I L R 35 All 478

11 ——— Co-sharer in patti—and co sharer in mahal—Fictitious conveyance of share *in patti to latter—Alleged previous offer to plaintiff* —Witnesses found to have deposed falsely as to part of it to be believed as to other parts—Party not coming forward to contradict positive evidence of opponent is to matters within his personal knowledge if may succeed Plaintiff being a co sharer in the patti sued for pre-emption and the defendants who were only co sharers in the mahal or mahal resisted his claim on the grounds (i) that they had by a prior conveyance acquired a share in a patti and (ii) that the plaintiff had refused the offer of the defendants vendor to sell the property to him Held that the reasons given by the High Court for holding in reversal of the first Court that the prior conveyance did not represent a genuine transaction and was fabricated with a view to defeat the claim for pre-emption which the plaintiff was about to bring were cogent and decisive The High Court also disbelieved the evidence adduced by the defendants to prove plaintiff's refusal of the offer to him of the property by the defendant vendor on the ground that the witnesses were the same who spoke to the prior conveyance and one part of whose evidence had been found to be distinctly false Held that it was open to the High Court to take this view although there was one witness who did not depose to the deed and neither plaintiff nor other persons in whose presence the offer was stated to have been made had come forward to contradict the defendants

PRE-EMPTION—contd.

WAJIB UL ARZ—contd

witnesses The judgment of the High Court should not be treated in a piecemeal manner, and taken as a whole was correct MATHURA PRASAD v SHAHEH MUHAMMAD (1912)

17 C W N 381

12. ——— Incidents of custom not recorded.—Mahomedan Law A suit for pre-emption was brought both under the custom recorded in the wajib ul arz and Mahomedan Law, but the incidents of the custom were not recorded in the wajib ul arz Held, that the rights were co-extensive Jagdem Sahai v Mahabir Sahai, 1 L R 28 All 67, followed. ZAKIR AHMAD v ABDUL RAZAQ (1915) I L R 37 All 472

13 ——— Wajib ul arz—Partition of village Right of co-sharers different in mahals.—to pre-empt inter se A certain village prior to 1873 consisted of one mahal which was subdivided into two patties The wajib ul arz of that year recorded a custom of pre-emption, first, with near relations, then with co-sharers in the patti and lastly with co-sharers in the village Subsequently the village was divided into a number of different mahals, and at the last settlement a new wajib ul arz was drawn up for each of the new mahals in similar terms The plaintiff, a proprietor in the village, though not a co-sharer in the mahal, brought a suit for pre-emption Held that the plaintiff was no longer a co-sharer with the vendor and therefore had no preferential right as against the vendor, who was grove holder in the village KHAYALI RAM v KALI CHAWAN (1915)

I L R. 37 All 573

14 ——— Custom—Mortgage by conditional sale. In 1895 a mortgage was made consolidating previous mortgages of the years 1892, 1893 and 1891 In 1903 a suit was instituted on the mortgage, which was construed as a mortgage by way of conditional sale A decree for foreclosure was obtained and in 1911, the decree was made absolute Shortly afterwards, possession was obtained under this decree In 1914 a suit was brought claiming to get possession by virtue of a custom set forth in the wajib ul arz. The clause relating to pre-emption was as follows:— If a patidar wishes to transfer his share by sale or mortgage, he should do so, first to another patidar of the same thok and in case of his refusal to the patidars of another thok of the village If the patidar wants to sell his share to a stranger by entering an excessive and fictitious price, the patidar having the right of pre-emption shall be entitled to acquire the property in payment of the price awarded by the arbitrators Held, that having regard to the whole context of the wajib ul arzes the sale mentioned wherein for the purpose of giving rise to a right of pre-emption according to custom meant a voluntary sale, and the wajib ul arzes did not give him a right of pre-emption under the circumstances under which the mortgagee became the owner of the property Afu Prasad v Sukhan, 1 L R 3 All 619, distinguished. SEKHAR KHANWAR v PAM CHULAN (1918) I L R 40 All 626

15 ——— Property to be sold to co-sharer first.—Sale to stranger—Refusal to purchase As a general rule the custom as to Pre-emption as evidenced by the record in the

PRE-EMPTION—contd

WAJIB UL ARZ—contd

wajib ul arz, is that where a co-sharer wishes to sell his property he must first offer it to another co-sharer and if the co-sharer refuses to purchase he is entitled to go to a stranger Where the custom proved is of this nature, if the co-sharer (vendor) offers the property to another co-sharer and such co-sharer refuses to purchase on the ground that he has no money or is unwilling for any other reason to purchase, the owner of the property is entitled to go and sell it to a stranger and he is not obliged after he has made a definite agreement with the stranger to return and offer the property a second time to the co-sharer, Nounihal Singh v Ram Rattan, 1 L R 39 All 127, and Nath Lal v Dhani Ram, 15 A L J 315, followed Munawar Hussain v Khadim Ali, 5 A L J 331 and Kanhai Lal v Kalika Prasad, 1 L R 27 All 670, not followed. SHAM SHER SINGH v FIARI DAT (1918)

I L R 40 All 690

16 ——— Involuntary sales.—Held by the Full Bench.—In the absence of any statutory reservation of the right, a right of pre-emption does not exist in cases of involuntary sales, hence a Mahabir mortgagee has no right of pre-emption against a purchaser in Court auction of the mortgaged property and he is not entitled to any notice of the intended Court sale or of the price fetched at the sale VASUDEVAN MOHANDAS v ITTARICHAN NAIR (1918)

I L R. 41 Mad. 532

17. Purchases made by vendee on different dates.—Suit to pre-empt first sale only—Vendee claiming to be a co-sharer in virtue of second purchase—Suit not maintainable The defendant purchased shares in a village on two different dates The plaintiff sued to pre-empt the earlier sale, but no suit was brought in respect of the second sale Held, that the suit was not maintainable CHANDRA SINGH v MAHESH NARAIN SINGH (1918)

I L R. 40 All 572

18 ——— Sale of right to receive malikana—not a subject of pre-emption Held that a right to receive a malikana allowance cannot be the subject of a suit for pre-emption ABDUL WARD v HALIMA KHATUN

I L R 42 All 262

19 ——— Involuntary sale.—Owner declared insolvent on application by a creditor—Sale of property by official assignee—Omission of pre-emptor to bid at auction sale On an application made by a creditor in insolvency one Rai Eil Kishan Das Bahadur was adjudged an insolvent and his property was placed in charge of an official assignee Some of this, consisting of zamindari, was sold by the official assignee at public auction Held that, the sale not being voluntary, no right of pre-emption would arise under the village wajib ul arz Kanhai Lal v Kalika Prasad, 1 L R. 27 All 610 distinguished Held further, that the sale having been widely notified a pre-emptor who, knowing of the sale, did not bid, must be taken to have refused to purchase, and the official assignee was under no obligation to offer the property to him after it had been knocked down to the highest bidder at the auction Kanhai Lal v Kalika Prasad, 1 L R 27 All 670, not followed GHULAM MOHI UD DIN KHAN v HARDEO SAHAI I L R. 42 All 402

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*WAJIB UL ARZ—contd

20. ———— Resale of property during pre-emption suit to person with a preferential right—but after the extinction of his right to pre-empt by reason of limitation. During the pendency of a suit for pre-emption under the provision of the village wajib alarz, the vendee resold the property in suit to a person who originally had a pre-emptive right superior to that of the plaintiff, but who at the date of the sale, was barred by limitation from enforcing it. Held, that the plaintiff's claim was not defeated by such sale. Manpal v Shaib Ram, I L R 27 All 544, Janis Prasad v Ishar Das, I L R 21 All 374, and Ram Gopal v Puri Lal, I L R 21 All 411, distinguished. KANTA PRASAD v PAM Jsa (1913) . . . I L R. 36 All 60

21. ———— Custom—Effect of confiscation of part of village—“Karbi wa khandani.” In a village comprising two eight anna thoke a custom of pre-emption was recorded as prevailing in two wajib ularzes of 1833 and 1860 and in the tamima khawat of 1884, the date of the last settlement. Held, that the custom so recorded was in no way modified by the fact that a four anna undivided share in the village had been confiscated by the Government after the mutiny and re-granted to other proprietors. Held, also, that a person related to a vendor through the female line only and twelve degrees removed from him could not be considered as falling within the description in the wajib ularz of “karbi wa khandani.” DURG PRASAD PASDE v FATEK BAHADUR SINGH (1914)

I L R. 36 All 451

22. ———— Claim based on relationship to vendor—Death of plaintiff pending suit—Sons of plaintiff not entitled to take advantage of the relationship of their father. The plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption had a preferential right over the vendee on the ground of his nearer relationship to the vendor but the plaintiff's sons had not. Held, that the plaintiff's sons could not, on the death of their father pending the suit, claim to take advantage of the relationship in which their father had stood to the vendor. PARTAB SINGH v DAYLAT (1913)

I L R 36 All 63

MISCELLANEOUS

1. ———— Execution of decree—Decree amount deposited but part taken out of Court by a creditor of the decree holder, the decree for pre-emption having been set aside—Restoration of decree on appeal—Position of decree holder. A decree for pre-emption conditional on the plaintiff pre-emptor depositing in Court by a certain date Rs 1009 was duly complied with. But on appeal by the vendee the decree was set aside, and thereafter a portion of the money deposited by the pre-emptor was attached and drawn out of Court by a creditor who had obtained a money decree against him. The decree was, however, restored as the result of an appeal to the High Court. Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to execute his decree upon making good the amount which had been removed by his creditor. Held, also, that the Court of first instance ought not to have permitted any part of the money deposited to be withdrawn until

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*MISCELLANEOUS—contd

the pre-emption suit had been finally decided. Abdus Salam v Hidayat Ali All Weekly Notes (1937) 31, distinguished. SURE GOPAL v NAJIB KHAN (1914) I L R. 36 All 393

2. ———— Pleadings—Alternative claims under custom and Mahomedan law. There is nothing to prevent a plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption basing his claim in the alternative, on contract, custom or Mahomedan law. But where there is an established custom of pre-emption and the pre-emptor fails to bring himself within that custom, he cannot fall back on the Mahomedan law. Muhammad Salim v Sadar ud-din Beg, 7 All L J 660 distinguished. MUHAMMAD AZHARULLAH v S AMY UY CHISA BIRT (1914)

I L R 36 All 456

3. ———— Dispute as to true sale consideration—Evidence—Burden of proof—Payment before Sub-Registrar. In a suit for pre-emption where it is alleged that the sale price is fictitious and put into the deed for the purpose of defeating pre-emption, it is open to the pre-emptor to give evidence to show that the market price is far below that stated in the sale deed. If he gives such evidence to the satisfaction of the Court, the latter is quite justified in arriving at its own conclusion as to what was the real consideration, and this notwithstanding that it is proved that the amount stated in the deed was paid before the Sub-Registrar. Abdul Mayid v Amolak, I L P 29 All 612, referred to. O Conor v Ghulam Haidar I L R 28 All 617 not followed. RAM SARUP SARTI v KARAHULLAH KHAN (1914) I L R. 36 All 404

4. ———— Practice—Alternative claims—Claim for possession as owner joined with alternative claim for pre-emption. There is nothing in law to prevent a plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption also setting up a claim for possession of the property as owner and his suit ought not to be dismissed on the ground that he has put his case in the alternative. BHAGWATI SARAN MAN TIWARI v PARNESHAR DAS (1914) I L R 36 All 476

5. ———— Mahomedan law—Vendor a Shia and pre-emptor a Sunni—Shia law to be applied. In a suit for pre-emption the vendor was a Shia Mahomedan, the vendee Hindu, and the pre-emptor a Sunni. The claim was laid in the alternative either on custom or on the Mahomedan law. The custom set up was not proved. Held, that the Mahomedan law applicable was that of the vendor, namely the Shia law, and that the pre-emptor had no case. Jog Deb Singh v Mahomed Afzal I L R 32 Cal 382, not followed. Abbas Ali v Mayas Ram, I L R 12 All 229. Qurban Husain v Chole, I L R 23 All 102, and Gobind Dayal v Inayatullah I L R 7 All 775, referred to. PIR KHAN v FAIZAZ HUSAIN (1914)

I L R 36 All 488

6. ———— Time for payment of—sum decreed—Pre-emptive price enhanced on appeal by the vendee but no time fixed for payment—Practice. The appellate Court in a pre-emption suit enhanced the amount decreed to be payable by the pre-emption in the first Court, but omitted to fix any time within which the enhanced amount should be payable. Held, that the plaintiff pre-emptor was entitled to a reasonable time within which to pay in the amount decreed, and having regard to the enhanced amount (Rs 801) the time within which it was in fact paid (one month and one day after the decree) was reasonable, and the plaintiff was entitled to execute his decree DEVI SARAN TIWARI v. GURPAR TIWARI (1914)

PRE-EMPTION—*contd.*MISCELLANEOUS—contd.

I L R. 36 All 514

7. — Pleadings—Mahomedan Law—Custom—Amendment of plaint—Discretion of Court
 The plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption based his claim upon the Mahomedan law. At a somewhat late stage in the case the plaintiff asked leave to amend his plaint by adding an alternative claim based on custom as evidenced by the wajib ul-arz, but this was refused, and the Court not withstanding that it found that, according to the wajib ul-arz, a custom of pre-emption existed, dismissed the suit. Held, that the Court ought to have permitted the plaint to be amended, and, even without amending the plaint, was competent to decree the claim on the basis of the wajib ul-arz. ABDUL HAMID v. MASUD ULLAH (1912)

I L R. 36 All 573

8. — Applicability of Mahomedan law—in the case of a sale of zamindari property
 The Mahomedan law of pre-emption applies to zamindari property and is not restricted to houses, gardens and small plots of land. MUNNA LAL v. HAJIRA JAN I L R 33 All 23 followed. FARAZ AHMAD v. TASADDUQ HUSAIN (1919)

I L R. 41 All 428

9. — Custom—Wajib ul-arz—Partition of village—Old custom adopted in new mahals—Right of pre-emption not surviving as between the new mahals
 The wajib ul-arz of an undivided village afforded evidence of the existence of a custom of pre-emption in the village between co-sharers. Subsequently, the village was divided by perfect partition into several mahals and each of the new mahals adopted the old custom. Held, that no right of pre-emption survived as between the different new mahals. GANGA SINGH v. CHEDI LAL I L R 33 All 805 referred to. DROKINANDAN v. MAHTAB RAY (1919)

I L R. 41 All 428

10. — Sale to stranger—Plaintiffs joining in their suit persons who were not strangers but had pre-emptive rights vis-à-vis to them
 In a suit for pre-emption, where the suit is a suit against strangers the plaintiffs by joining person who have different rights inter se do not thereby forfeit their rights. Gyatsahar Ram v. Rati Krishna Ram I L R 34 All 542, distinguished. SHEKHAR SINGH v. NAIK SINGH SAHAI (1919)

I L R. 41 All 423

11. — Perpetuity Rule when applicable to—Pre-emption, right of, with regard to immovable property
 Covenant for unlimited in point of time of value. A Hindu transferred certain immovable property to his son in law reserving a condition that if the transferee or his successor found it necessary to sell the property he or his successors might sell it to the vendor his nephew or heirs at a specified price. The son of the third son in law sold the property to some others whereupon the nephew sued for enforcement of the right of pre-emption. Held, that an option to arise on any intended sale or other particular kind of alienation is subject to the rule against perpetuities unless the right is conferred by statute

PRE-EMPTION—*contd.*MISCELLANEOUS—contd.

NABIN CHANDRA SARMA v. RAJANI CHANDRA CHAKRAVARTI . . . 25 C W. N. 902

12. — Conditional decree—With costs to the plaintiff—Amount paid by the plaintiff less than the sum named in the decree, but more than the decretal amount less the plaintiff's costs
 The decree in a pre-emption suit ordered the plaintiffs to pay Rs 100 within a certain time and also awarded costs amounting to Rs 9, annex 8, to the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs deposited in court within the time allowed Rs 99. Held, that there was a sufficient compliance with the decree. Bechar Singh v. Shami Lath, 8 A L J (Notes) p 27, and Ali Hussain v. Amin-ullah, I L R 24 All 596, referred to. RAM LAGAN PANDY v. MUHAMMAD ISHAQ KHAN I L R. 42 All 181

13. — Mahomedan law—Zamindari village—Imperfect partition of mahal into several pattis—No rights or property left in common—No right of pre-emption amongst owners of different pattis inter se
 Where the Mahomedan law of pre-emption is applicable there is ordinarily no right of pre-emption as between owners of different pattis of a mahal divided by imperfect partition. Munna Lal v. Hajira Jan, I L R 33 All 23, referred to. MATHEBA PRASAD v. HARDEO BAKSH SINGH I L R. 42 All 477

14. — Sale of family property—by the father of a joint Hindu family—Said by sons to pre-empt sale—Said not maintained
Held, that the sons in a joint Hindu family cannot maintain a suit to pre-empt a sale of joint family property made by the father as manager and for legal necessity. Raghunath v. Muzumdar Fakat Begam 3 A L J 611, and Gandharv Singh v. Sahib Singh, I L R 7 All 181, followed. PRATAP NARAYN SINGH v. SHIAM LAL

I L R. 42 All 264

15. — Vendee becoming a co-sharer pending the suit—During the pendency of a suit for pre-emption of a share in zamindari property the defendant vendee acquired by gift a share in village, which put him as regards pre-emption on the same level with the plaintiff pre-emptor
Held, that in these circumstances the suit must be dismissed. The principle of Pam Gopal v. Puri Lal, I L R 21 All 411, applied. BIHARI LAL v. MOHAN SINGH

I L R. 42 All 263

16. — Valuation of property the subject of a claim for pre-emption—Property subject to a mortgage—Personal remedy barred and mortgage debt in excess of market value
 Where the personal remedy of the mortgagee has been barred, and the mortgage debt exceeds the value of property mortgaged the value of the property from the point of view of a claimant for pre-emption is the market value simply. JAGAT SINGH v. BALDEO PRASAD

I L R. 43 All 137

17. — Khandesh District—Rule of pre-emption does not exist in the Khandesh District—Bombay Regulation II of 1827, cl 26
 In the District of Khandesh in the Bombay Presidency the rule of pre-emption does not exist either as a rule of law or as a rule of justice, equity and good conscience. MAHOMED BRA AMIN v. NARAYAN MEHARJI (1915) . . . I L R. 40 Bom 358

PRE-EMPTION—*contd*MISCELLANEOUS—contd

18. ——— Sale by Mahomedan to Hindu —Co-sharer's claim to pre-emption—Law applicable—Intention of parties One of two Mahomedan co-sharers in two villages in the Presidency of Bombay agreed to sell his share to a Hindu, the agreement being made subject to a right in the co-sharer to pre-empt, and as a complete and immediate sale although part of the purchase price was to be paid later and a sale deed executed. The vendor informed his co-sharer that he had sold, and invited him to pre-empt the share sold. The co-sharer thereupon performed the ceremonies of pre-emption and claimed as pre-emptor to recover the share from the purchaser. Held, that the co-sharer had a right of pre-emption in accordance with the intention of the parties, which had to be looked at to determine what system of law was to apply, and what was to be taken as the date of the sale with reference to which the ceremonies were performed. Judgment of the High Court affirmed. SITARAM BHARAO v. JIAUL HASAN SHAJJUL KHAN (1921) L. R. 43 I. A. 475

I L. R. 45 Bom. 1056

19. ——— Shafi-i-Khaki right of—Partition of estate into separate mahals—sale of separate town number—whether owner of one of the mahals has a right to pre-emption On partition property was divided into several mahals, but joint between the parties were left a well certain roads a tank, a number of brahmottar and fakirana holdings, and two occupancy holdings. A separate town number formed by this partition was sold, and the owner of one of the mahals into which the parent estate had been divided claimed a right of pre-emption over the town number which had been sold. Held (1) that the existence of the undivided holdings did not give him a right of pre-emption, (2) that he had no right of pre-emption as shafi-i-khaki, as the roads, well tank, etc., were not appurtenances. ABDUL SINGH v. DASTI SINGH 4 Pat. L. J. 420

20. ——— Adhlati transaction—Whether a sale, when no money consideration passes—Transfer of Property Act, IV of 1882, s. 51 One T. R. in 1907 entered into an Adhlati transaction with G. M. in the Alipur Tahsil of the Muradgarh District by which the latter was to sink a well and clear the land attached to it within a period of 4 years and on his carrying out his undertaking G. M. was to get possession of one third of the land as proprietor. G. M. apparently carried out his part of the undertaking and on 18th June 1913 his name was entered in the mutation register as owner of one third of the land attached to the well. The present plaintiff then brought a suit for pre-emption in respect of the sale of the one-third share in the land, and it was objected that the transaction was not a sale. Held, that the creation of the Adhlati tenure in the present case did not amount to a sale, as no money consideration passed at all, and the defendant became proprietor of one third of the land only because he sank a well and brought the land attached to it under cultivation. Such a transaction did not give rise to any rights of pre-emption. Mel Chand v. Manasa Ram (187 P. R. 1833) distinguished. Ude Ram v. Baldevi (12 P. R. 1331, P. 36, note), and Jee Ram v. Chitka Mal (23

PRE-EMPTION—*contd.*MISCELLANEOUS—contd

P. R. 1313), referred to. GHULAM MUHAMMAD v. TEK CHAND I. L. R. 2 Lah. 189

21. ——— Waiver—Pre-emptor who refused to purchase except at a price much below the value H., a member of an agricultural tribe, applied to the Deputy Commissioner for permission to sell his land. His application was forwarded to the Tahsildar, who went to the village to make inquiries and on 8th January 1913 vendee offered to purchase the land for Rs. 1,600 and the house for Rs. 400. On 10th January the plaintiffs, collaterals of H., stated that they were not prepared to pay more than Rs. 950 or Rs. 960 or both the properties and declined to buy them for more than that sum. The properties were then sold to the vendee. Held, that the conduct of the plaintiffs amounted to a waiver and that they could not enforce their right of pre-emption. Indraj v. Brother Clement (I L. R. 37 All. 262), referred to, also Sri Kishan Singh v. Eachela Pandey (I L. R. 33 All. 637), Karam Chand v. Ghulam Hassan (74 P. R. 1815), distinguished. Held, also, that plaintiffs had no reasonable ground for entertaining the belief that Rs. 2,000 was an excessive price. MUKH RAM v. HARBAS I L. R. 1 Lah. 51

PRE-EMPTION DECREE—

——— Whether transferable—On 17th June 1918, Mehr Khan, appellant, obtained a pre-emption decree on payment of Rs. 1,500 within one month. On 6th July 1918 Mehr Khan sold his rights in the decree to Shah Din, appellant, and on 8th July 1918 they both presented a joint application for execution and deposited Rs. 1,500, the fact of the sale being recited in the application. On 6th August 1918 Mehr Khan stated in Court that as he had sold his rights to Shah Din he wished possession under the decree to be given to him. Held, following Ramaswami v. Goya (I L. R. 7 All. 107, 111) that a decree for pre-emption is not capable of transfer, so as to enable the transferee to obtain possession of the pre-emptional property in execution and that consequently Shah Din could not get possession under the decree in favour of Mehr Khan. Lashkari Mal v. Ishar Singh (94 P. R. 1902), referred to. MEHR KHAN v. GHULAM RASTI I. L. R. 2 Lah. 251

PRE-EMPTOR.

——— right of, to put vendor to proof of title—

See PRE-EMPTION I L. R. 27 All. 529

PREFERENCE

See DEBTOR AND CREDITOR I L. R. 43 Calc. 321

PREFERENCE SHAREHOLDERS

See COMPANY I L. R. 42 Bom. 579

PREFERENTIAL CLAIM.

See MUTAWALLI I L. R. 43 Calc. 467

PREFERENTIAL HEIR.

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION I L. R. 38 Mad. 45.

PREJUDICE

see CHANGE I L R 41 Calc 66
see CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1873) s 24

I L R 39 Mad 503

(CROSS EXAMINATION)

I L R 41 Calc 299

See FALSE INFORMATION

I L R 43 Calc 173

See LOCAL INSPECTION

I L R. 39 Calc 476

See LARKING HOUSE TENANT

I L R. 44 Calc 358

PRELIMINARY DECREE

S APPEAL I L R 42 Calc 914

I L R 48 Calc 1036

See POMBAY REGULATION (II OF 1877)

s 32 I L R 37 Bom 303

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—

ss 39 AND 97 O XXVI R. 11 10

I L R. 35 Bom. 392

I L R 39 Bom. 422

s 47 O XXII R. 10

I L R 39 Mad. 489

s 97 I L R 36 Bom. 536

I L R 37 Bom. 480

I L R 38 Bom. 331

I L R 39 Bom. 339

I L R 40 Bom. 627

O XXII R 18 I L R 35 All 159

See COURT FEES ACT VII OF 1870—

Section II CLS 34

I L R 32 All 517

s 7 cl (4) I L R. 39 Mad. 725

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION

I L R. 42 Bom 535

See MORTGAGE I L R. 38 Calc. 913

See MORTGAGE DECREE

I L R 39 Mad. 541

See PRETENSES ACT (XXIII OF 1871)

s 6 I L R. 39 Bom. 352

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) ss. 98 89

I L R 40 Bom 321

— in favour of puisne mortgagee—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O

XXXIV R. 4 5

I L R 35 All 398

Findings on issues relating to misjoinder limitation and jurisdiction—
Drawing up a preliminary decree—Material irregularity in declining to do so. A Subordinate Judge in trying a suit gave his decision on issues relating to misjoinder limitation and jurisdiction and directed the parties to adduce evidence relating to accounts. He was asked to draw up a preliminary decree in accordance with his findings on the issues and having declined to do so: Held that the Subordinate Judge committed a material irregularity in the exercise of his jurisdiction. The decision on the issues conclusively determined the rights of the parties regarding some matters in controversy so far as his Court was concerned,

PRELIMINARY DECREE—contd

the decision on each of those issues was therefore, sufficient to constitute a preliminary decree. Per CHIAM. It is the duty of the Court where it is applied to after the passing of a preliminary decree to have the decree drawn up so as to enable the party aggrieved to appeal. Jai Diah v Shat V. Anab Manorode I L R 34 Bom 18^o referred to SIDHANATH DIONDIFY v CANESH GOVIND (1919) I L R 37 Bom 60

Findings that a suit is not res judicata. A decision on that matter is not res judicata is not a preliminary decree. Chon mainwami v Gangadharappa I L R 39 Bom. 339 followed. BILAL TA BIN SHIDAPPA v DHANA GAVDA (1911) I L R. 39 Bom. 421

Appeal—final decrees passed before appeal from preliminary decree disposed of. When an appeal has been filed and is pending against a preliminary decree in a suit for partition the passing of the final decree does not render the appeal untenable. Per SHAW J.—A preliminary decree retains its force as such even after the passing of the final decree. A preliminary decree is not extinct after the passing of the final decree and the final decree instead of extinguishing the preliminary decree gives effect to it. BISI WAIDUNNISA v DEEF NARAIN PRASAD 1 Pat. L. 7 406

PRELIMINARY INQUIRY

See COMPLAINT DISMISSAL OF

I L R. 40 Calc 444

See COURT SPENDING OF

I L R 37 Calc. 642

See PERJURY I L R 42 Calc 240

— by an Assistant Settlement Officer—

See JUDICIAL PROCEEDING

I L R. 37 Calc. 52

PRELIMINARY MORTGAGE DECREE

See LIMITATION I L R. 42 Calc 776

PRELIMINARY ORDER

— defective effect of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1898

ss 145, 435 to 439

I L R 36 Mad. 275

PRELIMINARY POINT

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O

XLI R 3 I L R. 39 All 163

s 6 REMAND I L R. 43 Calc. 143

PRE-MORTGAGE

See PARTITION I L R. 34 All 418

PREPARATION

See DAWOITY I L R. 41 Calc. 350

PREROGATIVES

See MADRAS CORPUS

I L R 44 Calc 459

PRESCRIPTION.

See EASEMENT I. L. R. 42 Calc. 164

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1027

See EASEMENT (V of 1882), s 15

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 304

— non-riparian owner—

See EASEMENTS ACT (V of 1882), ss. 2 (c)

and 17 (c) I. L. R. 42 Bom. 238

— Prescription, proof of acquisition of title by—A is necessary to prove prescriptive right as trustee of tank—such right not acquired by acts of conservancy, maintaining and repairing, etc. A prescriptive right as trustee of a tank, the common property of a village, cannot be acquired by performing acts of conservancy, clearing and maintaining the tank, building flights of steps, sluices, etc., enjoying the fruits of trees in the bund, selling withered trees and similar acts. Muthayya v Sivaraman, I. L. R. 6 Mad. 229, followed. Sivaraman Chetty v Muthayyan Chetty, I. L. R. 12 Mad. 241, 244, followed. KARUTHAN CHETTY v KALIMUTHAN (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 323

— Water-rights—Reservoir in another's land—Prescriptive right to take water by defined channels—reservoir fed by surface water—Excavation by owner affecting supply of surface water, if actionable. The defendants had by prescription acquired the right to take water for the irrigation of their lands by two defined channels issuing westward from an ahar or reservoir in plaintiffs' mouzah and fed by water coming to it by a defined channel from the north west and surface water from the north, south and east. Held, that the plaintiffs had every right to cut in their own mouzah a pipe or channel which in no way interfered with the passage of water to the ahar through the channel from the north west, although it might result in drawing off the supply of surface water to the ahar to such an extent as would diminish the quantity of water available to the defendants for irrigating their lands. INDRANATH PRATAP BANADUR BASTI v KRISHNA DOVAL GIRI (1910)

14 C. W. N. 825

PRESENTATION.

See COMPLAINT I. L. R. 42 Calc. 19

See REGISTRATION ACT (III of 1877),

s 32 I. L. R. 34 All. 335

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI of 1893)—

s 35 I. L. R. 35 All. 72, 134

ss. 32, 33 71, 73, 75, 87, 89

I. L. R. 40 All. 434

PRESIDENCY BANKS ACT (XI OF 1876)

— s. 32—Vacation Certificate Act (III of 1894), ss. 16 and 17—Dividends on shares may be paid to the person obtaining succession certificate—Transfer of shares to the holder of certificate etc. or to a nominee—Case stated for opinion of Court—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1876), s. 50 and O. XXXI. The provisions of s. 23 of the Presidency Banks Act of 1876 do not prevent the Banks from accepting the succession certificate granted under the Succession Certificate Act. The certificate affects all interests to all the persons who are liable on the securities specified in the certificate as regards all dealings in good faith in respect of such securities. Hind,

PRESIDENCY BANKS ACT (XI OF 1876)—
contd

— s. 32—contd

accordingly, the Banks will not be contravening the provisions of the Act if they pay the dividends on the shares in the Banks to the person obtaining the certificate, and on his requisition transfer the said shares to him or his nominee. RANJIT SINGH v THE BANK OF BOMBAY (1920)

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 133

— ss. 36, 37—Directors lending on the unauthorized securities (e.g., mortgage of immovable property, not ultra vires of the bank. The provisions of s. 37 of the Presidency Banks Act (XI of 1876) prohibiting the directors of such banks from entering into certain kinds of transactions therein mentioned such as taking mortgages of immovable properties are only directory and not mandatory and they prohibit only the directors and not the banks from entering into them and if such transactions are actually entered into by the directors, on behalf of the bank they are not ultra vires of the bank. The directors are only agents of the bank and if in entering into such transactions they exceed the powers given to them by the Act, the bank can ratify them and enforce them, and an assignee (as in this case) from the bank of its rights under such transactions, is equally entitled to enforce them. DAMDAR SHANBOOTE v RAMA RAO (1917)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 101

PRESIDENCY MAGISTRATES.

See FISCAL TRIAL.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 313

— jurisdiction of—

See COMPANY I. L. R. 45 Calc. 420

— notes of depositions—

See COPIES 13 C. W. N. 770

— courts of—jurisdiction of Inter se—Transfer, High Court has power of from Court of Chief Presidency Magistrate to Court of another Presidency Magistrate—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1876), s. 21, cl. (2), 526, cl. (ii), Chapter Act (1863) s. 15 The Court of the Chief Presidency Magistrate and those of the other Presidency Magistrates are "Courts of equal jurisdiction" within the meaning of s. 526, cl. (ii), Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1876). The High Court has power to transfer a case from the file of the Chief Presidency Magistrate to that of another Presidency Magistrate. In re VENKATASUBARA SASTRI (1912)

I. L. R. 25 Mad. 759

— Jurisdiction within Port of Calcutta—[The High Court has jurisdiction in the Presidency, as the right kind of the High Court—Dismissal of complaints for want of complete complaint presented at the time by or before an adjoining Court—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1876), s. 27 44—Calcutta Port Act (Act III of 1893), ss. 124 and 125 A Presidency Magistrate has jurisdiction under s. 20 of the Criminal Procedure Code, read with s. 129 of the Calcutta Port Act (Act III of 1893), to try an offence, under s. 46 of the latter Act committed outside the Port of Calcutta but within the limits of the Port of Calcutta. Where a complaint was presented in the Court of a Magistrate who had jurisdiction, but not the case under the Act of that it would

PRESIDENCY MAGISTRATES—concl'd be heard by him but it was taken up and dismissed, under s. 217 of the Code, by the Chief Presidency Magistrate, without the knowledge of the complainant.—Held, that the order of acquittal under s. 247 ought in the circumstances of the case, to be set aside. W. J. COOD v. GUNPAT RAI KHUKKA (1919) I. L. R. 47 Calc 147

PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTJudgment of—

See APPEAL I. L. R. 41 Calc 323

Rules of—

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (XV OF 1882), ss 9 AND 38

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 823

suit in—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I. L. R. 44 Calc 816

Jurisdiction—Fraud

Where a decree was passed by the Presidency Small Cause Court and a suit was instituted in the Court of a Munsif to set aside the decree on the ground of fraud. Held, that the jurisdiction to entertain such suits must be determined by the Civil Procedure Code, and the suit must be brought either in the Court within whose jurisdiction the fraud was perpetrated or within whose local jurisdiction the defendant ordinarily resides and personally works for gain. Ailmony Barack v. Palla Lohan Chakrabarti, 5 W. R. Act V 50 referred to. Held, further that the suit was maintainable in the Munsif's Court, and the jurisdiction of the Presidency Small Cause Court to vacate its own decree when the same has been obtained by fraud is not sufficient to oust that of another Court to set aside the decree. Sarkisakram Masit v. Nando Ram Masit, 11 C. W. N. 379 referred to. The plaintiff in such a suit must allege fraud by which he was prevented from placing his case before the original Court. He cannot bring a fresh action by merely alleging that the decree was obtained by the perjury of the person in whose favour it was given. Mohamed Oslab v. Mohamed Salliman, 1 I. L. R. 41 Calc 610, referred to. ABDUL HUSSAIN CHOWDHURY v. ABDUL HUSSAIN (1910)

14 C. W. N. 695

New Trial—Powers of

*Bench sitting on application for new trial—Jurisdiction—Practice—Questions of fact and of law—Presidency Small Cause Courts Act (XV of 1882) ss 17 and 33—Investment Act (I of 1895) s. 13—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s. 115. The Second Judge of the Presidency Small Cause Court having dismissed a suit after trial the plaintiff applied under s. 33 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act for a new trial, and the Judge (the Chief and the Second) on such application set aside the order of dismissal and transferred the suit to the Third Judge to be tried by him. On a motion to the High Court by the defendants to set aside the order for new trial. Held, that s. 33 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act gives the Court power to set aside a new trial to be held and that there is no limitation in s. 33 that the Court can only* PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURT—concl'd.

exercise the power if a question of law arises. Sassoon v. Hurry Das Bhatia, 1 I. L. R. 24 Calc 453, referred to. JORAN SINGH v. RAM PRASAD (1911) I. L. R. 33 Calc 425

PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (XV OF 1882)—

Jurisdiction of Presidency Small Cause Courts—Claim by a Parsi wife to recover costs incurred by her in a matrimonial suit—Arrears of maintenance at the rate fixed by arbitrators—Award—Practice and procedure. A suit by a Parsi wife to recover costs incurred by her in a matrimonial suit and to recover arrears of maintenance at a rate fixed by arbitrators in their award, is one cognizable by the Presidency Court of Small Causes. ERACHSHAW v. DINSHI (1920) I. L. R. 45 Bom. 318

ss 6, 41—

See APPEAL I. L. R. 41 Calc. 323

ss. 9, 33—

See NEW TRIAL

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 763

New trial, application for—Right of a party to apply—Presidency Small Cause Court Rules, O. XXI r 2, ultra vires—High Court, power of to make rules—Matters of practice or procedure—Right of a party to apply, not a matter of practice or procedure. The rules of the Presidency Small Cause Court are made by the High Court under the powers conferred by s. 9 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act of 1882, as amended by the Act of 1895. That section only empowers the High Court to make rules with reference to matters of practice or procedure and not matters of substantive right. On a true construction of s. 38 of the Act the power given to the Court is really a right given to a party to apply for a new trial, such right like the right of appeal is not a matter of practice or procedure. O. XXI, r 2 of the Presidency Small Cause Court Rules which requires at the time of presenting an application for new trial, either the deposit in Court of the decree amount or the giving of security for the due performance of the decree is inconsistent with the statutory right given by s. 38 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act and is ultra vires. Attorney General v. Sullen, 11 E. R. 1200, s. c. 10 H. L. C. 701 referred to. Colonial Sugar Refining Company v. Irving (1905) A. C. 359, referred to. MAHURAI PILLAI v. MUTHU CHETTY (1914) I. L. R. 33 Mad. 823

s. 19 (g)—Suit for stones of a well or their value—Title to the well questioned—Jurisdiction of the Small Cause Court. Suit to recover stones forming part of a well and said to have been wrongfully removed by the defendant, or their value is cognizable by the Presidency Small Cause Court in spite of the fact that it is necessary to determine the question of title to the well. Puttanavada v. Ailanth Kalo Desai (1915) 1 I. R. 37 Poon 675 followed. Thuyat Raju v. Vasomhaya (1917) 1 I. P. 20 Mad. 135 considered and distinguished. Krishna-MACHARI v. Komalaveral (1909)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 603

PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (XV OF 1882)—contd

—s 19, cl (a)—Jurisdiction—Unsuccessful claim proceedings—Suit to recover movable property attached by the Presidency Small Cause Court or for payment of its value—Not a suit for a mere declaration—The Small Cause Court Rules—Claim petitions—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) A suit by the unsuccessful party in claim proceedings to recover movable property attached by the Presidency Small Cause Court or for the payment of its value is not excluded from the jurisdiction of the Presidency Small Cause Court under s 19 cl (a) of the Act as a suit for a declaratory decree. The statutory suit to establish his right given to the unsuccessful party in claim proceedings under the Code involves in every case a prayer for the setting aside of a summary order of a Civil Court this being so such a suit cannot be regarded as a suit for a mere declaration. Phulkumar v Ganeshji I L R 35 Cal 29 35 followed. The Small Cause Court rules reproduce the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code as to claim petitions and cases under them must be governed by the same considerations. RAJENDRA v NARAYANASAMY NAIGER (1915) I L R 33 Mad 219

—s 22—

See COSTS I L R 43 Cal 190

—s 31 cl (b)—

See EXECUTION OF DECREES

I L R 37 Cal 574

—ss 37 38—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 105

I L R 24 Bom 313

—Sanction to prosecute—Order granted by single Judge—Powers of Full Court to revoke the sanction—Full Court not an Appellate Court Where a sanction to prosecute has been granted by a Judge of the Presidency Small Causes Court at Bombay a Full Court of that Court has no power to revoke the sanction. Per CHANDAYAN, J—The language used in ss 37 and 38 of the Presidency Court of Small Causes Act (XV of 1882) does not appear to be appropriate for the purpose of conferring appellate jurisdiction upon the Full Court. Per BATHUR J—The jurisdiction conferred by s 38 of the Act is not appellate but revisional only. SHIVLAL PADMA, In re (1909)

I L R 34 Bom 316

—ss 37 38—

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURT

I L R 38 Cal 425

—s 38—

See s. 9 I L R 38 Mad 823

I L R 47 Cal 783

—New trial power of Court to order—Judgment against weight of evidence s 38 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act (XV of 1882) places no limitation upon the power of the Court to order new trial in a matter when the judgment is manifestly against the weight of evidence such power is not restricted to questions of law only. Sassoon v Hurrey Dass Bhat I C B N 44 relied on SHIV v RAM PRASAD (1911) 18 C W N 25

—Full Bench of the Small Causes Court no power to decide facts Held by the Full Bench that a Full Bench of the Presidency Small Cause Court sitting under s 38 of Act XV of 1882 has no jurisdiction to decide questions of fact whether they are raised generally or in consequence of its finding on another question of fact or law. Sadasook Gomb v Chund v Kannappa I L R 19 Mad 96 and Srinivas Chari v Balaji Rao I L R 21 Mad 230 approved. Ramasamy Aiyar v The Madras Tires Limited 30 Mad L J 207 overruled. SAT SUNDAR ROWTHOR v GHOSHMOHINI MARRAKATAR (1916) I L R 40 Mad 355

PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (XV OF 1882)—contd

—New trial—Full Court

—Difference of opinion on questions of fact—Powers of interference—Powers not restricted to questions of law only—Jurisdiction S and D filed cross suits in the Presidency Small Cause Court. The trial Judge allowed S's suit and dismissed that of D. D obtained a Rule for new trial and the same coming up for argument before the Chief Judge and the trial Judge there was a difference of opinion between the learned Judges on questions of fact. In this division the order of the Chief Judge prevailed with the result that D's claim was wholly allowed and that of S disallowed. Against this order S applied in revision to the High Court contending that under s 38 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act 1882 the Full Court had no jurisdiction to make the order because they had no appellate powers on a question of fact and upon such questions their powers of interference were limited to cases where the judgment of trial Court was manifestly against the weight of evidence. Held that the Full Court had jurisdiction on as the powers conferred under s 38 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act 1882 were not restricted to interferences on questions of law only. Per BATHUR, ACTING C J There is nothing in the wording of the section which suggests that the Legislature intended to confine the powers thus generally granted to particular cases where questions of law are involved, nor can it be accurately said that the powers of interference are only to be used where the original judgment is manifestly against the weight of the evidence. BOVOO NARAYAN v DINKAR JAGANNATH (1917)

I L R 42 Bom 80

—s 41—

See APPEAL I L R 41 Cal 323

—ss 41-49 and Ch VII—

See BOMBAY RENT (U.S. RESTRICTIONS) ACT (No II of 1918)—

ss 9 AND 10 I L R 45 Bom 928 1048

—ss 43 and 48—

See BAILIFF I L R 42 Cal 313

—s 43—Order for possession—S Full Cause Court has no jurisdiction to amend terms of decrees or order passed under Ch. VII—Pent (War Restrictions) Act (Bom. Act II of 1918) s 9 On the 21st January 1920 a decree for possession was made in favour of the petitioner by the Presidency Small Cause Court on the ground that the premises were reasonably and bona fide required and the opponent was ordered to vacate by the 21st June 1920. On the 15th June 1920 the opponent applied for further

PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT
(XV OF 1892)--contd

—————→ p. 43—concl'd time and was granted time till the 9th July Thereafter on a further application by the opposite the Court stayed execution till the 20th October 1920 The petitioner having applied to the High Court under its revisional jurisdiction —Held setting aside the order, that the Small Cause Court had no jurisdiction to alter or amend the terms of a decree or order for possession once passed under s 43 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882, nor was there anything in the Rent Act which gave the Small Cause Court any power to alter its orders for possession made in due course JAMESHJI HORMASJI v GORDHANDAS GOELDAS (1920)

48—Orders made in proceeding under Ch VII—Review—Power of the Court to review the order—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 19 5), as s 114 and O XLVII The Presidency Small Cause Court has no jurisdiction to review its decision in a proceeding under Ch VII of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act 1882. PER MAHADEO, C J —S. 48 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882, means that in the proceedings themselves under Ch. VII, the provisions of the Code shall apply as far as possible that is to say, until an order is made granting or dismissing the application and while any further proceedings which might become necessary in execution of the order are being taken. To go a step further by stating that any other provisions of the Code with regard to appeals or reviews apply, would not be warranted by the words of the section. 'PER FAWCETT J' —The expression 'proceedings under Ch. VII' should be construed as referring simply to the proceedings for the actual hearing of the case on its merits which are terminated by an order either refusing the application or granting possession. It is a further stage and in reality a separate proceeding, when the Court after passing such an order is asked to review that order. FRAMROZ DOSABHAI v. DALSUKHRAI FULCHAND (1920).
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 872

— 69 —

See CAUSE OR ACTION

I L R 41 Calc 825

See PRESIDENTY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (Ill. of 1909), s. 17

L L R 39 Mad 889

Limitations Act 125

of 1993) - 29 promised—Part payment of principal—Literate debtor—Part payment signed but not verified by him whether sufficient compliance within the promise When two or more Judges of the Small Cause Court are sitting together for the purpose of exercising the jurisdiction conferred by a. 35 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act (XX of 1882), they are sitting "in a suit" within the meaning of those words in a. 6) and if a reference is made to the High Court under its provisions, such reference is valid S. 22 of the Limitation Act required that in the case of a part payment of the principal of a debt, the entry recording the payment should be written by the person who makes the payment, when such person knows how to write, his mere signature to the entry written by another is not a

PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT
(XV OF 1882)—concl'd.

sufficient compliance with the section. Joshi
Bhas Shantkr v Ras Parvat, 1 L R 26 Bom 216, Jasud v Jom Bhana, 1 L R 28 Bom.
267 and Mukhi Hays Palmutulla v Corery
Bhaja 1 L P 23 Cal 545 followed. See Seahwa 1 L P 7 Vad 55, and Elappa v
Annamalai, 1 L R 7 Vad 76, distinguished.
Lodd Govindoss Krishnaboss v Rikmani
Bai (1913) 1 L R 38 Mad. 433

_____ 88-

Set PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURT
I L R. 38 Calc 425

_____ § 94.

See FRAUD . 14 C. W. N 695

PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS (AMENDMENT) ACT (I OF 1895)

13

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURT
I. L. R. 38 Cal. 425

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)-1

See INSOLVENT I L R 45 Bom 550

— ss 5, 6, 36, 101, sec 18, Sch II—
Appeal, time within which to be filed—Signing of the findings and of the report—Jurisdiction of the Registrar in Insolvency—Validity of a mortgage, whether could be decided by the Registrar—Consent when infants are concerned, effect of Under s. 101 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1909, the period of limitation for an appeal from the order of the Registrar in Insolvency is twenty days from the time when the report is signed by the Registrar and the matter is thereby completed and not from the time when the findings of the Registrar are signed or filed The Registrar in Insolvency has no jurisdiction to deal with the question of validity or otherwise of a mortgage alleged to have been executed by the insolvent, re LALBHAI SHAI 26 C W N 631

ss. 6, 8, 23, 28, 29 (2)—(a) (b), (c), (2), (f), (j)—Protection order—Appeal lies against a protection order—Opposing creditor, though not a decree holder a person aggrieved by the protection order—Protection order a privilege to be granted or withheld, according to the character and circumstances of the insolvency—Insolvent guilty of malpractices not entitled to protection Under s. 8, cl. 2 (b) of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909) an appeal lies from a protection order made by a Judge in the exercise of the insolvency jurisdiction It does not appear from s. 8 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act that the Legislature wished to put any limitation upon appeals made from original orders of a Judge except perhaps orders regulating procedure The expression any person aggrieved in cl. 2 of the last mentioned act on is not to be limited to a creditor who has obtained decrees against the insolvent Every application for protection after refusal or suspension of discharge must be judged on its merits If the insolvent has acted recklessly and dishonestly the fact that he cannot pay, is no reason for depriving the creditor of the power of punishing him by attachment and imprisonment to the extent the law allows. A protection order is a privilege to be granted or withheld as the Court in its discretion may determine. In exercising that discretion, it is relevant and proper for the Court to have regard to the character and circumstances of the insolvent. Where a Court finds that the insolvent is of a flagrantly culpable kind, being the result of gross extravagance accompanied by grave malpractices and a total disregard of the creditors whose money was squandered, protection ought to be refused. MATTIE v INGRAM, 11 CA D 335, and In re Gent. Gent Davis v Harris 40 CA D 190, 195 referred to. MAHOMED HAJI ESSACK v SHAIK ABDUL RAHMAN (1915).

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—*contd*ss. 6, 8, 25, 33, 39 (2)—concld

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 481.

ss. 6, 27, 36, 121.—Ind an Insolvency Act (II & 12 Vict., c. 21) s. 3—Employ Insolvency rules under Indian Insolvency Act, r. 37—Officer appointed by the Chief Justice under s. 6 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act—Attorneys right of audience The petitioner complained that in certain proceedings before the officer appointed under s. 6 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, namely, on the holding of the public examination of insolvents under s. 27 of the Act and the examination of persons summoned by the Court under s. 3, such examinations had been conducted by solicitors. The petitioner submitted that, for reasons set forth in the petition, solicitors had no right of audience before the said officer, and petitioned the Chief Justice of the Bombay High Court to form a Special Bench for the determination of the question whether any legal practitioner except counsel had the right to audience before the officer so appointed. Held, that attorneys of the High Court have a right of audience before the officer appointed by the Chief Justice in the exercise of the powers conferred upon him under s. 6 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act. In re ADVOCATE GENERAL OF BOMBAY (1913).

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 464.

ss. 6, 101; Sec II, s. 18—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 47 Cal. 721.

cap. 21, s. 25.—Immovable property outside local limits of ordinary original civil jurisdiction of High Court—Dispute as to title—Jurisdiction of High Court in insolvency to decide—Summary procedure, when—Letters Patent, cl. 12 and 18—Bankruptcy Act (46 & 47 Vict., cap. 62 of 1883) s. 102 Under s. 7 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909), the High Court of Madras in the exercise of its insolvency jurisdiction, has jurisdiction to adjudicate on claims relating to immovable property situated outside the limits of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction; the jurisdiction which existed under s. 25 of 11 & 12 Vict., cap. 21, has not been cut down by the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act. The jurisdiction conferred by s. 7 of the Act is of a discretionary character and it is seldom that the Insolvency Court will deem it expedient to try difficult questions of title; the Judge in such cases would ordinarily ask the Official Assignee in Insolvency to establish his title in an ordinary Civil Court. S. 36 of the Act does not control the language of s. 7 but provides a special and summary procedure in certain cases, nor does s. 90 curtail the jurisdiction otherwise exercisable by the Insolvency Court. Decisions on the Bankruptcy Act (46 & 47 Vict. cap. 52 of 1883) s. 102, corresponding to s. 7 of the Indian Act III of 1909, are relevant and should be followed. Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent does not control the provisions of cl. 18 thereof so as to limit the insolvency jurisdiction of the Court. Ex parte Declan In re Pollard L. R. 8 Ch D 377, 378. Ex parte Brown In re Yates, L. R. 11 Ch D 143 followed. Macle v Dittie In re Motion, L. R. 9 Ch App 192, 210, In re Lucas, L. R. 42 Cal. 109. Ganeshdas Parolal In re R D Sethna v R D Chandra I. L. R. 32 Bom. 195. Khan Sahib Bangs Abdul Kadir Sahib v The Official Assignee, 14 Mad L T 51, referred to. ABDUL KHADER v THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS (1916).

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—*contd*ss. 7, 36 and 90—11 and 12 Vict., cap. 21, s. 25—concld

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 810.

ss. 7, 86—Official Assignee—Third person a property taken in custody by Official Assignee—Sust by stranger—Civil Court—Right of suit Where the Official Assignee takes into his possession property as belonging to the insolvent which a third party claims as his own, the latter can bring a suit against the Official Assignee in a Civil Court to establish his right. NATIONAL CHINLAI v THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE (1911).

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 473.

s. 8—

See s. 6

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 461.

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 43 Cal. 248.

ss. 35—Rules (Calcutta) under Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, r. 17, 18, 19 and 30—Ex parte order for examination of a person, if could be made—Power of the Registrar in Insolvency to make such an order—Procedure when the witness refuses to answer questions—Appeal from an order of Judge in Insolvency Application under s. 36 (1) of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1919, could be, and are intended to be made ex parte. To such an application r. 30 of the rules framed by the High Court under s. 112 of the Act applies and not rr. 17, 18 and 19. In re Kanyas Mohan Poy, I. L. R. 43 Cal. 280, s. c. 20 C. W. N. 1155 (1916), followed under s. 6 (d) and (e) of the Act the Registrar in Insolvency has power to deal with such an application. An application to the Court to set aside an order made by the Registrar in Insolvency under s. 36 (1) is not an appeal under cl. (2) of s. 8 but an application under cl. (1) for the review of an ex parte order. The course to be adopted if the person summoned is advised not to answer questions put to him indicated. Pe ALBERT ELLER SELBANA PATRONAL KARNAT BHANDAR v THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF CALCUTTA 25 C. W. N. 750.

s. 9 (d) III.—Idem Idem on petition for what to do in case of a person who is given a petition for adjudication in bankruptcy alleged that the directors of a company in their place of business and persons and are providing themselves so as to deprive their creditors of the means of compensation with them whereby they petitioners are advised and believed that the said insolvents are liable to be adjudged to have committed an act of insolvency." An affidavit in support of this petition alleged the indebtedness of the debtors and that they had left Madras leaving no one in charge of their respective business and are secreting themselves for the purpose of evading their creditors. Held, that these allegations were a sufficient compliance with s. 9 (d) of the Insolvency Act. The statement of intent to defeat or delay the creditors must appear either in the petition or in the affidavit, otherwise, the petition is liable to be dismissed as the omission to state it is a substantial defect incurable by amendment. An omission to state in fact that the petitioning creditor is a secured creditor and the value of his security, as required by s. 12 (2) and r. 21, is one that could be cured by amendment. WHITE, C. J.—Leave to amend a petition by inserting new causes of action should not be given at a time when by doing so the Court would be depriving the defendant of the plea of limitation. WALLIS, J. (dubitant) whether under peculiar circumstances leave could not be given in such cases. PER WALLIS, J.—The passage (in the petition) conveys with sufficient certainty that the debtors committed an act of insolvency by leaving their place of business and residence with intent to defeat and delay their creditors. But if that act of insolvency is not expressed with sufficient certainty we are at liberty to look at the affidavit and after reading the petition with the affidavit to find that the act of insolvency is charged with sufficient certainty. Ex parte Coates, In re Skellon & Co. D 979, distinguished. GRANT & Co v. MANDRAJAYAN SANKAR (1913) I. L. R. 37 Mad. 555

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—contd.

§ 9 (d) III—contd.

§§ 9 (e), 10—Partnership debt—

Attachment of property in execution of a joint decree against partner—Property claimed on behalf of an endorser—Enquiry as to whether property attached was really judgment debtors, if essential—General Clauses Act (X of 1897), s. 13—Act or default, if to be personal of person sought to be adjudicated—Delay in applying for annulment § 9 (e) of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act requires that the act or default which amounts to an act of insolvency must be a personal act or default of the particular individual or in certain circumstances of his agent Where properties alleged to belong to three judgment-debtors remained under attachment in execution of a joint decree against them for more than 21 days. Held, that this alone could not be relied on as an act of insolvency on the part of H, one of the co judgment debtors when, in the execution proceedings, claim was laid to what was alleged to be his share of the property on behalf of an endorser, and that claim was pending when the adjudicating order was made against him and the other co judgment debtors. On an application by H for annulment of the adjudication: Held, that the above act of insolvency on the part of his co judgment debtors could not be regarded as an act of insolvency on the part of H. Held, that it was necessary to inquire whether the property attached was in fact the applicant's. An objection that the application for annulment was not made till after the lapse of a considerable time,

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—contd.

§§ 9 (e), 10—contd.

having been raised for the first time on appeal? Held, that there being no bar of limitation in the matter, this objection taken at this late stage should not be entertained. HARISH CHANDRA MCKEEJEE v. THE EAST INDIA COAL CO. LD. (1912) 18 C. W. N. 733 §§ 13 (8) 15 (2) and 21 (1)—Adjudication, annulment of, when Court has jurisdiction to pass order for—Debts, necessity that all debts of the insolvent actually and properly proved in the bankruptcy should have been fully paid in cash—Conduct of insolvent applying for annulment of an adjudication order, duty of Court to scrutinize—Discretion of Court, how exercised—A debtor who has been adjudicated insolvent on his own petition cannot even with the leave of the Court, withdraw his petition. S. 15 (2) of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act only applies to petitions that are pending before any order has been made, as also does s. 13 (8) dealing with petitions by creditors. Once an order of adjudication has been made, the debtor becomes an insolvent and remains so until the order of adjudication is annulled or he obtains his discharge. The Court can only annul the order of adjudication under s. 21 of the Act if the Court is of opinion that the debtor ought not to have been adjudicated insolvent or it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the debts of the insolvent have been paid in full and in the latter case the "debts" including at least all debts actually and properly proved in bankruptcy must have been fully paid in cash. It is the duty of the Court to scrutinize the conduct of an insolvent applying for an order of annulment. The Court is given a discretion by s. 21, and it would not be a good exercise of that discretion to make an order of annulment of an adjudication where, if the insolvent were applying for his discharge, an order of discharge would not be granted. In re Keet, (1905) 2 K B 666, 661, applied. In the matter of MANDRAJAYAN SANKAR (1912) I. L. R. 38 Bom. 200

§§ 14, 15, 21, 28—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 44 Calc. 899

§ 15—

See s. 13.

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 44 Calc. 899

§ 17—

Leave of Court—

Power of secured creditor of adjudicated insolvent to realise his security by means of a regular suit without obtaining leave, A, having obtained a decree in a suit brought by him against B for the payment of a sum of money, assigned the decree to C by way of mortgage in return for repayment of monies advanced by C to A. Subsequently A became insolvent and his property being vested in the Official Assignee the latter executed the decree against B and obtained payment of the amount due from B in full. Subsequently C, without the leave of the Court first obtained, brought a suit against the Official Assignee to recover the amount due to him as mortgagee of the decree against B out of the monies so recovered by the Official Assignee. Held, that the Official Assignee, having executed a decree which had been assigned by way of security, was in the position of a mortgagor who had sold the mortgaged property and was in possession of the sale proceeds, that until the claim of the mortgagee had been satisfied the insolvent or his Official Assignee had no right to the proceeds of the decree and that the secured creditor in such a case might file a suit to obtain payment of his claim out of the amount so recovered by the Official Assignee without obtaining the leave of the Court under s. 17 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act as the proviso to s. 17 covered a suit by a mortgagee to realise his security Lavo v HETILLANNAI ISMAILI (1913)

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—*contds. 17—*contd

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 359

Suit by creditors against an adjudicated insolvent—Suit commenced without the leave of the Court—Application for leave after the institution of the suit—Application refused The leave contemplated under s. 17 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909) is leave which ought to be obtained before the commencement of a suit, and cannot be granted after the same is filed In re DWARKADAS TR. BHANDAS (1915)

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 235

Decree of Presidency Small Cause Court—Judgment debtor, adjudicated insolvent subsequent to decree—Adjudication by the High Court—Application for execution by arrest in the Presidency Small Cause Court—Leave of the High Court, not obtained—Release of judgment debtor on security—Non appearance, effect of—Security bond validity of—Jurisdiction—Water—Presidency Small Cause Courts Act (XV of 1862), s. 69 Where a decree was passed by the Presidency Small Cause Court against a person who was subsequently adjudicated an insolvent by the High Court in the exercise of its insolvency jurisdiction, the former Court had no jurisdiction without the leave of the High Court to entertain any application for execution of the decree against the insolvent under s. 17 of the Insolvency Act III of 1909. Consequently a security bond, executed to the Court by a third party for the appearance of the judgment-debtor in the course of the execution proceedings carried on without the leave of the High Court, was obtained without jurisdiction and was void in law. A reference to the High Court under s. 69 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act should state clearly the points on which there is a difference of opinion among the Judges of the Small Cause Court. EASWARA v GOVINDARAJULU NAIDU (1913)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 699

ss. 17, 22 and 51—Adjudication by different Courts—Later adjudication based on earlier acts of insolvency—Vesting of property under prior adjudication—Official Assignees whether created by later adjudication—Convenience of administration of assets by one Court—Annulment of adjudication, in other, necessity for—Order of adjudication—Specification of acts of insolvency therein, necessity for Where there are successive adjudications in insolvency by two Courts, all the property of the insolvent vests in the Official Assignee appointed by the Court in which the prior adjudication was made and it will not be divested from him by the subsequent adjudication of the other Court, even if the later adjudication be based on acts of insolvency committed

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—*contdss. 17, 22 and 51—*contd

earlier in date than those upon which the prior adjudication was made. Where it is found convenient that the estate should be administered by the Court in which the later adjudication was made, steps should be taken to annul the prior adjudication. S. 51 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909) which enacts the doctrine of relation back, is intended to enable the Official Assignee to recover property in the hands of third parties and has not the effect of divesting property vested in an Official Assignee under a prior adjudication. Ex parte Geddes, In re Masai, 1 Q & J 414, followed. An order of adjudication should specify the precise acts of insolvency on which it is made, as the insolvency relates back to the date of the acts of insolvency which are found to have been proved. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS v OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF BANGALORE (1918)

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 121

ss. 17, 103 and 104—Adjudged insolvent—Criminal proceedings against the insolvent—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 421—Sanction of Insolvency Court not obtained—Jurisdiction of Magistrate—Suit or other legal proceeding, interpretation of A person in insolvent circumstances applied to the Insolvent Debtors' Court at Bombay for relief under the provisions of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1909, and was adjudicated an insolvent. Ten days later, a creditor of the insolvent, without having obtained any sanction from the Insolvent Debtors Court, filed a complaint against the insolvent in the Presidency Magistrate's Court for an offence punishable under s. 421 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860. It was contended that the Magistrate had no jurisdiction to entertain the complaint. Held that the Magistrate's jurisdiction to try the insolvent for an offence under s. 421 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, was not taken away by anything contained in the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1909. The expression 'or other legal proceeding' in s. 17 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1909, coming after the word 'suit', a word of more limited application, must be construed on the principle of ejusdem generis. It, therefore, includes only proceedings of a civil nature. EMPEROR v MULSHANKAR HARINDAR BHAT (1910)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 63ss. 17, 126—*See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 40 Cal. 78

s. 18 (3)—Suit on a promissory note against an adjudged insolvent—Proceedings against an insolvent may be stayed although not pending at the time of the order of adjudication—Proceedings against an insolvent stayed, although leave to sue was obtained under s. 17—Discretion of the trial Court in staying proceedings not to be interfered with, where interference would involve abuse of judicial proceedings The wording of s. 18 (3) of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act III of 1909 is wide enough to justify a stay of proceedings in an action which was not pending at the time of the order of adjudication. S. 10 of the English Bankruptcy Act, and Brouncombe v Fair, 55 L. T. 85, referred to MAHOMED HAJI ESSACK v ABDUL RAHMAN (1916)

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 312

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—contd.

— s. 21—

See s. 13 I. L. R. 33 Bom. 200

See ADJUDICATION ANNULMENT OF
I. L. R. 47 Cal. 914

— ss. 21, 28 to 30—Prvt. arrangement of insolvent with creditors for full discharge on part payment whether 'payment in full' or 'composition' under the Act. A private arrangement of the insolvents to pay four annas in the rupee in full satisfaction of their claims even though made with all their creditors is neither a 'payment in full' nor a 'composition' within the meaning of the Act so as to entitle the insolvents to an annulment of an order of adjudication. An order of adjudication under the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act made on an application of the insolvents who were unable to pay their debts, can be annulled by 'payment in full' to the creditors as provided for by s. 21 of the Act or as the result of a composition with the creditors in the manner provided for by ss. 28 to 30 of the Act. BALI KESOOK LALL & OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, MADRAS (1920) I. L. R. 43 Mad. 71

— s. 22—

See s. 17 I. L. R. 42 Mad. 121

— s. 25—

See s. 6 I. L. R. 40 Bom. 461

Protection order—Previous decisions on applications for interim orders—Discretion—Practice. It has never been the practice of Commissioners in Insolvency under the Indian Insolvency Act (II and II Act. c. 21) to consider themselves bound by their previous decisions on applications for interim orders when it has been a matter for their discretion and it by no means follows that because an application has been refused on the first occasion it must also be refused on the second occasion. S. 25 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909) clearly intends that while an insolvent diligently performs the duties prescribed by the Act he should not be harassed by execution creditors, and should not be rendered liable to pressure whereby one creditor may get undue advantage over another. The section does not deprive the Court of its discretion in granting or refusing protection, but sub s. (4) indicates clearly the lines along which that discretion should be exercised when a creditor opposes the grant. If an insolvent can produce the certificate referred to, the onus is thrown on the opposing creditors of showing cause why the protection order should not be granted. In the matter of MURUGAI GANOA & CO (1910) I. L. R. 35 Bom. 47

— ss. 25, 28, 27, Sch. II—Creditor, if includes his benamidar—s. 12 (1) (a) 13, & 3 (2) (b) and 30—Official Assignee if may examine petitioning creditor's claim and remove his name—Benamidar, onus of proof of advances on one behalf—"Person aggrieved" It is open to the Official Assignee after the insolvent to examine the claim of the petitioning creditor and if he finds that in fact there is no debt due to the petitioning creditor, he must strike out the name of such creditor from the list. A benamidar is not entitled to claim as a creditor in the insolvency. The persons who really advanced the money should come forward and prove their claims before the Court. MOORE & J—The term "creditor" in the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act does not include the benamidar of a creditor. Any person who makes an application to a Court for a decision or any person who is brought before the Court to submit to a decision is, if the decision goes against him, thereby a person aggrieved by that decision, within the meaning of that expression in s. 80 of the Act. KETOKE CHARAN BANERJEE v. SARAT KUMAR DABEE (1916) 20 C. W. N. 995

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—contd.

— ss. 25, 26, 27, Sch. II—contd.

— s. 27—

See s. 5 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 464

— ss. 28, 29, 30—

See s. 21 I. L. R. 43 Mad. 71

— s. 30—Ind an Contract Act (IX of 1872) s. 135—Surety—Dabash of a Company, guaranteeing customers—Part payment of debt by surety to creditor—Insolvency of debtor—Composition effected by insolvent-debtor with creditors—Subsequent approval by Court and annulment of insolvency—Right of surety to refund of money paid to creditor—Composition and annulment, whether under s. 30 of the Act. The dabash of a Company stood surety for customers introduced by him and deposited with them certain Government promissory notes as security. One of such customers failing in business, the Company sold the notes and appropriated the proceeds in part payment of the debt of the customer. Both the customer and the dabash were adjudicated insolvents. The customer entered directly without the Official Assignee's intervention into a composition with his creditors with a view to obtain the approval and sanction of the Insolvency Court and subsequently applied to the Court for approval of the composition and annulment of the insolvency. The Court annulled the insolvency but the order did not embody the terms of the composition, as required by s. 30 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act. The Company had agreed to the composition without the consent of the dabash and received a dividend on the full amount of their debt, without giving credit for the money which was appropriated. The Official Assignee, acting on behalf of the insolvent dabash, applied to the Court to direct the Company to refund the value of his Government Promissory Notes appropriated by them. Held, that a creditor was entitled to prove for the full amount of his debt in the insolvency of the principal debtor, notwithstanding that the surety had paid a portion of the debt and that the surety could not prove, until he had paid the full amount for which he was liable. ELLIS v. ELLIS (1876) 1 K. J. 137 and In re Societe Generale Bank of England (1886) 2 Q. B. 12 followed; that the fact that the creditor entered into a composition which the principal debtor without the surety's consent did not entitle the latter to a refund of payments already made by him to the creditor although it might release him from future liability, that the irregularities in the proceedings did not vitiate the Court's approval of the terms of the composition and the consequent annulment of the insolvency under s. 30 of the Insolvency Act; and that the discharge of the principal debtor, in such a case,

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—contds. 30—contd

being by operation of law and not by act of the creditor, the surety would not be discharged from his obligation to the creditor under s. 13 of the Indian Contract Act. Ex parte Jacob & In re Jacobs (1875) 10 Ch App 211, followed. On the question whether the fact that the creditor had given receipts in full settlement of the debt, without waiting until the composition was sanctioned by the Court discharged the creditor Held, by SANJIVARI ARYAN, J (WALLIS C J, not deciding the point) that where after notice to the surety the composition was accepted by the Court it became an act of the Court and the surety was not discharged from liability. BOMBAY COMPANY, LTD v OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS (1921) 1 L. R. 44 Mad 381

s. 33—

See INSOLVENCY 1 L. R. 47 Calc 56

ss 32 to 37, 43—

See INSOLVENCY 1 L. R. 44 Calc 374

s. 35—

See s. 7 . . . 25 C W. N 750

s. 36—

See s. 5 . . . 26 C.W. N 631

See s. 6 . . . 1 L. R. 37 Bom 464

See s. 7 . . . 1 L. R. 40 Mad. 810

See Costs . . . 1 L. R. 48 Calc. 795

See INSOLVENCY 1 L. R. 42 Calc. 109

1 L. R. 44 Calc 286, 374

1 L. R. 48 Calc 1039

See INSOLVENCY 1 L. R. 46 Calc 996

Application under, if may be made ex parte—Calcutta High Court Insolvency rr 17, 18, 19 and 30 Applications under s. 36 (1) of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act for examination of persons thereunder are intended to be made ex parte under the rules framed by the Calcutta High Court under s. 112 of the Act. To such applications r. 30 applies and not rr. 17, 18 and 19, and this view is supported by the English Bankruptcy Act (1914), 4 & 5, George V, Ch. 59, and the rules thereunder. In re KESORJI MOHAN ROY (1916) 26 C. W. N. 1155

Order under section when can be properly made—Admission of proof of debt by Official Assignee a condition precedent The words in a. 36 "any creditor who has proved his debt" mean not merely a creditor who has lodged proof of his debt but a creditor whose proof has been admitted by the Official Assignee and unless this has been done no order can be made under the section. The mere fact that a creditor's name was included in the schedule filed by the insolvent and that so far his claim has not been challenged does not assist him if his debt has not been admitted by the Official Assignee so that he becomes a creditor who has proved his debt within the meaning of s. 36 of the Act. Re ABDUL SAMAD . . . 26 C. W. N. 744

s. 36 (4) (5)—

Proper proceedings under s. 36 (4) and (5) for discovery of insolvent's property—Practice—Costs, order for, against Official

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—contds. 36 (4) (5)—contd

Assignee—Indemnity If the Official Assignee desires to proceed under s. 36, (4) and (5) of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909) for discovery of an insolvent's property known or suspected to be in possession of any person, the only way he can do that is to take the examination of such person by itself and ask the Court for an order that he is justified, by the admissions made or evidence given by such person and without looking to any further evidence at all, to have the order. In such cases the proper procedure is not for the Official Assignee to present a petition and obtain from Court a rule in bankruptcy against such person to show cause. There are two courses open to the Official Assignee in such cases. The one is to start an action and the other is to proceed against the respondent by notice of motion in insolvency. But it is discretionary with the Court in the latter case to direct at the hearing of the motion that the matter be dealt with by an action. In the case of motion, a notice of motion has to be sent to the respondent stating the grounds of the application supported by an affidavit giving the evidence relied upon. The rule was discharged on the merits with liberty to the Official Assignee to proceed by motion on proper materials or by action if he so desired. If the Official Assignee brings an unsuccessful motion, however careful he may have been the order that the Court would make generally would be that he is to pay the respondent's costs and he will have the right of indemnity given him by the previous order of the Court. Or he may obtain an indemnity from the creditor or other person in whose interest the motion is brought before he starts proceeding. The order for costs should not be directed to be limited to the assets in the hands of the Official Assignee when the respondent is not in any way in default for which he may be partially mulcted in costs. Re SURESH CHANDRA GOOYER (1918) 23 C W. N. 421

Examination by creditor of a mortgagee under s. 36—Costs of mortgagee appearing by counsel, if recoverable from creditor A mortgagee of an insolvent (applicant) was examined under s. 36 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1909, at the instance of a creditor (the respondents) who "challenged the validity of the mortgage. At the examination counsel and attorney appeared for the mortgagee. Subsequently the respondents did not take any step to have the mortgage declared void. Thereupon the applicant made the present application asking for costs of attending by solicitor and counsel upon his own examination against the respondents. Held, that the applicant was not entitled to the order asked for. In re Waddell, 6 Ch. D. 323 (1877) and In re Applicant French and Scatchell, Ltd (1905) 1 Ch. 749 referred to. IN THE MATTER OF ANSHU PROKASH CHOWSE 24 C. W. N. 688

Scope of order—An order under the section should not be made in circumstances justifying the institution of a regular suit. One P. obtained a decree against J. and Co for the recovery of the value of certain shares which according to him had been made over to J. and Co. in pursuance of an agreement of sale. The decree was affirmed in appeal and an appeal was also preferred to the Privy Council. During the pendency of this litigation J and Co deposited with the Registrar of the Court some war bonds for the satisfaction of the decree which might ultimately be binding on them. The Official Assignee obtained an order from the Court under s 36 cl (5) in respect of those war bonds claiming them as part of the estate of the father of R who was an insolvent. Held—That in the circumstances of the case the order in question should not have been made but the matter in issue should have been left to be decided in a regular suit. The Court should not deal with the matter under s 36, if it really involves difficult questions of title, but should leave the parties to litigate such matters in a regular suit. RAMES BHENAI GHOSH v THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF CALCUTTA 25 C W N 852

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—*contd.*s 36 (4) (5)—contd.

s 33, 51 55—Insolvency Rules
Calcutta 5 (1)—Jurisdiction of Insolvency Court to acquire real fraudulent transfer of property and to set aside sale on application under s 36—suit for full for selling and order under s 36—S 25
Insolvency Act of 1843 (31 and 32 Vict. c 21)—13
Elm. c 5 principle of—Evidence of insolvent of admissible against transferee of property in case of insolvency—Burden of proof on person claiming by such transfer—Transfer by insolvent when good—Transfer or assignment by insolvent when fraudulent
 Under the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, (III of 1909) the Insolvency Court has, on an application by the Official Assignee jurisdiction under s 36 to inquire as to whether any sale of property by an insolvent is fraudulent or void and if so to make an order for the delivery of such property to the Official Assignee. Any one aggrieved by such an order might bring a regular suit to vindicate his title. SREENASE, Re A F C. (1917) 22 C. W. N. 335

s. 36, 103, 104—Offences under the Insolvency Act—Notice of charges—Framing of charges—Discrepancy between notice and the charges framed—Finding of intention—Apparal Court it may make a finding of intention for the first time—Examination of the insolvent under s 36 of the Insolvency Act whether permissible—Voluntary examination of the insolvent—Admissibility of such evidence at the trial of the insolvent—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872) s. 132
 The insolvent was adjudicated on the 6th March 1919 and on the same day he made over one book of account to the Official Assignee. On the 6th March there was a search in the insolvent's room and amongst other things two diaries of 1918 and 1919 respectively and a stock book were taken charge of by the servant of the Official Assignee and taken to the office. On the 7th March the diary of 1918 and pages 5 to 22 of the stock book were alleged to be missing. It was alleged by the Official Assignee that this was done by the insolvent. Thereafter the insolvent was examined under s. 36 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act to which no objection was taken by the insolvent. Charges were framed against the insolvent on four counts, viz., that he fraudulently and with intent to conceal the state of his affairs and to defeat the object of the Act (1) withheld the production of his diary for 1918 and 1919 and his stock book, (2) wilfully prevented the production of pages 5—22 of his stock book by removing and causing to be removed the said pages, (3) destroyed the said stock book by removing or causing to be removed therefrom the said pages (4) wilfully prevented the production of his diary for 1918. Held, that s. 103 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1909, applies to offences committed both before and after the adjudication. The section also applies to cases of wilfully withholding the production of books even after they have come to the possession of the Official Assignee. Per WOODROFFE, J.—Though a charge under s. 103 cannot be maintained if not framed in pursuance of the notice under s. 104 this must be taken as subject to the principle which is embodied in s. 637 of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1898, namely, that no error or irregularity in a charge will call for a reversal of an order unless it in fact has occasioned a failure of justice, and in determining whether this is so the Court shall have regard to the fact whether the objection could and should have been raised in an earlier stage of the proceedings. J. M. Lucas v Official Assignee of Pongol, 24 C W N 418 (1914) referred to. Held, that with regard to charges (1) and (3) there was no material difference between the charges as framed and as mentioned in the notice and as regards charges (2) and (4) though there was no mention in the notice they were allowed to remain as under the circumstances of the case no prejudice was caused to the accused and as no objection was taken to them in the first instance. Per WOODROFFE, J.—If an accused receives notice that the prosecution may seek to prove against him either of two alternative intentions, he cannot, as he must be ready to meet a charge in respect of both, be prejudiced, by a charge of having had both intentions. Quere—Whether the insolvent could be charged both under charges (2) and (3) as the acts charged took place at one and the same place and were one alleged event. The Appeal Court, with all the materials before it, can make a finding of intention if it has been omitted per incuriam by the Judge. The Queen v Ingham, 29 L J (M C) 38 (1859), distinguished. Held also that there was no objection on the part of the insolvent to his being examined under s. 36 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act 1909, his examination was voluntary and as such was admissible at his trial under s. 103 of the Act. Quere—Whether an insolvent could be examined under s. 36 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1909. Held, on the facts that the charges against the insolvent had not been made out. JOSEPH PRATT v OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF CALCUTTA

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—*contd.*ss. 36, 103, 104—contd.

I L R 47 Calc 254

24 C. W. N. 425

s 37—

See INSOLVENCY I L R. 41 Calc. 374

s 38—

See s 6. I L R. 40 Bom. 461

Adjudicated insolvent —discharge suspended—practice of Court requiring insolvent's attendance to obtain final discharge—suit against Official Assignee for an injunction to restrain threatened and imminent injury to property—Notice

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—contd

§ 35—contd

not necessary. The plaintiff was adjudicated insolvent on the 26th of September 1911 when an order was made vesting his estate in the Official Assignee. The plaintiff having subsequently applied for his discharge an order was made on the 2nd of October 1912 in the following terms — "It is ordered that the insolvent's discharge be with protection suspended for one year and that he be discharged as from the 2nd day of October 1913." In 1916 and 1917 the plaintiff acquired property in the nature of a business. No final order of discharge having been made, the Official Assignee on the 22nd of January 1918 took possession of the plaintiff's stock in trade and then restored possession to the plaintiff on condition of his making payments for the benefit of his scheduled creditors. On the 7th of March 1918, the Official Assignee threatened to re-take possession and on the following day the plaintiff filed the suit (1) to recover the sums paid to the Official Assignee together with damages for the trespass already committed and (2) to restrain the Official Assignee by an injunction from committing the threatened trespass. The defendant contended, inter alia, that the suit was not maintainable as the plaintiff had not given notice as required by s. 80 of the Civil Procedure Code and further, that until a final order of discharge was made at the expiration of the period mentioned in the order suspending discharge the property acquired by the plaintiff became divisible amongst the plaintiff's creditors under s. 52 (2) (a) of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act. In support of the latter contention the defendant relied upon the practice of the High Court to require the insolvent whose discharge has been suspended to appear and obtain the final and absolute discharge after the expiry of the period of suspension. At the trial, the plaintiff abandoned his claim on the first cause of action and elected to proceed only on the injunction in respect of the second cause of action.—Held, (1) that the suit was maintainable in respect of the injunction to restrain the threatened and imminent injury to the plaintiff's property in spite of the fact that no notice was given under s. 80 of the Civil Procedure Code, (2) that the order of 2nd October 1912 though suspending discharge for one year expressly provided that the plaintiff "be discharged as from the 2nd day of October 1913," and that the said order having operated as a discharge under the Act from the 2nd of October 1913 the Official Assignee could not proceed against the property of the plaintiff acquired by him after that date, (3) that the practice of the High Court to require the insolvent whose discharge has been suspended to appear and obtain the final and absolute discharge after the expiry of the period of suspension being in contravention of the law was unlawful and ought not to be given effect to. Agastial Chavatal v. The Official Assignee Bombay (1912) 37 Bom. 213, followed though doubted. In re Dove (1881) 27 Ch. D. 637, referred to. Per Curiam.—The words of s. 38 (5) of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909) imply that the discharge is granted through its operation is suspended. It is not the making of the order that is suspended but the operation of the order made. The Act makes no further proceedings

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—contd

§ 38—contd

necessary after an order of suspension under s. 38 has been passed. MURDALLY SHAMU v. B. N. LANG (1919) I. L. R. 44 Bom. 555

§ 39—

See s. 6 I. L. R. 40 Bom. 461

§ 43—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 44 Calc. 374

§ 51—

See s. 17 I. L. R. 42 Mad. 121

ss. 52, 62, 64—

See SALE OF GOODS I. L. R. 40 Calc. 523

ss. 53 (1), 109, 109—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1016

§ 55—

See s. 38 22 C. W. N. 335

*Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907), s. 36—Mortgage within two years of insolvency of mortgagor—Good faith and consideration for mortgage—Onus of proof on mortgagee—Mortgagee admitted to proof by Official Assignee—Application by Official Assignee to expunge proof of mortgage—Onus of proof Under s. 55 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, as under s. 36 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, a mortgagee setting up a mortgage executed within two years of the insolvency of the mortgagor, has the onus cast on him to show that the transaction was one executed in good faith and for consideration. The fact that the Official Assignee is moving to expunge a proof which he has admitted under s. 26 of the former Act does not shift the burden of proof from the mortgagee to the Official Assignee. The Official Assignee v. Annapuramammal (1913) 20 I. C. 901 followed. An admission of proof by the Official Assignee is in no sense an adjudication and it is open to him as well as to other creditors to have an adjudication by the Court on notice, and in such adjudication the matter has to be decided with reference to the ordinary legal presumptions which arise. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS v. SAM BANDA MUDALIAR (1920) I. L. R. 43 Mad. 739*

§ 55, 56—Transfer of property by debtor to a creditor—Provincial preference—With a view of giving preference, meaning of—English Bankruptcy Act, 1883, s. 45—Construction adopted in English cases, applicability of, to the Indian Act. A trader, being in very embarrassed circumstances and unable to meet his obligations as they fell due, sold to one of his creditors, for what was found to be a fair price, a large quantity of diamonds pledged by him with certain other creditors and thereby paid off the debts due to the latter and the purchasing creditor, the balance was paid to the debtor who kept his business going by paying off other pressing creditors with that amount. The debtor was adjudged an insolvent on a petition presented within three months of this transaction. On an application by the Official Assignee filed before a Judge of the High Court in Insolvency to declare the transfer void under ss. 55 and 56 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act: Held, that the transaction was not void as a fraudulent preference

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—*contd*ss 55-56—conclld

under s 56 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act nor was it void under s 55 of the Act as it was made in good faith and for valuable consideration Per CURRIAM To bring a transaction within the scope of s 56 of the Act it must have been entered into with the dominant view of preferring a particular creditor The construction adopted in several English decisions and approved by the House of Lords in Sharp v Jackson (1899) 1 C 419 on the corresponding provision in s 48 of the English Bankruptcy Act 1883 should be followed in construing similar language used in s 56 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909) Sharp v Jackson (1899) 1 C 419 Ex parte Griffith In re Burdon 1 P 23 Ch D 69 Ex parte Hill In re Burd 23 Ch D 699 followed Valiam Vinnathan v Official Assignee of Madras 32 I C 793 disented from. THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE MADRAS T B MENTA & SONS (1918) I L R 42 Mad. 510

Held that an application under this section should be made by the Official Assignee re SURAJMULL MUNOIRCHAND 28 C W N 803

s. 57—

1. Indications to the creditor that debtor is about to suspend payment—Transfer of goods to creditor thereafter but before the filing of a petition for declaration of insolvency not a bond fide transfer—Bond fides a requisite under s 57 of the Act After receiving notice from the debtor's agent that the debtor was going to suspend payment a creditor took on the day previous to the debtor's filing a petition in insolvency, possession of the debtor's goods by virtue of a bill of lading given by the debtor to secure past and future advances and overdrafts Held affirming the decision of WILLIS J (a) that giving notice to a creditor that the debtor is about to suspend payment is an act of insolvency (b) that though by the transaction of taking possession of the goods the creditor became the transferee of the goods he was not a bond fide transferee for value within s 57 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909) as the act of taking possession was after knowledge of the act of insolvency and (c) that though the body of s 57 of the Act has not expressly prescribed that the transfer should be bond fide yet bond fides is legally necessary to claim the benefit of the section Per CURRIAM—The provisions and the wording of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act being almost the same as those of the English Bankruptcy Act the rulings of the English Courts on the latter Act are to be followed in interpreting the Indian Act Obiter: A mere intimation to a creditor by the debtor or his agent that the debtor is insolvent does not amount to an act of insolvency MERCANTILE BANK OF INDIA LTD v THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE MADRAS (1913) I L R. 33 Mad. 250

2. Transfer by insolvent prior to insolvency to wife—Benami transaction—Transfer by wife to another after husband's adjudication on A husband transferred his share in his family dwelling house to his wife without consideration on the 11th November 1911 On the 27th of February 1912 he was adjudicated insolvent and his wife on the 17th of October 1912

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—*contd*s 57—conclld transferred the property which had been so conveyed to her to the appellant, Held that even assuming that the appellant had purchased the property for valuable consideration and without notice of the adjudication of the insolvent the transfer to the appellant subsequent to the adjudication was void under s 57 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act inasmuch as the transfer by the husband to the wife prior to his insolvency was found to be fictitious or benami and the consequence that the property had vested in the Official Assignee prior to the transfer to the appellant Per MOOREJEE J—No title by estoppel accreted to the appellant as against the Official Assignee The Official Assignee to what extent representative of insolvent considered In re Slobodinsky (1913) 2 A B 517 522 and In re Hart (1914) 3 A B 6 distinguished In re LAKSHI PRATYA DAS v RAI KISHORI DAS (1916) 20 C W N 554

ss 62, 64—

See SALE OF GOODS

I L R. 40 Calc 523

ss 70 and 82—

Separate Creditors—Misfeasance, neglect or omission—Distribution of assets—Notice of claim not disposed of—Personal liability of the Official Assignee—Method of ascertaining his liability—Costs The Official Assignee distributed the assets of the insolvent after deducting commission etc to the two scheduled creditors, though he had notice of claim by three other creditors and their claims were neither admitted nor rejected Held—That the Official Assignee was personally liable for the amount of which the three creditors had been deprived A creditor who lodges his proof in the statutory form is entitled that it should be dealt with without doing anything more Re ARCHIBALD GILCHRIST PEACE 26 C W N 653

s 88—

See s 7

I L R. 35 Bom 473

s 90—

See s 7

I L R. 45 Mad. 810

Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 21—Transfer of petition for insolvency to munsiff District Court for a spouse—No jurisdiction—As the jurisdictions conferred by the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act on the High Court and by the Provincial Insolvency Act on the munsiff courts are distinct, and the provisions of the two Acts differ in such important respects it is not competent for the High Court to transfer under s 90 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act and under s 24 Civil Procedure Code an Insolvency petition pending before it, under the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act for a spouse by a munsiff District Court under the Provincial Insolvency Act SRINIVASA AYYANGAR v THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS (1913) I L R. 38 Mad. 472

s 101—

See s 5

28 C W N 631

See INSOLVENCY I L R. 47 Calc. 721

ss 102, 104—

See s. 17

I L R. 35 Bom 63

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—contd

ss 103, 104—concld

See s 36

24 C. W. N. 425

See INSOLVENT I L. R. 47 Calc. 254

Offence under the Insolvency Act—Trial of offence—Notice of charge and the charges framed whether must agree—Undue preference where the creditor is not admitted as such—Undue preference whether must be made fraudulently—Criminal proceedings when to be taken A charge framed under s 103 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1909 must be in pursuance of the notice required to be issued under s 104. When the insolvent was charged with having withheld the production of the cash book or books for a certain period and the notice made no reference to the books. Held—That the charge was not framed in pursuance of the notice and could not be maintained. To establish a charge that books are being purposely withheld, it must be shown that they exist and have not been destroyed. The insolvent was also charged that on or about January or February 1912 the insolvent for the purpose of giving undue preference to one of his alleged creditors to wit A, made away with a stock of Shellac. Held—The charge was bad inasmuch as it was not alleged that the making away was done fraudulently as was required by s 103 (b) of the Insolvency Act. Held also—That the charge was bad as the creditor was not admitted as such by the Official Assignee. Per JENNINGS, C. J.—Though no universal rule can be laid down, it is ordinarily undesirable to institute criminal proceedings until determination of civil proceedings in which the same issues are involved. It is too well known to need elaboration that criminal proceedings lend themselves to the unscrupulous application of improper pressure with a view to influencing the course of the civil proceedings, and beyond that there is the mischief of criminal proceedings being instituted with an imperfect appreciation of the facts where they have not been ascertained in the more searching investigation of a Civil Court. J. M. LUCAS v. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF BENGAL

24 C. W. N. 418

Offence under the Insolvency Act—Trial of offence—Notice of charge and charges framed if must agree See Head note under Insolvency in the Civil Index. J. M. LUCAS v. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF BENGAL, JOSEPH PERRY v. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF CALCUTTA

24 C. W. N. 425

s. 108—

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION

15 C. W. N. 350

s. 115—Immunity of Official Assignee from stamp duty, whether applicable to his attorney—Nattukkottai Chettis whether bankers—Loans advanced on or without deposit of goods—Entry in account—Bankers' lien on goods for general balance of account—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872) s. 171 An attorney representing the Official Assignee is entitled to the same privileges as to stamp duty as the latter has under s. 115 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act. Consequently, the attorney need not pay stamp duty for a copy of the order passed by a Judge of the High Court in the exercise of its insolvency jurisdiction. It is perfectly general knowledge, and it

PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909)—co cld

s 115—concld

has been recognised in judicial decisions that Nattukkottai Chettis are the Indian bankers of this part of the country. Velayappa Chettiar v. Unnamalai Achi (1910) 6 L. W. 637 and Annamalai Chettis v. Annamalai Chettis (1910) 10 L. W. 67, referred to. The garnishee, a Nattukkottai Chetti had, in addition to money lending business, customers who deposited money with him, kept pass books and went with them and drew money, and he paid interest on the deposits and bought and sold hundies and lent money on securities. Held, the garnishee was a banker. It appeared that diamonds were deposited by a customer with the garnishee from time to time and advances made thereon and the diamonds were redeemed from time to time but also that loans were made by him without deposit of diamonds and entered in the same account. Held, on the insolvency of the customer that under s. 171 Indian Contract Act the garnishee was entitled as a banker to retain the deposits as security for his general balance of account with the insolvent, and that no contract to the contrary had been proved in the case. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS v. RAMASWAMY CHETTI (1920)

I L. R. 43 Mad. 747

s 121—

See s 6

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 464

s. 126—

See INSOLVENCY I L. R. 33 Calc. 542

I L. R. 40 Calc. 78

Sch II—

See s 21

20 C. W. N. 995

See INSOLVENCY

I L. R. 47 Calc. 721

PRESIDING OFFICER.

absence of—

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L. R. 39 Calc. 26

PRESS

keeping a, whether a "Licensed calling or common law right"—

See PRESS ACT (I of 1910), s. 3 (1),

PROVISO I L. R. 39 Mad. 1164

members of the—

See LIBEL I L. R. 41 Calc. 1023

PRESS ACT (I OF 1910).

See PRINTING PRESSES AND NEWSPAPERS ACT (XXV OF 1867)

s. 3—Printing Press—Order to make deposit—Failure to make deposit—Liability—Deposit to be made within reasonable time The Government of Bombay, on the 13th September 1912, issued to the applicant a notice calling upon him under s. 3, sub-s. (2) of the Indian Press Act 1910 to deposit with the District Magistrate of Kara security to the amount of Rs. 3 (3). It was served on the applicant on the afternoon of the 25th September. On the 3rd October, which was a Monday, the applicant sent off by post letters to His Excellency the Governor and to the District Magistrate of Kara stating that he had called down the press. On the 2nd October

PRESS ACT (I OF 1910)—contd

s 3 contd

the applicant nullified the press and had his declaration in respect of the press cancelled the next day. On the 5th October proceedings were taken against the applicant, under s 3 (1) of the Act, for keeping the press without making the deposit. He was convicted of the offence. The applicant having applied to the High Court. Held that no limit of time having been given to the applicant within which to make the deposit ordered the notice and s 3 of the Indian Press Act 1910 must be construed as meaning that the deposit ordered should be made within a reasonable time. Held also, that the interval which elapsed between the afternoon of the 28th September and the 3rd October could not be reckoned as an unreasonable time. EXTENSION & REINSTATEMENT (1913)

L. L. R. 37 Bom. 555

—proviso construction of —Original order of Magistrate dispensing with security.—Demand of security by Magistrate there after legally of Government of India. Act (5 & 6 Geo. 5) cap. 61 ss 106 and 107.—Criminal Procedure Code (Act 5 of 1898) s 435.—High Court power of review writ of certiorari and to cancel Magistrate's order.—Magistrate demanding security not a Court but executive officer.—Writ of certiorari when can be issued.—Judicial act what is.—Indian Press Act (1 of 1910) s 2.—Whether a bar to issue of writ of certiorari.—Proviso object of.—Keeping a press where a licensed calling or common law right. PER ANDRA RAHM Offg C J and SENAAGIRI AYER J (AYLING J not dissenting). The Chief Presidency Magistrate acting under s 3 (1) of the Indian Press Act is not a Court but is only an executive officer entrusted with the performance of certain administrative duties, whose details are left entirely to his discretion. Hence an order by him requiring security from the keeper of a press over and in excess of his powers is not capable of being reviewed by the High Court either by means of a writ of certiorari issued under ss 106 and 107 of the Government of India Act (5 & 6 Geo. 5) cap. 61 or by the exercise of revisional powers as provided by s 435 Criminal Procedure Code (Act 5 of 1898). S. RAMANUJAM & SUBRAMANIAM v. THE GOVT. OF INDIA (1913) 1 L. R. 21 Mad 259. SHANKER SARP v. MEYER (1913) 1 L. R. 23 Ill 313. MUSKAT v. SUBRAMANIAM (1913) 1 L. R. 11 Mad 26. PER ANDRA RAHM Offg C J and SENAAGIRI AYER J. Whether an act is judicial or not depends on the nature of the powers conferred by the legislature the character of the act sought to be quashed and the nature and extent of the discretion vested with the authority and other similar considerations. PER CUNNINGHAM.—Every keeper of a printing press who makes a declaration under s 4 of the Press and Registration of Books Act (XXV of 1907) after the commencement of the Indian Press Act (1 of 1910) is simultaneously liable to deposit such security as the Magistrate demands under s 3 (1) of the Indian Press Act even though the press and the newspapers published therein were in existence before the passing of the Press Act. But the Magistrate may under the proviso to s 3 (1) make an order dispensing with a security. PER ANDRA RAHM Offg C J and SENAAGIRI AYER J (AYLING J concurring).—If once a Magistrate dispenses with a security he cannot thereafter cancel

PRESS ACT (I OF 1910)—contd

s 3 contd

such order and demand security. The words or have from time to time cancel or may make any order under this subsection which are to be taken in the proviso as that which enables a Magistrate to make an order dispensing with security cannot be construed to include an order dispensing with security. A proviso appended to a section is either an explanation or a qualification of the section. It does not add to or enlarge the scope of the section. WEST DERBY UNION v. METROPOLITAN FIRE ASSURANCE SOCIETY (1897) 1 L. R. 647 referred to. PER AYLING J.—The substance and not the form must be looked at and that which is in form a proviso may in substance be a fresh enactment adding to and not merely qualifying that which goes before; and the proviso is really such a one. PER ANDRA RAHM Offg C J and SENAAGIRI AYER J. The Supreme Court of Madras had the right to issue writs of certiorari as the King Bench in England and that right has been preserved to the High Court by the Charters of 1861 and 1887 the Letters Patent of 1865 and the Government of India Act of 1915 and no Act of any Legislature has taken away this right. UNION OF INDIA v. THE CORPORATION FOR THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA (1913) 1 L. R. 22 Cal 273 referred to. PER ANDRA RAHM Offg C J and SENAAGIRI AYER J (AYLING J concurring).—If once a Magistrate dispenses with a security he cannot thereafter cancel

s 3, sub-s (1) and s 4 sub-s (1)

Expt 2 ss. 17 and 22. Order of Magistrate cancelling previous order dispensing with security if judicial or administrative order.—Power to review by certiorari.—Power whether taken away.—High Courts in India power to issue writs of certiorari when exercisable.—Order of forfeiture by Local Government.—Publication with intent to excite hatred etc.—Intent how established.—Acts upon school of opinion and class divided.—Government of India Act 1915 ss 65A, 106 and 107.—S 22 Press Act if ultra vires.—Statute interpretation of Proviso. Under s 3 sub-s (1) of the Press Act of 1910 the Magistrate has power to cancel a previous order dispensing with security the necessary consequence of which will be that security will have to be deposited according to the amount thereupon fixed by him with the limits prescribed as would be done in normal course on the first making of a declaration. There is no magic in the words of the proviso and the plain meaning must be given to the words of the Legislature. The act on of the Magistrate in increasing or diminishing or withdrawing or imposing the deposit of security under the Press Act is a mere matter of administrative discretion not a judicial order open to examination by a Court of law of superior jurisdiction. In the only case in which he is to record his reasons the object of recording them is for the information of his superiors in the Government. Where a Magistrate cancelled his previous order dispensing with the deposit of security without giving the owner of the printing press an opportunity to be heard: Held that though it might have been a mere exercise of the Magistrate's discretion to have given the owner such an opportunity it was not a condemnation on which case law requires that the person to be condemned should be first heard the act of the Magistrate amounting only to the withdrawal of a privilege which need never have been granted and the order would be irre-

PRESS ACT (I OF 1910)—contd

s. 3 sub-s. (1) and s. 4, sub-s. (1).

Expt 2, ss. 17 and 22—contd

versible either upon process of certiorari or by way of revision, assuming that the order was open to such examination. Held, further, that if it were a judicial order, it would be open to examination by way of a revision so that there being a more suitable remedy available a writ of certiorari would be excluded and that if it were an order of that quasi-judicial kind to which certiorari has sometimes been applied in England or in India, the Press Act may quite reasonably have intended to take it away. ANNE BESANT v THE ADVOCATE GENERAL OF MADRAS (1910)

L. R. 43 Mad. 146
23 C. W. N. 938

ss. 3 (1), 4 (1), 17, 19, 20 and 22—Demand of security by Magistrate under process to s 3 (1), legality of—Order by Government under s 4 (1) forfeiting security and copies of newspaper, legality of—Jurisdiction of High Court under s 17, extent of—Words . . . which are likely or may have a tendency, directly or indirectly whether by interference, suggestion, allusion, metaphor, implication, or otherwise in s. 4 (1), meaning of—“Hatred, or contempt,” and “Government established by law in British India,” in s. 4 (1), meaning of—Intention of writer whether essential under s 4 (1)—Onus under s 4 (1), whether on applicant—“In aid of the proof of the nature of or tendency of the words” in s. 20, effect of—ss 4 and 22 whether ultra vires of the Imperial Legislature of India as contravening s 43 of 3 & 4 Will. IV, cap 85 or s 22 of 24 & 25 Vict, cap 67, or s 63 of the Government of India Act 5 & 6 Geo 1, cap 61. The petitioner in this case who was the keeper of a printing press and publisher of a news paper therein made his application to the High Court under s. 17 of the Indian Press Act (I of 1910) for cancellation of (a) an order of the Chief Presidency Magistrate of Madras, demanding from her under s 3 (1) of the Act security for two thousand rupees in supervision of a previous order made by him dispensing with security and (b) an order of the Governor in Council, Madras, declaring under s 4 (1) the security of the two thousand rupees so deposited and all copies of the newspapers wherever found, to be forfeited to His Majesty. In dismissing the application on the ground that some of the specified articles (herein after called extracts) of the newspapers were of the objectionable nature described in s 4 (1) of the Press Act, their Lordships of the Special Bench, held, as follows:—In an application, made under s 17 of the Indian Press Act, the only question which the Special Bench of the High Court can determine is whether the extracts complained of did not contain any words of the nature described in s 4 (1) and the Court has no jurisdiction to determine any other question, such as, (a) whether the particular order of the Magistrate demanding security was beyond his powers or (b) whether s 4 or 22 of the Press Act is ultra vires of the powers of the Imperial Legislature of India as contravening any Act of Parliament, or (c) whether the order of forfeiture was legally made. In re Mahomed Ali, I L R 41 Cal 466, referred to Advocating, “Home Rule” for India is not per se objectionable. But such advocacy must not offend against existing laws “hatred” and “contempt” towards “the Government” occurring in s 4 may be created by

PRESS ACT (I OF 1910)—contd

ss 3 (1), 4 (1), 17, 19, 20 and 22—contd

articles imputing to the Government base, dishonourable corrupt or malicious motives in the discharge of its duties,” or by articles unjustly “accusing the Government of hostility or indifference to the welfare of the people.” Though the operative or enacting portion of s 4 (1) (c) does not make the intention or motive of the writer of the articles complained of material in considering whether the words are not of the nature described in s 4 (1) Explanation 2 thereto requires that the writer must intend to excite hatred, contempt or disaffection if his writings are to be brought within cl (c), the intention being deducible mainly from the words used. The words “the Government established by law of India,” occurring in s 4 are not to be construed as indicating only the supremacy of the British Crown over India and the British connection with it, as opposed to independence. MRS BESANT v EMPEROR (1910)

L. L. R. 39 Mad. 1035

s 4—

See FORFEITURE

L. L. R. 42 Cal. 730

Interpretation of Statute—“Government established by law in British India,” meaning of—S 4 of Act No 1 of 1910 not ultra vires of the Indian Legislature Held that s 4 of the Indian Press Act, 1910, is not ultra vires of the Indian Legislature, Besant v Advocate General of Madras, I L R 53 Mad 146, referred to. In cl (1) (c) of that section, the expression “Government established by law in British India” means the established authority which governs the country and administers its public affairs and includes the representatives to whom the task of government is entrusted. The word Government in ss 2 and 4, of the Act is equivalent to Government established by law in British India. Besant v King Emperor, I L R 39 Mad 1035, referred to. In an application under s 17 of the Indian Press Act, 1910, against an order under s 4 forfeiting the applicant's security, the Court, on a consideration of the articles upon which the order complained of was based, found that they were such as would convey to an ordinary person that the rules of this country “in addition to incompetence, cowardice and heartlessness, were guilty of the slaughter of innocent people in order to terrorize them into subjection, and to crush out all kinds of political movements and national aspirations, and further that they were perfidious enough to pervert and misapply the Defences of India Act with the like object and to invent the ‘Rowlatt Act’ for a similar purpose.” The Court accordingly held that the order for forfeiture of the applicant's security was completely justified. In the matter of the petition of SUNDAR LAL

L. L. R. 42 All. 233

ss. 4, (1), cl (c), Expt. II, ss 17, 21, 23—Ground for setting aside forfeiture of security defect in notice, if—Seditious intent, proof of, if necessary to justify forfeiture under s 4 (1) (c)—Intention how far material—“Intention” and “tendency” distinguished—Truth of facts alleged, if justification—What evidence admissible under s 20—Extrinsic evidence of intention, if admissible when meaning of writing plain—Evidence Act

PRESS ACT (I OF 1910)—contd

— s 4 (1), cl. (e), Expl. II, ss 17, 21, 23—contd

s 17 15 21 ss 9 98 and 14—*Effect on probable result if may be considered—Order of forfeiture as far as concerned—Onus of proof on an application under s 1—Government established by law as it is in India meaning of—Class, members of the Indian Services recruited in England if a Per Curiam—Upon an application under s 17 of the Indian Press Act I of 1910 to set aside an order of forfeiture of security deposited by a newspaper the Court has to see whether the article in question is obnoxious to the provisions of s 4 of the Act. Defect in the form of the order under s 4 sub s (1) is no ground for setting aside the order of forfeiture. It is only Expln. II to s 4 which according to the decision of the Judicial Committee in Amis v. The Advertiser General of the Government of Madras 35 T P 509 s c 23 C W 4 950 imports consideration of the writer's intention. The explanation does not cover all the cases comprehended in cl. (e). The explanation does not apply where the words used have a tendency to bring into hatred or contempt or excite disaffection towards the Government established by law in British India or where the words used tend to bring into hatred or contempt a class or section of His Majesty's subjects in British India e.g. the officers of the Government recruited in England. Per Woodroffe J (FLETCHER, J. agreeing)—The question of intention is only material if the Court has to deal with comments on the measures (meaning thereby legislative measures) or action of the Government or the administration of justice. These comments again are not protected if they in fact excite or attempt to excite hatred, contempt or disaffection, but are protected if the disapproving comments on the measures of Government are made with a view to obtain their alteration by lawful means or if they are made on the actions of Government or administration of justice and if in both cases there is no attempt to excite hatred, contempt or disaffection. Per Woodroffe J—Comments of the character mentioned in Expln. II to s 4 of the Act may be permissible even though they are likely or may have a tendency to produce the corresponding result mentioned in cl. (e) but they must not excite or constitute an attempt to excite hatred, contempt or disaffection. The term measures in the explanation was intended to apply to legislative measures. Per Woodroffe J (FLETCHER, J. agreeing)—An offence under the Press Act is not sedition as such but the printing or publishing of matter of the nature and tendency mentioned in s 4 which attracts to itself the penalty of forfeiture. Per Woodroffe J—Whether the offending article justifies a conviction under s 124A of the Penal Code is no test of the validity of an order of forfeiture under s 4 of the Press Act. An article may well be beyond the bounds of the Penal Code and yet be drawn into the net of the Indian Press Act. Per Curiam—The truth of the facts alleged in the article is no ground for taking the case out of the operation of s 4 of the Press Act and evidence is not admissible to prove their truth. Both the Crown and the accused may under s 29 of the Press Act give in evidence other copies of the newspaper published after the commencement of the Act in aid of the proof of the nature and tendency* of the matter contained in the offending article. Per Woodroffe J (FLETCHER, J. agreeing)—S 20 applies where if the offending article stood alone there might be doubt or ambiguity as to the character, nature or tendency of the words used and not where the meaning of the article is apparent on its face. Other articles which appeared in the newspaper cannot be put in to prove its policy. In the matter of the AMRITA BAZAR PATRIKA PRESS, LD (1919)

PRESS ACT (I OF 1910)—contd

— s 4 (1), cl. (e), Expl. II, ss 17, 21, 23—contd

23 C. W. N. 1057

— ss. 4, 12, 17, 19, 22—

See FORFEITURE L. L. R. 41 Cal. 466
L. L. R. 47 Cal. 190

— ss 4 (1), 17 and 23—Forfeiture of deposit and pamphlet—application to set aside forfeiture—onus is for a notification under s 4 (1) of the Press Act 1910, forfeiting the security deposited under s 3 (1) can only be challenged by means of an application under s 17 and in order to succeed the applicant must show that the newspaper, book or other document in respect of which action is taken is not of the nature described in s 4. Per MAWER, J—The High Court has to look to the reasonably possible effects which the words complained of may produce. Where there is a particular enactment and a general enactment in the same Statute and the latter taken in its most comprehensive sense, would overrule the former the particular enactment must be operative. PUNOSITAM NARAYAN NAYDE v. CHIEF SECRETARY TO GOVERNMENT OF BIHAR AND ORISSA

524 Pat. L. J. 174

— ss. 17, 19, 20 and 23—

See s 3 L. L. R. 39 Mad. 1085

PRESUMPTION

See ACQUITTANCE

L. L. R. 37 All. 412

S. ADVERSAL POSSESSION

L. L. R. 33 All. 229

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)

ss 166, 201 L. L. R. 34 All. 250

s. 201 L. L. R. 33 All. 799

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT (VIII OF 1886) s. 5, cl. (5)

L. L. R. 44 Cal. 555

See CUSTOM L. L. R. 33 All. 257

See DEPOSITION L. L. R. 45 Cal. 825

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—s. 108

See FORFEITURE L. L. R. 47 Cal. 190

S. HINDU LAW—ADOPTION

L. L. R. 37 Mad. 529

L. L. R. 42 Bom. 277

S. HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

L. L. R. 33 All. 677

L. L. R. 35 Bom. 275

See HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE

L. L. R. 33 Cal. 700

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION

L. L. R. 36 Bom. 379

PRESUMPTION—contd

See LANDLORD AND TENANT (MISC)
1. L. R. 33 All 757
1. Pat L. J. 604

See MADRAS REGULATION, XXV OF 1802,
s 4 . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 620

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER
I. L. R. 33 All. 291

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—LEGITIMACY.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 856

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE
I. L. R. 32 All. 345

See MALABAR LAW
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 317

See MORTGAGE (PRIORITY)
I. L. R. 34 All. 102

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—
ss 82 AND 83 I. L. R. 37 All. 187

s 76 . . . I. L. R. 32 All. 451

See POSSESSION . I. L. R. 37 All. 203

See PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT (III OF 1807),
ss 3, 4 I. L. R. 35 All. 1

See REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877),
s 32 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 253, 331

See SECOND APPEAL
I. L. R. 33 All. 122

See STANDARD OF PROOF
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF
1882), s. 101 I. L. R. 34 All. 203

See WILL . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1043
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 908

As to ancient document applied to copy—
See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s 65
I. L. R. 41 All. 592

ancient and uninterrupted user—
See EASEMENTS ACT (I OF 1882), ss 2
(c) AND 17 (c) I. L. R. 42 Bom. 288

Difference between—Vatan and Inam and Saranjam grants—

See BOMBAY HEREDITARY OFFICERS ACT
(BOM ACT 3 OF 1874) s 15
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 237

Record-of-Rights—entries in—See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1879,
s 130 I. L. R. 44 Bom. 214

nature of—
See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872) ss 107,
108 . . . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 440

of commission of offence.
See OPIUM, ILLEGAL POSSESSION OF.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 24

of death—
See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s 108

See PRACTICE . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 220

of annual tenancy—
See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V OF 1879), s 83
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 350

PRESUMPTION—contd

of permanent tenancy—
See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM.
ACT I OF 1879), s 83
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 303, 350

Property which has descended from one grant to another—
See CUSTOMS I. L. R. 1 Lah. 540

In favour of continuance of life—
See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 554

of Right arising from occupation—
See EJECTMENT, SUIT FOR
I. L. R. 38 Bom. 240

PREVAILING RATE.
See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 742
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 930

PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS
ACT (XI OF 1890).

See BOMBAY DISTRICT POLICE ACT (BOM ACT IV OF 1890), s 62
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 203

s. 3—
Whether the offence must be committed within sight of any person—Preparation of 'puri dye from cow's urine' Where it was found that the petitioner tortured his cows by depriving them of water and these cows were tied up where the sufferings of the animals could be witnessed by persons from the lane on which the house of the petitioner was situated Held, that the offence comes within the purview of s 3 of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act
(XI OF 1890) MISRI GORP v ABDUL LATIF (1912)
17 C. W. N. 332

Owner turning out horse into street to starve Accused abandoned his horse by turning it out into the street and some days after it was found in a starving condition and accused was charged under s 3 Held, that accused could not be convicted under the section as he must in fact be able to exercise control over the animal at the time of ill treatment EMPEROR v NASTI WAZIR
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 159

s. 3, cl. (b)—Cruelty to animals—Cranes having their eyes sealed up—Carriage by railway in that condition The accused purchased at Indore certain cranes (parrots) which had their eyes sealed up He was carrying them in that condition by rail from Indore to Kolhapur At Poona, an intermediate station, it was found that the bird's eyes were bleeding from the stitches
He was therefore convicted of an offence punishable under s 3, cl. (b) of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1890: Held, that the accused had committed no offence under the section, for the cruelty, if any, was caused by the antecedent starving up of the eyes and not by the manner or position in which the birds were carried in the train. EMPEROR v ISRAHIM MEER SHIKARI (1917)
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 654

PREVENTION OF GAMBLING ACT.
See BOMBAY PREVENTION OF GAMBLING
ACT, 1887.

PREVIOUS ACQUITTAL

See ACQUITTAL I L R 37 Cal. 680

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 403

I L R 37 All. 107

I L R 40 Bom. 97

PREVIOUS CONVICTION

See CHARGE I L R 47 Cal. 154

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 413

I L R 39 All. 293

See PRACTICE I L R 39 Bom. 323

— proof of—

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR

I L R 43 Cal. 1128

— when passed in a Native State—

See PENAL CODE s. 75

I L R 42 All. 138

Theses—Habit—Evidence of habit—Admissibility of evidence of previous convictions of offences against property and of bad livelihood—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) s. 401 Where the evidence in a case under s. 401 of the Penal Code establishes association for the purpose of habitually committing theft, evidence of previous convictions of offences against property and of bad livelihood is admissible to prove habit and for this purpose convictions of bad livelihood are more cogent than those of isolated thefts Empress v. Naba Kumar Palai & Co W N 116

Maharaj Saheb v. Emperor (Cr App 712 of 1903) decided 20th March 1901 by PARSEUR and HILL, JJ. (unreported) Madhav Dhari v. Emperor (Cr App 582 of 1905) decided 26th July 1905 by RAMSING and MOORSWAMY JJ. (unreported) Khanis Karwal v. Emperor (Cr App 78 of 1909) decided 28th January 1909 by HOLWOOD and RYVES JJ. (unreported) Gobar Das v. Emperor (Cr App 958 of 1910) decided 21st November 1910 by HOLWOOD and FLETCHER, JJ. (unreported) referred to. Manikam Pass v. Queen Empress I L R 27 Cal. 133 doubted and explained Bhoya v. Emperor (1911) I L R 33 Cal. 498

A finger mark expert was called as a witness who compared certain finger prints of the accused taken in Court with some other finger prints on a paper which contained a record of certain convictions which purported to be the convictions of the accused and pronounced them to be similar. This was taken as proof of the previous convictions of the accused: Held that the previous convictions were not properly proved. RAM DAS v. KING EMPRESS (1916) 21 C W N 459

PREVIOUS DEPOSITIONS

See ADMISION

I L R 41 Cal. 601

PREVIOUS ENJOYMENT

See EASEMENT

I L R 39 Cal. 59

PRICE

— oral agreement as to—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872) s. 92

I L R 33 Mad. 514

PRICE—contd

— of goods sold, suit for—

See CONTRACT ACT ss 33 73 170

I L R 34 Bom. 193

PRIEST

— Panchas preventing he edary priest from giving his ministrations—

See VENTRI I L R 45 Bom. 234

PRIMARY COURT

— jurisdiction of—

See EX PARTE DECREE

I L R 48 Cal. 153

PRIMOGENITURE

See CUSTOM 24 C W N 601

1 Pat. L J 109

See HINDU LAW—IMPARTIBLE ESTATE

I L R 33 All. 590

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I L R 34 All. 65

I L R 42 Cal. 1179

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

18 C W N 55

I L R 43 Cal. 997

See KUNIPURA, STATE OF

I L R 39 Cal. 711

See OUDH ESTATES ACT (I of 1869)—

ss 8 10 I L R 39 All. 532

ss 8 AND 22 SUBS (11)

I L R 32 All. 599

ss 14 15 AND 27

I L R 43 All. 245

See TALUQDARI ESTATE

I L R 43 All. 297

PRINCIPAL

See HUNDI SUIT OF

I L R 45 Cal. 663

See UNDISCLOSED PRINCIPAL

— death of—

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT

I L R 43 Cal. 249

— liability of—

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT

14 C W N 414

I L R 43 Cal. 511

— part-payment of—

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS

ACT (XV of 1889) s. 60

I L R 28 Mad. 428

— suit by for money received by agent—

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT

I L R 41 All. 254

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT

See ACCOUNT 15 C W N 930

I L R 40 Cal. 108

I L R 44 Cal. 1

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882 ss

215A AND 216 I L R 32 All. 505

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s. 70

(c) I L R 34 All. 49

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—contd.

See COMPANY . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 364

See CONTRACT ACT (IX of 1872)—

ss 178, 179 . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 205

s 235 . . I. L. R. 34 All. 168

ss 182 to 237

See CONTRACT WITH ENEMY

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 631

See COSTS . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 190

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) SCH

I, ART 115 . I. L. R. 39 All. 81

ART. 116 . . I. L. R. 39 All. 355

See OATHS ACT (X of 1878), ss 8, 9, 10

I. L. R. 39 All. 131

See PRACTICE (30)

See SALE OF GOODS

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1050

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 18

Agent's power in disposing of land—

See ESTOPPEL . 2 Pat. L. J. 600

Agent's power to refer dispute to arbitration—

See JURISDICTION I. L. R. 34 Bom. 13

Lambardar not agent for co-sharers—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT, 1901 s 104

I. L. R. 31 All. 93

suit for negligence occasioning loss—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s 20

I. L. R. 34 All. 49

ACCOUNTS 3397

AUTHORITY OF AGENT 3401

FRAUDULENT REPRESENTATIONS BY AGENT 3103

LIABILITY OF AGENT 3403

LIABILITY OF PRINCIPAL 3404

NOTICE 3105

MISCELLANEOUS 3406

ACCOUNTS

1 ———— Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Sch. II, Arts 89, 115, 116—Accounts suit for, against some of gomastha—Covenant to furnish annual accounts—Neglect to do so, if refusal—Suit by co-sharer for accounts of his share of lies. A suit for money found due on an account and a suit for an account are really one and the same thing. Subh Chandra v Chandra Narain, 1 C L J 232 I. L. R. 32 Calc. 719, followed. Such a suit lies on the death of an agent against his legal representatives. Lawless v The Calcutta Landing and Shipping Co., Ltd., I. L. R. 7 Calc. 627, Jogesh Chandra v Benoit Lal Ray 14 C W N 23 followed. Held (COX J, dubitante), that a suit for accounts not against the agent personally but against his legal representative, is governed by Art 115 or Art 116 of the Limitation Act and not by Art 89. The objection that a co-sharer cannot sue the gomastha of all the co-sharers for the accounts of his share only does not apply where the remaining co-sharers have been made parties defendants and a decree passed for an account of the whole agency. Quare—Whether, when there is a covenant by the agent to furnish accounts year by year, the neglect on the part of the agent to furnish the accounts in respect of any particular year amounts to "refusal to render accounts" within the meaning of Art 89. Quare—Whether, where there is such a covenant, a suit against an agent for accounts of particular years when the agent has neglected to furnish accounts, or for the sum found due thereon, can be regarded as a suit for compensation for the breach of a contract as contemplated by Arts 115 and 116 of the Limitation Act. JHAPPANHAZSA BIRI v DANA SUNDARI CHAUDHURANI (1912) 16 C. W. N. 1042

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—*contd.*ACCOUNTS—contd.

2 ———— Agent's death—Liability of legal representatives to render accounts—Liability of agent's assets—Remedy of principal—Suit for damages—Onus—Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sch I, Arts 89, 115, 120 The legal representatives of an agent cannot be called upon to render accounts to the principal in the same sense as the agent himself, as they cannot be required to explain matters of which they have no personal knowledge and to assist the principal in the investigation of the management of his estate of which they are ignorant. The estate of the agent however continues to be liable and the remedy of the principal is to sue the representatives for any loss he may have suffered by reason of the negligence or misconduct, misfeasance or malfeasance of his agent. The maxim actio per sonalis moritur personae would be no bar to an action where the act complained of was not a mere tort but was a breach of a quasi-contract, where the claim was founded on a breach of a fiduciary relation or on failure to perform a duty. Conchr v Murrieta, 40 CA D 543, Philips v Homfray, 24 CA D 439 relied on. A claim by the principal against the legal representative of the agent for money misappropriated by the agent and for damages for loss suffered by reason of the agent's negligence or misconduct is therefore maintainable—the suit being one not for accounts strictly so called but for money payable to the principal by the representatives of the agent out of the assets in their hands. Marmothomath Bose v Basanto Kumar Bose, 1 L R 22 All. 332, relied on. In such a suit, the burden will be on the plaintiff to prove his case. Such a suit is not governed by Art 89 of the Limitation Act but by either Art 115 or Art 120. Lawless v Calcutta L & S Co., 1 L R 7 Calc. 627, Harinder v Administrator General, 1 L R 12 Calc. 357, Bindraban v Jamuna 1 L R 25 All. 5, referred to. KUMEDA CHARAN BALA v ASUTOSH CHATTO PADHAYA (1912) 17 C. W. N. 5

3 ———— Death of agent—Suit for accounts if lies or may be continued against heirs A suit for accounts brought against an agent may be continued, on his death pending suit, against his legal representatives. Semble. A suit for accounts lies against the heirs of a deceased agent. Manmohi Lal Bose Mullick v Basanto Kumar Bose Mullick 1 L R 22 All. 332, doubted. Kumeda Charan v Asutosh, 16 C L J 259, referred to. BAHADUR SINGH v BASANTA KUMAR ROY (1913) 17 C. W. N. 695

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—contd

ACCOUNTS—contd

4. — Principal suit by agent for accounts. Limitation—Limitation on Act (IX of 1908) Art 69. The plaintiff as principal sued the defendant as agent for accounts. The agency was created in 1896 by a registered document which provided that accounts were to be rendered at the end of each year the agent also hypothecating immovable property as security. In 1897 the plaintiff transferred the property to his wife who in 1899 retransferred the property to her husband. The agency was terminated in 1910 and the suit was brought in 1911 for accounts from 1892. Held that a new agency was created in 1899 irrespective of the agreement of 1896. That Art 69 of the Limitation Act was applicable to the case and as in this case there was no demand and refusal during the continuation of the agency and as the suit was instituted within three years of the date when the agency terminated the plaintiff was entitled to the accounts claimed. BURESH KANTA BANERJEE CLOUTIER V NAWAB ALI KHAN (1913) 20 C. W. N. 356

5. — Suit for account—Hypothecation of property as security for the proper discharge of his duties by the agent. Agreement to render accounts annually—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) S. 1 Arts 44, 115, 120. Death of the principal. Effect of—Agent continuing in service of the heir—Contract Act (IX of 1902) s. 37. 253 cl. (10)—Method to be adopted for rendering accounts. Where certain immovable properties were hypothecated to the principal by the defendant as security for the valid discharge of duty as agent in a suit for accounts by the principal. Held that Art 130 of the Limitation Act will apply inasmuch as it is also by implication a suit to enforce a charge. Hosfend's Mandals v Jala Nath Saks 1 L. R. 33 (note 298) Illawad Jyoti Chandra v Banote Lal 11 C. W. N. 177. A consented from. On the death of the principal an agency is terminated and a new agency is created if the agent continues in service of his principal's heir. Where there is an agreement to submit accounts annually in a suit against the agent for an account Art. 69 and not Art. 115, of the Limitation Act will apply. 523 Chandra Roy v Chandra Naraya Monkerjee 1 L. R. 22 Cyl 719 and Ishwar Ali Khan v Kharsah Ali Khan 1 L. R. 24 A.L.J. 27 followed. Jasin v Harnda Kishore 11 C. W. N. 43. Discontinued from. Duty of an agent does not end by merely submitting papers when accounts are demanded but a failure to explain them when called upon to do so will amount to a refusal under Art. 69 of the Limitation Act. Harsenath Ray v Arishoo Kumar Baskh 1 L. R. 14 Cyl. 147 relied on. Chand Ram v Broja Gokul 19 W. N. 11 Upendra Kishore v Pankaraj Debn 13 C. W. N. 626 not followed. MADHUSUDAN SEN v RAKHAL CHANDRA DAS BAKSH (1913) 1 L. R. 43 Cal. 248

6. — Ordinary money account—Lending of money to persons to whom agent is not authorized to lend—Suit for account—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Arts 89 and 90—Termination of agency. A suit by a principal against an agent for the recovery of money lent to persons to whom the agent was not authorized to lend is a suit for an ordinary money account and is governed by Art. 89 and not Art. 90 of

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—contd

ACCOUNTS—contd.

the Limitation on Act. The question when an agency terminates is a question of fact. Great Eastern Insurance Co v East of India Co 55 Ind. 1913 39 Ind. 36 relied on. MIRJAN V ALI ARIFA (1917) 1 L. R. 41 Mad. 1

7. — Ind on Trust Act (II of 1881) s. 85. Suit against agent for account of profits of private business—Limitation—Opening of accounts under art 12 between principal and agent reasons for. Where the main allegation on which a suit was based was that the defendant being an agent of the plaintiff had for some time been carrying on in his own account and to the detriment of the plaintiff a business similar to that of the plaintiff and the object of the suit was to compel the defendant to account for the profits which he had received from his own private business it was held that the article of s. 85 of the Ind on Limitation Act II of 1881 which was applicable was not Art. 69 of the Act. On the facts it was found that where Art. 69 was applied the suit was barred. Where fiduciary relations have subsisted between the parties a Court will not re-open accounts which have long been settled between the parties, unless the plaintiff can show definitely at least one fraudulent omission or insertion in the account. The principle is laid down in Williamson v Paterson 1 P. 9 Cyl. D. 379 and Deo Jankar v Ala Nagar Falaah Kanti 1 L. R. 11 Bom. 55 followed. PRASAD V FORD MACDONALD AND COMPANY LD (1919) 1 L. R. 41 All. 635

8. — Suit by principal for money received on his behalf by agent—Interest—Cause—Apparatus of interest—Interest—Principles. Held that where money is recoverable by a principal from an agent as having been received by the agent on the principal's behalf the agent is not as a rule liable for interest unless by virtue of an express agreement or of some mercantile usage. Held also that an appeal as to the allotment of costs will lie from an appellate decree when the Court below has exercised its discretion as to costs arbitrarily and not according to general principles. Dast v Pam v Durga Prasad 1 L. R. 13 All. 333 and Fiddle Shom v Bhatia Lal 1 L. R. 40 All. 335 567 followed. LALMA V CHITTAMANI (1914)

1 L. R. 41 All. 254

9. — Committee for collection of subscription to rebuild a mosque—Neglect of treasurer to pay his own subscription and to collect other subscriptions promised—Treasurer not legally liable. A movement having been set on foot for re-constructing a mosque A and J were appointed treasurer of the committee for collecting subscriptions. J gave a cheque for his promised subscription of Rs. 500 but owing first to some defect in the endorsement and later on to its having become out of date it was never cashed. The mosque also was never reconstructed A having died his heirs were sued by the members of the committee for the amount of the unpaid subscriptions. Held that neither A nor his heirs were liable for payment of the money. ABDUL AZIZ V NASEEM ALI (1914)

1 L. R. 38 All. 263

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—contd.

ACCOUNTS—contd.

10. Obligation of agent not only to submit accounts but to explain account papers The obligation of an agent towards his principal does not terminate merely by submission of account papers. He is bound to explain those papers and if on accounts taken it is found that he had in his hands money which belongs to his principal he is bound to pay that sum. MADHUSUDAN SEN v. RAJMAL CHANDRA DAS BASAK (1915) . . . 19 C. W. N. 1070

AUTHORITY OF AGENT

1. Lease by agent—Apparent authority—Ratification—Knowledge of principal, if necessary for ratification Every act done by an agent in the course of his employment on behalf of his principal and within the apparent scope of his authority binds the principal, unless agent is in fact unauthorised to do the particular act and the person dealing with him has notice that in doing so he is exceeding his authority. The grantees in this case were entitled to presume that the agent who had admittedly authority to grant reclamation leases had acted with regularity and within the scope of his authority. Where ratification is established as to a part, it operates as a confirmation of the whole of that particular transaction by the agent. Before the principal can be held bound by ratification he must be proved to have had full knowledge or at any rate means of knowledge of all the essential facts of the transaction into which his agent had entered on his behalf. KATTAYANI DEVI v. PORT CANNING AND LAND IMPROVEMENT CO (1914) . . . 19 C. W. N. 56

2. Construction of Power of Attorney—Denial of authority of agent—Chetty money lending firm, business of—Power implied from nature of business which could not be carried on without it—Proof of similar previous transactions with objection by principal—Account books, presumption to be drawn from—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s 111 The defendant was a Chetty and had a large money lending business in Rangoon which he carried on by an agent to whom he gave a power of attorney for the general management of his business in which he stated the duties and powers entrusted to him as being "to transact, conduct and manage all affairs, concerns, matters and things" in which he "may be in anywise interested and concerned," and for that purpose "in his own name or in any other name, or writing whatsoever, to borrow money from any bank or banks, firm or firms, person or persons either with or without pledge of securities for money advanced to various persons," and "to make, draw, sign, accept, endorse, negotiate and transfer all and every or any bills of exchange, promissory notes, hundies, cheques, drafts, bills of lading and all other negotiable securities whatsoever which my signature or endorsement may be required or which my said attorney may in his absolute discretion think fit to make, draw, sign, accept, endorse, negotiate and transfer in my name and in my behalf." Under this power the agent pledged the firm's credit with the plaintiff Bank to enable a client who applied to him for financial assistance to have a cash credit account opened in his name and obtain from the Bank

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—contd.

AUTHORITY OF AGENT—contd.

advances to secure due repayment of which he executed a promissory note in favour of defendant's firm which the agent endorsed over to the Bank in conformity with the provisions of the Presidency Banks Act (XI of 1876), s 37, cl (c) the agent at the same time giving the Bank a letter of guarantee on behalf of his firm. The client, after drawing large sums of money on the cash credit account thus opened, having become insolvent, the Bank brought an action for the amount due, to which the defence was a denial of authority on the part of the agent to enter into the transactions so as to bind the defendant's firm. Held (reversing the decision of an Appellate Bench of the Chief Court), that applying the principles of construction of powers of attorney laid down in Bryant Povey and Bryant v. La Banque du Peuple, (1893) A C 170, the authority to enter into transactions of the nature in dispute in the present case, was to be found in the document itself by necessary implication from the nature of the business with the general management of which the agent was entrusted without such authority it would hardly have been possible to carry on the business of a money lender and financier. On the evidence, moreover, it was proved that amongst such Chetty money lending firms it was the practice for the agent to pledge the credit of the firm, and that for a considerable time similar transactions had been entered into previously by the agent without this authority being questioned. The mere fact that the defendant did not receive any benefit on the transaction would not (if it were the case) relieve him of liability, if the authority of the agent was established, but the defendant's books of accounts which were called for and not produced, would presumably have shown such transactions, and the receipt of commission on them. BANK OF BENGAL v. RAMA NATHAN CHETTY (1915) 1 L. R. 43 Cal. 527

Limited authority of letter known to third party—"Holding out," principle of, if applies—Estoppel—Negligent or improper act of principal apparently investing the agent with extended authority, not proved—Misdirections A person who deals with an agent whose authority he knows to be limited does so at his peril, in this sense, that should the agent be found to have exceeded his authority the principal cannot be made responsible. In order that the principle of "holding out" should, in any given case of agency, apply to the act done by the agent and relied upon to bind the principal, must be an act of that particular class of acts, which the agent is held out as having a general authority on behalf of his principal to do. But if the agent be held out as having a limited authority to do on behalf of his principal acts of a particular class, then the principal is not bound by an act done outside that authority, even though it be an act of that particular class, because the authority being thus represented to be so limited, the party prejudiced has notice, and should ascertain whether or not the act is authorised. Where the principal did not by any negligent or improper act allow the agent to be apparently invested with an authority beyond or greater than the limited authority which the customer knew him to possess, there could not be any estoppel against the principal in respect of any of the steps in a transaction whereby the customer was deceived by the agent acting beyond his authority THE RICASO CREDITORS BANK v. LI YAU SAM (1909)

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—*contd.*AUTHORITY OF AGENT—contd.

14 C. W. N. 331

FRAUDULENT REPRESENTATIONS BY AGENT

*Principal and Agent—Bribe or secret commission accepted by Agent after transaction completed—Contract obtained by fraud voidable but not void—1st instance Act (X) of 1877.
Sec. 11, Art. 95* The plaintiff instituted a suit against the defendant within three years from the date when the fraud as alleged in the suit became first known to him though he had suspicions of the fraud prior to the three years. The suit was for setting aside a lease which the plaintiff alleged he had been induced to grant to the defendant
No. 1 under fraudulent representations made to the plaintiff by the defendant No. 2 who whilst purporting to act as the plaintiff's servant or agent, received after the lease had been duly drawn up executed and registered the sum of Rs. 500 from the defendant No. 1 as a bribe or secret commission by way of payment for the services rendered to the latter in connection with the making of the arrangements for the execution of the lease: Held, that mere suspicion is not knowledge and the suit was not barred by limitation. Held, further that a bribe is nevertheless a bribe because its payment is postponed. When a bribe has been given, it is immaterial to inquire what, if any effect the bribe had on the mind of the receiver and whether he was influenced thereby to recommend to the plaintiff an arrangement with the appellant which he would otherwise have recommended. *Harrison v.
Victoria Graving Dock Company* L. R. 3 Q. B. D.
519, and Shipway v. Broadwood (1899) 1 Q. B.
369, referred to. Held further, that a contract induced by fraud is only voidable, and the remedy by rescission is open only so long as the parties can be restored to the relative position which they originally occupied. Urgulari v. Macpherson
L. R. 3 App. Cas. 331 followed. *Clough v.
London and North Western Railway Company*,
L. R. 7 Ex. 26 referred to. *INDRA NATH BAKSH
JEE v. MOORE* (1909) 1 I. L. R. 37 Cal. 81

LIABILITY OF AGENT

1. — Misconduct—Agent with irrevocable authority may be removed for misconduct—Self abatement of In every contract of service there is an implied condition that if the services be not faithfully performed the employer is entitled to put an end to the contract; and an irrevocable contract of agency is no exception to this rule. An agent appointed under an irrevocable contract of agency may be removed if he is guilty of misconduct in the performance of his duties.
The above principle will apply whether the person employed be a servant or agent or a person occupying a fiduciary position. A suit brought against such an agent for his removal and for recovering damages for his misconduct does not abate with the death of such agent. MORIE KOTTA KUN CHUNNI NATH v. SUBRAMANIAN PATTAR (1908)
1 I. L. R. 33 Mad. 163

2. — Construction of Contract—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 213-216—

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—*contd.*LIABILITY OF AGENT—contd.

Agent appointed to sell goods buying them on his own account 8 210 of the Indian Contract Act is merely enabling and confers upon the principal the right to claim from his agent the benefit of the transaction to which the agency business related where the agent, without the knowledge of the principal has dealt with the business on his own account, instead of on account of the latter.
The principal is free to exercise that right or not.
The law is that where a party elects to adopt a transaction he must take its benefit with its burden. He cannot, as is said, "both approbate and reprobate." But both the benefit and the burden must, for that purpose be attached to and incidents of the transaction which the principal has affirmed by election. Where an agent appointed to sell his principal's goods for a fixed price buys them on his own account without the previous consent of the latter it is competent for the principal either to repudiate the transaction under the circumstances mentioned in s. 215 of the Contract Act or to affirm it. If he elects to affirm, the principal will be liable to pay to the agent such charges only as are incidents of the transaction of purchase, that is, such as the vendor under the contract would have been liable to pay to the purchaser, because what is affirmed is the relation of vendor and purchaser. But if those charges are annulled by the terms of the contract to the agency so as to regulate the relation of principal and agent as distinguished from the relation of vendor and purchaser, the agent is not entitled to recover them. Solemans v. Perder
3 H. & C. 639, and Andrew v. Ramsay & Co.
(1903) 2 A. B. 635, referred to. *JOACHIMSON v.
BISCHNER VALLABHADAS* (1909)

1 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 292

LIABILITY OF PRINCIPAL

*Contract Act (IX of 1872) s. 213—Liability of principal and agent—Principal when may be sued—Negotiable Instruments Act (XXI of 1881), ss. 4 III (b) and 23
—Negotiable instrument what is not—Debt incurred on behalf of several co-sharers—If everyone bound for every part of the debt—Apportionment is allowable according to the properties in respect of which debt incurred* Where an agent is personally liable for a debt the creditor has the option to proceed either against the principal or the agent. Where it did not appear that in lending the money, the lender (who knew that the money was being borrowed on behalf of certain principals) looked exclusively to the agent for repayment. Held that he could proceed to realise the money from the principals.
In the matter of the Ganges Steam Tug Co., Ltd.
1 I. L. R. 13 Cal. 31 36. Paterson v. Gandaswami, 15 East 62, Thomson v. Darnley, 9 B. & C. 73 referred to. As the authority to the agent contemplated a joint and reciprocal liability of all the principals. Held, that the liability could not be distributed so as to hold, each of the principals liable for his own apportioned share of the debt.
Where an agent took loans upon notes of hand under letters of authority in order to pay the Government revenue in respect of certain properties and it was found as a fact that in one of these properties defendant No. 2 had no interest and that he had not given any power of attorney for raising loan to meet dues in respect of that pro-

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—*contd*LIABILITY OF PRINCIPAL—contd, party, but that agent was authorised by defendant No 2 generally to raise money for the management of the state. Held, that the defendant No 2 was liable for the entire debt. SATTA PRITA GHOSAL v GOBINDA MOHON ROY CHOWDHURY (1909) . . . 14 C. W. N. 414

Liability of principal for fraudulent conduct of the agent—Scope of the agent's or servant's employment—Unauthorised acts—Scope of agency Tort The principal is liable to third persons in a civil suit for the frauds, deceptions, concealments, misrepresentations, torts, negligence and other malfeasances or misfeasances and omissions of duty of his agent in the course of his employment although the principal did not authorise or justify or participate in, or, indeed, know of such misconduct or even if he forbade the acts or disapproved of them. The principal is not liable for the torts or negligences of his agent in any matter beyond the scope of the agency unless he has expressly authorised them to be done, or he has subsequently adopted them for his own use and benefit. McGowan v Dyer, 1 L R 8 Q B D 141, Hern v Nichols, 1 Sallfield 289, National Exchange Co v Drew, 2 Macq H L 103, Brooklesby v Temperance P B Society, (1895) A C 173, Pearson v Pearson v Dublin Corporation, (1907) A C 351, Chazen's Life Assurance Co v Brown, (1901) A C 423, Glasgow Corporation v Lorimer, (1911) A C 209, Bocles v Stewart, 1 Sch & Lef 209, Fit-Simons v Duncan, 2 I R 433, Subjan Bibi v Saraiwalla, 3 B L R 413, Morrison v Verschoyle, 6 C W N 422, Inwar Chunder v Satish Chunder, 1 L R 30 Calc. 207, Gopal Chandra v Secretary of State, 1 L R 36 Calc 617, Motilal v Goindram, 1 L R 30 Bom. 43, British M B Co v Charnwood Forest Ry Co, 13 Q B D 714, MacKay v Commercial Bank, 1 L R 5 P C 394, Sieva v Francis, 3 A C 106, Houllsworth v City of Glasgow, 5 A C 317, referred to Lloyd v Grace, (1912) A C 716, and Rubens v Great Fingall, (1908) A C 439 followed. Barwick v English Joint Stock Bank, 1 L R 2 Ex 259, and Burma Trading Corporation v Myra Mahomed Ally, 1 L R 4 Calc 116, explained. Acts of fraud by the agent, committed in the course and scope of his employment, form no exception to the rule whereby the principal is held liable for the torts of his agent even though he did not in fact authorise the commission of the fraudulent act. This rule of liability is based upon grounds of public policy. It seems more reasonable that where one of the two innocent persons must suffer from the wrongful act of a third person the principal who has employed and retained a dishonest agent and has placed him in a position of trust and confidence, should suffer for his misdeed rather than a stranger. SURESH KHAH v ALIMUDDI (1915)

I L R. 43 Calc. 511

NOTICE.

Agent paying debts owed to principal from money belonging to a third person—Principal if affected with notice of trust—Payment by cheque drawn by person connected with the third person's business, if amounts to such notice—Sub-agency—Priority with principal absent—Contract Act, s 194 V, a servant of a Banking

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—*contd*NOTICE—contd

Company, was also the sole agent of the Texas Oil Company for sale of the latter's oil. The Banking Company having pressed V to pay moneys owed to it by V, V discharged some of his debts to the Bank by a cheque drawn in its favour on another Bank by M who was the head clerk and manager of V's agency for the Oil Company "per pro V, sole agent for Bengal and United Provinces." Some of this money might presumably be money held by V in trust for the Oil Company: Held, that there was nothing on the face of the cheque that would lead the Bank to doubt that V was perfectly entitled to deal with the moneys to which they related in whatever manner he thought fit. To affect a Bank with knowledge of the ownership of moneys paid into the accounts of their customers by the mere form of the signature on the negotiable documents by which such moneys are transferred is to proceed far beyond the recognised limits of the doctrine of notice, and such a doctrine, if accepted, would create a serious embarrassment to the conduct of banking business. Coleman v Bucks (1897) 2 Ch 243 and Croy v Johnston, 1 L R 3 H L 1 (1868), referred to. Held, further, that the fact that V was a servant or agent of the Banking Company did not affect it with notice of the trust. Knowledge communicated to an agent of a fact which it was not the agent's interest to disclose and which he did not disclose to the principal cannot be imputed to the principal. V had appointed sub agents for sale of the Texas Oil Company's oils on terms similar to those which bound him to the Company: Held, on the facts, that no privity was established between the Company and the sub agents. THE TEXAS COMPANY v THE BOMBAY BANKING COMPANY]

L R 46 I A. 250

I L R. 44 Bom. 139

24 C. W. N. 469

MISCELLANEOUS

*Claim and cross-claim—Business of principal Company transferred to another Company set up by former and closely identified with it, but business conducted as before by former—Latter Company if may sue without reference to set off claimed by the agent A & Co. were entitled to receive from the respondents the price of sugar purporting to have been sold by the latter on their behalf, and the respondents had a larger sum of money in deposit with A & Co as bankers. A & Co, it appeared had incorporated another Company called the Mysore Sugar Company which as to personnel and otherwise was closely identified with A & Co and completely controlled by them, the object being that the Mysore Sugar Company would take over the sugar factory of A & Co, and though this was technically done, the factory continued to be run and maintained in the same way as before and the respondents never knew of what had happened. The Official Trustee in whom the assets of the Mysore Sugar Company vested upon insolvency having sued the respondents for the price of sugar sold out of the factory without reference to the cross-claim and set off of the respondents against A & Co. Held, that if the Mysore Sugar Company could bring actions for sums due* from the respondents in respect of sales of sugar, they could bring them only as principals in this sense that they could take the benefit of those suits subject to every equity which affected those suits in the hands of A. & Co. THE OFFICIAL TRUSTEE OF MADRAS v. A. SUNDARAMUTHI MUDALIAR 24 C. W. N. 1004

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—*contd.*MISCELLANEOUS—contd.

Contract—Undisclosed principal—Contract Act (IX of 1872) ss. 230 (2), 236 To enable an agent to sue on a contract under s. 230 (2) of the Contract Act there must in fact have been a principal though undisclosed, for whom he was acting in entering into the contract. Where a person in entering into a contract purported to act as agent for an undisclosed principal, but in fact no such principal existed and the person was in reality acting on his own account he is debarred from suing on the contract by s. 236 of the Contract Act. RAMJI DAS v. JAYKE DAS (1912) 1 L. R. 33 Cal. 502

Suit for declaration of title to the benefit of a decree—Maintenance of the suit Where an agent entered into a contract in his own name with a third party and brought a suit to recover damages for breach of the same and obtained a decree thereon a suit subsequently brought by the principal against the agent for declaration of title to the decree was not maintainable. The principal before the suit was brought by his agent might have adopted the contract made by the latter and acted on it but if he did so he was bound to adopt the contract en masse. UDILL v. ALIKHON 2 H. & V. 172, and BRIDGES v. WHITMORE 9 H. L. C. 391 approved. His agent also has intervened at any stage in the action and has been concerned by his agent. SILLER v. LYNCH & CAMP 195 approved. GODDARD v. JAMESWELL PATELA (1912) 1 L. R. 49 Cal. 335

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST.

See ACCOUNTS 1 L. R. 41 Mit. 570

See DECRETARY AGENCIES' RELIEF ACT (XVII of 1879) 1 L. R. 35 Bom. 211

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1903) Arts. 132 and 75 1 L. R. 37 Mit. 931

PRINCIPAL AND SURETY.

See CONTRACT ACT (IX of 1872), ss. 126 to 147 debt barred against principal, whether surety liable for—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.

1 Pat. L. J. 497

Promissory note, payable on demand—Limitation—Payment of interest by principal—Acknowledgment of debt—Liability of surety—Contract of guarantee—Limitation Act (IX of 1903), ss. 13 and 29, 21 Sec. 1 Arts. 65 73 115—Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 126, 128 Where an on demand promissory note was executed by the debtor and bore an endorsement on it "repay ment guaranteed by me," signed by the person purporting to make the guarantee and where the said promissory note was unaccompanied by any writing restraining or postponing the right to sue: Held, that the endorsement must be treated as a contract of guarantee by the person purporting to make the guarantee: Held, also, that the promissory note was a present debt payable without demand, that the liability of the surety on the guarantee accrued from the date of the promissory note, that the Statute of Limitation began to run in favour of the surety from the date of the note, and that for the purposes of this case it mattered not whether Art. 65 or Art. 115 of the Limitation Act applied. ARLON v. ELHAM 2 M. & W. 461, ROWE v. YOUNG 2 Brod. & Bing. 165 Malby v. Murrelle, 5 H. & N. 312, In re George, 44 Ch. D. 627, PERMAL AYYAN v. ALPURIAN BAJAPATHAR, 1 L. R. 20 Mad. 245, HOL v. HADLEY 2 Ad. & EL 755, COLVIN v. BUCKLE, 3 M. & W. 650 Srinath Roy v. Peary Mohan Moortjee 25 C. L. J. 91 and Dwarika Das Govardhana Das v. Choralala Arisannaya, 21 Mad. L. J. 457, referred to Where payment of interest on an on demand promissory note was made by the principal debtor with the knowledge and consent of the surety and even at his request, but where there was no evidence that it was made on behalf of such surety: Held, that the fresh period of limitation created under s. 20 of the Limitation Act by the payment of interest by the principal debtor could be only in respect of the debt upon which the interest was paid, viz., the debt of the principal debtor. The fact that the interest was paid with the knowledge and consent of the surety and even at his request made no difference, unless the circumstances could be said to render the payment one on behalf of the surety. Doms. Lal Saha v. Roshan Dossy, 1 L. R. 33 Cal. 1278, In re Powers, Lindsell v. Phillips, 30 Ch. D. 291, In re Frisby 43 Ch. D. 106, Lewis v. Wilson, 11 App. Cas. 639 distinguished Krishna Kishori Chowdhary v. Radha Ponnun Munnai, 1 L. R. 12 Cal. 339, Hajaratmal v. Krishnarao 1 L. R. 5 Bom. 617, Coops v. Oreswell, L. R. 2 Eq. 106, Morgan v. Richards L. R. 7 Q. B. 493, Green v. Humphreys 26 Ch. D. 474, In re Borwell, (1916) 3 Ch. 359, Athury v. Athury (1923) 2 Ch. 111, In re The Estate of William Senger, 3 Jur. N. S. 451, 26 L. J. Ch. 309 and Gardner v. Brooke, 21 R. 6 referred to Per MOOREHEAD, J.—Though the liabilities of the debtor and the surety arise out of the same transaction, the liabilities of the two persons are distinct for the purposes of the application of s. 20 of the Limitation Act. Gopal Das Saha v. Gopal Das Sonu Saha, 1 L. R. 28 Bom. 248, and Sriyanata Varadachariar v. Echrammal 21 Mad. L. J. 455 followed The surety, under the terms of the contract, is either jointly or separately liable, along with the principal debtor; if the debts are deemed joint, s. 21 (2) of the Limitation Act shows that the payment by one of them (the debtor) does not extend the time, on the other hand if the debts are deemed distinct, the same result follows upon a true construction of s. 20 itself. s. 123 of the Contract Act which makes the liability of the surety co-extensive with that of the principal debtor, is of no assistance to the plaintiff, as it must be read along with the provisions of the Limitation Act; it defines the measure of the liability and has no reference to the extinction of liability by operation of the Statute of Limitation. A payment by one person cannot keep alive the remedy against another, unless the circumstances are such that payment by the one may be regarded as a payment for the others. There is nothing in the relation of principal and surety itself which makes payment by the principal binding as a payment by the surety. Cockhill v Sparks, 1 H & C 699, 139 R R 739, Re Wolmerhausen, 62 L T 511, and Henton v Padison, 63 L T 405, referred to. BRAJENDRA KISHORE ROY CHOWDHURY v HINDUSTAN CO OPERATIVE INSURANCE SOCIETY, LD (1917) L. L. R. 44 Calc. 978

PRINCIPAL AND SURETY—contd.

PRINCIPAL AND SURETY—contd.

PRINCIPAL CONTRACT.

See CONTRACT. L. L. R. 46 Calc. 831

PRINTER AND PUBLISHER.

See CONTEMPT 15 C W. N 771
L. L. R. 45 Calc. 169

See SEDITION
L. L. R. 33 Calc. 227, 253

PRINTING PRESS

See PRESS ACT (I OF 1910)

"Newspaper," definition of.—Paper not containing periodically public news or comments thereon.—Onus of proof of character of the paper.—Formal proof of newspaper and offending matter.—Incitement to murder and acts of violence.—Use of seditious language.—Newspapers (Incitement to offences) Act (I of 1908) ss 2 (1) (b), 3.—Power of third Judge on difference of opinion between Judges of the Court of Appeal, to deal with the whole case against an accused.—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) s 429. The definition of a "newspaper" in s 2 (1) (b) of Act VII of 1908 must be read as a whole. It refers to a work which publishes periodically public news or comments thereon. It is not enough to take a single issue of it, and to pick out an isolated sentence or a paragraph therein which might by stretch of language be interpreted to contain public news or comments thereon. When it is disputed whether a work is a "newspaper" the prosecution ought to establish its alleged character by proof of the contents of more than one issue. To bring a case under s 3 (1) of the Act the character of the offending paper as a "newspaper" has to be first established, and this may not always be possible by the production and proof of the contents of one issue only. In a proceeding under s 3 of the Act the newspaper and the offending matter must be regularly proved. In such cases it is essential that the proceedings should be regularly conducted and the forms of law observed. s 7 (1) of the Act confers very limited powers of forfeiture and applies only to the cases of presses used for the printing of newspapers which contain an incitement to the particular crimes or class of crimes specified therein. The word "incitement" clearly implies the idea of rousing to action, instigation or stimulation. The use of seditious language, sufficient to bring the case under s 124A of the Penal Code, is not equivalent to an incitement to offences mentioned in s 3 (1) of Act VII of 1908. A thinly veiled glorification of rebellion implying a drive on the part of the writer that there should be a successful rebellion, though it may amount to sedition under s 124A of the Penal Code, is not sufficient to bring the case within s 3 (1) of the Act. There must be something more direct and specific for that purpose. In the case of two prisoners, regarding the guilt of one of whom only the Judges of the Appellate Court are divided in opinion, it may be that what has to be laid before another Judge is the case of such prisoner alone. But where they are equally divided as to the guilt of one accused, though in certain aspects they may be agreed, the whole case as regards the accused is laid before the third Judge, and not merely the point or points on which there is a difference of opinion, and it is his duty to consider all the points involved before delivering his opinion upon the case. SARAT CHANDRA MITRA v EMPEROR (1910)

PRINTING PRESS—contd.

L. L. R. 33 Calc. 202

PRINTING PRESSES AND NEWSPAPERS ACT (XXV OF 1867)—

— Indian Press Act (I of 1910) s 3, sub s (1)—Control of press owners.—Deposit of security, power of Magistrate to dispense with.—Order for deposit made after dispensing with it.—Declarations made by keeper of printing presses.—Publishing objectionable matter in newspaper or other periodical.—Order by Governor in Council for seizing security and newspapers with all copies wherever found and annulling declarations made.—Petitions by owner of press to set aside or revise orders of Magistrate and Governor in Council.—Articles in newspaper bringing Government into hatred and contempt.—Criminal Procedure Code, 1898, s 435.—Writ of certiorari.—Appeal in criminal case.—Practice in Privy Council.—Indian Press Act (I of 1910) ss 3, sub s (1) & sub s (1) 75 and 22. Under the Printing Presses and Newspapers Act (XXV of 1867) s 4, any person who keeps a printing press in his possession must make and subscribe a declaration before a Magistrate stating that he has a press for printing and where it is situated, and by s 3 no printed newspapers or other periodical shall be published without the printer or publisher making a declaration that he is the printer or publisher, the name of the periodical, and the place where the printing is conducted. Under the Indian Press Act (I of 1910 of the Government of India) s 3, sub-s (1), the person making such declaration is required to deposit before a Magistrate a sum of money or other security not less than Rs 500 but not more than Rs 2,000 as the Magistrate thinks fit to require. The Magistrate however may for special reasons dispense with the deposit, and has certain powers of cancelling or varying any order made under this sub-section. By s 4 sub-s (1), the Local Government, in case of anything objectionable appearing in the paper, may by notice in writing addressed to the owner of the press, declare the security deposit, the newspaper in which the objectionable matter appears and all copies of it wherever found, to be considered forfeited to the Crown and the declaration made as above by the keeper of the press annulled. ss 17 and 18 give power to any person interested in any property so forfeited to make an application to a Special Bench of the High Court to set aside such order, on the ground that the newspaper did not contain anything of an objectionable nature such as is described in s 4, sub-s (1). The appellant was the owner and keeper of a printing press, and printed and published a newspaper called "New India" and on 2nd December 1914 she had made all the declarations required and had duly observed all the proceedings (except making a deposit of security with which the Magistrate had dispensed) necessary under the above Acts to enable her to carry on and print and publish the newspaper. On 23rd May 1916, however, she received a notice from the Magistrate, dated 22nd May 1916, in which he had, under sub s. (1) of s. 3 of Act I of 1910 cancelled his order dispensing with the security and required her within fourteen days to deposit Rs. 2,000 as security, and in accordance with that order the appellant deposited the amount, but under protest. On 23rd August 1916 she was served with an order, dated 25th August 1916 made by the Governor of Madras in Council reciting that twenty passages published in the newspaper "New India" and identified in the order were of the nature described in sub s. (1) of s. 4 of Act I of 1910, and declaring that the security which the appellant had deposited and all copies of the newspaper in which the passages appeared were to be considered forfeited to the Crown. The appellant thereupon presented two petitions to a Special Bench of the High Court, one a Criminal Revision Petition under ss. 106 and 107 of the Government of India Act (5 and 6 Geo. V, No. 61) and s. 435 of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1898, against the order of the Magistrate requiring security and praying that it might be set aside; and the other under s. 17 of Act I of 1910 against the order of forfeiture made by the Governor in Council praying that it might be revised and set aside. The application against the order of the Magistrate was described in the course of the proceedings as an application for a writ of certiorari. Both applications were heard by a Special Bench and both were dismissed. In the petition s. 17 of Act I of 1910 the Special Bench unanimously held that three articles (2), (11) and (13) were within the terms of s. 4 sub s. (1) cl. (c) a majority, ANURADHAM Off. C. J., and AYLING, J., thought articles (1), (6) (10) and (12) obnoxious to cl. (c); AYLING, J. thought the same of articles (9) and (14), and SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J., of article (3). AYLING, J., was of opinion that article (7) was obnoxious to cl. (c) and SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J., thought the same of article (17). Applications to the High Court for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council were refused, but the appellant obtained special leave to do so. Held with regard to the petition to set aside the order of the Magistrate that on the construction of s. 3 sub s. (1) of Act I of 1910 the Magistrate had power to cancel his order dispensing with security that the order cancelling the dispensation was not a judicial act, but one done in the exercise of administrative functions, that the omission to hear the appellant before making it was only an irregularity which could not be reviewed at any rate by writ of certiorari and not a case for revision under the Code of Criminal Procedure. The provisions of s. 435 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and of s. 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure are not exhaustive and there may be rare cases which might not fall under either of those sections, and for those cases the powers of the High Courts which have inherited the ordinary or extraordinary jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to issue writs of certiorari cannot be said to have been taken away; though it is taken away in ordinary cases by the above sections of the Civil and Criminal Procedure Codes. And assuming the power to issue writs of certiorari remain notwithstanding the existence of later procedure by way of revision, in the present the procedure by certiorari would be precluded by s. 22 of Act I of 1910. Held with respect to the petition under s. 17 to set aside the forfeiture, the question was as to whether the passages cited from the articles published in the newspaper came within s. 4, sub s. (1) of the Act and the Judicial Committee found that due weight had been given by the Special Bench to the several portions of the section and that it had not been misconstrued on any matters of law. Their Lordships acting on their usual practice would not with regard to appeals in Criminal cases, interfere on the merits with the conclusions of the Court below. Dal Singh v. King Emperor (1917), 1 L. P. 41 Cal. 376 L. R. 44 I. A. 137 and Dal Gangadhar Tilak v. Queen Empress (1897), 1 L. R. 22 Bom. 323, L. R. 25 I. A. 1, were referred to. ESANT : ADVOCATE GENERAL OF MADRAS (1920)

PRINTING PRESSES AND NEWSPAPERS ACT (XXV OF 1867)—contd.

PRINTING PRESSES AND NEWSPAPERS ACT (XXV OF 1867)—contd.

L. L. R. 43 Mad. (P.C.), 146

— ss. 4, 5—Press Act (XXV of 1867 ss. 4 and 5—Declaration made by owner who took no part in managing a printing press—Publication of a seditious book at the press—Penal Code (Act (XXV of 1860) s. 124A—Sedition—Intention. The accused made a declaration under Act XXV of 1867, s. 4, that he was the owner of a press called "The Atmaram Press." Beyond this, he took no part in the management of the press, which was carried on by another person. A book styled "Ek Shikhi Gita" was printed at this press. It was a book that dealt to a large extent with metaphysics, philosophy and religion. It also contained seditious passages scattered among discussions of religious matters. It was not shown that the accused ever read the book or was aware of the seditious passages it contained. The accused was convicted of the offence punishable under s. 124A of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, as publisher of the book. On appeal—Held, by CHANDRAYAKKAR, J., that the cumulative effect of the surrounding circumstances was such as to make it improbable that the accused had read the book or that he had known its seditious object; and that the evidence having thus been evenly balanced and equivocal a reasonable doubt arose as to the guilt of the accused, the benefit of which should be given to him. Held, by ILAYARAJ, J., that before the accused could be convicted under s. 124A of the Indian Penal Code it must be found that he had an intention of exciting disaffection; and that the evidence fell very short of proving the intention. Per CHANDRAYAKKAR, J.—A declaration made under s. 4 of the Press Act is intended by the legislature to have a certain effect, namely, that of fastening responsibility for the conduct of the press on a person declaring in respect of matters where public interests are involved. Hence where a book complained of as seditious or libellous is printed in a press, the Court performing the functions of a jury may presume that the owner had a hand in the printing and was aware of the contents and character of the book. But whether such a presumption is warranted in any individual case must depend upon its own facts and circumstances. The presumption, however, is not conclusive; it is not one of law, but of fact, and it is open to the accused to rebut it. EMKOR & SHANKAR SRIKRISHNA DEY (1910) . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 55

PRINTING PRESSES AND NEWSPAPERS ACT (XXV OF 1867)—contd.

ss. 4, 5—contd.

z. 7.

See SEDITION

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 227, 253

PRIOR MORTGAGE.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, ss. 13, 43 . . . I. L. R. 32 All. 119

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s. 11 . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 111

See MORTGAGE.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 74 . . . I. L. R. 32 All. 138

See SUBROGATION I. L. R. 43 Calc. 69

extinguishment of—

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 527

right of—

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 282

PRIOR RIGHT.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 694

PRIOR SALE.

See PUTNI TALUK

I. L. R. 49 Calc. 454

PRIORITY.

See CO OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT s. 10, 20 . . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 377

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1072

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1052

See REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877), s. 50 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 631

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908), s. 60 . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 271

Of attachment—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, O XXI, r. 63 . . . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 100

PRIORITY OF TITLE.

See TITLE . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 239

Customary right of in Gujarat.

See EASEMENT I. L. R. 44 Bom. 498

PRIVACY.

See EASEMENT . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 496

PRIVATE AWARD.

See APPEAL . . . I. L. R. 23 Calc. 143

See ARBITRATION . 19 C. W. N. 948

PRIVATE COMMON DRAIN.

See DRAINS . I. L. R. 33 Calc. 263

PRIVATE DEFENCE.

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 10b
I. L. R. 40 All. 284

See PENAL CODE ss. 96 to 106

See PIGHT OF PRIVATE DEFENCE.

Rioting—Pennal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 141, 147 and 148—Hostile witness
Where a person in possession of property sees an actual invasion of his rights to that property, if that invasion amounts to an offence under the Penal Code, he is entitled to assert his right by force, and to collect for that purpose such numbers and such arms as may be absolutely necessary for this purpose provided only that there is no time to have recourse to the protection of the police authorities. The right of private defence extends to s. 141 of the Code, and subsequent sections just as much as it extends to any other offence punishable under the Code, and exists even where the consequence is a riot. A statement made by a prosecution witness in favour of the defence is not necessarily a hostile act. Before a witness can be declared hostile it must be shown that there is good ground for believing that the statement he has made in favour of the defence is due to enmity to the prosecution. FOUZDAR RAI v THE CROWN . 3 Pat. L. J. 419

Assessors Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 99, 147, 148 and 326—Assessors, duty of Judge in putting questions to S. finding that the opposite party were cutting the crops from his field, remonstrated with them. They thereupon threatened him and he retired. He sent a messenger to the Thana to lodge information of what was occurring, then returned to his field accompanied by his son and three others. He asked the leader of the opposite party why the field was being looted, and the latter thereupon assaulted him. A fracas occurred in which one person was killed and several injured on the side of the accused, and one man was injured on the opposite side. S was convicted under ss. 148 and 326 of the Penal Code, and sentenced to three years' rigorous imprisonment under s. 326. The remaining accused persons were convicted and sentenced under s. 147. Held, setting aside the convictions and sentences, that S was justified in collecting his men and arming them sufficiently to prevent the crops being removed from his field in the event of the police not arriving in time. In cases where the possession of the accused is admitted, and where the right of private defence is pleaded it is not sufficient for the Sessions Judge to put the assessors such general questions as, "Are any of the accused persons guilty of any offence?" "Is the offence of rioting proved against any of the accused?" Assessors being laymen who are not familiar with niceties of the law of private defence it is the duty of the Sessions Judge to assist them by putting specific questions concerning the facts upon which the law will turn. SENDER BUX v THE KING EMPEROOR . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 653

Robbery—Treason charged with two offences—Evidence regarding one offence found unreliable, whether the whole evidence should be discarded—Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 111, 143, 329 and 372. Robbery by violence may be resisted by violence sufficient to overcome the force employed by the attacker, and if, in the course of such resistance death is caused, it may be justified if the right of self defence was exercised reasonably and properly, but the measure of self defence must always be proportionate to the quantum of force used by the attacker and which it is necessary to repel. A Court should not convict where it finds that the prosecution case is, in the main, untrue but each case must depend upon its own facts as to the applicability of this general principle. Where the prosecution case is found to be substantially untrue but there is a residuum of evidence with regard to some other charge incidental to the main charge, which, after careful judicial enquiry is found to be true and trustworthy, the accused may be convicted on such incidental charge. RAM PRASAD MANTON v KING EMPEROR 4 Pat. L. J. 239

PRIVATE DEFENCE—contd.

Right of, whether may be pleaded in the alternative. An accused person is not debarred from denying that he committed the act of which he is accused and at the same time pleading the right of private defence. PAUDI KHOT v THE KING EMPEROR 5 Pat. L. J. 64

PRIVATE FERRY

See FERRY . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 543

PRIVATE FISHERIES ACT (II OF 1839)

§ 3—Conviction without ascertaining boundary of fishery which is in dispute and bona fides of accused property of—Purcha, evidentiary value of—Certified copy of Rubakari admissibility of. The petitioner, a fisherman, was convicted under § 3 of the Private Fisheries Act for having fished in a river. It was in dispute whether the river appertained to a Khass Mahal or to a mouzah belonging to the zemindars under the orders of whose ijaradars the petitioner acted. The complainant, the ijaradar under Government, produced a Government purcha or extract from a record of rights prepared under the Bengal Tenancy Act and the defence produced a certified copy of a Rubakari issued by the Commissioner containing an adjudication of the disputed boundary. Held, that in the absence of a determination of the true boundary of the fishery and the bona fides of the petitioner the conviction was not proper. That the extract from the record of rights at most raised a rebuttable presumption in favour of the complainant. That the Magistrate's order that the Rubakari was inadmissible in evidence on the ground that a certified copy not the original order was produced was wrong. RADHANATH KAINATHA v EMPEROR (1917) 22 C. W. N. 742

PRIVATE INTERNATIONAL LAW.

See FOREIGN JUDGMENT SUIT ON
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 183

Jurisdiction—Power of Foreign Court to sell debt which has arisen in British India—lex loci rei sitae. Where a pledge of movable property or of a debt is allowed by the law of the territory where the transaction took place, the Court of that territory has jurisdiction to sell the property in execution of its decree so as to pass a valid title to it, even if the property in situate outside of its jurisdiction. Chaneshamilas v Dharmoli I. L. R. 3 Bom. 219, distinguished D COTTEA v ASSAY KUNNU (1913)
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 1

PRIVATE KNOWLEDGE.

— of facts by Judge—

See EVIDENCE I. L. R. 38 Mad. 123

PRIVATE LAND.

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), ss 3, 8 AND 125

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 341

PRIVATE PARTITION.

See JOINT ESTATE

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 103

PRIVATE PATHWAY.

See MUNICIPALITY

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 120

PRIVATE REFERENCE.

See ARBITRATION I. L. R. 37 Calc. 63

PRIVATE SALE.

See ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 780

PRIVATE STREET.

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (BOM ACT III OF 1883) ss 305

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 122

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 593

PRIVATE TRIBUNAL.

See HINDU LAW 25 C. W. N. 201

PRIVILEGE.

See DEFAMATION I. L. R. 43 Calc. 328
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 67

See DEFAMATION—STATEMENT BY ACCUSED I. L. R. 40 Calc. 433

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872) s 129
I. L. R. 41 All. 125

See FALSE EVIDENCE
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 878

See LIBEL . I. L. R. 40 All. 841
I. L. R. 39 All. 561

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 304

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 836

See MALICIOUS PROSECUTION
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 830

See PEVAL CODE s 499.

See SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 781

— against Court—

See INSTRUCTIONS TO COUNSEL.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898

— for statement in complaint to Magistrate—

See PEVAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860),
s 493 . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 110

PRIVILEGE OF COUNSEL.

See LIMITATION . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898

PRIVILEGE OF WITNESS.

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s 132
I. L. R. 40 All. 271

PRIVITY.

— between parties—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s 11 . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 679

PRIVITY—could

— meaning of—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s 103 (5)

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1111

PRIVITY OF CONTRACT.

See CONTRACT . I. L. R. 37 All. 115

PRIVITY OF CONTRACT AND ESTATE.

See JURISDICTION

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 739

PRIVITY OF ESTATE.

See LESSOR AND LESSEE

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 683

PRIVY COUNCIL.

See APPEALS TO HIS MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

See APPEALS TO PRIVY COUNCIL

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

s 13 . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 112

ss 103, 108, 109, O XLII, r 23

I. L. R. 33 All. 391

s 110 . . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 477

I. L. R. 42 All. 445

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 104

O XLV, r 15 I. L. R. 37 All. 567

See COSTS . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 415

See COURT MARTIAL.

25 C. W. N. 95

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT (I of 1894),

s 54 . . . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 508

See LEAVE TO APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.

See PRACTICE

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 994

See PRIVY COUNCIL APPEALS

— appeal to against conviction by Court Martial Commissioners—

See CRIMINAL LAW . 25 C. W. N. 701

— Certificate of High Court.

See PROCEDURE

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 293

— decision of—

See BILL OF LADING

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 941

See WARP, OF VALIDITY OF

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 158

— judgment of—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 33 Calc. 188

— order of His Majesty in—

See LIMITATION ACT (XV of 1877), SCH II, Art 180 I. L. R. 33 All. 154

— order of, transmitted to the original Court.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908), O XLV, rr 15 and 16

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 832

— Restoration of property alienated pending appeal—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O XLV, r 15 . I. L. R. 37 All. 567

PRIVY COUNCIL—could,

— whether new point may be taken on appeal to—

See COMPROMISE I. L. R. 42 Mad. 581

See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF

I. L. R. 34 All. 57

— When will interfere in Criminal cases—

See PEVAL CODE s 89.

25 C. W. N. 514

1. ——— New case—Practise. The hearing of the appeal being ex parte, the Judicial Committee refused to depart from the established practice of not allowing the appellant to make a new case based on grounds which were not urged in the Courts in India, were not specified in the petition to the High Court for leave to appeal, and were not suggested in the reasons contained in the case for the appellant SOVI RAM v. KANHAIYA LAL (1913)

I. L. R. 35 All. 227

17 C. W. N. 605

2. ——— Decision, inconsistent with former one—Binding character. The fact of a decision of the Judicial Committee not being consistent with an earlier one, cannot affect its binding character and the High Court is bound to follow it MAHUR SUDAN MOYDAL v. RADHIKA PRASAD DAS (1912)

17 C. W. N. 873

3. ——— Valuation—Application for leave to appeal—Appellable value—Decision in directly involving amount. Defendants who were co sharers of the plaintiff in the zemindari having purchased certain holding from the tenants, the plaintiff sued them for their share of the rent due from one such holding, amounting to Rs 230. The High Court reversing the decree of the lower Court dismissed the suit on the ground that as there was no contract of tenancy between the parties there was no relation of landlord and tenant between them. The plaintiff in applying for leave to appeal to the Privy Council proved that there were other holdings similarly purchased by the defendants and that the decision of the High Court would have the effect of depriving him of rents of all such holding amounting to Rs 800 a year, which capitalized came up to over Rs 10,000. Held, that the decision indirectly involved a claim or question to or respecting property of the value of Rs 10,000 or upwards and leave ought to be granted SHINATH PAL CHOWDHURY v. GIRINDRA CHANDRA PAL CHOWDHURY (1906)

14 C. W. N. 651

4. ——— Leave to appeal—Appellable value—Right of party to prove value of subject matter contrary to valuation in plaint or memo of appeal—Meane profits pending suit if to be added. The valuation made in conformity with the stamp law do not prevent a party from obtaining leave to appeal by proving that the real value of the subject matter does not fall short of the appellable amount. But a defendant who had previously adopted the value given in the plaint for the purpose of an appeal preferred by him should not be allowed to contest that valuation on the principle that a party cannot both approbate and reprobate. In a suit for recovery of possession of immovable property with meane profits, the subject matter to be valued would include meane profits claimable from the instit

PRIVY COUNCIL, APPEAL TO—contd.

Final order—Interlocutory order—Order rejecting an application for bringing on record the legal representatives of a deceased party to a pending appeal—Amended Letters Patent, cl. 39—
Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss 109, 110.
The applicant, claiming to be the legal representative of a deceased party to a pending appeal, applied to have his name brought on the record.
The High Court disallowed the application and ordered the names of the heirs of the deceased to be substituted. The applicant applied for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council from the order rejecting the application: Held, that the order having been passed on an application in a pending appeal, was not a final, but an interlocutory, order, and that no appeal lay from it to His Majesty in Council under the provisions of cl 39 of the Amended Letters Patent GANGAPPA REVASHIDAPPA v GANGAPPA MALESHTAPPA
(1914) . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 421

PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF.

See ADOPTION . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 879

See CONTRACT . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 509

See DECREE, ASSIGNMENT OF
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 227

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 528
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 709

See HINDU LAW—IMPARTIBLE ESTATE.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 199

See LIMITATION ACT (XV of 1877)—
s 4, SCH II, ART 179 (2)
I. L. R. 38 All. 254

s 19, SCH II, ART 143
I. L. R. 35 All. 227

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 44 Calc 333

See PRACTICE
I. L. R. 45 Calc 994

See PRIVY COUNCIL.

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 573

1. ——— Alteration of decree appealed from in respondents' favour without cross-appeal by them. In a suit on a promissory note for Rs 18 042 principal, and interest at $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent per mensem, and also for interest "on the decree from the date of the institution of the suit until realisation," the first Court passed a decree for only Rs 500 "with interest as prayed." The Chief Court of Lower Burma ordered that "the decree of the Original Court be altered to a decree for the full amount claimed," and said nothing about interest. The plaintiffs (respondents) applied by petition to the Chief Court to amend its decree by adding a specific statement that "interest as prayed for in the plaint" was payable on the decretal amount, but the application was dismissed. The defendant appealed to the Privy Council, and shortly before the case came on for hearing, the respondents petitioned for special leave to enter a cross appeal so far as the decree of the Chief Court had failed to include interest after the institution of the suit. A consent order in Council was made on 6th March 1910 that the respondents should have leave on the hearing to appeal on the question raised in their

PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—contd.

petition, and their Lordships, while dismissing the appeal, altered the decree of the Chief Court as prayed in the petition, without a cross appeal being entered. CASSIM AHMED JEW v NARAIAN CHETTY (1910) . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 623

2. ——— Stay of execution—of decrees pending appeal—Power of High Court where appeal has been admitted by special leave—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XLV, r 13, (Act XIV of 1852), s 608. The High Court has power, under r 13 of O XLV of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), to stay execution of a decree pending an appeal to His Majesty in Council, in a case where the appeal has been admitted by special leave. NITYA MONI DASGI v MODIR SUDAN SIV
(1911) . . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 335

3. ——— New point of law as a ground of appeal which had not been dealt with by the Courts below—Appeal heard ex parte. It is contrary to the practice of the Judicial Committee to allow a point to be raised on appeal before them which had not been discussed in the Courts below, and on which their Lordships have not got the assistance of those Courts. JIT SINGH v MANARAJ SINGH (1911) . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 57

4. ——— Appeal in criminal cases—Case where some substantial and grave injustice has been done—Conviction on partly inadmissible, and unreliable evidence—Principles governing interference with verdict of Criminal Court in India—Costs where appeal of accused person succeeds. Special leave to appeal in a criminal case may be granted where "by some disregard of the forms of legal process, or by some violation of the principles of natural justice, or otherwise, some substantial and grave injustice has been done." In re Diller, L. R. 12 A C 459, per LORD WATSON, followed.
In this case in which the appellant had been tried with others and convicted of abetment of murder, and sentenced to death, their Lordships in allowing the appeal, were of opinion that injustice of the kind above mentioned had been done, inasmuch as a vast body of inadmissible evidence, hearsay and other, had been admitted; that when admitted it had been used to the grave prejudice of the appellant; and that at the end of the hearing before the Judge of first instance there did not exist any reliable evidence upon which a capital conviction could be safely or justly based. Held that under these circumstances whatever doubts their Lordships might have of the appellant's innocence, or whatever suspicions they might entertain of his guilt, or however great might be their reluctance to interfere with or overrule the decisions of the Indian Courts in criminal matters, the conviction should not be allowed to stand. Held, also, that this case was not one of disturbing the verdict of the Judge of a Criminal Court in India, who having seen and heard the witnesses had believed them and founded his decision on their testimony; it was the reverse of that, because in this case the Judge who saw and heard the witness upon whose evidence the conviction was mainly based, did not think his evidence so reliable that he could act upon it alone and had, therefore ordered the discharge of the other accused implicated by it. Costs of a successful appeal were not allowed as against the Crown. JOHNA v RAO (1909), A C 317, 324, followed. VAITHATHA PILLAI v KING EMPEROR
(1913) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 501

PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—contd

5. ———— In Criminal case—Grounds for refusing special leave to appeal In this case the main grounds of appeal were that the Judge had, during the trial, wrongly amended the charge to the prejudice of the petitioners, improper admission of evidence, misdirection, and that the sentences contravened the provisions of a 71 of the Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860). But their Lordships were of opinion that in what had been done there was nothing grossly contrary to the forms of justice nor any violation of fundamental principles, and therefore refused to grant special leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council on the ground that they had no power to interfere. Dhill, In re, L R 12 A C 453, followed. CLIFFORD v KING IMPROVER (1915)

I L. R. 41 Cal. 568

6. ———— Of newspaper for publication of criminal libels—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s 499, Exceptions 1, 2, 9 and s 52—Position of members of the Press and of Judges—Libel on Magistrate in respect of conduct of criminal trial—Charge to Jury—Misdirection—Powers and functions of Judicial Committee in criminal cases No kind of privilege attaches to the profession of the Press as distinguished from the members of the public. The freedom of the journalist is an ordinary part of the freedom of the subject, and to whatever length the subject in general may go, so also may the journalist, but apart from statute law his privilege is no other and no higher. The responsibilities which attach to his power of dissemination of printed matter may, and in the case of a conscientious journalist do, make him more careful, but the range of his assertions, his criticisms, or his comments is as wide as and no wider than, that of any other subject. No privilege attaches to his position. Nor does any privilege or protection attach to the public acts of a Judge which exempts him, in regard to these, from free and adverse comment. He is not above criticism, his conduct and utterances may demand it. Freedom would be seriously impaired if the judicial tribunals were outside of the range of such comment. The appellant, the Editor of the Burma Critic, a newspaper published in Rangoon, was charged under s 499 of the Penal Code with having in certain articles entitled "A Mockery of British Justice" defamed a District Magistrate with reference to his alleged conduct in the trial of a case in which a European resident in the district was acquitted on charges of abduction and rape of a native girl of 11 or 12 years. His defence was under the 9th exception to s 499, and he pleaded admitting the libels to be false that he published them in good faith for the public good and believing them to be true after having taken due care and attention in the matter of their publication. He did not, however, disclose what were the actual things upon which he founded his own beliefs, nor what the steps, if any, were he took to investigate their truth before giving them to the public. He was tried in the Chief Court of Lower Burma before the Chief Judge with a jury, and was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment, after serving four months of which he was discharged, the rest of the sentence being remitted. He obtained special leave to appeal mainly on the ground that there had been misdirection resulting in an exceptional miscarriage of justice which had caused him substantial wrong. Held, on the facts, that a fair and statable case in support of the statutory defence, and his belief that the libels were true, had been put forward for the appellant; and for the respondent a case was made which was also fair and statable, so that there was material before the jury on both sides, and the determination was on a subject peculiarly within the jury's province. The case was not improperly withdrawn from the jury's domain on fact, and they were not misdirected in law. A charge to a jury must be read as a whole. If there are salient propositions of law in it, these will of course be the subject of separate analysis. But in a protected narrative of fact, the determination of which is ultimately left to the jury, it must needs be that the view of the Judge may not coincide with the view of others who look upon the whole proceedings in black type. It would, however, not be in accordance with usual or good practice to treat such cases as cases of misdirection if, upon the general view taken, the case has been fairly left within the jury's province. But in any case in the region of fact their Lordships of the Judicial Committee would not interfere unless something gross amounting to a complete misdescription of the whole bearing of the evidence has occurred. The appellant's defence being as above, and involving an admission that the libels were false, his counsel at the trial by statements and innuendoes which were reiterated throughout the case, endeavoured to withdraw the pleaded defence and to persuade the jury that what was stated in the defamatory articles was true. Held, that it could not be considered misdirection for the Judge in charging the jury to put before them a narrative of the real facts of the case as disclosed by the evidence, showing what was in accordance with the pleaded defence, namely, the falsity of the libels, and the consequent innocence of the Magistrate on the charges against him. The letters put in evidence as to the charges that the Magistrate had conspired to suddenly leave the complainants in the abduction and rape case without an advocate, and to furnish them with a false interpreter, though not before the appellant when he wrote the defamatory articles, were before him in the course of his trial, and when it was discovered that they were not true and that a gross mistake on a matter of fact had been made, those libels should not have been adhered to for a moment: the mistake should have been acknowledged and an apology tendered; instead of which the case was conducted to its close upon the footing that an unstated defence was the real and good defence, namely, that all the libels were true. The question of the special position and functions of the Judicial Committee, and their powers and practice as advisers of the King in criminal matters is not truly one of jurisdiction. The power of His Majesty under his Royal authority to review proceedings of a criminal nature, unless where such power and authority have been parted with by Statute, is undoubted. On the other hand, there are reasons both constitutional and administrative which make it manifest that this power should not be lightly exercised. The overruling consideration upon the topic has reference to justice itself. If throughout the Empire it were supposed that the course and execution of justice could suffer serious impediment which in many cases might amount to practical obstruction, by an appeal to the Royal Prerogative of review on judicial grounds, then it becomes plain that a severe blow would have been dealt to the ordered administration of law within the King's dominions.

PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—contd

PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—contd

The views expressed by Dr Lushington in The Queen v Joykisen Mookerjee, 1 Moo P O N S 272, and the principle and practice laid down by Lord Kingsdown in The Falkland Islands Company v. The Queen, 1 Moo P O N S 299, still remain those which are followed by the Judicial Committee in appeals in criminal matters. The principle laid down in Pe Dillet, L R 12 A C 439 that the course of criminal proceedings will not be reviewed or interfered with by the Privy Council "unless it is shown that by a disregard of the forms of legal process, or by some violation of the principles of natural justice, or otherwise substantial or grave injustice has been done," is not to be interpreted in the sense that where ever there had been a misdirection in any criminal case leaving it uncertain whether that misdirection did or did not affect the jury's mind, that then in such case a miscarriage of justice could be affirmed or assumed. The Judicial Committee is not a Court of Criminal Appeal. In general its practice is to the following effect. It will not interfere with the course of criminal law unless there has been such an interference with the elementary right of an accused as has placed him outside of the pale of the regular law, or within that pale there has been a violation of the natural principles of justice so demonstratively manifest as to convince their Lordships, first, that the result arrived at was opposite to the result which they themselves would have reached, and, secondly, that the same opposite result would have been reached by the local tribunal also if the alleged defect or misdirection had been avoided. Malis v. Attorney General for New South Wales, (1894) A C 57, Vaidyanatha Pillay v. The King Emperor, 1 L P 38 Mad 601, L R 40 I A 193, and Laurer v. The King, (1914) A C 227, distinguished. It must be established demonstratively that justice itself in its very foundations has been subverted, and that it is therefore a matter of general Imperial concern that by way of an appeal to the King it can be restored to its rightful position in that part of the Empire. The authority of decisions of the Court of Criminal Appeal in England which apply to a different system, a different procedure, and a different structure of principle must stand out of the reckoning of any body of authority in the matter of the procedure of the Judicial Committee in advising His Majesty. Clifford v. The King Emperor 1 L R 41 Cal 668, L R 40 I A 241, approved. Arnold v. King Emperor (1914)

1 L. R. 41 Cal. 1923

7. ——— Criminal cases—application for—Petitioners sentenced to death—Stay of execution of sentences pending hearing of petition, refusal of—Tendering advice as to exercise of King's Prerogative of Pardon. On an application for special leave to appeal in a case in which the petitioners had been sentenced to death, their Lordships of the Judicial Committee, not being a Court of Criminal Appeal, declined to interfere with regard to staying execution of the sentences pending the hearing or to express any opinion as to whether they ought to be suspended. The tendering of advice to His Majesty as to the exercise of His Prerogative of pardon is a matter for the Executive Government, and is outside their Lordships' province. BALMURDEN v. KING EMPEROR (1915) 1 L. R. 42 Cal 739

8. ——— Invasion of liberty and just rights of a citizen—Embezzlement—Criminal and Civil

PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—contd

habduly distinction between—Costs against Crown in criminal appeal. The appellant, who was a member of a firm, was authorized by the guardian of two minors by a power of attorney to act for the guardian in collecting and investing the minors' property. Acting under this authority, funds were received and remittances made from time to time by the appellant a firm with whom an account was opened in the name of the minors. A certain amount due to the minors from a creditor was paid by him in the shape of crediting it to the appellant's firm in their account with their bankers which account was overdrawn. The minors' account with the appellant's firm was duly credited with that amount. The appellant being thereafter asked to give a guarantee for the funds of the minor in his hand gave security to the satisfaction of the authorities. Thereafter criminal proceedings were instituted against the appellant who was tried by the Chief Justice without a jury and convicted of having embezzled the minor's money. Held, that the facts did not on any just or legal view of them warrant a conviction, and the grounds of distinction between the categories of liability in a civil as distinguished from a criminal suit appeared in the present case to have been left out of judicial view. That the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council does not lightly interfere in criminal cases but in the present case, although the proceedings taken were unobjectionable in form, justice had gravely and injuriously miscarried and the sentences pronounced against the appellant formed such an invasion of liberty and such denial of his just rights as a citizen that their Lordships felt called upon to interfere. Having regard to the exceptional nature of the case their Lordships directed the Crown to pay to the appellant the costs of the appeal. LAMAR v. THE KING (1913) 18 C. W. N 68

9. ——— The general principle is established that the King in Council does not act in exercise of his prerogative to review in criminal cases in the free fashion of a fully constituted Court of Criminal Appeal. The exercise of the prerogative takes place only where it is shown that injustice of a serious and substantial character has occurred. A mere mistake on the part of the Court below, as for example, in the admission of improper evidence, will not suffice if it has not led to injustice of a grave character. Nor do the Judicial Committee advise interference merely because they themselves would have taken a different view of evidence admitted. Such questions are, as a general rule, treated as being for the final decision of the Courts below. Under s 172 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), every police officer making an investigation is to enter his proceedings in a diary which may be used at the trial or inquiry not as evidence in the case but to aid the Court in such inquiry or trial. And by s 374 when the Court of Session passes sentence of death the proceedings are to be submitted to the High Court for confirmation, and the sentence is not to be executed unless it is confirmed by that Court. In this case which was one of murder the accused was convicted by the Sessions Judge and sentenced to death and that sentence was substantially in every material particular confirmed by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner (as the High Court) on appeal. After confirming the sentence, the High Court of Appeal took into consideration the police diary, made during the preparation of the case for the purpose of testing the credibility of some of the witnesses for the defence and treated the entries therein as being evidence in the case discrediting them. Hill v. the Judicial Committee that the fact was clearly wrong in so treating the entries in the police diary in a manner which was inconsistent with the provisions of s. 172 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Queen Empress v. Maseun, I L R 19 All 306, approved. But such improper admission of evidence was not a "sufficient reason why their Lordships should recommend interference with the judgment and sentence. The conditions of the case as to jurisdiction had been complied with; the Court of Appeal had before it evidence on which it placed its opinion and on which it could properly have based its affirmation and confirmation of the conviction. An error in procedure may be of so grave a character as to warrant the interference of the Sovereign, as for instance if it deprived an accused of a constitutional or statutory right to be tried by jury or by some particular tribunal; or it may have been essential to such an extent as to cause the outcome of the proceedings to be contrary to fundamental principles which justice requires to be observed. Even if their Lordships thought the accused guilty they would not hesitate to recommend the exercise of the prerogative were such the case. But here the error consisted only in the fact that evidence had been improperly admitted which was not essential to a result which might have been come to wholly independently of it. Substantial justice had been done, and that being so it would be contrary to the general practice to advise the Sovereign to interfere with the result. Dat Seng v. King Emperor (1917). L. L. R. 44 Cal. 878

PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—contd

10 ——— The King in Council is not a Court of Criminal Appeal and the power of the Sovereign to entertain appeals of this character should only be exercised where there is a gross denial of material justice. Munoo Goudan v. King Emperor 23 C. W. N. 57

11 ——— Dismissal of appeal for want of prosecution—No judicial decision of suit—Limitation Act (XV of 1877) Sch. II, Arts 179-187—Application for order of sale under Transfer of Property Act (XV of 1882), s. 69—Final decree or order of Appeal Court—An order of His Majesty in Council denying an appeal for want of prosecution does not deal judicially with the matter of the suit, and can in no sense be regarded as an order adopting or confirming the decision appealed from. It merely recommends authoritatively that the appellant has not complied with the conditions under which the appeal was open to him and that therefore he is in the same position as if he had not appealed at all. Where, therefore, in a suit to enforce a mortgage a preliminary decree for sale was made by the Subordinate Judge on the 17th of May 1890, which was confirmed by the High Court on the 8th of April 1893 and an appeal to the Privy Council was admitted but was dismissed for want of prosecution on the 13th of May 1901: Held (reversing the decisions of the Courts in India) that the period of limitation for an application under s. 69 of the Transfer of Property Act (XV of 1882) to make absolute the decree for sale was not 12 years under Art. 180 of Sch. II of the Limitation Act 1877, but three years under Art. 179 and limitation ran not from the dismissal of the appeal for want of prosecution but from the order of the High Court confirming the decree which was "the final order of the Appeal Court" and did not become merged in the order of the Privy Council. See Bank of India v. London Dock, I L R 35 All 461. The result is to force the decree but it therefore been turned into the passing of the final appeal in Code 1908 (under which the present application is brought to be made), and no provision of that Act compels it to revive it. Abich Mas v. Jaganath Das (1914).

PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—contd

I L R. 35 All 350

12 ——— in cases of contempt filed by lower courts—Where there are concurrent findings of the Courts below on an issue affecting the jurisdiction of the Court of appeal it is established that the jurisdiction of the Courts below are hardly wrong. Adani v. Gulab Haroon Company, 12 C 191 referred to. SEEMA KANTA AGARWAL v. SARAT CHANDRA BOY CHAUDHURY (1914) 13 C. W. N. 1291

13 ——— Compromise as to which persons under disability are concerned—Application for appeal should be moved before the High Court in India in the first instance. In all cases where it is desired to bind persons under disability by a compromise which is proposed to be entered into in any appeal pending before the Judicial Committee, it is of the utmost importance that there should be a clear expression of opinion by the proper Court in India that such compromise is a beneficial one for these persons. Such a question is essentially and necessarily the proper subject for consideration of the Courts in India who are in a position to institute the inquiries, to ask the questions and to obtain the information which must always be required before sanctioning proceedings on behalf of persons who are unable to assent for themselves. And though the Judicial Committee may in rare cases in their desire to avoid the multiplication or prolongation of proceedings entertain in the first instance an application to sanction a compromise in which persons under disability are interested this is not the regular and usual course. COBINTA CHANDRAN KALLASS CHANDRA 28 C. W. N. 105

14 ——— Omission to appeal to High Court—In case of a subordinate Court not subordinated to High Court—Point taken in grounds of appeal to High Court but not pressed—Postponing appeal from interlocutory decision and appeal from final decree. It is a well settled rule of practice of the Judicial Committee that an appeal when bringing up the actual decree of the High Court for review shall not be allowed to ask to have it set aside on the ground that it has wrongly accepted a decision of the subordinate Court if he himself has never brought that decision before the High Court for its consideration. Such a request would be fairer to the Court of appeal than, nor to the Board of appeal to. The High Court ought not to be liable to have its intervention overruled upon matter never submitted to it. The Board ought not to be called on to adjudicate finally upon matters where they have not the advantage of knowing and weighing the view taken by the learned Judges of the High Court. This had nothing to do with waiting to question an interlocutory decision until an appeal is taken from a subsequent final decree. The same rule applies where, on appeal to the High Court the point was mentioned in the notice of appeal, but the judgment of the High Court says of it that the appellants' advocate "stated that he did not desire to press it," and so no more is said about it. KALYAN DAS v MAQBUL AHMAD (1919)

PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF—contd

I. L. R. 40 All. 497

15. ———— Directions—application for—
All applications for directions for the preparation of paper books in Privy Council appeals should be made to the Bench taking Privy Council business. SHIVA PRASAD SINGH v RANI PRAYAG KUMARI DEBI.

20 C. W. N. 849

PRIZE.

See CONFISCATION I. L. R. 42 Calc. 334

PRIZE COURT.

——— adjudication by—

See SALE OF GOODS

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 28

——— Seizure of ship as prize
—Claimant a Persian subject—Commercial domicile of the claimant in enemy territory—Claimant failing to establish intention of removing domicile to a neutral country—Declaration of London, Article 57, effect of—Condemnation of ship as lawful prize. On the 5th November 1914, war was declared between Great Britain and Turkey. On the 13th November 1914, the S.S. "Karadeniz", then lying in Bombay Harbour, was captured as an enemy vessel under Government Orders. On the 19th November 1914, the ship's papers were lodged in Court with the usual affidavit. On the 21st November 1914, the writ was issued against the ship and the goods laden therein for the condemnation thereof as lawful prize. On the 15th January 1915, the claimant filed his claim to the ship. His petition in support of his claim alleged that he was a Persian subject and had purchased the ship on the 15th August 1914 from a Turkish Company at Constantinople where he resided and carried on business, that the sale had been completed the same day, that the ship on its arrival in Bombay on the 19th August 1914, was not permitted to leave the Port by the Port Officer at Bombay and that at the time of its capture or at any other time material to the matter in cause, no subject of the Turkish Government or enemy of Great Britain had any share, right, title or interest in the said ship. He prayed for the restitution of the ship and damages for her detention. Held, that the ship must be condemned as lawful prize, inasmuch as on the outbreak of war the claimant had his commercial domicile in Turkey, and that at the time of the capture and for months after he had no intention of removing that domicile to a neutral country and preventing the ship from reaching enemy territory. Decisions of the English and American Prize Courts, referred to. Effect of Art. 57 of the Declaration of London considered in view of the decisions in The Zamora (1916) 2 A. C. 77 and The Protos (1915) A. C. 573. The "Karadeniz" (1919). I. L. R. 44 Bom. 61

PRIBATE.

See COURT FEES ACT, 1870—

s. 19 (c). . . 5 Pat. L. J. 36

s. 19 AND 1191, SCH. I AND III.

I. L. R. 43 All. 275

PRIBATE—contd

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 41.

I. L. R. 23 Bom. 399

See EXECUTOR . . . 14 C. W. N. 256

See GUARDIAN . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 853

See HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 82

See HINDU WILLS ACT (XXI OF 1870),

ss. 2 AND 6 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 508

See INAM LANDS I. L. R. 33 Bom. 272

See JOINT PRIBATE

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 43 I. A. 113

20 C. W. N. 830

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877), ss. 5

AND 7 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 589

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 17

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 175

SCH. I, ART. 95

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 158

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 839

See OFFICIAL TRUSTEE

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 53

See PRACTICE (33)

See PRIBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT.

See PRIBATE PROCEEDINGS

See SECOND PRIBATE

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 625

See SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865), s. 214.

I. L. R. 35 All. 449

See WILL . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 327

——— as evidence of right—

See SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865), s. 187.

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 983

——— conditional order for grant of—

See SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865), s. 187.

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 983

——— dismissal of application, for default—

See WILL . . . 14 C. W. N. 324

——— obtained by one executor—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 363

——— suit to revoke—

See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 694

——— will signed by 3rd party in presence and by direction of Testator—

See SUCCESSION ACT, 1908, s. 50

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 939

1. ——— Jurisdiction of High Court—
Letters of Administration—High Court and District Court, jurisdiction of—Concurrent jurisdiction—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), ss. 2, 51, 56, 87—"High Court," meaning of, ss. 37—
Practice—Rule 710 of the High Court Rules and Orders The High Court has jurisdiction to grant probate and letters of administration, on the Original Side, in any case which could have been brought before any District Judge in either of the two Provinces of Bengal. "High Court" mentioned in s. 87 of the Probate and Administration Act,

PROBATE—contd

(V of 1831) is not merely confined to the Appellate Jurisdiction of the Court, but it includes its Original Jurisdiction. In the goods of Mahendran Varman Roy, 5 C W N 377, referred to S 87 of the Probate and Administration Act does not require that any portion of the property should be within the limits of the Original Jurisdiction of the High Court, and Rule 710 of the High Court cannot override the express provisions of this section giving the High Court concurrent jurisdiction with the District Court. NACKTRABALA DEBI v KASHIPATI CHOWDHRY (1909)

I L R 37 Cal 224

2 ——— Jurisdiction—Testamentary and Intestate Jurisdiction of High Court—Probation—Probate and Administration Act (I of 1831) s 50—Official Trustee of Bengal—Official Trustee's Act (XII of 1864) Where a Judge exercising the original testamentary and intestate jurisdiction of the High Court granted probate to the Official Trustee of Bengal the probate being expressed to be granted to the Official Trustee of Bengal for the time being assuming the order to have been erroneous it cannot be said that the Judge acted without jurisdiction so as to bring the matter within the scope of s 50 of the Probate and Administration Act. OFFICIAL TRUSTEE OF BENGAL v KUMODINI DAS (1910) I L R 37 Cal 337

3 ——— Grant of probate on compromise, it may be revoked—Persons not parties but cognisant of grant of bond—Infringement of bond—Acquiescence—Delegation of powers by District Judge to District Delegate—Probate and Administration Act (I of 1831), s 57 Proceedings in a Court of probate are proceedings quasi in rem and a probate granted in solemn form is binding not only on the parties who have appeared or have been formally cited but also on privies in re, persons who being cognizant of the proceedings and having an opportunity to intervene have chosen not to do so. Veell v Weeks 2 Phillim 224 Hitcherley v Andrews, L R 2 P & D 377 Yong v Holloway (1895) P 37, relied on. It may be taken as settled law that in a contentious proceeding probate may be granted in common form in consequence of a compromise between the disputants resulting in the withdrawal of opposition and that it cannot afterwards be revoked except on proof of fraud or circumvention practiced either upon the Court or upon the parties. Veell v Weeks 2 Moo P C C 85, followed. When a probate is granted in common form by reason of a compromise between the parties as the terms of the compromise cannot be embodied in the order, for the reason that a Court of Probate cannot in many instances enforce the terms. Evans v Saunders 30 L J P M & A 131 Rodlight v Carter, 3 W & R 44, Carrut v Christ an L R 2 P & D 191, referred to. But they may be enforced by an action if otherwise unobjectionable. But though a probate obtained in common form as the result of a compromise is binding upon the parties to the compromise it is not binding upon those who are not parties to it, even though they have been cognizant of the former proceedings. Hitcherley v Andrews, L R 2 P & D 327, referred to. When the terms of the compromise are agreed to by the parties in toto sui juris, the Court of probate will not make an order binding infants to the terms of the compromise. Norman v Straine L R 6 P D 219, referred to. But though an infant has a right in such cases to apply after he comes of age for revocation of probate obtained by consent yet he may be barred by acquiescence and delay for a long time or by the subsequent ratification of the dispositions of the will from putting the executor to the proof of the will in solemn form or from contesting its genuineness. Hoffman v Morris, 2 Phillim 230 note. Mohan v Broughton (1900) P 56, relied on. Where the caveators having by reason of a compromise, withdrawn their opposition the District Judge sent the case to the District Delegate for enquiry and report. Held that the District Judge had acted within the powers conferred on him by s 52 of the Probate and Administration Act. KUNJA LAL CHOWDHRY v KALASH CHANDRA CHOWDHRY (1910)

PROBATE—contd

14 C. W. N. 1063

4 ——— Bequest to Idol—Probate and Administration Act (I of 1831)—Shela appointed executor by implication—Letters of administration with will annexed if should be revoked and probate ordered to issue Where the testator having bequeathed his estate to an idol the shela who was opposed by the testator's heirs was granted letters of administration with the will annexed—Held, that although the applicant might probably have been granted probate as being executor by implication the estate being very small and letters of administration having been actually issued and the objector who appealed having no sort of interest in the matter, the order of the District Judge should be maintained. Brojo v Raj Kumar, 6 C W N 310, referred to. KALI CHARAN THAKUR v ANNANDA KANTA BHATTACHARJEE (1910)

15 C W. N. 1

4 (a) ——— Mahomedan Will—It is not necessary to take out probate to a Mahomedan Will which may be tendered in evidence and proved in any proceeding although no Probate has been taken out in respect of it. SAKINA BIEZE v MAHOMED ISHAQ

15 C W. N. 185

5 ——— Party entitled to object to grant of—Attaching creditor has interest sufficient to oppose grant Where an application is made for the grant of probate of the will of A, a judgment creditor of A's son who in execution has attached the son's interest in the property of his deceased father has an interest sufficient to justify him in opposing the grant. ABRAHAM BASTIAN ANSAR v NARAYANA ARIAN (1910) I L R 34 Mad 405

6 ——— Standard of proof—Testamentary capacity—Evidence to execution—Presumptive—Expert evidence, relevancy and weight of—Practice—Succession Act (X of 1865) ss 44, 45, 50—Evidence Act (I of 1872) ss 3, 10, 45, 101, 135 The standard of proof to establish a will required by the Indian Statutes is that of the prudent man and not an absolute or conclusive one. The doctrine in Tyrell v Pounton (1894) P 151, and Parry v Butler, 2 Moo P C 480 disapproved. Shama Churn Kundu v Khitromoni Das I J B 27 Cal 621 L R 27 I A 10, referred to. The presumption against misconduct exists in a Civil case, though it may be rebutted by a lower standard of proof than that in a criminal trial. Cooper v Stude, 6 H L Cas 746, and Dervine v Wilson 10 Moo P C 509, referred to. The admissibility, relevancy and weight of the evidence of experts, discussed Per Woodroffe, J.—If the cross examining counsel, after putting a paper into the hands of a witness, merely asks him some question as to its general nature or identity, his adversary will have no right to see the document, but if the paper be used for the purpose of refreshing the memory of the witness, or if any question be put respecting its contents or as to the hand writing in which it is written, a right of it may then be demanded by the opposite counsel. Peck v Peck, 21 L T R 670, referred to JARAT KUMARI DAS v BISSASSUR DUTT (1911)

PROBATE—contd

I. L. R. 39 Cal. 245

7. ——— Caveat—if may be entered by widow of a predeceased son—Maintenance of widow of predeceased son, if may be affected by probate proceedings—Obligation of the heir—Sufficient interest The widow of a predeceased son of the testator has in fact no interest sufficient to enable her to appear on probate proceedings. Her right to maintenance will not be affected by anything that may take place on the hearing of an application for probate. Bai Parbati v Tarwadi Dolat ram, 1 L R 25 Bom 263, dissented from Yamunbai v Manubai, 1 L P 23 Bom 606, approved Panguimal v Echammal, 1 L R 22 Mad 305, followed Suddeshury Das v Janardan Sarkar, 1 L R 29 Cal 557 C C II N 530, referred to In the goods of GOVINDA CHANDRA BABAJEE (1913), 17 C. W. N. 1141

8. ——— Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s 161—Its applicability to probate proceedings—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), s 83 S 161 of the Limitation Act does not apply to the case of one who is not a defendant in a probate proceeding. Merely citing a person in a probate application does not make him a defendant. Under s 83 of the Probate and Administration Act the case must be contentious and the person cited must appear to oppose the grant before he becomes a defendant. The limitation laid down in Art 104 of the Limitation Act applies to the case of a defendant as understood by s 83 of the Probate and Administration Act. Bai Manabai v Manabai Kavasi, 1 L R 7 Bom 213, Tiluk Singh v Parsotam Prasad, 1 L R 22 Cal 924, Rahmat Karim v Abdul Karim, 1 L R 34 Cal 672, referred to SAROJA SUNDARI BASAK v. ADHOT CHARAN BASAK (1914)

I. L. R. 41 Cal. 819

9. ——— Joint Hindu family, Ancestral property—Will—Payment of full probate duty In a case where there was admittedly a joint Hindu family consisting of a father and a minor son, the father made a will in effect bequeathing the whole property to his minor son. It was not disputed that the property covered by the will was joint family property. The executors contended that the deceased testator had no beneficial interest in any part of the property devised, and therefore they were exempted from the payment of any probate duty. Held, that where the matter in question was probate, the parties claiming under the will could not go behind its terms, or claim any exemption whatsoever upon allegations utterly inconsistent not only with the fact of the will itself, but with the express statements made therein and that the executors must pay full probate duty upon the will. Collector of Kara v Chandal, 1 L R 22 Bom 161, distin- guished KASHINATH PANDURAMAN v GOWDARAYAN (1914) . . . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 245

PROBATE—contd

10. ——— Revocation—Will, validity of—Proof in common form—Knowledge—Acquiescence—Delay—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), s 50 It does not matter by what facts knowledge of the grant of probate and acquiescence in it are established, for neither knowledge nor acquiescence, nor lapse of time are of themselves operative as a bar to the proceeding which every person interested in the estate of the testator has a right to bring, if he was not made a party in the probate proceeding. His application must be bona fide and he must give some reasonable and true explanation of the delay. Hoffman v. Morris, 2 Phillim 230, Merryweather v Turner, 3 Curt 802, and Kunja Lal Choudhury v Kailash Chandra Choudhury, 11 C W N 1068, referred to MANORAMA CHOWDHURANI v SHIVA SUNDARI MOZENDAR (1914) . . . I. L. R. 42 Cal. 450

11. ——— Revocation—Probate or letters of administration, revocation of—Effect on alienation under revoked grant—Void or voidable grant—Mortgage to pay off debt due by estate, if subsists after revocation A purchaser of property sold under a grant of probate or letters of administration, subsequently revoked, in order to discharge a debt which the true executor or administrator was compellable to pay, acquires an indefeasible title. There has been a divergence of judicial opinion on the question of the effect of revocation of a probate or letters of administration, the effect being made to depend upon whether the grant was void or voidable. A view more favourable to the rights of a bona fide transferee for value without notice has been taken in recent decisions where grants have been treated as operative until revoked even when obtained by fraud and by suppression of the fact that the deceased had left a will. Dhendra Nath Dutt v Administrator General of Bengal, 1 L R 25 I A 109 s c, 1 L R 35 Cal 955 12 C II 802, referred to Where a co proprietor of the executor having satisfied the entire Government revenue obtained a decree for contribution against him, and in execution thereof a property belonging to the estate was sold at an inadequate price, and meanwhile the probate having been revoked administrators appointed in his place with the Court's sanction mortgaged the property to procure money which they applied in setting aside the sale under s 310A of the Civil Procedure Code of 1882, and subsequently on appeal by the executor, the latter was restored to office and the letters of administration were cancelled. Held, that the mortgage held good. SAILAJA PRASAD CHATTERJEE v JADU NATH BOSE (1914) . . . 19 C. W. N. 240

12. ——— Succession duty—Court Fees Act (VI of 1879), s 19 (c) as amended by Act XIII of 1875, s 19 (c)—Death of the first executor—Application for second probate—Duty payable, if any, on second probate When an executor, to whom probate has been granted, dies leaving a part of the testator's estate unadministered, and a new representative is appointed for the purpose of completing the administration there being no new succession and no new devolution of the estate, no fresh succession duty should be levied. What the legislature appears to have intended is that where the full fee, chargeable under the Court Fees Act on a probate, at the time it is granted, has been paid, no further fee shall be chargeable when a second grant is made in respect of that property as comprised in that estate. In the goods of Chaimera, 21 W R 246n. In the goods of Gaspar, 1 L R 3 Cal 733. In the goods of James, 18 W R 253. In the goods of Hailin or, (1903) 18 W R 257. In the goods of American, 15 W R 403. Webster v Spencer, 3 B & Ald 360. Cummins, 3 Jo 4 Lat 63. In the goods of Bell, 1 L R 3 P & D 247. Anon, 1 Freeman, 313. Anon, 1 Ch Cas 265 and Haskins v Brent, 1 Mst & Cr 104, referred to SWAKMA LAYA DEUT v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1917).

PROBATE—contd

1 L R. 43 Cal 623

13. ———— Executor not renouncing on citation must take out probate Letters of Administration can otherwise issue. An executor called upon by citation to accept, or renounce is strictly compellable if he accepts to take out probate within a limited time. If he does not do so, Letters of Administration with copy of the will annexed may be granted to any competent applicant. KATANJI SOBANJI v HAJI JINBAI (1916).

1 L R. 40 Bom. 656

14. ———— Granted after service of citation upon father of testator's childless widow who was appointed her guardian ad litem—Application for revocation by widow who received benefits under Will—Proceedings whether can be re-opened—Appointment of guardian ad litem—His consent whether necessary—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXXII, r 4, effect and applicability of—Citation whether summons—Object of citation—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881) r 83. Where the mother of the testator as executrix applied for probate, citation was issued upon the father of the testator's childless widow who was appointed guardian ad litem for the widow. The father refused to accept the citation and it was fixed on the door of his house. Probate was granted on the 13th March 1912. The widow came of age in 1913. On the 18th November 1914 a petition for revocation of probate was filed. The District Judge revoked the probate on the ground that the father of the widow entered no appearance. Held, that the widow for several years having received benefits under the Will the proceedings could not be re-opened. Kunja Lal v Kailash, 14 O W N 1069 (1916) and Monorama v Shiva, 19 O W N 365 (1916), referred to. Where a Will of which probate is sought affects the interests of a minor it may be expedient as a rule of practice to appoint a guardian ad litem for the minor. But it does not follow that every rule in O XXXII is thus made strictly and legally applicable. A citation for probate is not a summons to appear. The object of citations, whether general or special is to give those interested an opportunity of coming in if they so chose, and if contesting the application for probate. Until a caveat is entered, the proceedings are not contentious. S 83 of the Probate and Administration Act shows that up to that stage there is no "lit" and no suit. Until contest arises, O XXXII of the Civil Procedure Code would seem to have no application to the proceedings. The effect of r 4, O XXXII is that no person can be appointed a guardian ad litem without his express consent. The question whether the person appointed guardian ad litem consented to act will always be one of importance on the merits. PADMAHATYAK DAS v PADMA SUNDARI DAS . 24 C. W. N. 541

PROBATE—contd

15. ———— Compromise of probate proceedings, valid if of withdrawal of application for probate, effect of—whether second application for probate can be made. An application for probate cannot legally be disposed of by a compromise. The law imposes on the court itself the duty of determining whether the will is genuine or not. The provision in O XXXII, r 1, to the effect that if a plaintiff withdraws from a suit he shall be precluded from instituting a fresh suit in respect of the same subject matter does not apply to an application for probate. The circumstances of a probate case do not properly admit of the withdrawal of an application for probate by an executor. JITHUNATH NATH SARKAR JAGAT-PRASAD . 2 Pat L J. 535

16. ———— Will by two persons. Two persons can make a joint will. JITHUNATH GOKHLE v LALA HOTAL HAYAT (1920).

1 L R. 45 Bom. 987

17. ———— Executors—Executor, under a Hindu will carrying on family business—Duties incurred therein—Creditor's remedy against executor personally—Executor's right to indemnity—Executor, if sufficiently represents estate when his interest accrues to beneficiary's—Minor represented by nominee of party having adverse interest. An executor appointed under Act V of 1881, is in many respects in a different position from a Hindu widow succeeding to her husband's estate, a guardian of a minor, or a trustee of an idol. The executor who borrows money in the course of the administration for the purposes of the estate is personally responsible for the payment of such debts though he is entitled to be indemnified out of the estate for such borrowing if he shows it was reasonably and properly made. This principle has been accepted by the Calcutta High Court as applicable to Hindu executors. The principle applies equally to borrowings by the executors in conducting a family business which in India is regarded as a heritable asset, and the executor is personally responsible for them, subject to his right of indemnity against the estate upon proof that the borrowing was in all respects proper and for the benefit of the estate. Where certain bonds sued on were rejected as being insufficiently stamped: Held, that the plaintiffs were entitled to sue for the cancellation. Ordinarily speaking executors would fully represent the estate but not in a case where their personal interest as executors were diametrically opposed to those of the beneficiary and the estate. A minor represented as guardian by a nominee of a party whose interest is adverse to the minor's is not properly represented in the suit. SURESH CHANDRA DAS v GORISDA CHANDRA POY (1917).

1 L R. 45 Cal 538

21 C. W. N. 1043

18. ———— Delay—Delay in taking out probate of a will, if justified by circumstances and reasons—Probate applied for on necessity arising. Where a long time elapsed between the death of the testatrix and the date on which the will was put forward for probate, and the testatrix was an illiterate Hindu lady, the prior history of the case was worthy of consideration. When there were reasons for the delay in presenting the will,

PROBATE—contd.

although in such a case the Court was bound to scrutinize the evidence very carefully, there was no rule of the law of evidence that such a will was incapable of being proved Prabhu Prasad v. Hriday Nath Ghosal (1917) 22 C. W. N. 424

19 ———— Accounts—Probate and Administration (Act) of 1881, s. 59, clause 5 of the explanation and s. 98, sub s. (1)—Liability to submit accounts, if periodical—Incorrect accounts for period antecedent to the final grant of probate, if just cause for revoking the probate The statute contemplates the submission of one account only and the executors are under no liability to submit accounts periodically. Untrue accounts submitted for the period antecedent to the final grant of probate is not a just cause for revoking the probate under clause 5 of the explanation to s. 59 of the Probate and Administration Act CHANDRA KUMAR CHAKRAVARTI v. PRASAD KUMAR CHAKRAVARTI (1921)

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1051

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881).

See HINDU LAW—WILL

See LIMITATION ACT

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 175

See RECEIVER I. L. R. 37 Calc. 754

————— Sale by executor before probate—

See EXECUTOR, SALE BY

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 575

————— whether obtaining of Probate necessary before Executor can sue—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 175

————— ss. 2 and 4—

See EXECUTOR, SALE BY

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 575

See HINDU LAW—WILL

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 365

————— ss. 2, 51, 56, 87.

See PROBATE I. L. R. 37 Calc. 224

————— s. 3—

See WILL I. L. R. 43 Bom. 641

————— ss. 3, 51, 53—

See TRANSFER

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 842

————— s. 4—

See EXECUTOR, SALE BY

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 575

See HINDU LAW—WILL

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 369

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 175

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PROBATE

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 839

See SETTLEMENT BY A HINDU WOMAN

ON TRUSTS I. L. R. 40 Bom. 341

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—contd.

————— s. 5—*contd.

Chandernagore executed a mystic will according to the provisions of the French Code. On his death a general legatee applied to the Court at Chandernagore for having the will deposited according to the French law. After the usual proceedings were taken the French Court recognised the will and made it over to a Notary with power to give copies to the parties. The trustees under the will applied to the District Judge of Hughly for letters of administration with a copy of the will annexed. Held, that s. 5 of the Probate and Administration Act does not require that the will should have been deposited once and remain in Court for all time. The fact that the will was deposited in the French Court and the Court had before it the original will at the time it made a judicial pronouncement as to the validity of the will under the French law was a sufficient deposit within the meaning of s. 5. That the French Court having so provided, a copy authenticated by the notarial seal was a properly authenticated copy within the meaning of s. 5 SUSHILABALA DASGI v. ANUKUL CHANDRA CHOUDHURY (1918)

22 C. W. N. 713

————— ss. 5, 59, 62, 64 and 76—Probate valuation for—

• See PROBATE DUTI. 6 Pat. L. J. 411

————— ss. 13, 19, 31, 33 and 41—“Legal guardian”—Disqualified proprietor whether entitled to grant—Procedure when grant applied for by minor’s guardian—Statutory person powers of Court of Wards, whether manager of, is entitled to grant The words “legal guardian” in s. 31 of the Probate and Administration Act, 1881, mean a guardian appointed under the authority of law, i.e., a guardian appointed under the Guardian and Wards Act. S. 19 does not deprive a disqualified proprietor from obtaining a grant of letters of administration provided such proprietor is not a minor or a lunatic. Letters of administration cannot be granted to a minor but under s. 31 they may be granted to the legal guardian of minor if the minor is the sole residuary legatee, and under s. 33 they may be granted to the person to whom the care of the minor’s estate has been committed by competent authority if the minor is the sole universal or residuary legatee or a person who would be solely entitled to the estate of the intestate. When an application is made under s. 31 or 33 it must be made on behalf of the guardian and not on behalf of the minor through the guardian, and the guardian must in the first place apply to be appointed the minor’s guardian for the purpose of enabling him to obtain letters of administration for the use and benefit of the minor. Until he has obtained an order of the Court appointing him guardian he cannot be considered a legal guardian within the meaning of s. 31 or a person to whom the care of the minor’s estate has been committed by a competent authority within the meaning of s. 33. Although the granting of letters of administration is discretionary the discretion must be exercised in accordance with rules formulated and acted upon in the courts for many years. The main object of a grant being the protection and benefit of the estate the court has a discretion to refuse the grant to the person having the largest interest if it considers that in ————— s. 5—“Deposited in Court,” meaning of—Will proved in French Court and kept with Notary if deposit within the meaning of section—Copy given by Notary, if authenticated copy within the meaning of section. A French subject of ss. 13, 18, 31, 33 and 41—contd.

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—contd.

his hands the estate will suffer irretrievable loss and damage but the court is not entitled to pass over a person entitled to the grant on the ground that it is more satisfactory to make the grant to someone else. When dealing with a statutory person such as the manager of the Court of Wards it is necessary to examine the statute to see what powers he can properly exercise under the statute and to regard that as impliedly prohibited which is not conferred on him expressly or by necessary implication. Although the manager of the Court of Wards has wide powers of management over the estate of a disqualified proprietor there is nothing in the Act which entitles him as such manager, and by virtue of his office to apply for letters of administration to the estate of a deceased person in which the disqualified proprietor has a larger interest. BHAGWATI KUKER v. BHATERIA RAMAKRISHN KUKER 5 Pat. L. J. 347

s. 18—

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION
I L. R. 47 Calo. 838

s. 19—

See s. 13 5 Pat. L. J. 857

ss. 19 and 24—

See WILL.
18 C. W. N. 527

s. 23—Grant of Letters of Administration—Title to property if Court would go into, in granting administration—Practice. It is not the practice of the Court in its Testamentary and intestate jurisdiction to go into questions of title in an application for the grant of letters of administration. The Court would not frame issues or go into evidence to decide as to who is entitled to the property. Letters of administration were ordered to be issued to the husband in respect of his deceased wife's estate upon furnishing security upon allegation in the husband's petition that part of such estate was jeastuka shudhan, although it was denied by his wife's brother who entered caveat, but did not apply for letters of administration himself. In the goods of Rishubhar Hazam, 3 C. W. N. 423, Raghunath Nasser v. Musal Pate Koor, 6 C. W. N. 345, and Obayiram v. Dokatram I L. R. 23 Bom. 644 relied on. NAHAI KANTA CHATTERJEE v. ANANTH MOHUNJEE (1912) 17 C. W. N. 613

ss. 23, 64, 69, 70 and 73—

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION
5 Pat. L. J. 107

ss. 26, 64.

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION
14 C. W. N. 463

ss. 31, 33 and 25—

See s. 13 5 Pat. L. J. 847

s. 34—Wrongful alienation of deceased estate, apprehended by executor—Temporary injunction, application for, if dies—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XXXIX, r. 1, 7—Administrator pendente lite, appointment of proper course—Injunction when may be granted—English practice. A probate proceeding is not a suit in which there is property in dispute as contemplated by r. 1 of O XXXIX of the Civil Procedure Code, as the

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—contd.

s. 34 contd.

only question in controversy in such a proceeding is that of representation of the estate of the deceased and no question of title thereto, i.e., the title of the deceased or of the conflicting titles alleged by the parties to the proceeding can be investigated by the court. But the Court of Probate is not therefore incompetent to grant a temporary injunction in any circumstances. The proper procedure to follow in cases of this description is for the aggrieved party to apply to the Court for the appointment of an administrator pendente lite. When such an application has been made the Court may, in case of necessity, grant a temporary injunction either in exercise of its inherent power or under r. 7 of O XXXIX of the Civil Procedure Code. English practice referred to and contrasted MIRZA HAJIAB DUTT v. CHAMATKARINI DEVI (1914) 18 C. W. N. 205

s. 37—Mohunt of math—Death—

Application by claimant to office for letters of administration—Trust estate—Fiduciary—Shakti and idol, relation of. A mohunt is not the owner of the property of the math and on his death a person claiming to be his successor in office cannot apply under Act V of 1881 for letters of administration in respect of the math property. s. 37 of the Act is intended to apply only to property in which the deceased person had ownership so as to constitute it a portion of his estate although he held it in trust. Jagjit Singh v. Jagannath Jivraj Gupta, I L. R. 12 Calo. 375 distinguished. MORHUT JIA LAL GIR v. MORHUT JAGA MORHUT GIR (1908) 16 C. W. N. 793

s. 41—This section does not apply where there is no want of persons entitled to letters of administration. It does not empower the court to make a merely arbitrary selection from among persons contending for the grant. In a proper case, but not merely by virtue of his office, a nominee of the Court of Wards may come within the phrase 'some person' within the meaning of s. 41. BHAGWATI KUKER v. BHATERIA RAMAKRISHN KUKER 5 Pat. L. J. 347

s. 50—

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION
3 Pat. L. J. 415
I L. R. 40 Calo. 50
See PROBATE I L. R. 37 Calo. 287
I L. R. 43 Calo. 480
I L. R. 48 Calo. 1551

Revocation of grant—'Just cause,' mal-administration of—Quarrels between co-administrators making grant useless and inoperative, if ground for annulment. Mal-administration is not on less s. 50 Expl. (4) of the Probate and Administration Act a just cause for revocation of probate. Ananda Jivraj v. Kalirishna, I L. R. 24 Calo. 90, followed. The words 'become useless and inoperative' in s. 50 Expl. (4), of the Act imply the discovery of something which if known at the date of the grant would have been a ground for refusing it, e.g., the discovery of a later will or codicil or a subsequent discovery that the will was forged or that the alleged testator was still living. Raj Gopandhar Triak v. Kalwar I L. R. 26 Bom. 792, approved. One of two joint administrators applied for the revocation of

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—cont L

s. 50—contd

the grant to the other on the ground that in consequence of quarrels between them it had become impossible to carry on the administration and the grant had in this way become inoperative and useless Held, that this was no ground for revoking the grant GOVU CHANDRA DAS v SARAT SUNDARI DASIA (1912) . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 50

18 C. W. N 883

Grant, revocation of—Creditor's rights to contest Will propounded in fraud of creditors—Order holding applicant his right, if appealable—Interlocutory order Where eight years after the death of B one of his sons L obtained letters of administration with a copy annexed of an alleged will left by B which if genuine, would deprive another son S who had meanwhile become heavily involved in debt, of a very large share of his inheritance Held, that the creditors of S were entitled to apply for revocation of the will, their application being based on the ground that the probate had been obtained in fraud of creditors. Shesha Azim v Chandra Nath Namdas, 8 C W N 743, Simons Singh Deo v Umanath Moherjee, 1 L R 10 Calc. 29, Kishan Das v Satyendra Nath Dutt, 1 L R 28 Calc. 441 referred to Semle No appeal lay from an order of the trial judge holding that the creditors had locus standi to contest the will, the same being merely interlocutory Shesha Azim v Chandra Nath Namdas, 8 C W N 743, Ahiram Das v Gopal Das, 1 L R 17 Calc. 48 referred to LAKSHI NARAYN SHAW v MULTAN CHAND DAGA (1912)

16 C. W. N 1099

Civil Procedure Code (1908), ss 114 and 151—Letters of Administration—Cancellation of order—Procedure A Court which has once granted letters of administration cannot revoke them without notice to the person in whose favour they have been granted Where letters of administration have been granted ex parte and an application is made to revoke them, it is open to the court concerned to proceed either under s 114 or s 151 of the Code of Civil Procedure or under s 50 of the Probate and Administration Act (1881) PARMAN v BOHRA NEK RAM (1915)

I. L. R. 37 All. 380

Revocation, application for—Question of genuineness of will if arises—Just cause—Fraudulent concealment from Court by person cited of transfer of his interests—Assignee not cited in consequence—Assignee if may apply for revocation, when assignment subsequent to testator's death No question of the genuineness of the will arises for consideration till the Court has decided that the probate must be revoked on one or more of the grounds specified in s 50 of the Probate and Administration Act. The only matter for consideration upon an application for revocation of probate is whether the applicants have made out a just cause for revocation. The application could not be thrown out at this stage on the ground that the evidence adduced by the applicant was not sufficient to throw doubt upon the genuineness of the will. A person interested by assignment in the estate of the deceased may, where a will has been set up and proved at variance with his interests, apply for revocation of the probate of the will so set up. He need not show that he had an interest in the estate of the deceased

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—contd

s. 50—contd

at the time of his death. An interest acquired subsequently by purchase of a part of the estate is sufficient. Where A having applied for probate of a will, caused citation to be issued on B his father who but for the will would inherit a portion of the estate, but the notice was served on B a week after B had assigned his interests to C, but neither B nor A, who presumably knew of the transfer by B, brought the fact of the assignment to the Court's notice, and probate was granted without the assignee getting any notice of the proceedings Held, that the proceeding, if not defective in substance was bad because the grant was obtained fraudulently by making a false suggestion or by concealing from the Court some thing material to the case MOEHADAYISI DASSI v KARNADHAN MANDAL (1914)

19 C. W. N. 1108

Application for rescission of grant of probate—Explanation, cl 4, circumstances in which a grant of probate is to be deemed to have become useless and inoperative—cl 5 explaining inventory and accounts significance of the expression—Period during which executor entitled to continue in possession—s 98 (1), executor if liable to submit accounts periodically—Necessity of giving full and specific details in objections to executor's inventory and accounts An application under sec 50 of the Probate and Administration Act for evocation of a probate was made on the allegations, firstly that the grant had become useless and inoperative through circumstances, and secondly, that the persons to whom the grant had been made had wilfully omitted to exhibit an inventory and accounts in accordance with the provisions of Chap VII of the Probate Act, and had further exhibited an inventory and accounts which were untrue in material respects Held—That so long as the person entitled to the estate has not taken it out of the possession of the executors, they are entitled to continue in occupation of the estate Bombay Burma Trading Corporation, Ltd v Frederick York Smith L. R. 211 A 139 s. c. 1 L R 19 Bom. 1 at p 9 (1894) referred to That as under the terms of the will there were duties still to be performed by the executors it could not be maintained that the grant had become inoperative through circumstances Taran Singh v Ramratan Tewari 1 L R 31 Calc. 89 1903 and Sankarnath v Buddulata, 23 C L J 261 (1918), distinguished Held, further—That the statute contemplates the submission of one inventory and one account and not periodical accounts. What is contemplated is that an account should be filed within one year from the grant showing the assets which have come to the hands of the executor or administrator and the manner in which such assets have been applied or disposed of. The fact that time has been extended by the Court does not enlarge the scope of the account. The account of the estate which is required to be exhibited, whether it is exhibited within a year or there after, is the account contemplated by the second paragraph of sub sec 1 of sec 98 Mohesh v Bawa Nath, 1 L R. 25 Calc. 200 s. c. 7 C W N 646 (1897) and Sarat Sundari v Uma Prasad 1 L R 31 Calc. 623 s. c. 8 C W N 578 (1904), followed It is essential that objections to the inventory and the accounts should specifically state what items in the inventory and in the accounts are untrue and in what respects the items challenged are untrue; it is not enough to make vague allegations that the inventory and the accounts are untrue. CHANDRA KUMAR CHAKRAVORTI v. PROBUNNA KUMAR CHAKRAVARTI 25 C. W. N. 877

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—contd

s. 57—contd.

—s. 50 (4), 78—Application by beneficiaries for fresh securities to be furnished by executors—Sureties insolvent and heavily indebted—Fresh securities being not given, grant of probate cancelled and probate ordered to be returned for cancellation—Whether orders valid—Inherent power Upon an application by the beneficiaries, the District Judge, after notice to all the parties concerned, held an enquiry and after recording that the security given by the executors was no longer sufficient inasmuch as one of the sureties had become bankrupt and the other had heavily mortgaged his properties ordered the executors to furnish fresh security. The executors having failed to furnish fresh security the Court ordered the executors to return the probate for cancellation. Held, that both orders were within the competence of the Court and were properly made. The circumstances which make the grant useless and inoperative within cl (4) of s. 50 of the Probate and Administration Act and justify revocation may have come into existence after the original grant was made. Held, that apart from s. 50 of the Probate and Administration Act, the grant having been made subject to the condition of furnishing proper security, the Court had inherent power to enforce obedience to its direction and on failure to withdraw the grant. SURENDRANATH PRAMANIK v. AMRIT LAL PAL (1919) 23 C. W. N. 763

—s. 50, 62, 69—Hindu reversioner if to be specially cited in probate proceeding—If an Court misled by wrong information refrained from issuing special citation, proceeding defective in substance—Person not party, when bound—Full knowledge of proceeding and capacity to intervene to be proved—Onus of proof Although a reversioner under the Hindu Law has no present alienable interest in the property left by the deceased, he is substantially interested in the protection or devolution of the estate and as such is entitled to appear and be heard in a probate proceeding. Although omission in an application under s. 62 of the Probate and Administration Act to set out the names and residences of the family or other relatives of the deceased may not affect the validity of the proceeding, where the applicant makes an incorrect statement on these points and the Court being misled thereby does not direct the issue of special citation in the exercise of its discretion under s. 69, the proceeding to obtain probate is defective in substance within the meaning of the first clause of the Explanation to s. 50 of the Act. The rule that a person is bound by probate proceedings to which he is no party and of which he has received no notice from Court depends upon proof of his full knowledge of the proceeding and his capacity to make himself a party; and the burden of proof is on the person who alleges it. It is not necessary for the party who applies for revocation to prove not only that no special citation was served

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—contd

ss. 50, 62, 69—contd

on him but also that he had no knowledge of the proceedings. Premchand Das v. Surendra Nath Baha, 9 C. W. N. 199, followed. SYAMA CHAKRAVARTY v. PRATULLA SUNDARI GUTTA (1915) 19 C. W. N. 833

—s. 50, 69—Letters of Administration to the estate of Hindu widow—Locus standi to apply for revocation of person denying property left to his testatrix's stridhan When letters of administration were granted in respect of the will of a Hindu widow purporting to convey her stridhan property, a petitioner for revocation who had no interest in the estate of the deceased but who on the other hand alleged that she had no stridhan property but that what property she had belonged to the joint family of which she was a member, was not competent to make the application, not being "a person having an interest in the estate of the deceased" within s. 69 of the Probate and Administration Act. ABHIRAM DAS v. GOPAL DAS, 1 L. R. 17 Cal. 43 followed. SRIGONISH PERNAS v. LALBHAI KOER (1909) 14 C. W. N. 119

—s. 50 and 78—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), ss. 50, 78—Change of circumstances necessitating a second bond with sureties—Power of Court to call for a second bond The Court of Probate is competent to require a new bond or additional security where the interest of the estate requires it and specially where some new situation arises such as an unforeseen increase of assets or the unexpected break down of one or both sureties. If an order made in this behalf is not carried out, the Court may cancel the original grant. Raj Narain Moolraj v. Fulkaram Debi, 1 L. R. 29 Cal. 63 and in the goods of Love day, (1900) P. 141, Sudhaya Chetty v. Peggannall, 1 L. R. 11 Cal. 161, Kandham Lal v. Manji, 1 L. R. 11 Cal. 58, in the matter of Arthur Knight, 1 L. R. 33 Mad. 373 in the goods of Stark, 1 R. 1 P. & D. 76, in the goods of Kanai Lal Khan, 13 C. W. N. 330, referred to. Giribala Datta v. Bepoy Krishna Haldar, 1 L. R. 31 Cal. 688, distinguished. SURENDRANATH PRAMANIK v. AMRITA LAL PAL CHATTERJI (1919) 1 L. R. 47 Cal. 115

—s. 51—
See PROBATE 1 L. R. 37 Cal. 224

—ss. 51 and 53—
See TRAVENEN 1 L. R. 42 Cal. 842

—s. 62—
See PROBATE 14 C. W. N. 1058

—s. 65—
See INTERROGATORIES 1 L. R. 41 Cal. 301

See PROBATE 2 Pat. L. J. 535

—s. 66—
See PROBATE 1 L. R. 37 Cal. 224

—s. 69—
See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, ss. 40 and 44 1 L. R. 23 Bom. 427

See PROBATE

—ss. 50 and 62—
See PROBATE DIT 6 Pat. L. J. 411

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—contd.

s. 62—

See s. 50 . . . 19 C. W. N. 882

ss. 62, 64 and 78—

See PROBATE VALUATION FOR
I. L. R. 43 All. 411

s. 64—

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION

14 C. W. N. 463

5 Pat. L. J. 107

s. 69—

See s. 50 . . . 14 C. W. N. 119

19 C. W. N. 882

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.

5 Pat. L. J. 107

ss. 70 and 73—

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION

5 Pat. L. J. 107

s. 78—

See s. 50 . . . 23 C. W. N. 763

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 115

ss. 78, 79, 86—

See ADMINISTRATION BOND.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 563

ss. 79, 80—Administration bond—Assignee not enforcing bond—Second assignment of valid—Order if appealable An administration bond can be assigned by the District Judge upon conditions, under s. 79 of the Probate and Administration Act. But there is no provision in the law authorising the District Judge to assign it again while the first assignment is still in force. Where the first assignee having come to terms with the administrator, other persons interested in the estate applied to have the bond transferred to them and the application was granted. Held, that no appeal lay from the order, but the order being without jurisdiction could be set aside in revision. Brigo Nath Pal v Dasmoni Das, 2 C. L. R. 539. Abhiram Das v Gopal Dass, I L. R. 17 Calc. 48, followed. Umacharn v Muktaleshi, I L. R. 23 Cal. 149, commented on. SHEIKH KALIMUDDIN v MUHAMMAD MAHUMI (1912)

16 C. W. N. 662

s. 81—Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 259—Will—Probate—Caveator—Interest possessed by the caveator The provision of s. 81 of the Probate and Administration Act, 1881 (which correspond with those of s. 259 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865), enact that the interest which entitles a person to put in a caveat must be an interest in the estate of the deceased person, that is, there should be no dispute whatever as to the title of the deceased to the estate, but that the person who wishes to come in as the caveator must show some interest in the estate derived from the deceased by inheritance or other wise. Abhiram Das v Gopal Dass, I L. R. 17 Calc. 48, followed. PIROJSHAH BHUKAJI v PRATAPJI MERWANJI (1910) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 459

s. 82—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 365

ss. 82 and 92—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 365

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—contd.

s. 83—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 41

I. L. R. 23 Bom. 309

See PLEADER'S FEE

I L. R. 41 Calc. 637

See PROBATE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 819

See WILL

14 C. W. N. 924

Probate case—Procedure S. 83 of the Probate and Administration Act read with O. XXIII, r. 3, Civil Procedure Code, merely means that in a probate case the Civil Procedure Code so far as possible determines the procedure of the Court. These sections nowhere say that it is competent to the Court to allow the parties to divide the testator's property without proving the will. Kunja Lal Choudhury v Karish Chandra Choudhury, 14 C. B. 2, 1063, and Saroda Kanta Dass v Gobinda Mohan Dass, 12 C. L. J. 91, referred to. There can be no dismissal of a probate case in accordance with the terms of a petition of compromise between the propounder and objector. The main issue in such a case is whether or not the will has been proved and the only effect of a compromise is to reduce a contentious proceeding into one which is not contentious, but this does not absolve the Court from the task of their granting probate or refusing it. If a compromise has been made and the objector withdraws from the contest, the Court will grant probate in common form, but the Court cannot dismiss the case altogether and embody the terms of the compromise as if the decree was one capable of execution by him. JANAKBATI THAKUR RAY v GAJANAND (1916) . 20 C. W. N. 886

1 Pat. L. J. 377

s. 86—

See ADMINISTRATION BOND

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 563

ss. 86, 90—Administrator's application to sell, granted against opposition—Appeal—Order if appealable as decree or irrespective of whether order decree or not—Interlocutory orders under the Act, if appealable A Hindu widow who had obtained Letters of Administration to the estate of her deceased husband applied under s. 90 of the Probate and Administration Act for permission to sell the dwelling house for the purpose of satisfying debts. The application which was opposed by the reversioner having been granted, the latter appealed. Held, per D. CHATTERJEE, J., that the order was a decree as defined in the Civil Procedure Code and was appealable as such. Quere, Whether s. 86 of the Probate and Administration Act in making orders of the Probate Court "appealable under the rules contained in the Civil Procedure Code" means only that the procedure in such appeals would be as in appeals under the Civil Procedure Code. Per BEACH CROFT, J.—An appeal lay under the terms of s. 86 of the Probate and Administration Act irrespective of whether the order was a decree or not. SARAT CHANDRA PAL v BENODI KUMARI DAS (1915) . . . 20 C. W. N. 28

s. 87—

See PROBATE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 224

s. 89—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, O. XXII.

r. 1

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 357

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—contd

s. 89—contd

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE-EMPTION

I L. R. 38 Bom. 144

I L. R. 41 Bom. 636

See MALICIOUS PROSECUTION

4 Pat. L. J. 676

See PENAL CODE, s. 322

I L. R. 41 Mad. 417

ss. 304-323

L. L. R. 1 Lah. 27

See also appoint ed sheba to—Heirs of such Shebans if liable to render accounts de bonis non. S by will appointed A and B his executors as well as Shebans of an idol in whose favour the will created a trust in respect of the whole of his properties. S left a widow and a daughter. The daughter obtained administration de bonis non of the estate of S and brought a suit against the heirs of A for delivery to her of the Debutter estate and for accounts. Held that the suit was misconceived. As soon as debts, legacies and funeral expenses were paid the executors would hold the property upon the trusts of the Will and there would be no property administered by the executors which would pass to any administratrix de bonis non appointed by the Probate Court. If the property became trust property it was not for the administrator to ask for accounts and the administratrix de bonis non could not maintain a suit of this nature. GOVIND CHANDRA DAS v. SEKHARI MOHAMMAD.

25 C. W. N. 332

s. 90—

See s. 86

20 C. W. N. 23

See COMPROMISE DECREE

14 C. W. N. 451

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION

I L. R. 43 Calc. 1118

Based on of Court obtained in respect of principal but not of interest—Stipulation as to interest, if binding—Post de interest. s. 90 of the Probate and Administration Act which authorises an administrator to grant a mortgage of immovable property vested in him only with the previous permission of the Probate Court implies that sanction of the Court should be taken or all the essential elements of the mortgage transaction including the provision for payment of interest. Where the principal amount only was mentioned in the application for sanction, but in the mortgage actually executed the administrators stipulated to pay compound interest at 30 per cent. per annum with half yearly rests, the Court reduced it to simple interest at 9 per cent. per annum, and it was directed that the interest should be added to the mortgage money as was done in Chajmal v. Dufi Bhatnagar, L. R. 22 I A 192; s. c. I L. R. 17 All. 511. SATYAJIT PRASAD CHATTERJEE v. JADU NATH BOSH (1914).

18 C. W. N. 210

Power of Hindu widow

He rose to sell as administratrix if restricted—Order of Judge granting her leave to sell, if may be collaterally attacked in Land Acquisition proceedings. There is nothing in the Probate and Administration Act which would justify a differentiation between the powers of an administratrix who happens also to be a Hindu widow and heiress

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V OF 1881)—contd

s. 90—contd

of her husband and those of any other administrator under the Act. Kamakhya Nath v. Hari Churn, I L. R. 26 Cal. 607, followed. The validity of an order by a District Judge granting leave to an administrator to sell property cannot be challenged collaterally in Land Acquisition proceedings. Quare: Whether the order can be so challenged on the ground of fraud. CHAND LAL HALDAR v. MUKSHADA DEBI (1919).

23 C. W. N. 652

s. 92—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I L. R. 33 Mad. 265

s. 98—

See GOVTY BILL AMENDMENT ACT, 1899,

s. 191f

I L. R. 41 Calc. 556

s. 112—

See LEGACY

I L. R. 30 Bom. 111

PROBATE DUTY.

See CLERGY FEES ACT 1870.

2 Pat. L. J. 611

Based on of estate for Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881) ss. 5, 59, 62, 64 and 76—Court fees Act (VII of 1870) Sch. 1, Art. 11 Sch. 111. Probate duty is calculated on the value of the estate at time of application for Probate or Administration and not at the date of the death of the Testator or intestate and for purposes of Court fees the present value is the basis of reckoning and not possible future value. THE DEPUTY COMMISSIONER OF SIMLA v. JAGADISH CHANDRA DEO BHABAL DEB.

6 Pat. L. J. 411

PROBATE PROCEEDINGS.

See INTERROGATORIES.

I L. R. 43 Calc. 300

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION

3 Pat. L. J. 415

See FLEADER'S FEES

I L. R. 41 Calc. 637

See PROBATE.

Issue of citations on infant—Guardian of infant if must consent to appointment—Proof of consent—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O. XXXII, r. 4—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881) s. 59. O. XXXII, r. 4, of the Civil Procedure Code which provides that no person shall without his consent be appointed guardian ad litem of a minor does not apply to probate proceedings which have not arrived at the contentious stage. Nevertheless, when citation is issued upon an infant, it is necessary for the protection of the interest of the infant that the Court should see that the person appointed guardian to receive such citation on behalf of the infant has consented to accept the appointment and take upon himself the onus that by virtue of the appointment falls upon him on behalf of the infant, and it is for the person who got the guardian appointed to show the Court that that person accepted the appointment and took upon himself the burden thereof. SACHINDRO NARAYAN SARKAR v. HIRSHOMYEE DASGI.

24 C. W. N. 533

PROCEDURE.

- See* ADMINISTRATION SUIT
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 890
- See* APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL
- See* ARBITRATION I. L. R. 33 All. 743
- See* CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1852—
ss 373, 375 I. L. R. 36 All. 172
- See* CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1909—
s 4. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 718
s 47 I. L. R. 35 All. 243
ss 47, 52 I. L. R. 39 All. 47
s 92 I. L. R. 35 All. 98
s 98 I. L. R. 43 Bom. 493
s. 103, O ALI, ss 23 AND 24. I. L. R. 43 All. 377
s 151, O IA, R 13 I. L. R. 39 All. 8
O I, R 3, O XXIII, R 1 I. L. R. 40 All. 7
O II, R 2, O XXIV, R 14 I. L. R. 36 All. 264
R 2 I. L. R. 37 All. 646
O V, RR 1 AND 2, O IX, R 13 I. L. R. 35 All. 163
O VI
O IX, RR 3, G I. L. R. 40 All. 590
R 8 I. L. R. 35 All. 105
RR 8 AND 9, O XXII, RR 3 9 I. L. R. 35 All. 331
R 13; O XXVI, R 3 I. L. R. 39 All. 143
O XI, R 21 I. L. R. 38 All. 5
O XVII, R 3, O IX, R 4 I. L. R. 34 All. 123
I. L. R. 41 All. 663
O XXI, R 23 I. L. R. 34 All. 612
RR 92, 93 I. L. R. 39 All. 114
O XXIV, R 8 I. L. R. 39 All. 396
O ALI, R 21 I. L. R. 39 All. 838
R 33 I. L. R. 34 All. 32
SCH. II, PARA 5 I. L. R. 41 All. 573
- See* COMPROMISE I. L. R. 43 Calc. 469
- See* CONTEMPT OF COURT I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1169
- See* CRIMINAL COURT I. L. R. 43 All. 283
- See* CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—
ss 107 AND 145 I. L. R. 34 All. 449
I. L. R. 36 All. 143
ss 110 AND 123 I. L. R. 40 All. 29
s 125 I. L. R. 35 All. 103
s 133 I. L. R. 37 All. 26
ss. 157, 159 AND 476 I. L. R. 32 All. 80
ss 105, 537 I. L. R. 37 All. 223
s 239 I. L. R. 28 All. 311

PROCEDURE—contd

- ss. 244, 540 I. L. R. 36 All. 13
s 250 I. L. R. 34 All. 354
ss 250, 537 I. L. R. 36 All. 132
s 282 I. L. R. 36 All. 491
s 339 I. L. R. 37 All. 331
I. L. R. 39 All. 306
s 340 I. L. R. 40 All. 307
s 476 I. L. R. 43 All. 180
s 477 I. L. R. 41 All. 197
s 478 I. L. R. 40 All. 32
- See* DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT (IV OF 1915),
s 2 I. L. R. 41 All. 164
- See* EXCISE I. L. R. 41 Calc. 694
- See* EXECUTION OF DECREE
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1072
I. L. R. 35 All. 119
- See* FALSE INFORMATION
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 173
- See* GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII
OF 1890), ss 5 TO 20, CHAP. II
I. L. R. 36 All. 282
- See* HABEAS CORPUS
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 76, 459
- See* INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 47 Calc. 56
- See* LAND ACQUISITION ACT (I OF 1894)—
s 9 I. L. R. 39 All. 534
ss 9, 18 AND 20 I. L. R. 37 All. 69
- See* LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 838
- See* LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s 5
I. L. R. 36 All. 235
- See* LUNACY ACT (IV OF 1912)
I. L. R. 43 All. 459
- See* MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 351
- See* MINOR I. L. R. 32 All. 237
- See* OFFENCE COMMITTED ON THE HIGH SEAS I. L. R. 39 Calc. 437
- See* PARTIES I. L. R. 43 Calc. 43
- See* PARTITION, SUIT FOR
I. L. R. 33 Calc. 631
- See* PENAL CODE—
ss 182, 211 I. L. R. 34 All. 522
s 494 I. L. R. 40 All. 613
I. L. R. 32 All. 78
- See* PRACTICE—
See PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT,
(V OF 1931), s 5 I. L. R. 37 All. 330
- See* PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)—
ss 13 (3), 47 I. L. R. 36 All. 65
ss. 18, 36 AND 47 I. L. R. 37 All. 65
ss 22, 26, 46 I. L. R. 38 All. 8
s 36 I. L. R. 39 All. 331
- See* PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
ACT (IX OF 1887) s 17
I. L. R. 38 All. 425

PROCEDURE—contd

See RATEABLE DISTRIBUTION

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI of 1908),

ss 31, 32, 52, 87

I. L. R. 35 All. 34

See REVIEW I. L. R. 45 Calc. 60

See PEVINO I. L. R. 43 Calc. 903

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 714

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 818

14 C W N 895

See U P COURT OF WARDS ACT (III of 1890) ss 16 and 20

I. L. R. 37 All. 585

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT 1900—

ss 87, 152 I. L. R. 36 All. 329

s 167 I. L. R. 35 All. 450

See WASTE LANDS ACT, 1813, s 18

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 328

See WORKMEN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT (XIII of 1859) I. L. R. 35 All. 61

— in partition Suit.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE ss 110 and 112 I. L. R. 42 All. 648

— Security for good behaviour—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 110 and 112 I. L. R. 43 All. 648

— When accused believed of unsound mind—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss. 464 and 465 I. L. R. 42 All. 137

— When question at issue in Criminal proceedings is also sub-judice in a Civil case—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 476 I. L. R. 43 All. 180

1. ——— Right to set aside consent decree.—A consent decree once duly obtained cannot be set aside by a rule, but if it is sought to impeach it upon grounds of fraud that must be done in a regular suit. The only alternative when the law allows is an application for review of judgment. PATNABAI v. SONBARI (1911)

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 77

2. ——— Appeal to High Court—Jurisdiction—Record of rights—Standard of Measurement—Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1899), s 531—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1855), s 109A, sub-s (3) The right of appeal to the High Court given by a 109A sub-s (3), of the Bengal Tenancy Act 1855, is subject to s. 531 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882 and can only be exercised upon the grounds therein mentioned. The High Court has therefore no jurisdiction under the sub-section to set aside the decree of a District Judge upon the ground that he had applied the wrong standard of measurement to land of which the rent was in question. NARAYAN CHANDRA PAL v. SURENDR (1918)

I. L. R. 45 I. A. 181

3. ——— Appeal—Security Bond for Decree Holder—Duration of Liability—Obligor not named in Bond—Enforcement—Civil Procedure Code (XIV of 1899), s 538—Civil Procedure Code

PROCEDURE—contd

(V of 1908) ss 47, 144 An appeal to the Court of the Judicial Commissioner having been preferred against a decree of the Subordinate Judge for possession, the Judge ordered, under s. 515 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, that the successful plaintiff should be let into possession in execution of the decree upon furnishing security so that any order made by the said Appellate Court might be made binding upon the security for the sum secured. The present appellants entered into a bond meeting the order and hypothecating property to secure the sum provided; no obligee was named in the bond. The Appellate Court in the first instance affirmed the decree, but, as the result of a successful appeal to the Privy Council, they subsequently dismissed the suit save as to certain villages and directed the Subordinate Judge to ascertain the meane profits due to the defendants. Upon an application made to the Subordinate Judge in 1909 the appellants being made parties, he made a decree finding the amount of the meane profits and declaring the liability of the appellants upon the bond to the amount secured. Held, that the liability upon the bond (which was not a personal liability) did not terminate upon the first order of the Appellate Court, but extended to the final determination and that the Subordinate Judge had jurisdiction to declare the appellants' liability upon the bond. RAGHUBAR SINGH v. JAI INDRA BAHADUR SINGH (1919)

L. R. 46 I. A. 228

4. ——— Failure to comply with order for security for costs—Application for leave to appeal in forma pauperis—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XLI, r 10 The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and the rules therein contained apply to proceedings in the High Court at Calcutta under the Letters Patent save so far as the Code expressly provides to the contrary. The appellant appealed to the High Court at Calcutta under s. 15 of the Letters Patent of 1865 against the rejection by the Court in its original civil jurisdiction of a petition under the Probate and Administration Act (V of 1831). She failed to comply with an order that she should give security for costs within two months, and subsequently applied for leave to continue the appeal in forma pauperis. The High Court, acting under O XLI, r 10 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 dismissed the application and the appeal. That rule provides that upon a failure to comply with an order for security of costs the Court 'shall dismiss the appeal'. Held, that O XLI, r 10, applied to the appeal, and that under that rule the High Court was bound to dismiss the application and the appeal for even if the inherent power declared by s. 151 to make 'such orders as may be necessary for the ends of justice' could be exercised in the face of the imperative words of the rule, the circumstances did not admit of an exercise of that inherent power. Decision of the High Court affirmed. SASTRI TRAKURAY v. SAVI (1921)

L. R. 43 I. A. 78

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 431

5. ——— Appeal to Privy Council—Certificate of High Court—Code of Civil Procedure (V of 1908), ss 109 (c), O XLY, r 3—Madras Estates Land Act (Madras Act of 1908), ss 52, sub sec. (3)—Pattali decreed under earlier Act—Fos judicata—Special leave to appeal refused. A certificate granted by a High Court upon a petition under O XLY, r 3, Code of Civil PROCEDURE—concl.

Procedure, for leave to appeal to the Privy Council should show clearly whether it is intended to certify merely that the case falls within s. 110 of the Code or that it falls within s. 109 (c) and s. 110 as a case otherwise fit for appeal. Upon a petition under O. XLV, r. 3, for leave to appeal from a decree of the High Court in a suit for the recovery of Rs. 4,005 rent, the High Court certified 'that as regards the subject matter and the nature of the questions involved the case fulfils the requirements of ss. 109 and 110 of the Code of Civil Procedure and that the case is a fit one for appeal to His Majesty in Council' Held, that the appeal could not be maintained, since the value of the subject matter was under Rs. 10,000, and there was nothing in the certificate to show that the discretion conferred on the High Court by section 109 (c) was invoked or exercised. Held, further, that a contention that the provision in s. 52, sub s. 3 of the Madras Estates Land Act, 1908, for the remaining in force of decreed puttahs and muchalkas referred only to puttahs and muchalkas decreed under that Act, was not of sufficient weight to justify their Lordships in granting special leave to appeal. RADHAKRISHNA AYYAR v SWAMINATHA AYYAR (1921) L. R. 48 I. A. 31 I. L. R. 44 Mad. 293

8. ——— Amendment of Plaint—New Case
—Civil Procedure Code (V of 1908), s. 153, O VI, r. 17—Limitation—Breach of Contract—Contract to sell three out of twelve sites to be granted—Time for performance—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sec. 1, Art. 115. The appellant contracted in 1903 to sell to the respondent three out of twelve sites for oil wells which she expected to be allotted to her by Government for that year. In 1904, four sites were allotted for 1903, but the appellant did not obtain the whole twelve till 1912. The respondent in 1904 or 1905 after the four sites were allotted asked the appellant to transfer three to him but she refused; no sites were transferred to him. In 1913 the appellant sued the respondent for specific performance of a verbal agreement which he alleged that the appellant had made in 1912 in reference to the 1903 contract to transfer to him three sites allotted in 1912, but not being among those allotted for 1903. Both Courts found against the alleged verbal agreement, but the Appellate Court allowed the respondent to amend his plaint by claiming damages for the failure to deliver sites under the agreement of 1903. Held, that it was not open to the Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, s. 153, and O V, r. 17, to allow the amendment, as it altered the real matter in controversy between the parties. Held, further, that the claim as amended was barred by limitation, since the appellant became liable to perform the contract of 1903 as soon as three sites had been allotted to her for 1903, and there was a refusal by her to transfer in 1904 or 1905. Judgment of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner reversed. MA SUREN MIA v MAUNG MO HNAUNG (1921) L. R. 48 I. A. 214 I. L. R. 43 Cal. 832 PROCEEDINGS.

—pendency of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XXI, r. 63
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 535

PROCESS OF COURT.

—abuse of—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 44 Cal. 899

PROCESSION.

See HIGHWAY I. L. R. 35 Mad. 26

See PUBLIC ROAD RIGHT TO USE

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 571

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)

s. 42 I. L. R. 42 Bom. 433

—Right to be carried in cross palanquin procession—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s. 9

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 593

—Commissioner of Police

—Orders prohibiting a public procession and a particular individual from joining it—*Legality of such orders—Public notice of order, necessity of—Power of Indian Legislature to make police regulations regarding public processions—Calcutta Police Act (Beng IV of 1866), ss. 62A (4) 102A—Calcutta Suburban Police Act (Beng II of 1866), ss. 39A (4), 49A—Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Act (Beng III of 1910), ss. 16 and 31. Sub s. (4) of s. 62A of the Calcutta Police Act and of s. 39A of the Suburban Police Act must be strictly construed. It empowers the Commissioner of Police, when he considers it necessary to do so for the preservation of the public peace or public safety, to prohibit a procession or public assembly but not a particular individual from taking part in the same. The sub section does not require any public notice of an order passed thereunder to be given, within the meaning of ss. 102A of the Calcutta and 49A of the Suburban Police Acts. Semle. Indian Legislature is competent to make police regulations of the kind in the interests of public peace and safety. LEAKAT HOSSAIN v EMERSON (1913)*

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 470

PROCLAMATION.

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 37 Cal. 897

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT

I. L. R. 44 Cal. 715

—dated 5th August 1914—

See BILL OF EXCHANGE

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 566

PROCLAMATION OF SALE.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s.

287, 293 I. L. R. 36 Bom. 329

See HIGH COURT (RULES AND ORDERS).

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 631

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE.

I. L. R. 39 Cal. 26

—irregularities in—

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 635

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, O XXI,

s. 54 I. L. R. 44 Mad. 293

PRODUCE RENT.

See APPRAISEMENT

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 1086

PROFESSION.

See PROSTITUTION

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 565

PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT OF COUNSEL.

See BAR COUNCIL, RESOLUTIONS OF
I L. R. 40 Calc 898

PROFESSIONAL ETIQUETTE.

See COUNSEL I L. R. 47 Calc 823

See COUNSEL, PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT OF
I L. R. 40 Calc 898

See PLEADER I L. R. 47 Calc 1115

PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT.

See LEGAL PRACTITIONER
I L. R. 42 All 125

See LETTERS PATENT (ALL) 8 8
I L. R. 42 All 450

See PLEADER I L. R. 47 Calc 1115

See UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

Attorney, disciplinary jurisdiction over—Striking off the rolls—Letters Patent 1865, cl 10—Right of aggrieved person—Practice—Vivification Disciplinary action against an attorney, rests on the principle that the Court deems him an unfit person to act as an attorney and is not by way of punishment. Any person aggrieved by the misconduct of an attorney has the right to invoke the disciplinary jurisdiction of the Court. In re A Solicitor, L. R. 25 Q. B. D. 17, followed. On an application by an aggrieved party to have an attorney struck off the rolls of attorneys on the ground of professional misconduct Held, that where there was a positive sworn denial of the misconduct by the attorney coupled with an explanation which was not demonstrably false even a strong case of suspicion would not justify disciplinary action against the attorney on a summary proceeding. The procedure to be adopted in invoking the disciplinary jurisdiction of the Court against an attorney, enunciated. In the Matter of AN ATTORNEY (1913)
I L. R. 41 Calc. 113

*Legal Practitioners Act (XVIII of 1879 as amended by Act XI of 1896), as 13, 14—Scope of s 14—Contempt of Court—“Court” meaning of s 14 of the Legal Practitioners Act is not limited in its application to cases covered by cl (1) and (b) only, but covers cases of misconduct under all the clauses of s 13. Misconduct in the presence of the Court which shows disrespect of its authority and which obstructs and has a tendency to interfere with the due administration of justice is contempt. The principle is not limited to misconduct in the actual presence of the Judge. The Court is deemed to be present in every part of the place set apart for its use and for the use of its officers, jurors, and witnesses and therefore misbehaviour in such places is misconduct in the presence of the Court. *In the matter of Purna Chunder Pal, I L. R. 27 Calc 1023, In the matter of Sonthal Arisna Rao, I L. R. 15 Calc 157, Le Mesurier v Weidhausen, I L. R. 29 Calc 890, In the matter of Ashmamed Abdul Hal, I L. R. 29 All 61, In the matter of the Seca d grade Pleaders, I L. R. 34 Mad 29, In the matter of Ghulob Khan, 7 B L P 179, In the matter of Brijrangi Saha, 15 O. W. N. 269, In the matter of Kala Prasanna Choudhary, 11 C L J 164, In the matter of Roila Charan Chakravarti, 4 C L J 229, In the matter of an Advocate, a Vakil a Pleader and a Mukhtar, 4 C L J 262, The District Judge of Andhra v.

PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT—contd

Hanumanth, (1915) Mad W. P. 1050 In the matter of Ganapathi Sastri, 19 Mad L J 504, French v French, 1 Hogan, 138, Rex v Carroll, 1 Wilson 75, Poach v Hall, 2 Atk 469, Ex parte Burrows, 3 Ves 535, Ex parte Jones, 13 Ves 237, In re Johnson, 20 Q. B. D. 68, Ex parte Nelson, 1 Dougl. & S 505, Kirby v Webb, 3 T. L. R. 763, Charlton's Case, 3 My & Cr 18, Hildmore v Smith, 25 Ch 449, referred to. RASEK LAL NAG, In the matter of (1916) I L. R. 44 Calc 839

Letters Patent, cl 10—Vakil—Improper advice to client—Obtaining from client a nominal sale deed for a low value—Misappropriation of client's property—Setting up false defence of ownership in a suit against him by the client for its recovery—Giving false evidence and suborning perjury A vakil was found guilty of: (a) improperly suggesting to a client, seeking his advice as to how to recover his properties from his adversary, the execution, in his (vakil's) own favour, of a nominal sale deed thereof for a low value, (b) setting up after the execution of such a sale deed, a title in himself, contrary to the terms of the agreement with the client (c) setting up a false defence of his ownership, in a suit against him by the client for a cancellation of the sale deed, (d) supporting the false defence by his own false evidence and (e) suborning perjured evidence in support of the same. Their Lordships held that the vakil was guilty of misconduct and suspended him under cl 10 of the Letters Patent, from practice for a period of two years. In the matter of a VAKIL OF THE HIGH COURT (1916)
I L. R. 40 Mad. 69

PROFITS

See OFFERINGS TO DEITY
I L. R. 38 Calc 387

— Derived from joint family property—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
14 C. W. N. 221

— suit for—

See ADVERSE POSSESSION
I L. R. 32 All 389

See AGRA TENANCY ACT, (II of 1901)
ss 160, 201 I L. R. 34 All 250

— suit for, against lambardar—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II of 1901).
ss 161 169 I L. R. 40 All 246

PROFITS A PRENDRE.

Profita a prendre in gross, acquisition of by fluctuating body. A right on the part of the members of a tribe such as the Bonthals, or a class such as the Chatswale inhabiting the village on and adjacent to the Riverward Hill, to hunt in a certain jungle for one day in the year, cannot be acquired by 20 years enjoyment under s 26 of the Limitation Act, 1908. Neither such a tribe, nor such a class is “a person” within the meaning of the General Clauses Act, 1897. Village communities in India bear the strongest resemblance to corporations and they may be regarded as corporate bodies capable of administering a trust in favour of particular classes residing within their jurisdictions. The law of India does not preclude the inference of legal origin in respect of such a right by grant in trust for the benefit of such a fluctuating body. In India there is nothing to prevent the acquisition by custom by such a fluctuating body, of a profit a prendre in gross so long as it can be shown that the exercise of the right is not unreasonable. Where the zamindar of Falganj bound himself and his heirs by an ekranama to convey, free of costs, to the Sitambari Jain Community, land for the purpose of constructing temples and guest houses, and further agreed that in the event of the executant and his heirs failing to convey such land the Sitambari Jains should be entitled to take such land, held, that this ekranama did not prevent the zamindar from permitting other persons to hunt in the jungles until the Sitambari Jains should select a plot for their buildings. Held, further, that the court ought not to give a party possessing such a remote interest a declaration affecting an entry in the Record of Rights. A person who sues under s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, for a declaration that an easement recorded in a Record of Rights under s. 31 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908, is incorrect, must show that he has some legal title or interest in the land over which the easement exists. Query, whether the manager of an unincorporated society is competent to sue, on behalf of the society, on an ekranama executed in favour of a previous manager of the society. MAHARAJ BHAKDUR SINGH v. GANDADRI SINGH 2 Pat. L. J. 323

PROFITS A PRENDRE—contd.

PRO FORMA DEFENDANT.

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 33 Cal. 342

PROGRESSIVE RENT.

— reservation of—

See LAND TENURE IN BENGALE. L. R. 46 T. A. 279

PROHIBITORY ORDER.

Excavation of a tank—Injury to adjoining house—Likelihood of a breach of the peace—Order passed on personal apprehension of the Magistrate without evidence taken or urgency recorded—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 144. The petitioner excavated a tank on his own land, adjoining the house of the opposite party, and the latter objected to the excavation on the ground that his house would be thereby rendered unsafe. No likelihood of a breach of the peace appeared from the police report or the written statements of the parties, but the Magistrate made the order under s. 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code without inquiry or recording any urgency. Held, that the order was illegal, and that s. 144 was not applicable without inquiry or recording any urgency. KAMINI MOHAN DAS GUPTA v. HARENDRA KUMAR SARKAR (1911) I. L. R. 33 Cal. 876 Jurisdiction—Execution of decree—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, r. 46—Competency of Court to issue prohibitory order outside its jurisdiction restraining a person from paying a debt due to the judgment-debtor. It is not competent to a Court, in execution of a decree for money to attach, at the instance of the decree-holder, a debt payable to the judgment-debtor outside the jurisdiction, by a person not resident within the jurisdiction of that Court. BEND, DUNLOP & Co. v. JAGANNATH MAHARAJ (1911) I. L. R. 29 Cal. 104

PROJECTION.

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES ACT (BOM. III of 1901), ss. 70, 113, 122 . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 454
See FIXTURE I. L. R. 48 Cal. 602

PROMISE.

— branch of—

See CONTRACT. I. L. R. 42 Bom. 499

PROMISOR.

— heirs of—

See PAY EMISSION I. L. R. 33 Mad. 114

PROMISSORY NOTE.

See CAUSE OF ACTION

I. L. R. 42 All. 193

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (XVII of 1879), ss. 13, 15D, 16

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 73

See EVIDENCE. I. L. R. 33 All. 371

See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872), s. 91

I. L. R. 34 All. 158

See HINDU LAW—MINOR

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 72

See KUMAON RULES (1894) r. 17

I. L. R. 42 All. 642

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, AR's 73 AND 80 . I. L. R. 42 All. 55

See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENT ACT, 1885 ss. 4 and 80 5 Pat. L. J. 538

See PARTNERSHIP I. L. R. 40 Mad. 727

See PRACTICE—CAUSE OF ACTION I. L. R. 41 I. A. 142

See VARTHAMANAM I. L. R. 38 Mad. 660

— acknowledgment contained in—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908), SCH. I, ARTS. 116 AND 66, s. 19

I. L. R. 33 Bom. 177

— contemporaneous oral arrangement

See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872), s. 92, PROV. 3 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1155 — executed by father before partition—

See HINDU LAW—DEBT I. L. R. 41 Mad. 136

— payable on demand—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908), SCH. I, ART. 80 . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 129

See PRINCIPAL AND SURETY I. L. R. 44 Cal. 878 — payable to a person or order or bearer, illegality of—

See PAPER CURRENCY ACT, s. 28 I. L. R. 40 Mad. 535

— suit on—

See ALIENS ENEMY I. L. R. 46 Cal. 526

See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872) s. 92, AND PROV. (2) I. L. R. 39 Bom. 399

See LEYDER AND BORSOWER 23 C. W. N. 233

PROMISSORY NOTE—contd

1 ———— Construction—Acknowledgment—Deed, construction of.—Unconditional undertaking and the document styled as promissory note It is no doubt true that the question whether an instrument is a promissory note or not should be judged by the words used, and the instrument must contain in words an unconditional undertaking to pay a sum of money and it is not enough that the substantial effect of the instrument should be to make the executant liable to pay a sum of money. Held that the following document wherein the executant not only made an unconditional undertaking to pay but also styled it a promissory note was a promissory note and not a mere recital of a liability and as such was not admissible in evidence for want of a proper stamp:

Promissory note executed on _____ in favour of _____ by _____ In the matter of the purchase of piece goods by me from your shop on this date, the sum found due by me as per gatty (lit) is Rs 600 _____ which sum I promise to you or to your order on demand with interest at 1½ per cent. To this effect Tarupathi Gowdan v Rama Reddy 1 I L R 21 Mad 49, Gownd v Balwant Rao 1 I L R 22 Bom. 96 Horne v Redfern & Ring 1 C 433 and Häve v North, 3 Erex 689, distinguished. Morris v Lee, 22 F R R 409 referred to. KARTHASAPPA ROWTHAN v BAVA MOIDREY SAHIR (1913)

I L R. 38 Mad. 570

2. ———— Joint execution—Consideration—Surety The consideration paid to any one of several joint promisors is legally sufficient to support the promise of all the joint promisors. Naraindas v Ramaswami 24 Mad L J 91 applied. Serka Aiyar v Mangal Das Jee, 20 Mad L J 144 distinguished. Per CURRIE: S 97 of the Indian Evidence Act precludes an executant from setting up a contemporaneous oral agreement that he should not be made liable on the promissory note. Per SPENCER J—S 127 of the Indian Contract Act states that the value received by the principal debtor is a sufficient consideration to bind the surety and a 12s makes his liability co-extensive. BORVALINGA MUDALI v. PACHAI NATHEAN (1913)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 680

3 ———— Suit by Assignee of promissory note against executant.—Payment of consideration by assignee, irrelevant Held that in a suit by the assignee of a promissory note against the executant the latter are not concerned with the question whether the assignment was for consideration or not. All that they are entitled to have ascertained is that the plaintiff is the legal holder of the note and able to give them a good discharge. BALDEO SARAI v BEHARI LAL (1914)

I L R. 37 All. 99

4 ———— By guardian of minor not signing as such whether binding on minor's estate.—Negotiable Instruments Act (XXVI of 1881) ss 23 and 30 scope of A negotiable instrument executed by the guardian of a Hindu minor for purposes binding on the minor is enforceable against the minor's estate though the instrument was not signed by the executant in his capacity as guardian. There is no personal liability on the principles of Hindu Law and ss 23 and 30 of the Negotiable Instruments Act (XXVI of 1881) are not applicable. Subramania Aiyar v

PROMISSORY NOTE—contd

Arumuga Chetty 1 I L R 26 Mad 330, followed. KRISHNA CHETTIAR v NAGANANI AMMAL (1915)
I L R. 39 Mad. 915

5 ———— Surety—Promissory note payable on demand.—Liability of surety—Guaranteeing such note when arises Held that the liability of the surety rose immediately on the execution of the guarantee and limitation ran from that date. SREEWATH ROY v PEARY MOHAN MUKHERJEE (1890)
21 C. W. N. 479

6 ———— Executed in Hyderabad State but stamped with British India Stamp.—Hyderabad State Stamp Act s 35—Suit on the promissory note in British Indian Court—Maintenance of suit in British India—Lex Fori—Lex Loci Contractus A promissory note was executed in Hyderabad State. It was stamped with a British India Stamp. A suit having been brought on the promissory note in a Court in British India, it was contended that the promissory note not having been stamped with the stamp required by the laws of the Hyderabad State no suit will lie upon it in the British Indian Court. Held that though the promissory note be inadmissible in evidence under Hyderabad State Stamp Act that law did not declare the agreement as void and the agreement could therefore be sued upon and enforced in a Court in British India. Brulows v Sequenville 3 Erex 275 relied on. If the law of the foreign country in which the document was executed provides no more than that the agreement shall not be received in evidence because it is not stamped then the agreement may be used upon and enforced in a Court in British India, but if the law of the foreign country provides that, by reason of the want of stamp, the agreement itself which is contained in the unstamped document shall be void then the plaintiff cannot succeed in a Court of British India. UNOUDRAM CHATRAPATI v SADASUK SATYATHAM (1918)

I L R. 42 Bom 522

7 ———— In favour of the managing trustee of a charity.—The trustee succeeded by another—Latter's right to sue on the note without any assignment or endorsement. A promissory note executed in favour of a trustee can be sued on by his successor without endorsement or assignment, the Negotiable Instruments Act not affecting devolution of rights by operation of law. Cuthers v Chabaud 1 B & C 160 applied and followed. Sourcar Ladd Gownda Doss v Munerappa Naidu, 1 I L R 31 Mad. 531 referred to. RAMA MADHAN CHETTI v KATTA VELAK (1917)

I L R. 41 Mad. 353

8. ———— When overdue.—Negotiable Instruments Act (XX of 1881) s 115 Where a promissory note payable on demand is negotiated it is not deemed to be overdue for the purpose of affecting the holder with defects of title of which he had no notice by reason that it appears that reasonable time for presenting it for payment has elapsed since its issue. The analogy of the rules applicable to questions of limitation is not to be followed in such cases. Arton v Ellam 2 M & W 461 Roe v Young 2 B & B 165 Mally v Murrell 5 H & N 813 Brooke v Mitchell 9 M & W 15 Borough v White, 4 B & C 325 Glascock v Balls 24 Q B D 13 referred to. Brundjandra Kishore v Hindustan Co-operative Insurance Society 1 I L R. 44 Cal. 978 distin

PROMISSORY NOTE—contd

granted D N SHAHA & Co v THE BENGAL NATIONAL BANK LTD (1900)
I L R. 47 Calc 861

PROMPT DOWER

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER.

I L R. 35 Bom. 386

PROOF

See CUSTOM I L R. 45 Calc 450 835

See CUSTOM OR USAGE.

I L R. 45 Calc 285

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—LEGITIMACY

I L R 48 Calc 856

— standard of—

See LIMITATION I L R. 40 Calc. 898

See PROBATE I L R. 39 Calc 245

1 ————— Per WOODROFFE
J—A Court cannot assume that a document was proved from the refusal of opposing counsel to cross-examine on it. The latter is entitled to wait until the Court ruled whether the document was proved or not. In the goods of GOPESCHER DUTT (1911) I L R. 39 Calc 245
16 C W N 265

2 ————— Title evidence of direct proof when not available—Conduct and admissions of defendant as proof of title—Mulkis papers evidentiary value of—Registers kept under Reg VIII of 1890 entries in—Statements against proprietary interest—Statements in read-cess returns as to character of interest—Burden of proof when established—Effect of erroneous statement as to nature of tenure by unauthorised person—Purchase at execut on sale held under s 124 (Beng Act I of 1879) I mised to interests actually sold When owing to lapse of time and other causes direct evidence of title e.g. a sanad or grant is not available it is enough for the plaintiff to establish a prima facie case if the evidence on which it is based is corroborated by the conduct and admissions of the defendant or his predecessors in interest or unrebutted by any positive evidence which can be relied on KALI SANKAR SAHAI v PRATAP UDAY NATH SAHAI DO (1911)
16 C W N 633

3 ————— Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) s 147 & 304 read with s 143—Prosecution on evidence mostly de bene—Hypothetical case made by the Court—Propriety of conviction on Where the depositions Judge discarded almost in the entirety the accounts of the occurrence given by the witnesses for the prosecution and substituted a narrative of his own founded for the most part on surmise and conjecture and the story of the origin of the occurrence and the course of events as reconstructed by the Sessions Judge were wholly inconsistent with the story told by the witnesses, and the appellants were convicted under s. 147 and s. 304 read with s. 140 Penal Code; Held, that the conviction should be set aside. KALU KHALASHI v THE KING EMPEROR
(1912) 17 C W N 538

4 ————— Suspicion and proof of inference between Where a decree-holder sued for a declaration against a purchaser for the judgment-debtor that the purchase was a benami Held that the burden of proof lay on the decree holder and though there were elements of suspicion the burden had not been discharged

PROOF—contd

It is essential to take care that the decision of the Court does not rest on suspicion but legal testimony SETH MANIKLAL MANSUKHBAI v RAJA BHOY SINGH DUDHORIA 25 C W N 409

PROOF IN COMMON FORM.

See PROBATE I L R. 42 Calc 480

PROOF OF DOCUMENT

See EVIDENCE ACT 18 2 s 68

1 Pat. L J 369

PROOF OF TITLE.

See EJECTMENT SUIT

I L R. 42 Bom. 357

PROPAGATION OF DISEASE

See NUISANCE I L R. 38 Calc. 294

PROPER COURT

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) ART
18^o EXPL II I L R. 45 Bom. 453

PROPERTY

See ANCESTRAL PROPERTY

I L R. 39 Mad 830

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1908) s 5th

I L R. 42 Bom. 664

— disposal of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1908) s 517

I L R. 40 Bom 186

— transfer of, to another jurisdiction—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) ss 27 38 1st

I L R. 37 Mad. 462

— vesting of—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 18) s 9^o, PROVS 1 AND 3

I L R. 38 Mad. 226

PROPERTY TITLE

— question of—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)
s 177 (c) I L R. 38 ALL 183

PROPRIETARY TITLE.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)— ss 58 70th I L R. 35 ALL 157

s 109 I L R. 37 ALL 91

See UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE
ACT (III OF 1901) s 115 (1) (b)

I L R. 41 ALL 211

— question of—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)
ss 58 1 (c)

I L R. 38 ALL 465

PROPRIETOR.

See AGENCY PROPRIETORS.

See DISQUALIFIED PROPRIETOR.

PROSECUTION.

See COLLECTOR V L. L. R. 40 Calc. 463

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 478.
15 C. W. N. 691

See EVIDENCE L. L. R. 42 Calc. 784

See FIXTURE L. L. R. 48 Calc. 602

See JUDGES, PROSECUTION BY
L. L. R. 45 Calc. 169

See RECEIVER L. L. R. 46 Calc. 432

duty of—

See CHARGE, L. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 33
L. L. R. 39 Mad. 449

duty of, to call all witnesses—

See PEVAL CODE, s. 114
19 C. W. N. 28

for instituting a false case—

See JURISDICTION OF CRIMINAL COURT
L. L. R. 37 Calc. 250

onus on—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1898), s. 256
L. L. R. 39 Mad. 503

order for—

See JURISDICTION OF CRIMINAL COURT
L. L. R. 40 Calc. 380

what amounts to—

See MALICIOUS PROSECUTION
L. L. R. 37 Mad. 181

withdrawing from—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1898)— ss. 243, 248, 345 L. L. R. 37 Bom. 378
s. 494 25 C. W. N. 615

See WITNESS L. L. R. 46 Calc. 700

See WITHDRAWAL OF PROSECUTION
L. L. R. 45 Calc. 1105

PROSECUTION WITNESS.

cross-examination of.

See CROSS EXAMINATION
L. L. R. 37 Calc. 235See CHARGE, CANCELLATION OF L. L. R. 39 Calc. 885right of accused to recall and cross-examine—See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1898), s. 256.
L. L. R. 39 Mad. 503

PROSECUTOR.

See CONSENT OF COURT
L. L. R. 41 Calc. 173

PROSPECTIVE LEGISLATION

See ASSESSMENT L. L. R. 43 Calc. 973

PROSTITUTE'S PROPERTY.

See HINDU LAW—SCHRIMAN
L. L. R. 40 Calc. 650See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION
L. L. R. 38 Calc. 493

PROSTITUTION.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1898), s. 448 (f)
L. L. R. 37 Mad. 565See HINDU LAW—IMMUNITY
L. L. R. 38 Mad. 1149

PROTECTION.

doctrine of—

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING
L. L. R. 42 Calc. 745

PROTECTION OF JUDICIAL OFFICERS.

See TRESPASS L. L. R. 39 Calc. 953

PROTECTION ORDER.

See PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY
ACT (III OF 1909) ss. 8, 8, 23, 38, 39
(2) (a), (b), (c) (d), (f), (i)
L. L. R. 40 Bom. 461

Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909) s. 25—Previous decisions on applications for interim orders—Discretion—Practice. It has never been the practice of Commissioners in Insolvency under the Indian Insolvency Act (II and 12 Vict. c. 21) to consider themselves bound by their previous decisions on applications for interim orders when it has been a matter for their discretion, and it by no means follows that because an application has been refused on the first occasion it must also be refused on the second occasion. S. 25 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909) clearly intends that while an insolvent deliberately performs the duties prescribed by the Act he should not be harassed by execution creditors, and should not be rendered liable to pressure whereby one creditor may get undue advantage over another. The section does not deprive the Court of its discretion in granting or refusing protection, but sub-s. (4) indicates clearly the lines along which that discretion should be exercised when a creditor opposes the grant. If an insolvent can produce the certificate referred to the onus is thrown on the opposing creditor of showing cause why the Prosecution—Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng III of 1929), ss. 539 (15), 541 (b), 631—Non-compliance with notice to remove encroachment on public street—Institution of prosecution more than three months after expiry of notice—Limitation—Continuing offence—Bye-laws validity of—Ultra vires. A prosecution for failure to comply with a notice by the Chairman to remove an obstruction on a public street, instituted more than three months after the expiry of the date fixed therein, is barred under s. 631 of the Calcutta Municipal Act. A bye-law must conform to the provisions of the law under which it purports to be made. Rule (1) of the bye laws framed under s. 539 (18) of the Act is ultra vires, in as far as it creates a continuing breach after notice in violation of the terms of a 561 (b). NARAYAN CHANDRA CHATTERJEE v CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA (1909) L. L. R. 37 Calc. 545

To prove charge truth or falsehood of defence immaterial. If the case for the prosecution is false on the whole the accused is entitled to an acquittal whether his defence be true or not. GOUBI NARAYAN BANHULA v TILAKRAM CHETEL. 25 C. W. N. 838

PROTECTION ORDER—contd.—

protection order should not be granted. In the matter of MEGHNA GANGARUX (1910)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 47

PROTHONOTARY.

See HIGH COURT RULES, BOMBAY,

RR 81, 321 I. L. R. 36 Bom. 418

PROTRACTION OF LITIGATION.

See GRANT I. L. R. 44 Calc. 585

PROVIDENT FUND ACT (IX OF 1897 AS AMENDED BY ACT IV OF 1903).

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 982

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907), s 43 I. L. R. 44 Bom. 673

PROVIDENT INSURANCE

Company with share capital carrying on business of a provident insurance society—Liability to registration as such before receiving premiums—Provident Insurance Societies Act (V of 1912), s 2 (3) 6, 7, 21 A company having a share capital divided into shares must, if it intends to carry on the business of a provident insurance society, be registered under the Provident Insurance Societies Act (V of 1912) before it receives any premium or contribution Oriental Government Security Life Assurance Co v Oriental Assurance Co, I. L. R. 40 Calc. 570, explained. DEPUTY LEGAL REMEMBRANCE v SITAL CHANDRA PAL (1914)

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 300

PROVIDENT INSURANCE SOCIETIES ACT (V OF 1912)

ss. 2 (3), 6, 7, 21—

See PROVIDENT INSURANCE.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 300

ss. 5, 6—

See TRADE NAME I. L. R. 40 Calc. 570

PROVIDENT INSURANCE SOCIETY.

See TRADE NAME I. L. R. 40 Calc. 570

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s 29

(1) (b) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 169

No bar to a suit to establish rights in property attached by Insolvency Court as belonging to the insolvent—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 2 Lah. 147

One petition in Insolvency against several joint debtors if proper—Application against partners of a firm—Amendment A declaration of insolvency cannot be asked for in one petition against several joint debtors—There is no provision in the Provincial Insolvency Act for proceeding against two or more persons being partners in the name of the firm. KALI CHARAN SAHA v HANI MOHAN BASAK

24 C. W. N. 481

ss 2 (c) and (g), 22, 48 and 52—

Dismissal of insolvency petition by Official Receiver—Application to District Court to revise, under s 22, whether an appeal—Official Receiver, whether a Court—Appeal to High Court from order of

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd—

ss. 2 (c) and (g), 22, 48 and 52—

contd

District Court, maintainability of A District Judge transferred a petition of a debtor to be adjudged an insolvent to the Official Receiver. The petition was dismissed by the Receiver on the grounds that the debtor had no realizable assets, that he might be concealing his assets, ready cash and outstandings, that he was not likely eventually to get his discharge and that therefore the petition was an abuse of process of Court On an application by the debtor under s 22 of the Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907) the District court confirmed the order Held, that an appeal lay to the High Court under s 46 of the Act, from the order of the High Court Held, further that the Official Receiver is not a Court subordinate to the District Court within s 46 (1) of the Act and that an application to the District Court under s 23 of the Act to revise the order of the Official Receiver is not an "appeal" within s 46: Held, also, that the order of dismissal was based on a misconception of the Insolvency Procedure and should be set aside Jee Chetti v Rangaswami Chetti, 22 Mad L J 52, followed ALLA v KUPPA (1916)

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 752

ss 2 (1) (g), 18, 20 (c), 40 (1), 44,

47—

See RECEIVER I. L. R. 40 Calc. 678

ss 3, 16, 18, 36 and 37—Order of adjudication—Appointment of Receiver by District Court—Sale in execution of money decree held by District Munsif's Court subsequent to appointment of Receiver—Application by Receiver to the District Court for cancellation of sale and for delivery of possession—Application whether competent—Jurisdiction of District Court Where after the appointment of a Receiver for the estate of an insolvent had been made by a District Court some of the properties of the insolvent were sold in auction by a District Munsif's Court in execution of a decree for money passed by the latter Court prior to the order of adjudication Held it was competent to the Receiver to make an application to the District Court for annulment of the sale and for delivery of possession of the properties from the purchaser, under s 18, cl (3) of the Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907) OFFICIAL RECEIVER, TIRUNELVELLY v SANKARALINGA MUDALIAR (1921)

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 524

ss 3, 43 (2)—Subordinate Judge in vested with jurisdiction under s 3 declines to take action under s 43 (2) against insolvent—Whether appeal lies to District Judge against the order under s 43—Creditor if an aggrieved person. The appellant was adjudicated an insolvent by a Subordinate Judge invested with jurisdiction under the proviso to s 3 of the Provincial Insolvency Act and thereafter certain creditors of the insolvent made applications before the Subordinate Judge to the effect that the insolvent had concealed certain properties and prayed that he should be punished under s 43 (2). The Subordinate Judge after hearing the creditors and the insolvent rejected the applications, whereupon some of the creditors applied to the District Judge who, after examining witnesses on both sides, sentenced the insolvent to three months' simple imprisonment Held,

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd—

ss. 2, 43 (2)—contd

per TAYLOR, J. The orders made by the Subordinate Judge while he has seisin of the case could be interfered with by the District Court only under the provisions of s. 45 which in the matters therein dealt with subordinate all other Courts to the District Court or under the powers conferred by the Code of Civil Procedure in regard to Civil suits as provided in s. 47. That no appeal lay against the order of the Subordinate Judge declining to take action against the insolvent under s. 43 (2). See NAWROTHI J. The word "Court" in s. 43 of the Act does not mean the Court of original jurisdiction only and the District Judge's order in this case was an original and not an appellate order. DINDRA (DANDRA) HANAR v. RAMANI MORAN GOSWAMI (1918)

22 C. W. N. 958

s. 4—Division of question of title, how far discretionary with Court—Subor. (3) Court is bound to take evidence on questions for refusing to decide questions of title or for holding that the insolvent has a saleable interest in any property and ordering its sale—Nature of materials upon which Court may come to such decision. A was adjudicated an insolvent, and a Receiver was appointed. After various intermediate proceedings the insolvent's brother B appeared in Court and laid claim to certain properties. The Judge put to him certain questions and elicited certain answers. The Receiver also submitted a report and a petition on the same date. The Judge, after considering the report and the petitions submitted and after hearing pleaders refused to go into the question of title and decided that the insolvent had a saleable interest in the properties. He thereupon directed the Receiver to sell the insolvent's right, title and interest in the properties under the provisions of subsec (3) of s. 4 of the Provincial Insolvency Act. Lower under subsec (1) of s. 4 to decide a question of title, it had full discretion to follow the course laid down in subsec (3), i.e., to refuse to decide questions of title and to direct sale of insolvent's right, title and interest, whatever that might be. Where the Court has reason to believe that the debtor has a saleable interest in any property, it may without further enquiry sell such interest. The matters stated in the report of the Receiver and the answers given by the claimant when questioned by the Judge, were sufficient materials for his coming to the conclusion that the debtor had a saleable interest in the property. JITENDRA NATH BHATTACHARYA v. PATEL SINGH DAXER

25 C. W. N. 922

ss. 4 to 6, 11 to 16, 28, 43, 44 and 47—What matters are necessary to be enquired into before adjudication.—What are proper subjects of enquiry before deciding on final discharge. Before passing an order of adjudication under the Provincial Insolvency Act, it is not for a Court to decide whether the debts stated in the petition for insolvency are real, whether the petitioner has not concealed any property of his from his list of assets or whether he is unable to pay his debts and similar questions. All these are properly subject that ought to be enquired into before giving a discharge. The only things that are necessary to be decided before adjudication, are as 4 to 6, 11 to 16, 28, 43, 44 and 47—contd

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd—

whether the creditor or debtor is entitled to present the petition, whether the required notices have been served and whether the debtor has committed the alleged act of insolvency. Per CHAKRA: s. 18 (2) provides that "the Court shall also examine the debtor if he is present, as to his conduct, dealings, and property in the presence of such creditors as appear at the hearing, and the creditors have the right to question the debtor thereon." There is no doubt that both these clauses require that the acts referred to therein should be done. But it does not follow that every matter, which forms the subject of the examination of the debtor should be decided before an order of adjudication is made. The scheme of Act III of 1907 is to make an order of adjudication at first and then to make a full enquiry into all matters connected with the insolvency before the final discharge is decided. The Court has power to refuse to make an order not only on non-compliance of matters stated in s. 14 (1) but also on other grounds (e.g.) pretention of abuse of process of the Court, unnecessary harrasing of a debtor by the creditor. See SHAMBA AYYAR, J.—The object of the provision for examination in s. 14 (2) is as in England, to obtain information at as early a stage as possible of the property and the whole conduct of the debtor in their relations to the insolvency proceedings. I Lal Chand Mehta v. Ram Kumar Khara, 15 C. W. N. 213, Ghose dhar v. Jai Narain I L. R. 32 All 613 and Nathu v. The District Judge of Benares I L. R. 32 All 547, disapproved. Various sections of the Act and of the English Bankruptcy Act, considered. JEAN v. PRASADWAMI (1913)

I L. R. 36 Mad. 402

ss. 4 clz. (b), (2), 16—

See MIXON I L. R. 42 Cal. 225

s. 5—

See s. 4 I L. R. 36 Mad. 402

ss. 5, 6, 15, 16—

See INSOLVENCY I L. R. 44 Cal. 433

Insolvency—Petition by debtor—Grounds for dismissing petition—Possibility of assets exceeding liabilities. Where an insolvency petition is presented by a debtor whose debts amount to Rs. 500 and such petition fulfils the requirements of s. 11 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, it is not a valid ground for dismissing the petition that there may exist some reason for supposing that the debtor may not after all be unable to pay his debts in full, unless there are circumstances indicating that the presentation of the petition was fraudulent and an abuse of the process of the Court. The provisions of a 15 of the Act are intended to apply to a creditor's petition and not to one presented by a debtor. I day Chand Mehta v. Ram Kumar Khara, 15 C. W. N. 213, Kali Kumar Das v. Gopi Arulana day 15 C. W. N. 590, (uradkari v. Jai Narain, I L. R. 32 All 613 Bishola Dn v. Jagannath, 9 All L. J. 593, referred to. Nathu Mol v. The District Judge of Benares I L. R. 32 All 547, distinguished. Ponnusami Chetti v. Araramma Chetti, 25 Mad. L. J. 545 not followed. THILOKI NATH v. RADHI DARS (1914)

I L. R. 36 All 230

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd

ss. 5, 6, 15, 16, 42—Insolvency—
Petition by debtor—Debtor's right to order of adjudication—Dismissal of application on ground of alleged misappropriation of property belonging to a creditor It is no ground for the rejection of a petition to be declared insolvent filed by the debtor that the petitioner may perhaps have been guilty of criminal misappropriation in respect of property belonging to one of his creditors. Chhatrapat Singh Dugar v Kharay Singh Lachmram, I L R 44 Calc 535, and Triloki Nath v. Badri Das, I L R 36 All 250, referred to JAGAN NATH v GANGA DAT DUBE (1919)

I L R. 41 All. 486

ss. 5, 15, 16—Insolvency—Grounds for dismissing petition to be adjudged an insolvent. A petition to be adjudged an insolvent presented under the provisions of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, can be dismissed only upon one or other of the grounds mentioned in s 15 of the Act. It is not a good ground for dismissing such a petition that the petitioner's brother, being joint with the petitioner, has not been made a party to it. Chhatrapat Singh Dugar v Kharay Singh Lachmram, I L R 44 J 87, and Triloki Nath v Badri Das I L R 36 All 250, referred to NER RAM v BHAGIRATHI SAH (1917). I L R. 40 All. 75

s 6—

See INSOLVENCY I L R. 44 Calc. 535

Application by debtor—
"Residence" within jurisdiction—Temporary residence It is not necessary for a petitioner applying to be declared an insolvent to have resided for a long time at a place within the jurisdiction of the Court. Even temporary residence for a time and for a particular purpose is enough to give the Court jurisdiction to deal with an application for insolvency. Ex parte Heegard, 24 Q B D 71, followed. ABDUL KEMAL v BASIRUDDIN AHMED (1911) 17 C. W. N 405

Jurisdiction of Court—
"Ordinarily resides," meaning of—Order of adjudication by Court not having jurisdiction—S 47, sub-s. (1), effect of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 21, if applies to proceedings under the Provincial Insolvency Act The respondent lodged an application for insolvency in the Court of the District Judge of Midnapur and obtained an order of adjudication. It appeared that the respondent, who was employed as a guard on the Bengal Nagpur Railway, resided at Dungaigarh in the Central Provinces and ran his train ordinarily from Dungaigarh to Nagpur and only occasionally from Dungaigarh to Kharagpur, where he stopped with his son in law having no permanent residence there. The application for insolvency was filed immediately after the appellant had obtained a decree against the respondent in the Court of the Munsif of Midnapur. Held, that it could not be held that the respondent ordinarily resided or personally worked for gain at Kharagpur within the meaning of sub s (2) of s 6 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, and consequently the Court of the District Judge of Midnapur had no jurisdiction to deal with the application for insolvency filed by the respondent. That sub s (1) of s 47 of the Provincial Insolvency Act does not directly or by implication make s 21 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1908 applicable to proceedings under the

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd

s. 6—contd.

Provincial Insolvency Act and consequently the doctrine that no objection as to the place of suing shall be allowed by an Appellate Court unless such objection was taken in the Court of first instance at the earliest possible opportunity and unless there has been a failure of justice, could not be applied to proceedings under the Provincial Insolvency Act. Meaning of the term "resides" in sub s (2) of s 6 considered. MADHO PRASHAD v A L. WALTON (1913) 18 C. W. N. 1050 ss. 6, 15, 16—Insolvency—Petitioner examined and evidence taken—Case adjourned—Petitioner absent on adjourned date—Petition dismissed for want of prosecution When a petition for a declaration of insolvency has once been presented conformably to the requirements of Act No III of 1907, the Court is bound after completing the necessary inquiries to come to a decision in respect of the various matters spoken of in s 15 of the Act and either to dismiss the petition under the provisions of that section, or to make an order of adjudication. But it cannot dismiss the petition merely because, on an adjourned date the petitioner does not appear. LACHMI NARAYN DUBE v KISHAN LAL (1918)

I L R 40 All. 665

s. 11—

See s 4 I L R. 36 Mad. 402

s. 12—

See s 4 I L R. 36 Mad. 402

See s 16 I L R 39 Mad. 693

s 13—

See s 4 I L R. 36 Mad. 402

ss. 13, 16, 34—

See INSOLVENCY I L R. 42 Calc. 289

ss. 13 (3), 47—Attachment of property as that of the insolvent before adjudication of insolvency—Civil Procedure Code (1908), O XXI, r 53, O XXXVIII, rr 5 to 12—Procedure—Appeal Where certain property was attached under s 13 (3) of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, by a Court exercising jurisdiction under that Act, before the petitioner was declared an insolvent and a receiver appointed, it was held that the Court was bound to hear and adjudicate upon any claims which might be preferred by persons alleging themselves to be in fact the owners of such property. Procedure under s 13 (3) of the Provincial Insolvency Act was analogous to attachment before judgment under the Code of Civil Procedure It might have been open to the objectors to wait until the receiver had taken some action in respect of the property attached and then to apply under s 23 of the Act, but this they were not bound to do. HASHMAT BIBI v BHAGWAN DAS (1913)

I L R. 36 All. 65

s 14—

See s 4 I L R. 36 Mad. 402

Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907), s 16—Debtor's application for adjudication, if may be refused because of his acts of bad faith—Adjudication as of course when ss 5 and 6 complied with—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) Chap XX Where an application by a debtor to be declared an insolvent being opposed by a creditor, the debtor was examined under s. 14, cl (3) of the Provincial Insolvency Act and the application was dismissed on the ground that one of the creditors mentioned in the application was fictitious and that the applicant was concealing the real facts: Hill, that where the requirements of ss. 6 and 8 of the Act have been complied with, an order of adjudication should follow almost as a matter of course, and the application dismissed on the grounds stated. Whether the debtor has or has not committed acts of bad faith is to be determined by the Court not at the stage when the order of adjudication has to be made, but at the final stage when an application is made for an order of discharge, the provisions of the Provincial Insolvency Act differing in this respect from those of Chap. XX of Act XIV of 1892 which have been repealed by the Act In re Patten, [1907] 1 K. B. 32, relied on Uday Chand Mehta v. Ram Kumar Khanna (1910)

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s. 14—contd.

15 C. W. N. 213

ss. 14, 5 and 47—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908) O. 17, r. 3—Single petition by creditor to adjudicate debtors as insolvent—Debtors, members of a joint Hindu family—Joint debt—Joint acts of insolvency—Single petition against joint debtors whether maintainable—Multifariousness in suits—Test of The members of a joint Hindu family can be adjudicated insolvents on a single petition by a creditor if they are liable on a joint debt and have been guilty of a joint act or acts of insolvency. The test is whether, if the application were treated as a suit, the suit would be bad for multifariousness, that is, for misjoinder of different causes of action against different defendants, if no such objection can be successfully advanced, a single application for adjudication is maintainable. Darshan Prasad Lal v. Ram Sukh Chandra (1905) 2 C. L. J. 318, disapproved from. MAMATTA v. K. R. HIRZ Muz. Co. (1921) 1 L. R. 44 Mad 810

s. 15—

See s. 4 . . . 1 L. R. 36 Mad. 403

See s. 5 . . . 1 L. R. 40 All. 75

See s. 6 . . . 1 L. R. 40 All. 665

See INSOLVENCY 1 L. R. 44 Calo. 835

Insolvency—

Grounds for dismissing petition Under the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, transfer of property by the debtor with intent to defraud his creditors or recklessly contracting of debts or giving unfair preference to any of his creditors or committing any other act of bad faith are grounds for refusing an absolute order of discharge but not grounds for refusing to make an order of adjudication. Where, therefore, a petitioner for a declaration of insolvency feigned ignorance about the existence of his account books and perjured about other matters: Hill that his petition could not be dismissed on these grounds, the object of the Legislature, by enacting the Insolvency Act, being to make it easier to obtain an order of adjudication. Ex parte King & Davies, L. R. 3 CA D. 467, Ex parte Griggs & Adams, L. R. 12 CA D. 430, and Ex parte Tynne, L. F. 15 CA D. 125 referred to. ORWARDHART v. JAI NARAYAN (1910) . . . 1 L. R. 32 All. 645

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s. 15—contd.

2. — Insolvency—Debtor's application for adjudication—Inability to pay debts of amount to be proved A debtor's application to be adjudicated an insolvent cannot be dismissed on the ground that he could not satisfy the Judge that he was unable to pay his debts. Kasi Kumar Das v. Gopi Krishna Ray (1911).

15 C. W. N. 990

3. — Insolvency not made bond firm—Adjudication if may be refused Quare Whether if upon the facts before the Court it is clear to the Judge that the debtor applying for insolvency is not an insolvent he is bound to adjudicate him an insolvent. Gurwardhar v. Jay Dharma, 1 L. R. 32 All. 645, Iday Chand Mehta v. Pim Kumar Khanna, 15 C. W. N. 213 Abdulla Khamriddin v. Dismat Kadamayy 15 C. W. N. 211 and Kali Kumar Das v. Gopi Krishna Ray, 15 C. W. N. 990 referred to. MURRI GOLAN HANNAH v. SHAHEER WAFER All. (1912) 16 C. W. N. 833

4. — Application by debtor to be declared insolvent—Acts of bad faith, if ground for rejecting petition An application by a debtor to be declared an insolvent cannot be rejected on the ground of his having committed acts of bad faith. Iday Chand Mehta v. Pim Kumar, 15 C. W. N. 213, 12 C. L. J. 400, and Khamriddin v. Kadamayy, 15 C. W. N. 211, 12 C. L. J. 413 followed. ABDUL KHAIR v. MAMATTA Muz. Co. (1911) 17 C. W. N. 405

5. — Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907) ss. 15, 46, 46—Order for adjudication, if may be refused on ground of improper alienation of property by debtor—Fictitious statement of debt Neither an order for adjudication nor one dismissing a petition for declaring a person an insolvent can be treated as a decree between the parties in a contested or uncontested suit, and a creditor who did not oppose the debtor's application to be declared an insolvent need not be a party to an appeal preferred by the debtor under s. 46 of the Indian Insolvency Act against an order dismissing the application. Where an application by a debtor to be adjudged an insolvent was refused on the ground that the debtor had transferred a portion of his property in lieu of dower and had thus committed an act of bad faith: Hill, that questions of bad faith or improper dealing by the debtor with his property do not arise for consideration until after the order for adjudication has been made and the insolvent applies for final discharge, and the order for adjudication could not have been refused on the ground stated. Iday Chand Mehta v. Pim Kumar Khanna, 15 C. W. N. 213, and Gurwardhar v. Jay Dharma 1 L. R. 32 All. 645 referred to. Abdumal v. District Judge of Benares, 1 L. R. 32 All. 647, disapproved. That it was open to the opposing creditor to prove that the debt shown to be due to another creditor was fictitious so as to show that the petitioner's debts did not really amount to Rs. 500 as required by s. 5 of the Act. RAMCHANDAN v. KADHOMI DAS (1910)

15 C. W. N. 244

ss. 15, 16, 18, 20, 22, 46 and 52—Official Receiver's order dismissing insolvency petition—No appeal direct to

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—*contd.*ss. 15, 16, 18, 20, 22, 46 and 52—contd.

High Court—Practice—No interference in revision where other remedy open No appeal lies under s. 46, cl. (2), of the Provincial Insolvency Act to the High Court from the order of an Official Receiver dismissing an insolvency petition; but an appeal against orders passed by the Official Receiver lies, under s. 22, only to the District Court. The language of s. 22 read with s. 52, cl. (2), shows that such right of appeal is not confined to orders made under ss. 18, 19 and 20, but extends to all orders of the Receiver. Obiter An Official Receiver invested with the power mentioned in cl. (a) of s. 52 (1) has the power to dismiss an insolvency petition under s. 15. The Court will not interfere under s. 115, Civil Procedure Code, in a case where other adequate remedy was open. CHIDAMBARAM v. NAGAPPA (1912)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 15

s. 16—

See s. 3 . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 524

See s. 4 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 402

See s. 5 . I. L. R. 40 All. 75

See s. 6 . I. L. R. 40 All. 685

See s. 15 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 15

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 42 Calc. 239

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 535

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908

s. 15. I. L. R. 42 Mad. 219

See MINOR . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 225

See RAILWAY RECEIPT

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 664

sub-s. (1)—Adjudication by Official Receiver—No order vesting property in Receiver, effect of—Action for money had and received, scope of—Privilege of plaintiff and defendant, necessity for—Nature of priority The Official Receiver in the insolvency of R put up for sale the debts of a firm in which R and the second, third and fourth defendants were partners, and the first defendant purchased them from the Receiver and afterwards recovered a debt due to the firm. The plaintiff having attached three fourths of the money so recovered by the first defendant in execution of a decree obtained by him against the second, third and fourth defendants for a debt due by the firm and having been appointed Receiver in the execution proceedings sued the first defendant to recover the said three fourths of the money as money had and received to the use of the second, third and fourth defendants. Held, that the plaintiff had no cause of action against the first defendant, because in an action for 'money had and received' there must be, as shown by the English decisions, privacy of a legally recognizable nature between the plaintiff and the defendant and no such privacy existed in this case and that the suit also failed as regards the shares of the second and third defendants by reason of their adjudications as insolvents prior to the attachment. Scope of the action for money had and received, pointed out, English and Indian cases reviewed. See Clair v. Brougham, [1914] A. C. 398, explained. Sankar v. Govinda, I. L. R. 37 Mad. 281, referred to. Per SADRIVA AYYAR, J. While privacy of contract between the parties is of course not necessary to sustain an action for money had and received, there must be what might be called some privacy of a legally recognizable nature as such some knowledge of particular facts in the man who received the money and some mistake or ignorance of fact on the part of the man who paid the money or some relation of trust and confidence between them on which the Court could fasten as creating the relation of principal and agent (though by fiction) between the plaintiff and the defendant. Per OLDFIELD, J. Obiter It may be permissible in India as it is in England to sue only the solvent members of a firm when a decree is sought against it. Hastings v. Ramabottom, 6 Taunton, 179, referred to. RAMASAMI NAIDU v. MUTHUSAMI PILLAI (1918) . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 923 sub-s. (2)—Whether bar to the passing of a decree in a pending suit—Meaning of the words "remedy" and "commence any suit or legal proceeding" in the section, explained K C was adjudicated insolvent in January 1911. At that time he was defending a case for recovery of Rs. 69,346 on a mortgage deed. In spite of his adjudication he continued the defence of the suit and the first court decreed it against him. On appeal to the Chief Court the decree was modified to this extent that a preliminary decree for the sale of the mortgaged property was passed, but plaintiff was left at liberty to apply subsequently for a personal decree against K C in the event of the sale proceeds proving insufficient, to meet the mortgage debt. The sale proceeds did prove insufficient and the plaintiff moved the Court of first instance to take action under O XXXIV, r. 6 Civil Procedure Code, and a personal decree for the balance due issued against K C the defendant, who appealed against that decree. Held, that the application by the plaintiff under O XXXIV, r. 6, was not a new proceeding but a continuation of the original suit, and the decree passed thereon was not a "remedy" against the person of the insolvent and did not therefore contravene the provisions of s. 16 (2) of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907. Held further, that a decree is not a remedy for a civil wrong, but merely a step towards the remedy. The remedy is the benefit accruing to the creditor through the execution of his decree and that remedy he can secure only through the Insolvency Court by proving his debt. Mamraj v. Bri Lal (I. L. R. 34 All. 106), dissented from. KISHAN CHAND v. BUKHA LAL

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—*contd.*s. 16—contd.

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 95

Secured Creditor—Landholder and tenant—Suit for arrears of rent—Declaration of insolvency in force at date of suit A land holder is not, as regards an agricultural tenant, a secured creditor within the meaning of s. 16 (5) of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907. Although he possibly may be in a position to detain even whilst a declaration of insolvency is in force, he cannot without the leave of the Court sue for arrears of rent. RAGHUPATH SINGH v. RAM CHANDAR (1911) I. L. R. 34 All. 121

Civil Procedure Code (1908), s. 60—Insolvency—Attachment of half the salary of the insolvent One of the creditors of a person who had been declared an insolvent by the Small Cause Court of Cawnpore, but who had since obtained employment in the Government Press in

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd

s. 16—contd

Calcutta, applied to the Court for attachment of half the insolvent's salary for the benefit of his creditors. Held, that it was no valid reason for rejecting the creditor's application that its allowance would not leave the insolvent enough to live on. Ram Chandra Neogi v. Shyama Charan Bose, 18 C. W. N. 1050, and Tulsi Lal v. Giraham, 38 Indian Cases, 410, followed. DUTT PRASAD v. LEWIS (1918). I. L. R. 40 ALL 213

Effect of order of adjudication on institution of suits by creditors to set aside fraudulent alienations by insolvent. The effect of an order adjudicating a person an insolvent under s. 16 (1) of the Provincial Insolvency Act is to vest the administration of his estate including the realization of his assets under the control of the Court. Hence after such an order a creditor (whether decree holder or otherwise) is by s. 16 (3) (b) of the Act prevented from instituting without the leave of the Court of Insolvency, a suit to set aside a transfer made by the insolvent as being in fraud of creditors. VASUDEVA KAMATH v. LAKSHMINARAYANA RAO (1918). I. L. R. 42 Mad. 684

Mortgage executed, without objection on the part of either the receiver or the Court, by insolvent to pay off principal or only creditor—Heirs of insolvent not entitled to object. During the pendency of proceedings in insolvency, the insolvents, whose principal, if not the only, creditor was a mortgagee, executed another mortgage in favour of a third party and paid off the first mortgage. Neither the receiver nor the court in which the insolvency proceedings were took any objection to the execution of the second mortgage. Held, on suit brought by the second mortgagee on the mortgage in his favour against the heirs of the mortgagee that it was not open to the defendants to contest the suit upon the ground that the execution of the mortgage involved a breach of the insolvency law. SRIAM SARUP NAND RAM. I. L. R. 43 ALL 555 ss. 16 (c), 18 (3)—Property alleged to be held by stranger in benami for insolvent if may be recovered without suit—Judge's power to order inquiry by Receiver. Where a creditor of an insolvent alleged that certain Government promissory notes were being held by the insolvent's brother in benami for the insolvent and the insolvent's brother denied that the insolvent had any title to the Government promissory notes and alleged that they were his own property, and the Judge called for a report on the matter from the Receiver. Held, that it was open to the Judge to direct the Receiver to enquire and report to him for his own information. That on receipt of such report, it was for the Judge to consider whether upon the facts before him, he should direct the Receiver to bring a suit in order that the question of title may be decided or whether the case is so clear (that is to say, the title is not really in dispute) that it can be dealt with in the insolvency without the necessity of a suit. If the question of title be seriously in dispute the Judge should direct the Receiver to bring a suit to have the question determined. SATYA KUMAR MUKHERJEE v. MANAGER, BENARES BANK, LD (1917). 22 C. W. N. 700

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd

s. 16, sub-s. (2), cl. (a): ss. 27, 42, sub-s. (1).—Direction for deposit in Court of one fourth of insolvent's monthly salary which exceeded Rs 40, if legal—Order for adjudication when can be subsequently annulled—“Salary” if “property” of insolvent—Jurisdiction of High Court to give directions regarding order of adjudication, when only the order annulling it is under appeal. A debtor who was arrested in execution of a decree applied to be and was adjudged an insolvent. In the order of adjudication the insolvent was directed, pending realisation by sale of his assets, to pay a quarter of his monthly salary of Rs 100 a month into Court until the sum realised from him should equal one third of the debts for which the creditor had obtained a decree. Subsequently, the District Judge annulled the order of adjudication on the ground that the insolvent had failed to abide by the condition regarding payment of one fourth of his salary. Held, that the direction regarding the payment of one fourth of the insolvent's salary could not have been given under the Provincial Insolvency Act. The proper course for the District Judge would have been to direct the Receiver to arrange for payment to him of one half of the salary earned by the insolvent, “salary” being “property” of the insolvent within the meaning of s. 16, sub-s. (2), cl. (a), only one half of the salary which exceeded Rs 40 a month being exempt from attachment under s. 60, Civil Procedure Code. That the subsequent order of the District Judge annulling the order of adjudication could not have been made under sub-s. (1) of s. 42, the conditions required by that section being absent in the present case. That when setting aside, at the instance of the insolvent the order of the lower Court whereby it annulled the adjudication and which was the only order under appeal, it was open to the High Court to consider what directions should be given regarding the order of adjudication which was modified to the extent that the condition imposed was discharged, the District Judge being ordered to give the necessary direction according to law. RAM CHANDRA NEOGI v. SHYAMA CHARAN BOSE (1913). 18 C. W. N. 1052 ss. 16 (2 and 6) and 38—Insolvency—Date of vesting of insolvent's property in the Receiver—Alienation of property by insolvent between the dates of the representation of the petition and the order of adjudication. The effect of sub-s. (2) and (6) of s. 16 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, is that while no vesting of the property of the insolvent in the Receiver takes place until an order of adjudication is made and it is order of adjudication which vests the property per se the less by a legal fiction, the vesting of the property of the insolvent in the Receiver must be deemed to have taken place when once an order of adjudication has been made at the date of the presentation of the petition, or, in other words, the commencement of the insolvency. It follows, therefore that the insolvent cannot make a valid alienation of his property between the dates of the presentation of the petition and the order of adjudication. T. V. Sankaranarayanan v. Alogri Aiyar, 49 Indian Cases, 233, referred to. SHRI NATH SINGH v. MUKESH RAM. I. L. R. 42 ALL 433.

ss. 16 (2), 18 (2), and 19 (2)—Adjudication of a person as insolvent—Necessity of an order appointing a person as Receiver of the insolvent's estate. S 18 (2) of the Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907) contemplates on every adjudication of insolvency an order by the Court appointing a Receiver for the insolvent's estate and without such an order the estate does not vest in the Official Receiver under s 19 (2). Hence a sale of the estate by the Official Receiver without such an order does not give the vendee any title. Official Receiver of Trichinopoly v. Somasundaram Chetty (1916) 30 M L J 415, followed Mothuswami Swamikal v. Somoo Kandiar (1920) I L R. 8. 43 Mad. 869

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—*contd.*ss. 16 (2), 18 (2), and 19 (2)—contd.

Sub-s 4—Muhammadan law—Bequest to an heir—Consent of other heirs to bequest—Such consent not affected by insolvency of other heirs—When the consent of the heirs of a Muhammadan to a bequest in a will in favour of an heir has been signified, the legatee takes from the testator and the consent does not operate as a transfer by the heirs of a right which has in the meantime vested in them. Such consent would not be affected by the fact of the consenting heirs being insolvents. Aziz-un-Nissa Bibi v. Chirine

I L R. 42 All. 593

ss 16 (6), 36—

See INSOLVENCY I L R. 46 Calc. 991

Order of insolvency, if relates back to date of presentation of petition—Transfer made within two years of date of petition, if comes within s 36—The provisions of s 36 are to be read with s 16 (6) of the Act and an order of adjudication relates back to and takes effect from the date of the presentation of the petition for the purpose of making the properties of the insolvent liable to the creditors, and a transfer made within two years of the date of the petition comes within the provisions of s 36. Rakhal Chandra Purkait v. Sudhishdro Nath Bose

24 C. W. N. 172

ss 16, 22—Mortgage of factory—

Decree for sale—Appointment of receiver to get in profits for benefit to decree holder—Insolvency of judgment-debtor—Profits appropriated by creditors of insolvent—Suit by mortgagee decree holder to recover profits—One J L being the mortgagee of a cotton ginning factory, obtained a decree for sale on his mortgage, but, instead of the factory being sold in execution of this decree, a receiver was appointed for the period of one year by consent of the decree-holder. The receiver was to work the factory, receive the profits and hand them over to the decree holder. Notwithstanding that no fresh order was passed by the executing court, the receiver remained in possession of the factory for more than two years. He received the profits, but in accordance with the local practice of the trade made them over to a certain association for the collection and distribution of the profits of cotton ginning factories. Meanwhile the mortgagor became insolvent, and creditors holding simple money decrees against him proceeded to attach the profits of the factory in the hands of the association, and the profits were divided rateably between these creditors. The mortgagee then sued to recover the profits of the factory earned whilst the receiver had been in charge, making defendants (i) the receiver originally appointed by the Court, (ii) the creditors of the insolvent mortgagor and (iii) the receiver in insolvency. Held, that the appointment of the original receiver having been made with the consent of the decree holder and the judgment debtor was not made without jurisdiction, that the profits of the factory for the year for which the receiver was appointed were assignable entirely to the satisfaction of the mortgage decree and that the suit as against the receiver in insolvency was not barred by either s 16 or s 22 of the Provincial Insolvency Act 1907. In re Patts Ex parte Taylor, [1893] 1 Q B 618, and Groshaw v. Lyndhurst Ship Company, [1897] 2 Ch D 151, distinguished. Jitunku Lal v. Puri Lal (1916) I L R. 39 All. 204 ss. 16, 31—Civil Procedure Code, 1908, O XXXI, r 6—Application for decree over against two judgment debtors one of whom had been declared insolvent—Where one of two mortgagors against whom a decree under O XXXIV, r 6, of the Code of Civil Procedure was otherwise obtainable had been declared an insolvent under the provisions of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, but the other had not. Held, that the decree holders could not be granted a decree over as against the insolvent but could only prove their debt in the insolvency proceedings. Bartley v. Dubouze and Company, L R 7 Q B D 413 referred to. Mamraj v. Beli Lal Chakravart (1911) I L R. 34 All. 106

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—*contd.*ss. 16, 22—contd.

ss. 16 and 34—

Decree holder and Receiver—priority between title of, in respect of assets realized by date of adjudication—S 16 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, is controlled by s 34 of that Act. The title of a decree holder in respect of assets realized before the date of the order of Insolvency prevails over the title of a Receiver appointed on or after such date. Pati Pam v. Sreemath Prasad 2 Pat L J. 235

Execution of decree against insolvent during pendency of insolvency proceedings—Right of decree holder in respect of property attached and sold and money attached before adjudication—Whilst proceedings in insolvency under the Provincial Insolvency Act 1907, were pending certain immovable property of the insolvent was attached and sold in execution of a decree against him, and the proceeds deposited in Court for the benefit of the decree holder. The decree-holder also attached certain moneys which had been paid into Court to the credit of the insolvent but up to the date of the order of adjudication had taken no further steps to possess himself thereof. Held, that the decree holder was entitled as against the receiver to the benefit of the proceeds of execution of his own decree, but not to the moneys of the insolvent which he had attached. Prasack v. Madan Goyal, I L R 29 Cole 428 followed Sri Chand v. Murali Lal (1912)

I L R. 34 All. 628

ss. 16 and 35—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882

s 56 I L R. 42 All. 236

ss 16, 36, 43—Insolvent—Property of insolvent which does not vest in the receiver—Cen

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.—ss. 16, 36, 43—contd.

pancy holding—House of agriculturist. A person who was an agriculturist by occupation was adjudicated an insolvent. Shortly before his insolvency he had granted a lease of his occupancy holding. The zamindar was the principal creditor. The District Judge ordered the land to be surrendered to the zamindar and the insolvent's house to be sold. Held that the property of the insolvent which is exempted by an enactment for the time being in force from liability to attachment and sale in execution of a decree does not vest in the Court or the receiver, therefore the District Judge had no jurisdiction to direct the receiver to surrender the tenancy and to set aside the lease. Further the order directing the sale of the house was illegal inasmuch as the house being that of an agriculturist and being exempted from attachment and sale in execution of a decree, never vested in the Court or the receiver. SAGAR MAL v RAO GURRAJ SINGH (1916)

I. L. R. 39 ALL 223

—ss. 16, 41, 42, 45—insolvent—Assets declared by receiver not realisable—Discharge of insolvent—Subsequent sale by insolvent of assets declared unrealisable. Part of the apparent assets of an insolvent consisted of mortgage rights in certain property. These rights were not dealt with by the receiver because he considered that it would be impossible to realize anything on them. The insolvent was accordingly discharged. Thereafter the insolvent managed to sell the mortgage rights which had been declared unsaleable by the receiver. Held that in the circumstances the sale was good and passed whatever rights the discharged insolvent had to the purchaser. SHYAMNANDAN v KASHT (1916)

I. L. R. 39 ALL 223

—ss. 16, 47, 12, cl. (3), and 51—Insolvency Rules XXI, cl. (3) and V, cl. (2) and (3)—Creditor's Petition by creditor to adjudicate debtor an insolvent—Service of notice on agent, if sufficient—No notice sent by Court if rough registered post, effect of—Acts of insolvency committed by agent, if sufficient—Difference between English and Indian Law. Where a petition was filed in a District Court by a creditor praying for an order to adjudicate his debtor an insolvent under s. 16 of the Provincial Insolvency Act and a notice of such petition was served on his local agent with a general power of attorney from the debtor who was residing outside the jurisdiction of the Court: Held that the service of notice on the agent was in law sufficient though no notice was sent by the Court to the debtor through registered post. Effect of s. 47 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, and r. XXI, cl. (2) and (3) and r. V, cl. (2) of the Insolvency Rules, considered. Under s. 4 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, a debtor can be adjudicated an insolvent upon acts of insolvency committed by his agent. In the matter of Brimmohan Dubay 2 C. W. N. 306 referred to. Under the English law, an act of bankruptcy must be a personal act or default of the debtor and could not be committed through an agent. Ex parte Blain, 12 Ch. D. 695, and Cooke v Charles A. Toxler Co., [1907] A. C. 102. Though, under s. 4 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, an adjudication of the debtor as an insolvent relates back to the date of the petition, the power of the debtor's agent under a general power of attorney ceases only with reference to his dealings with the debtor's property and the carrying on of the trade but not with reference to other acts of the agent and one of those acts must be taken to be to stave off bankruptcy orders against the principal. In re Pollitt [1893] 1 Q. B. 455 referred to. KALIANJI v THE BANK OF MADRAS (1915)

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.—ss. 16, 47, 12, cl. (3), and 51—contd.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 693

—ss. 16 and 56—Act (Local) No. 11 of 1901 (Agra Tenancy Act), ss. 103 and 20—Insolvency—Occupancy holding—Position of insolvent occupancy tenant. An occupancy holding being altogether outside the provisions of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, that Act is no bar to a suit for arrears of rent brought by the zamindar pending proceedings in insolvency. Roohmeh Singh v. Ram Chander, I. L. R. 34 All 121, overruled. KALKA DAS v GANJU SINGH

I. L. R. 43 All. 510

—s. 18—

Sec s 3

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 524

Sec s 15

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 15

Sec s 16

22 C. W. N. 700

see Receiver

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 869

see Receiver

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 678

1. —Sole deed executed benami by the insolvent—Proceeds entitled to remove the so-called purchasers from possession of properties sold—Indian Limitation Act (X of 1908), Sch. I Art. 91. Where insolvents, in order to save their property from their creditors, had executed fictitious sale deeds thereof in favour of relations, but never gave, and never intended to give, the so-called purchasers possession: Held that such transaction was no bar to the receiver taking possession of the property comprised in the said sale-deeds as the property of the insolvents. Pathermal Chetty v. Munonda Srinivas I. L. R. 35 Cal. 551, referred to. JAGAT SINGH v RAMANAND SINGH (1917)

I. L. R. 39 All. 633

2. —Decree obtained by insolvent before adjudication—Attachment of decree—Effect of subsequent adjudication on right of attaching creditor to execute decree. Where a decree has been attached by a creditor of the decree holder and subsequently the decree-holder is adjudged an insolvent, the right to execute such decree vests in the receiver in insolvency, and is not retained by the attaching creditor. Faghwanth Das v. Sundar Das Ahluja, I. L. R. 42 Cal. 72 referred to. DAMPAT SINGH v. MICHAEL ALI KHAN (1917)

I. L. R. 40 All. 88

3. —Creditor alleging property of insolvent being kept in tenami by his wife—Court if may summarily enquire into allegation—Proper procedure—Court to authorise Receiver to sue on creditor putting him in funds and indemnifying him for costs. Where a creditor of an insolvent applied to the District Judge complaining that the insolvent had concealed certain properties by having them vested in the name of his wife and prayed that certain persons and the insolvent and his wife be examined in regard to the matter:

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s. 18—contd.

Held, that such a summary inquiry is not supported by any provision of the Provincial Insolvency Act; and the Judge was right in refusing to order such an inquiry. But the creditor could not be told to bring a suit for title against the alleged benamidar. The proper procedure was for the creditor to apply to the Court to direct the Receiver to institute and continue a suit against the wife of the insolvent to recover the property in question, making it a condition precedent that the creditor so applying put the Official Receiver in funds and properly indemnify him against the costs of the suit, and the Court should make such an order if in its opinion the creditor has a prima facie case. JOY CHANDRA DAS v MAHOMED AMIN (1917) . . . 22 C. W. N. 702

ss. 18 (3), 20—Transfer by insolvent challenged as benami—Judge, if may order transferee to be dispossessed without suit—Judge, if may direct Receiver of insolvent's properties to hold a judicial inquiry—Receiver may report administratively—Judge when he directs a suit should order creditor to put Receiver in funds and indemnify him Where a transfer, dated the 16th March 1913, by a person who was adjudicated an insolvent on 11th February 1916, having been attacked in the interest of his creditors as benami, the Judge ordered the Receiver appointed to take over the insolvent's properties (who was not the Official Receiver appointed by the Local Government under s. 19 of the Provincial Insolvency Act) to enquire and report, and the Receiver after holding an enquiry of a judicial character submitted his report, which however the Judge did not accept, but directed the enquiry to be reopened in Court. Held, that the duties of an ordinary Receiver under s. 20 of the Act are executive in their character and the Receiver is not a Judicial Officer and has no jurisdiction to make anything in the nature of a judicial inquiry. S. 18 (3) of the Act is not intended to authorise the removal of any person whom the insolvent himself could not remove without the aid of legal proceedings. When the benami character of the title is admitted or when the veil is transparent, and the insolvent is in substantial beneficial possession, the Court may order the delivery of the property to the Receiver. But where the alleged benamidar is in possession claiming adversely to the insolvent, then any claim made by the Receiver or the creditor that the property is really the property of the insolvent can only be enforced by suit in the regular court. The Court may direct an administrative inquiry by the Receiver for the purpose of informing his mind and deciding what action should be taken, and if in the result he is of opinion that a suit should be brought, he should make the order on terms requiring the creditor at whose instance the suit is directed to put the Receiver in funds and indemnify against the costs of the suit. —NIL MOVI CHOWDHURY v DURGIA CHAKRAVARTY (1918) . . . 22 C. W. N. 704 ss. 18, 20 (a)—Receiver, sale of insolvent's properties by—Procedure Sales by the Receiver in whom the property of an insolvent vests under s. 18 of the Provincial Insolvency Act are really sales by the owner, and may be held either by public auction or by private treaty. The procedure for sales in execution of decrees ss. 18, 20 (a)—contd.

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

under the Civil Procedure Code does not apply to them. —ENTAZUDDI SHAIKH v RAM KRISHNA BANIK . . . 24 C. W. N. 1072 ss. 18, 20 (a) (c) and 23—Not vesting order in favour of Receiver—Order to Official Receiver to adjudicate and administer the insolvent's estate, effect of On an application for adjudication of insolvency the District Court passed the following order:—"The petition is transferred to the Official Receiver for adjudication and for the administration of the estate." After adjudication by the Receiver no separate order vesting the insolvent's estate in the Receiver was passed by the District Court under s. 18 of the Provincial Insolvency Act. Held, that by the combined effect of s. 20 (a) and (c) and s. 23 of the Act, the order to administer the estate empowered the Receiver to sell the insolvent's estate. —Muthuswami Swamiar v. Somoo Kandiari, (1920), 1 L. R. 43 Mad. 869 distinguished. —SUBBA AIYAR v RAMASWAMI AIYANGAR (1921) . . . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 54 ss. 18, 36, 47—Power of Court to dispossess third person of property belonging to an insolvent—Inquiry as to ownership of property alleged to belong to the insolvent—Procedure A Court exercising jurisdiction under the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, has power to inquire whether property in the possession of a third party and alleged by the receiver to be property of the insolvent is really so or not, and if it finds that such property is the property of the insolvent, to order its delivery to the receiver. But in making such an inquiry the Court should follow the procedure of a Civil Court in a civil suit, should require the receiver and the party in possession to state their respective cases in writing, should fix issues, and should give the parties an opportunity of producing evidence. —BAKSHIDAR v KHARAGIR (1914) . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 65

s. 19 (2)—

See s. 16 (2) . . . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 869

ss. 19—20, suit against a Receiver

—Necessity of notice—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, ss. 2 AND 80 . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 895

s. 20—

See s. 2 . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 678

See s. 15 . . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 15

See s. 18 (3) . . . 22 C. W. N. 704
24 C. W. N. 1072

ss. 20, 22—Properties advertised for sale by the Official Receiver as subject to mortgage—Change in the sale proclamation on the day of sale—Sale free of incumbrance—Irregularity vitiating the sale S. 22 of the Provincial Insolvency Act gives unfettered discretion to the Court to set aside a sale held by the Official Receiver if the change in the conditions of the sale proclamation had the effect of preventing intending bidders from coming forward. —In re Bhukhandas, 7 Bom. L. R. 954, distinguished. —Ex parte Lloyd, Pe Peters, 47 L. T. 164. A creditor who is entitled to a dividend in respect of the sale of the property of the insolvent is a person aggrieved if the decision goes against him. —In re Lau Ex parte, Board of Trade, (1884) 2 Q. B. 305, and ex parte Official Receiver, 15

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

ss. 20, 22—contd.

Q. B. D. 174, followed THIRUVENKATACHARIAR v. THENTAYIAMMAL (1915) I. L. R. 39 Mad. 479 ss. 23, 22, 43—Civil Procedure Code (1908), O. XXI, r. 58—Insolvency—Property taken by receiver as property of insolvent—Objection by third party claiming to be owner—Procedure—Appeal A receiver appointed under the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, took possession at the instance of one of the creditors, of certain property which was believed to be that of the insolvent. A third party came into Court and applied under O. XXI r. 58, of the Code of Civil Procedure, claiming the property as his, and when his application was rejected appealed to the High Court. Held, that the applicant's proper remedy was under s. 22 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, and that an appeal did not lie as of right, but only by leave of the District Court or of the High Court. Quære Whether an Additional District Judge, to whom a matter under the Provincial Insolvency Act had been made over by the District Judge was a District Court within the meaning of the Act. MUL CHAND v. MURARI LAL (1913)

I. L. R. 36 All. 8

ss. 20, 47—Sale by receiver of property alleged to belong to an insolvent—Property in possession of third person—Obstruction by such third person—Summary enquiry by District Judge—Order directing delivery of possession, irregularity of—Proceedings in s. 47 of the Act, meaning of Certain property alleged to belong to an insolvent was sold by the receiver under s. 20 of the Provincial Insolvency Act. The purchaser whilst attempting to take possession, was obstructed by the appellants who claimed to be in possession of the property as owners thereof. The District Judge, purporting to act under s. 47 of the Act, after a summary enquiry ordered possession to be given to the purchaser. Held, that the District Judge had no jurisdiction to pass such an order as s. 47 only lays down the procedure to be followed by the Insolvency Judge with regard to proceedings under the Act. Held, also, that the word 'proceedings' in s. 47 of the Act means the proceedings of the Court and not the act of the receiver under s. 20 of the Act. Manaloonnessa Bibee v. Akhatoonnessa Bibee, I. L. R. 21 Cal. 479, and Gulam Hossein Cassim Arif v. Fatima Begum, 6 I. C. 300, explained. Choda Lal v. Luckman Parshad, 37 I. C. 339, approved. NARASIMHAYA v. VENKATACHARYA (1917) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 440

s. 21—whether Insolvency Court can proceed against the land of an insolvent who is a member of an agricultural tribe—

See INSOLVENCY. I. L. R. 2 Lah. 78

s. 22—

See s. 2. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 752

See s. 15. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 15

See s. 16. I. L. R. 39 All. 204

See s. 20. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 479

I. L. R. 36 All. 8

1. — Status of any person to bring conduct of Official Receiver to notice of Court to rectify Debtor as an insolvent Held, that any

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s. 22—contd.

person, and not merely the insolvent or the creditors or any other aggrieved person, can take action to bring the conduct of a Receiver in any particular respect to the notice of the Court with a view to having his act or decision in any particular matter reversed or modified. Also that the Court has inherent powers to rectify the Receiver's errors or mistakes or to reverse or modify his acts or decisions. Hanshur v. Rakhal Das, 18 C. W. N. 266, followed. Held, further, that where the Court acts upon information supplied by persons who are outside the scope of s. 22 of the Insolvency Act, the time-limit prescribed in that section would be no bar to action being taken by the Court. DATTA RAM v. DEOKI NAYDAN

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 307

2. — Receiver of adjudicated insolvent's estate, issue of sale proclamation by—Property belonging to stranger included in sale—Right of stranger to move Court—Stranger, if a person 'aggrieved'—Limitation—Inherent power of Court to restrain its officer from acting in excess of authority When during the pendency of insolvency proceedings against the judgment-debtor, the decree holder executed his decree which was a mortgage decree and in execution purchased the mortgaged properties and the judgment-debtor was subsequently adjudicated an insolvent and a Receiver was appointed who sent to Court a sale proclamation which included the properties purchased by the mortgagee, and more than 21 days after the sale proclamation was served the mortgagee presented a petition in Court urging that the Receiver had no authority to sell the properties purchased by him: Held, that the mortgagee was not a person 'aggrieved' by the Receiver's act within the meaning of s. 22 of the Insolvency Act and his objection was not subject to the limitation provided in that section. That the Court was competent to deal with the objection, as the Court has inherent authority to review the conduct of a Receiver appointed by it and to make an appropriate order so that a stranger may not be prejudiced by any act of the Receiver in excess of his authority. That it was competent to such stranger to bring any such act of the Receiver to the notice of the Court and it was the duty of the Court to inquire into it. "A person aggrieved" is a person who has suffered a legal grievance—a man against whom a decision has been pronounced which has wrongfully deprived him of something or wrongfully affected his title to something and does not mean a person who has lost a benefit which he might have obtained if an order had been made. Ex parte Subbatham, 14 C. D. 455, referred to. HANSUR v. RAKHAL DAS GHOSH (1913)

18 C. W. N. 266

3. — Attachment of property as that of an insolvent—Decision of Insolvency Court as between rival claimants to property attached that the property belonged to one of the claimants—Suit by the other to recover possession—Res judicata Held, that the decision of an Insolvency Court, as between two rival claimants to property attached by a receiver as the property of the insolvent that the property belongs to one or the other claimant does not operate as res judicata in respect of a suit on title by one claimant

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd

s. 22—contd

ant against the other for the recovery of such property HUKUMAT RAI v PADAM NARAY (1917) . . . I. L. R. 39 All 353

Insolvency—

Execution of decree—Attachment—Objection of claimant to attach property disallowed—Judgment debtors declared insolvent—Suit by claimant for declaration of title Certain property was attached in execution of a decree M., claiming that the property attached belonged to her and not to the judgment-debtors filed an objection to the attachment. Her objection was disallowed. She then filed a suit for a declaration of her title, and, as the judgment-debtors had meanwhile been adjudicated insolvents, joined as a defendant the receiver of their property. Held, that the suit was maintainable and was not barred by s. 22 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907. Mul Chand v Mewar Lal, I I P 36 All 8, distinguished, Jhanku Lal v Puri Lal, I L R 39 All 204, referred to. MOHNI R BALI NATH (1918) I. L. R. 40 All 582

Insolvency—Dismissal of objection to attachment of property by receiver—Subsequent suit by objector for declaration of title—Res judicata Upon certain property, namely, a share in a house, having been attached by a receiver in insolvency as the property of the insolvent, a claim thereto was preferred by the son and nephew of the insolvent who filed an application under s. 22 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907. Evidence of the title of the applicants was produced before the Insolvency Court, but the application was rejected and an appeal from the order of rejection was dismissed on the merits. The applicants then filed a regular suit for a declaration of their title to the same property. Held, that the suit was barred by reason of the previous order of the Insolvency Court. Pala Ram v Jujhar Singh, I L R 39 All 676, referred to. IRSHAD HUSAIN v GOPI NATH (1919) . . . I. L. R. 41 All 378

s. 22, 46—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), s. 11 . . . I. L. R. 39 All 626

Person aggrieved—Right of appeal—Necessary parties Held, that any creditor or any other person who is a creditor of an insolvent has no locus standi in an application in the Insolvency Court made against the estate of the insolvent, represented by the receiver, by a person claiming adversely to the insolvent's estate. He has, therefore, no right of appeal against the decision on such an application. Ex parte Subbatham, 14 CA D 468, and Bali v Vaid Lal 33 Indian Cases 773, referred to. Kelokey Churan Banerjee v Srimanthy Sarat Kumari Debi, 20 C R N 993 distinguished. JHABEA LAL v SHRI CHARAN DAS (1916)

I. L. R. 39 All 152

Appeal—Per son aggrieved. In the course of proceedings in insolvency before a District Judge the insolvent filed an application in court complaining of a sale of property which had been held by order of the receiver and urging that it should not be confirmed. His objections having been disallowed and the sale confirmed, the insolvent appealed

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd

ss 22, 45—contd

to the High Court, having obtained leave to appeal under s. 46 (3) of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907. Held, that no appeal lay, inasmuch as the insolvent could not be held to be a "person aggrieved" in the legal sense of the term, and the fact that he had obtained leave to appeal from the Court below could not give him a right which was not conferred by the Act. Jhabba Lal v Shri Charan Das, I L R 39 All 152, Ladu Ram v Mahabir Prasad, I L R 39 All 171, Ex parte Sheffield, 10 CA D 434, and In re Leabitter 10 CA D 389, referred to. SARHAWAT ALI v RADHA MOHAI (1918) . . . I. L. R. 41 All 243 ss. 22, 36, 52—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 5—Insolvency—Application to Court to rescind act of receiver—Limitation. Held, that s. 5 of the Indian Limitation Act 1908, does not apply to applications contemplated by s. 22 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907. Droopad v Hira Lal, I I R 34 All 496, distinguished. THAKUR PRASAD v PANTO LAL (1913)

I. L. R. 35 All 410

s. 23—

See s. 18

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 547

Insolvency—Attachment of applicant's property prior to adjudication—Effect of adjudication on the attachment After an adjudication in insolvency, an attachment of property, though made before the adjudication, ceases to have any effect, and the property of the insolvent vests in the receiver, who is the person to maintain all proceedings. Where no receiver is actually appointed the Court is the receiver under s. 23 of the Provincial Insolvency Act. GORIND DAS v KARAN SINGH (1917)

I. L. R. 40 All 197

ss. 23 and 25—Where a plaint is returned under s. 23 the High Court will not interfere under s. 25 nor s. 115 of the Civil Procedure Code nor s. 107 of the Government of India Act unless the Court of first instance has exercised its discretion ignorantly or perversely or has refused to exercise it and thereby caused injury to the parties which would be irreparable if not set right. GANGA PRASAD v NANDU RAM

I. Pat L. J. 465

ss. 24, 26—Insolvency—Application by a creditor to have his name entered in the schedule of creditors—Right of the scheduled creditors to make objections—Revision. Creditors whose names are already in the schedule prepared under s. 24 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, are entitled to be heard before the debt of a creditor who comes in at the last minute under s. 24 (3) of the Act is entered in the schedule. ALLAHABAD BANK LTD v MURLIDHAR (1912) . . . I. L. R. 34 All 442 ss. 24, 26, 36, 52—Rules—Official Receiver—Delegation of powers—Framing of schedule by Receiver—Enquiry, nature of—Order of Receiver, if judicial or final—Entry of name of a creditor in schedule—Subsequent application by Receiver to Court to expunge name—Power of Court, to entertain application. An Official Receiver under the Provincial Insolvency Act in framing a schedule of creditors, does not decide judicially or finally upon contested claims. Where, therefore, an Official Receiver passed an order upon the claim of a creditor of an insolvent to rank as a secured creditor under a mortgage which was disputed by another creditor, the action of the Receiver amounted only to an entry of the name of the creditor in the schedule framed under s. 24 of the Act, and did not preclude the Court from entering an application by the Receiver under ss 26 and 36 of the Act to expunge the name of the creditor from the schedule. ANADINSHAW MAHAIKAR v THE OFFICIAL RECEIVER, TINSVELLY (1917) . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 30

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

ss 24, 26, 36, 32—contd.

ss 21, 27, 47—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 43 Cal. 57

s. 26—

See s. 4 I. L. R. 36 Mad. 402

See s. 21 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 442

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 30

s. 27—

See s. 16 (*) (a) . . . 18 C. W. N. 1052
I. L. R. 43 Cal. 57

—ss 28, 33, 24—*Proposal for composition subsequent to adjudication of insolvency rejected by District Judge—Private arrangement with creditors and payment in accordance therewith—Subsequent petition by creditors alleging misdeeds by misrepresentations—Such creditors are entitled to prove claim as on date of adjudication on deposit in Court of sums received by them—Person making payment to such creditors, if entitled to be substituted in place of creditors—Duty of Court to prepare schedule of creditors and debts After being adjudicated insolvent the Appellants proposed a scheme for composition which was rejected by the District Judge. They subsequently represented to the Court that a majority of the creditors had accepted from one M half their respective dues in full satisfaction of their claims as suggested in the scheme for composition. These creditors subsequently filed petitions in Court stating that they had been induced by false and fraudulent misrepresentations of the insolvents to accept from them half of the principal sums due to them and prayed that on payment by them into Court of the said sums they should be permitted to prove their claims—Held—That in view of the provisions of ss. 28 and 33 of the Act these transactions could not be recognised in insolvency proceedings and the petitioning creditors were entitled to prove their claims as they stood on the date of adjudication. That the framing of the schedule of creditors and debts under s. 24 of the Act is the duty of the Court which is to decide on each claim on evidence and in case of doubts after hearing necessary parties. BEHARY LAL SIKDAR v. HANSMAN DAS CHAKMAL 25 C. W. N. 137*

s. 30—

See SET-OFF . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1219

s. 31—

See s. 16 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 106

—“Secured creditor”—

Insolvency—Agreement appointing creditor agent for sale of debtor's goods—Proceeds to be paid to creditor. The owners of a printing and publishing business who owed money to a bank entered into an agreement with the bank, the substance of which was that all books then in stock and all

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s. 31—contd.

books to be published thereafter were to be made over at once to the bank; that a commission at a certain rate was to be allowed to the bank on the sale of the books, and that the sale-proceeds of the books were to be credited to the debtor's loan account every month after deducting the commission due to the bank. There was also other clauses, and finally one item Charan Shukul agreed to act on behalf of the bank as sole agent for the sale of the debtor's books. Held, that the bank was, on this agreement, entitled to rank as a secured creditor of the owners of the printing and publishing business in the insolvency of the latter. ALLAHABAD TRADING AND BANKING CORPORATION, Ltd v. SHULAM MOHAMMAD (1915) . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 283

s. 34—

See s. 16 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 625

2 Pat. L. J. 235

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 42 Cal. 289

1. —Attachment before judgment—Plaintiff obtaining decree if executed on money deposited to have attachment withdrawn—Defendant adjudicated insolvent before money could be realised in execution of decree—Receiver in insolvency if may claim money deposited. Where defendant's properties were attached before judgment in plaintiff's suit but the Court directed the attached properties to be released from attachment on the defendant's paying Rs. 500 as cash security, and after the same was paid and the properties released, the defendant was adjudged an insolvent under Act III of 1907, but not before the plaintiff's suit was decreed. Held, that the plaintiff acquired no lien or charge upon the money deposited as security for getting the attachment before judgment withdrawn, and the Receiver in insolvency was entitled to have the money paid to him. The money not having been realised in execution of a decree prior to the adjudication order, s. 34 of Act III of 1907 did not apply. PROMOTHA NATH CHAKRAVARTI v. MONTE MOHAR SEN (1913) . . . 19 C. W. N. 1200

2. —Decree for sale of certain property was obtained by one of the creditors—Prior to sale judgment-debtor was adjudged insolvent—Position of other creditors. R. 34 of the Provincial Insolvency Act was intended to put the creditors of the insolvent who have not actually attached the property before the date of the order of adjudication in as good a position as creditors of the insolvent who but for his insolvency would have been entitled to a rateable distribution of the assets realised on an execution sale. Certain property was attached before judgment and a decree was subsequently obtained for its sale but prior to a sale actually taking place the judgment debtor was adjudged an insolvent. Held, that as the order of adjudication was passed prior to the sale of the property it must be regarded as the property of the judgment-debtor and as such was available to the general body of creditors. KANAI NATH v. KANHAIA LAL SHARMA (1917) . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 452

3. —Right of execution creditor to assets realised before adjudication. Where the assets have been realised in the course of execution by sale or otherwise as mentioned in s. 34

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd

s. 34—contd

before the date of the order of adjudication an execution creditor is entitled to the benefit of the execution against the Receiver GURAN GANDA CHARAN SAHA v TOYEBUDDIN AHMED (1918) 23 C. W. N. 461 ss 34, 35—Application for declaration of insolvency—Property of applicant attached—Power of Insolvency Court to stay proceedings in execution An Insolvency Court has no power to interfere with execution proceedings pending in another Court against a person who has filed his petition to be declared insolvent, at least, until either the debtor has been declared insolvent or until a receiver has been appointed. ANUR KUMAR v KESHO DAS (1917)

I. L. R. 39 All. 547

ss 34, 35, and 37—

See INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS

3 Pat. L. J. 456

s. 35—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 56 I. L. R. 42 All. 336

See s. 34 . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 547

s. 36—

See s. 3 . . . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 524

See s. 16 . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 120
24 C. W. N. 172

See s. 18 . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 65

See s. 21 . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 30

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 46 Cal. 591

1 ss 36, 46 (2) 50—

Order cancelling alienation of property by insolvent—Transferee, if may appeal—Appointed person—Receiver if necessary party to appeal—Property outside local limits, if may be dealt with—Calling in the aid of Court in whose jurisdiction property situate Where an alienation of property made by an insolvent prior to his adjudication as such is annulled under s. 36 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, the transferee is an 'aggrieved person' within s. 46 (2) of the Act and is entitled to prefer an appeal against the order. The transferee is moreover a necessary party to the proceeding and entitled to appeal as such. The proper person to make an application under s. 36 is the Receiver in whom the insolvent's properties have vested, and he is a necessary party to such a proceeding and to an appeal arising out of it. But where the application was made and prosecuted in the lower Court by the creditors, the Receiver not having been joined as a party, and the creditors were represented on the appeal and were fully heard in support of the order, and the order proposed to be made did not in any way affect the position of the Receiver, the appeal, to avoid needless delay, was heard and disposed of in the Receiver's absence. Under s. 36 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, the Court had jurisdiction to deal with alienations made by the debtor of properties situated outside its local limits and such jurisdiction is not affected by the provisions of s. 16 of the Civil Procedure Code. A proceeding under s. 36 of the Act is not in the nature of a suit. It is only an incidental proceeding in the course of a more comprehensive one for adjudging a person an insolvent. Regard being had to the fact that the petitioner

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd

s. 36—contd

under s. 36 lived in Calcutta, that the Court in which the proceedings in insolvency were pending was at Dacca, that the property in question was situated at Monghyr and the transferee and the principal witnesses to the transfer were residents of that place, and that three of the petitioners own witnesses were residents respectively of Bhagalpur, Bardwan and Calcutta held, that this was a fit case for proceeding under s. 50, and the case was remanded to the lower Court with directions to call in the aid of the Court at Bhagalpur in regard to the matter LALJI SARAI SING v ABDUL QAWI (1910) 15 C. W. N. 253

2 Insolvent—Question of bona fides of transfer by insolvent—District Judge not competent to refer to subordinate Court Held, that a Court exercising Insolvency jurisdiction under Act No. III of 1907 has no power to refer for inquiry to a subordinate Court a question arising under s. 36 of the Act as to whether a mortgage executed by an insolvent was bona fide or not JAGANNATH v LACHMAN DAS (1914)

I. L. R. 38 All. 549

3 Insolvency—Right of one creditor to challenge claim of another—Duty of Court to inquire—Jurisdiction Held, that it is open to any creditor of an insolvent to challenge the validity of a debt set up by another creditor and if he does so the Judge is bound to inquire into the truth of his allegations in the insolvency, and cannot merely refer the applicant to his remedy by suit KHUSHALI RAM v BHOLAN MAL (1915)

I. L. R. 37 All. 252

4 Insolvent—Transfer of property by insolvent—Validity of such transfer s. 36 of the Provincial Insolvency Act is wider in its scope than s. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act Under the former Act it is not necessary to show that the transfer was made with intent to defeat or delay a creditor. All that it is necessary to show is that the transfer was made within two years of the adjudication of the insolvency of the debtor unless it is a transfer made before and in consideration of marriage. In order to determine the validity of a transfer by a debtor of all his property in lieu of a debt it is a matter for consideration whether a real transfer was intended by the transferor, or it was merely fictitious, and whether it was made in good faith the onus of proving good faith being upon the transferee MUHAMMAD HANIF ULLAH v MUSHTAQ HUSAIN (1916)

I. L. R. 39 All. 95

5 Insolvency—Procedure—Application by receiver to have annulled a transfer made by the insolvent Where a receiver in insolvency seeks to have set aside, under the provisions of s. 36 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907 a transfer made by the insolvent, he should file a written statement (similar to a plaint in ordinary suits) setting forth the grounds on which the transfer is challenged, the transferee should put in a written reply, and the proceeding should continue very much as in a suit. Such matters should not and cannot properly be disposed of in a summary manner CHUNNOO LAL v LACHMAN SONAR (1917)

I. L. R. 39 All. 391

6 Mortgage, if made in good faith—Onus Under s. 36 of the Provin-

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)
—contd

§ 36—contd.

cial Insolvency Act, the onus of proving that a mortgage executed by an insolvent within two years before his adjudication as such was made in good faith and is therefore binding on the Receiver is on the mortgagee. NILMONI CHAUDHURI v BASANTA KUMAR BANERJI (1911)

19 C W N 865

7 ———— Proceeding questioning transfer—Onus In a case arising under s 36 of the Provincial Insolvency Act the burden of proving that the transaction impugned was carried out in good faith and for valuable consideration is on the transferee. BASIBUDDIN THAYADAR v MORIMA DIBI (1918)

22 C. W. N 709

8 ———— Fraudulent transfer, whether creditor may institute suit to set aside Under s 36 of the Provincial Insolvency Act 1907, if a transaction by way of transfer of an insolvent's property takes place within two years prior to the act of insolvency or to the declaration of insolvency, then nothing more is necessary on the part of the person impeaching the transaction than to prove that it took place within two years prior to the act itself. When this has been done the onus is shifted on to the transferee to establish the bona fides of the transaction which he seeks to maintain. S 36 contemplates that the Receiver is the proper person to impeach a fraudulent transfer by the insolvent of his property. If the Receiver refuses to do so then it is open to any creditor to apply to the court for leave to institute a proceeding under s 36 on his own behalf and on behalf of the other creditors. Until however the Receiver has refused or declined to act no one else is entitled to do so as the Receiver is the proper person to institute a proceeding under s 36. HEMRAJ SHAMPA LALL v RAMKESHUN RAM

2 Pat L J. 101

9 ———— 'Void' meaning of—Exclusive jurisdiction of Insolvency Court to avoid transfers falling under the section A transfer of property falling under s 36 of the Provincial Insolvency Act remains valid unless and until set aside at the instance of the Official Receiver. The word 'void' in that section means only 'voidable.' It is only the Official Receiver and not anybody else, e.g., a purchaser from him, that can get such a transfer set aside. After an adjudication in insolvency the only Court that has jurisdiction to annul a transfer voidable under the Law of Insolvency is the Court of Insolvency and no other Court can adjudicate upon the voidable character of such a transfer in any other proceeding e.g., a suit either at the instance of a plaintiff or of a defendant. MARIAPPA PILLAI v RAMAN CHETTIYAR (1918)

I L. R. 42 Mad. 322

§ 37—

See s 3. I L. R. 44 Mad. 521

See COMPANIES ACT, 1913. s 231

I L. R. 2 Lah 102

See FRAUDULENT PREFERENCE

I L. R. 43 Cal. 640

1.

Subsections (1),

(2)—Fraudulent preference how determined—Debtor's intention and motive material—Preference due entirely to preserve from creditor of fraudulent—Creditor, if may plead good faith—Onus Under

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)
—contd

§ 37—contd.

s 37 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, good faith on the part of the creditor affords him no protection where the intention of the debtor to give him preference is established, although sub-s. (2) of the section protects a person who in good faith and for valuable consideration has acquired title through or under a creditor of the insolvent. "Preference" implies an act of free will, and there can be no 'preference' where the act is the result of pressure brought to bear on the debtor by the creditor, though there would be fraudulent preference where, notwithstanding that the payment or disposition might never have been made but for the importunity of the creditor, it is also a fact that the payment never would have been made but for the desire to prefer. The presumption of fraudulent intention may be repelled, if it is apparent that the debtor acted in fulfilment of a prior agreement, but it will not suffice to prove that the debtor was moved by a mere sense of honour or a sense of duty or of moral obligation or that he acted from motives of kindness or gratitude. The intention of the debtor is the paramount consideration and if the transaction can be properly referred to some other motive than that of giving the particular creditor a preference over the others, the payment is not fraudulent. In the determination of the question whether a person is able or unable to pay his debts as they become due from his own money, the fact that he has money locked up which at a later period may be available for the payment of his debts is immaterial. Where an act is impeached as a fraudulent preference, the onus of proof lies on the Receiver, even if the debtor was insolvent at the time of the payment and knew himself to be so, though in such a case the onus may shift. KRISHNADATH NATH SARU v ASHUTOSH GHOSH (1914)

19 C W N 157

2 ———— Insolvent—Effect of lease of occupancy holding granted shortly before filing petition of insolvency S 37 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, has no application to the case of a lease granted for good consideration by an insolvent shortly before the filing of his petition unless the object thereof is to give a preference to one creditor over the others. If the lease is found to be a merely colourable transaction, the insolvent still retaining possession of the property leased, it can be avoided and the property placed in the hands of the Receiver; otherwise the rents should be paid to the Receiver for the benefit of the creditors. The leased property being an occupancy holding held that there was no reason for directing the surrender thereof to the zamindar. DASRAJ v SAGAR MAL (1915) ?

I L. R. 38 All. 37

3 ———— Surety for debt of insolvent whether "creditor" A person who stands surety for the payment of a debt by the insolvent is a creditor within the meaning of that expression in s 37 of the Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907). Nalam Venkannatham v Official Assignee of Madras 32 I C 795, overruled. RODRIGUES v RAMASWAMI CHETTIAR (1916)

I L. R. 40 Mad. 733

§ 38—

See s 16 (2) AND (6)

I L. R. 42 All. 433

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s. 40—

See RECEIVER I L R. 40 Cal. 678

s. 41—

See s. 16 . . . I L R. 39 All 223

s. 42—

See s. 16 . . . I L R. 39 All 223

See s. 16 (2) (a) . . . 18 C W N 1052

Adj. adication, annulment of, if permissible on other than statutory grounds—Failure of Receiver to pay debts—Consent of opposing creditor The Court has no power to annul an adjudication of insolvency otherwise than in exercise of the authority vested in it by the statute. Where therefore none of the circumstances mentioned in s. 42 of the Insolvency Act as grounds for annulment had been established, the order of the Court annulling adjudication on the petition of the insolvents was erroneous, and the fact that the Receiver of the insolvents' property had been unable to satisfy the debts was no ground for annulment. The fact that the opposing creditors was proved to have at one time consented to a composition was not sufficient to authorise the Court to annul an adjudication. The consent of all the creditors is not by itself sufficient to justify an order of annulment. The Court had to consider not merely that what they have agreed to is for the benefit of the creditors as a whole but also that the annulment would not be detrimental to commercial morality. Quere Whether under s. 42 of the Provincial Insolvency Act the Court has discretion to refuse to annul an adjudication when the circumstances mentioned in sub s. (1) to that section are established. MORI LAL v. GANAPATRAM (1915) 21 C W N 938

s. 43—

See s. 4 I L R. 36 Mad 402

See s. 16 I L R. 39 All 120

Insolvent, acts of

1 bad faith of—Proceedings in their nature criminal—Necessity of framing charge, etc. A proceeding against a debtor under s. 43 (2) of the Provincial Insolvency Act is in the nature of a criminal proceeding and, as in all criminal cases, it is necessary in such a proceeding that there should be a charge, a finding and a conviction as a foundation for the sentence, and everything should be strictly and accurately pursued, and if on any of these three points a substantial defect should appear, it would be a ground for reversing the proceeding. HARIBAR SINGH v. MAHESWAR PRASAD (1912) 18 C W N 692

2

Receiver's report—

Insufficient to base a conviction on On report by a Receiver of an insolvent's property to the effect that the insolvent had fraudulently transferred certain property of his just before he was declared an insolvent and that he had concealed the fact that he was the owner of a certain shop, the Court convicted him under s. 43 of the Provincial Insolvency Act. Held that a Receiver's reports do not constitute legal evidence upon which an order under s. 43 of the said Act can be based, and therefore a conviction under s. 43 based only on a Receiver's report is bad in law. Emperor v. Chiranjy Lal, I L R 36 All 578, Nathu Mal v. The District Judge of Benares, I L R 32 All 547,

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s. 43—contd.

Ex parte Campbell In re Wallace, 15 Q B D 213, referred to NAND KISHORE v. SURAJ MAL (1915) I L R 37 All 429

3

Insolvency—In quiry as to alleged fraudulent acts committed by debtor—Procedure—Evidence Held, that proceedings under s. 43 (2) of the Provincial Insolvency Act 1907, should not be based merely upon the evidence given on behalf of the creditors when opposing the debtor's application to be adjudged an insolvent, but evidence as to the specific acts alleged against the debtor should be recorded de novo. In the matter of Rask Bihari Roy, I L R 17 Cal 209, referred to NATHU MAL v. THE DISTRICT JUDGE OF BENARES (1910)

I L R 32 All 547

4

Provident Funds

Act (IX of 1897), s. 4—Provident Fund—Railway employee drawing his Provident Fund after his adjudication as insolvent—Payment of the money to his wife—Fraudulent transfer The appellant who was in the employ of a Railway Company was adjudicated an insolvent under s. 16 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, and a Receiver was appointed. Subsequently the insolvent resigned his appointment and drew his Provident Fund from the Railway Company. A large portion of the amount so drawn was paid by the insolvent to his wife. The District Judge held that the transaction amounted to a fraudulent act within the meaning of s. 43 (2) of the Act and sentenced the insolvent to 3 months' imprisonment. He appealed. Held setting aside conviction that there was no fraudulent dealing by the insolvent with s. 43 in as much as neither the Receiver nor the creditor had any claim to the money drawn by insolvent for his Provident Fund having regard to the provision of the s. 4 of the Provident Fund Act. Coker v. Mitchell 1890, 25 Q B D 262 and Official Receiver of Madras v. Mary Dalgas 26 Mad 440 referred to NAOR DAS BRUCKHANDAS v. JHELABHAI GULABDAS, (1919) I L R 44 Bom. 673

ss 43, 46—

See CIVIL COURTS ACT, 1887, ss 8, 20

I L R 34 All 383

1 Additional District Judge—Order punishing debtor for fraudulent dealings with account books—Appeal, whether civil or criminal and to what Court Held by RICHARDS, C J and BAYARJI J (KNOX, J dissenting), that an appeal from an order of Additional District Judge under s. 43 (2) of the Provincial Insolvency Act 1907, lies directly to the High Court and not to the Court of the District Judge. Mahlan Lal v. Sri Lal, I L R 34 All 382, followed. Held, also, by RICHARDS, C J, and KNOX and BAYARJI, J J that such an appeal is an appeal on the civil side of the Court and not a criminal appeal. EMPEROR v. CHIRANJY LAL (1914) I L R 36 All 578

2 Creditor's petition to inquire into commission of an offence—Inquiry and refusal to frame a charge—Appeal right of In the course of a proceeding in insolvency, a creditor filed a petition alleging the commission of an offence by the insolvent and asking the Court to take action against him under s. 43, cl 2 (6) of the Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907). The Judge inquired into the petition but dismissed it

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s 43, 46—contd.

refusing to frame a charge. Held, that the creditor had no right of appeal as he is not a "person aggrieved" within the meaning of s 46 of the Act. Iyappa Nair v Manicka Asari (1914).

I L R 40 Mad. 630

3 ———— Creditor—"Person aggrieved"—Appeal One of the creditors of an insolvent, in whose case no Receiver had been appointed applied to the Court making allegations that the insolvent had been guilty of an offence under s 43, sub-s (2) of the Provincial Insolvency Act 1907, the Court, however, held that no case was made out and refused to move in the matter. Held, that the creditor applicant was not a "person aggrieved" within the meaning of s 46, sub-s (2) of the Act and had no right of appeal against the Court's order. Iyappa Nair v Manicka Asari 27 Indian Cases, 251, referred to Ladhu Ram v Mahabir Prasad (1916) I L R 39 All 171

4 ———— Order refusing application by a creditor to take action against the insolvent—Whether appealable The appellant, a creditor, applied to the District Court to have action taken against the insolvent (the respondent) under s 43 of the Insolvency Act. This application was rejected by the Court and the present appeal was lodged in the High Court against the order of rejection. It was objected for the respondent that no appeal was competent. Held that an order refusing an application by a creditor to take action against the insolvent is not appealable, because—(a) the application is not one which the Insolvency Act entitles a creditor to make, and the applicant is therefore not a "person aggrieved" by the order refusing the application within the meaning of s 46 and (b) the order is not one under s 43 (2) which makes provision only for an order sentencing the debtor. Iyappa Nair v Manicka Asari (I L R 40 Mad 630) and Ladhu Ram v Mahabir Prasad (I L R 39 All 171), followed. In re Parden, ex parte Wood (21 Q J B D 24) distinguished. Baldwin's Law of Bankruptcy and Bills of Sale, p 35, referred to and explained. Gitar Saha v Bannat Ali Khan I L R 1 Lah 213

s 44—

See s 4 I L R, 38 Mad. 402

s 45—

See s 16 I L R, 38 All. 223

—s 45, 46—Appeal time for—Limitation Act, applicability of—Period of limitation, commencement of—General principles—General Clauses Act (X of 1897), ss 9 and 10 applicability of—Twentieth day, dies non—Exclusion of In computing the time for preferring an appeal to the High Court under s 46 of the Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907) though the general provisions of the Indian Limitation Act do not apply, the period of ninety days specified in s 45 of the Act should be reckoned from the date of the order appealed against; and thereupon the general principles contained in s 9 of the General Clauses Act (X of 1897) should be applied and the day on which the order appealed against is passed should be excluded. Further under s 10 of the General Clauses Act, the twentieth day,

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s 45—contd.

if it be a dies non, must be excluded. Rama Swami Pillai v Venkateswara Ayyar (1918)

I L R 42 Mad. 13

s 46—

See s 2 I L R, 40 Mad. 752

See s 15 I L R, 38 Mad. 15

See s 20 I L R, 30 All. 8

See s 22 I L R, 41 All. 243

I L R, 35 All. 410

I L R, 39 All. 182

I L R, 39 All. 171

See s 43 (2) I L R, 36 All. 576

See s 43 I L R, 40 Mad. 630

I L R, 42 Mad. 13

See Bengal Civil Courts Act, 1897,

ss 8, 20 I L R, 34 All. 383

See Civil Procedure Code, 1908, s 11

I L R, 39 All. 626

1. ———— Leave to appeal refused by District Judge—Concurrent jurisdiction of High Court to grant leave—Order to District Judge, if to be set aside before grant of leave—1 notice—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r 11, hearing under, if necessary, after leave granted. The High Court having concurrent jurisdiction, with the District Judge, to grant leave to appeal from an order under the Insolvency Act, can do so when such leave has been refused by the District Judge. Where such leave is granted, there is no necessity for a further hearing under O XXI, r 11, of the Civil Procedure Code. Madhu Sudan Pal v Parvati Sundari Dasgupta (1914)

10 C. W. N. 760

2. ———— Appeal out of time—Deduction of time for obtaining copy, if permissible—Delay, if excusable—General Provisions of Limitation Act if applicable—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) ss 12 and 29—Concession of Appeal into (and Revision Petition, when permissible—Order without notice to Official Receiver, illegal An appeal under s 46, cl (3) of the Provincial Insolvency Act, which was preferred to the High Court beyond the period of time fixed therein, is barred by limitation as the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the order appealed against cannot be deducted under that Act or under ss 12 (2) and 29 of the Limitation Act. Quere Whether the Court can excuse the delay under s 5 of the Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908). Case law on the subject considered. The High Court is competent to convert such an appeal into a Civil Revision Petition under s 15 of the Charter Act and to set aside the order where the lower Court passed the order in favour of a creditor of an insolvent without the notice to the Official Receiver. Abdulla v Salari, I L R 13 All 4, followed. Sivaramayya v Bhuzanga Rao (1915)

I L R 38 Mad. 593

3. ———— Limitation Act (IX of 1908) ss 12 and 29—Appeal—Limitation—Time requisite for obtaining copies The Provincial Insolvency Act was intended to be and is so far as matters governed by it are concerned a complete code in itself and contains its own limitation law. In computing therefore the period of limitation prescribed for presenting an appeal under the

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s 46—contd

said Act the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the order complained of cannot be excluded. Behari Lal Mookerjee v Mungolnath Mookerjee I L R 5 Cal 110 and Nogendra Nath Mullick v Mathura Mohun Parhi I L R 18 Cal 368 referred to Beni Prasad Khari v Dukhi Rai I L R 23 All 970 distinguished Jugal Kishore v Gur Narain (1911) I L R 33 All 738

4 Appeal—Limitation—Application of general provisions of the law of limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) ss 12 and 29 The Provincial Insolvency Act is a special law within the meaning of s 29 of the Indian Limitation Act but inasmuch as it is not in itself a complete Code there is nothing to prevent the application thereto of the general provisions of the Indian Limitation Act Such general provisions do not affect or alter the period prescribed by a special law but only the manner in which that period is to be computed Jugal Kishore v Gur Narain I L R 33 All 738 overruled. Beni Prasad Khari v Dharaka Rai I L R 23 All 277 Joti Sarup v Ram Chandar Singh Ali Wazir Notes 1902 34 and Veeramma v Adishai I L R 18 Mad 99 followed Poulson v Modhoooodun Paul Choudhry 2 W R Act X, 21 Unoda Persaud Mookerjee v Aristo Coomarr Moitra 15 B L R 60 note Nogendra Nath Mullick v Mathura Mohun Parhi I L R 18 Cal 368 Griya Nath Roy Bahadur v Palane Bibee I L R 17 Cal 263 Behari Lal Mookerjee v Mungolnath Mookerjee I L R 5 Cal 110 Golap Chand Aouluckha v Krishna Chundar Das Bhowm I L R 5 Cal 314 Nyabuttoka v Wazir Ali I L R 8 Cal 210 Khetter Mohun Chuckerbutty v Dina baski Shaha I L R 10 Cal 265 Guracharya v President of the Belgaurum Town Municipality I L R 8 Bom 599 Aullayappa v Lalsham pathi I L R 12 Mad 467 Abdul Hakim v Latifun neasa Khatun I L R 30 Cal 637 and Suraj Bahi Prasad v Thomas I L R 23 All 48 referred to Droopadi v Hira Lal (1912)

I L R 34 All 496

ss 46 47—

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.

I L R 40 Cal 685

ss 46 47 (1) and (2)—Appeal under s 46 filed out of time—Dismissal of memorandum of objection as a right of respondent to file—Civil Procedure Code, s 108 (2) O XXI r 22 S 47 (2) of the Provincial Insolvency Act and s 108 (2) Civil Procedure Code apply the procedure of the Civil Procedure Code to appeals filed under s 46 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, hence a respondent in such an appeal is entitled to file a memorandum of cross-objections under O XXI r 22 Civil Procedure Code When an appeal is dismissed as filed out of time a memorandum of objections filed by a respondent under O XXI r 22, cannot be heard Pamj van Mal v Chand Mal I L R 10 All 537 followed Decisions on O XXI r 22 (formerly s 501 Civil Procedure Code) reviewed. ALAGAPPA CHETTIAR v CHOCKALINGAM CHETTIAR (1918)

I L R 41 Mad. 904

s 47—

See s. 4 I L R 36 Mad. 402

See s. 13 (3) I L R 36 All 65

See s 16 I L R 39 Mad. 693

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907)

—contd.

s 47—contd

See s 18 I L R 37 All 65

See s 20 I L R 41 Mad. 440

See s 24 I L R 48 Cal 87

See s 46 I L R 41 Mad. 904

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.

I L R 40 Cal 685

See INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS

3 Pat L J 456

See RECEIVER I L R 40 Cal 678

Civil Procedure Code (1908) O XXI r 71—Sale of property of insolvent by receiver—Default of purchaser—Re-sale—Order by Court on purchaser to make good deficiency—Proceeding S 47 of the Provincial Insolvency Act 1907 has not the effect of making the provisions of O XXI of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908 applicable to a sale of the property of an insolvent held by a Receiver under the orders of the District Judge If therefore the purchaser at such a sale defaults and the property is re sold for a sum less than the original bid the first purchaser cannot be called upon under O XXI r 71 to make good the deficiency Mul Chand v Murari Lal I L R 34 All 9 referred to CHEDA LAL v LACHMAN PRASAD (1916)

I L R 39 All 267

s 50—

See INSOLVENCY I L R 40 Cal 78

s 51—

See s 16 I L R 39 Mad. 693

s 52—

See s 4 I L R 40 Mad. 752

See s 15 I L R 38 Mad. 15

See s 24 I L R 41 Mad. 30

s 56—

See s 16 I L R 43 All 510

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920)

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT 1907

Comparative Table of Acts III of 1907 and V of 1920

Section of Act III of 1907	Corresponding of Act V of 1920
1	1
2	2
3	3
4	6
5	7
6 (1)	12 and 18
6 (2)	11
6 (3)	10
6 (4)	9 (1)
6 (5)	9 (2)
6 (6)	8
7	14
8	15
9	16
10	17
11	13
12	19
13	21
14	24

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920)

—contd.

Comparative Table of Acts III of 1907 and I of 1920—contd.

Section of Act III of 1907	Corresponding Act V of 1920
15 (1)	25
15 (2) (3)	26 (1) (2)
16 (1)	27
16 (2) to (d)	28
16 (1)	30
17	30
18	36
19	37
20	39
21	40
22	43
23	44
24	33
25	4
26	50
27	34
28	34
29	33 (3)
30	40
31	47
32	48
33	61
34	51
35	52
36	53
37	64
38	55
39	62
40	66
41	67
42	35
43	50 and 60
44	41
45	44
46	5
47	6
48	7
49	76
50	—
51	79
52	80
53	78
54	81
55	82
56	Sch III

—ss 54 and 55—Insolvent—*Intention of insolvent to her than a true effect the fact whether a transaction amounts to a fraudulent preference. In order that a transaction entered into by an insolvent may be set aside as a fraudulent preference of one creditor over the others, it is not sufficient merely that it should in fact lead to that result. Where the transaction is entered into by the insolvent solely for the purpose of securing some ready money for himself it does not necessarily fall within the purview of s 54 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920. Ex parte Hodgl, L. P. 20 Eq. Ca. 75. See France and Garrard's Trustees v Hunting 2 Q. B. 79 and Sharp v Jackson A. C. 419 referred to s 55 of the Act protects all transactions, unless they are in themselves acts of insolvency or fraudulent preferences, entered into with a debtor by third persons for valuable consideration and bona fide namely bona fide in the sense that the person with whom such transaction takes place had not at the* time notice of the presentation of any insolvency petition by or against the debtor. Shaw v Day & Co v Chittan Lal, L. R. 43 All. 427

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920)

—contd.

—ss 54 and 55—contd.

—s 59 (6) (b)—Insolvent fraudulently making away with or concealing property—Acting means of ascertaining tantamount to act or concealment. A man in the position of an insolvent who has the means of ascertaining where property of his has been disposed of even if he has not been a really a party to the making away with it and who does not use the means, is just as guilty of concealment within the meaning of s 59 (6) (b) of the Provincial Insolvency Act as if he actually concealed the property in which the property actually is. In the matter of Qasim Ali An Insolvent. I. L. R. 43 All. 406

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1920).

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 195.

4 Pat. L. J. 609

power of—

See ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT

I. L. R. 46 Cal. 717

—s 1 (1)—Security on application for order to set aside ex parte decree—Limitation Act (X) of 1877 Sch II Art. 151—*Notice under s 218 Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882)—Execution of process. When security is not deposited under s 17 of Act IX of 1887 until after the application to set aside the ex parte decree is disposed of the hearing of the application must be held to have been barred. But where no objection is taken on this ground at the hearing the High Court will not set aside the order in revision. Pamson v Aurum I. L. R. 13 Mad. 174 explained. A process is executed when notice under s. 218 Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), has been served and limitation under Sch II Art. 164 of the Indian Limitation Act will run from the date of service of such notice. Emola Kondur Dasra v Kale Kasi v Noyamdar 22 H. R. 5 followed *See YANARAYANA v RAVANNA (1910).

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 88

s. 13—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882 s. 104

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 697

—ss. 13, 33—*Set to recover a sum of money as the value of trees felled by the defendant—Ownership of the trees on the plaintiff's land on which they stood belonged to him—Incidental services to the plaintiff's property—*Justification of the Small Cause Court. The plaintiff brought a suit in the Court of Small Causes to recover Rs. 12 as the value of certain trees felled by the defendant. The plaintiff's claim to relief proceeded on the basis that the trees belonged to him because the land on which they stood also belonged to him. A question having arisen as to the jurisdiction of the Court of Small Causes to entertain the suit. Held by the Full Bench, that a Court of Small Causes could entertain a suit the principal purpose of which was to determine a right to immovable property provided the suit in form did not ask for that relief but for payment of a sum of money. *Puttarawada v KILKATH KALO DESHPANDE (1915)

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 875

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd

— s. 16—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 195
2 Pat L J 1

— ss 16, 27, 32, Sch II, cls (2) and (3)—Suit for the recovery of certain sum representing a share in the produce of immovable property—Cognizance by the Court of Small Causes—Decree final—Appeal—Jurisdiction by consent of parties A suit for the recovery of Rs. 12 11 8 representing plaintiff's share in the produce of immovable property is a suit for money had and received to the plaintiff's use and is cognizable by the Court of Small Causes and the decree in such a suit is final under s. 27 of the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act (IX of 1887). Notwithstanding its finality an appeal was preferred to the District Court of Ahmedabad which Court entertained the appeal and reversing the decree allowed the plaintiff's claim. The defendant, thereupon preferred a second appeal and at the hearing prayed that the second appeal might be treated as an application for revision under s. 115 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) on the ground that the District Court acted without jurisdiction in entertaining the appeal. The respondent (plaintiff) urged that a second appeal lay and further, that by reason of the conduct of the parties and the fact that the appellant (defendant) had not objected to the jurisdiction of the District Court, it was too late in second appeal to take the point. Held, that the District Court had no jurisdiction to try the case and the conduct of the parties could not give it jurisdiction. Ledgard v Buli L. R. 13 I A 134, and Meenakshi Naidoo v Subramanya Sastry L. R. 14 I A 160, referred to. Decree of the District Court reversed and that of the first Court restored. DAVLAT SENSUJI (MAHARANA SHERI) v KHACHAR HAMIR MOY (1909) I L. R. 34 Bom 171

— s. 17—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908—

SCH I ART 161 24 C. W. N 380

SCH I, ART 164 15 C. W. N 102

See SMALL CAUSE COURT SUIT

I L. R. 44 Calc 950

1 ——— Civil Procedure Code (1908) s. 21—Suit transferred from Subordinate Judge with Small Cause Court powers to Munsif—Ex parte decree—Procedure Held, that s. 24 sub cl. (f) of the Code of Civil Procedure contemplates a Court vested with the powers of a Court of Small Causes and that when a suit is transferred from that Court to another Court the Court trying it is to be deemed a Court of Small Causes and its procedure is to be governed by the provisions of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. Therefore when such a suit is transferred to a Munsif from the Court of a Subordinate Judge vested with Small Cause Court powers and the former passes an ex parte decree in the suit an application to have the ex parte decree set aside must be accompanied by a deposit of the amount of the decree or a security in respect of the amount as required by s. 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. The provisions of which are mandatory. Mangal Sen v Rup Chand, I L. R. 13 All 470, Jagan Nath v Chet Pura, I L. R. 23 All 470, referred to. Sarju Prasad v Mahadeo Pande,

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd

— s. 17—contd

I L. R. 37 All 470 distinguished. CHHOTY LAL v LAKHMI CHAND MAGAN LAL (1916)

I L. R. 38 All 425

2 ——— Decree ex parte—Claim decreed in full but incorrect amount entered—Application for re-hearing—Deposit of amount named in decree Where an ex parte decree passed by a Court of Small Causes was incorrectly drawn up, inasmuch as the principal sum decreed was wrongly entered the costs were wrongly entered and no sum at all was entered on account of interest pendente lite it was held that the defendant in applying for a re-hearing had sufficiently complied with the terms of the proviso to cl. (1) of s. 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act 1887 when he deposited in court the sum which was in fact named in the decree. BASDEO RAM SARUP v MUL CHAND NEMI CHAND

I L. R. 43 All 438

3 ——— Proviso—Ex parte decree, application to set aside—Whether proviso mandatory or directory—Time within which deposit to be made or security given By the Full Bench (SRESHAGIRI AYYAR, J., dissenting). The provisions of s. 17 (1), Provincial Small Cause Courts Act are mandatory. By the Full Bench—But the deposit of the decretal amount may be made or the security given, within the period prescribed by the law of limitation for applications under the section, namely thirty days from the date of the ex parte decree although it did not accompany the application itself. Jewan Mucks v Budhiram Mucks (1905) I L. R. 32 Cal. 389 followed. ASSAM MOHAMMED SAHIB v RAHIM SAHIB (1920)

I L. R. 43 Mad. (F.B.), 579

— s. 23—

See s. 35

5 Pat L. J 243

1 ——— Plaint in suit of Small Cause Court nature involving question of title returned by Small Cause Court for presentation in Civil Court—Refusal of latter to receive plaint—Remedy if by appeal or revision—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O VII, r 10, O XIII, r 1 (a) When a plaint originally presented in the Small Cause Court is under an order under s. 23 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act presented in the ordinary Civil Court the latter has no authority to refuse to entertain the suit. An order by the latter Court returning the plaint for presentation to the Small Cause Court was not an order under O VII, r 10 of the Civil Procedure Code as the plaint had not been originally filed in that Court and such an order did not require to be set aside by an appeal under O XIII, r 1 (a). The High Court in revision set aside the order as one made in violation of the provisions of s. 23 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. (MAN DEEBODAN DOKER v SHRODOR IFTKHAD (1912))

13 C. W. N 330

2 ——— Return of a plaint under—High Court's power of interference—S. 25, Provincial Small Cause Courts Act s. 115 Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) and s. 107 Government of India Act of 1915 Where a Provincial Small Cause Court returned a plaint for presentation to a proper Court on the ground that the suit involved a question of title which should be tried in a regular suit and the plaintiff thereupon moved the High Court and obtained a rule, on a preliminary objection taken that the order under s. 23 (1) is not covered by s. 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. Held, that there is a good deal of distinction between disposing of a case and deciding a case. A case is something less definite than a suit. The meaning of the word 'decided' as held in Subal Ram Dutt v Jagadananda 13 C W N 403, approved Umesh Chandra v Rakhal Chandra 15 C W N 666, referred to. Under s. 115 of the Civil Procedure Code the High Court would only interfere if the question were one of jurisdiction. The Calcutta High Court's powers under the Charter Act have been exercised, with few exceptions. Only in cases where jurisdiction has been exceeded or the Judge has ignorantly or perversely refused to exercise or made only a colourable pretence at exercising jurisdiction vested in him by law. This limited power should be exercised only when irreparable injury would be caused to one of the litigants if matters were not set right. Chandi Roy v Kripal Roy, 15 C W N 674, and Amayal Ali v Husein Johar 15 C W N 373 referred to. S. 23 (1) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act is designed to meet cases in which a Small Cause Court Judge is satisfied that the question of title raised is so intricate that it should not be decided summarily but in a Court in which the evidence is recorded in full and the decision is open to appeal, the matter is one of discretion and where discretion is vested in a Court it is not open to interference unless it has been exercised ignorantly or perversely. GANGA PRASAD v NANDU RAM (1910).

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd

— s. 23—contd

20 C W N 1080

— s. 23, 25—

Jurisdiction—

—Suit for sacrificial goat based on plaintiff's title as shikari to a temple if may be decided by Small Cause Court. Where the plaintiff claiming to be the shikari of a goddess sued the defendant for damages for unlawfully taking away a goat sacrificed at the altar of the goddess. Held, that the question could be properly tried in a Small Cause Court without any elaborate investigation into the general question of the title of the plaintiff as shikari. The plaintiff having been returned by the Small Cause Court for presentation to the proper court, under s. 23 of the Small Cause Courts Act. Held that the High Court had jurisdiction to revise that order either under s. 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act or under s. 15 of the Charter Act. Quære Whether 'decide' in s. 25 means 'finally adjudicate'. UMESH CHANDRA PALOUDI v RAKHAL CHANDRA CHATTERJEE (1911) 15 C W N 688

Questions of title

—Return of plaintiff—Revision. Where a plaintiff presented to a Small Cause Court is returned under s. 23 (1) of the Provincial Small Cause Court Act, the High Court will not interfere under s. 25 of that Act, nor under s. 115, of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 nor under s. 107 of the Government of India Act 1915, unless the Court of first instance has exercised its discretion ignorantly or perversely, or unless the Court has exceeded its jurisdiction or has ignorantly or perversely refused to exercise, or has made only a colourable pretence at exercising a jurisdiction vested in it by law, and has thereby caused injury to the parties which would be irreparable if not set right. GANGA PRASAD v NANDU RAM 1 Pat. L. J. 465

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd

— s. 23, 25—contd

— s. 23, 27—Small Cause suit—Question of title—Suit transferred to the ordinary jurisdiction of the Court—No substantial irregularity—Decree on title—Decree not final—Appeal. In a suit which was originally filed as a Small Cause Court suit in the Court of the Subordinate Judge having both Small Cause and regular jurisdictions, the Judge transferred the suit at a very early stage to his file as ordinary Judge as the relief claimed by the plaintiffs depended upon proof or disproof of a title to immovable property. The Judge then passed a decree deciding the question of title. Held, that there was no substantial irregularity in thus effecting the transfer and that it must be taken that the powers conferred by s. 23 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1887) were put in force in a regular manner. Held, also, that as it was a decree which could not be passed by a Court of Small Causes it was not a decree falling within the terms of s. 27 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1887) and was therefore, not final but appealable. HARI BALU v GANPATRAO LAKSHMINARAO (1913) I. L. R. 33 Bom. 190

— s. 25—

See s. 23

See WITHDRAWAL OF SUIT

2 Pat. L. J. 682

1. —Jurisdiction of High Court—Revision—Refusal of leave to amend plaint. Held, that the refusal on the part of a Court of Small Causes of permission to amend a technical defect in the plaint amounted to an irregularity such as would justify the interference of the High Court in revision under s. 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act 1887. HEYDORN AND COMPANY v MUHAMMAD SHARI (1912) I. L. R. 34 All. 348

2. —Revision—Jurisdiction of High Court—Execution of decree—Limitation—Application to Court to take a step in aid of execution—Application for extension of time. A bond file application made by the decree holder praying for extension of time for the purpose of ascertaining the whereabouts of his judgment debtor is an application to take a step in aid of execution, and avers limitation. Where a Small Cause Court without any materials on the records gratuitously assumed that such an application presented by the decree holder was not bond file, and consequently that a subsequent application for the execution of the decree was time barred, it was held that there was ground for interference by the High Court in revision. BRATHON PRASAD v AMITA BEGAM (1915) I. L. R. 38 All. 690

3. —Decision of a preliminary question of jurisdiction which does not dispose of the suit—Revision. Held that no revision would be under s. 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, from an order of a Court of Small Causes deciding a question of jurisdiction, which decision still left the suit undisposed of in the Small Cause Court. Ramanathan Chetty v Marathappa Kone, 25 Indian Cases 643, referred to. MAHJAN LAL PARSOTAN DAS v CHENNI LAL BISHI LAL (1914) I. L. R. 41 All. 4

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd

§ 25—contd

4 Revision—Suit filed before Munsif not having Small Cause Court powers, but decided by one who had, though as a regular suit—Appeal A suit which according to the frame of it was a Small Cause Court suit was filed in the court of a Munsif at a time when the permanent incumbent, who was invested with Small Cause Court powers, was on leave, and the temporary incumbent was not invested with Small Cause Court powers. Before the suit came to a hearing the permanent incumbent returned. He tried the suit, and tried it as an ordinary suit and not as a Small Cause Court suit. Held, that the Munsif was right in so doing, and that an appeal lay from his decision to the Subordinate Judge, Jag Mahon Lal v Lokha, 9 Indian Cases 264, Mahima Chandra Sarda v Kali Mondal, 12 C B N 167, Hari Ramayya v Hari Venkayya, 1 L R 26 Mad 212, and Sambhu Dhanraj v Ram Vishu, 1 L R 28 Bom 241, referred to BHINDESI v GANGA PRASAD I L R. 42 All 195

5 High Court—Revision—Jurisdiction to reverse findings of fact under a 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act 1887, the High Court can interfere on questions of fact. Poona City Municipality v Ramsy (1895) 21 Bom 250 and Turner v Jaamohan Singh (1900) 27 All 531, referred to Per FAWCETT, J Interference in regard to appreciation of evidence should in general only be exercised when there appears to the Court to be a very clear case of misappreciation which has resulted in injustice to a party and makes the decree one that cannot be regarded by a Revisional Court as "according to law" NATHURAM SHIVNARAYAN v DHULARAM HABIRAM (1920) I L R. 45 Bom 292

§§ 25 and 23—Provincial Small Cause Court Act, 1887—Deposit of arrears of revenue—Held that in order to determine whether a mortgagee was entitled to deposit the arrears of revenue it was incumbent on the Court to determine whether the bond was genuine or not and that omission to do so amounted to an error in law so that the High Court had power to transfer under s 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Act, 1887 RAJ KUMAR LAL v JAIKARAN DAS

6 Pat. L. J. 248

§ 25, Sch. II, Art 41—Jurisdiction—Debt of deceased person paid in whole by one of the heirs—Suit for contribution Two heirs of a deceased Mahomedan became entitled to the property left by him in the proportion of eight-tenths and two tenths. The owner of the eight-tenths share paid off the whole of a debt due by the deceased and thereafter sued the owner of the two tenths share for contribution. Held that the suit was not excluded from the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes by Art (41) of the second schedule to the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 MAHMUD ALI v TAMEZ UN NISSA DINI (1918) I L R. 41 All. 51

§ 27—

I L R. 38 Bom. 190

§§ 27, 32, 33 and 35—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s 24
I L R. 38 Mad. 25

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd

§ 32—

Sec s 16

I L R. 34 Bom. 171

Suits instituted in Court not invested with powers—Transfer of suits as money suits—Re transfer as Small Cause Court suits—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s 24 Fifty two suits were instituted against various tenants. These suits were cognizable by a Court of Small Causes but they were instituted in the Court of the Munsif of Motihari, who had not been invested with small Cause Court powers. This Munsif was transferred and another Munsif, invested with Small Cause Courts powers took his place. The latter held that by virtue of s 32 (2) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, the suits were triable as money suits and he accordingly transferred them to the file of the Additional Munsif. Subsequently the plaintiff applied to the District Judge to re transfer the 52 suits under s 24 of the Civil Procedure Code 1908, to the Court of the Munsif who had transferred them and to direct him to hear them as money suits. The petition was filed with the Munsif's order in one of the suits only. The District Judge transferred all the suits to the Munsif's Court to be treated as Small Cause Court suits. Held (1) that, as there was no Small Cause Court in existence at Motihari when the suits were instituted the procedure to be adopted with regard to them was the procedure laid down in the Civil Procedure Code (2) that the District Judge had power to transfer a money suit from the Court of one Munsif to the Court of another Munsif, and (3) that the order transferring the 51 suits, in which no separate stamped application was made, was incompetent UGAR SINGH v MOTIHARI COMPANY, LIMITED

4 Pat. L. J. 13

§§ 32 to 35—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), s 24 (f)
I L R. 29 All. 214
I L R. 38 Mad. 25

§ 33—

Sec s 15 I L R. 37 Bom. 375

§ 35—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), s 24
I L R. 40 All. 525

1 Jurisdiction

Munsif vested with the powers of a Judge of the Court of Small Causes transferred by one substituted with such powers—Appeal When a Munsif vested with the powers of a Court of Small Causes is succeeded in office by a Munsif not vested with such powers, the latter under s 33 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, bound to try the suits pending on the file as regular suits and an appeal lies against his decision. Shyam Ekhari Lal v Kali, 12 All J R 109, followed Mangal Sen v Rup Chand, 1 L R 13 All 324, dissented from Kamta Prasad v Mahabul Singh, 6 O C 31, Dulal Chandra Deb v Ram Narain Deb, 1 L R 31 Cal 1057, Ram Chandra v Ganesh, 1 L R 23 Bom 382, referred to SARJU PRASAD v MAHADEO PANDE (1915) I L R. 37 All. 450

2 Decree passed by

Small Cause Court—Small Cause Court abolished and execution transferred to a Munsif—Jurisdiction—Appeal—Indian Limitation, Act (IX of 1908), s 19—Acknowledgment Where a Court of Small

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd.

— s 35—contd.

Cases had passed a decree and was then abolished and the execution proceedings were taken in the Court of a Munsiff. Held, that the Munsiff's orders in execution were not the orders of a Court of Small Causes and were therefore open to appeal. Sarju Prasad v Mahadeo Pande, 1 L R 37 All 450, followed. Mangal Sen v Rup Chand, 1 L R 13 All 324, dissented from. Held, also, that an objection filed in answer to an application for execution of decree by the arrest of the judgment debtor, upon which a warrant of arrest had been issued, to the effect that the judgment debtor was a poor man and that the warrant should not be executed, could not be construed into an acknowledgment of the decretal debt within the meaning of s 19 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908. Ramhit Ras v Salgur Rai, 1 L R 3 All 247, distinguished. LACHMAN DAS v AHMAD HASAN (1917)

1 L R 39 All 237

— ss 35 and 23—Deposit of arrears of revenue by mortgagee—Suit to recover amount of arrears—Whether Court bound to decide validity of mortgage—Bengal Revenue Sales Act (XI of 1859), s 2—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 100—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908) O XXXIV, r 15 A mortgagee who had paid the arrears of Government revenue in order to prevent the mortgaged property being sold, sued the defendant, who had purchased the property subsequently to the mortgage, in the Court of Small Causes, for recovery of the arrears paid. The defendant pleaded that the mortgage was not genuine. The court declined to decide the question of the genuineness of the bond on the ground that it was beyond the scope of the suit and decreed the suit. Held (1) that in order to determine whether the mortgagee was entitled to deposit the arrears of revenue it was incumbent on the Court to determine whether the bond was genuine or not, and that omission to do so amounted to an error in law so that the High Court had power to interfere under s 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act, 1887 (2) that if the court was of opinion that the question of the genuineness of the bond was beyond the scope of the suit it was incumbent on the court to exercise the discretion vested in it by s 23 and to return the plaint to be presented to the proper court, and failure to do so brought the case within the purview of s 25, (3) that if the alleged mortgage was genuine the amount paid as arrears of revenue should have been added to the mortgage debt under s 9 of the Bengal Revenue Sales Act, 1850 and that even if the plaintiff's lien was not in fact a mortgage it was a charge upon immovable property within the meaning of s 100 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882, read with O XXXIV, r 15 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 and could only be enforced by a suit under O XXXIV, (4) that even if the plaintiff was entitled to relinquish his lien and claim a money decree, the present suit not having been framed as such, he could not succeed. RAJ KUMAR LAL v JAIKARAN DAS 5 Pat L J 243

Sch. II, Arts. 2 and 3—

See s 16 1 L R 34 Bom 171

Sch. II, Art. 3—Failure to perform a contract whether 'an act' within Art. 3—Suit to recover money under a contract with Government,

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd.

— Sch. II, Art. 3—contd.

whether of a small cause nature—Second appeal—Failure by Government to carry out a contract under which the plaintiff was entitled to a sum of money on account of certain constructions made by him, is not 'an act' purporting to be done by an officer of Government in his official capacity within the meaning of Art. 3, Sch. II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1887) The article applies only to a suit relating to some distinct act done by an officer of Government. Rajmal Manikchand v Hanmant Anyaba, 1 L R 29 Bom 697, and Chaganlal Kshoredas v The Collector of Kaira 1 L R 35 Bom 42, applied. Bunwars Lal Mookerjee v The Secretary of State for India, 1 L R 17 Cal 290, and Moth Rangayya Chetty v The Secretary of State for India, 1 L R 28 Mad 213, referred to. A suit to recover a sum of money being less than Rs 500 under such a contract is a suit of Small Cause Court nature, and no second appeal lies. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v RAMABRAHMAN (1912)

1 L R 37 Mad 533

Sch. II, Art. 7—Suit involving apportionment of rent whether a suit of small cause nature—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 2 (d) and 36, applicability of, to transfer in execution A suit the determination of which involves apportionment of rent by the Court, falls within Art. 7 of the second schedule of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act and is exempted from the cognizance of a Provincial Small Cause Court. Though according to s 2 (d) of the Transfer of Property Act, the Act does not apply to sales in execution yet the principle of s 36 of the Act which embodies a rule of justice, equity and good conscience can be applied and rent apportioned from day to day as between a lessor and the transferee of his right in execution in the course of a year of the lease. PANGIAH CHETTY v VAJRAVELU MUDALIAR (1917)

1 L R 41 Mad 370

Sch. II, Art. 8—

See HOMESTEAD LAND

1 L R 42 Cal 633

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

2 Pat L J 97

1—Grants of forest rights—Suit for rent by grantor, if may be entertained by Small Cause Court—Rent, what is—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1855) ss 144 193 A grant under which the grantee becomes entitled to cut and remove during a specified period trees which might during that period attain a prescribed size (whether it creates an interest in land or not) is a grant of forest rights within the meaning of s 193 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. The transaction cannot be regarded as a sale of timber, and the consideration payable for such rights in rent within the meaning of the terms as used in cl. (4) of Sch. II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. Such a suit cannot be entertained by a Small Cause Court, and should be instituted under s 144 of the Bengal Tenancy Act in the Court which would have jurisdiction to entertain a suit for the possession of the trees. RANDE ALI FAZLE v AMUD SARKAR (1914) 19 C. W. N. 415

2.—Special authority to try rent suits under Small Cause Court procedure, if may be conferred generally on the Court Cl. 8

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd.

Sch II, Art 8—contd.

of Sch II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act requires that the Judge personally should have been invested with authority to exercise jurisdiction and not that jurisdiction should be conferred upon the Court. A notification of the Local Government vesting all Munsiffs of certain places with power to try, under the Small Cause Court procedure, suits for recovery of rent of homestead lands within their respective jurisdictions when the value did not exceed Rs 50 was insufficient to confer on the officers concerned the power referred to in cl 8 of Sch. II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. SAFER ALI MONDAL v GOLAM MONDAL (1915) 19 C W N 1236

Sch II, Art 2—Suits for rent—Suits of a nature cognisable by the Court of Small Causes—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 102—Second appeal. A suit for rent for an amount less than Rs 500 was filed in the Second Class Subordinate Judge's Court. By a Government Notification contemplated by Art 8 of the Second Schedule of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, the Subordinate Judges of all districts in the Bombay Presidency proper were invested with authority to try on the Small Cause Side of their Courts all suits for the recovery of rent arising within the local limits of the ordinary jurisdiction of their Courts and falling within the pecuniary limits up to which suits are cognisable by them as Judges of Courts of Small Causes. Both the lower Courts decreed the claim. In the High Court a preliminary objection was taken that no second appeal lay on the ground that the suit in which it was preferred was of a nature cognisable by Courts of Small Causes within the meaning of s. 102 of Civil Procedure Code 1908. Held, allowing the objection that no second appeal lay. RAKRISHNA YESHWANT v THE PRESIDENT OF THE VENGURIA MUNICIPALITY (1916) I L R 41 Bom 367

Sch II, Art 13—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s 100
I L R 41 Mad 374

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT s 3 (25)
I L R 35 All 156

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH 10
ARTS 4, 7, 101 102 and 120

I L R 41 Mad 523

See MADRAS ESTATE LANDS ACT 1908
s 3 I L R 36 Mad 126

1—Land Cess—Suits by zamindar against inamdar for recovery of not a suit of small cause nature. A suit by a zamindar for the recovery of land cess from the inamdar is not a suit of a small cause nature within Art. 13 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. MAHARAJA OF VIZIANAGRAM v VEPRANNA (1913) I L R 38 Mad 18

2—Revenue Jurisdiction Act (Bom. X of 1876) s 5 cl (c)—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O VIII v 6—Suits by an Inamdar against a Khatedar for recovery of sums—Dues—Suits not cognisable by a Small Cause Court—Set-off claimed in a capacity different from that in a suit, not allowable. Sums payable by a Khatedar to an Inamdar as superior holder are dues and a suit to recover such dues though less than Rs 500, is not cognizable by a Court of Small Causes and a decree passed in such suit is subject to a second appeal. In a suit brought by an Inamdar against a Khatedar for the recovery of dues in respect of certain immovable property payable by the Khatedar the defendant, as a pujari (worshipper) claimed to set off the stipend payable to him by the plaintiff. Held that the defendant could not claim the set off which was due to him in a different capacity from that in which he held as tenant or Khatedar of the plaintiff. MADHAVRAO MOHESHWAR v RAMA KALU (1914) I L R 39 Bom 131

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd.

Sch II, Art 12—contd.

3—Small Cause Court—Jurisdiction—Suits by zamindar to recover a hagg cess or due from tenant. Held that a suit by a zamindar to recover from one of his tenants dues payable in kind under the provisions of the village wajib ul arz was excluded from the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes by Art. 13 of the second schedule to the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act 1887. BARDEO v PARNALAL (1916) I L R 40 All 663

4—Small Cause Court—Jurisdiction—Suits by zamindar to recover part of price of trees sold by tenant. Held that a suit brought by the zamindars of a village upon the basis of a custom recorded in the village wajib ul arz to recover from a tenant half of the price of certain trees alleged to have been sold by him was not a suit excluded from the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes. BORRA BHUJ RAO v RAM CHANDRA I L R 42 All 448

5—Suits for recovery of Haq chaharum cognisable by a Small Cause Court—Custom—Wajib ul arz—Halat dehi—value of the halat dehi as evidence of the discontinuance of a custom recorded in the Wajib-ul arz. A suit brought by a zamindar to recover money alleged to be due to him on account of haq chaharum is not a suit of the nature cognizable by a Court of Small Causes. EOLRA BHUJ LAY v RAM CHANDRA I L R 42 All 448 referred to. The evidential value of the document known as halat dehi on the question of the discontinuance of a custom recorded in a wajib ul arz of earlier date dismissed. BECHAI v BADRI NARAIN I L R 43 All 681

Sch II, Arts 15 and 16—

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

I L R 43 Cal 59

Mortgage money— unpaid balance of suit by mortgagee for recovery of—Suits—Small Cause Court jurisdiction of. A mortgagor cannot sue for recovery of the balance of the amount promised to be advanced but not paid to him and such a suit is not cognizable by the Court of Small Causes but it is open to the mortgagor to sue in the Small Cause Court for damages for the breach of contract provided the damages claimed are within the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court. SHANK GALLIN v SADBARIAN DIBI (1915) I L R 43 Cal 69
19 C W N 1332

Sch II, Arts 15, 24—Suits to enforce—part of an award or part of a judgment in a civil suit whether cognisable in a Court of Small Causes. A

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd

Sch II, Arts 15, 24—contd

suit to enforce an award is in essence a suit for specific performance of a contract and is excluded from the cognizance of a Small Cause Court by Art 15 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. A suit to enforce part of an award which amongst other things partitions immoveable properties if it lies at all, does not lie in a Provincial Court of Small Causes. KUNJA BEHARY BARDHAN v GOSTA BEHARY BARDHAN (1917) 1 L. R. 38 All 570 (11 22 C. W. N 66)

Sch II, Art 18—Suits relating to Trusts—Suit by a company by its President to recover from defendants Nos 2 to 4 the subscriptions due under the Articles of Association of the Company. The first defendant was a trust, defendants Nos 2 to 4 were the trustees of the trust and members of the plaintiff company, in their capacity of trustees. The plaintiff proved that the moneys due may be recovered from the trust property in the first instance and if not so recoverable from the defendants Nos 2 to 4 personally. The suit was instituted on the Small Cause side, and the Subordinate Judge returned the plainta on the ground that the suit was one relating to a trust within the meaning of Art 18 of Sch II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act and was not triable on the Small Cause side. The High Court was moved by petition under a 25 of the Act Held per WHITE, CJ and SANKARAY NAIR, J (BEVSOR J, dissenting) the suit was to enforce payment of moneys due under the Articles of Association and not one 'relating to a trust' within the meaning of Art 18. The fact that issues relating to the trust and the rights and liabilities of the trustees may have to be tried will not make the suit one 'relating to a trust'. SRI VENKATACHALLAPATHY SARAYA VIVAYASAYA COMPANY v KAVASASABHAPATHIA PILLAI (1910) 1 L. R. 33 Mad. 494

Sch. II, Art 24—

See SCH II ART 15

1 L. R. 38 All 570

Suit for money due under an award—Jurisdiction of Small Cause Court. A suit to recover money made payable by the terms of a private award is not a suit which is excluded from the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes. Madho Prasad v Lalit Prasad, Weekly Notes 1881 p 159, distinguished. MIZARI LAL v PARTAB KUNWAR 1 L. R. 42 All. 189

Sch. II, Art 28—

1. Suit of a small cause nature—*Second appeal. Plaintiff sued for the recovery of certain jewels which she had presented to her daughter and son in law at their marriage basing her claim on a caste custom by which she was entitled after the death of the pair to return of the jewels presented by her. Held that the plaintiff claimed was not a right to inherit the jewels as the property of the bridegroom or the bride and Art 28 of Sch II of Act IX of 1887 did not apply to such a case. No second appeal lay as the suit (being for the recovery of less than Rs. 500) was within the cognizance of the Small Cause Court. CHITRAYYA v AGRAWAL (1912)

1 L. R. 37 Mad. 538

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd

Sch II, Art 28—contd

2. Suit by heirs of intestate against wrongdoer, if within. Suits for the "whole or a share of the property of an intestate" excluded by Art. 28 of Sch II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act from cognizance by the Small Cause Court are suits for the recovery of the property of an intestate between rival claimants to the estate or against persons administering the estate. The Article does not apply to suits by heirs against wrongdoers. Kapalee Bewah v Keshram Kooch 11 W. R. 93, Moheshwar v Kailash Nath, 7 C. L. R. 71, and Chedi v Gulah, 1 L. R. 27 All. 622, followed. Gurash Chunder v Anna Dossie, 17, W. R. 46, Nobin Chunder v Drilomoyee, 17 W. R. 520, and Kapalee Bewah v Keshram Kooch 11 W. R. 93 referred to. TIKA SAHU v CHIKKAT SARU (1914) 19 C. W. N. 614

Sch. II, Art 31—

See TRESPASS 1 L. R. 35 Mad. 726

1. Small Cause Court—*Jurisdiction—Suit by joint owner to recover rent of a house recovered by the other joint owner—Money had and received—Revision—Objection to jurisdiction not raised in the Court below. See Note. That a suit by one or two joint owners to recover from the other a share of the rent of a house recovered in the first instance by the defendant with the plaintiff's consent is a suit for money had and received and as such within the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes. But in any case, the question of jurisdiction not having been raised in the Court below and the case having apparently been correctly decided the High Court was not bound to interfere in revision. Ram Lal v Keshvi Singh, 1 L. R. 25 All 135, followed. SUKH LAL v NANNU PRASAD (1918) 1 L. R. 40 All. 666

2. Suit for mesne profits of a grove—*Jurisdiction. Held, that a suit for recovery of mesne profits of a grove from which the plaintiff had been wrongfully dispossessed is a suit the cognizance of which by a Court of Small Causes is barred by Art 31 of Sch II to the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887. Prasada Lal v Imdad Hussain, All Weekly Notes (1893) 10, distinguished. Sheo Badi v Surjan, 11 A. L. J. 238 followed. DURGAL SINGH v KUNJAL (1917) 1 L. R. 40 All. 142

3. Jurisdiction of Court, determination of—*Suit for account, whether claim for ascertained sum. The question whether a particular suit is cognizable by a Small Cause Court or not must be determined on a consideration of the plaint irrespective of the allegations made in the written statement. Where the plaintiffs claimed a definite ascertained sum representing in money the profits and produce of their share of certain land under the sole management of the defendants. Held that the suit was not barred by Art 31 of the Second Schedule to the Provincial Small Cause Act, 1887. It is not every case in which accounts have to be looked into which is a suit for accounts. RAJIVA NARAYAN SARAY v KIRAT NARAYAN SIKOH 3 Pat. L. J. 423

Sch. II, Art 32.

See REDEMPTION, SUIT FOR

14 C. W. N. 1001

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd.

Sch. II, Art. 35 (ii)—Suit for compensation for removal of trees and crops—Jurisdiction—Want of jurisdiction not urged in defence—Decree, if should be set aside on review—Objection, if may be waived. A suit for compensation for a tree alleged by plaintiff to have been grown by him and cut by the defendant and for crops of mustard raised by him and misappropriated by the defendant from land alleged to be plaintiff's property and in his possession is excluded from the jurisdiction of the Small Cause Court under the Art. 35, sub cl. (2) of Sch. II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. Where no objection to the Court's jurisdiction having been taken at the original trial, the suit was decreed and an application by the defendant for review was dismissed on the ground that the objection was not raised at the trial. Held, that the review application should have been granted, as where there is an entire absence of jurisdiction no action on the part of the plaintiff or inaction on the part of the defendant can invest the Court with jurisdiction. RAMFROD PRAMANIK v SRICHARAN MANDAL (1917). I. L. R. 21 C. W. N. 1109

See CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST

I. L. R. 48 Calc 879

Sch. II, Art. 35 (g)—Contract to marry, breach of—Loss of provisions and articles. A suit by a father of a Mahomedan girl against the father of a minor boy for breach of contract to marry the boy to the plaintiff's daughter and for compensation for the loss sustained by the waste of articles and provisions in consequence of such breach, is governed by Art. 35, cl. (g) of the second schedule to the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1887) and is therefore not cognisable by a Provincial Small Cause Court. Kali Sunker Dass v Koylakh Chunder Dass, 1 L. R. 16 Calc 333, followed. MOIDIN KUTTI v YOKER (1913).

I. L. R. 38 Mad 274

Sch. II, Art. 35 (j)—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I. L. R. 33 All 308

Sch. II, Art. 35—(1)—Threat to assault—'Injury to the person'—Exemption from the cognizance of the Court of Small Causes. A suit to recover damages from the defendant who ran after the plaintiff with a shoe in hand threatening to beat him and using abusive language, but did not actually touch the plaintiff's person is a suit for "injury to the person" within the meaning of Art. 35, sub cl. (1) of the second schedule of the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act (IX of 1887), and is not within the cognizance of the Small Cause Court. GOVIND BALKRISHNA v PANDURANG VINAYAK (1912). I. L. R. 36 Bom. 443

Sch. II, Art. 35—

1. Suit for money for maintenance under an agreement cognisable by a Small Cause Court. A suit to recover from the defendant paddy expended by the plaintiff for the maintenance of their grand mother, for which under the agreement of partition between them the defendant was bound to pay a certain quantity is a suit of a small cause nature, the basis of the suit being the agreement. Ramarasany Pantulu v Narayanasamoorthy, 14 Mad L J 459, applied. ANASIMINI SASTRIAL v RAMASAMI SASTRIAL (1913).

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 553

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT (IX OF 1887)—contd.

Sch. II, Art. 38—contd.

2. Suit relating to maintenance—Jurisdiction. Plaintiff's father in law left by his will certain property to plaintiff & three brothers in law, charged with the payment of Rs. 36 per annum to the plaintiff during her life. Subsequently the brothers in law agreed amongst themselves to divide their liability for payment of this annuity, so that each became liable individually for the payment of Rs. 12 per annum. Held, on suit brought by the annuitant to recover arrears of her maintenance allowance against one of her brothers in law, that the suit was a "suit relating to maintenance" and that the cognizance thereof by a Court of Small Causes was barred by Art. 38 of sch. II to the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887. Maladeo Rai v Deo Narain Rai, 2 A. L. J 697, and Masum Ali v Mohsin Ali, (1890), All Weekly Notes, 201, distinguished. MURKUN UD DIX v SAMIR UN NISSA BROT (1917).

I. L. R. 40 All. 52

Sch. II, Art. 41—

See S. 25. I. L. R. 41 All. 51

Contribution, suit for—Pent decree—Execution by assignee against a joint tenant—Payment under compulsion—Suit, if cognisable by Small Cause Court—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s. 145 (b)—Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 69, 70. Where an assignee of a rent decree having attached the moveables of plaintiffs who were joint tenants of the holding with the defendants, the plaintiffs satisfied the decree, and then sued the defendants for contribution. Held, that the suit was excluded from the cognizance of the Small Cause Court by Art. 41 of the Second Schedule to the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. That if it were assumed that an assignee of a decree for rent is precluded from executing it even as a decree for money, the decree itself was not extinguished and could be executed on the assignee obtaining an assignment of the landlord's interests or on his retransferring the decree to the landlord. Where, therefore, on the assignee's application for execution the Court ordered execution to issue and the plaintiff paid in the decretal amount under compulsion of legal process. Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to sue for contribution under s. 70 as also under s. 69 of the Contract Act. The benefit which the defendants get was that they were absolved from the liability to be pursued either by the assignee or assignor of the decree. If a payment made to an assignee of a rent decree is accepted by him, the decree is satisfied and there is nothing in s. 145 (b) of the Bengal Tenancy Act to prevent it. RAJANI KANTA GHOSH v RAMA NATH ROY (1914).

[19 C. W. N. 458]

Contribution—Where a decree was obtained against 3 brothers for maintenance of fourth brother's widow and one paid and sued his brothers. Held, that the suit was one for contribution and cognizable by Small Cause Court. ANT PAM v MITHAN LAL.

I. L. R. 40 All. 135

PROVISIONAL APPOINTMENT.

See UNIVERSITY LECTURERSHIP

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 518

PROVISO

object of—

See PRESS ACT (I OF 1910) s 3 (1)
PROVISO I. L. R. 33 Mad. 1164

use of, to interpret section—

See LAND IMPROVEMENT LOANS ACT
(XIX OF 1883), s 7 (1) (c)
I. L. R. 41 Mad. 691PROXY.See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O. XIII, r 3
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 850PUBLIC AUTHORITY.

See NEGLIGENCE . 5 Pat. L. J. 253

PUBLIC BODY

See ELECTION I. L. R. 40 Mad. 941

PUBLIC CHARITYSee CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s 92

See HINDU LAW RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS.

— Suit respecting public charities—
Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss 92, 115—Suit with Advocate General's sanction in respect of public charities—Court fees—Court Fees Act (VII of 1873) s 11, Art 17 (v)—Striking off a prayer for relief—Advocate General's sanction if necessary—Interlocutory order—Revision by High Court—A plaint in a suit under s 92 of the Civil Procedure Code (relating to public charities) should bear a Court fee stamp of Rs 10 only as required by Art. 17, cl (vi) of Sch. II of the Court Fees Act Thakur v Brahma Narain, 1 L. R. 19 All. 60
Girdhari Lal v Ram Lal, 1 L. R. 21 All. 290 rel'd on. Where the plaintiffs in such a suit being ordered by the Judge to value the suit and pay ad valorem Court fee on such value moved the High Court without waiting for the dismissal of the suit for non compliance with the order Held, that the order in effect amounted to a denial of jurisdiction, and though interlocutory was a fit case for interference in revision by the High Court A prayer for relief in a plaint in such a suit not covered by those specified in s 92 may be struck off on the application of the plaintiff, the sanction of the Advocate General for striking off such a prayer being unnecessary Babree Das v Chandra Lal, 1 L. R. 32 Cal. 789 referred to Ramprasad Das v Mohd Sheriff Shikram Das (1910)
14 C. W. N. 932

PUBLIC CONVEYANCE.

See BOATBY PUBLIC CONVEYING ACT

See HACKNEY CARPAGES ACT

PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY ACT (BENG; I OF 1895)See BIHAR AND ORISSA PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY ACT, 1914
4 Pat. L. J. 475

See TESHROSH I. L. R. 45 Cal. 368

See SALE FOR APPRAISE OF REVENUE
I. L. R. 42 Cal. 765

sale under—

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING.

16 C. W. N. 351

PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY ACT (BENG I OF 1895)—contd.

Suit for recovery of possession on declaration that certificate sale void ab initio—Secretary of State if necessary party Where a plaintiff sues to recover possession of property sold under the Public Demands Recovery Act on the ground that the certificate and sale under it had in no way affected his rights, being ab initio null and void, and does not seek to set aside the sale, he is not bound to make the Secretary of State a party to the suit Gobinda Chandra v Hemanta Kumari, 1 I. R. 31 Cal. 159 8 C. W. N.
657, distinguished. RAJESWAR SINGH v MAHARAJ LAL (1910) . . . 14 C. W. N. 600

— s 9 (2), (3)—Certificates sale when is vitiating by irregularities—Nullity and irregularity, distinction between—Requisition not signed—Certificate not in due form—Certificate signed mechanically—Certificate Officer to exercise discretion in issuing certificate—Proof of service of notice—Entry in order sheet if sufficient—Presumption in favour of regularity of official acts, if arises when proceedings shown to have been carried on carelessly and in slovenly manner—No hard and fast line can be drawn between a nullity and an irregularity and when the provision of a statute has been contravened, if a question arises as to how far the proceedings are affected thereby it must be determined with regard to the nature, scope and object of the particular provision violated An Appellate Court should not dismiss a suit on the ground only that the plaint was not duly signed and verified, such a defect does not affect the merits of the case or the jurisdiction of the Court. So also proceedings taken upon a certificate should not be treated as void merely because the requisition under s 9 (2) of the Public Demands Recovery Act was not duly signed and verified. But there can be no valid sale on a certificate which did not specify the amount due and otherwise did not comply with the forms laid down by the Act and which the officer issuing the certificate appeared to have signed mechanically. The obvious intention of s 9 (3) of the Public Demands Recovery Act is that the officer shall use his discretion as to the issue of a certificate, determine whether the case is a proper one for it, whether the money be due or not. Banmath v Ramgal, 1 L. R. 23 I. A.
45, s c I. L. R. 23 Cal. 775, and Banmath v Ramgal, 5 C. L. J. 637, followed. The mere entry in the order sheet of the certificate case that notice had been served is no proof that service was effected. When the circumstances of the case show that the proceedings have been carried on in a careless or slovenly manner the Court will be slow to apply the maxim omnia presumuntur rite et solennter esse acta donec probetur in contrarium.
Mohammed v Pirichand Lal Chowdhury
(1914) . . . 19 C. W. N. 1159

— s 10—Public Demands Recovery Act (Beng I of 1895), ss 10, 15, 17—Arrears of road-case—Payment—Appropriation—Contract Act (IX of 1872) ss 59, 60—Certificate and sale when no arrears, if valid—Regular suit to set aside, if true—Limitation—Special limitation not applicable—A debt under the Public Demands Recovery Act is nothing but a debt and the law laid down in ss 59 and 60 of the Contract Act which is nothing more than a codified statement of the general law as to the appropriation of payments made by the debtor is applicable to payments made on account

PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY ACT (BENG I OF 1895)—contds 10—contd

of arrears of road cess in the Collectorate Ganga Bishan Singh v Mahomed Jan, I L R 33 Cal 1193, s c 10 C W N 948 Jogendra Mohan Sen v Uma Nath Guja, I L R 35 Cal 636, s c 12 D. W. N 616, referred to. The Collector therefore has not authority to appropriate payments made in liquidation of specific arrears of road-cess towards previous arrears, and a certificate issued under the Public Demands Recovery Act in respect of the later arrears so paid off, is not a valid certificate under the Act. A sale held in pursuance of such a certificate is without jurisdiction the foundation for the exercise of jurisdiction by the Revenue authority being wanting in such a case. When the arrears in respect of which the certificate purports to have been issued did not exist a suit to set aside the sale held in execution of the certificate lies under the ordinary law, s 15 of the Act and the special limitation provided therein for suits to modify or cancel a certificate not applying to such a suit. Janukdhari Lal v Gossain Lal Bharya, 13 C W N 710 followed. NANDAN MISHRA v LALA HARAKH NARAYAN (1910) 14 C W N 607

—ss 10 and 31—What is a proper notice—Onus of proper service—Public Demands Recovery, Act (Beng I of 1895), ss 10, 31 Service of notice under s 10 of the Public Demands Recovery Act 1895, must be effected in strict conformity with that section. Where service of notice is effected by fixing it on the outer door of the judgment debtor's house, the onus is clearly upon the defendant relying on the notice to show that there was proper service as required by law. Rakhal Chandra Rai Chowdhury v The Secretary of State for India, I L R 12 Cal 603, and Jogeswar Sahu v Debi Prasad, 5 C L J 555, followed. NEMAI CHARAN DE v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1917) I L R 45 Cal 496

ss 12, 15, 17, 24, 26See CERTIFICATE OF SALE

I L R 37 Cal 107

—ss 20, 21—Sale without notice to representatives of a deceased judgment debtor, if a nullity—Failure of Collector to act under s 21, though deposit duly made, if a ground for treating sale a nullity—Irregularity—Sale, voidable only—Proper remedy On 14th March 1893 a Court holding a sale under the Public Demands Recovery Act was apprised of the death on 10th March 1893 of one of the judgment debtors but the property was nevertheless sold without notice to the legal representatives of the deceased judgment debtor. In a suit by the purchaser brought more than a year after to recover the land Held that the legal representatives of the deceased judgment debtor could not ask the sale to be treated as a nullity on this ground by way of defence in this suit. It was an irregularity which made the sale voidable by either a proceeding under s 311 of Act XIV of 1882 or a suit brought within one year as contemplated by Art 12 (a) of the Limitation Act of 1877. Nor could the sale be declared a nullity in such a suit upon proof only of improper rejection by the Collector of an application to set aside the sale, although the amounts mentioned in s 21 of the Public Demands Recovery Act were duly deposited. BEJIN BEHARY PERRA v SAST BHUSAN DATTA (1913) 18 C W N 766

PUBLIC DOCUMENT.See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872) s 35

I L R 36 All 161

See LIBEL I L R. 48 Cal 304See REGISTER OF DEATHS

I L R 46 Cal 152

PUBLIC DRAINHouse drains—Title—

Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng III of 1899), ss 3, cl (16) 236, 337—Vesting of a street in a municipality—its effect—Rights of the owner The legal effect of the statutory vesting of a street in a municipality is not to transfer to the municipality the ownership in the site or soil over which the street exists. The effect of the statutory provision is merely to vest in them the property in the surface of the street, road or drain and in so much of the actual soil below and air above as may reasonably be required for its control, protection and maintenance as a highway or drain for the use of the public. The Court will not presume that the intention of the Legislature was to confiscate private property and vest it in a public corporation without compensation granted to the proprietor. The right of the owner was intended to be abridged only to the extent necessary for the discharge of the statutory duties imposed on the Corporation for the benefit of the public. The property of the local authority concerned does not extend further than is necessary for the maintenance and use of the highway as a highway, that subject to this qualification, the original owner's rights and property remain and that if the highway ceases to be a highway, the owner becomes entitled to full and unbridged rights of ownership in the property. Sundaram Ayyar v Municipal Council of Madras, I L R 25 Mad 635, and Madathapu Ramaya v Secretary of State for India, I L R 27 Mad 336, followed. Chairman of the Nathals Municipality v Keshori Lal Gonsami, I L R 13 Cal. 171, Modhu Sudan Kundu v Promoda Nath Roy, I L R 20 Cal 732, Chairman of the Hootch Municipality v Khetra Krishna Mitter, I L R 33 Cal 1299, Nihal Chand v Azmat Ali, I L R 7 All 362, Nagar Valab Naras v The Municipality of Dhan-dhuka, I L R 12 Bom. 490, The Municipal Commissioners of Madras v Saravagopal Mudahar, I L R 19 Mad 154, Sundaram Ayyar v The Municipal Council of Madras I L R 25 Mad 635 Madathapu Ramaya v Secretary of State for India, I L R 27 Mad 336, The Mayor of Tunbridge Wells v David, [1899] A C 431 Municipal Council of Sydney v Young, [1898] A C 457, Finchley Electric Light Co v Finchley Urban Council, [1903] 1 Ch 437, Foley's Charity Trustees v Dudley Corporation, [1910] 1 K B 317 London and N W Ry Co v Westminster Corporation, [1905] A C 426 Lodge Holes Colliery Co v Wednesbury Corporation, [1906] A C 323, Batter sea Vestry v County of London, [1899] 1 Ch 474 referred to. GUVENDRA MOHAN GHOSH v CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA (1916)

I L R 44 Cal 689

PUBLIC FERRY—declaration of limits of—*See FERRY I L R. 37 Cal. 543PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT (III OF 1867).

—ss 1, 3—"Place"—Fullock-run of disturbed well surrounded by low wall of loose bricks—Common gaming house—Held, that the lowest.

PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT (III OF 1867)—*contd.ss. 1, 3—contd.

end of a bullock run round which, in the shape of a semi-circle, was raised a low wall of loose bricks, was a 'place' within the meaning of the public Gambling Act, 1867 King Emperor v Faisol Mahomed, Shermahomed I. L. R. 37 Bom 651, followed Powell v The Kempson Park Race Course Co., Ltd [1899], A C 113, referred to EMPEROR v MIAN DIN (1915)

I. L. R. 39 All 47

ss. 3, 4—1—Presumption—

Warrant not in accordance with provisions of Act held, that a warrant authorising the search of any house which the police officer to whom it was issued might think proper to search, was not a legal warrant within the provisions of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 EMPEROR v HARGONIND (1912.)

I. L. R. 35 All 1

2—Common gaming

house—Order for confiscation of money found on the persons of accused. In the case of men convicted under s 3 or 4 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867, the law does not contemplate the confiscation of money found on the persons of the accused. Emperor v Maturwa, I. L. R. 40 All 517, referred to EMPEROR v TOLLA (1919)

I. L. R. 41 All 366

ss. 3, 4, 5, 10 and 11—Search warrant
—Endorsement of warrant by officer to whom it was issued—Procedure—Examination under s 10 of persons sent up as accused under s 4—Effect of order passed under s 11. When a search warrant has been issued by a Magistrate under the provisions of s 5 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867, the police officer to whom it is addressed may endorse it over to another police officer, provided that the latter is an officer to whom such a warrant might have been issued in the first instance. Emperor v Aash Lath, I. L. R. 39 All 69, followed. Effect of an order under s 11 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867, and procedure necessary to terminate the legal liability of persons in whose favour such an order is passed whilst proceedings under s 4 of the Act are still pending against them discussed. EMPEROR v MAHADEO

I. L. R. 42 All 385

ss. 3 and 10—Act (Local) No. 1 of 1917, United Provinces Public Gambling (Amendment) Act s 2—"Instruments of gaming"—Cowries —Value of evidence of person examined under s 10. Cowries, if used for the purpose of carrying on gaming, are "instruments of gaming" within the meaning of s 1 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867, as amended by s 2 of Local Act No. 1 of 1917. A person examined as a witness under the provisions of s 10 of Act III of 1867 is not examined as an "approver" within the meaning of the Code of Criminal Procedure. EMPEROR v PHAGO LAL

I. L. R. 42 All 470

ss. 4, 8—Conviction for being found in a common gaming house—Forfeiture of money found in the house, legal. A conviction under s 3 or s 4 of the Public Gambling Act 1867, differs from a conviction under s 1d, in that in the case of the latter the forfeiture of money found with the persons convicted is not lawful, but in the case of the former the forfeiture of money or securities for money found in a common PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT (III OF 1867)—*contd.ss. 4, 8—contd.

gaming house is lawful. Emperor v Tola, I. L. R. 26 All 270, referred to EMPEROR v KIPATAT (1918) . . . I. L. R. 41 All 272

s. 5—Sec S 3 .

I. L. R. 42 All 385

Jurisdiction—Power to issue search warrant—"Officer invested with the full powers of a Magistrate"—Sub divisional officer issuing warrant for search outside his sub-division held, that a search warrant issued under s 5 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867, by a first class Magistrate was not invalid by reason of the fact that the house to be searched was situated outside the limits of the tahsil in respect of which such Magistrate had been appointed sub divisional officer. EMPEROR v ABHU SINGH (1912)

I. L. R. 34 All 597

s. 8—Sec S 4 .

I. L. R. 41 All 272

ss. 10 and 11—Sec S 3 .

I. L. R. 42 All 385, 470

s. 12—"Mere game of skill"—Game of chance. Held, that a game which is in fact only to a very slight extent a game of skill and almost entirely a game of chance, is not a game which is excluded by reason of s 12 of the Gambling Act, 1867, from the previous provisions of that Act. Hari Singh v King Emperor, 6 C L J 708, distinguished. EMPEROR v AHMAD KHAN (1911)

I. L. R. 34 All 96

s. 13—

Gaming in public place
—Seizure of money as well as instruments of gaming, illegal. Where persons are found gambling in a public place in circumstances to which s 13 of the Gambling Act, 1867, is applicable, although instruments of gambling, etc., may be seized by the police, there is no authority for the confiscation of money found with the persons arrested. Emperor v Tola, I. L. R. 26 All 270 followed. EMPEROR v MATURWA (1918) . . . I. L. R. 40 All 517

PUBLIC GOOD

See DEFAMATION I. L. R. 41 Calc. 514

PUBLIC NAVIGABLE RIVER

Dry land appearing through recession, assessed with revenue—Sud to declare beds formed parts of permanently settled estate—Onus—Plaintiff to prove river non navigable at permanent settlement—River beds shown within boundaries of mouzas in thak and revenue maps, if sufficient to prove beds parts of estates—Thak and survey maps, evidentiary value of. Rennell's map which was based on surveys made between 1764 and 1773 indicated the existence of Kalaganja and Dhulia (which were surveyed in 1859-60 as large navigable rivers) as large navigable rivers and the map prepared by Alexander Hodges in 1831 indicated that at that time Dhulia was a large navigable river. Held, that it lay on the Plaintiff who sued for a declaration that lands recently the beds of these rivers but now dry by reason of the rivers receding from their beds were included in their permanently settled estates to prove their allegation that at the date of the permanent settlement of their adjoining zamindaries in 1793

PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT (III OF 1867)—
*contdss 1, 3—contd.

end of a bullock run round which, in the shape of a semi-circle, was raised a low wall of loose bricks, was a 'place' within the meaning of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 Emperor v Fattouh Mahomed, Shermahomed I L R 37 Bom 651, followed Powell v The Kempton Park Race Course Co., Ltd. [1893] A C 143, referred to EMPEROR v MIAN DIN (1915)

I L R 33 All 47

ss. 3, 4—1—Presumption—

Warrant not in accordance with provisions of Act Held, that a warrant authorising the search of any house which the police officer to whom it was issued might think proper to search, was not a legal warrant within the provisions of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 EMPEROR v MARGOBEND (1912)

I L R 35 All 1

2—Common gaming

house—Order for confiscation of money found on the persons of accused. In the case of men convicted under s 3 or 4 of the Public Gambling Act 1867 the law does not contemplate the confiscation of money found on the persons of the accused Emperor v Matunwa, I L R 40 All 517, referred to EMPEROR v TULLA (1919)

I L R 41 All 386

ss 3, 4, 5, 10 and 11—Search warrant
—Endorsement of warrant by officer to whom it was issued.—Procedure.—Examination under s 10 of persons sent up as accused under s 4.—Effect of order passed under s 11. When a search warrant has been issued by a Magistrate under the provisions of s 5 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 the police officer to whom it is addressed may endorse it over to another police officer provided that the latter is an officer to whom such a warrant might have been issued in the first instance Emperor v Kashi Nath I L R 30 All 60 followed. Effect of an order under s 11 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 and procedure necessary to terminate the legal liability of persons in whose favour such an order is passed whilst proceedings under s 4 of the Act are still pending against them discussed. EMPEROR v MAHADRO

I L R 42 All 335

ss 3 and 10—Act (Local) No. 1 of 1917, United Provinces Public Gambling (Amendment) Act s 2—Instruments of gaming—Coveres —Value of evidence of person examined under s 10. Covers if used for the purpose of carrying on gaming, are instruments of gaming' within the meaning of s 1 of the Public Gambling Act 1867, as amended by s 2 of Local Act No. 1 of 1917. A person examined as a witness under the provisions of s 10 of Act III of 1867 is not examined as an 'approver' within the meaning of the Code of Criminal Procedure EMPEROR v BHAGGI LAL

I L R 42 All 470

ss 4, 8—Conviction for being found in a common gaming house—Forfeiture of money found in the house. A conviction under s 3 or s 4 of the Public Gambling Act 1867, differs from a conviction under s 13 in that in the case of the latter the forfeiture of money found with the persons convicted is not lawful. But in the case of the former the forfeiture of money or securities for money found in a common

PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT (III OF 1867)—
*contdss 4, 8—contd

gaming house is lawful Emperor v Tola, I L R 26 All 270, referred to EMPEROR v KIRPATAT (1918)

I L R 41 All 272

s 5—Sec 8, 3

I L R 42 All 385

Jurisdiction—Power to issue search warrant— Officer invested with the full powers of a Magistrate.—Sub divisional officer issuing warrant for search outside his sub-division Held, that a search warrant issued under s 6 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867, by a first class Magistrate was not invalid by reason of the fact that at the house to be searched was situated outside the limits of the sub-division in respect of which such Magistrate had been appointed sub-divisional officer EMPEROR v ABUL HUSSAN (1912)

I L R 34 All 697

s 8—Sec 8, 4

I L R 41 All 272

ss 10 and 11—Sec 8, 3

I L R 42 All 385 470

s. 12— Mere game of skill.—Game of chance Held, that a game which is in fact only to a very slight extent a game of skill and almost entirely a game of chance, is not a game which is excluded by reason of s 12 of the Gambling Act 1867, from the provisions of that Act Hari Singh v King Emperor 6 C L J 703 distinguished EMPEROR v AHMAD KHAN (1911)

I L R 34 All 98

s 13—

Gaming in public place
—Seizure of money as well as instruments of gaming, illegal. Where persons are found gambling in a public place in circumstances to which s 13 of the Gambling Act 1867, is applicable although instruments of gambling etc., may be seized by the police, there is no authority for the confiscation of money found with the persons arrested Emperor v Tola, I L R 26 All 270 followed EMPEROR v MATUNWA (1918)

I L R 40 All 517

PUBLIC GOODSee DEFAMATION I L R 41 Calc 514PUBLIC NAVIGABLE RIVER

Dry land appearing through recession, assessed with revenue—Suit to declare beds formed parts of permanently settled estate—Onus— Plaintiff to prove river not navigable at permanent settlement.—River beds shown within boundaries of mouzas in thak and revenue maps of sufficient to prove beds parts of estates.—Thak and survey maps, evidentiary value of. Rennell's map which was based on surveys made between 1764 and 1773 indicated the existence of Kal ganga and Dhulia (which were surveyed in 1859 60 as large navigable rivers) as large navigable rivers and the map prepared by Alexander Hodges in 1831 indicated that at that time Dhulia was a large navigable river Held, that it lay on the Plaintiff who sued for a declaration that lands recently the beds of these rivers but now dry by reason of the rivers receding from the river beds were included as their permanently settled estates to prove their allegation that at the date of the permanent settlement of their adjoining zemindaries in 1793

PUBLIC NAVIGABLE RIVER—contd

they were narrow channels. Plaintiff having failed to show that the rivers must be held to have been navigable at the date of the permanent settlement held further that the fact that in the thak and survey maps of 1840, the beds of the rivers were shown as within the boundaries wholly or in part of plaintiff's permanently settled estate was not sufficient to establish the plaintiff's case that the beds were included in lands charged with the assessment permanently fixed in 1793. Jagadindra v Secretary of State for India, L P 30 I A 44 s.c. I L R 39 Cal 291 7 C W 193 (1902). Doboo Coomar v Govinda Chandra 9 C L P 395 (1881) and Secretary of State v Bujoo Chand 22 C W 1872 (1915) referred to. The decisions in Kali Krishna v Secretary of State L P 15 I A 156 s.c. I L R 16 Cal 173 (1883) Abdul Hamid v Kuran Chandra 7 C W 1849 (1903) Masood Ali Khan 15 C W 1876 s.c. 13 C I J 293 (1919) Gokul Chandra v Hara Sundari 9 C W 1333 (1901) Ananda Hari v Secretary of State 3 C L J 316 (1916) Dunwar v Dharam Karla I L R 35 Cal 621 (1908) Fa Lal Pahim v Lalendra Krishna 17 C W 151 (1917) Shyam Lal v Lachman, I L R 15 Cal 353 (1885) and Hari Das v Secretary of State 26 C L J 599 (1 C) (1917) do not lay down any general inflexible rule of law that the facts stated on the thak or survey map must be presumed to have been in existence at the time of the permanent settlement. The question is essentially one of fact and must be determined on the facts and circumstances of each case. PROFULLANATH TAGORE v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA

24 C. W. N. 839

PUBLIC NUISANCE

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s 91

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 133

I L R 34 All 345

See NUISANCE

See TORT I L R 33 All 267

In respect of the carrying on of a trade—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1894

s 133 I L R 1 Lah 163

1. Encroachment on public pathway—Application to District Magistrate by letter—Preference of applicant by letter to Civil Court—Subsequent petition to the Subdivisional Magistrate regarding the same pathway—Issue of conditional order—Appearance of opposite party and claim of title to the path—Dropping proceedings without filing evidence—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) ss 133 137 When a Magistrate makes a conditional order under s 133 of the Criminal Procedure Code against a party who appears in a house cause he is bound under s 137 to take evidence as in a summons case. It is open to him thereafter to consider whether there is a complete answer to the case or whether it is not a proper one for reference to the Civil Court. SAROJBASHINI DEBI v SRIPATI CHAKRABORTY (1914) I L R 42 Cal 702

2.

Unlawful obstruction to public way—Bona fide question of title—Duty of Magistrate to determine the question—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) ss 133 137 PER SHAHJAHAN J.—When a party against whom an order under s 133 of the Criminal Procedure Code is contemplated, appears and raises

PUBLIC NUISANCE—contd

the question that a pathway, alleged to have been unlawfully obstructed is not a public but a private one the Magistrate should not only decide whether it is public or private but he should determine whether the claim is bona fide or a mere pretence set up only to oust the jurisdiction of the Court. If he finds that the claim is a mere pretence he may proceed to pass a final order but if he finds that the claim, though not substantiated has been raised bona fide he should stay his hand and refer the party to the Civil Court and if the party does not have recourse to such Court within a reasonable time the Magistrate may then proceed to make the order absolute. Belat Ali v Abdur Rahim 8 C W 143 Matukdhari Tewari v Hari Madhab Das 9 C W 172 Luckhee Narain Banerjee v Kam Kumar Mukherjee I L R 15 Cal 564 and Pronath Dey v Golordhone Mahto, I L P 25 Cal 278 referred to. The provisions of s 133 of the Code should be sparingly used. TEJENDU J. in the circumstances of the case, assented to the order proposed. MANINDER DEY v BIDHU BISHWAN SAHAJAN (1914)

I L R 42 Cal 158

3. Liability of absent proprietors for such nuisance committed by their servants—Applicability of the English Common Law in the construction of the Penal Code—Penal Code (Act XL of 1860) ss 268 269 Where the use of premises gives rise to a public nuisance, the occupier for the time being who is liable for it and not the absent proprietor. The English cases under the Common Law are no authority upon the construction of the Penal Code in this respect. Pez v Medley 6 C B 707 and Queen v Stephens I P 1 Q 480 not followed. BIHUTI PRISAN ISHAK v BIRHAN PAM (1918) I L R 46 Cal 515

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE NUISANCE.

See NUISANCE I L R 38 Cal 296

PUBLIC OFFICER

See CANTONMENTS ACT (VIII of 1880), s 80 I L R 34 Bom 583

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act I of 1908) s 80. I L R 37 Bom 243
I L R 41 Mad 792

syndicate a—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I of 1877), s. 40 I L R 40 Mad 125

PUBLIC PATHWAY

encroachment on—

See PUBLIC NUISANCE

I L R 42 Cal 702

obstruction to—

See PUBLIC NUISANCE

I L R 42 Cal 158

Obstruction Proceeding against several without statement of particular acts of obstruction done by each—Initial and final orders vague—No reasonable opportunity given to show cause and adduce evidence—Legality of order based on local inquiry or information at time of conditional order—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) ss 133 137 In a proceeding under s 133 of the Criminal Procedure Code against several persons, alleging various acts of unlawful obstruction to a public way, the initial and final orders must state accurately the specific obstruction caused by each and which he is required to remove, unless it is alleged that all of them are jointly responsible for all the obstructions complained of. An order under the section should not be vague, indefinite or ambiguous, but such as to afford information by its terms to the person to whom it is directed what he is to do in order to comply with it. Kail Mohan Kar v Sakari Chandra Das, 11 C L J 114, followed. It is desirable that responsible opportunity should be given the parties proceeded against under s 133 to show cause under s 135 (b) or adduce evidence under s 137 (1). The report or other information on which the Magistrate has passed the conditional order under s 133 is not evidence against the person to whom it is directed. Srinath Roy v Ananda Halder I I R 24 Calc 395, approved. An order under s 137 cannot, even by consent of parties, be based on information gathered at a local inquiry. Pandora Nath Mandal v Rampal, 10 C L J 467, approved. PAIMONAN KARMAKAR v EMPLOYER (1916) I L R 44 Calc 61

PUBLIC PATHWAY—contd

PUBLIC POLICY.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XXIII s 3

I L R 38 Mad 850

See CONTRACT 4 Pat L J 542

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872—

S 23

S 24 I L R 42 Bom 339

S 25 I L R 37 Bom 280

See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (XII OF 1878) s 10B cl (2)

I L R 35 Bom 190

See PALMS OR TREES OF WORKSHIP

I L R 42 Calc 455

See SLAVERY BOND

I L R 42 Calc 742

See TRADE MARK I L R 40 Calc 814

See TRAFFICKING IN OFFICES

I L R 43 Calc 115

See TRANSFER OR PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s 54 I L R 37 All 631

Inducing Public Officers for consideration to use influence—

See CONTRACT 25 C W N 297

PUBLIC PROSECUTOR.

See CONTEMPT OF COURT

I L R 41 Calc 173

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R 41 Calc 446

Remembrancer—Practice and Procedure—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895) ss 4 (f), 417, 452—Acquittal, appeal from—The Legal Remembrancer of Bengal, as Public Prosecutor for Bengal, incompetent to prefer an appeal from acquittal, for the Government of Bihar and Orissa. By a notification published in the Calcutta Gazette on 24th June 1886 the Legal Remembrancer of Bengal was to be ex officio Public Prosecutor in all cases before the High Court on its Appellate side except Calcutta cases. On 1st April 1912 the Government of Bihar and Orissa appointed Mr Adam to be the Legal Remembrancer of that Province. Under instructions from the Government of Bihar and Orissa contained in their letter dated 23rd April 1913 (which did not appoint him Public Prosecutor for that case), the Legal Remembrancer of Bengal (through his Deputy) presented this appeal to the High Court on 2nd May 1913. Held, that from 1st April 1912 the Legal Remembrancer of Bihar and Orissa became ex officio Public Prosecutor for that Province, and that the mere fact that a person had been directed to present an appeal to the High Court from an order of acquittal did not involve his appointment as Public Prosecutor for Bihar and Orissa for the purposes of the case and that accordingly, the appeal presented by the Deputy Legal Remembrancer of Bengal was incompetent. DIPYAT LYDAL REMEMBRANCER, BENGAL v GAYA PRASAD (1913)

PUBLIC PROSECUTOR—contd

I L R 41 Calc 425

*Appeal against acquittal presented by Legal Remembrancer—Legal Remembrancer whether a Public Prosecutor—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895) s 417—Admissibility of evidence of a similar but unconnected transaction to prove the presence of the accused at a certain place and to rebut an alibi—The Legal Remembrancer is a Public Prosecutor within the meaning of s 417 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Where the accused was charged with cheating a firm in Calcutta, under s 420 of the Penal Code, and it was alleged that he had on a certain date sent a telegram to the firm from Cooch Behar, purporting to come from their agents there, evidence that he had sent a similar telegram, on the same date, to another firm in Calcutta purporting to come from their branch establishment in Cooch Behar is admissible to disprove the case of the accused that he was in Calcutta on such date and to corroborate the evidence of the witnesses connecting him with the despatch of the first mentioned telegram. LEGAL REMEMBRANCER, BENGAL v TILARAM BARODIA, (1918)*

I L R 45 Calc 544
*Duty to produce all the evidence in his power bearing directly on the charge—Duty to call all the available eye witnesses in capital cases—Omission to examine material witnesses—Effect of—Inference in favour of the prosecution arising therefrom—Practice. The purpose of a criminal trial is not to support at all costs a theory, but to investigate the offence and to determine the guilt or innocence of the accused, and the duty of a Public Prosecutor is to represent not the police but the Crown, and this duty should be discharged fairly and fearlessly and with a full sense of the responsibility attaching to his position. It is not his duty to call only witnesses who speak in his favour. Empress v Dhanno Kari I I R 25 Cal 225 discussed and explained. Two doubts in a capital case, place before the Court the testimony of all the available eye witnesses though brought to the Court by the defence, and though they give different accounts. The rule is not a technical one but founded on common sense and humanity. Reg v Hadden 8 C & P 669, followed. Where witnesses (who from their connection with the transactions in question must be able to give important information) are not called without sufficient reasons being shown the Court may properly draw an inference adverse to the* prosecution Empress v Dhunna Kari, 1 L R 8 Cal 121, referred to. A conviction under s 114 of the Penal Code cannot stand where the abettor charged necessarily requires the presence of the abettor. To come within the section, the abettor must be complete apart from the presence of the abettor. RAN RANIAN ROY v EMPTOR (1914) 1 L R 42 Cal 422 19 C W N 23

PUBLIC PROSECUTOR—contd

PUBLIC RELIGIOUS TRUST

See PARTIES 1 L R 42 Cal 1135

Removal of—Civil Procedure Code (Act 1 of 1908), s 92—Advocate-General, consent of. A suit for the removal of a trespasser in possession of trust property is not a suit of the kind contemplated by s 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure and therefore, for the institution of such a suit no consent of the Advocate-General is necessary. Budree Das Mulim v Choomi Lal Tehurri, 1 L R 33 Cal 733 followed. Veti Rama Jeyash v Venkatcharulu 1 L R 26 Mad 459. Sajjar Raja Chowdhuri v Gour Mohan Das Banikar, 1 L R 24 Cal 418. Bulh Singh Dushuria v Virubharan Roy 2 C L J 437. Muhammad Abdul Majid Khan v Ahmal Siad Khan, 1 L R 35 All 459 referred to. ANATUL NESSA BISI v KUEFL KHALIFA (1914) 1 L R 41 Cal 749

PUBLIC RIGHT OF WAY

Obstruction—Special damage—Village pathway obstruction of—Special damage if need be proved. Where in a suit by the plaintiff for the declaration of a public right of way alleging special damage it appeared that a previous suit for a similar declaration had been dismissed on the ground that the plaintiff did not disclose any cause of action (there being no allegation that plaintiff had suffered special damage) but in dismissing the suit the Court had expressly stated that the plaintiff was not debarred from bringing a fresh suit properly framed. Held that the second suit was not barred by res judicata. Proof by the plaintiff that he and his servants had been compelled to go by a longer route and thereby incur additional expense was sufficient proof of special damage. Infringement of a village pathway in which plaintiff had got a right with other villagers by reasons of a grant implied from long user does not require proof of special damage to give the plaintiff a cause of action. HARIHAR DAS v CHANDRA KUMAR GUHA (1918) 22 C W N 21

Right of marching in procession with a car—Suit for declaration of right—Injunction restraining interference with the right. Plaintiffs sued on behalf of themselves and of other members of a religious community to have a declaration of their right of marching in procession with a car along a particular public road to certain temples and for an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with the plaintiffs. The defendants contended that the plaintiffs had no right to march along the road. The lower Courts dismissed the suit on the ground that the road being public the plaintiffs could not sue unless special damage were shown and proved. On second appeal by the plaintiffs Held, reversing the decrees and allowing the claim, that the suit was not for removal of a public nuisance but for a declaration of the right of an individual community to use the public road. Every member of the public and every sect has a right to use the public streets in a lawful manner and it lies on those who would restrain him or it to show some law or custom, having the force of law abrogating the privilege. Sadgopachariar v A Rama Rao 1 L R 26 Mad. 376 followed. BASLINGAPPA PARAPPA v DHAR MAPPA BASAPPA (1910) 1 L R 34 Bom 571

PUBLIC RIGHT OF WAY—contd

Metalled and unmetalled portions——Ejunct, part of road—Right of public way. Where the question is as to the breadth of a public road, it must be taken that all the ground over which if a public have a right of way is part of the road; the mere fact that part of the road may be metalled for the greater convenience of the traffic will not render the unmetalled portion on each side any the less a public road or street. MUNICIPAL BOARD OF AGRA v SUDARSHAN DAS BHASTRI (1914) 1 L R 37 All 9

PUBLIC SERVANT.

See PENAL CODE ss 21 161—190

ss 332 323 1 L R 27 All 253
1 L R 40 All 29

assaulting in execution of duty—

See PROVINCE 1 L R 41 Cal 838

instigating a—

See ABETMENT OF AN ABYMENT
1 L R 46 Cal 607

unpaid apprentice if—

See PENAL CODE s 21
15 C W N 319

PUBLIC STREET

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES ACT (BOM III of 1901) ss 70 113 122 1 L R 42 Bom 454

See HIGHWAY

See RAILWAY COMPANY
L R. 43 1 A 310

See RAILWAYS ACT (IX of 1890) s 7
1 L R 28 Bom 565

definition of—

See PUNJAB MUNICIPAL ACT 1911 s 3
1 L R 1 Lah 117

PUBLIC TEMPLE

manager no right to remove idol—
See HINDU LAW 1 L R 44 Bom 466

PUBLIC TRUST

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), s 92

See HINDU LAW

See MUHAMMADAN LAW

Co-trustees—Act of one of two is void without consent of the other—Grant of mortgage—Transaction, whether valid—Rule of act of majority of trustees, applicable to, of, to cases of two co-trustees. One of two trustees of a public trust cannot grant a mortgage or effect any similar transaction in respect of the trust properties so as to bind the trust, without the consent of the other trustee even though the latter on consultation, wrongly refuses his consent. The rule that the act of a majority of the trustees is valid,

PUBLIC TRUST—contd

prev led they gave proper opportunity to the others to enter the liability of the act in question does not apply to cases where there are only two trustees as one of them alone cannot constitute a majority. See Anirajam v Pannan Nambudri I L R 21 Mad 256 and Hillman v Malin 2 C & J 616 followed CHIEF v NARAYAN NAMBUDIRI (1914)

I L R 42 Mad 335

PUBLIC WAY

See CIVIL PROCEDURE ACT 1908 s 91

See HIGHWAY

See WAY

— obstruction to, by building a wall—

See PENAL CODE (Act XLV of 1860)
ss 147 496 44

I L R 39 Mad. 57

— — — — — A action for obstructing a public road is not maintainable unless the plaintiff proves injury or damage peculiar to himself and different from the damage that would be suffered by other people who used the road. Special damage does not mean serious damage but means damage of special nature that is damage affecting the plaintiff personally or damage peculiar to himself in his trade or calling. BATHAM HOTELS AND TOURS v SUBRAM IYER AND ANR 23 C W N 85

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

— negligence of servants of—

See I RT I L R 39 Mad. 351

PUBLICATION

See CONTEMPT v COURT

I L R 45 Cal 169

See COPYRIGHT I L R 35 All 434

— of picture copyright in England

See CONTRACT ACT 18 2 s 23

I L R 44 Bom 220

— of proceedings in pending case not permissible till case comes on for hearing—

See CONTEMPT OF COURT

I L R 44 Bom 443

— proof of—

See EVIDENCE

I L R 39 Cal 522, 600

— of notice of claims in Government Gazette sufficient for purposes of s 14 of Court of Wards Act—

See COURT OF WARDS ACT (BOM ACT I OF 1905) s 14

I L R 41 Bom 493

PUBLICITY

See BURMESE BUDDHIST LAW—ADDITION

I L R 45 Cal 1

PUISNE MORTGAGE

See MORTGAGE I L R 37 Cal 282

I L R 37 All 304

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (17 OF 1887) s 67 I L R 40 Mad 77

— rights of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908)
O XXXIV ss 4 AND 5

I L R 38 All 398

PUJARI

— dispute concerning to act as—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (1 OF 1898) s 11 I L R 37 Cal 578

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT 1 OF 1908) ss 9 AND 9.

I L R 45 Bom 683

PUNISHMENT

See PENAL CODE ss 67 TO 73

— Member of a Criminal Tribe—
Second conviction—

See CRIMINAL TRIBES ACT (III OF 1911)
s 27 I L R 45 Bom. 1082

PUNITIVE POLICE

— Costs appointment of — Police Act (1 of 1861 as amended by Act I of 1843) ss 15 cl (4) 16—1 street Magistrate duty of—Amount realized on appointment of by a Deputy Magistrate effect of—Set off of 51 to for Indus and Canal Affairs to make An appointment of costs made by a Deputy Magistrate under s 15 cl (4) of the Police Act for maintenance of a police force is illegal. Where therefore, an appointment of costs having been made by a Deputy Magistrate and which on appeal having been affirmed by the District Magistrate the amount of costs awarded was recovered from a person under s 16 of the Act by distress warrant. Held that the amount not being legally realized, a suit for the recovery thereof would lie against the Secretary of State for India in Council. Singh v The Secretary of State for India I L R 28 Bom 314 referred to KAILASH CHANDRA NAG v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1912)

I L R 40 Cal 452

PUNJAB

— Permanent Tenancy in—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R 47 Cal 1

PUNJAB ACT II OF 1913

See REDEMPTION OF MORTGAGES

I L R. 2 Lah. 234

PUNJAB ALIENATION OF LAND ACT XIII OF 1900—— s 2 (3) (b)—whether right of a temporary lessee to take the produce of trees is agricultural land—

See PUNJAB PRESENTATION ACT 1913 s 3
I L R. 1 Lah. 567

— s 16—Prohibits only a sale and not a temporary alienation of agricultural land—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L R 1 Lah 192

— s 18—whether Insolvency Court can attach land of an agriculturist insolvent—

See INSOLVENCY I L R. 2 Lah 78

— s 17—

See REGISTRATION ACT 1908 s 22
I L R. 2 Lah. 202

PUNJAB COLONIZATION OF GOVERNMENT LAND—

See COLONIZATION OF LAND.

PUNJAB COURTS ACT, 1914

See PUNJAB LAND REVENUE ACT, 1947,
s 117 . I. L. R. 1 Lah 387

s. 41 (3)—

Second appeal on point of custom—Limitation—Appeal filed beyond time on account of delay in obtaining a certificate—Custom—Khanadmasi—Langaryal Jats, Tahsil Kharian—Appointment by widow under instructions from her husband Appellant on 8th February 1919 filed a second appeal in the Chief Court against the decree of the District Judge dated 26th August 1918. She did not apply to the latter for a certificate till 21st November 1918 explaining that she was not aware of the necessity of a certificate till advised by a lawyer at Lahore. The District Judge granted a certificate on 3rd February 1919. Held that under the circumstances and having regard to the provision of cl (3) of s 41 of the Punjab Courts Act appeal should be held to be within time. Held, also that among Langaryal Jats of Tahsil Kharian, who recognise the practice of making a Khanadmasi, a widow who has received instructions in that behalf from her husband has full power to make a particular person a Khanadmasi Pattigan's Digest of Customary Law, paragraphs 39 and 41, referred to MESSAMMAT ALAM BI v LATTE . . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 245

Second Appeal on question of onus probandi in custom cases—Necessity for certificate—Adoption of daughter's son among Brahmins of Amritsar Held, following Messammat Bhari v Khanna (7 P. R. 1918) that the question of onus probandi in a custom case is not a pure question of law, unconnected with custom and that, on the other hand it is not under all circumstances a question relating to the validity or the existence of a custom except in so far as in proving or disproving the validity or existence of a custom a party to a suit may be held to be entitled to an initial presumption in his favour on the strength of a generally accepted rule of custom. Held, also that in the present case having regard to the decision in Lochmi Dhar v Thakur Das (149 P. R. 1933), the onus probandi must be regarded as one relating to the existence of a custom governing the question of an adoption and therefore a certificate under s 41 (3) of the Punjab Courts Act was necessary. Allah Din v Salim Din (96 P. R. 1915), referred to. MESSAMMAT RAM RAKHI v MEHA RAM . . . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 167

PUNJAB COURT OF WARDS (ACT II OF 1905).

—ss. 8 and 19—Court of Wards assuming superintendence of property in which the ward has no interest—Action ultra vires—Notice to Deputy Commissioner not necessary before filing a suit regarding such property Held, that if the Court of Wards purporting to act under s 8 of Punjab Act II of 1905, wrongly assumes superintendence of the property of other persons in which the ward has no share, its action is ultra vires, and it cannot be said that it has assumed superintendence under the powers conferred upon it by the Act though it may have purported to act in accordance therewith. If the Deputy Commissioner acts ultra vires any person affected thereby can object. It is not necessary in such a case to give this officer notice under s 13 of the Act before filing a suit. TARA SINGH v GANDA SINGH . . . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 151

PUNJAB COURT OF WARDS (ACT II OF 1905)—contd

—ss 11 and 12—

See WAQF NAMA . I. L. R. 42 All 609

—Injunction against person out of Jurisdiction—

See REGISTRATION ACT 1877 ss 17, 87
25 C W N 123

PUNJAB LAND REVENUE ACT (XVII OF 1887)

—s 44—

See MAHONVEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 40 Cal 297

—s 117 (2) (b)—Decree by Revenue Officer trying cases as a Civil Court what it must contain—Appeal where there is no local decree—Civil Procedure Code Act V of 1908, s 33 O. XX. rr 1-6 and O XXI r 1 Held that a Revenue Officer who tries a suit under the procedure laid down in s 117 (2) (b) of the Land Revenue Act must record a judgment and a decree containing the particulars required by the Code of Civil Procedure to be specified therein, and that a decree sheet signed by the Court, in which only the amount of costs incurred by each party is specified but which otherwise has been left blank, is no decree at all and that a paragraph in the judgment not drawn up in the form of a decree and not embodied in a separate form is not a decree and therefore no appeal is competent. Dulhian Golab Koer v Padma Dulhian Koer per PIRAT J (I. L. R. 19 Cal 463 P. B.) approved. GELA RAM v GANGA RAM . . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 223

—s 117 (2) (c) (As amended by the Punjab Courts Act III of 1914)—Appeal from decree of Assistant Collector in determining a question of title lies to District Judge Held, that since the substitution of the phrase "Subordinate Judge" for "District Judge" in s 117 (2) (c) of the Punjab Land Revenue Act by the Punjab Courts Act III of 1914 an appeal from the decree of an Assistant Collector in the matter of the determination of a question of title lies to the Court of the District Judge. SADDA SINGH v KIRPALLA . . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 387

—ss. 144, 158—Suit to recover price of barley sold by Revenue Officer.

See JURISDICTION (CIVIL OR REVENUE)

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 302

—s. 158 (1) and (2) XVII—Civil suit to rectify grievance arising out of a partition.

See JURISDICTION (CIVIL OR REVENUE)

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 298

PUNJAB LAWS ACT, 1872—

—No bar to suit to establish rights to property attached by Insolvency Courts as belonging to the insolvent—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 2 Lah. 147

—s 5—

See CUSTOM I. L. R. 45 Cal 450

—Where custom not proved whether Court can apply personal law

See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION)

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 98

—s. 27.

See INSOLVENCY . I. L. R. 37 Cal 418

PUNJAB MUNICIPAL ACT, 1911—

s 3 (10)—Bye Laws of Delhi Municipality inconsistent with the provisions of the Act and unreasonable whether enforceable By one of the bye laws of the Delhi Municipality framed under s 188 of the Punjab Municipal Act 'occupier' of stables used for more than six animals were required to obtain a license from the Committee and the word 'occupier' was defined as meaning 'the person who is responsible for the letting or sub letting of the premises to the person in charge of animals and may include the owner.' The Municipal Act itself in paragraph (10) of s 3 however defined 'occupier' as including an owner in actual occupation of his land or building, etc. The petitioner was owner of stables which he had leased to one B. M. and in which more than six animals were stable without a license. The petitioner was fined Rs. 10 for a breach of the bye laws. Held that the definition of 'occupier' as given in the bye laws cannot be enforced in so far as it is inconsistent with that given in the Act itself. Narayan Chandra Chatterjee v Corporation of Calcutta (4 Indus Cases 259) followed. Held, also that the bye law making the owner responsible in a case where he is not in actual occupation and has no power to control the acts of his tenant with regard to the use of the premises leased, is manifestly unjust to the owner and hence unreasonable and that the English law as to the necessity of bye laws being reasonable is applicable to bye laws framed in the exercise of their statutory powers by Municipal Board in India. Emperor v. Bal Kishan (1 I. R. 24 All 429) followed. JOTT PERSHAD I THE CROWN I L. R. 2 Lab. 239

s 3 (13) (b)—Definition of "public street"—Presumed dedication of road in a private market (Gany) to the public—Dedication for a limited purpose The plaintiff appellants were the absolute owners of Nawab Gany a market in the City of Karnal. The Gany was built in the form of a Katra or rectangular close, to which entrance was obtained by four gates. One of the gates was missing at the time of institution of the suit. The others existed and were shut at night. Round the close was a series of shops which were leased to grain merchants. The enclosure thus formed was a narrow courtyard, on the floor of which the tenants piled up their grain in separate heaps, and under the courtyard were masonry bins for storage. The courtyard was neither drained lighted nor cleaned by the Municipality, and was by its nature accessory to the shop property and let by the appellants as such to their shop tenants. Recently the Municipal Committee constructed a metalled road through the Gany on the plea that the area over which the road was laid was a "public street" under the Municipal Act. The Chief Court held that there existed through the Gany a public right of way, and that this had been acquired by reason of dedication as such by the owner. There was admittedly no dedication expressly or in writing but the Chief Court considered that as the space between the shops had been used by all members of the public who came in to buy and sell grain without any interruption there was a presumption that the owner intended the members of the public to make use of the space left vacant or a part of it as a highway. Held that in such cases it is of crucial importance to distinguish between the grant to the public as such of a right of way and the permission which naturally flows from the use of the ground as a passage for visitors to or traders with the tenants whose shops abut upon it. That it was extremely doubtful in the present case whether the term "dedication" could with propriety be applied to what took place. If the term be employed, it could only be in this sense that the dedication of the entire of the courtyard was dedication, not to the public, but to the uses of the shopkeepers and their customers, the principal use being the storing and display of grain. Held, also that the fact that members of the public get access to a place which is used by customers, and might or might not pass through it did not justify an interference of dedication. A person dedicating land to public use may place such limits as he wishes upon the dedication if he makes those limits clear and definite although there can in law be no such thing as a public right of way, constituted by dedication to only a section of the public. J. Pool v Huskinson (M and B 827) per BARON PARKE, referred to. NAWAB BANADUR MUHAMMAD RUSTAM ALI KHAN v MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE OF KARNAL I L. R. 1 Lab. 117

PUNJAB MUNICIPAL ACT, 1911—contd

s 188—

See s 3. I. L. R. 2 Lab. 239

PUNJAB PRE-EMPTION ACT, I of 1913

s. 3—Whether the right of a temporary leasee to plant trees and take their produce (sardrakht) is "agricultural land" or "rillage immovable property" within the meaning of the Act—Punjab Alienation of Land Act, XIII of 1900, s 2 (3) (b)—General Clauses Act, X of 1897, s 3 (2) The vendor in this case was the tenant of certain land under a lease made in 1888 in which it was stated that the land was leased scilicet logane sardrakht, i.e., for the planting of a grove of trees or plantation. The lease was for seven years and after expiry of that period the lessor was to receive 1/10 of the produce of flowers, fruits, etc., of the land. Another condition was that if the lessor wanted to evict the lessee after the expiry of the seven years he would pay the latter the value of his sardrakht. By a deed of sale made in 1914 the vendor sold his sardrakht in the land, i.e., the rights owned by him in the trees. The plaintiff sued for pre-emption in respect of this sale and the questions for decision were, whether the subject of the sale came within the definition of (1) "agricultural land" in the Punjab Pre-emption Act, s 3 read with the Punjab Alienation of Land Act, 1900, s 2 (3) (b), as being a share in the profits of an estate or holding, or (2) "immovable property" under the Punjab Pre-emption Act, s 3. Held, that the temporary rights which the vendor had in the produce of the trees under the lease did not constitute him owner of a share in the profits of the holding and that consequently the subject of the sale was not "agricultural land" within the meaning of s. 2 of the Punjab Pre-emption Act. Held, also that the temporary rights sold were not immovable property under the Punjab Pre-emption Act, taking the definition as given in the General Clauses Act, 1897, viz., that it includes "land, benefits to arise out of land and things attached to the earth, or permanently fastened to anything attached to the earth", and the plaintiff had therefore no locus standi to bring a suit for pre-emption. Shepherd and Brown's 12d on Transfer of Property Act, 7th Edition, page 13 referred to. MUHAMMAD ISMAIL v SHAMSH UD DYN I L. R. 1 Lab. 597

PUNJAB PRE-EMPTION ACT, I OF 1913—
confid.

s. 15—

Whether a Christian can be heir to the son of a convert to Islam—

See ACT XXI OF 1850.

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 376

Owner of a small plot of land, unassessed to revenue—Whether one of the owners of the estate. Plaintiff claimed pre-emption in respect of a sale of a house in the village abadi. He based his claim on the plea of being one of the owners of the estate. Plaintiff was a malik kabza and owned only a small plot of land of 8 marlas, unassessed to revenue and uncultivated except to a trifling extent and clearly destined to be a building site. Held, that the plaintiff was not one of the "owners of the estate" within the meaning of s. 15 (c), thirdly of the Punjab Pre-emption Act and that his claim to pre-emption was consequently inadmissible. Phallu v. Mularab (153 P. R. 1835), Man Singh v. Dip Singh (95 P. R. 1835), Edam Sunder v. Sodhi Hardans Singh (109 P. R. 1908), and Narain Singh v. Gopal Singh (106 P. R. 1913), followed. Lal Khan v. Nayab Ullah (14 P. R. 1842) Dasu v. Jowala (13 P. R. 1885), Jasbir Singh v. Rahmatullah (7 P. R. 1896), distinguished. Harjalla Mai v. Nathu Ram (51 P. R. 1907), disapproved. JAWALA SINGH v. TARA SINGH I. L. R. 1 Lah. 503

PUNJAB RULING CHIEFS.

See KUNJPURA, STATE OF

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 711

PURCHASE.

See BEYANI PURCHASE.

See TITLE, PROOF OF

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 909

by Husband—

See RESULTING TRUST

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 260

free of incumbrances—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 353

PURCHASE MONEY.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SEC.

I, ARTS. 97, 62

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 538

See MORTGAGE. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 542

See RATEABLE DISTRIBUTION

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 789

payment of—

See PRE-EMPTION I. L. R. 35 ALL. 582

refund of—

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 67

suit to recover—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1832), s. 315.

I. L. R. 40 ALL. 411

PURCHASE OF ARMS.

See FORGERY. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 421

PURCHASER.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s. 22

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 837

PURCHASER—confid.

Sch. 1 Art. 12A I. L. R. 45 Bom. 45

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 745

in Court auction—

See SUBSTITUTION OF PROPERTY AND

SECURITY. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 233 in puisne mortgagee's suit, right of—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF

1882), s. 67 I. L. R. 40 Mad. 77

liability of—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 89

of a share—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 46

of equity of redemption—

See MORTGAGE. 14 C. W. N. 576

rights of—

See PRE-EMPTION I. L. R. 44 Calc. 675

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 89

title of—

See CHAKKIDARI CHAKRAN LANDS

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 765

Widow claiming right of residence against purchaser for value from husband—

See HINDU LAW I. L. R. 45 Bom. 337

Sale by Revenue Courts for arrears of revenue—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), ART.

12A. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 45

PURCHASER FOR VALUE.

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 56

PURCHASER IN EXECUTION

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF

1882), s. 67 I. L. R. 40 Mad. 77

PURCHASER, PENDENTE LITE.

See MENSUE PROFITS

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 220

PURDANASHIN.

See PARVANISHIN

PUTATIVE FATHER.

right of, to inherit his illegitimate son's property—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 44

PUTNI.

See PUTNI LEASE

See PUTNI REGULATION

See PUTNI TENURE

See SALE. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 148

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, s. 73

14 C. W. N. 128

consideration for—

See ILLEGAL CESS I. L. R. 45 Calc. 259

PUTNI.

purchase of—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 715

Putni Regulation (Reg VIII of 1919) s. 9—Agreement of putniar to let stranger for purchase by latter and reconveyance to former—Legal title—Contract let (IX of 1872), s. 23
A contract entered into by a putniar with a stranger stipulating that the latter would purchase the putni which had been advertised for sale under Reg. VIII of 1919, and reconvey it to the putniar receiving the amount of the purchase money with interest and a further sum in addition from him is invalid under the provisions of s. 23 of the Contract Act as being in contravention of the provisions of s. 9 of the Putni Regulation. MOHAN LAL BABU v. UDAI NARAIN BHADRAI (1910)

14 C. W. N 1031

(Chowkidari chakran land—Resumption and transfer to zemindar—Right of putniar to settlement—Conditions of settlement—Suit by putniar to recover—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Sec. 11 Arts. 147, 144—Putniar is must register himself in zemindar's sheristha before suing—Purchase of putni in demand by default, if void—Reg. VIII of 1919 s. 9
The effect of the transfer by the Collector to the zemindar of resumed chowkidari chakran lands is not to separate them from the parent estate and grant a new title to them in favour of the proprietor of the estate. A putniar if these lands were included within his putni has the right to recover possession of the lands from the zemindar on condition of his agreeing to a fair and reasonable settlement with the landlord. The terms of the settlement of the resumed chowkidari chakran land with the putniar would depend upon the conditions under which the putni was originally created. Hari Narain Mazumdar v. Mukund Lal Mundil 4 C. W. N. 511, relied on. A suit by the putniar to recover possession of chowkidari chakran land resumed and transferred to the zemindar is governed by Art. 142, or Art. 144 of the Second Schedule of the Limitation Act. Bunwari Mukunda Deb v. Bishu Rautar Thakur, 1 L. R. 35 Calc. 316, see 12 C. W. N. 459, followed. The absence of registration of the plaintiff's name in the zemindar's sheristha is no bar to such a suit. Gowain Mungul Doss v. Roy Dhunpal Singh, 25 B. R. 152, disapproved. Chunder Pershad Poy v. Sharada Kumari Shastri, 1 L. R. 12 Calc. 622, Jay Krishna Mookhopadhyay v. Sarjan Sena, 1 L. R. 15 Calc. 345, relied on. The purchase of the putni by the defaulting putniar in the absence of notice in contravention of s. 9 of Reg. VIII of 1919 is voidable only and not void. Matangini Debroy v. Prasanna Moyi Debroy, 3 C. L. J. 93, followed. HARAK CHAND BABU v. CHAPT CHANDRA SINGHA (1910)

15 C. W. N. 5

Putni title, sale of, for arrears of rent—Suit by purchaser for recovery of possession of lands within taluk brought within 12 years from date of purchase—Limitation—Applicability of Art. 121, Limitation Act—Adverse possession prior to creation of putni, effect of—Cause of action—Adverse possession if arrested by creation of subordinate tenure, when proprietor out of possession of—Doctrine of possession following title, application of, where plaintiff has to prove possession at a particular point of time—Ancient documents showing exercise of right to property, consideration of, as presumptive evidence of possession—Sale under PUTNI—contd.

s. 159, Bengal Tenancy Act, status of purchaser in—Encumbrance, meaning and annulment of
The plaintiff who was the purchaser of a putni taluk at a sale held in 1899 in execution of a rent decree under the Bengal Tenancy Act brought suits against the defendants within twelve years from date of his purchase for declaration of his title to the lands held by them within the putni taluk and for recovery of possession thereof. There was ample evidence in the record that the adverse possession of the defendants and their predecessors commenced before the creation of the putni. Held, that the suits were barred by limitation and Art. 121 of the Second Schedule of the Limitation Act did not apply to them. That the plaintiff not having established that the possession of the defendants commenced after the creation of the putni or that the proprietor of the estate was in possession at the time when the putni was granted, the interests acquired by the defendants could not be deemed to be an encumbrance within the meaning of Art. 121 nor was it an encumbrance within the meaning of s. 11, cl. (1) of Reg. VIII of 1919. That the cause of action did not arise on the date on which the plaintiff purchased the taluk at the sale held under the Bengal Tenancy Act. That the adverse possession contemplated in the decisions Nasir Chandra v. Ripendra Lal, 1 L. P. 25 Cal. 167, Womark Chandra Goopla v. Raj Narain Poy, 10 B. R. 15, Khinto Mori Datta v. Ripoy Chandra, 1 L. R. 19 Cal. 187, and Karim Khan v. Broja Nath Das, 1 L. R. 22 Cal. 241, is possession which commences after the creation of the putni tenure. These cases are founded on the principle laid down in s. 11 of Reg. VIII of 1919 which is that the purchaser of a putni taluk at a sale held under Reg. VIII of 1919 takes the taluk in the state in which it was initially created and the judicial decisions above referred to lay down the doctrine that the purchaser takes the property not free merely of all encumbrances that may have accrued upon the tenure by act of the defaulting proprietor, his representatives or assignees, but also free of the interest acquired by an adverse possessor who has been able to acquire such interest by the action of the defaulting proprietor. This doctrine is plainly limited in its application to cases where the adverse possession commenced after the creation of the putni. That in a case like the present in which the proprietor of the estate is out of possession he cannot merely by the device of the creation of a subordinate taluk arrest the effect of the adverse possession which has already commenced to run against him and such possession would be effective not only as against the subordinate tenure holder but also as against the superior proprietor. That the plaintiff before he could succeed must prove that the proprietor was in possession when the putni was created. That the doctrine that possession follows title has no application to a case like the present. That as laid down by the Judicial Committee in Ranjit Ram v. Golderhan Pann, 20 B. R. 23, 29, the Court may in the decision of the question of limitation if there is conflicting evidence on both sides presume that possession was with the party whose title has been established but it does not follow that when the plaintiff has to establish possession at a particular point of time he is entitled to call upon the Court to presume that because his title has been established possession must be presumed to have been with the holder of the title at the specified period of time This contention is clearly opposed to the decision of the Judicial Committee in Hohima Chandra v Moheah Chandra L P 16 I A 23 s c I L R 16 Cal 473 That the plaintiff having made his purchase at a sale held in execution of a rent decree under the Bengal Tenancy Act under s 150 of the Act he made his purchase with powers to annul the interests defined as encumbrance in s 161, encumbrance as used in that section includes a statutory title acquired by a trespasser by adverse possession of the land of the defaulting tenure provided such act of possession commenced after the tenure had been created That even if he had succeeded in establishing that such adverse possession commenced after the creation of the putni taluk, before he could succeed he would have to prove that under sub s (1) of s 167 he had annulled the encumbrances by service of notice within one year from the date of the sale or the date on which he first had notice of the encumbrance and in the present case the plaintiff had failed herein Held (as to the contention that the grant of the putni tenure itself was evidence of possession) that the principle that ancient documents produced from proper custody and by which any right to property purports to have been exercised may rightly be treated as presumptive evidence of possession has no application to the circumstances of the present case KALKAYEND MUKERJEE v BIPRODAS PAL CHOWDRY (1914) 19 C W N 18

POTNI—contd

Suit by purchaser to recover land from encumbrancer—Onus to prove that land was in zemindar's possession at date of putni In the absence of anything to show that there was any change between the date of the quinquennial register for a period immediately preceding the permanent settlement and the permanent settlement, the Court would be justified in holding that the area stated in the former was the area permanently settled with the zemindar Without considering the correctness of the principles laid down in Kalkayend Mukerjee v Biprodas Pal Choudhury 19 C W N 18 Held that on the facts of the present case the onus was on the plaintiff (purchaser of a putni taluk at a rent sale) to prove that at the date of the creation of the putni the zemindar was in possession of the land sought to be recovered by annulment of defendant's alleged encumbrance KEDAR NATH PAI v BIPRA DAS PAL CHOWDHURY (1918) 23 C W N 182

In a suit for the possession of land within the zemindari by purchaser of putni at sale for arrears of rent onus of proof is on plaintiff to prove zemindar's possession prior to creation of putni Possession of as a tenant however long cannot be adverse to the landlord and cannot be held to be an encumbrance MOMOTHA NATH MITTER v ANATH BENDU PAL 25 C W. N 107

POTNIDAR

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKRAN LAND
14 C W N 995

right of—

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKRAN LAND.
I L R 44 Cal 841

Part of rent payable by putnidar assigned for payment of revenue—Separate account opened by a co-sharer zemindar—

POTNIDAR—contd

Suit to apportion assigned rent and to order putnidar to pay plaintiff's share of same to plaintiff's account if maintainable—Transfer of Property Act (I of 1882) s 37 Where a putnidar as part of the consideration for the use and occupation of the land undertook to pay the revenue payable by the zemindar direct in the Collectorate on account and to the credit of the landlord Held, that the revenue so paid by the putnidar was part of the rent paid to the landlord The owners of a share in the zemindari having got a separate account opened in respect of their share under s 10 of Act XI of 1850 sued the putnidar and his co-sharers for an apportionment as between the co-sharers of the revenue payable by the putnidar, and for an order directing the putnidar to make separate payment in the Collectorate to the account and credit of the plaintiffs of the amount due in respect of their share Held, that upon the principle underlying s 37 of the Transfer of Property Act and on the authority of Sreenath Chunder v Moheah Chunder, 1 C L R 453 Isaur Chandra v Ramkrishna 1 L R 5 Cal 902 and Raj Varan Mitter v Ekanath Das 1 J R 27 Cal 479 s c 4 C W N 491, the suit was maintainable and should be decreed the objection of the putnidars that the apportionment would impair the value or affect the character of their permanent lease being groundless and the objection that at each of the four lists they would have to write two challans instead of one being frivolous. GOUT GOPAL SINHA v GOSTA BEHARY PRAMANIK (1916) 21 C W. N 214

POTNI LEASE

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKRAN LANDS
I L R 41 Cal 685

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I L R 45 Cal 693

whether conveys underground right—

See MINERALS 5 Pat. L J 563

Construction of—Covenant in contravention of the rule against perpetuities—Contingent covenant in a lease when operative. Where a lessor by a putni taluk after leasing a monazah exempted from its operation certain lands and covenanted that on certain contingencies happening the lessee should acquire a right there to as putnidar but no time was specified within which the contingency was to happen in order to vest the right in the putnidar Held that such covenant was void as offending against the rule against perpetuities even as between the parties to the covenant Chandi Churn Barua v Biheswari Deb, 1 J R 16 Cal 71 Panasaam Iatter v Chunan Asari 1 L R 24 Cal 419, and Nalin Chandra Soot v Nabob Ali Sarfar, 5 C W N 343, referred to ANATH NATH MAITRA v KEMAN KESHAB CHANDRA POY (1910) 14 C W N 601

Chota Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act (Bengal VI of 1876 as amended by Act V of 1884) s 17—Rules under s 19 of Act, Rule 16—Putni lease executed by Deputy Commissioner as manager of Barabhum Estate under the Act—Sanction of Commissioner—Objection that putni lease had not been submitted to Commissioner after he had sanctioned all the details—Sanction granted for lease to a firm and lease given to a Limit, ed Company—Stipulation for payment of bonus—Payment after time fixed. The grant of a putni lease under the Chota Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act (Bengal Act VI of 1875 as amended by Act V of 1884) s. 17, and r. 18 of the rules made under the Act necessitate the sanction of the Commissioner. In a suit to have a putni lease, executed by the Deputy Commissioner as the manager under the Act of the Barabhum Estate on behalf of the proprietor, the father of the plaintiff (appellant) declared void and inoperative as not having received a valid sanction. Held, that where it has been affirmatively established that a transaction itself in all its essential particulars has obtained the sanction of the Commissioner, and then it becomes requisite that the transaction be carried into effect by the preparation of an appropriate deed, an objection merely on the ground that the document ultimately prepared has not been submitted for sanction, cannot be sustained. In administrative and departmental action it must necessarily be the case that formal details may have to be entered upon in order to carry into effect, and put into legal shape the arrangement to which the sanction was given. Where such a sanction was given for a putni lease to be granted to 'Robert Watson and Co. a firm of individual men, and the actual lease was executed in favour of "Robert Watson and Co. Limited" the firm having been converted into a Limited Company. Held on the facts of the case that when the negotiators in the course of the correspondence mentioned Robert Watson and Co., they did in fact mean an I were perfectly understood to mean "Robert Watson and Co. Limited, the fact of the incorporation of the Limited concern being well known, and that therefore the misdescription did not, under the ordinary principle applicable to such matters, affect the validity of the sanction or of the putni lease. In this view it was unnecessary to dole as to the effect in law of the difference in the persons of the two descriptions. Held, also, that the sanction of the Commissioner in this case was not merely a sanction of a proposal to grant a putni. The proposal had been made, it had been accepted; a contract was accordingly completed on the subject, and it was that contract so completed that was sanctioned. The putni lease stipulated for the payment of a salami or bonus and the letter granting the sanction contained the clause, "provided the amount be paid before the end of March 1890". Some delay occurred owing to an exchange of views being necessary as to the actual wording of the draft putni, but the lease was finally settled by both parties and the salami was paid on 21st June 1890. Held, that the lease would not afterwards have been open to a challenge to be made by the Deputy Commissioner himself, or for the Commissioner's sanction to be withdrawn, and a fortiori there was no ground for sustaining such a challenge when put forward long afterwards on behalf of the debtor's successor by whom the suit was brought. RAM KANAI SINGH DEB DAN PASHARA v. MATTHEWSON, (1913)

PUTNI LEASE—contd

I L R. 40 Calc. 1029

PUTNI LEASE—contd

ernment revenue was payable by the zemindar or the putnidar. Held, that evidence of conduct was not admissible for the construction of the putni contract and the Lower Courts were wrong in relying on the fact that for many years the Government revenue was paid by the putnidar. BHAGARI NATH ROY v. PURNA CHANDRA NATHAN

25 C. W. N. 303

PUTNI REGULATION (VIII OF 1819).

See DEPOSIT IN COURT

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1000

Position of a purchaser at sale under—Previous suit for rent by original talukdar dismissed on the ground that relation of landlord and tenant did not exist—Subsequent suit by purchaser, if barred by res judicata—Purchaser if bound to annul encumbrance before suit—'Incumbrance,' adverse possession when—Limitation. Although the position of a purchaser at a sale under Reg. VIII of 1819 may not be precisely that of a purchaser at a sale for arrears of revenue yet he is not privy in estate to the defaulting proprietor and he does not derive his title from him, as under s. 11 of the Regulation he has acquired the property free of all encumbrances that might have been created upon it by the act of the defaulter, his representatives or assignees and consequently a claim for rent by such a purchaser is not barred by res judicata by reason of the failure of a suit for rent by a previous putnidar, on the ground that the relationship of landlord and tenant between the then plaintiff and the defendants was not established. Tatra Prasad v. Pam Arisungha Singh, I L R 233 and Radha Golind v. Rajkhal Das, I L R 12 Calc. 52, 56, relied on. A purchaser at a sale under Reg. VIII of 1819 need not take any steps before the suit is brought to annul an encumbrance. The interest of an adverse possessor is an encumbrance only when the adverse possession has continued for the statutory period. Adverse possession is arrested by the sale, and limitation runs as against the purchaser from the date when the sale becomes final. SATINA CHANDRA SINGH v. MUNJAMATI DEB (1912)

17 C. W. N. 340

Itman and taluk tenures, if permanent and heritable—Marfatidari receipts if raise presumption of non transferability. Two putni tenures were granted in Chittagong for an indefinite period described in the kalahyats as an 'itman' and 'Taluk' respectively and there were no words of limitation or inheritance. The grantee transferred the tenures to a third person to whom rent receipts were granted 'marfatidari' in the names of the original grantees. Held, that the term 'itman' as applied to a tenure in permanently settled parts of Chittagong primarily imports a permanent heritable and transferable tenure and it is well settled that the word taluk primarily imports permanency. A grant for an indefinite term endures at least for the life time of the grantee. JOSEPH CHANDRA ROY v. MORRILL ALI CROWDERY

25 C. W. N. 537

2—Stipulation in a mojarri mukarrar kabadul for the delivery of ghee and goat annually, if enforceable—Second clause of the section whether abrogates all previous restrictions on chowke as embodied in Regulation I of 1812, sec. 3. In a mojarri mukarrar kabadul executed in 1817

tion of—Saranjams of such Government Revenue. In a putni lease it was stipulated that the putnidar would pay to the zemindar the rent besides Saranjams. In a suit for arrears of rent on the basis of the putni lease the question was whether Gov-

PUTNI REGULATION (VIII OF 1819)—*contd*s 3—contd

there was a stipulation at the end that the tenant should deliver annually one seer of ghee and one goat to the landlord putnidar. Held that in view of the clause imposing the delivery of the goat and the ghee standing completely isolated from the terms relating to the rent proper and its mode of payment, the goat and ghee were not part of the rent, and as such were not recoverable, being in the nature of an abwab and hence an illegal imposition. See 3 of the Putni Regulation did not restrict the application of the general law against abwabs as embodied in sec 3 of Reg V of 1812. RAM TARAY TEWARY v SW KUMEDA DASSEE. 26 C W. N 624

— ss 3, 5, 6—Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894)—Non registration of putnidar's name in zemindar's books—Effect of an putnidar's title to share of compensation—Refusal of zemindar to allow proportionate abatement effect of an zemindar's title to compensation. When the whole of the compensation money for land acquired under the Land Acquisition Act was awarded to the putnidars on the ground that as the zemindars had not allowed an abatement of rent on account of the land acquired, they were not entitled to a share of the compensation money and the zemindars' case was that as the putnidars did not get themselves registered in the books of the zemindars under the provisions of the Putni Regulation their title was not protected and they were not entitled to claim any portion of the compensation money. Held, that the putnidars were entitled to the compensation money and the zemindars to no portion of it. Under s 6 of the Putni Regulation the landlord may demand a fee for the registration in his books of the name of the purchaser of a putni as also security from him but the omission to pay the fee and the security does not affect in any way the title of the purchaser whose rights are perfected upon the transfer by the putnidar and are not in any way contingent for their validity upon the payment of the fee and security. If the zemindars allow an abatement of rent to the putnidars the rent abated primarily represents their annual loss and they may reasonably claim out of the compensation money the capitalised value of that rent but if they do not allow such abatement they do not suffer any immediate loss by reason of the acquisition. GURPAT SINGH v MOTI CHAND (1912)

18 C W. N 103

— ss 3, 11, 15—Site of putni—Dur putnidar's interest stipio facto cancelled—Possession taken and proclamation obtained, effect of. The purchaser at a putni sale under the provisions of Reg VIII of 1819 acquires the right to take possession immediately, and one who has a tenure or a middle interest between the resident cultivator and the late putnidar cannot bar or in any way prejudice the purchaser's right. Mahin Chander Munim v Jotimoy Ghose 4 C L R 422. Wooton v Collector of Poyshahi, 13 Moo L A 100, Brinda Das Chunder Sircar Chowdhury v Brindaban Chunder Day Chowdhury L P 114 178 followed. Madhun Sudhin Kundu v Pandhuk Ganguly, 12 H R 353; 3 H L P 431, dissenting. When the purchaser asserted his full right as such at the earliest possible occasion, took possession and obtained a proclamation as required by s 15 of the Regulation and then instituted a suit for rent against the cultivating tenant. Held,

PUTNI REGULATION (VIII OF 1819)—*contd*ss 3, 11, 15—contd

that she was entitled to a decree the interest of a dur putnidar who resisted the claim being considered as cancelled. KRISHNA PRONODA DAS v DWARKA NATH SEN (1913) 17 C W. N. 1092

ss 4, 10, 14—

See PUTNI SALE I L R. 47 Calc 337

— ss 5, 6—Transference of portion of putni, if may claim recognition by zemindar under Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss 12 17—S 19a (c). A partial transferee of a putni taluk is not entitled to be recognised by the zemindar. It is a form of transfer which under the terms of ss 5 and 6 of Reg VIII of 1819 the zemindar is not bound to recognise and under s 19a (c) of the Bengal Tenancy Act the transferee cannot claim recognition by reason of ss 12 and 17 of the latter Act. PAKSHAL CHANDRA DAS v LMAFADO MISRI (1913) I L R 36 All 187

18 C W. N 629

— s 2—Publication of notices of the Collector's kutchery—Notices taken down and kept on a table for inspection of Muktears during office hours—Irregularity valuing site—Publication of list of putnis in arrears, defaults and arrears in zemindar's kutchery if sufficient—Publication in principal village—Sale in Collector's Court room if public sale when people prevented from coming in freely by chappras—Sale at an unusually early hour, if bad. Where it appeared that applications for sales of putnis under Reg VIII of 1819 and notices thereof used to be taken down from the notice board on the verandah of the Collectorate by the Muktears during office hours and placed on the Nazir's table and hung up again on the board at the close of the day. Held that there was no proper publication of the notices which were meant for the public and not for Muktears alone and it was an irregularity which vitiated the sale. The law contemplates their unobstructed presentation to the notice of the public. Bejoy Chand Mahapatra v Atitaya Charan Bora, I L R 32 Calc 953, and Sachin Nandan Dutta v Bejoy Chand Mahapatra, 11 C W 729 referred to. Where instead of similar notices a list of the defaulting mahals with the names of the defaulters and the amounts due was stuck up in the zemindar's sadar kutchery, there was a substantial compliance with the law. Where the notice required to be served in the mofussil was served in the kutchery of the dar putnidar of three only out of six mauzas covered by the putni this was good service when the dar putnidar's kutchery was in the principal village of the defaulting tenure. The complaint that the public had not unobstructed access to the place of sale was made out when it appeared that though the sale was held in the Court room of the Collector (and therefore in public kutchery), the Collector's chappras who were placed at the wicket gate to keep order did not allow many persons to enter to prevent overcrowding. A defaulter cannot impeach a sale as illegal merely on the ground that it took place earlier than usual, he may however be permitted to show that he was misled to his prejudice by the deviation from the usual practice. Effect of irregularities in sales discussed. Maharaja of Pudukkottai v Tara Sundara Dutt L P 101. A 19 s c I L R 9 Calc 619, 622 and Maharaja of Burdwan v Krishna Komari Pasi, L P 111 A.

PUTNI REGULATION (VIII OF 1919)--contd

78 contd.

30 a c 1 1 P H Cale 15; referred to, RANJIT
SINGH: JYANENDRA (II) SINGH (1912)

* 11 -

See also commentary.

¹ L. R. 37 Cal. 323

No. 11, 15, 17, cl. (7) para 2 and

cl. (5), para. 3—Sale and Putsi. In the case of mortgage a decree on mortgage of putsi and arrears is a decree for a antecedent debt.—Putsi is a mortgage proceeds—Puti duty—Puti charge—Laminan non.

There is nothing in the Putsi Regulation contrary to the principle which has been laid down in the Bengal Tenancy Act, the rent payable by the putadar to the zemindar being under ss. 11 and 15 of the Regulation as under s. 63 a first charge on the tenure. Where a putsi tenure is sold under the Regulation & the redemption, as the case may be, of arrears due for the year immediately expired or for the current year, the effect of such sale is not to reduce all former balances to personal debts of the putadar. The charge is not destroyed, but is transferred to the surplus sale price. The sale in any case would not destroy the charge attaching to arrears in respect of which the zemindar has already obtained a decree prior to the sale, for the second paragraph to the third clause of s. 17 of the Regulation even if it be opposed to the provision of s. 63 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, has no application to such a case, for it cannot contemplate the institution of a fresh suit for recovery as a personal debt of antecedent balances in respect of which the zemindar had already obtained a decree. Prady Mahon Mookerjee v. Sircumar Chauden Bhow C. I. N. 794 F. 37 Cal. 717 not approved. When before the putsi was sold under the Regulation both the zemindar and the mortgagee of the tenure had recovered decrees, the former for antecedent arrears and the latter on his mortgage. Held, that though under s. 73 of the Transfer of Property Act the latter had a charge in respect of the mortgage dues upon the surplus sale proceeds and this charge subsisted even after the decree, the charge in favour of the zemindar in respect of arrears in rent does have preference before it, as it was an Act. The zemindar was entitled to seek his repeated recourse to the Civil Court without fail down in the Regulation. Bhandoo CA Surcar v. Prindho CA Dny L. P. 11 A 178 s. c.

s. 11, 15, 17, cl. (7) para 2 and
cl. (5), para. 3—Sale and Putsi. In the case of mortgage a decree on mortgage of putsi and arrears is a decree for a antecedent debt.—Putsi is a mortgage proceeds—Puti duty—Puti charge—Laminan non.

There is nothing in the Putsi Regulation contrary to the principle which has been laid down in the Bengal Tenancy Act, the rent payable by the putadar to the zemindar being under ss. 11 and 15 of the Regulation as under s. 63 a first charge on the tenure. Where a putsi tenure is sold under the Regulation & the redemption, as the case may be, of arrears due for the year immediately expired or for the current year, the effect of such sale is not to reduce all former balances to personal debts of the putadar. The charge is not destroyed, but is transferred to the surplus sale price. The sale in any case would not destroy the charge attaching to arrears in respect of which the zemindar has already obtained a decree prior to the sale, for the second paragraph to the third clause of s. 17 of the Regulation even if it be opposed to the provision of s. 63 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, has no application to such a case, for it cannot contemplate the institution of a fresh suit for recovery as a personal debt of antecedent balances in respect of which the zemindar had already obtained a decree. Prady Mahon Mookerjee v. Sircumar Chauden Bhow C. I. N. 794 F. 37 Cal. 717 not approved. When before the putsi was sold under the Regulation both the zemindar and the mortgagee of the tenure had recovered decrees, the former for antecedent arrears and the latter on his mortgage. Held, that though under s. 73 of the Transfer of Property Act the latter had a charge in respect of the mortgage dues upon the surplus sale proceeds and this charge subsisted even after the decree, the charge in favour of the zemindar in respect of arrears in rent does have preference before it, as it was an Act. The zemindar was entitled to seek his repeated recourse to the Civil Court without fail down in the Regulation. Bhandoo CA Surcar v. Prindho CA Dny L. P. 11 A 178 s. c.

The limitation of two months provided by the fifth clause to s. 17 of the Regulation applies to a suit by the mortgagee against the zemindar for a declaration of his own decree, not the surplus sale proceeds of his own decree, the surplus sale proceeds of his decree for antecedent balances. Rasanta Kumar Bose v. Khatina Loan Co (1914)

18 C. W. N 1001

s. 13—Sale of putsi—Suit by vendor for back rents not assigned—Putsi if may be sold free of ar putsi in execution of decree made—Diprest of rent by dar-putadar—Dar-putadar's lien, priority holder acquired under 13 of Reg VIII of 1819 by deprecating the putsi rents in arrears for which the

13—Sale of value, 1001

13—Sale of putai.—Suit by vendor for back rents not assigned.—Putai if may be sold free of said putai in execution of decree made.—Deposit of rent by dor-putendar.—Dor-putendar's lien, priority of. The special hen which a subordinate tenure holder acquired under 13 of Peg VIII of 1829 by depositing the putai rents in arrears for which the

PUTNI REGULATION (VIII OF 1919, —contd)

• 13-cont'd

patent has been advised of such by the respondent under that Regulation is not affected by proceedings taken in respect of the patent under the Bengal Tenancy Act; the latter Regulation is a self-contained Act specially excluded from the operation of Bengal Tenancy Act by a 245 of that Act. JUDGMENT MANABENDU BANERJEE (1918)

18 C. W. N. 767

to prevent such sales. But to reserve on the ground of intent of sale being illegal, of immovable and sold Sapper Encumbered Debt Act (11 of 1915), paragraph 2, 3, 4, 5, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 23 — The Act, if applied to immovable Chota Nagpur land out of the Act. The rule which prevents a person from recovering back money which he has paid on a claim in legal proceedings to which he will have set up a defence but has failed to do so has no application where a default is made in order to set proceedings aside. The proceedings before the collector at a public sale are of an administrative rather than a properly judicial character. The remainder who has the power of compelling a sale is to exercise this power through the instrumentality of the collector himself who acts not magisterially but ministerially, and who has, in the true view of his functions, no capacity to give effect to any enquiry in or make into it the comparable to the capacity possessed by an ordinary judicial tribunal. The Chota Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act is not a statute analogous to the Bankruptcy Act, the controlling purpose of which is provision for creditors in a liquidation. Its primary intention is that of providing a measure of local application, for the relief of the landless affecting the land with in Chota Nagpur owned by a class of landholders there. The Act has therefore no application to immovable property outside Chota Nagpur. Any provision which affects rights to enforce, in jurisdictions outside it, personal debts or liabilities, are merely ancillary to the main purpose of the Act. JYOTS PRASAD SINGH & KUMAR NATH CHATTERJEE (1918)

22 C. W. N. 1009

Fiduciary Regulation (1811 of 1819) s. 13 (4)—The defendant put in possession for paying pains rent—Payment of further arrears when in possession—Payments if first charge on the pains—Fiduciary Tenancy Act (1811 of 1855) s. 171 (1), (2)—The plaintiff's prior right to surplus sale proceeds—Contract Act (1811 of 1822) s. 69—Where a defendant having advanced certain arrears of rent due on a pains which was already subject to defendant's mortgage, was placed in possession of the pains under paragraph 4 of cl. 13 of Regulation 1811 of 1819, and then the plaintiff, an assignee of the pains, paid the next three instalments of the pains rent, but failing to pay the fourth instalment, the pains was sold under the Regulation of 1811, that the plaintiff was not entitled to recover out of the surplus sale proceeds the instalments of rent paid by him when he was in possession of the pains. That as regards the arrears paid by the defendant, assuming that the amount was a charge on the pains, defendant's mortgage of prior date had priority over it. Quære Whether it was equity to the defendant to seek the relief provided by s. 171, sub s. (1) of (5) of the Fiduciary Tenancy Act, and if it was, whether the remedy was available.

POTNI REGULATION (VIII OF 1819)—coulds. 13—could able after election by him of the remedy under s. 13, cl (4) of the Putni Regulation. Held, further, that the plaintiff could not claim on the basis of s. 19 of the Contract Act. RAMJIBAI BHANDRA v. TAZUDDIN KAZI (1911) 15 C. W. N. 404

s. 14—Irregular sale under, if voidable or not?—Sale if may be impugned collaterally—Limitation Act (X of 1877) Sch II, Art 12 Where a putni has been sold under the Putni Regulation and no suit has been brought under s. 14 of that Regulation to set aside that sale. Held, that the sale cannot be impugned as invalid collaterally by way of defence in a suit brought by a purchaser of the putni for effectment. Irregularity in the service of notices in such sale does not make the sale a nullity. Irregular sales under the Regulation are voidable and not void and they can only be avoided by the procedure laid down in the Regulation and within the time allowed for such suit by Art 12, Sch II of the Limitation Act. RANSOYA CHOWDHURI v. NAVA KUMAR SINHA CHOWDHURI (1911) 16 C. W. N. 805

Where there is a second sale pending suit to set aside first sale the purchaser can acquire a good title if first sale is finally set aside, as the validity of the second sale is not dependent on the continuance of the first sale. BEJOY CHAND MAHATAB v. ASHUTOSH CHAKRABORTY 25 C. W. N. 42

s. 17, cl. (c).See PUTNI TENURE*I. L. R. 37 Calc. 747

Antecedent balances, if recoverable by resale of the tenure Under the provisions of s. 17, cl (c) of the Putni Regulation, arrears of rent for a period antecedent to the period to recover the rent of which the tenure had been sold, must be regarded as personal debts recoverable under the ordinary procedure for the recovery of debts and not by resale of the tenure. Jogannath v. Mohiuddin Mirza, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 747, followed. Prady Mohun Mukhopadhyay v. Srerani Chandra Bose, 6 C. W. N. 794, dissented from. KUTISH CHANDRA ACHARYA CHOWDHURY v. KRULNA LOAN COMPANY, LTD (1912) 16 C. W. N. 804

POTNI RENTSee DEPOSIT IN COURT*I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1000*POTNI SALE.*suit to set aside—*See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, s. 8*14 C. W. N. 128

Regulation VIII of 1819—Suit to set aside putni sale—Second sale pending suit, if it may stand in case first sale set aside Where pending proceedings under the Regulation VIII of 1819 to set aside the sale of a Putni Taluk, a second sale under the Regulation took place owing to default in payment of rent. Held, that if the first sale be set aside as invalid the second sale cannot stand. BEJOY CHAND MAHATAB v. MURTIJOY GHOSH (1920) I. L. R. 47 Calc. 782

Sale for arrears not due—Suit to set aside sale—Day, how to be reckoned,

POTNI SALE—could

in a status mentioning rights and dates in Bengali style—Payment to stop sale, where and by whom to be made—Nature of sale in the Collector's katchari, form and method of—Non publication of notice in manner prescribed, effect of—Putni sale and Revenue sale, difference of—Purchase by stranger at gular sale, effect of—Necessary parties in a suit to set aside putni sale—Costs in a suit to set aside sale—Appellate Court direction of in considering finding of fact of trial Judge who had witnesses before him—Conditional acceptance of arrears of putni rent, if deposit—Putni Regulation (VIII of 1819), s. 8, 10 14 The sale of a putni can be held only if the balance claimed by the zemindar on account of the rent of the putni remains unpaid upon the day fixed for the sale of the tenure, and if a sale is held after a valid payment of the rent due, it must be deemed to be a sale without jurisdiction. Shroop Chunder Bhootch v. Farab Chunder Singh, 7 W. R. 218, and Laxsona Choudhury v. Naba Kumar Sinha, 16 C. W. N. 805 followed. Barjath Sahu v. Suni Prasad, 2 B. L. R. F. B. I., 10 W. R. F. B. 66, Harlon Singh v. Bunsulur Singh, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 876 Baikushen Das v. Simpson, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 833, I. R. 25 I. A. 151, Mohomed Jan v. Gangai Bishun Singh I. L. R. 38 Calc. 537, I. L. R. 38 I. A. 80 Hajji Bakhsh Khan v. Durlav Chandra Kar, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 981 I. L. R. 39 I. A. 177, and Janakdhar Lal v. Cossain Lal Phana Gayal, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 107 referred to. When a Regulation mentions Bengali months and dates throughout, the Legislature must have intended that a day should be reckoned in the manner prevalent in Bengal that is from sunrise to sunrise. The fact that there was no balance due may be urged as a ground in support of a suit for reversal of a putni sale. A putnidar cannot stop the sale by a deposit in the Collectorate at the moment of sale. Payment to stop a putni sale may, however, be made into Court either by a subordinate talukdar under s. 13 of the Putni Regulation, or by a putnidar who has applied for a summary investigation under s. 14, cl (2) of that Regulation. Arista Mohan Shaha v. Asfahooddeen Mahomed, 15 W. R. 569, referred to. The notice of sale, required by the Putni Regulation, to be stuck up at a conspicuous part of the Collector's katchari, must be a self-contained notice, which comprises not only a specification of the arrears and a notification that the sale will be held on a particular date if the amount claimed be not paid before that date, and also a statement of the lots proposed to be sold in the order in which the sale will be held. s. 8 of the Putni Regulation must be read with s. 13. Rajnarain Mitra v. Ananta Lal Mondul, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 703, Bejoy Chandra Mahatab v. Atinaga Chavan Bose, I. L. R. 32 Calc. 953, and Haricharn Das v. Pajani Kanta Lask, 15 Ind. Cas. 537, followed. The requirements of the Putni Regulation in respect of the notice mentioned in ss. 8 and 10 of that Regulation must be strictly complied with, and a defective notice under s. 8 is a fatal objection to the validity of the sale. Maharajah v. Byrdwan v. Arishan Komari Das, I. L. R. 14 Calc. 365, I. L. R. 14 I. A. 50, Abhoyulla Khan Bahadur v. Haricharan Mozoomdar, I. L. R. 20 Calc. 86, I. L. R. 19 I. A. 191, Abhoyulla Khan Bahadur v. Harri Charn Mozoomdar, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 474, Rajnarain Mitra v. Ananta Lal Mondul, I. L. R. 19 Calc. 703 Harro Doyal Roy Choudhry v. Mahomed Gazi Choudhry, I. L. R.

PUTNI SALE—contd.

19 Cal. 629, and Maharaja of Baroda v. Tarnadar Dada, 1 L. J. 3 Cal. 619. L. R. 10 I. A. 19 referred to. A sale under the Putni Regulation stands on an entirely different basis from a sale for arrears of revenue inasmuch as s. 14 of the Regulation does not restrict the right of suit to narrow and specified grounds and the validity of the sale may be successfully challenged on proof that the conditions prescribed by the Regulation have not been fulfilled. A purchase even by a stranger at a putni sale may be set aside on the ground that the provisions of the Regulation were not complied with. The purchaser is only entitled to be indemnified against all loss at the charge of the vendor or other person at whose instance the sale may have been made such loss being ordinarily measured by costs of litigation and interest on purchase money. Mohamed Ali v. Ameer Ali 21 B. I. 257. Barikata Nath Singh v. Mahabir Choudhary, 9 B. I. 187, 17 B. R. 447 and Deputy Commissioner v. Amrita Lal Mukherji 1 I. F. 300 (C. 308 referred to). S. 14 of the Putni Regulation contemplates that the purchaser is to be made a party. If the purchaser has purchased in his own name or on behalf of himself and others he must be deemed to represent all such persons. Where the issue involves a question of fact to be decided chiefly if not solely on oral evidence a Court of Appeal should be slow to set aside the finding of the trial Judge who had the witnesses before him. Bombay Cotton Manufacturing Co. v. Motilal Shastri 1 L. R. 39 Bom. 330. 1 R. 42 I. A. 110, and Dominion Trust Co. v. New York Life Insurance Co., [1919] 1 A. C. 231 followed. The acceptance of arrears of a putni rent with a qualification that if the sale did take place the money would be returned does not indicate that the acceptance was postponed to await the event of sale or otherwise and such a sum paid and accepted cannot be regarded as a deposit. REGIA RAJESHA MOOREJI v. LAKSHMI NARAIN JIN (1919) 1 L. R. 47 Cal. 337

PUTNI TALUK

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

1 L. R. 41 Cal. 683

sale of—

See CHOTA NAGPUR PCTUMBERED ESTATES ACT, APPLICATION OF

1 L. R. 46 Cal. 1

See LIMITATION 1 L. R. 46 Cal. 670

whether expression in a lease implies fixity of Rent—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

24 C. W. N. 874

Sale for arrears of rent

Regulation 5, 555 of 1859—Sale in which vendor prior putni sale—Apparition of purchaser. An auction purchaser in a putni sale pending litigation to set aside a prior putni sale of the same property, brought a suit on the prior sale being set aside, against the vendor for refund of the purchase money and rent paid. Held, that he was the plaintiff so far as the vendor was concerned. The cancellation of the prior sale did not affect the subsequent putni sale. Ramesh Choudhary v. Sonmala Choudhary, 11 C. L. J. 491 referred to. Deputy Commr. of Mohan Mohan Ghosh, 21 C. B. N. 785, dissented from PUTNI TALUK—contd.

DEPUTY CHIEF MAGISTRATE v. ANANTOSH CHAKRABARTY (1920) 1 L. R. 46 Cal. 454

PUTNI TALUK REGULATION (VIII OF 1819)

See PUTNI SALE

See PUTNI TALUK

s. 14, sale under—

See LIMITATION 1 L. R. 46 Cal. 670

PUTNI TENURE

purchaser of—

See INCUMBRANCE 1 L. R. 43 Cal. 558

1—Incumbrance—Customary right to cut and appropriate trees, whether an incumbrance—Putni Regulation (VIII of 1819) s. 11—Right of an auction purchaser of a sale held under the Putni Regulation to avoid such incumbrance—Bona fide engagement made by the defaulting proprietor with tenant and hereditary cultivators effect of A customary right to cut and appropriate trees is an incumbrance within the meaning of s. 11 of Regulation VIII of 1819. A purchaser of a putni taluk at a sale held under Regulation VIII of 1819 is not entitled to hold the property free from a customary right or a right recognised by usage which has grown up during the existence of the putni, and under which occupancy riyats are entitled to appropriate and convert to their own use such trees as they have the right to cut down, inasmuch as he is not entitled to cancel a bona fide engagement made by the defaulting proprietor with the resident and hereditary cultivators. PRADYOTE KUMAR TAGORE v. GOPI KRISHNA MANDAL (1910) 1 L. R. 37 Cal. 322

2—Putni Regulation

(VIII of 1819) s. 17, cl. (c)—Arrears of rent—Arrears prior to the current year for which the sale took place—Personal Debt—Bengal Tenancy Act (111 of 1885) s. 70—First Charge. Under the Putni Regulation VIII of 1819 s. 17 cl. (c) where the arrears of rent claimed are for balances due for periods prior to the current year for which the arrears are due when the sale is held in the middle of the year or prior to the year preceding if the sale be held at the commencement of the following year these balances must be treated as personal debts recoverable under the ordinary procedure for recovery of debts and not as rents recoverable under the provisions of the Tenancy law, and that in such a case the provisions of a 73 of the Bengal Tenancy Act would not have any application. Pradyote Mohan Mukhopadhyay v. Sreeram Chandra Bose 6 C. B. N. 791 commented on and distinguished. JAGANNATH v. MOUNTED ON MIRA (1910) 1 L. R. 37 Cal. 747

3—Successive rent decree—Sale in execution of rent decree—Transfer of surplus sale proceeds for amounts of successive decrees—Putni Regulation (VIII of 1819) s. 3 (3) 17 (3)—Bengal Tenancy Act (111 of 1885) s. 65, 163 195—(c)—Transfer of Property Act (11 of 1882) s. 73 199—Nature of charge for arrears of rent. Per N. P. CHATTERJEE J. (Smith J., concur). Not only can a putni tenure be sold under the Bengal Tenancy Act but decrees for rent for earlier periods can be forced against the surplus sale proceeds of a putni tenure when sold in execution of a decree for rent under the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Per

R

RAFA TANKIDARS.

In the Kharidah Estate the Rapa Tankidars are occupancy raiyats and not tenancy holders. HANAYAN PATNAIK v. RAGHUNATH PATNAIK 5 Pat. L. J. 373

RAILWAY.

See RAILWAY COMPANY

See RAILWAYS ACT.

Liability of Railway Administration—

See LOSS OF GOODS

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 18

See SHAWL, MEANING OF

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1029

Risk Note—

See RAILWAY COMPANY

See CONTRACT

I. L. R. 39 All. 418

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 789

RAILWAY COMPANY

See CARRIERS I. L. R. 39 Calc. 311

See CARRIERS, LIABILITY OF

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 120

See CONTRACT 15 C. W. N. 991

I. L. R. 39 All. 418

See CONTRACT ACT 1872 ss. 227 AND 237

I. L. R. 43 All. 621

ss. 151 and 152

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 181

See CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 427

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 308

See EVIDENCE ACT, s. 103

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 789

See NEGLIGENCE I. L. R. 43 Calc. 757

Liability of—

See RAILWAYS ACT (IX OF 1890) s. 73.

I. L. R. 34 All. 656

I. L. R. 37 All. 463

See REMAND I. L. R. 42 Calc. 888

Loss or damage to goods—

1. —Risk Note B—Company absolved from liability in all cases except negligence or dishonesty of its servants—Onus Where goods were consigned to a Railway Company for carriage, the contract being embodied in a risk note, Form B, under which, in consideration of the Railway Company accepting a lower freight the consignor absolved the Railway Company from all liability for loss or damage to the goods, subject, however, to the proviso that the Company would be liable for loss due to wilful negligence on the part of their servants or due to theft by its servants or agents. Hell, that the onus lay on the person seeking to charge the Railway Company with damages for loss of goods to show that the case came within the proviso. SNEOHABUT RAM v. THE BENGAL NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY CO. (1912) 16 C. W. N. 788

2

Risk Note H—

Consignment under Risk note—Loss of portion of consignment—Onus of proving cause of loss—Railways Act (IX of 1890), s. 72 Where a number of tins containing oil was consigned to the defendant railway company under risk note, Form H and the tins were delivered to the consignee, but the contents of some of the tins were missing. Held that the person who said that the case fell within the exceptions mentioned in the risk note, Form H, had to prove his assertion. SNEOHABUT RAM v. BENGAL NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY, 16 C. W. N. 766, referred to PART INDIAN RAILWAY CO. v. MILKANTA ROY (1917)

RAILWAY COMPANY—contd

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 576

3. —Contract Act (IX of 1972) ss. 151 and 152—Liability of Railway Companies for loss, damage or destruction of goods entrusted to them for carriage—Evidence necessary to exonerate Railway Company when the true cause of the loss, etc. cannot be ascertained—Provision of appliances to put out fires Held that the B. B. & C. I. Railway Company for the value of certain bales of cotton entrusted to the railway company for carriage and accidentally burnt while being so carried. Held, that the railway company, merely by getting the Court to believe that the wagon on which the goods entrusted to it had been loaded had been so loaded with ordinary care, had not done all that was needed to absolve itself but that in the absence of a definite known cause the railway company had to satisfy the Court that in the management of its engines, and in the whole course of drawing the wagon to the place where it caught fire, the railway company observed in all respects the same degree of care and prudence which an ordinary man conveying his own valuable goods might have been expected to take under the same circumstances. When anyone has entrusted goods to a railway company for carriage, and those goods are lost, damaged or destroyed while in the possession and under the control of the railway company, the fact of the loss, damage or destruction is enough to cast upon the company the burden of proving that that loss was not due to any negligence on its part. The standard of negligence is given in ss. 151 and 152 of the Indian Contract Act but no general rule universally applicable can be laid down as a rule of law defining the amount and quality of the proof in every case which will discharge the railway company's contract. Lakshichand Roushchand v. G. I. P. Railway Company, I. L. R. 31 Bom. 1, is an authority for the proposition that a decree ought not to be given against a railway company sued as bailee for loss, damage or destruction of goods limited to it the moment it admits that it is unable to assign the vera causa of the loss. The company as bailee is primarily liable for the loss, but it may exonerate itself in two ways. It may, while ignorant of the cause of the fire, show if it can, that that cause could not possibly be attributable to itself, that in other words it was altogether external and beyond the railway company's control. Second, the bailee, while ignorant of the vera causa, might point to the fact that he had taken such precautions against risk, had dealt with the goods entrusted to him with such care, that whatever the cause might be and although attributable to his own act, yet it must be presumed to have been of such an uncommon, or if such an unpreventable kind that he ought not to be held responsible for it. But such a defence could only be logically (if ever logically) established by the virtual exclusion of all causes of an ordinary kind attributable to the bailee or his servants or machinery. HILMI KHETSY & COMPANY v B, B & C I RAILWAY COMPANY (1914)

RAILWAY COMPANY—contd

I L. R. 39 Bom. 191

4. ————— Negligence—Common carrier—Negligence—Railway Company if may free itself from liability by contract—Statutory limits imposed on such contract—Duty of care, apart from contract and excluded by it, if arises—Contract through agent or person held out as such—Agent not carrying to acquaint himself with terms printed on ticket—Principal if bound by terms—Jury—Fact, finding of—Legal consequences flowing therefrom. Apart from statute, a carrier is liable in Canada as in England for injury arising from negligence in execution of his contract to carry unless he has effectively stipulated that he shall be free from such liability. Under s 284 of the Canada Railways Act, railway companies are put under a general obligation to carry and deliver with the due care and diligence, and any one aggrieved by a breach of this duty is to have a right of action from which the companies are not to be relieved by any notice, condition or declaration if the damage arises from negligence or omission. S 310 of the Act provides that no contract restricting liability for carriage is to be valid unless it is of a kind approved by the Railway Board, which is empowered to determine the extent to which such liability may be impaired, restricted, or limited, and generally to prescribe by regulation the terms and conditions under which any traffic may be carried. Held, that where under s 340 and other sections which deal with special tariffs, forms of stipulation limiting liability have been approved by the Board, and the conditions for making them binding have been duly complied with, the companies are enabled in such cases to contract for complete freedom from liability for negligence. If a passenger has entered a train on a mere invitation or permission from a railway company without more and he receives injury in an accident caused by the negligence of its servants, the company is liable for damages for breach of a general duty to exercise care. Such a breach can be regarded as one either of an implied contract or of a duty imposed by the general law, and in the latter case is in form a tort. But in either view this general duty may, subject to statutory restrictions, be superseded by a specific contract which may either enlarge or diminish the liability. If the law without more, it, such a contract cannot be pronounced to be unreasonable by a Court of Justice. The specific contract, with its incidents, either expressed or attached by law, becomes in such a case the only measure of the duties between the parties. If the contract is one which deprives the passenger of the benefit of a duty of care which he is prima facie entitled to expect that the company has accepted, the latter must discharge the burden of proving that the passenger assented to the special terms imposed. This he may be shown to have done either in person or through the agency of another. Such agency will be held to have been established when he is shown to have authorised antecedently or by way of ratification the making of the contract under circumstances in which he must be taken to have left everything

RAILWAY COMPANY—contd

to his agent. In such a case, it is sufficient to prove that he has been content to accept the risk of allowing terms to be made without taking the trouble to learn what was being agreed to. The company may infer his intention from his conduct. If he stands by under such circumstances that it will naturally conclude that he has left the negotiation to the person who is acting for him, and intends that the latter should arrange the terms on which he is to be conveyed, he will be precluded by so doing from afterwards alleging want of authority to make any such terms as the law allows. If the person acting on his behalf has himself not taken the trouble to read the terms of the contract proposed by the company in the ticket or pass offered and yet knew that there was something written or printed on it which might contain conditions, it is not the company that will suffer by the agent's want of care. The agent will, in the absence of something misleading done by the company, be bound, and the principal will be bound through him. The company owes the passenger no duty which the contract is expressed on the face of it to exclude, and if he has appreciated that contract by travelling under it, he cannot afterwards reprobate it by claiming a right inconsistent with it. GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY COMPANY OF CANADA v ALBERT NELSON ROBINSON (1916)

19 C. W. N. 905

5. ————— Liability of Railway Companies for damage to goods entrusted to them for carriage—Onus of proof of negligence—Railway Act (IX of 1890) ss 72 and 76—Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss 151, 152 and 161—Carriers Act (III of 1865), s 9—Responsibility of Railway Company for negligence in preventing damage from fire after discovery of the fire. On the 3rd of March 1909, the 2nd plaintiffs consigned 80 bales of cotton to the defendants at Valkapur for delivery to the 1st plaintiffs at Lombay. There 10 bales along with 10 others belonging to a different consignor were loaded upon a waggon at Valkapur Station by the defendants and the waggon was then closed and dunnied on to a siding till the next day. On the 4th of March 1909 at 1.50 p.m., the waggon was attached to a train being placed next to the engine. On the arrival of the train at Varangum Station at 3.40 p.m., the said bales of cotton were found to be on fire. The waggon containing them was immediately detached and placed on a siding, the doors were opened, 37 bales were extricated and the engine driver, having unsuccessfully tried to put out the fire with water from his boiler, took the rest of the train on to Lhusaval, a station 8 miles distant. There not being appliances at Varangum for extinguishing fires, the remaining 72 bales continued to burn in the waggon till completely consumed. While the bales were being burnt communications passed between the Varangum and Lhusaval Station Masters as to the sending from Lhusaval of appliances to put out the fire. At 4.10, the Station Master at Varangum telegraphed to the Station Master at Lhusaval to send a fire pipe to put out the fire as it was burning very badly. This message was received at Lhusaval at 4.30 p.m. During the day the Station Master at Varangum sent several practice messages asking for assistance from Lhusaval and also sent a further telegram which was received at Bhuvaval about 8.30 p.m.—“Fire pump not sent yet; half the bales burnt, strong wind blowing, fire in great force, arrange sharp.” The Station Master at Bhuvaval did not send any assistance whatever. He made inquiries as to how far water was from the fire and on receiving the information that the nearest water was in a well some 200 yards from the fire and some 25 feet from the rails, came to the conclusion that the appliances at Bhuvaval Station would be ineffective. In fact the nearest well was some 200 yards from the fire but only some 55 feet from the nearest point on a siding to which the wagon containing the bales could have been brought. After the fire the defendants noticed the plain tiles that the 90 bales had been burnt, but afterwards offered to give delivery to the plaintiffs of 37 bales, slightly damaged, but the plaintiffs refused to accept delivery of the bales and subsequently they were sold by the defendants for the sum of Rs. 3213. The plaintiffs sued the defendants to recover the value of the 53 bales. No cause of the fire could be shown and no definite act of negligence on the part of the servants of the defendants or other fault on their part prior to the discovery of the fire was proved. Held, that the responsibility of the defendants for the loss, destruction or deterioration of goods delivered to them to be carried by them was, as provided by s. 72 of the Railways Act IX of 1890 that of a bailee under s. 151, 152 and 162 of the Contract Act, and that s. 70 of the Railways Act did not extend the principles contained in s. 9 of the Carriers Act 1803, to suits against Railway Companies and did not increase the onus of proof laid on the defendants under s. 151 of the Contract Act, namely to take as much care of the goods bailed to them as a man of ordinary prudence would under similar circumstances take of his own goods of the same bulk, quality, and value as the thing bailed, but that in the absence of special contract the defendants were not responsible for the loss, destruction and deterioration of the goods if they had taken that amount of care. Held, further, that the defendants had exonerated themselves quoad the outbreak of the fire. Held, however, that the obligation on the defendants included not only the duty of taking all reasonable precautions to obviate risks but the duty of taking all proper measures for the protection of the goods when such risks had actually occurred and that the defendants servants had been guilty of default, the Station Master at Bhuvaval in not having sent appliances to extinguish the fire when requested by the Station Master at Varanasi, and the Station Master at Varanasi in having misled the Station Master at Bhuvaval as to the distance of water from the fire, and that the defendants had not taken the care a reasonable man would take to save his goods. Held, accordingly, that the defendants were liable to the plaintiffs to the extent of the damage which they might have prevented on the discovery of the fire. LACHINDRAN RAMCHAND & CO. V. P. RAILWAY COMPANY (1911). I. L. R. 37 Bom. 1.

RAILWAY COMPANY—contd

6. Carriage of goods—East Indian Railway—The sender's risk note used by the East Indian Railway by which the Company takes liability only for loss of a complete package due to the wilful negligence of their staff is not opposed to public policy. KARI DAS MULLICK & EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY 21 C. W. N. 315

RAILWAY COMPANY—contd.

7. Liability of, in respect of goods consigned for carriage and delivery—Obligation to grant advantage certificate—A Railway Company is under no liability to furnish a receipt consigned to them for carriage and delivery and give a certificate of shortage, if the consignor alleges loss in the transit. JOS ANANT MAYAPPA & EAST INDIAN RAILWAY CO (1915). 22 C. W. N. 502.

8. Risk Note B—Contract—Delivery of goods to Railway Company—Risk note, Form B—Goods lost in transit—Admission of loss by Railway Company—Mere admission not sufficient to entitle Railway Company to protection of risk note—Infinite proof of loss required—The plaintiffs consigned certain bags of rice to Bombay from that port under Risk Note B. The consignments being short delivered, the plaintiffs sued the defendant Railway Company for the value of the missing bags. The second defendant Railway Company admitted the loss but sought to escape liability under the risk note. The trial Judge, on the admission of the defendant Company and without receiving any evidence regarding the loss of goods, dismissed the plaintiffs' suit. The plaintiffs having applied to the High Court. Held, remanding the case for retrial, that it was necessary for the defendant Company to prove that the goods were lost, a mere admission in their own favour being insufficient. CHENNAI & THE E. I. RAILWAY COMPANY (1921). I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1201.

9. Duties of, as carriers—Goods allowed by consignee to remain on railway premises for an unreasonable time—Company not liable for loss or damage—Demurrage—The consignee of goods sent by rail is bound to take delivery thereof within a reasonable time. If by his own neglect he omits to do so, he cannot hold the railway company liable for any loss or damage which may accrue. Inherent considerations would arise if there were any evidence to show an agreement on the part of the railway company to act as a warehouseman; but the mere fact of the company charging demurrage would not necessarily give rise to such an implication. Clayman v. Great Western Railway Company, 5 Q. B. D. 273, referred to. PENNALL AND NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY & MELBOURNE 1 L. R. 42 All. 635

10. Death of passenger—Alleged to have been caused by negligence—Suit for damages by representatives of deceased—Nature of liability of Company—Bentley v. The Great Eastern Railway Co (1855)—An action against a Railway Company for damages on account of the death of a passenger alleged to have been caused by the negligence of the Company's servants is not an action ex contractu, but is an action based on tort and on the provisions of the Indian Fatal Accidents Act, 1855 such an action, therefore, cannot be brought at the place where the deceased person's ticket was taken. There is no general obligation upon a Railway Company to carry passengers who have taken tickets “safely”. Austin v. The Great Western Railway Company, 2 Q. B. 442, and the East Indian Railway Company v. Kaildas Mukherji, 1 L. R. 23 Cal. 401, referred to. SHRIAM NARAYAN TIKKOO & THE BOMBAY, BARODA AND CENTRAL INDIA RAILWAY (1919). I. L. R. 41 All. 438.

RAILWAY COMPANY—contd.

11. ——— Public Street—Power to Cross Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894)—Indian Railways Act, 1890, s 7, as amended by s 1 of Act IX of 1896, provides that, subject in the case of immovable property not belonging to the railway administration, to the provisions of any enactment for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes and for companies a railway administration may, for the purpose of constructing a railway, (inter alia) construct across any streets such lines of railway as the railway administration think proper, the powers conferred by the section are made subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council. The respondents constructed lines of railway across a street vested by statute in the appellant Municipal Corporation without obtaining their consent and without taking proceedings under the Land Acquisition Act 1894. Held, that the construction of the railway lines across the street was not an acquisition of immovable property within the meaning of s 7 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 and that the respondents had power under that section, as amended to lay the lines without obtaining the consent of the appellant corporation. BOMBAY CORPORATION v GREAT INDIAN PENINSULA RAILWAY CO. (L. R. 43 L. A. 310)

12. ——— Carriage of goods partly over railway line and partly by river—Local book-keeping form of railway receipt—Freight, for the whole journey—Privilege of contract—Loss of goods while in the custody of the Steamship Company—Negligence of the Steamship Company—Carrier's Act (III of 1865), ss 8 and 9—Common carrier, liability of, to owner—Definition of common carrier in the Carrier's Act (III of 1865)—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 106. On or about the 11th November 1915 343 chests of tea belonging to the plaintiffs were delivered by the plaintiffs to the Railway Company (1st defendant) at the latter's station at Bordioli Road (Assam) for the purpose of transport to Chittagong, in consideration of one single and entire reward paid by the plaintiffs to the Railway Company. In the ordinary course of business such goods were carried by the Railway Company over its own line from Assam to Chittagong without recourse to any other companies or system of transport. Owing to a breakdown, however, of a section of the line, known as the hill section, in June 1915, arrangements were made between the Railway Company and the Steamship Company (2nd defendant) by which the Railway Company was to carry such goods over its own line to Gauhati and there hand over the goods to the Steamship Company to be carried by the latter (for a fixed reward to be paid by the Railway Company to the Steamship Company) by the river to Chandpur and there hand the goods handed back to the 1st for the purpose of transport over its own line of railway to Chittagong. The railway receipt given to the plaintiffs was in the form of the usual "Local Booking" receipt (which in normal times would be given for the all land transport from Bordioli Road to Chittagong) except that at the top thereof a note was made in writing "Packed as per manifest required for Chandpur and Chandpur". It also appeared that a receipt was given by the Railway Company to its customers in the 1st class carrying a goods

RAILWAY COMPANY—contd.

tariff stating the breakdown on the hill section and adding, all goods traffic to and from stations in Upper Assam north of Mura must be routed via Gauhati. Under this arrangement the plaintiffs' goods were carried by the Railway Company from Bordioli Road to Gauhati and put on board the Steamship Company's flat Quayery at the latter place. On the 21st December 1915 while the said goods were lying at Gauhati on the said flat, a fire broke out on the said flat at 6-15 or 6-30 in the evening and 96 of the plaintiffs' chests of tea were destroyed. In a suit by the plaintiffs which proceeded against the Steamship Company (the suit against the Railway Company having been dismissed by consent) for damages for the loss of 96 chests of tea so destroyed—Held, that there was no contract to carry safely from Gauhati to Chandpur between the plaintiffs (owners of the goods) and the Steamship Company as a common carrier. Mitchell v Lancaster and Preston Paton & Co., 8 M & W 421, Scott v South Staffs Railway Co., 8 Fr 311, London and North Western Railway Co. v Collins, 7 H L 691, 121 Hilby v West Cornwall Railway Co., 2 H L 703, referred to. Seem that, in the absence of any privity of contract, the plaintiffs as owners of the goods, cannot (apart from the Carrier's Act (III of 1865)) recover against the Steamship Company as an insurer of goods by reason only that it was a common carrier. Britherton v Wood & Wood & Co., 51, 100 v Shipton, 8 Ad & El 973, Marshall v York Newcastle & Hull Railway Co., 11 C B 655, Twiss v Great Western Railway Co., 1 B 2 Q B 442 referred to. Held also that under the arrangement above described the Steamship Company was engaged in the business of a common carrier within the definition of the term in the Carrier's Act (III of 1865), and that although there was no privity of contract between the plaintiffs and the Steamship Company the latter as a common carrier, was liable to the plaintiffs as owner of the goods, by virtue of ss 8 and 9 of the Carrier's Act (III of 1865) for loss arising from its negligence unless it was able to exonerate itself from responsibility for such loss. Chas. v P & Co., 1 L J 21 C 1 735, R. S. A. Co. v Chas. R. & Co., 25 Cal 323, Hughes & Co. v B. & Co., 1 P & W 101, 1 L J 101 referred to. Held further, in the circumstances of the case, that (apart from any rule of law as to common carriers) the Steamship Company was liable to the plaintiffs in tort by reason of the fact that the plaintiffs had a contractual obligation that the loss was caused by the negligence of the Steamship Company. Fisher v Mid. Dir. Railway Co., 15 C P D 157, Parker v L & N. Railway Co., 57 J Q B 103 followed. Kelly v Metropolitan Railway Co., (1895) 1 Q B 245, Menz v Great Eastern Railway Co., (1895) 2 Q B 337, referred to. Where, on a question of negligence the plaintiffs have adduced evidence sufficient to call upon the defendant to reply and the defendant has refused to do so under the burden of having the material facts before the Court, has refused to do so, the Court is entitled to find in favour of the plaintiffs. 11 L J 201 followed. Durham & P. S. & Co., 2 C L J 612, referred to. DURHAM TEA CO. v ASSAM PENINSULAR RAILWAY CO. (L. R. [1916])

L. R. 47 Cal. 8

RAILWAY PASSENGER

See RAILWAY COMPANY

L. L. R. 41 All. 498

Fraud—Travelling

without a ticket but not with intent to defraud—Course open to Railway Administration in such case—Power to forcibly eject passenger—Assault —“Railway” —Falling stock —Railways Act (IX of 1890), ss 3 (4) (10), 68, 69, 113, 120, 122—Railways Act (IV of 1879), ss 31 and 32—Enhancement of sentence on hearing of Reference The main and primary purpose of ss 68 and 69 of the Railways Act (IX of 1890) is to prevent persons from travelling in fraud of the Company without payment of the fare, and the obligation to show their tickets, when required, is subsidiary only to such purpose Travelling without a ticket, in the absence of intent to defraud, is not an offence
 In such a case the only course open to the Railway Administration is that provided in s 113
 There is no provision in the Act for ejecting passengers except in certain circumstances such as are specified in s 120 S 122 does not apply to passengers travelling in a railway carriage, as the term “railway” in s 3 (4) excludes a carriage Where a person travelled without a ticket, not with intent to defraud but because he arrived as the train was about to start and was, therefore, unable to purchase one, and when asked for it by the travelling ticket checkers offered to pay the fare and excess charge on grant of a receipt, but refused to leave the compartment at the next station and purchase a ticket as he was directed to do by the ticket-checkers Held, that the ticket-checkers had no lawful authority to remove him thereupon forcibly from the carriage and to beat him with their fists and that they were guilty of an offence under s 323 of the Penal Code Pratab Day v B B & C I Railway Co, I L R I Bom 52 distinguished Butler v Manchester Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railway Company, 21 Q L D 207, referred to The Court cannot entertain an application for enhancement on the hearing of a reference under s 438 of the Code Such applications ought to be made in the usual way, and are not ordinarily entertained on behalf of private parties MOHAMMED HOBAIN v FARLEY (1916)

L. L. R. 44 Calc. 279

RAILWAY PREMISES.

right to enter upon—

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860),
 s 188 . . . L. L. R. 35 All. 136

RAILWAY RECEIPT

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), ss 4,
 53, 51 AND 103.

L. L. R. 38 Bom. 255

See RAILWAYS ACT (IX OF 1890), s 72

I L R. 39 Bom. 495

endorsement of—

See CONTRACT ACT 1872 s 103

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 639

not a delivery order—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s 47

I L R 40 Bom. 517

possession of—

See ORION . . . I L R. 46 Calc 820

production of—

See DISHONESTLY RECEIVING STOLEN
 PROPERTY . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 880

RAILWAY RECEIPT—contd

—Title—Endorsee—Interest in the goods—Action for damages A railway receipt is a mercantile document of title and the endorsee of the receipt has sufficient interest in the goods covered by it to maintain an action against the Railway Company for damages in respect of the goods covered by the receipt Amarchand & Co, v Ramdas Vukhadas, I L R 38 Bom 255 followed DOLAT-RAM DWARAKAS v B, B & C I RAILWAY COM-PANY (1914) I L R 38 Bom. 659

—Mercantile document of title, pledge of—Local custom—Charge—Holder thereof—Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907), s 16, cl (3) A railway receipt is a mercantile document of title to goods and lawful possession as pledgee of such receipt enables the holder by virtue of local custom to get possession of the goods from the carrier, and the insolvents' right to get possession under s 16, cl (3), of the Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907) ceases with the pledge *Amarchand & Co v Ramdas 15

 Bom L R 895*, followed *FAKERRA v THIR
 PANNA* (1913) I L R. 38 Mad. 664

RAILWAY RULE

See RAILWAYS ACT (IX OF 1890), s 72.

I L R. 39 Bom. 485

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890).

ss 3, 68, 69, 113, 120, 122—

See RAILWAY PASSENGER.

I L R. 44 Calc 279

ss 3 and 121—Indian Railway Board Act (IV of 1905), rr 244, 229 and 231—Station master deputing signaller to collect tickets and excess fare—Assault on signaller by passenger Under rr 244, 229 and 231 framed under Railway Board Act (IV of 1905) a Stationmaster has power to depute a signaller subordinate to him to collect tickets and excess fares from passengers alighting at the station, and a signaller so deputed is a “Railway servant employed by a Railway administration” within the meaning of s 3 cl (7) of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890) An assault by a passenger on such signaller rightly demanding excess fare is an offence under s 121 of the Indian Railways Act. BERMANIA v WATSON (1920) I L R 34 Mad. 348

ss 3 (6), 77, 140—

See LOSS OF GOODS.

I L R. 44 Calc. 16

ss 3 (6), 77, 140—

Railway administered by Government—Suit by consignee for price of goods consigned and misd. by railway—Action to Traffic Manager and to Collector for Secretary of State, of sufficient Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sch I, Arts 30, 31, 115 In the case of a railway administered by Government, notice under s 77 of the Railways Act is (in view of the definition of the words Railway Administration” in s 3 (6) of the Act) effective, if served on Government, and s 140 does not mean that the “Manager” is the only person on whom notice can be served, but that if notice is served on the Manager, it must be served on him in the manner provided in s 140 *The Secretary of State v.
 Dyband Poddar, I L R 24 Calc 306*, Great

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—contd—s. 3 (6), 77, 140—contd

Indian Peninsula Railway v. Chandra Bai, 1 L. R. 23 All 552, Janaki Dass v. The Bengal Nagpur Railway Company 16 C. W. N. 356, Permannan Chellu v. South Indian Railway Company, 1 L. R. 22 Mad 137, and Aadar Chand Saha v. Wood, 1 L. R. 35 Cal. 191, considered Per D. CHATTERJEE, J. Semble. In the absence of evidence showing that the "Agent" of a railway administered by Government is the Manager, or that the "Traffic Manager" is not the Manager and regard being had to the rule printed and published in the Fare and Time Table of the Railway that "references regarding delay in transit to or loss of goods, parcels, luggage or other articles or claims for compensation and refunds should be addressed to the Traffic Manager," notice to the Traffic Manager may be considered sufficient under s. 140 of the Act. In a suit by consignors of goods which were not alleged to have been lost, but were found to have gone astray after they were delivered to the Railway, for recovery of their price with compensation, the defendant did not plead or prove any loss and on the other hand alleged that the goods had not been delivered at all, nor was there evidence when the goods were to be delivered. Held, per CURRIE that neither Art. 30 nor Art. 31 applied, and (Per D. CHATTERJEE, J.), that the suit was governed by Art. 115 of the 1st Schedule to the Limitation Act. Monan Singh Chauhan v. Conder, 1 L. R. 7 Bom 478, and Danmull v. British India Steam Navigation Company, 1 L. R. 12 Cal. 477, referred to. RADHA SHAM DASAK v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1916) 20 C. W. N. 790

—s. 7—

RAILWAY COMPANY

City of Bombay Municipal Act (Bom. Act III of 1883) s. 394—Use by Railway Company of its premises for storing timber—License from the Municipal Commissioner for the use, not necessary. The Agent of the G. I. P. Railway Company having been charged in the Presidency Magistrate's Court at the instance of the Bombay Municipality under s. 394 (1) (d) of the City of Bombay Municipal Act (Bom. Act III of 1883) with having used the Company's premises for storing timber without a license granted by the Municipal Commissioner, the Presidency Magistrate recorded evidence and referred the following question under s. 432 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898)—"Do the statutory powers given to the Railway Company (s. 7 of the Indian Railways Act, IX of 1890) preclude the necessity of obtaining a license from the Municipal Commissioner, to use premises in such a manner as is necessary for the convenient making, altering, repairing and using the Railway?" Held, that no such license was necessary. S. 7 (1) of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890) authorizes the Railway Administration to do all acts necessary for the convenient making, maintaining, altering, repairing and using the Railway notwithstanding anything in any other enactment for the time being in force. The storing of timber was necessary for the convenient making, etc., of the Railway line. Under s. 7, sub s. 2 of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890) the Governor-General in Council and not the Municipal Commissioner has the control of the Railway Administration in the exercise of its powers under sub s. 1 MUNICIPAL COMMISSIONER OF BOMBAY v. G. I. P. RAILWAY COMPANY (1909) 1 L. R. 34 Bom. 252

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—contd—s. 7—contd

*City of Bombay Municipal Act, 1883, s. 239—Laying Railway lines by Railway Administration across public street vested in Municipality—Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894) provisions of, inapplicable S. 7 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (as amended by Act IX of 1896), enacts "(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act and in the case of immovable property not belonging to the Railway administration to the provisions of any enactment for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes, and for companies . . . a Railway administration may, for the purpose of constructing a railway notwithstanding anything in any other enactment for the time being in force, make or construct in, upon, across, under or over any lands, or any streets . . . lines of railway as the Railway administration thinks proper (ii) The exercise of the powers conferred on a Railway administration by sub s. (1) shall be subject to the control of the Governor General in Council." The respondents constructed Railway lines across a street vested in, and under the control of, the appellants by virtue of the provisions of the City of Bombay Municipal Act, 1883. In a suit by the appellants for a declaration that the respondents were not legally entitled to lay lines of railway across such street without either obtaining the permission, or acquiring the street under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894. Held (affirming the decision of the High Court on appeal dismissing the suit) that the taking the railway on the level across the street was not acquisition of immovable property within the meaning of s. 7 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, as amended. The provisions of the Land Acquisition Act were not so expressed as to cut down the power conferred by that section on the respondents to carry a line of railway across a street subject to the control of their powers by the Governor General, and that Act was inapplicable to such a case MUNICIPAL CORPORATION OF CITY OF BOMBAY v. G. I. P. RAILWAY COMPANY (1916)*

L. R. 43 I. A. 300

1 L. R. 41 Bom. 291

AFFIRMING

. 1 L. R. 38 Bom. 565

Level-crossing—Closing an old level-crossing and opening a new one—Diverting a road—License of a Railway Company. Plaintiff owned a bungalow on the west side of the defendant's Railway close to a station. To go over to the east side there was a level-crossing near the plaintiff's bungalow. The Railway Company, owing to the necessity of increasing sidings near the station, closed the level-crossing and opened a new one at a distance of few yards from the plaintiff's bungalow. This diversion of the road caused much inconvenience to the plaintiff as he had to go a longer distance if he wished to cross the Railway, and on the way there was a dip which made it impossible for the plaintiff to get at the new level crossing during the monsoon. The plaintiff, therefore, brought a suit against the Railway Company claiming a mandatory injunction directing the Company to have the old gateway at the level-crossing re opened, and be relied on s. 7 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890. Held, dismissing the suit, that the Railway Company were well within their powers in closing the old level-crossing and they had fulfilled all the requirements which the law imposed on them to provide another level crossing. A Railway Company has under Statute very wide powers in order to carry on its business for public purposes, and it has got to consider not only the convenience of individual owners of properties bordering near the line, but it has also got to consider the necessity for affording facilities to take the public who wish to travel on the Railway and send their goods by the Railway, and it cannot possibly consider separately the interest of each individual who happens to live in the neighbourhood of the Railway line. HARILAL LALLUBHAI v. B. & C. I. RAILWAY COY (1910) I L R 44 Bom. 705 ss 41 and 42—Railway Administration—Powers—Compartment reserved for the use of Europeans and Anglo Indians only—Civil Court—Jurisdiction Under s. 41 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, a Civil Court has no jurisdiction to try the question whether a Railway administration can reserve accommodation for Europeans and Anglo Indians on a Railway train. Section 42 of the Act deals not only with goods traffic but also with passenger traffic. Opinions expressed in Emperor v. Brydson Lal (1920) 42 All 327 discredited from Vishnavathi Ganesan v. G. I. P. RAILWAY COMPANY (1921) I L R 45 Bom. 1324

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—*contd.*s. 7—contd.

s. 47—

See s. 72 I L R 39 Bom. 485

General rules published in Gazette of India—Adoption by a Railway Company—Sanction—Publication The general rules framed by the Governor General in Council and published in the Gazette of India by notification, dated the 3rd July 1902 do not become operative as the rules of any individual Railway Company merely upon their adoption by the Company. It must be shown that the particular Railway Company made rules and that those rules have received the sanction of the Governor General in Council and have been published in the manner prescribed by the Act. HARI LAL SINGH v. THE BENGAL NAGPUR RAILWAY CO. (1910) 15 C W N 195

Rules made by a Railway Company—what are—Sanction of Government—Publication—General rules framed by Government

Rules adopted by a Railway Company though not originally, prepared by it would satisfy the requirements of s. 47 of the Railways Act, if they were subsequently sanctioned by the Governor General in Council and published in the Gazette of India. Hari Lal Singh v. The Bengal Nagpur Railway Co., 15 C L J 25 15 C W N 195 referred to BENGAL NAGPUR RAILWAY CO. v. HAMPRATH GOVERNMENT DAs (1912) 16 C W N 360

Rules made by Railway Company—sanction of Government—Publication Upon the finding of the Small Cause Court that the rules of the East Indian Railway Company in question regarding the recovery of demurrage charges from consignees of goods despatched by the Railway, were made, sanctioned, and published as prescribed by a. 47 of the Railways Act. Held, that there was no case for the exercise of the Court's power of revision with reference to the Small Cause Court's decision dismissing the suit for refund of demurrage charges paid. STRAS MULL NAGAR MULL v. THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY CO. (1912) I L R 38 Cal. 923 16 C. W. N. 359 ss 47, 54 and 72—Act No. IX of 1872 (Indian Contract Act), section 149—Liability of Railway Company for goods accepted by a servant of the Company for conveyance—Grant of receipt on behalf of the Company not essential to accrual of liability Where goods are tendered to the appropriate official of a Railway Company for despatch to a particular destination and are accepted by him, the liability of the Company in respect of such goods accrues from the time when the goods are so accepted, and is not dependent upon the granting or withholding of a receipt for the same on behalf of the Company by the official who has accepted the goods. Banaka Mal v. The Secretary of State for India, I L R 23 All. 367, distinguished and doubted. BORAY PAL MURHA LAL v. THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY I L R 44 All. 218

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—*contd.*s. 47—contd.

s. 56—

See LIMITATION ACT 1909 ART 31 AND 32 I L R 44 Mad. 623

ss. 68, 69—

See RAILWAY PASSENGER I L R 44 Cal. 279

s. 72—

See CONTRACT I L R 19 All. 418 I L R 43 Bom. 769

See RAILWAY

See RAILWAY COMPANY I L R 41 Cal. 576 I L R 37 Bom. 1 18 C W N 768 I L R. 43 Bom. 1201

Risk note, Form B—Shortage in contents of consignments, suit for damage for, if lost—Except on a report to loss of whole consignment or package, if applies Where several tins of ghee consigned for carriage by the defendant Railway Company upon special terms as to rates and liability contained in a risk-note Form B, were found on arrival to have been cut open and there was a shortage in their contents. Held, that the loss was covered by the risk-note and the Company was not liable—the exception with regard to loss of a whole consignment or one or more packages out of a consignment not being applicable to the present case where all the packages arrived but with a deficiency in the contents of some of them. EAST INDIAN RY CO. v. SHIV PRASAD BHAKAT (1912) 17 C W N 569

Risk note now to be signed in order to bind consignee The provision of s. 72, cl (2), requiring risk-notes to be signed by or on behalf of the person sending or delivering goods to a Railway Administration, should be exactly carried out. Where the person who delivered the goods signed not his own name but the name of the owner of the goods, there was not a sufficient compliance with the requirements of s 72 Cl (2). Holtwood, J.—The person who signs the risk note must write his own name either by his own hand or by the hand of an agent who must be disclosed and have authority. MAYA BASHA BANGKORE v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1915) . . . 20 C. W. F. 685

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—*contd*s 72—contd

Liability of Railway Administration for loss of goods delivered for carriage, the same as that of bailee—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), s 151—Loss of goods delivered for carriage by act of God—Onus on Railway Administration to prove circumstances exonerating liability—Negligence co-operating with act of God. The plaintiff sued for the recovery of the value of goods made over to the Eastern Bengal Railway Administration but not delivered at the destination. The defendant pleaded in substance that the goods were destroyed while in course of transmission by an act of God, namely, a severe cyclone. Held, that under sub s (1) of s. 72 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, the responsibility of a Railway Administration for the loss or destruction of goods delivered to the Administration to be carried by Railway is subject to the other provisions of the Act, that of a bailee under the Indian Contract Act. That the liability of the defendant must be measured solely by the test formulated in ss 151 and 152 of the Indian Contract Act. That when goods have not been delivered to the consignees at the place of destination the plaintiff need not prove how the loss occurred, the burden lies upon the bailee to prove the existence of circumstances which exonerate him from liability for the loss. That the defendant having discharged this burden the plaintiff's claim failed. That there is no foundation for the contention that a Railway Administration when it accepts goods for transmission is in the position of insurers as common carriers. That even if there was negligence on the part of the Railway Administration, if the act of God was the proximate cause the defendant Railway would not be liable. SURENDRO LAL CHOWDHURI v SECRETARY OF STATE (1916) . . . 21 C. W. N. 1125

Risk Note, Form

"B," framed under—Whether a consignor of goods covered by this Risk Note can make the Railway Administration liable for the loss thereof—Whether ss 151, 152 and 161 of the Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872) will apply in such a case—S 76 of the Indian Railways Act, whether it governs s 72 and the contract in the Risk Note—Proof of negligence onus on whom lies. Where goods were consigned to a Railway Company for carriage at a reduced rate of freight and the sender executed a Risk Note in Form "B," and several bags forming part of the consignment were missing and could not be delivered to the consignees; Held, that in a suit for compensation for the missing bags the defendant Railway Company would not be liable if the plaintiff (consignor) failed to prove that the loss was due to the wilful neglect of the Railway Administration or to theft by, or to the wilful neglect of, its servants. Held, also that such a case would be guided by the terms of the special contract, embodied in the Risk Note Form "B," and not by ss 151, 152 and 161 of the Indian Contract Act or the other provisions of the Indian Railways Act. EAST INDIAN RAILWAY CO v KANAK BEHARI HALDER (1913) . . . 22 C. W. N. 622

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—*contd*s 72—contd

Risk Note—Consignment

Meaning of goods—Loss, deterioration, or damage, meaning of—Liability of Railway Company—Insurers—Bailees—Competency of Company to contract for less liability than as bailees. A consignor sent a bale of gunny bags through the defendant Railway Company. The risk note provided that the company should not be responsible for any loss, destruction or deterioration of or damage to the consignment from any cause whatever, except for the loss of a complete consignment or of one or more complete packages forming part of a consignment, due either to the wilful neglect of a Railway administration or to theft by or to the wilful neglect of its servants, etc. The bale was damaged by the dropping of a package of acid by the negligent act of the Company's servant. On a claim against the Company for damages, the latter pleaded that they were not liable on the ground, inter alia, that there was no 'loss' of the article consigned within the meaning of the risk note. Held that the plaintiff could recover, only if the bale of gunnies was lost, that is, entirely deprived of value. The distinction between 'loss' and 'destruction, deterioration, and damage' pointed out. It cannot be said that there is no loss if the outer cover which encloses a parcel is delivered, whatever may happen to the contents. EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY v VILAKANTH ROY (1914) 1 L. R. 41 Cal. 576, B. B. & C. I. Railway Company v Ambalal Sewlal Ind. Ry. Co. 48 and C. S. 302 of 1914 Madras High Court, (unreported), dissented from. Per SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J.—The term 'loss' would include cases where the article consigned is lost to the consignor as such article or has lost its identity as such. Aster & Co v Blundell (1895) 1 Q. B. 123 and Hearn v The London and South Western Railway Company (1855) 10 Exch. 793, referred to. Under the Indian Law, a Railway Company has not the liabilities of an insurer, but only those of a bailee and, under s 72 of the Indian Railways Act, can enter into an agreement limiting its responsibility provided it is in a form approved by the Governor General in Council. Sheikh Mahmud Rawther v The British India Steam Navigation Co (1909) 1 L. R. 32 Mad. 55 (F.B.) commented on. Persons who undertake to do certain things and who employ servants to do those things must be held responsible for the carelessness or negligence of those servants in the course of their employment. Joseph Rand v Craig (1919) 1 Cal. J., referred to. MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHARATTA RAILWAY COMPANY v SUBBA RAO (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 617

R 2 made under s 47, sub-s (1), cl (f)—Rule not valid—Delivery of goods to be carried by Railway Administration—Grant of railway receipt not essential to complete delivery. The plaintiffs brought certain goods to the railway premises and handed a consignment note to the clerk of the railway company. No receipt was given as the goods were not weighed and loaded. In the meanwhile, a fire broke out on the premises and destroyed the goods. The plaintiffs having sued the railway company for the loss of goods, the lower Court held that the company was not liable for the loss in absence of a railway receipt as provided for in r 2 framed under s 47, sub s. (1) cl (f) of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890). On plaintiffs' application under Extraordinary Jurisdiction Held, that the commencement of the liability of the company for goods delivered to be carried under s 72 was in no way dependent upon the fact of a receipt having been granted but must be determined on evidence quite independently of r 2 under s 47 sub s. (1) cl (f) of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890). Held, also that inasmuch as r 2 sought to define and by defining changed what would otherwise be the meaning of s 72 of the Act the rule was bad. Per HEATON, J.

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—contd— s 72—contd

